May 20.

Information Wanted!

What do the Brethren of the Southern District and the Brethren of the Western District of Kansas say to the plan of redistricting the State of Kansas, as proposed by the North-eastern District of Kansas, and laid over for one year for consideration? It should be approved of by all three Districts, for reasons not necessary to give now. I will copy from the Minutes of North-eastern Kansas, Article 9:

Will North-eastern Kansas favor a redistricting of the State of Kansas, so that the lines will run entirely across the State from North to South, approximating the following boundary, the east line of the Middle District to run with the east line of Republic, Cloud, Ottawa, Saline, McPherson, Harvey, Sedgwick and Sumner Counties, and the east line of the Western District to run with the east line of Norton, Graham, Trego, Ness, Hodgman, Ford and Clark Counties.

We, here in the Eastern part, had some thought of being cut off and being attached to Missouri, but if the State will be redistricted, that will satisfy us. Eld. Martin Neher.

From Bear Creek Church, Montgomery County, Ohio.

Our communion-meeting, held on the evening of May 15, is now in the past. We were made glad when we could once more surround the table of the Lord with so many of our brethren and sisters. When we saw the good order and respect shown by those who were not members, we were made to wonder whether some of them were not making resolutions that, if carried out, will bring them into the church before another meeting of this kind. Eld. Jesse Stutsman was with us. Three have been added to the church by baptism since our last report. May God's choicest blessings rest on the entire Brotherhood! Hettie A. Long.

From Deshler, Henry Co., O.

Bro. Jacob Heistand, of Wyandot County, Ohio, commenced a series of meetings April 21 and continued until May 5. Six souls expressed a desire to go with the people of God, and were buried with Christ in baptism. One was reclaimed. There were six other applicants that were not quite ready yet for baptism. Many others are almost persuaded to come. Oh, sinners, do not put it off too long, but come to Christ while it is yet called to-day, for to-morrow is not ours! May the Lord help many more to come soon, for the night cometh wherein no man can work.

The church was much revived by the meeting held at this place. Bro. Heistand did us much good by coming among us. He held forth the Word with great power and zeal. May God bless the dear brother for his labors among us!

Lizzie Dishong.

From Mansfield, Ill.

Our communion-meeting of May 18 was the most enjoyable meeting that we had for a long time. The roads and weather were all we could wish for. Many of the faithful ones from Cerro Gordo, Milmine and Urbana gave us their presence and help. Brethren John Metzger, John Bailey and Henry Kuns did good service for us. Bro. John Metzger, the veteran of the grand army of Jesus, came up with forty of the young and old soldiers of the Cross. Their visit will ever remain a green spot upon the tablets of our hearts, while life lasts. May God bless the meeting for our good, is my prayer!

John Barnhart.

From Salt Sulphur Springs, Monroe Co., W. Va.

In company with Bro George Hutchinson I started to Greenbrier County, May 10, where our brother had previously appointed meetings for Saturday and Sunday. Our brother held forth the Word with power. We had good congregations, and marked attention was paid to the words of our brother. On Monday morning we had services about three miles distant. After meeting, we retired to the water, where there was one gray-headed father who was willing to unite with the church.

On Tuesday morning we turned our faces homeward, and, on reaching home, found all well, for which we return thanks to that Heavenly Parent. J. E. Jenkins.

A Pleasant Meeting.

Saturday, May 18, elders J. Sellers, A. H. Puterbaugh and the writer met the Brethren of Camp Creek church, Kosciusko Co., Ind., in council-meeting. This church is presided over by Eld. David Shively, assisted by Peter Hammond. It was the desire of the official body to have assistance in the deacon's office and eldership. An election was accordingly held, which resulted in the election of Edward Ruff and Ezra Shively to the office of deacon, John Shively to the ministry, and Geo. B. Shively to the eldership. All were duly installed with the usual solemnity attending work of that kind.

This church has a live Sabbath-school. We preached for them twice and held one "Children's Meeting;" all of which were well attended and the interest manifested was commendable. W. R. Deeter.

Special Excursion to Annual Meeting.

On Monday, June 10, 1889, the Baltimore & Ohio R. R. will run through cars, on the Pittsburgh Division, to Harrisonburg, Virginia. Following will be found the time of train and rates of fare for the round trip:

	RATE.		TIME.
Pittsburgh,	$9 00	8 00	A. M.
McKeesport,	9 00	8 23	"
West Newton,	9 00	9 07	"
Jacobs Creek,	9 00	8 25	"
Connellsville,	8 25	9 50	"
Mt. Pleasant,	9 00	9 00	"
Uniontown,	9 00	9 05	"
Ohio Pyle,	8 40	10. 33	"
Confluence,	8 10	10 52	"
Ursina,	8 05	10 58	"
Rockwood,	7 60	11 28	"
Johnstown,	9 00	8 40	"
Hooversville,	8 45	9 26	"
Stoystown,	8 30	9 40	"
Colemans,	8 20	9 51	"
Somerset,	7 90	10 11	"
Berlin,	8 65	9 50	"
Myersdale,	7 25	11 53	"
West Salisbury,	7 55	9 00	"
Hyndman,	6 55	12 47	"

Persons on the line of the P. R. R., east of Huntingdon, will take Pacific Express, arriving at Huntingdon at 6:12 A. M., which makes connection with H. & B. T. R. R, leaving Huntingdon at 8:25 A. M., and arriving at Harrisonburg at 8:30 P. M. Persons on the line of the H. & B. T. R. R. will take the morning train leaving Huntingdon at 8:25.

From Clay County, Texas.

The love-feast at the Pleasant Valley church, Clay Co., Texas, is numbered with the events of the past, and the remembrance of it is soul-cheering for the present to those who participated in it.

These Brethren are very lonely since their minister, Bro. A. W. Vaniman, left them in April. He is much needed there, as the nearest ministers are about forty miles off.

We commenced meeting on the evening of the 4th and continued until the evening of the 12th, when we had the feast. The feast had been appointed originally for the 11th. Having no meeting-house, the Brethren had an arbor prepared in front of the school-house, but just about the time the evening services should have commenced, there came a rain-storm, accompanied by thunder and lightning. So the feast was put off until the next evening.

I have just stated this circumstance to show how much isolated Brethren need a meeting-house. While we were musing what should be done, Bro. H. Brubaker, who had come to our help the evening before, said, "We will postpone the feast until to-morrow evening, and meet at the house of Bro. C. Bowman." Here we met and had a love-feast, indeed, as seemed to be manifested in all who partook of the feast. The members were nearly all present that live in Clay County, and about eight, I believe, from the Nocona church, Montague County.

To our joy Bro. Philip Eby, late of Iowa, and formerly of Ogle County, Illinois, was also present. He had been over a good deal of the Pan Handle country. He enjoyed himself very much to meet with those of like precious faith. His address is now Nocona, Tex.

We hope Bro. A. W. Vaniman will be sent back by the Mission Board to labor with those he endeared to him, both in and out of the church. He or some one else is needed here, to locate among them. There are about twenty-seven members there, who appear to be alive to the work of their Master! Abr. Molsbee.

Nocona, Tex.

MATRIMONIAL.

"What therefore God hath joined together, let not man put asunder."

GIRE—MATHEWS.—Near Udell, Iowa, May 12, 1889, by the undersigned, W. Gabriel Gire, of Van Buren County, Iowa, to sister Sarah A. Mathews, of Appanoose County, Iowa. Joseph Zook.

LEIGHTY—SELL.—At the residence of the undersigned, May 16, Mr. James Leighty, of Duncansville, Pa., and sister Junie Sell, of Leasuresville, Pa.

David D. Sell.

RENARD—LENGER.—At the residence of the bride's parents, by the undersigned, May 15, Mr. John B. Renard and sister Lottie R. Lenger, both of Gage County, Neb. J. E. Young.

HARRIS—KINNIE.—At the residence of the bride's parents near Elkhart, Iowa, May 5, by the writer, Mr. George W. Harris to sister Annie E. Kinnie, all of Elkhart, Iowa. Jefferson Mathis.

SIMSEN—OLSEN.—At the residence of Edward Dunn, May 5, by the undersigned, Mr. George Simsen and Miss Lena Olsen, all of Thomas County, Kansas.

C. H Brown.

FALLEN ASLEEP

"Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord:"

HALLEN.—Near Altoona, Pa., April 29, sister Rachel B. Hallen, aged 14 years, 9 months and 22 days. Interment in Carson Valley graveyard.

NELSON.—Near Altoona, Pa., John Nelson, aged about 3 years. Interment in Antis graveyard.

CASHMAN.—In Millville, near Altoona, Pa., — Cashman, aged about 4 years. Interment in Carson Valley graveyard. Funeral services by the writer.

J. W. Wilt.

CHERRY.—In Altoona church, Pa, May 5, sister Mary A. Cherry, aged 70 years and 5 days.

Sister Cherry was permitted to attend our love-feast May 3rd, and, while on her return home from the meeting, she became afflicted with paralysis, dying two days later. She was the widow of Thomas Cherry, who died about two and a half years previous. She was the mother of ten children, seven having preceded her to the spirit world. She also leaves two brothers to mourn their loss. Thus the church has lost an aged and exemplary member, and the community, a noble-hearted citizen. Funeral services by the writer, assisted by Bro S. M. Cox.

J. W. Wilt.

A Book for Every Member!

Classified Minutes

— OF —

ANNUAL MEETING.

☞ A full supply of this excellent work still on hand. Every member should have a copy of this work, in order to have a thorough understanding of the deliberations of the Annual Meeting in reference to church government, etc. Price, English Cloth, $1.50, post-paid; leather, $2.00.

☞ A responsible agent wanted in each congregation, to whom terms will be furnished upon application. Address,

BRETHREN'S PUBLISHING CO.,
Or, Huntingdon, Pa. Mount Morris, Ill.

Tract Work.

List of Publications for Sale,—Sent Postage Prepaid.

CLASS A.

No. 1. Golden Gleams or Family Chart, ... 85 cts.

CLASS B.

No 1. Trine Immersion, Quinter, per copy . $ 1 25
No 2. Europe and Bible Lands, Miller, per copy... ... . 1 50
No. 3. Doctrine of the Brethren Defended, per copy,..... .. 1 50
No 4. Classified Minutes—A. M 1 50
No. 5 Two Sticks, Eshelman, ... 1 00
No 6 Close Communion, Wesh per copy 40

CLASS C.

No 1. Annual Report per copy.....$ 05
No. 2. Path of Life, per 100, $5.00; per copy, 06
No. 3 How to Become a Child of God, per 100, $4 00; per copy,..... 05
No. 4 Conversion, per 100, $2 50; per copy . 03
No 5. Water Baptism, per 100, $1.50, per copy 02
No. 6. Single Immersion, per 100, $1 50; per copy,..... 02
No. 7. Sabbatism, per 100, $2.50; per copy. 03
No. 8. Discussion on Trine Immersion, per copy,..... 15
No. 9. Sermon on Baptism, per copy,..... 03
No. 10. Glad Tidings of Salvation, per copy... 03
No. 11. Life of Eld. S. Weir (Colored), per cop 03
No. 12 Ten Reasons for Trine Immersion, per 100, $1.50, per copy, .. 02

CLASS D.

No 1 House We Live In, per 100, ... $ 60
No 2 Plan of Salvation, per 100,..... 60
No. 3 Come, Let Us Reason Together, per 100 60
No 4. How Shall I Know that my Sins are Pardoned? per 100,..... 60
No 5 Intemperance, per 100, ... 60
No 6. Plain Dressing, per 100,... 60
No 7 Which Is the Right Church? per 100 60
No. 8. House We Live In (Swedish), per 100, 60
No 9. House We Live In (Danish), per 100, 60
No 10 Paul Wetzel's Reasons, Etc., (German), per 100, ... 60
No. 11 Sinner, Stop! per 100, ... 60
No 12. Faith, per 100, ... 60
No. 13. The Light-House, per 100,..... 60
No. 14 Close Communion, per 100, ... 60
No. 15. The Truth Shall Make You Free, per 100,..... 60
No. 16. Modern Skepticism, per 100,... .. 60
No 17. Infant Baptism Weighed in the Balances and Found Wanting, per 100,.... 60

CLASS E.

No. 1. Pause and Think, per 100, ... 30
No. 2. What Do We Need? per 100,... . 30
No. 3 Right or Wrong Way, per 100,... .. 30
No. 4. Why Am I Not a Christian? per 100, .. 30
No. 5. Saving Words, per 100,..... 30
No 6. Christ and War, per 100,..... 30
No. 7. The Bond of Peace, per 100,..... 30
No. 8 The Kiss of Charity, per 100,..... 30
No. 9. The Evils of Intemperance, per 100, . 30
No. 10. The Lost Opportunity, per 100, ... 30
No. 11. Are You a Christian? per 100, ... 30
No. 12. Arise, Get Thee Down, per 100,.. .. 30
No. 13. A Personal Appeal per 100,..... 30
No. 14. Lying Among the Pots, per 100, .. 30
No. 15. Gold and Costly Array, per 100,..... 30
No. 16. The Brethren's Card, per 100,.... 30

Bibles, Testaments, Hymn Books of all styles, at publishers' lowest retail prices, which will be furnished on application.

Address

Brethren's Book and Tract Work,
DAYTON, OHIO.

Church Register.

—:o:—

To those who would wish to collect and to preserve a complete history of their congregation and biography of each of their members, with names, dates of baptism or letter, dates of death or letter, and also dates of election, ordination of all the official members, and all events of importance occurring in each congregation, we would say, buy a copy of the Church Register Price, containing sample pages and instructions, well bound, and sent by mail, $1.00 per copy Address this office

PUBLICATIONS

☞ The following books, Sunday-school supplies, etc., are for sale by the Brethren's Publishing Co., Mt. Morris, Ill., or Huntingdon, Pa, to whom all orders should be addressed.

The Brethren's Quarterly.

For Sunday-school teachers and scholars this publication is of the greatest benefit. Look at our prices:

Single subscription, one year .. ..35 cents.
Single subscription, per quarter... ....10 cents.
Three copies, per quarter..... ....25 cents.
Eight copies, per quarter. ....40 cents.
Fifty copies and over..... ....4 cents each.

. . . Hymn Books . . .

New Tune and Hymn Books.

Half leather, single copy, post-paid ....$ 1 00
Per dozen, by express 10 00
Morocco, single copy, post-paid... ..... 1 25
Per dozen, by express 12 00
Morocco, gilt edge, per copy... ..... 1 50

Hymn Books, English.

Morocco, single copy, post-paid. .....$ 90
Per dozen, post-paid.... . ..... 9 50
Per dozen, by express 9 00
Morocco, gilt edge, post-paid 1 10
Per dozen, post-paid..... .. 11 75
Per dozen, by express 11 25
Arabesque, single copy, post-paid 55
Per dozen, post-paid. 5 30
Per dozen, by express 5 30
Sheep, single copy, post-paid ....
Per dozen, post-paid . ...
Per dozen, by express 5 30
Tuck, single copy, post-paid..... ..... 1 00
Per dozen, post-paid. 10 00
Per dozen, by express 9 50
Fine Limp, post-paid.. . . .. 1 00
Per dozen, post-paid 10 00
Fine Limp, single copy, gilt edge, post-paid 1 20
Fine Limp, gilt edge, per dozen..... 13 00
German and English, per copy, ... 90
" " " per dozen, mail, $9 50, express 9 00

The Young Disciple.

The YOUNG DISCIPLE is a neatly printed weekly, published especially for the moral benefit and religious instruction of our young folks.

Single copy, one year. ....$ 50
Six copies (the sixth to the agent), ... 2 50
Ten copies..... .. .. 4 00

For Three Months or Thirteen Weeks.

20 copies to one address.... ... . $1 70
30 " " " " 2 50
40 " " " " 3 35
50 " " " " 4 20
75 " " " " 5 20
100 " " " " 7 00

For Six Months or Twenty-Six Weeks.

20 copies to one address..... . . . . .$ 3 35
30 " " " " 5 00
40 " " " " 6 60
50 " " " " 7 50
75 " " " " 10 20
100 " " " " 13 75

Our paper is designed for the Sunday-school and the home circle. We desire the name of every Sunday-school Superintendent in the Brotherhood, and want an agent in every church. Send for sample copies.

Sunday-School Requisites.

The following list of things is needed in all Sunday-schools:

Testaments, Flexible, red edge, per doz..... $1 00
Minute Books, each..... 50
Class Books, per doz 75
Union Primers, with fine engravings, per dor. 70

New and Beautiful Sunday-School Cards.

"The Gem," 50 picture cards, each with Bible Text, verse of hymn,..... 35
250 Reward Tickets—verse of Scripture—red or blue, 20

Miscellaneous Works.

☞ We are prepared to furnish any book in the market at publishers' retail price. Religious works a specialty.

Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress.—An excellent edition of this good work, printed on good paper, finely illustrated with forty engravings, at the low price of $1 00 per copy.

Brown's Pocket Concordance.—This is a very reliable, low-priced work, and very handy for reference Price, 50 cents

Biblical Antiquities.—By John Nevin Gives a concise account of Bible times and customs, invaluable to all students of Bible subjects. Price $1.50

Barnes' Notes.—On the New Testament, 11 vols cloth, $16 50 Barnes' Notes on the Psalms, 3 vols the set, $4 50 Barnes' Notes on Daniel, 1 vol. $1 50 Barnes' Notes on Isaiah, 2 vols. the set, $3.00. Barnes' Notes on Job, 2 vols. the set, $3.00.

Close Communion.—By Landon Weed. Treats this important subject in a simple though conclusive manner Price 10 cents.

Cruden's Concordance.—A very complet work Price, cloth, $1 50, sheep, $3 00

Companion to the Bible.—This valuable work is so full of instruction that it can not fail to be of great benefit to every Christian. Price $1 75

Campbell and Owen's Debate.—Contains a complete investigation of the evidences of Christianity Price, $1 50.

Classified Minutes of Annual Meeting.—A work of rare interest for all who desire to be well informed in the church work, from the early days of our Brethren until the present. Price, cloth, $1 50, leather, $2 00.

Europe and Bible Lands.—By D. L. Miller A book for the people—more comprehensive and thorough than many higher-priced works Price cloth, $1 50. Leather, $2 00.

Family Bible, with Notes and Instructions.—Contains the harmony of the Gospels, Chronology, Maps, Tables of Weights and Measures, Family Record, eight elegant illustrations, etc Price, substantially bound, $5 00.

Family Bible.—This is a fine and very complete work New and old versions of the New Testament side by side, concordance and everything usually found in Bibles of the kind. Price only $4 50. Sent by express o . .

German and English Testaments.—American Bible Society Edition. Price 75 cents

Josephus' Complete Works.—Large type, 1 vol 8vo Illustrated with many steel and wood engravings. Library sheep, $3 50.

Life on Wheels.—By J S Mohler The idea of the book is to represent the way to heaven, by using the different terms connected with an ordinary railroad. Price, single copy, 40 cents

New Testament and Psalms with Notes.—Invaluable for Bible students, Sunday-school teachers, etc. Price, cloth, $2 00.

Origin of Single Immersion.—By Eld. James Quinter Price, 2 copies, 5 cents, 12 copies, 25 cents; 50 copies, $1 00

Quinter and McConnell Debate.—A debate on Trine Immersion, the Lord's Supper, and Feet-washing, between Eld James Quinter (German Baptist) and Eld N. A. McConnell (Christian) held at Dry Creek, Iowa, 1867. Price, $1 50.

Reference and Pronouncing Testament.—A copious selection of parallel and illustrated passages and a chronical pronunciation of the proper names and other difficult words, together with a short dictionary and gazetteer of the New Testament. Price, $1.00, postpaid.

Reason and Revelation.—By R Milligan Should be in the hands of every Bible student. Price $2.00.

Sacred Geography and Antiquities.—A practical, helpful work for Bible students, ministers and Sunday-school teachers. Price, $2.25.

Smith's Bible Dictionary.—Edited by Peloubet Cloth, $2 00, leather, $3 00.

Sabbatism.—By M. M Eshelman. Treats the Sabbath question, showing that the first day of the week is the day for assembling in worship Price 10 cents; 15 copies $1.00.

The Christian Sabbath Defended.—By M. T. Baer. This is a reliable and interesting work on the Sabbath question, and should be widely circulated. Price, single copy, 15 cents; per dozen, $1 50.

The Law and Sabbath.—The Gospel and Lord's Day.—Why I Quit Keeping the Jewish Sabbath. The author of this pamphlet was once led to observe the Seventh-day Sabbath, but has since, after a Bible examination, renounced it as an error. Ample proof against keeping the Jewish Sabbath in the Christian Dispensation is given. Sixty-four pages, printed in nice, clear type. Price 20 cents, 5 copies, $1 00.

Two Sticks, or Lost Ten Tribes of Israel Discovered.—By M. M. Eshelman Maintains that the Anglo-Saxons are the offspring of the Ten Tribes; that the Jews and Israelites are two distinct people, but will again be united in Palestine, 265 pages. Cloth, price, $1 00.

The Path of Life.—An interesting tract for everybody Price 10 cents per copy, 100 copies $6 00.

Trine Immersion.—A vindication of the apostolic form of Christian baptism. By Eld. James Quinter A most complete and reliable work on the subject. Price, cloth, single copy, $1 25; leather, $1.75.

The House We Live In.—By Daniel Vaniman. It gives a concise account of the faith and practice of the Brethren. Price, 100 copies, 60 cents.

The Doctrine of the Brethren Defended.—A complete work on the distinctive principles of our Fraternity. Price, cloth, $1.50.

Trine Immersion Traced to the Apostles.—By J H. Moore. An excellent, clear and logical treatise on the subject. Price 15 cents; 8 copies, $1.00.

The Story of the Bible.—An excellent volume for old and young; will interest and instruct all those desiring a knowledge of the Scriptures. Price $1.00.

Universalism against Itself.—By Hall. One of the best works against Universalism. Price $1.00.

Announcements.

LOVE-FEASTS.

June 6, at 10 A. M., West Nimishillen church, Stark Co , Ohio, at the Pleasant Valley meeting-house.

June 6, Little St. Joe church, De Kalb Co , Ind., at Bro. Samuel Stafford's, 5 miles south-east of Auburn, and 5 miles west of St Joe.

June 6, Rocky Ridge church, Frederick Co., Md.

June 6, at 4 P. M., Middle Creek congregation, Somerset Co., Pa. Meeting to be held at the Middle Creek church, 4 miles west of Rockwood.

June 6, at 5 P. M., Solomon's Creek congregation, Elkhart Co., Ind., 3 miles north-east of Milford Junction.

June 7, at 4 P. M., Shipshewana church in Lagrange Co., Ind., seven miles west of Lagrange. Those coming by rail will stop at Shipshewana, one and three quarters of a mile north-west of the church.

June 8, Pleasant Valley District, Elkhart Co., Ind.

June 8, Brother's Valley church, Somerset Co., Pa.

June 8, at 2 P. M, Naperville, Ill.

June 8, Maple Valley church, Cherokee Co , Iowa.

June 8, at 4 P. M., Pleasant Valley, Elkhart Co , Ind.

June 8, at 3 P. M., Pine River church, Whitley Co., Ind.

June 8, at 10 A. M., Hudson, McLean Co., Ill.

June 8 at 5 P. M., La Porte church, Ind.

June 8, at 3 P. M., Cedar Creek church, Anderson Co., Kans , at the residence of P. H. Watkins. Those coming on the Southern Kansas Railway will stop off at Garnett, those on the Missouri Pacific stop at Birch Switch. They will be met by notifying L. Watkins or P. H. Watkins, Garnett, Kan.

June 8 at 3 P. M., 2 miles south-east of Walker, Ellis Co., Kans , at Bro. G W. Crissman's

June 8 and 9, at the residence of W. H. Brocket, near Dedham, Carroll Co., Iowa.

June 8 and 9, at Indian Creek church, Iowa, 3½ miles South of Maxwell, Iowa.

June 8, at 3 P. M., Falls City church, 4 miles north of Falls City, Nebr.

June 8, at 10 A. M., Sappa Creek church, at the home of Bro. Wallet Williams, 8 miles south of Orleans, and 2 miles north of Woodruff, Kans. Those coming from the West and North-east will be met at Mascot, Nebr., by notifying J P. Nofziger, and reaching Mascot Thursday evening.

June 8, Sugar Creek church, Ohio, at home of Bro John S Burger, two miles nor h of Baltic, Ohio. Those coming by rail will please stop at Baltic.

June 8 and 9, Harlan congregation, 4½ miles east of Harlan, Shelby Co., Iowa.

June 9, at 5 P M., Summit church, Somerset Co , Pa.

June 14, at 4 P. M , Yellow River congregation, Marshall Co., Ind. Those coming by railroad from the West stop at Inwood; those from the East stop at Bourbon.

June 14 and 15 at 2 P. M , Pigeon River church, Steuben County, Indiana.

June 14, at 2 P. M., in the Vermillion congregation, Ill.

June 15, at 10 A. M , Wabash church, 7 miles south of Wabash, Ind.

June 15, at 4 P. M , English Prairie church, La-Grange Co., Ind.

June 15, at 10 A. M , Hickory Grove meeting-house Williams Co., Ohio.

June 15 and 16, Rock Creek church, Rio Grande county, Colorado.

June 15 and 16, at 2 P. M , Ames church, Iowa, 7 miles west of Ames. Noon trains will be met at Ames

June 15 and 16, at 1 P. M., Waddam's Grove church, Stephenson Co., Ill.

June 15 and 16, Richland church, Richland Co., O , at the residence of John Kimdalle, 6 miles north of Man field.

June 15 and 16, at 2 P. M., Sheldon church, O'Brien Co., Iowa, at house of Bro. W. C Kimmel.

June 16 at 4 P. M , Quemahoning church, Somerset Co , Pa., at old meeting house.

June 16 and 17, Lower Cumberland congregation, in the Mohler meeting-house, Pa. Those coming by rail from the east will stop at Shiremanstown, those coming from the west will stop at Mechanicsburg.

June 22, at 10: 30 A. M , Seneca church, Seneca Co,, Ohio, at Bro J. R Fink's home, 3½ miles east of Attica.

June 29, at 2 P M., Beaver Creek church, Nebr., at the house of Peter Farney, 2 miles south, and 4 miles west, of Aurora.

July 6, 7, and 8, Rockgrove church, Floyd county, Iowa.

Sept. 7 and 8, at 10 A. M., Anglaize Chapel, ¼ mile from Dupont, Ohio, on the Clover Leaf Railroad; 2½ miles from Hartsburg, on the Nickle Plate Railroad.

June 8, Williams Creek church, Texas.
June 15, at 10 A. M., East Nimishillen, Stark Co., Ohio
June 21, at 4 P. M., Manor church, Indiana Co., Pa.
June 29 and 30, Franklin Co., Iowa, near Bristow

Through Time Schedule, Chicago to Harrisonburg via the Monon Route and the C. & O.

THE fast train service now leaves Chicago at 8:30 A. M; Cincinnati, 7:00 P. M., arriving at Staunton next morning at 9:30 A. M. From Staunton (only twenty-six miles distant), you have your choice of suburban trains to Harrisonburg, thus making the Monon route the shortest line by one hundred and fifty miles. The train leaving Chicago daily at 8:05 P. M., also makes through and quick connections, and both trains connect directly to the meeting grounds. Special trains for large parties, and all concessions in rates, same as via other routes, with advantage of shorter line. Address E. O. McCormick, Gen'l Passenger Agent, Chicago, or L. E. Sessions, Trav. Passenger Agent, Monon Route, Box 881, Minneapolis, Minnesota.

EUROPE is all very well, but don't you think it is only fair as an American to know your own country thoroughly? Try the "American Alps" on the South Park Division of the Union Pacific in Colorado this summer. There's nothing like them in Switzerland.

THE splendor of the "American Alps" is beginning to be appreciated by our people, and a visit to Switzerland for gorgeous scenery is unnecessary. The picturesque mountain resorts on the South Park Division of the Union Pacific in Colorado are absolutely unrivaled on this continent.

"FOR peculiarly soft yet penetrating shades of color, marvelous grouping in form, fantastic, solemn and tender shaping of rugged cliff and mountain and valley," says a distinguished artist, "the wonderful empire of Colorado stands peerless." The Alpine scenery along the line of the South Park Division of the Union Pacific in Colorado is the most magnificent in the United States.

MORAN, the great artist, despaired when he saw the Great Shoshone Falls,—it was so far beyond his pencil's cunning. So there are wonderful dreams of beauty in the tempestuous loveliness of the grand "American Alps," in Colorado, which are at once the aspiration and the despair of painter and poet. Splendid beyond comparison is the superb scenery along the South Park Division of the Union Pacific in Colorado.

"THEY rested there—escaped awhile
From cares which wear the life away,
To eat the lotus of the Nile
And drink the poppies of Cathay."—

And every American business man is beginning to find that his summer vacation is more and more a necessity; the money making machine won't stand the strain without an occasional rest. The "American Alps" of Colorado offer the highest conditions for perfect relaxation, pure vital air, comfortable hotels and the noblest scenery in the country, and may be reached on the South Park Division of the Union Pacific Railway.

IT is un-American in the highest sense for our people to prate about Europe so glibly when so many of them are profoundly ignorant of the wondrous beauties of their native land. As a matter of fact there are hundreds of thousands of American citizens who are thoroughly familiar with Switzerland; who have idled away weeks at Lucerne, done Chamouni, and attempted the Matterhorn, and yet have never feasted on the lovely beauty, the wild, weird majesty of any one of the Colorado Peaks. "More than Alpine glory," rewards visitors along the South Park Division of the Union Pacific in Colorado. There is no scenery like it in the new world.

"THE peerless empire of form and color, is found in Colorado," says a great artist. So are many other very wonderful effects. There is that grand triumph of engineering skill, the Bow Knot Loop, famed all over the world; the pretty town of Graymont nestled against the base of Gray's Peak, the giant prince of the range; sunrise on Gray's Peak—a sight once witnessed never to be forgotten: Idaho Springs the beautiful, a restful spot blessed with the healing waters for all who come, within two hours' ride of young leviathan Denver: the storied gold camp of Georgetown, perched in the upper air of the mountains ever fresh and cool and clear—these are a few of the delightful spots in the "American Alps" reached by the Colorado Central Division of the Union Pacific Railway in Colorado.

Advice to Mothers.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. 28y1

ADVERTISEMENTS.

Rates per Inch each Insertion.

One time or more	$1 50
One month (4 times)	1 30
Three months (12 times)	1 20
Six months (25 times)	1 00
One year (50 times)	70
No advertisement accepted for less than	1 00

☞ No Cuts inserted, unless on metal base. No double-column or objectionable advertisements admitted.

McShane Bell Foundry
Finest Grade of Bells.
CHIMES AND PEALS FOR CHURCHES, &c.
Send for Price and Catalogue. Address
H. McSHANE & CO.,
Mention this paper. Baltimore, Md.

Windsor European Hotel,
TRIBUNE BLOCK,
145 to 153 Dearborn St. S. GREGSTEN, Prop.
Chicago, Ill.

This Hotel is centrally located, and the most respectable House of its class in the City. The charges are moderate, varying in price from 75 cts. to $1.50 per day, per person. Thompson's Restaurant underneath. First-class passenger elevator.

J. B. COLCLESSER,

ROANOKE, HUNTINGDON CO., IND., Breeder of Purely-bred Poland China Swine. My herd is made up of the most fashionable strains known to the breed. Stock recorded in C. R. and O. R. Pigs and aged animals for sale. Gelts bred and for sale January and February 1890. Breeding a specialty. Correspondence or personal inspection solicited. 22t25

THE HANDSOMEST TRAINS IN THE WORLD
ARE THE FAST EXPRESS OF THE
SANTA FE ROUTE!
NOW RUNNING DAILY BETWEEN
CHICAGO AND KANSAS CITY

These trains leave Chicago at 5:00 P. M., and Kansas City at 8:25 P. M. Through first and second class Pullman Sleepers between Chicago and California without change, leaving Chicago daily at 11:30 P. M.

EMMONS BLAINE,
GEN'L PASS. AGT.

"LITTLE MISSIONARIES,"—a term applied by some one to our BRETHREN'S ENVELOPES, is well deserved. Price, 15 cents a package; for sale at this office.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and can not be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. SOLD ONLY IN CANS.
ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO.,
106 Wall St., N. Y.

SALESMEN Wanted; local and traveling. Positions permanent. Salary from start. Experience unnecessary. Brown Bros., Nurserymen, Chicago, Ill.

The Original Trans-Continental Line.

The Union Pacific Railway, "The Overland Route" runs daily trains from Council Bluffs, Omaha and Kansas City to Denver, Salt Lake City, Sacramento, San Francisco, Los Angeles and Portland.

Quick time across the continent.

Elegant equipment, consisting of latest Pullman Palace Cars and Day Coaches.

The Golden Gate Special, "The Finest Train in the World," leaves Council Bluffs every Wednesday morning for San Francisco; electric light, steam heat, bath rooms, smoking room and observation cars are only a few of the many conveniences offered on this train.

This company has also for sale in Kansas and Colorado, 3,000,000 acres of choice farming lands; only one-tenth cash down and balance on ten years' time at seven per cent interest. Fare paid over the Union Pacific by persons who go to see the land, is refunded if land is purchased.

The Union Pacific Railway company has also 3,000,000 acres of land in Wyoming and Utah for sale at very low prices. Best ranch land in the world on liberal terms.

For full information in regard to rates, time-tables, maps, price of lands, etc., address,

THOS. L. KIMBALL,
Gen'l Manager.
C. J. SMITH,
Gen'l Land Com.
J. S. TEBBETS, Gen'l Pass. Ag't.
50 OMAHA, NEB.

CHEAP HOMES!

Good farms in "Old Virginia," Piedmont section, near German Baptist church. Address,
BETHUNE & JEFFRIES,
Fauquier Co. Warrenton, Va.
20t4

The Monon Route.

THIS road is running a fine line of Pullman Buffet Sleepers between Chicago and Indianapolis, Cincinnati and Louisville, in connection with the fast Florida express trains.

For full information, address, E. O. McCORMICK, Gen'l Pass. Agt., Adams Express Building, Chicago. (City Ticket Office 73 Clark St.)

Victor Remedies!

These Remedies consist of Victor Liver Syrup, Victor Pain Balm, Victor Infant's Relief, Victor Lung Syrup, Victor Pills, Victor Liniment, Victor Poultry, Horse and Cattle Powders. These Remedies are all sold under a guarantee. If you cannot get them from your merchant, send his name to us, and we will arrange so he has them in stock if he is reliable. Send for circulars. Address:
VICTOR REMEDIES CO.,
5tf Frederick, Md.

Wanted!

We want brethren in every district to sell our Fertilizers. We manufacture a number of different grades, so as to suit all buyers, viz.,

Blood and Bone Dissolved, Raw Bone and Potash, High Grade Super Phosphate of Bone, Soluble Ammoniated Bone Phosphate and Chemicals!

All the above brands have stood the test for years, and in field contests have proved to be second to none on the market.

We guarantee to keep up the present high standard of these different brands, and feel assured you can save money by buying from us. Write for terms, circulars, etc. Address,
D. BLOCHER & CO.,
11m6 Gettysburg, Pa.

FARM FOR SALE.

I will offer my farm at Dayton, three miles from the place of Annual Meeting, for sale at auction, on Friday, the 14th day of June, 1889, commencing at 11 A. M. It contains 240 acres of first class farming land, well watered, good timber, a good brick house, surrounded with schools, churches, and all needed commercial and railroad advantages.

It will be offered in separate tracts of 120 acres each, or as a whole, as may be desired.

Terms announced on the day of sale.

B. F. MOOMAW.

Chesapeake & Ohio
THE SHORT LINE TO Harrisonburg, Va.

Brethren from the west, when going to the Annual Meeting for 1889, will Save from 125 to 150 Miles by purchasing tickets via the Chesapeake & Ohio Route.

Rates as Low as by any other Line.

For particulars, ask your nearest ticket agent or address,

W. H. GREEGOR, Trav. Pass. Agt. H. W. FULLER, Gen'l Pass. Agt.
CINCINNATI, O.

WHEN YOU TRAVEL
Take the
Line selected by the United States Government to carry the Fast Mail,—the

As it is the Line running Through Trains to and from the following cities and towns on its own Lines.

CHICAGO, AURORA, OTTAWA, STREATOR, ROCKFORD, DUBUQUE, LA CROSSE, ST. PAUL, MINNEAPOLIS, MENDOTA, PEORIA, GALESBURG, ST. LOUIS, QUINCY, KEOKUK, BURLINGTON, WASHINGTON, OSKALOOSA, DES MOINES, CHARITON, CRESTON, ST. JOSEPH, ATCHISON, KANSAS CITY, NEBRASKA CITY, OMAHA, COUNCIL BLUFFS, LINCOLN & DENVER,

Making Direct Connections
TO AND FROM
NEW YORK, BALTIMORE, WASHINGTON, CINCINNATI, PHILADELPHIA, BOSTON, NEW ORLEANS, LOUISVILLE, SAN FRANCISCO, LOS ANGELES, SALT LAKE CITY, COLORADO AND PACIFIC COAST RESORTS, CITY OF MEXICO, PORTLAND, OREGON, MANITOBA, VICTORIA AND PUGET SOUND POINTS.

Good Equipment, Good Service, Good Connection.

For information concerning the Burlington Route, apply to the nearest Ticket Agent of the C., B. & Q. or connecting railroads.

HENRY B. STONE, General Manager. PAUL MORTON, Gen'l Pass. & Ticket Agt., CHICAGO, ILL.

THE GOSPEL MESSENGER.

"Set for the Defense of the Gospel."

Vol. 27. Old Series. Mt. Morris, Ill., and Huntingdon, Pa., June 18, 1889. No. 24.

Allen Boyer 13390

The Gospel Messenger.

H. B. BRUMBAUGH, Editor,
And Business Manager of the Eastern House, Box 50, Huntingdon, Pa.

"WE are members of one great body. Nature planted in us a mutual love and fitted us for a social life. We must consider that we were born for the good of the whole."

"WHAT the Bible brings to you will depend in a large measure on what you bring to it. You may have a crumb, or a loaf, or a granary full to bursting, just as you choose."

"WISDOM does not show itself so much in precept as in life—in a firmness of mind and mastery of appetite. It teaches us to do, as well as to talk; and to make our actions and words all of a color."

"SEEK only that which will stand you in stead in the day of trial, and be of permanent benefit to you. Honesty is yet, and forever will be, the best policy—even if you insist upon it as low as that; and dishonesty is like the breaking through of water, where, if one drop can pass, more can follow."

NOT long since, we had rehearsed to us the manner in which the young folks conducted themselves when attending our communion meetings. And as we look at that conduct now, we are made to feel that young men that would do such things are either maliciously mean or not civilized. Perhaps it was a mixture of both. Be that as it may, our present is an improvement over the past.

ONE of the discouragements we meet with in our church work, is the disposition on the part of some of our members to give their influence, and cast their lot on the side of wrong, and that, too, when there is no room for a reasonable doubt. Because some hold to the idea that intoxicants are necessary for medical purposes in the family, they are willing to cast their influence on the side of license and intemperance, which is flooding our country with drunkenness, poverty and ruin, and on the side of those who are, to-day, spending their thousands against the Amendment, that they may continue, under the protection of law, to make drunkards of our children, and thus bring their parents down to their graves, burdened with untold sorrows and broken-hearted. Parents who refuse to give their influence against this demoralizing and destructive evil, should not go to God and ask him to deliver their children from the power of rum. That power he has given into your hands, and if you refuse to use it, you are the responsible party. Ah, will we not lift our voices against this crying sin, and, as far as lies in our power, help to deliver our neighbors and children from it? When issues between right and wrong come up before us, we cannot, we dare not be neutrals. The Lord never recognized such a position. With him, it ever has been for and against. Which shall it be? Woe to the man that putteth the bottle to his neighbor's lips. And blessed is the man that will help to keep it away.

QUITE a large number of Communion meetings have been held in our surrounding churches, and at them all there was a good supply of ministerial aid. As our meetings of this kind are held only once or twice a year, every effort should be made to make them as inviting and profitable as possible. It is not the holding of the meetings that is to do the good, but the good we can get out of them to our spiritual advantage. Everything, as far as we are personally concerned, depends on our discerning the Lord's body, or the spiritual import of the emblems, and this is greatly aided by laboring to spiritualize all the attending services.

THE question sometimes arises: Are we, as a church, making any advancement in morals and spirituality? It is a question about which we ought to be concerned, as it would be a sad commentary on our work, were we not making the world better. That there is still room for much improvement in this direction is a very evident fact, when we look around us, and take a measure of the moral and spiritual condition of the world as we find it. But, bad as it is, it affords us pleasure to believe that a very perceptible improvement has been made within the last century, and especially within the last few decades.

"SHOW ME."

RELIGION has always been a thing for practice. Throughout the Bible the "do" is always made prominent, and a religion that don't have in it this element, is not the religion of the Master, who came into the world unburdened with theories, but went about everywhere doing good. Hence the great Apostle enforces this great truth by saying: "Show me thy faith by thy works." This was demanding a practical illustration of religion, because faith and theory without the practical, are dead,—dead because lacking the element of life. Life is always understood in the active sense. Life without action is equivalent to death. Every element in the religion of Christ is active. It is the foundation and the design of it. It is not a thing to possess, but a thing to do. And this doing is not in us, but must go out from us. "Show me" is the voice of love. A love that don't show anything is a barren tree of withered leaves and blasted fruit. To the passer-by, instead of being attractive and helpful, it is repulsive and uninviting. Reader, what kind of love is yours? Is your life a blessing to those around you? And do your fruits rejoice the heart of the weary and sin-burdened soul as he passes by, yearning to be unloaded and fed from the tree of life?

True love makes itself manifest. It carries with it unmistakable evidences. The voice of the Crucified One is "show me thy love." Give expression to it by doing something for me. Our love for the church is shown best by doing for the church. And, after all, this is the true test of a living faith in Christ and his church.

There are many ways in which we may show this love, but all these ways lead through sacrifice. Too many of us are dangerously fond of cheap love. We are always ready and willing to accept and obey that form of doctrine which don't cost anything. This is because our love is not very strong, or because we love something else more.

The question sometimes arises, How is it that we have such fine horses and buggies, such fine houses in which to live, surrounded by neatly painted fences, and tastefully-flowered yards. It is our expression of love for these things. And because we love them we are willing to make the necessary sacrifice that we may enjoy them. Now while we may legitimately love these things for which God has given us the faculty of admiration, we are to love our religion still more, love God with all the heart. If we do this, it seems to us that we could show this love to great advantage, by laboring to make our church services as attractive as possible. Israel of old built their best and most attractive house for the Lord. We do the reverse,—we build the best houses for ourselves, and use for the Lord the cheapest. The blessed Christ is, in too many instances, still given the manger in the stable, while our friends are ushered into fine parlors and seated in spring-bottomed cushioned chairs. The plain fact is, the contrast between our homes and our church houses is too great. There is neither reason or Gospel for it. If it is wrong to have pleasant, comfortable and attractive church houses, it is equally wrong for us to have such homes.

This thing of building cheap and barn-like houses in which to worship God, and mansions for ourselves, is wrong in both theory and practice. It shows, but the showing is in the wrong way,—it is against us, and against our religion. It is not our purpose to advocate a needless outlay of money in building costly church houses merely for show, but, in beauty and attractiveness, they should correspond with the houses in which we live, and thus always show, at least as much respect and love for our religion as we do for ourselves, treat our Heavenly Father with as much consideration as we do our friends.

For a well-to-do community of brethren to ask people to a house of worship that is as uninviting as a barn, don't show much love for the cause, and we don't wonder that our children are tempted to places that are more attractive. The life and zeal of a church can be fairly measured by the church house in which they worship, compared with the houses in which they live. If all the sharing is on the side of self, the inevitable conclusion must be that there is not much love for the church.

It is true, a wrong teaching may, to some extent, be given as an excuse for the indifference shown on the part of many to the unattractiveness of our church houses, but when the soul is inspired with the spirit of love, all those things that tend to the promotion of religion will be considered, and our love will be made manifest in our actions. Let us show our faith, our love and our zeal by our actions. The Lord has said: "He that honoreth me, him will I honor."

ESSAYS.

"Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not be ashamed, rightly dividing the Word of Truth."

MISSIONARY HYMN.

Lo, on the sacred mountain,
Our risen Lord doth stand,
Of life and truth the fountain,
With his own faithful hand
All power in earth and heaven
He holds with matchless sway;
He speaks, and word is given
That opes the Gospel day.

Go into every nation,
Make known my power to save;
And visit every station,
From king to captive slave
Let souls by error blighted
My word of truth receive;
And millions now benighted,
In Gospel light shall live.

Then on, true men of heaven,
His Word and power proclaim,
From Zealand's spicy haven,
To Lapland's snowy plain
Let peace and free salvation
Resound from shore to shore,
Till Christ o'er all creation
Shall reign forevermore.

—David Hugs

TRINE IMMERSION.

BY A. W. REESE.

Part Five.—The "Mode" of Baptism.

"Go ye, therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost."—Matt. 28: 19

WE, that believe in trine immersion, are often confronted with the objection that ours can not be the "one baptism" because ours is not ONE but three baptisms. We will not pause here to consider this point, but will notice it before we close. Another "mode" claiming, and with some show of reason and authority, the "ONE baptism," is that of "single immersion." Those who advocate this form contend that the single act constitutes the thing whose completion we call baptism. We admit that this method, "mode" or manner seems more reasonable than the others, and is, really, a part of genuine baptism. But we contend that it is incomplete; that it stops short of the full performance of what is necessary to constitute the "one baptism" instituted by Christ.

We laid down the premise that baptism is a thing, not an act: a noun, and not a verb, and we wish this distinction kept steadily in view. We claim that when the ONE baptism is commanded, the THING is referred to and NOT the way the THING is to be done. The noun—baptism—the thing completed is here meant. When, on the one hand, our Savior told his disciples to go "baptize all nations" the VERB is used. They were to GO and DO something. The verb, in English, would be called "an active, transitive verb"—one in which the action contemplated or spoken of passes over from the subject to the object. "William loves his father," would be an example of this form of the verb, "John built a barn," would be another. Now, in the latter example we would have some resemblance to the frequentive character of the Greek verb baptizo. No one would assert that John built his barn—were it ever so small, by one single act. Though he might possess the mythical strength of the fabled Demi-God, Hercules himself, he could not do this. It took MANY strokes of the saw and MANY blows of the hammer, MANY ACTS to BUILD John's barn. Yet, when we use the verb "built" in this connection, the idea impressed upon the mind is not the separate acts required in the work of building, but the aggregate of that work, the completion of the job. In this full, round, symmetric idea we have the complete expression of the word. A language is said to be expressive just in proportion to the completeness or expansion of the ideas it is intended to convey. Language in general is but the vehicle of thought. It was instituted as a necessity for the communication and interchange of ideas. Language is composed of words, "parts of speech"—which are the SIGNS of IDEAS. These are expressed by articulate sounds. Words, in themselves, are meaningless, arbitrary terms, used by common consent to denote certain things. In the rudest forms of human society language is extremely simple because among barbarians ideas are few. Words or terms are, therefore, few. Actions, signs, gestures, simple ejaculations, even, supplement the place of speech.

Under such circumstances the several necessities of life comprise all the demands of a vehicle of thought. Intelligence and thought are in their infancy—nay, in embryo, as it were. As man emerges from barbarism his ideas expand. The mind is lifted to a higher plane, his mental necessities increase, therefore his language improves with this new order of things. Language becomes fuller, words multiply, especially adverbs, adjectives, and other modifying terms, that give new force and beauty to human speech. Language thus becomes more refined and more capable of expressing finer shades of thought, feeling, and emotion, more esthetic, more fitted for the demands of a higher order of intelligence and the fuller expansion of the human mind.

These reflections lead us to a consideration of the condition of the human race in that part of the globe where the advent of the Messiah took place. Greece had risen to a zenith of intellectual splendor which all succeeding time has not eclipsed. Under the magnificent rule of Pericles, 500 years before Christ, the fame of this wonderful people had reached the limits of the civilized earth. Through the intellectual grandeur of a mind like that of Socrates and of his no less illustrious pupil—the renowned Plato—philosophy had reached its proudest heights. Sculpture had astonished the world and glorified the genius of its Master in the matchless hands of Phidias. Architecture, exquisite in its beauty and dainty in its graceful and symmetric proportions, beautiful as a poet's dream, had bloomed into new life under the unrivalled hands that created that matchless triumph of the art—the temple of Minerva Parthenos chief goddess of Greece. Poetry, Sculpture, Music, Painting, Philosophy, Eloquence, had their birth-place and had attained their fullest perfection in Greece. They are now—always have been—and ever will be the models and the masterpieces of all ages of the world.

And what a marvel the language that enshrined the thought of a people like that! The Greek tongue is a creation of exquisite genius, no less wonderful than the mind and thought of that matchless clime, so soft, so musical, so sweet: the most expressive language that ever was linked to the music of human speech.

In support of this opinion I crave indulgence while I quote the language of an eminent historian concerning the wonderful tongue of this classic land. The italics are mine, the significance of which I beg the reader to note. "But it was the Greek verb which most of all exhibited the fecundity of the language. Here was revealed the great force and perspicuity of the speech of the Hellenes. A double series of affixes added or prefixed to the verb-roots clearly distinguished the TENSES as to the time and completeness of the action expressed by them. For past time the augment, and for completed action the reduplicate, furnished DELICATE DISCRIMINATIONS for which we would look in vain in Latin or in any other tongue ever spoken in Europe. The root of a Greek verb was thus subject to a sort of development by means of endings and prefixes until the exact notion of the time, its point and duration, and the completeness of the action was expressed with a SPECIFIC DELICACY of which no other language has ever shown itself SUSCEPTIBLE.

"There was thus established through ALL the PARTS of the formal STRUCTURE of the Greek tongue a kind of SYMPATHETIC UNION, which moved the WHOLE as ONE. A Greek sentence was agitated through all its length and depth by the STRESS of EXPRESSION; the PARAGRAPH trembled from end to end when the thrill of life awoke in any part.

"The language, with its multitudinous endings, all in harmonious accord, lay like a rich meadow of stately timothy, swaying and waving in the breezes of thought. Each stalk nodded to its fellow. The ripple of mirth danced over its surface like a scarcely perceptible breath of air. The shadow chased the sunshine and the sunshine the shadow. A sigh came out of the forest and a deeper wave moved gently away to the distance. The thrill of joy, the menace of defiance, the moan of the disconsolate spirit, the pæan of battle, the shout of victory, every mood and every emotion which the mind of man, in his most vigorous estate, is capable of experiencing, swept, in rolling billows, across the pulsating bosom of this beautiful speech." (Ridpath's Encyclopedia of Universal History. Volume 1, page 389.)

Indulgence is craved for the lengthy quotation but its insertion is not without a purpose. The reader is urged to consider the suggestive thought, that it was in this superb, exquisite and matchless tongue our Savior spoke—the evangelists recorded his life—his sayings and his acts, the apostolic letters written.

Please to note also that the word baptizo is a Greek verb having a peculiar SIGNIFICANCE, implying REPETITION or CONTINUITY of ACTION, to make the SENSE FULL and COMPLETE. No Greek scholar will deny the fact. THIS ALONE would go far to ESTABLISH the claims of TRINE IMMERSION; and this, taken in connection with its USE in the formula of the great commission, is CONCLUSIVE of the FACT.

Let us now consider what is COMPREHENDED in this language of Christ! "Go ye, therefore, and teach all nations," that is, "Preach the Gospel to every creature, BAPTIZING them in the name of the Father, AND (baptizing them) in the name of the Son, AND (baptizing them) in the name of the Holy Ghost." This is the full, complete and LEGITIMATE meaning of the GREEK VERB BAPTIZO. It is, also, the meaning, by common consent and universal interpretation of ANY ENGLISH sentence CONSTRUCTED LIKE the FORMULA of the COMMISSION given by our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.

(To be continued.)

RANDOM THOUGHTS.

BY SUSAN EIKENBERRY.

Is Prohibition in Iowa a failure? We say, emphatically, No. It is a great blessing to the people of Iowa. This fact cannot be denied by honest people, as the change is too plainly seen. Those who used to go reeling and staggering along the highway, almost daily, are now replaced by sober men. While formerly we were often disturbed in the night by drunkards passing by, who were very noisy, now everything is quiet and we do not hear or see any drunkards.

I hope none of us, who profess to be followers of Christ, will throw our influence in favor of so great an evil as we see in the demon Alcohol.

Let us do all the good we can and shun the evil. Let us try to bring up our children in the nurture and admonition of the Lord,—teach them as soon as they are able to understand, that it is wrong to use alcoholic drinks and tobacco also.

Do not give your children a hankering after strong drink by giving them wine to drink. It is likely to be ruinous to them, and make drunkards of them. Who is to blame? Who will have to answer for it, if they go to a drunkard's grave?

I think there is a great responsibility resting upon us as parents, and we will certainly, one day, have to give an account of how we have raised our children. Parents can do more either to save or destroy the souls of their children than any one else in the world. Our children are very apt to imitate us. If we live carelessly and unconcerned about the salvation of souls, they will be very likely to be so too. May we, then, ever try to do our duty, showing a good example to our children and to others, so that our skirts may be clear. Let us be temperate in all things, and keep ourselves unspotted from the world. Let us be as a shining light to others,—a light that cannot be hid, but will shine long after we have gone to eternity.

To the young I would say, You cannot realize what an influence you can have over your associates. If you live a devoted, Christian life, you may be the means of saving many precious souls by your chaste walk and conduct. Eternity alone may reveal it. On the other hand, you may be the means of some poor souls going to eternal ruin, by living an unholy life. You may depend upon it, that you have an influence over your associates either for good or evil. May we all, both young and old, try to be true workers in Christ's vineyard, that many souls may yet be saved.

Waterloo, Iowa.

EPISTOLARY.

BY C. H. BALSBAUGH.

You all seem to drain a deep cup of wormwood, and yet it is not all bitter. I see drops of honey here and there. I trust it may eternally be all honey,—the very honey of the upper Paradise. You must pray God day and night for the wisdom that cometh from above, so that you may be a true representative of Christ between the disaffected parties. Just see what Divine qualities constitute the wisdom which the Holy Ghost imparts! It is "first pure, then peaceable, gentle, and easy to be entreated, full of mercy and good fruits, without partiality, and without hypocrisy." James 3: 17.

Is not this the very thing that is needed in Illinois and everywhere else on this sin-smitten earth? Yes. Verily, to be wise as God is wise is to love as He loves. Let us see what love does. "Love suffereth long, and is kind; love envieth not; love vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up, doth not behave itself unseemly, seeketh not its own, is not provoked, taketh not account of evil; rejoiceth not in unrighteousness, but rejoiceth with the truth; beareth all things, believeth all things, hopeth all things, endureth all things. Love NEVER FAILETH." 1 Cor. 13: 4–7. Now, let us put the cupola on this temple of glory: "GOD IS LOVE; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him." 1 John 4: 16. "Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be called the children of God." Matt. 5: 9. All this we must mean when we pray, "Thy kingdom come, thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven." We can not honestly say "OUR FATHER," until we have our hearts and lives steeped in Col. 3: 12–17. If the peace of God rules in our hearts then there is peace everywhere. Then we can have our skulls and hearts broken with stones and bludgeons, and have no other retaliation than the sweet prayer, "Lord, lay not this sin to their charge." Acts 7: 60. Loving, forgiving, and dying for enemies is the glory of the Christian, as it was the glory of the Christ. If you all look unto Jesus, and to Him only, and see and know nothing but Jesus, having heart and mind and eyes and mouth and life full of Him, you will have a Pentecost presently, and it will last forever.

Just take these three passages, and link them into one, and see how God-like they make you: "Lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world." "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me." "The Lord is my helper, and I will not fear what man shall do unto me." Matt. 28: 20; Phil. 4: 13; Heb. 13: 6. As a farewell, take John 12: 24, 25 and Matt. 20: 26 28, and context. Oh, how beautiful is Jesus in the perfection of his love, and how beautiful are His true disciples!

Union Deposit, Pa.

THE CHURCH A HOME.

BY WEALTHY A. BURKHOLDER.

We often hear the church compared to a family, and the figure is one of beauty. The family,—what an endearing relation! The parents and children, brothers and sisters, living together, as they should, in happiness, each one laboring for the good of the others! Should there sometimes be little misunderstandings (as is common to humanity), they are soon made right again, and love and peace reign supreme. Whatever is the parental wish, in the well-governed Christian family, is the children's pleasure to obey, and thus the family feeling is sustained. How beautiful! Yet, how sin has marred this grand institution of home and the family life!

Christ is the Head of the church. He instituted it and gave himself for it, that we might have a home,—a church home,—where we can live together, worshiping the same Head, and be subject to one another, rendering the obedience and reverence to the great Head which he so much deserves.

We now have the church militant where we can be trained and disciplined for the church triumphant. We have the solemn rites and ordinances, the observance of which strengthens us spiritually, and enables us to battle more successfully in the great warfare in which we are engaged. We have the association of those of like precious faith,—our brethren and sisters, who are dearer to us than brothers and sisters in the flesh, and who with us, professed the same allegiance to the Head of the church. We have the same blessed Word,—the Bible,—as a guide to lead us onward and upward,—comforting and cheering as well.

All these blessings we have through the redemption of Christ. He gave his life to procure salvation on these easy terms, and yet we are slow to comply and accept a home with God's people.

We sometimes sing:

"I love thy Kingdom, Lord,
The house of thine abode,
The church our blest Redeemer saved
By his own precious blood."

But do we fully realize the truth we are expressing? Do we love the church above everything else? Do we not at times allow our selfishness and carnality to crowd out the love and devotion we should have for the church of Christ? We may talk of how we love him and of the sacrifices we should make for his cause, but when the test comes, how much self are we willing to sacrifice for Christ? In the family circle all the members must yield their wills and not persist in having their own way, and where true love is, they will cheerfully do it for the purpose of keeping the family united, and preserving the peace and good will which is peculiar to members of the same household, and the same is true of the church. Christ sacrificed much for us, and if we are true to him and the profession we have made, we will be ready and willing to do something in return, and if we are not willing, our pretensions to love him are vain.

Let us remember that each one is a part of the great whole and that, individually, we are to some extent affecting the weal or woe of our beloved Brotherhood. Were we to more fully realize the responsibility of our life-work and the influence we exert upon others we would be more careful and prayerful, and the light that should emanate from us would shine with a much brighter radiance.

Is the church a home in the highest and truest sense? We love our earthly homes and for them toil and strive and make many sacrifices. Does the same fervor characterize our love for the church? Do we enjoy our fellowship in the church and are we willing to bear reproaches, if need be, for its welfare? Do we love to meet in the sanctuary to worship with his people, or would we rather mingle with the giddy and gay of the world? Are the interests of the church our interests, and are we doing what we can to promote holiness in ourselves and those around us? We can not be neutral. We must be greatly in earnest for the welfare of Zion or be on the other side, helping to upbuild Satan's kingdom. Let us not, individually, tear down what the church is trying to build up. Let us, young and old, examine our hearts and see if we are in the faith and if our love for Christ and his church will bear the test.

Sometimes we are asked to make some sacrifice for the church. Perhaps we have been indulging in something the Gospel forbids and then comes the hard part. We feel that we cannot part with that which gives us pleasure, and so we grieve the feelings of those who have our welfare at heart and who are trying to care for us. We forget our promises and cast a stumbling-block in the way of those who are trying to do right. By thus wounding the feelings of others we sin against Christ. The world is looking on and noting our inconsistencies. Those outside the church do not expect us to act, to talk, or dress like them. They know what is in harmony with our profession and they do not expect us to ape after them.

Let us try to keep the world out of the church. Christ's people are a peculiar people. We are to "come out from among them and be separate," and we cannot do this by following the fashions and customs of the world. As we labor to keep evil out of our homes and cultivate that love which makes home, so let us labor individually to keep the church pure and unspotted from the world. Then we can more truthfully and with greater propriety sing:

"For her my tears shall fall;
For her my prayers ascend;
To her my cares and toils be given
Till toils and cares shall end.

"Beyond my highest joy
I prize her heavenly ways,
Her sweet communion, solemn vows,
Her hymns of love and praise."

FRIENDLY CRITICISMS.

Number Four.

Dear Brother:—

In this criticism I would like to call your attention to the seeming difference in the logic of preachers and writers in regard to the office of the Holy Spirit. Some claim that it is the Holy Ghost or Holy Spirit that operates in the conviction and conversion of sinners. Others say that the influence and presence of the Holy Ghost comes only to the born of God. Now no one will deny but what the Father and the Son in a sense, —as separate one from the other,—are spirits, for it is said God is a spirit, and the Son said, "My words they are spirit, and they are life." In their separate office, or together, they are certainly the embodiment of good emanations, which we call spirit.

This influence, coming from the Father, and working in the Son, during his incarnate life, was the power that led his disciples to him and caused them to become his followers. They had a Comforter in the person and holy influence of the Savior, but when he went away he sent another Comforter,—the Holy Spirit. May we not, with propriety, claim a similar influence now in the work of conviction, only we now hold the personality of Jesus in His word. To come to Jesus is to come to his Word, to follow him is to hear his call in his Word and follow him whithersoever he leads, by his Word. This is done by the absolute power in the Word (when accepted through faith), and then, in the final act of the new creation, the regenerate receive the Holy Ghost proper.

If this be true, then why say, "The Holy Spirit convicts and converts," when its work, seemingly, only commences in the new man; in fact, it is the living principle, or person that shapes the regenerated man into the likeness of Christ, and so swallows up our very life that it is hid with God in Christ.

In apostolic days the gift or reception of the Holy Ghost was an event so marked in the recipient as to create attention,—something different from any other good they had received. Now give us the most logical Scriptural view of the Holy Ghost, his office, work and place, that we may be able to speak more understandingly on this subject. J. S. FLORY.

REMARKS.

Dear Brother:—

THE question you raise is of importance because it involves the question of the exercise of God's sovereignty in a spiritual sense, its extent, and means employed. It is not a question as to whether there be any Holy Spirit, but whether the Holy Spirit comes to, and operates on the mind of the unconverted, or comes only to those who are converted, the former view, i. e., that he does not work in the unconverted, is one of the religious dogmas of the age, and lies at the foundation of a popular sect, and while they deny any previous work of the Spirit, as also the personal indwelling in the Holy Spirit, they admit his indwelling in the church, in the sense that it is the body of Christ. The objection, however, to this view lies in the fact, that it is impossible to know how the Holy Spirit may dwell in the body,—the church,—and not be in its individual members as such. In John 14:17 the Comforter promised to the disciples is called Spirit of truth, in verse 26, the Comforter is called the Holy Ghost. These several names are applied to the same Being.

The ministrations of the Holy Spirit to the believer consist in being his Comforter, Guide and Teacher,—to lead him into all the truth Jesus taught. John 14; 17:26; 15:26; 16:13-14.

To the unconverted world, the Holy Spirit is its convictor, condemning it. See John 16:8-11. Verse 9, shows that as the world does not believe, the Holy Spirit works to have it believe, verse 10. He shows that as the unconverted had not the righteousness of God,—they should be made to realize its character, and need to them. Verse 11.

As the unconverted are blind to the just demands of a righteous God, they should be made sensible of it. Upon these three fundamental principles of believing, obeying, and honoring the righteousness of God, the destiny of every soul hangs. Those who yield to the convincing power of the Holy Spirit may be saved, and those who refuse will be condemned. In both respects they act,—conscious of the magnitude of the subject on which they act, made conscious by the Holy Spirit convincing them of sin, of righteousness, and judgment.

John 3:5 would also teach us that the Spirit works in the unconverted, for, unless born of water and of the Spirit, they cannot enter the kingdom of God. This would say, if the Spirit only comes after conversion, then water baptism, also, comes after conversion, while the fact taught by the Gospel is that it takes water baptism to consummate conversion. The truth taught here, is that, to be born again, which has connected with it a water baptism. Such, in the act of baptism, were also in the Spirit, in the sense in which the exiled John on Patmos was in the Spirit on the Lord's Day. That the Holy Spirit was to work in the sinner a preparation for water baptism, seems clearly taught here. If so, then the Holy Spirit does approach the sinner, but he does not take up his abode in the unconverted as he does with the converted. This distinction is important to keep in view. 1 Pet. 1:22, gives it that believers obeyed the Truth through the Spirit The meaning is, they were, by the power of the Spirit, led to obey the Truth. They were under the power of the Spirit before they were in the Truth, and by Him led to obey. The same truth is taught in Gal. 6:8. Many more Scriptures might be referred to, in which not only the personality of the Holy Spirit is shown, but also his work in the heart and conscience of the unconverted, showing that God's sovereign power, in a spiritual sense, is over all the intelligences of a lost race, making this power to be felt in the first wayward steps of early youth. Often man becomes so hardened in sin, and confirmed in the pleasure of unrighteousness that he believes a lie, and is condemned forever.

That there is a special operation of the Holy Spirit on the mind of the unconverted, and that this is something more than the influence of the Word itself, can be attested to by many, if not all, who obeyed the Truth. There is no doubt but that many can call to mind when, in early life, they read the Scripture with no very strong impressions attending it, but afterwards, when under conviction, the same Scripture burned into their soul like a living coal from the altar of God. Now why this difference? There can be but one answer. The Holy Spirit was near, doing just what the Savior said he should, "reproving him of sin, of righteousness, and judgment," so the poet thought when he wrote:

> "O may I feel as once I felt,
> When pained and grieved at heart,
> Thy kind, forgiving melting look,
> Relieved my every smart."

The means by which the Holy Spirit works with the unconverted, may not be so easily enumerated, but the means by which he consummates his work, have already been referred to in showing how such, as yield to the power of the Spirit, obey the Work of God. In Eph. 6:17, where the Word is said to be the sword of the Spirit we have direct testimony, showing that the Holy Spirit in his work of reproving the world, etc., uses the Word of God as his instrument in the work, the same as a soldier uses the sword on the battle-field to accomplish his work; both engage in putting down opposition to the cause they represent. Our Savior repelled the assaults of Satan by the Word of God. Its efficiency is described in Heb. 4: 12, "For the Word of God is quick, and powerful, and sharper than any two-edged sword, piercing even to the dividing asunder of soul and spirit, and of the joints and marrow, and is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart,"—fit weapon for the Holy Spirit. There is no escape for the sinner from the penetration of the Word of God, wielded by the Spirit, awakening the conscience, and causing him to tremble with fear at the coming judgment. To the sinner the Holy Spirit is the accuser. To him he comes, but goes away again as if rejected. To the saint he comes as a Comforter, Guide, and Teacher, with the Word of God as the text-book, and makes his abode with him. S. S. MOHLER.

COVERING UP SIN.

BY HENRY SHIDELER.

"He that covereth his sins shall not prosper: but whoso confesseth and forsaketh them shall have mercy."—Prov. 28: 13.

HERE is a doctrine of vital importance to the salvation of the soul, that the weakest may understand. In all ages of the world has God abhorred this evil of covering up sin. Achan covered his gold and silver and fine clothes that he found in Jericho, in the middle of his tent. John 7. The next siege that Joshua's army made was unsuccessful. Ananias and his wife kept back a part of the price of their land and lied to the Holy Ghost, and thereby fell dead. God does not, in our time, inflict his punishments in this way; but has left this incident on record to show to the world his disapprobation of this way of covering sin. When Christ gave us his rules for the future government of his church, he knew that man was weak and would fall into many temptations.

Too often, when man gives way to temptation, he falls into sin, and, instead of going in a Christian way and confessing the sin, he tries to cover it up by excuses and evasions. If we wrong our brother or sister, or violate any rule of the church, it is no dishonor to make an honest confession of it. Mark you, the church that does not uphold this practice, in an impartial way, will never prosper.

If we have wronged any one or violated any rule of the church, knowingly, it is not necessary for us to wait until we are told of it. We should do as Zaccheus did. If the doctrine of restitution is taught in the Bible, it is found in the actions of this little man. If he wronged any man, he restored the loss fourfold. Luke 19.

Dear brother or sister, as the case may be, have you, by impure motives, or by bad words with that unruly member,—the tongue,—injured the reputation or good name of any one? Please answer. HAVE YOU? Can you restore him fourfold? If we would, what a joy it would be to live in the church! Then we would realize an answer to our petition when we say, "Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven." We would almost have a heaven on earth.

How often do we see the reverse of this? We often hear a dozen excuses before one confession is made. Confessing faults leads to forsaking them. Making excuses often leads to lying, to hide faults. To evade will lead to deception, and when we are this far along, the road is a short one to downright falsehood. A wrong confessed can be forgiven, but a wrong that is plastered over only excites our contempt for the one that will not see his faults, or will not own them when he does see them. This is all the worse for him who makes a great profession of righteousness, while, at the same time he is guilty of acts that a decent sinner would scorn to perform. For the sake of keeping up a good appearance for sanctity, some will, after doing things that no honest man would, evade confession and refuse restoration, until men lose all confidence in their honesty and intelligence. How much better to say in an honest way, "I did the wrong. I am sorry for it," than to try to evade what we are not willing to confess, and excusing what we can not deny, until our moral natures are filled with corruption, and we become so accustomed to this kind of work, that we can not tell the truth as it should be. Bro. Sharp struck the right note when he wrote, "Entire Consecration," on page 165, No. 11.

A half-way repentance and a patched-up confession are twin sisters, and are both gilded hypocrisies. Take notice to the man of Luke 6: 48. He dug deep for a good foundation, and in digging deep he had a great deal of dirt to throw out. We who make professions and would build for eternity, must throw out all of Gal. 5: 19–21, and as a foundation put in what follows in same chapter, verses 22 and 23. To finish the building neatly and insure it against the storm, we should employ the material described in 2 Peter 1: 5–7. Would we not all be happy to live in buildings of this description, knowing that when the stream would beat vehemently on it, it could not even shake it? How with the other man that did not dig at all for a foundation, and consequently could put no good material in? His ruin was great!

EXAMINATION.

BY W. R. DEETER.

ALL of God's service is important, the communion service especially so. Without it is no life. "Except ye eat the flesh of the Son of Man, and drink his blood, ye have no life in you." John 6: 53. To eat unworthily is to eat condemnation. See 1 Cor. 11: 29. So, while it is important that we eat and drink the bread and cup of communion, it is equally important that we do so properly; hence the command, "Let a man examine himself and so let him eat of that bread and drink of that cup."

If there is any one time more than another when men should be honest, it is when they are thrown upon their own responsibility and dignity. God gives this examination entirely into our own hands. The man who examines himself is the accuser, accused, witness, judge and jury. God furnishes the standard. Of course we are responsible to God how we judge.

Sometimes men complain of partiality or injustice, and properly so, too, where parties have to sit in judgment, and call for a "change of venue," but in this judgment there is no room for complaint.

Paul further says, "If we would judge ourselves we should not be judged, but when we are judged we are chastened of the Lord, that we should not be condemned with the world." It will avail but little if we judge ourselves, see many sins we have committed but make no effort to correct them. In this examination we take a general survey of our past lives, in the various relations we sustain to one another and to God. Like David, when he said, "I thought on my ways; I turned my feet to thy testimonies," Ps. 119: 59, so we, in this examination, think on our ways.

Our sins will make us unworthy communicants at the Lord's table. These must be "blotted out," and this can be done only in a legal way. If sins between us and God alone, and "if we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness." 1 John 1: 9. If there is a difficulty between brethren, God will not forgive until proper steps are taken by the parties according to Matt. 5: 23, 24, and 18: 15. Until these conditions are complied with, it is useless to ask God to pardon, but when they are complied with, Jesus would say, "Whosoever sins ye remit, they are remitted unto them, and whosoever sins ye retain, they are retained." John 20: 23.

We should also remember the purpose of the communion service, that it is commemorative of the death and shed blood of Christ, pointing the mind back to the cross. If, while partaking of these emblems, the mind is on our secular business, the vanities of the world, or any other subject than the one commemorated, our service will be vain.

THE SUNDAY-SCHOOL LESSONS FOR THE NEXT QUARTER.

BY L. A. PLATE.

THE lessons in the Brethren's Quarterly for the third quarter of 1889 return to the Old Testament, and the larger part of the First Book of Samuel furnishes the material for the many excellent truths brought out. While some of our Brethren may not favor a study of the Old Testament in the Sunday-school, yet it should not be forgotten that, in the words of the apostle, the Old Testament is "our school-master to bring us unto Christ." As such it should receive careful attention, that we might the more fully understand the glorious truths of that NEWER and BETTER dispensation, the benefits of which are incomparable, and which, if fully understood, are able to make us "wise unto salvation."

The first lesson, "Samuel Called of God," 1 Sam. 3: 1 14, portrays to us a part of the early history of Samuel. We may learn that it is a great blessing to have pious parents and a religious home, and that the child who seeks the Lord early, will be safe from the wiles of the tempter and, by a life of faithful service, seek to show its love to the Good Shepherd.

"The Sorrowful Death of Eli," 1 Sam. 4: 1–18, is only another evidence of the sad truth, that the neglect of parents in the training of their children will cause them to "bring their gray hairs with sorrow to the grave." Once the writer heard the anguished wail of a father when he said, at the grave of his dissolute son, "Just to think that I am the parent of a LOST SOUL!" That father, with thousands of others, might well have taken a lesson from the sad results which followed Eli's sin, when he failed to "restrain his sons from doing evil in the sight of the Lord." To bring up our children in the "nurture and admonition of the Lord," is a work in importance above any other,—one that requires unceasing vigilance and the tenderest care.

"Samuel the Reformer," 1 Sam. 7: 1–12, gives us another glimpse of Samuel as he is engaged in the up-hill work of reforming the Jewish nation, —trying to have them put away their idols, and turn to the Living God. Mankind has not changed greatly since then. Long years of faithful labor are necessary now, in the work of lifting up those who have wandered far away from the Father's house, and who have followed sin,—that fatal will-o'-the-wisp,—until they are almost lost to the good influences of the ONE who would fain press them to his bosom and welcome them home.

"Israel Asking for a King," 1 Sam. 8: 4–20, illustrates clearly how the human race is ever discontent,—that man thinks he "never IS, but is ever TO BE blest." Too often we ask God for things that are not best for us, and he may sometimes gratify our desires even though to our disadvantage, thereby to teach us a lesson to let HIM direct our lives and all connected therewith. It is infallibly safe to trust God in everything, and abide by his directions.

"Saul Chosen of the Lord," 1 Sam. 9: 15–27, brings before us the fact that God's hand is over all men and events,—that, as he required of Saul to do according to the best of his ability, so, also, he will demand of us to do ALL we can, and do it faithfully. Our possibilities in that direction are limited only by our willingness and our love to the cause we profess.

"Samuel's Farewell Address," 1 Sam. 12: 1–15, impresses us with the thought that it is the greatest blessing to any people to have pure and noble-minded leaders. In this respect Samuel was far in advance of many in our day, who care more for their own aggrandizement than the welfare of those under their care. Religion and morality must ever be the safeguard of any nation, and it is important that those in authority anywhere show a good example.

"Saul Rejected by the Lord," 1 Sam. 15: 10–23, shows us that, while God may give great opportunities and possibilities, he also tries us whether we are worthy of them, and that, in all we do, the great question after all is, whether we obey God or not. Our sin will find us out, sooner or later, and no other way of making amendment for it is given us than an open confession. Self-justification is but a poor affair, as we may well see in the case of Saul as portrayed in the lesson. How much better, had he been as "a broken reed" in the sight of God, "to be accepted."

"The Anointing of David," 1 Sam. 16: 1–13, gives a renewed evidence of the fact that God who "can see the oak in the acorn and the flower in the little seed," can also judge man by the heart, out of which are the issues of life. As in the case of David, so God always raises up men of his own choosing to do his work, and, while they may not be great in the eyes of the world, yet they will, by their faithfulness, merit the encomium bestowed upon David, "A man after God's own heart."

"David and Goliath," 1 Sam. 17: 32–51, recalls the days when first we heard that story upon a mother's knee. The Christian is ever reminded that there are giants that we must overcome,—that there are battles to be fought in our own hearts, in which we will never succeed unless we do as David did, call upon Israel's God to help us. Let us ever remember that the victory is not to the strong, the mighty, but to those who are weak in their own sight, but strong in faith and dependence upon God.

"David and Jonathan," 1 Sam. 20: 1–13, a touching portrayal of true friendship, shows us that love, when sanctified by religious influences, will produce, as in this case, glorious results. In this world of trouble and vexation, how comforting it is to turn to a true friend for consolation! But even should earthly friends fail us, we can turn with perfect confidence to that FRIEND who "sticketh closer than a brother,"—the one who will never leave us nor forsake us.

"David Sparing Saul," 1 Sam. 24: 4–17, displays the generous nature of David. As night brings out the stars, so affliction and persecution developed those nobler traits which are the highest ornament to man, — a meek and quiet spirit. David's treatment of Saul shows us the only true way of proceeding with an enemy. Kill enmity not the enemy. Conquer your enemy by being so kind to him that he can not help becoming your friend.

"The Death of Saul and His Sons," 1 Sam. 31: 1–13, which concludes this interesting series of lessons, should make a deep impression upon all. "The way of the transgressor is hard," and this is clearly shown in the occurrences of this lesson. As Saul's life had been one of disobedience to God, disregarded warnings, and neglected opportunities, so also is his death one of violence, totally unlike to what it might have been, had he been obedient to the commands of God. One of the Bible characters makes the exclamation, "Let me die the death of the righteous, and let my latter end be like his." May it be our blessed experience to pass away from this earth with the consciousness that we have done what we could. God asks but little of us; let us do it willingly and do it, not because of the reward, but because it is the right thing to do.

LIVES OF THE CÆSARS.

BY W. H. ROOSE.

Number Five.—Cæsar.

POMPEY was not of an envious disposition, but rejoiced at Cæsar's success, so much so that he and Crassus started on foot to Lucca where Cæsar was encamped with his army that he might congratulate Cæsar, while the Senator made feasts in honor of Cæsar that continued for fifteen days. From here he marched upon the Germans and killed four hundred thousand men. He wished to cross the river, but could not on account of the depth and rapidity of the current, so his soldiers made a bridge which stood for many years after Cæsar and his soldiers passed away. It not only served Cæsar's purposes, but was convenient for the Germans while it was an ornament to the country. When Cæsar crossed the Rhine he began to burn villages, kill the people, and appropriate their property to his uses. All this he did that he might be spoken of as the first general who had ever conquered that country. These poor people had never harmed Cæsar in the least.

Cæsar had often been told of the British Island, but it was said to be such a poor place, and of so little consequence that no one then thought it would ever be called Great Britain. Many of the Romans did not believe there was such a place.

As the Roman empire was not extensive enough for some of the Romans, they wanted to go and see whether they could not add it to what they already possessed. Britain's shores were reputed to be rich in pearls by some, but others said it was such a cold, dismal, foggy place that it could be inhabited by none but savages. To the Roman, who was accustomed to the sunny skies of Italy, Britain must have been a dismal place, indeed. In those times window glass and candles were unknown, and the people were obliged to put shutters up to the windows, and place a rush in a jar of fat with which to make light. Britain's inhabitants were something like the Indian of America who painted themselves with red and blue, dressed in skins, and never cut their hair. They had none of the elements of nature that are essential to make a prosperous and enlightened people. They had neither wisdom, nor arts, nor manufactures.

Now, if we reflect upon the difference in the condition of the people of those islands at that time and those of modern times, we can not help but see the advantage of being born after the morals and condition of mankind have been so much improved by Christian influences,—when the principle of peace is being inculcated in the minds of rulers and their subjects, making them labor for the mutual benefit and common good of one another.

These people were ignorant of the true God, but were taught by false and ignorant priests, called Druids, who taught them many foolish and wicked things. They sacrificed men upon their altars to please their false gods. This practice of making living sacrifices is demanded of the followers of Christ to-day, yet in a different manner. The way in which it is made now, is in accordance with the laws of health, which necessarily insures prolonged life. We give the body to be cleansed of evil habits by the power and influence of the Holy Spirit. This is our reasonable service. Ours is "a reasonable service," made to the Being who lives and answers prayer, while theirs was unreasonable, because made to a god which was much the same as the one we are told of in the Bible, whose worshipers asked to set fire to the offering on the altar, but had no power to do so.

Barbarous people of all countries and in all ages offered the blood of their fellow-men as an atonement for sin. Now it may seem a little strange to us why this idea was so general; but when we read in the Word of God that He once revealed to the world that the death of one MAN was the only way by which our sins could be pardoned, the matter becomes plain to us. It seems strange to us why those, who are looking for evidences of the truthfulness of the Scriptural record, can not grasp this one fact as one of their missing links. Yet those people did not know exactly what it meant; they knew that "without the shedding of blood there is no remission." Not knowing that our Savior shed his blood, "once for all," they still continue to slay men upon their altars, and even kill their children whom they love so well, in the hope of receiving pardon for their sins and securing eternal happiness.

Cæsar was determined to conquer these savage and warlike people, but when he would attempt to land, the people would gather into such vast crowds that he was compelled to wait. At last he landed where Dover now stands. He was surprised to find neither houses nor people. They had fled, driving their cattle into places of safety, and burning their corn. Starvation looked these brave soldiers in the face. Several engagements took place between the army and the natives, in which the natives were defeated.

Here again I must leave Cæsar in order to draw a lesson for our good. The Britons were just as brave and courageous as the Romans, but they were almost naked, and had nothing to protect their bodies and limbs, and of course they were wounded by the enemy, while the Romans were protected by an armor. So it is with those who have enlisted in the Christian warfare. When we have not the whole armor of God, we become wounded, and often led captive by the enemy. Our Captain gives us good weapons. Though they are not carnal, they are mighty to the putting down of the strongholds of Satan.

At last Cæsar conquered the Britons, and took possession of the Island. But it was hardly worth keeping, to say nothing of the lives lost and the sufferings and anxieties of those who survived. They lived many days on milk and meat. What a change has taken place! Then it was so barren, it yielded but little corn, but to-day you can see the richest fields of grain. Then the Island was infested with wolves, but now they are almost extinct. The treasures that were hidden then, have been unearthed, and are now adding to the wealth of its people. Where you could only see a few awkward Roman ships, we see her harbors filled with the merchantmen of all nations.

Cæsar did one of the most useful actions of his life when he built the city of London, which stands in all its grandeur to-day. Little did the Romans think when they were erecting that city, that it would some day be of greater importance than Rome itself, and that it would be growing richer and more splendid, after all their own palaces and towers had crumbled to ruins, and when all their "warriors were slain, and their glory ended."

PRAYER FOR THE REMISSION OF SINS.

BY JACOB RIFE.

IN treating this subject, I want it understood that I am an earnest believer in prayer, when done in spirit and in truth, for that is the God-given means by which we can make our wants and desires known to God, but prayer is not the means that God has given us through his will to make us new creatures in Christ Jesus, or, at least, I do not understand it so.

IN order that we understand and rightly divide the Scriptures, we must know who is speaking, and who is addressed, and the time and circumstances under which the language was uttered. Christ had power, while on the earth, to forgive sins (Matthew 9:6). Every incident given by those advocating prayer for the remission of sins, was in the life-time of Christ, such as "the thief on the cross," "the woman of Samaria," "the publican and sinner." Christ was yet alive, and had power to forgive sins.

Christ made his last will and testament, but "where a testament is there must also of necessity be the death of the testator, for a testament is of force after men are dead; otherwise it is of no force at all while the testator liveth." Heb. 9:16, 17. Christ gave his will (or his Father's) to the twelve apostles, and went out to Mount Olivet, and ascended to heaven. Then his will went into effect. We have no knowledge that Christ changed it after that, neither had the apostles the right, and why should we?

We now call the attention of the reader to the Acts of the Apostles. At Pentecost the will was delivered to them, and administered to three thousand people, who asked what they must do. Were they told to pray? No! They said, "Repent and be baptized, every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ, for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost." Acts 2:38. Was the gift of the Holy Ghost given to those three thousand by prayer, or through obedience? We think the careful student of the Bible can decide without much trouble. Turn to Acts 10:2, to the conversion of "Cornelius,"—one that feared God with all his house, and gave much alms to the people, and prayed to God always. With all his good works and prayer, and the Holy Ghost, which fell on all of them that heard the Word preached by Peter (verse 44), it would seem to have been sufficient to make him a new creature in Christ Jesus, without doing anything more, but the Apostle does not say so. He asked the question, "Can any man forbid water, that these should not be baptized, which have received the Holy Ghost, as well as we?" "And he commanded them to be baptized in the name of the Lord."

Saul of Tarsus, after his conviction, prayed very earnestly, yet with all his praying it required an Ananias to baptize him that his sins might be pardoned, and he be made a new creature in Christ, hence the language of Peter, addressed to the three thousand penitent sinners on the day of Pentecost, as well, as to Cornelius, plainly teaches that, through the act of obedience, they received the pardon of their sins.

In Acts 8:22, the apostle, speaking to an erring Christian, says: "Repent, therefore, for this thy wickedness and pray God, if perhaps the thought of thine heart may be forgiven thee." Thus we have the two laws of pardon, one to the sinner, the other to the Christian. One is by obedience, the other by prayer. A mediator is one who stands between God and man. Moses was the mediator of the Old Covenant, and Christ of the New. Hebrews 12:24. Paul says, "Christ is not entered into the holy place made with hands, but into heaven itself, now to appear in the presence of God for us." Heb. 9:24.

Then we must come to Christ, but how? By prayer? No! The Apostle says, "For as many of you as have been baptized into Christ, have put on Christ." Gal. 3:27. When we do this, we come to that point where we can offer acceptable prayer to God, and not before, "For we know that God heareth not sinners, but if any man be a worshiper of God, and doeth his will, him he heareth." John 9:31.

Some persons try to make capital of the language of Christ where he says, "Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you." Luke 11:9. In every case the Savior was speaking to the Apostles, and no one else. Their prayers were directly answered, as is indicated in the Holy Scriptures, and I would be glad for any one to show where God has ever directly answered the prayer of an individual since the last apostle passed from the stage of action.

Again, some use Romans 10:13, "For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord, shall be saved." That is, their sins shall be pardoned, and they made new creatures in Christ without obeying any command of Christ. Let us hear what Christ says upon the subject. Matt. 7:21. "Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven."

Please read the following verses in the above named chapter, and other connecting passages, and see whether we can have our sins pardoned without obedience to the Gospel of Christ. Let us, then, accept the Scriptures as they have been given to us, and not just a part, to suit our own ideas, or opinions, and thereby make the Scriptures contradict themselves. In investigating this or any other subject in the Scriptures, let us deal with it fairly, is our prayer!

Boston, Ind.

TO THE DEAR BRETHREN AND SISTERS OF CHICAGO.

BY LIZZIE RAWLINS.

WHILE reading the MESSENGER, lately, I noticed an article, regarding "The first Brethren's church in Chicago." What a glad surprise! I was anxiously looking forward to the time when the little band might have a home. "I lived to see the day and was glad."

I rejoiced that the brethren so earnestly admonished the little band of brethren and sisters to observe all the teachings of the Scriptures. This, I think, is very necessary. Strive lawfully in all things, and all you say and do, do to the glory and honor of God!

I wish I could have been present at the organization. I imagine that you feel as you have never felt before. You have more life and courage to go on in your Christian life-work than you have ever had. I hope you will ever keep in view the welfare of the church. Never forget to take the name of Jesus with you. Ever remember what Jesus said, "Without me ye can do nothing." "If you love me keep my commandments."

Have nothing to do with self in your work for God. "None of self and all of God." Then you can go out on your every-day duties with your heart full of love for everybody, and a clear conscience, void of offense toward God and man. Ever keep in close communion with God, the Father, and you will have nothing to fear.

Jesus said he would be with those that would meet in his name, and bless them. His grace is sufficient for you all. Fear not, little flock, 'tis your Father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom.

DON'T DO IT.

BY J. H. BEER.

DEAR brother and sister, don't sacrifice the principles and peace of the church upon the altar of the world! Don't say, "There is no Scripture that forbids the wearing of fashionable apparel." See 1 Peter 3:1-6; James 4:4; Titus 2:3-5; 1 Tim. 2:8-10; Rom. 12:12. Don't say, "It makes no difference," when you know that you voluntarily vowed to God and promised the brethren to forsake the world in its sinful habits. Matt. 18:18.

Don't say the church is all wrong, and you only are right. "In the multitude of council there is safety." Matt. 18:17. Don't cause the hearts of your ministers to bleed. They labor faithfully and arduously for the purity of the church. There is only one way for us to be separate from the world, and that is to leave the customs and sinful habits of the world with the people of it, and come out from amongst them, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing, and I will receive you. Dear reader, can you see any separation as long as we are living just like the world, and doing just what it does? Do you? You are ready to answer, "No." Neither can we.

We are commanded to set our affections on things above and not on things of this earth. Col. 3:1. Don't allow your religious influence to be thrown away in this way, but consider him who endured such contradiction against himself, lest you be weary and faint in your minds. Don't deal with the church as though there was no account to be given. It is a work that belongs to God, and every man's work shall be brought into judgment, for we were not redeemed with corruptible things, such as gold and silver, but with the precious blood of Christ. 1 Pet. 1:18, 19. He has begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead to "an inheritance that is incorruptible and undefiled and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you."

Rockton, Pa.

CORRESPONDENCE.

"Write what thou seest, and send it unto the churches"

☞Church News solicited for this Department. If you have had a good meeting, send a report of it, so that others may rejoice with you. In writing give name of church, county and State. Be brief! Notes of Travel should be as short as possible. Land Advertisements are not solicited for this Department. We have an advertising page, and, if necessary, will issue supplements.

From Leask Dale, Ontario, Canada.

MAY 8, Brother J. W. Metzger came here, accompanied by his uncle, Joseph Metzger. They came to visit us and hold some meetings. We were glad to see them. It is nearly seven months and a half since he was here, and we have not heard a sermon by the Brethren in that time. That would seem a long time to those who can go to meeting once or twice a week! We hope the time is nigh at hand when there will be preaching by the Brethren regularly throughout the year. That is needed to make the work a success. A few meetings at a place, then no meetings for some months, is about the same as no preaching at all. The enemy is busy all the time to undo what little has been done.

We had some interesting meetings. All things considered they were a success. The attendance was very good, and the attention was all that could be desired. Bro. Metzger's sermon the last evening he was here, was longer than is generally preached, but it seemed short to some who would have liked to listen to one twice as long.

Brother John does not keep back part of the Gospel. He is earnest and faithful, and seems to be much interested in the work in this country. Other brethren are also much concerned about the work in this land. Bro. I. J. Rosenberger begun a good work at Gormley, about twenty-eight miles from here, which should have had some attention last fall and winter. The few members that live around there seem to be desirous of having meetings. They should be helped and encouraged by the church, so that they may be built up in that faith that was once delivered to the saints. The Brethren have done much for us the last fifteen months, for which our Heavenly Father will reward them! Brethren, remember, souls are dying for the Bread of Life. If we, as a church, do not do what we can, to have the Gospel preached to every creature, where will we be at the day of reckoning!

We would be lonesome often, and cast down, if it were not for the GOSPEL MESSENGER. It comes regularly every week, laden with good things. I do not know how we could get along without it.

GEORGE HOSSACK.

Review of District Meeting.

AT the District Meeting of Western Pennsylvania the churches were well represented, considering the distance from the railroad to place of meeting. Although the older brethren were not so numerous as at some previous meetings, the younger brethren took hold of the work with a will. It was the expression of many who were present that this was one among the most pleasant District Meetings which they attended for some time. It afforded much pleasure to see the younger brethren take hold of some of the questions brought before the meeting. In a few years our older brethren will have passed away. Then the government of the church will rest on younger shoulders. How necessary, then, that our younger brethren take an active part in the workings of the church while they have the assistance and council of the older brethren!

The District Meeting was organized by electing the following officers: Moderator, J. C. Johnston; Assistant, George Hanawalt; Clerk, Bro. Joseph Holsopple; Assistant, Bro. R. T. Pollard; Reading Clerk, Bro. J. N. Davis.

Bro. Valentine Blough was elected as a member of the Standing Committee. There was only one paper before the Meeting that could go to Annual Meeting and that did not receive the sanction of the brethren, hence we sent no business to the Annual Meeting. It would be well to consider all matters properly before sending them to Annual Meeting. The District Meeting can consider queries at a great deal less expense than they can be discussed at Annual Meeting; therefore we should be fully satisfied that papers sent to Annual Meeting from District Meeting contain something of a benefit to the church.

Many more suggestions might be offered which, if heeded, would be of practical use to the church in holding District and Annual Meetings.

R. T. POLLARD.

From the Field.

IN compliance with the earnest request of Bro. J. J. Hoover I commenced a series of meetings in what is known as the Science Hill school-house, located four miles west of Alliance, Stark Co., Ohio, on the evening of May 16th, and continued until May 23. The house being occupied during the day, we could only meet in the evening. We had a very enjoyable and impressive meeting, fair congregations throughout, and the best attention was given to the Word preached. As an immediate result of our labors we received two precious souls into the church by baptism. Others, we are convinced, were almost persuaded to be Christians. The few members that live in that vicinity are faithful soldiers, battling for the right. With Jesus, their Captain, they will surely win, and receive the glorious crown that awaits the faithful. We preached, in all, seven sermons, and were pleased with the spirit that characterized the meetings throughout. I thank the dear members for their excellent deportment while among them, and the kindness I received at their hands. Our prayers shall ascend in your behalf!

REUBEN SHROYER.

Pierce, Ohio.

The Gospel Messenger,

A Weekly at $1.50 per Annum,

PUBLISHED BY

The Brethren's Publishing Co.

D. L. MILLER, - - - - - - Office Editor.

J. B. BRUMBAUGH, } - - - - Associate Editors.
J. G. ROYER, }

JOS. AMICK, - - - - - - Business Manager.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE,
R. H. MILLER, S. S. MOHLER, DANIEL HAYS.

☞Communications for publication should be legibly written with BLACK ink on ONE side of the paper only. Do not attempt to interline, or to put on one page what ought to occupy two.

☞Anonymous communications will not be published.

☞Do not mix business with articles for publication. Keep your communications on separate sheets from all business.

☞Time is precious. We always have time to attend to business and to answer questions of importance, but please do not subject us to needless answering of letters.

☞The MESSENGER is mailed each week to all subscribers. If the address is correctly entered on our list, the paper must reach the person to whom it is addressed. If you do not get your paper, write us, giving particulars.

☞When changing your address, please give your FORMER as well as your FUTURE address in full, so as to avoid delay and misunderstanding.

☞Remittances should be made by Post-office Money Order, Drafts on New York or Chicago, or Registered Letters, made payable and addressed to "Brethren's Publishing Co., Mount Morris, Ill.," or "Brethren's Publishing Co., Huntingdon, Pa."

☞Always remit to the office from which you order your goods, no matter from where you receive them.

☞Do not send personal checks or drafts on interior banks, unless you send with them 25 cents each, to pay for collection.

☞Entered at the Post-office at Mount Morris, Ill., as second-class matter.

Mount Morris, Ill. - - - - - June 18, 1889.

85 Cts. pays for the GOSPEL MESSENGER from June 1 to the end of 1889. Show this to your neighbors and ask them to subscribe.

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

EVER since it was announced at North Manchester a year ago that our Annual Conference and church reunion for 1889 would be held in the State of Virginia, hundreds, if not thousands, of our brethren and sisters in the Western States have been looking forward, with pleasant anticipations, to a happy meeting with loved ones from whom they have been separated for these many years. The ties of love and friendship which unite true hearts, outlive the flight of years, and so many hearts beat with joy when it was known that an opportunity was again to be afforded to visit once more the old homes in the East, around which cluster the most sacred memories of childhood and youth, to meet again with joyous hearts, fathers, mothers, brothers, sisters, and the friends endeared by early Christian association and loving fellowship in Christ, and to enjoy, for a short season, a reunion around the old hearth-stone. It is well to lay aside, for a time, the cares of an active, busy life and to give one's self up fully to the spirit of such happy reunions, to enjoy to the full extent the association of loved ones in Christian fellowship, and of a visit to the old home. We are all the better for such seasons. We gain a new interest in life and its labors, and our hopes for the great reunion around God's throne, when our meetings and partings shall end, grow brighter and stronger as our minds are carried from the earthly to the heavenly.

We had indulged, in anticipation, a visit to our old home in Maryland, and expected to spend some time among the brethren and friends in Pennsylvania, Virginia and Maryland, before going to Annual Meeting, but on account of much work we were not able to carry out our plans. We regretted this very much, but there are duties in this life that take precedence of personal enjoyments, and we submitted with the hope that at some time in the future we may be permitted to enjoy the visit.

We made a quick run over the Baltimore & Ohio R. R. from Chicago to Philadelphia, occupying twenty-seven hours in covering the distance of 949 miles, or nearly thirty-six miles an hour, including stops. It is wonderful how modern railroads are annihilating distances. At Chicago we met a number of brethren and sisters from Roanoke, Lanark, and Franklin Grove, Ill., and we enjoyed their company very much. How pleasant it is to meet with those of like precious faith, and how quickly the hours go by when spent in pleasant, social intercourse. At Martinsburg, West Virginia, brother and sister Levi Trostle, and sister Kate Zuck and others, from Lanark, left us. While the company from Roanoke, Ill., went on to Harper's Ferry where they changed cars for Harrisonburg, the place of Annual Meeting, we continued our way to Philadelphia.

We were much interested in the beautiful scenery along the route. The train rushed through many pretty towns and villages nestled in the green valleys of the Alleghanies and the mountains of Virginia. The fields gave promise of an abundant harvest, and peace and prosperity were apparent on every hand. The weather was delightful and the trip was in every way a pleasant one.

We spent a short time in Philadelphia with wife's relatives, and a day and a night at Port Providence and Oaks, Pa., with Bro. J. T. Myers and E. A. Orr. Bro. Orr is sojourning temporarily in the pleasant home of Bro. John Harley on the banks of the historic Schuylkill. It is a pleasant place and was especially interesting to us from the fact, that within a stone's throw of Bro. Harley's home is the little chapel where our dearly loved, departed Bro. Quinter commenced his work in the ministry more than a half century ago. Near by is the home of Bro. Fitzwater where Bro. Quinter spent his youth and early manhood. Here, too, is the house in which he lived many years ago.

We spent a pleasant season in the quiet Christian home of Bro. J. T. Myers. Sister Myers is a daughter of Bro. Quinter. The hours passed by all too quickly for us. We had a strong desire to remain longer to enjoy a season of public worship and to visit the Sunday-school, but these desires could not be gratified. We shall not soon forget our visit, short as it was, at Oaks and Port Providence. Bro. Myers has labored very successfully for the church here for the last twelve years. A few days before our visit nineteen had been added to the church by baptism.

On our return to Philadelphia from Oaks via the Reading railroad, we passed by Valley Forge, Washington's headquarters being plainly visible from the car windows. We could not help but think of the terrible suffering endured by the continental army under General Washington at this place. Here they took up their winter quarters during the darkest and most hopeless year of the revolutionary war. Poorly clad, with but little food and scanty shelter, they passed the cold and gloomy winter, suffering intensely from the cold. It is said that Washington shed tears as he witnessed the suffering of his army. They bore it all patiently for they had the cause for which they suffered, at heart. These reflections brought us to wonder why it is that men are willing to suffer so much for an earthly government and we are so unwilling to suffer for a heavenly kingdom. Oh, for an army of Christian soldiers who would be willing to suffer and die for Christ, as Washington's army suffered and died for American liberty! What a mighty work could be wrought under our King's banner by such an army of consecrated, self-sacrificing, obedient, Christian soldiers! We need a baptism of holy zeal and energy in the work in which we are engaged. May God speed the day when the church shall fully awaken to the importance of the great work she has to do!

Spending a night in Philadelphia, we started for Harrisonburg, Va., intending to spend a short time on the way at Washington, D. C. Here we first heard of the great flood and the destruction of life at Johnstown, Pa. At first we were disposed to regard the reports, as given by the daily press, as being somewhat exaggerated, but as the facts became known it was found that the half had not been told. The disaster is simply appalling and the mind refuses to take in the terrible calamity. The details, as given by the daily press, are enough to move the hardest heart with sympathy and pity for the sufferers. The loss of life has been frightful and the desolate homes are to be numbered by the hundred. Whole families were swept away by the relentless flood, and today the hillside round about the once busy City of Johnstown has become a great cemetery in which rest many victims of the calamity. The lesson of this disaster comes to every one in these words, "Prepare to meet thy God."

At Washington we were compelled to stay five days waiting until the waters of the great flood had subsided and the railroads were repaired. We spent the time visiting places of interest, a description of which we have not space to give. A part of the city was submerged. On Sunday morning, June 2nd, the water covered the office floor of our hotel on Pennsylvania avenue. Boats were used in the streets and a part of Washington reminded us on that day of Venice. It only needed the long, black gondola to make the illusion a reality. The water commenced falling at 3 P. M., and on Monday morning the streets were again passable. Much damage was done to property and the loss must have been very great, especially on goods stored in cellars and the first floors of houses.

On Wednesday we met Bro. J. G. Royer, and sister Alma Crouse, of Mt. Carroll, Ill., in the City. Bro. Royer with brethren Enoch Eby, John Wise, S. S. Mohler, and many others, had been detained at Cumberland, Md., nearly three days by the flood, and they came through on the first trains that passed over the road after it had been repaired. The brethren improved the time of their enforced stay in Cumberland by preaching to the people.

Harrisonburg, with a population of some four thousand souls, is a stirring inland town. About a mile from the town is the Meeting ground. The location is a pleasant one and the arrangements for the accommodation of the Meeting are ample, and the Committee in charge labored hard to make everybody comfortable and happy. The citizens of the town very kindly opened their houses and our people were, for the most part, very comfortably lodged.

Standing Committee.

On Friday morning, June 7, the Standing Committee met on the grounds and the different State Districts were found to be represented as follows:

TENNESSEE AND FLORIDA,
John Brubaker.

VIRGINIA,
1st District,.....J. W. Eller.
2nd District,.....Isaac Long, S. H. Myers.

WEST VIRGINIA,
1st District,.....D. B. Arnold.

MARYLAND,
Eastern District,....Geo. Leatherman, S. Stoner.
Western District,.....Daniel F. Stouffer.

PENNSYLVANIA,
Eastern District,.....S. R. Zug.
Middle District,.....Jacob Hollinger.
Western District,.....Valentine Blough.

OHIO,
Southern District,.....Jesse Stutsman.
North-eastern District,.....Noah Longanecker.
North-western District,.....L. H. Dickey.

INDIANA,
Southern District,.....Lewis W. Teeter.
Middle District,.....J. W. Wright.
Northern District,.....Amos B. Peters.

MICHIGAN,
E. Bosserman.

ILLINOIS,
Southern District,.....D. B. Gibson.
Northern District,.....Daniel Dierdorff.

IOWA,
Northern District,.....J. F. Eikenberry.
Middle District,.....Stephen Johnson.
Southern District,.....Samuel Flory.

MISSOURI,
Northern District,.....S. B. Shirkey.
Middle District,.....S. S. Mohler.
Southern District,.....W. M. Harvey.

KANSAS,
Southern District,.....John Wise.
North-eastern District,.....J. A. Root.
North-western District,.....J. Hollinger.

NEBRASKA,
B. F. Flory.

OREGON,
M. M. Bashor.

CALIFORNIA,
J. S. Flory.

DENMARK AND SWEDEN,
Christian Hope.

The above list shows that thirty of the thirty-one Districts are represented on the Standing Committee this year, the exception being the second District of West Virginia.

California, since our last Conference, has been organized into a District and is for the first time represented by a delegate. Denmark and Sweden are also for the first time represented on the Standing Committee.

In naming the various State Districts it may be of interest to note that Arkansas is attached to Southern Missouri, Texas to Southern Kansas, Florida to Tennessee, Wisconsin to Northern Illinois; Minnesota and Dakota to Northern Iowa, and New Jersey to Eastern Pennsylvania.

The Organization of the Meeting.

The Standing Committee selected the following named brethren to serve as officers of the Conference: Moderator, S. S. Mohler, of Missouri; Reading Clerk, John Wise, of Kansas; Writing Clerk, J. G. Royer, of Illinois; Door-keeper, Enoch Eby, of Kansas.

The Attendance.

The number of brethren and sisters in attendance from the Western States was not so large as it would have been, had it not been for the flood. Some were kept at home by the reports that the railroads were washed out and that traveling on that account was unsafe, but, notwithstanding these unfavorable conditions, the Meeting was largely attended. On Sunday an immense throng crowded the grounds. Our estimate was not less than ten nor more than twelve thousand. Bro. P. S. Thomas, Secretary of the Committee of Arrangements, made a careful estimate of the number present and placed the number at fifteen thousand and he was perhaps not far out of the way. Others who, perhaps, did not look carefully over the ground said twenty thousand. These estimates will show that an immense concourse of people were present at the Meeting.

Preaching.

The first services were held in the Tabernacle on Friday afternoon and evening. Brethren John Forney, of Kansas, and D. E. Price, of Illinois, did the preaching. On Saturday Bro. J. W. Metzger, of Indiana, D. S. Filbrun, of Ohio, and Samuel Utz, of Maryland, preached in the Tabernacle in the morning, afternoon, and evening in the order in which their names occur. Being otherwise engaged we did not enjoy the privilege of attending these services.

On Sunday morning Bro. Enoch Eby, John Wise, and D. F. Stouffer preached in the Baptist, Presbyterian, and Methodist churches in the City of Harrisonburg, and at 10 A. M. Bro. J. G. Royer preached in the Tabernacle on the subject, "We have no abiding city here." Heb. 13: 14. Bro. Royer said in substance that this world is not the Christian's city. He is a pilgrim, a stranger and a foreigner. He seeks a city whose Maker and Builder is God. The sentiment that controls him centers and fixes his affections in heaven; being a foreigner he must suffer more or less reproach. The Chinese suffers reproach, not because he is ignorant, but because he will not become naturalized and adopt the manners and customs of the Americans. So the Christian is not willing to become naturalized and adopt the customs of the world; hence he bears reproach. We as Christians must be true to our King—ever ready to defend his cause and obey his laws. If we are pilgrims and strangers here, seeking an abiding city, we will become entangled with the affairs of this life and never compromise our principles for the sake of advantage. We may conclude that we ought to assimilate with the world, take her into the church, but this cannot be safely done. The ocean is a good place to sail a ship but what would you think of a captain who would attempt to take the sea into his ship? So the world has no place in the church. We are to be a separate, distinct, peculiar people,—walking as pilgrims and strangers through the world, loving one another as citizens of the same country, seeking the same city. The city we seek is an abiding one and will be given to all the faithful pilgrims.

At 3 P. M. the large Tabernacle was again filled to its utmost capacity with thousands on the outside. Bro. S. S. Mohler, of Missouri, preached from Rom. 1: 16. "The Gospel of Christ is the power of God unto salvation." Bro. Mohler referred to the fact that these words of the apostle clearly and explicitly set forth the proposition contained in them and thus meet the needs of humanity. If we did not have this Scripture we could hardly satisfy our minds so conclusively. The language is clear and to the point. We must think for ourselves. We may be aided by others but after all we must settle questions pertaining to our salvation for ourselves. It is our salvation, hence most important to us. It comes to us as the Gospel of Jesus Christ and must be our rule of conversion, our rule of life and our rule in the house of God. There is power in the Word of God. God spake and worlds marshalled their forces in obedience to the power of his Word. Words are pictures of the mind. We are all making pictures, and how distorted and out of shape many of them are! Let us look well to the kind of pictures we are making by our words at our homes, at our tables, in our business, and wherever we are. Our words influence others. There is a power in words. Our words often wound others' spirits. If there is a power in our words, why should there not be in God's words? His words are a picture of his mind and when we reject any part of the Gospel, we simply put away from us a part of the mind of God. If we accept it all and obey it, we accept the mind of God and thus his Word has the power to save us. Bro. Enoch Eby made a few closing remarks. In the evening, at 7 o'clock, Bro. J. Wright, of Indiana, preached, but other engagements kept us away from the meeting.

Our report closes with the Sunday meetings and is mailed so as to reach the paper in time for this issue. In our next we will give a synoptical report of the proceedings of the Conference. To-morrow, Monday, June 10, a missionary meeting will be held in the Tabernacle, with preaching services both in the morning and the evening. The missionary meeting will be an interesting one and we shall have something to say about it in the next number of the MESSENGER.

ANNUAL MEETING NOTES.

THE weather so far has been delightfully pleasant. Not too warm nor too cool, but just right for an enjoyable time.

* * *

Many excursion trains reached the place of meeting on Sunday. It seems to us that the Sunday excursion trains to the place of our Annual Meeting should be abandoned. It destroys to some extent the sanctity of the meetings. And then, too, we ought to labor to bring about a closer observance of the Lord's Day. We were forcibly impressed with the thoughts as train load after train load of excursionists stopped at the place of meeting on Sunday. Some of those on the trains indulged in yelling and hooting, and it looked to us like a desecration of the day set apart for the worship of God.

* * *

We have delegates at the meeting this year representing Districts taking in territory from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and from Dakota in the north-west to Florida in the south.

* * *

About the usual amount of business will come before the meeting this year. A number of important questions will be discussed, and, we trust, settled according to the Gospel.

* * *

We are having an abundance of preaching at the place of meeting this year, as many as four services being held in one day. This is as it should be. Let the Gospel be preached to the people!

Missionary and Tract Work Department.

"Upon the first day of the week, let every one of you lay by him in store as God hath prospered him, that there be no gatherings when I come" 1 Cor. 16: 2.

"Every man as he purposeth in his heart, so let him give, not grudgingly or of necessity, for the Lord loveth a cheerful giver" 2 Cor. 9: 7.

HOW MUCH SHALL WE GIVE?

"Every man according to his ability." "Every one as God hath prospered him" "Every man, according as he purposeth in his heart, so let him give" "For if there be first a willing mind, it is accepted according to that a man hath, and not according to that he hath not" 2 Cor. 8: 12.

Organization of Missionary Committee.

DANIEL VANIMAN, Foreman, - - - Virden, Ill.
D. L. MILLER, Secretary and Treasurer, - Mt. Morris, Ill.
G. B. ROYER, Assistant Secretary, - - Mt Morris, Ill.

Organization of Book and Tract Work.

S. W. HOOVER, Foreman, - - - - Dayton, Ohio.
S. BOUK, Secretary and Treasurer, - - Dayton, Ohio

☞ All donations intended for Missionary Work should be sent to D. L. MILLER, Mt. Morris, Ill.

☞ All money for Tract Work should be sent to S. BOUK, Dayton, Ohio.

☞ Money may be sent by Money Order, Registered Letter, or Drafts on New York or Chicago. Do not send personal checks, or drafts on interior towns, as it costs 25 cents to collect them.

☞ Solicitors are requested to faithfully carry out the plan of Annual Meeting, that all our members be solicited to contribute at least twice a year for the Mission and Tract Work of the Church.

☞ Notes for the Endowment Fund can be had by writing to the Secretary of either Work.

"YE CANNOT SERVE GOD AND MAMMON."

BY S. N. M'CANN.

Number Three. "Danger of Riches."

WHILST covetousness does not always lead to riches, it always leads to condemnation, and riches too frequently lead to covetousness and many other snares that entangle and cause men to fall.

The Word does not condemn the possessor of this world's goods as much as the would-be possessor. Because a man only has food and raiment, or because he is worth one thousand dollars, or ten, twenty, forty, or even one hundred thousand dollars does not place him under condemnation, but the ACCUMULATION of wealth does place men under great danger, for riches bring cares and the Word is apt to be choked out. Mammon, with her deceitfulness, is apt to make us her servant instead of being a servant for us. Matt. 13: 22. She is apt to make us her steward and thereby become the end instead of the means to the end. Jesus said unto his disciples, "Verily I say unto you, that a rich man shall hardly enter into the kingdom of heaven. And again I say unto you, It is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God." Matt. 19: 23, 24.

Jesus, in speaking of the young man that lacked "one thing," said, "How hardly shall they that have riches enter into the kingdom of God," but when the disciples were astonished at the saying, Jesus said, "Children, how hard is it for those that trust in riches to enter into the kingdom of God." Luke 10: 24-25.

Here we get the key to the solution of the danger in riches. Whenever they take such a hold upon us that we can not obey Christ, then we are trusting in riches, and it is impossible for us to enter the kingdom. Riches, or the desire to be rich, is keeping more people out of Christ, who are comparatively poor, than the possession of wealth is keeping out.

The amount of wealth that makes a man rich is entirely a comparative term. A man worth five thousand dollars, in some communities, would be counted vastly rich. Five hundred dollars makes a rich man in some places, while a man with a hundred thousand is not a rich man in other places. But if five dollars or five hundred thousand, or even the desire for wealth comes in between us and duty, then we are the Gospel's rich man, that can not enter the kingdom of heaven. No wonder that Paul says, "They that will be rich fall into temptation and a snare, and into many foolish and hurtful lusts, which drown men in destruction and perdition." 1 Tim. 6: 9.

While it is not the possession of goods that is condemned, coveting after POSSESSION of them is condemned. Since the possession of riches is a comparative matter, and the sin lies in the condition of the possession, and not in the possession itself, let us examine ourselves and see if we are the unfaithful stewards, the rich man that can not enter the kingdom of heaven. Are we letting our desire for possession of goods close our hearts and hands to the poor, to the cause of salvation, to every work that does not make immediate returns in dollars and cents? Are we letting this same desire make us feel that all of our goods belong to us; that we are not duty bound to do any thing for God's cause that others, who have more, ought to do, and that we will be excusable if we tend to our family duties, dress plain and go to church? Brother, if that is your position, you are the very man that is rich, the very man that falls into many foolish and hurtful lusts. James says, "Go to now, ye rich men, weep and howl, for your miseries that shall come upon you. Your riches are corrupted, and your garments are moth eaten, your gold and silver are cankered; and the rust of them shall be a witness against you, and shall eat your flesh as it were fire. Ye have heaped treasures for the last days. Behold, the hire of the laborers who have reaped down your fields, which is of you kept back by fraud, crieth and the cries of them that reaped are entered into the ears of the Lord of Sabaoth." James 5: 1-4.

Whenever we let the desire for possession come between us and the demands of the Gospel, we will let that same desire lead us to extortion, to cheat, to take the advantage of circumstances and buy at a lower rate than we would want to sell, and sell higher than we would want to pay, if we were buying.

Brother, you are the very man that can not enter the kingdom of heaven if you let your desire for possession come between you and honesty and strict integrity. There is but one way to avoid becoming the man who can not enter the kingdom of heaven because of riches, and that way is to open your hearts and hands to God's work. Cultivate the spirit of giving BY giving, and thereby overcome the ugly sin covetousness, and keep back the dangerous sin of riches or trust in riches. Solomon says, "He that trusteth in riches shall fall, but the righteous shall flourish as a branch." Prov. 11: 28.

Giving is God's manner of feeding our benevolent natures and crucifying our covetousness, and none dare neglect this means of grace, without endangering their higher Christian life. The poorest need the same spiritual blessings that the rich in this world's goods need, and they can only get them alike by attending to this means, as well as every other means of grace. 1 Cor. 9: 12.

God's promise even for this life is to the consecrated child. "Honor the Lord with thy substance, and with the first fruits of all thine increase: so shall thy barns be filled with plenty, and thy presses shall burst out with new wine." Prov. 3: 6. Jesus said, "Verily I say unto you, There is no man that hath left house, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or lands for my sake and the Gospel's, but he shall receive an hundredfold now in this time, houses, and brethren, and sisters, and mothers and children and lands, with persecutions; and in the world to come eternal life." Mark 10: 29-30.

A HUNDREDFOLD NOW IN THIS TIME.

Notes from our Correspondents.

"As cold water to a thirsty soul, so is good news from a far country."

—Bro. James R. Gish informs us that one was baptized in the Panther Creek church, Woodford Co., Ill., June 2.

—Bro. John Gable, of the Middle Creek church, Mahaska County, Iowa, reports one dear sister added to the fold at that place.

—From the Auglaize Chapel, Ohio, Bro. D. R. Provont writes: "May 19, another soul united with the church by baptism. We hope she may be faithful to the end!"

—The brethren of the Quinter church, Kans., organized a Sunday-school at the Fairview schoolhouse, electing sister Ella Riesh, Superintendent. She is assisted by an efficient corps of officers and teachers.

—Bro. Cephas D. Reed writes: "Bro. C. D. Hylton, from Hylton, Va., and Bro. Samuel Bowman, from Tennessee, were with us at the Pleasant Valley meeting-house, May 11, and preached three sermons. One dear sister came out on the Lord's side."

—A timely hint is given by Bro. J. L. Switzer, of Monmouth, Kansas. He wishes to impress upon our contributors the following: "Will you not try to remember to head and date your letters? It would often add to the interest thereof and be a great satisfaction to the reader."

—Under date of May 24, Bro. M. M. Eshelman writes: "This morning a number of members met at the home of Bro. Fremont Dierdorff, to pay the last respects to sister Caroline George, who fell asleep in Jesus yesterday, in her fifty-seventh year. Her remains were taken to Lee County, Illinois for interment. She was a lovely, devoted sister."

—From Moscow, Idaho, Bro. James Weimer writes: "The brethren of the Moscow church organized a Sunday-school May 19, with a good representation. May 26 there was an attendance of thirty-seven. This is the first organization of the kind effected at this place for several years. Our prayer is that the Lord will bless our labors in this work!"

—Sister Rettie L. Workman writes: "The brethren of the Columbia City church organized their Sunday-school and elected Bro. David Workman, Superintendent, who is assisted by an able corps of officers. The school has begun with a prospect of a large attendance and a good school. May the Lord bless the Sabbath-school cause here and elsewhere!"

— "Blessings still come," writes Bro. Ira P. Eby, of La Forge, Mo. He continues: "May 3, Bro. C. Holderman commenced meetings here which lasted until the 13th. We held our council on the 10th and our love-feast on the 11th. One was reclaimed and one baptized. Three more have made application. There are others near the kingdom. Thus the good work goes on. Praise the Lord for the good work done here and elsewhere. There is a large field here and I am alone in the ministry. Come in, my brother, and help us. There are calls on every side but I cannot attend all. Again I say, Come. We have been greatly encouraged during these meetings. Pray for us that our strength may be increased."

—Bro. S. H. Bechtelheimer, of Lower Deer Creek, Ind., writes: "Bro. Henry Frantz, of New Carlisle, Ohio, made a flying visit to our place, stopping at the town of Flora where he preached on Friday night and on Saturday attended council-meeting. Then he came to us on Saturday night and preached three sermons with good interest. He then bade us farewell. May God bless him in his labors!"

—Under date of May 29, Bro. Isaac Miller writes: "The members of the North Manchester church, Ind., held their quarterly council-meeting May 23rd. The annual visit which had previously been made, reported the church to be in love and union. Considerable business came before the meeting but everything was disposed of with the best of feeling. Three precious souls were received by baptism, causing much joy among the saints."

—Bro. Michael Keller, of Great Bend, Kans., writes: "Our hearts were made to rejoice when our dear elder, Daniel Vaniman, paid us a pleasant visit a short time ago. He preached for us on Monday night, but, on account of sickness, he had to return home. Our council-meeting, preparatory to love-feast, occurred May 13. At our feast we had the assistance of elders Lemuel Hillery and John Hollinger, who did some excellent preaching. The following Saturday five precious souls were added to the Lord's people."

—Under date of May 27, Bro. Isaac L. Brubaker, of Mitchell, Rice Co., Kans., writes: "The Kansas Center church is peacefully engaged in the Master's business and all are ready to assist in advancing the interests of the church militant on earth. We fill our appointments as far as possible but there are still some calls that should be filled. Truly, the harvest is great! We have no church house and our meetings are scattered. We have had no additions lately; still the spirit of the Lord is at work. We have decided to hold a love-feast in the early part of the fall. We have good prospects for a bountiful harvest."

—Bro. Samuel Rodefer, of Dayton, O., writes: "Bro. I. J. Rosenberger commenced a series of meetings at the Dayton church, May 9, closing the meetings with a love-feast the evening of the 14th. This was the first love-feast held in the City. It was surely a feast to our souls. The feast was also a new light to some that were at the meeting who belonged to other churches. My prayer is that the word and the example set forth may be the means of them building on a more sure foundation. No immediate results are seen yet, but we pray that our meeting may prove a blessing to their souls, and at the end, eternal life."

—Bro. Joseph John, of Roann, Ind., writes: "The members of this church met in quarterly council June 1. There was not much business brought before the assembly, but what we did have was disposed of in a Christian-like manner. We were made glad to receive by letter into our midst another disciple of the same precious faith. We decided to hold our love-feast Oct. 5 and 6, commencing at 2 P. M. On the day of the council we were made sad to be present at the funeral of our beloved old sister, Leah Rank, who served her Lord, lo these many years, and has now gone to her reward. She lived to the age of eighty-two years, six months and eleven days. Services by the home brethren. We organized our Sunday-school April 28. Bro. Isaac Deardorff is our Superintendent, assisted by Bro. John Goodyear, and an able corps of officers. Pray for us that the Master may help us in the good works of the Lord. Dear brethren and sisters, let us hold together as true saints of the Most High, by showing our love more and more, for one another."

—From Burr Oak, Kansas, sister Emma Hachenberg writes: "We held our quarterly council-meeting, Monday, May 20. Our beloved elder, Isaac Studebaker was with us. Everything passed off in love and union. We organized a Sunday-school. Bro. Rath was elected Superintendent. He is assisted by Bro. Daniel Renner and an able corps of officers. May 18 and 19 several members of this church had the pleasure of meeting with the Belleville church at their communion meeting. It was rich food for the soul. We truly felt we were among loving members."

—Bro. A. J. Wine, from the English River congregation, Iowa, writes: "Our quarterly council was held May 25. Among other business before the meeting was the appointment of our communion meeting for Sept. 28 and 29, at 11 A. M. We also decided to hold a series of meetings sometime during the early part of the winter. We have decided to build a meeting-house in the town of North English, Iowa, in the northern part of the District. Work on the foundation has already commenced. The house is to be 30x40 feet."

CORRESPONDENCE

"Write what thou seest, and send it unto the churches."

☞Church News solicited for this Department. If you have had a good meeting, send a report of it, so that others may rejoice with you. In writing give name of church, county and State. Be brief! Notes of Travel should be as short as possible. Land Advertisements are not solicited for this Department. We have an advertising page, and, if necessary, will issue supplements.

At Home Again.

To the dear Brethren and Sisters in California:—

By this I inform you and the many readers of the Gospel Messenger that I arrived safely home by the blessing of our Heavenly Father, on the morning of May 29, after an absence of just six months. Oh, what joy filled our hearts when permitted to meet the family, so dear to us by the tender ties of consanguinity, once more to bow together around the home altar, and join our voices in ascribing praises to him, whose eyes are over the righteous, and whose ears are open to their prayers.

While in the "Golden State," I had the pleasure of baptizing twenty-five, and seeing three reclaimed. I attended two love-feasts, assisted in electing one minister, and three deacons, and forwarding a minister from the first to the second degree.

My trip to California was a pleasant one, although part of the time I was suffering much bodily pain. But the good Lord seemed to give me strength of mind and memory that we could continue the good work of the Master.

Brother A. W. Reese, of Warrensburg, Missouri, an eminent physician, has pronounced my case to be chronic inflammation of the kidneys. I give this, as many are anxious to know of my health. We formed many warm attachments with the dear members in California. The unbidden tears flowed freely when we had to take the parting hand. But, my dear brethren and sisters, though we are separated in person, I am glad it is our privilege to live so we can finally meet where the sad sound, "Farewell" will not be heard. Let the Word of God dwell richly in us all, in all wisdom, and let us keep ourselves unspotted from the world, that we may have sufficient grace for each trial. Many thanks to all the dear members in California for their great kindness shown to me while among them.

I left the "Golden State" on the morning of May 14th. I was eighteen hours late at Albuquerque, on account of several freight trains that were wrecked by sand storms, and did not reach Coolidge, Kansas, until Friday, May 17, at 3 P. M., where I was met by Bro. Noah Garman, who conveyed me to South-eastern Colorado, a distance of about sixty or sixty-five miles. There I commenced meetings on the evening of May 19, and continued until the 26th.

On the morning of May 27, we started with two applicants for baptism. We drove about thirteen miles, and baptized the two sisters. Then they went on their way rejoicing, and we did likewise. Ten were baptized there last fall, on my way to California, and two now, making twelve members there in all.

I referred the matter of these members last fall to the District Meeting of North-western Kansas and Colorado, but I do not see that there have been any arrangements made by the District to supply these dear members with preaching. I do hope that the District that has the territory of South-eastern Colorado in charge, will not neglect its duty in looking after the spiritual interests of these dear babes in Christ. Do not forget, dear brethren, that the Lord will hold some one responsible if these dear ones are neglected. These members were very anxious to know how soon some one could come and preach for them. I am very confident if another meeting of several weeks could be held there soon that several more could be gathered into the fold. The other denominations are putting forth their best efforts to tear down our work, and destroy these lambs, but I am glad to say they are reading, and preparing to meet the enemy. They intend to organize a prayer-meeting next Sunday afternoon, to be continued each Lord's Day at the private houses. Let me urge once more, that this field of labor be cultivated AT ONCE, with good workmen. A good harvest for the Lord will be sure to follow!

Jacob Witmore.

In Memory of Sister Nancy Weaver.

From our midst has been taken a loved one,—one who was all sunshine, all smiles and comfort to those around her. It was our painful experience to stand by her death-bed, when there was but a breath of air, and a beat of the heart betwixt this world and the next,—when those of her household were beginning to feel the arrow pierce the heart. How powerless we felt, in this brief interval of painful and awful suspense, and how all powerful the hand of God!

We cannot rightly discern the things of God, but this we know that the Lord does all things well, and while there is a vacancy in our homes, and sorrow's cloud is hanging over us, yet, in this dispensation of God's providence we look in the beyond, where, freed from care and trouble, are those whom our Father in Heaven has claimed as jewels to shine in his kingdom above.

The visitations of sorrow are universal. There beats not a heart but has felt the force of affliction. There is not an eye but has witnessed scenes of sadness. Such is life! There is a stern reality that all must meet, and that is death. To the Christian man and woman it cannot come too soon,—such as our dear departed sister. O, think of the joy and bliss that come pouring in on their wonder-stricken soul, when they meet the dear Savior and hear the welcome applaudit, "Well done, good and faithful servant; enter into the joys of thy Lord." Surely, one such a moment of bliss would balance all the woes and sorrows of earth!

Brother, submit to this affliction in an humble spirit! There is consolation for you. You will meet again. Daughter and son, follow the example of her life, and, above all, heed her dying words, "Prepare to meet me in heaven!" No doubt the year 1889 will never be forgotten by you. But there is a more memorable year for you. It will be the closing year of your life. All other years will be of less importance to you than this one. Live so, that when death meets you, you can say, "Let me die the death of the righteous, and let my last end be like his." In the death of our sister, the church has lost a faithful worker, the husband a devoted companion, the children a loving mother.

ELLA CLEMENT.

Homeworth, Columbiana Co., Ohio.

From Dry Creek Church, Iowa.

THE District Meeting, held in this church, May 24, followed by a love-feast, is now recorded on the pages of time. I was not present at District Meeting, but those that were in attendance report a very enjoyable meeting. Everything that came before the meeting was disposed of in a pleasant manner. O, how gratifying when brethren can agree! At 10 A. M. next day we met at the church for worship. After services it was announced that there were two applicants for baptism, making six additions by baptism within the last two months. Oh, how it makes us rejoice when we see sinners coming home, but we sorrow, too, when we see so many bright, intelligent young people going the downward road to ruin. My dear, young people, make a halt before it is forever too late! We need you in the church, come and work for Jesus!

While some repaired to the water-side, a number of others, with some elders, went to anoint our dear and aged sister, Rachel Stamy, who is still suffering with cancer. In the evening one hundred brethren and sisters surrounded the tables to commemorate the suffering and death of our blessed Lord. It was a feast to our souls, a glorious meeting, and one never to be forgotten by the happy participants. The services were very solemn and impressive, and many good thoughts were presented by our brethren. Elder Gochenour officiated. The next day, Sunday, we again met for worship. Bro. Yoder preached from Gen. 7:16,—"The Lord shut him in," followed by short exhortations from several other brethren. They impressed the thought upon our minds that we would never meet again as we had met to-day, admonishing us all to be faithful. O may we all be so fortunate as to gain heaven, and wear a starry crown! Brethren D. E. Brubaker and Levi Saylor remained to preach for the Brethren this evening. We kindly thank our dear brethren for their able labors during their short stay with us. May God reward them all! Our meetings are now over. Where will the next meeting be?

LIZZIE M. ROGERS.

Central City, Iowa, May 26.

Items from Hylton, Virginia.

MAY 13, Elder John B. Hylton and myself were called on to attend the funeral of Austin Harmon, —an eight year-old son of Dennis and Julia Harmon. The occasion was improved from the text, "It is well."

At our church council at the Brick church, May 4, the missionary question received considerable attention. We were much gratified to see some of our aged brethren stand up and plead for the great cause of spreading the Gospel.

To us there seems to be no command given by the great Lawgiver with more authority than to "Go ye therefore, and teach all nations."

This command comes from one having all the power in heaven and in earth, and oh, how can we afford to be indifferent in reference to this great work which devolves upon us as a church? "For God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life." "And how shall they believe in him of whom they have not heard? and how shall they hear without a preacher? And how shall they preach, except they be sent?" And who is to send them? Oh, ye preachers, go to work, and, ye, brethren and sisters, come forth with your purses.

May 17, Dr. S. J. Bowman, of Johnson City, Tennessee (who is working in our County), and myself, visited the Pleasant Valley Brethren. At seven o'clock we met with quite a large crowd, and tried to improve the occasion by the use of the following words: "Get thee behind me, Satan."

Next day was their church council. Elders H. P. Hylton and J. H. Slusher, of our congregation, were present. Considerable time was spent in business of an unpleasant nature, but we trust the work of the church met with God's approval. The missionary cause was introduced, and a very warm, but pleasant, discussion followed. The brethren here will aid the noble work.

At seven o'clock that evening Brother Bowman preached to an attentive crowd from the text, "And now also the ax is laid unto the root of the trees." Bro. Bowman gave us some good lessons.

On Sunday, May 19, H. P. Hylton, and another brother improved the time. At the close of services an invitation was extended for laborers in the Master's vineyard, and one dear sister accepted the terms of salvation.

Elders J. H. Slusher and H. P. Hylton are our delegates to Annual Meeting. C. D. HYLTON.

Notes of Travel.

ON the morning of April 15 I boarded the train at Cerro Gordo, Ill., at seven A. M., for Indiana, to attend the Communion meeting in the Middle Fork church, Clinton Co., Indiana. They had a very pleasant meeting. Much interest was manifested during the meeting. April 17 I started for home, and found all well, thank the Lord. Next day wife and I, and a number of brethren and sisters, took the train at Cerro Gordo for Mansfield, to attend the Communion meeting in the Blue Ridge church, Piatt Co., Illinois, the same evening. The meeting seemed to be interesting and a feast indeed,—one long to be remembered. Sunday morning, April 19 we met for Sunday-school. A large number was present. Bro. Adam Greenawalt is their Superintendent. They have eight teachers.

Friday morning, May 31, I started for North Manchester, Indiana, to attend the Communion meeting in the Eel River church, June 1. We had a good meeting. One old man, seventy-two years old, was baptized. The church is in a prospering condition. Bro. Samuel Leckrone is their elder. JOHN METZGER.

Notes by the Way.

I LEFT home June 3, for Harrisonburg, the place of Annual Meeting. I had a prosperous journey to Cumberland, Md. From there I came to Harper's Ferry,—the place of this writing. The Potomac river has done a great deal of damage to crops, buildings, railroads, etc. The damage done in this place is very destructive to the citizens. In the cellars and first floors of the business part of the town, the water was four to five feet high. On the second floors, even, of some of the business houses the water was about four feet deep. In the depot, and on the floors of the bridge, crossing the Potomac river, it was of that depth. An old citizen of Harrisonburg told me that there were seven large locomotives kept standing on the bridge all the time till the water went down below the floor. This was done to prevent the bridge from being carried away. The same gentleman said the water was considerably higher than he ever saw it before. He had lived here for over forty years. There have been no trains on the Baltimore and Ohio to Harrisonburg, since the flood, till this morning, on account of the damage done to the track. Had the rain been one week later, it would have prevented many brethren from getting to the place of meeting, besides causing much inconvenience. Yet, when we see the destruction here, and then think of the Johnstown disaster, the people of this place and surrounding country can say, "The Lord has been kind to us, that there were no lives lost."

I met Bro. Hollinger, from Kansas, at this place on his way to Annual Meeting; also sister Smith, of Pennsylvania, and sister Miller, of Kansas. Thrown together, as we were, we soon recognized each other as members of the same precious faith. Oh, how happy it makes us feel, when we are brought together from far and near, and can know each other as brethren and sisters of the same Fraternity, by our general appearance. Bro. Hollinger is going as member on the Standing Committee from North-western Kansas and Colorado. Sister Smith is working for Bro. Eshelman in the sale of his book. These are all the members I have seen or identified up to this time. May the mercy of God and his rich grace attend all his children every-where, is our prayer!

JACOB RIFE.

Field Notes.

THE members of Rock Creek church, Kansas, decided to hold a series of meetings and set the time for May 18. Dr. P. R. Wrightsman, from Navarre, Kans., was sent for, and did the preaching. He preached seventeen sermons, with great force and power. As an immediate result of his labors, sixteen souls were taken down into the liquid stream. Most of those baptized were young in years. About five hundred people were present at the services on Sunday, and at the baptizing.

A great many people had never seen triune immersion practiced before. I heard some say that they just did as the Bible teaches.

During these meetings many were almost convinced. We hope they will not delay too long. What a wrong idea it is to put it off till your hearts grow hard, and at last never come at all!

Bro. Wrightsman, while with us, preached one sermon on "Apostolic Baptism," and one, also, on "Close Communion." Much light was given on these subjects, and they were made quite plain.

May God bless our young converts, who are starting out in their new life. May he lead and guide them into all truth and righteousness!

E. J. BEEGHLY.

From Baca County, Colorado.

ON his way homeward from California, Bro. Jacob Witmore stopped with us here and began preaching Sunday evening, May 19, closing on the evening of May 26, with two applicants for membership. On Monday morning we drove twelve miles to the water, where Matt. 28:19 was complied with, and two sisters arose to walk in the steps of our lowly Savior.

Bro. Witmore is a workman to whom it is safe to commit the doctrines of Christ, for he declares them fearlessly and plainly.

We need a minister to locate amongst us, of just that kind. Who will come? Much good seed has been sown, and there is an unexcelled opportunity here to build a flourishing church. Now is the time when something decisive should be done. The Methodists formed a class here on the morning of May 19, and I understand the Baptists will organize soon. Why should not we do the same? The Methodists have regular preaching here now. A union Sunday-school is also held.

The Brethren held a prayer-meeting last Sunday. It will be continued each Sunday afternoon.

After baptism on Monday morning Bro. Witmore drove about thirty miles to the home of Bro. John Snavely, in Stanton County, Kans., where he preached that night. Though Bro. Snavely and wife are identified at present with the Old Order Brethren, I hope that we may soon be members of the same spiritual family.

On Tuesday morning I drove with Bro. Witmore to Coolidge, where he took the train homeward.

Brethren, remember us here, in our weakness, and pray that we may be faithful servants of the Master.

We have good, cheap land. Some government land can still be had. Good water is in abundance, and we have a fine climate. Any one wishing information with a view to moving here, should address the writer, or Bro. A. L. Walker, enclosing a stamp. NOAH GARMAN

Progress, Colorado.

From Solomon's Creek, Indiana.

WE had a pleasant and enjoyable love-feast last night, June 6. The day was clear and bright, and the brethren and sisters began to assemble at an early hour. When the time came for services to commence, the tables were filled to their utmost seating capacity. We had a larger crowd than we have had for a good while. Ministering brethren from other churches were, Bro. J. H. Elson, of DeKalb County, also brethren Eversole, Weaver, Miller, Deeter, Culp, Rothenbarger, Neff, and others. All these brethren did their duty, preaching the Gospel in its primitive purity. Brother Elson officiated. He does not shun to declare the whole counsel of God. The arrow of conviction was thrown into many hearts, telling them of the Jesus who shed his blood on Calvary's rugged hill, to atone for a world that was lost. Notwithstanding our crowded house we had good order and attention,—more so than at other meetings.

CANDACE WARSTLER.

New Paris, Indiana.

From the Walnut Creek Church, Johnson Co., Mo.

A HAIL and wind storm visited us yesterday. It was about two miles in width, and completely destroyed the crops in its pathway. Trees and hedge fences were stripped almost as bare as in winter, and several barns were unroofed. Our brick meeting-house, 40x60 feet in size, was damaged to the extent of several hundred dollars. The gable end was blown in, and, crashing through the ceiling, fell on sister Gadberry, who, with her husband, has been living in the meeting-house. Fears are entertained for the recovery of sister Gadberry. Her husband escaped unhurt by being in the basement at the time. The roof is a complete wreck, and the repairing of the damage will be a heavy burden on the few members located here. A. WAMPLER.

Knobnoster, Mo.

In Memoriam.

ANOTHER one of the Lord's worthies has been promoted. Bro. Jacob Clapper was born May 13, 1817; died April 25, 1889, aged seventy-one years, eleven months and twelve days. He was married to Susan Shenke, Nov. 14, 1844. This union was blessed with nine children,—two sons and seven daughters. Four daughters preceded him to the spirit world, leaving a wife and five children, with many other friends, to mourn, but not as those who have no hope. A few weeks previous to his departure he called for the elders of the church and was anointed in the name of the Lord. Funeral services by Eld. L. H. Dickey, from Rev. 2: 10, last clause.

Of our departed brother we can well say, "promoted." He was a kind and tender father, a loving husband, a faithful, consistent member of the church, and many years served in the office of deacon. He was an earnest worker in the cause of the Blessed Master, and in his zeal to speed the noble work, he built a church-house with but little aid from others. Largely through his influence and devotion, there was gathered into the fold a body of faithful members. To the dear bereaved ones we say, Continue to trust in God in this, your hour of need! He will comfort as none other can. MAGGIE DICKEY.

Alvada, O.

From Alvada, Ohio.

WE are always happy for the weekly visits of the MESSENGER. It comes, laden with so many good things, that it encourages us in our Christian work. Our love-feast in Rome congregation, in Oak Grove church, held June 1 and 2,—was a pleasant season of spiritual enjoyment to all who had the privilege of attending the meeting. When we saw the good order and respect shown by those who are not members, we were made to wonder whether some of them were not making resolutions that, if carried out, will bring them into the church before another love-feast.

We have a very interesting Sunday-school at this place, with good attendance. We are using the Brethren's Quarterly. It is my prayer that we may all so live as to meet around the throne of God in the evening of this world!

MATILDA SCHUBERT.

From Mansfield, Ill.

OUR Sunday-school is in a prosperous condition. The attendance is good and all seem to be deeply interested. Yesterday, June 9, two dear young sisters made application for baptism. One of them is our own dear child. May the Lord fill them with his Spirit, and forever keep them, is my prayer! A. GREENAWALT.

Random Thoughts.

THIS morning I have been very sensibly awakened to the great necessity of standing firm and unmoved in the precious "faith once delivered unto the saints," by a conversation with one claiming to be a follower of the Lord and Savior, but whose works savored much of the works of the world. O, my brother and sister, we need to watch, that we do not partake of the evil afloat in the world! This is a fast age we are living in,—an age of continual change, both in temporal and religious affairs. "Therefore we need to take the more earnest heed to the things which we have heard." There is temptation on every hand. Evil, only evil, presents itself, and vanities of various kinds. Unless we are very careful, watchful, and prayerful, we shall enter into them, and make our destruction sure. When I contemplate the snares set to entrap the child of God, my heart cries out in unutterable anguish, till I remember the saving omnipotence of a Crucified Redeemer.

Let us, then, in child-like simplicity, draw near to him in the dark hour of temptation, feeling confident that he shall keep us "from the evil." Without the assistance of the Lord we are nothing. All our watchings, our yearnings, and our prayer will be of no avail, if there is no Christ in them.

This is no time to slumber, and sit at ease in luxury. Zion calls aloud, "Awake, thou that sleepest, and go forth to battle with sin!" If it were not for the abundance of sin surrounding us, we might sleep to our heart's content. For then temptation could do us no harm. It is yielding to temptation and entering into it, that causes sin in us, and reminds us of the great necessity of being continually watching. Temptation comes in divers forms; we shall all be tempted, but those who watch for that temptation, shall not be overcome. It were far better to hide ourselves so completely in Jesus, that the evils of the world hold no attraction for us. The Christian, in such a frame, is always ready to meet temptation! So help us all, dear Lord, to be!

GERTRUDE A. FLORY.

From Carson City, Michigan.

THE New Haven church met in council June 1. All members were found to be in peace and union, for which we feel to thank God. One young lamb was added to the fold. This made us rejoice, as even the angels of heaven rejoice to see the young come into the fold of Christ. The New Haven church is still trying to maintain primitive or Bible simplicity. G. E. STONE.

From the Landessville Church, Indiana.

THE brethren and sisters of this congregation met in quarterly council, June 6. But little business came before the meeting, but everything was done in union and harmony. The spirit of forbearance was manifested by all present. Two were received by letter. The church decided to hold her communion meeting Oct. 10, beginning at 10 A. M. Neighboring churches are cordially invited to be with us, especially ministers.

SARAH M. SAUNDERS.

LEARN how to forgive. Do not carry an unforgiving spirit with you through all your life; it will hurt you more than anything else. It will destroy the happiness of many around you, yet its chief feeding-ground will be found in your own heart. You hate your neighbor. Yonder is his dwelling, one hundred and fifty yards away. You pass by a wood-fire; you pluck a half-consumed brand from it, flaming and gleaming, and thrusting it under your garment to hide it, you start for your neighbor's dwelling to burn it. Who gets the worst of it? You find your garments on fire and your own flesh burned before you can harm your neighbor. So is he who carries an unforgiving spirit in his bosom. It stings his own soul like an adder shut up there. Some who call themselves Christians are miserable because of their own revengefulness. Forgive your enemies, pray for them, and salvation will come into your own soul like a flood. "Father, forgive them." Sweet prayer and blessed example!

"MANY Christians want to sit and enjoy a repetition of the first Pentecost while unwilling to give any money or suffer any self-denial for the more general coming of the promised outpouring. It would seem to be a great privilege for a Christian sitting idly and stingily at home, to be decorated with a cloven tongue like as of fire, and be able to astonish his neighbors with a wonderful story of his enjoyments. But it is a greater privilege to give as God hath prospered, for the promotion of the outpouring of the Spirit of God upon all flesh."

"THE cause of freedom, which is the cause of God's kingdom upon earth, is often most injured by the enemies who carry within them the power of certain human virtues. The wickedest man is often not the most insurmountable obstacle to the triumph of good."

From Milford, Ind.

WIFE and I visited several churches in Northern Indiana at their love-feast seasons.

The first one we visited was Rock Run church, near Goshen. Their feast was held May 16. The meeting was a pleasant one, and all felt like praising God, and taking new courage. The morning exercises were solemn and impressive.

May 18 we met the brethren near Wawaka, in the Springfield church. Services were held at 10 A. M. Two members were reclaimed. The meeting was encouraging to us. Many hearts were made glad at that meeting. I had not met with those brethren for several years, hence the meeting was joyful.

May 22 we met with the Turkey Creek Brethren. This feast made some solemn impressions on my mind. The many with whom we had worshiped in former years, and who are seen no more, caused us to have some sad thoughts. One pleasing thought was to see so many of our young people around the Lord's table. A number had joined the church in the last year, which, indeed, is very encouraging. Turkey Creek church has all the appearance of a bright future. Brother J. C. Murray and wife are looking after the interest of the church. J. H. MILLER.

From English River Church, Iowa.

OUR Sunday-school at the church is in good running order. With Bro. Joseph Snipeman, Superintendent, and Bro. Peter Brower, Assistant, our school is getting along nicely. We have about nine classes, and our teachers are all brethren and sisters.

We are also having a Union Sunday-school at our school-house, principally conducted by the Brethren.

The Sunday-school cause is a good one. It causes the children and older ones to read the Scriptures. It teaches the children and others many valuable truths, and qualifies them for work in the Lord's vineyard.

JACOB ETTER.

MATRIMONIAL.

"What therefore God hath joined together, let not man put asunder."

CLOUSER—HUMMEL.—At Rockton, Pa., May 22, by the undersigned, Vernon V. Clouser and sister Ella B. Hummel.

ROOK—POPER.—At the residence of the undersigned, Franklin Co, Pa, May 23, Mr. J. Porter Rook and Miss Annie R. Poper. WM. C. KOONTZ.

FALLEN ASLEEP

"Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord."

KARNS.—March 13, Bro. George Karns, son of Bro. Gabriel and sister Susan Karns, aged 25 years and 26 days.

WEAVER.—In Franklin County, Kans, May 18, sister Martha Weaver, formerly from Virginia. Funeral services by the undersigned from Philpp. 1: 21.

GEO. MYERS.

THOMPSON.—In the Pine Creek church, Ind., April 26, infant son of Israel Thompson, aged 4 months and 8 days. Funeral services by the writer. JOHN KNISLEY.

ROOT.—In the Spring River congregation, Jasper Co., Mo, April 1, of pneumonia, Bro. David Root, aged 72 years, 3 months and 1 day.

He leaves three brothers, one son, one daughter, and 12 grandchildren to mourn their loss. His wife and five children preceded him to the spirit world some years ago. He was a consistent member of the Brethren church for many years. Funeral services by Bro. George Barnhart from a part of Rev. 14

DANIEL FIRESTONE.

SIPE.—In the Pleasant Ridge church, March 29, Ada Jane Sipe, aged 24 years, 8 months and 18 days. Services conducted by Eld. D. S. Clapper from the latter part of 1 Cor. 6: 20. J. H. CLAPPER.

HOFF.—At Madisonburg, O., Feb 23, sister Lydia, wife of Bro. Jacob Hoff, aged 70 years, 10 months and 10 days.

Sister Hoff was born in Somerset County, Pennsylvania. She was married about 44 years and leaves her husband and three children,—two sons and one daughter. Sister Lydia suffered for several years. She bore her affliction with patience.

T. C. WIEAND.

HOSTETLER.—In the Pine Creek congregation, St. Jo Co, Ind, May 10, Esther Hostetler, aged 71 years, 4 months and 22 days.

She was the mother of fourteen children, two of whom preceded her in death, together with her husband,—Bro. Joseph Hostetler. She leaves sixty-three grandchildren and five great-grandchildren. Sister Hostetler was a member of the Brethren church for fifty-one years and died in the faith. Funeral discourse by Bro. Amos Peters from 2 Tim. 4: 6.

JACOB HILDERBRAND.

BAUGHMAN.—In Pine Creek congregation, St. Jo County, Indiana, April 28, Marianne Baughman, aged 69 years, 5 months and 18 days.

She has been a faithful member of the Brethren church for many years. Bro. Henry Baughman, her husband, and one daughter preceded her in death. Six children survive her and all belong to the Brethren church. May they be faithful till death! Funeral services by the home ministers from Rev. 14: 13.

JACOB HILDERBRAND.

NITCHER.—In the Pine Creek congregation, Ind., May 1, Bro. George A. Nitcher, aged 76 years, 5 months and 12 days.

He died at the residence of his son,—Simon Nitcher, where he was well cared for by the kind family and his son Adam. Funeral by the writer and Bro. Amos Peters.

JOHN KNISLEY.

HARBAUGH.—In the Pine Creek church, Ind., April 11, infant son of Bro. George and sister —— Harbaugh, aged 2 months and 11 days. Funeral services by the writer and Bro. Amos Peters.

JOHN KNISLEY.

DAUGHERTY.—In the bounds of the Lower Cumberland church, Pa, Eliza Ann Daugherty, wife of friend George Daugherty, aged 45 years and 19 days.

She was in apparent health until 7 o'clock in the morning when she became ill. Her neighbors were sent for and, although they lived within calling distance, before they arrived her spirit had taken its flight. To her husband and some of her neighbors she expressed a desire to unite with the Brethren church but delayed the matter too long. Interment at Filey's church in York County. Services by H. Beelman and the writer.

DANIEL LANDIS.

STALEY.—At Zediker, Pa., in the Ten Mile congregation, Washington Co., Pa, May 24, friend Mary Staley, aged 34 years, 2 months and 7 days.

She was a daughter of brother and sister White of this congregation. Funeral services by the writer. Text, Heb. 9: 27, 28.

N. B. CHRISTNER.

STAMBAUGH.—April 16, Carrie Stambaugh, aged 9 months and 16 days. Services by the brethren.

SCHLOSSER.—At Shannon, Ill., May 14, Bro. Eli D. Schlosser, aged 45 years, 7 months and 26 days.

Deceased was born in Hagerstown, Md., and moved to Illinois at the age of eighteen years. He attended college at Mt. Morris when he first came West. He was united in marriage at the age of twenty-one years to Elizabeth Wagner, and to this union were born four children, two of whom are still living.

He united with the Winebrennarian church in 1874, to which church he belonged until the fall of 1887, when he was received by the Brethren. Affliction rested upon our brother for a number of years. He lost a limb about twelve years ago, and since that time he has been selling goods for a livelihood, and was well known in Carroll, Ogle and Stephenson Counties.

Two years ago he was afflicted with lung trouble and confined to his bed for five months. He recovered sufficiently to travel again, but, about April 1st, was attacked with liver disease, which continued until the messenger of death caused his suffering to cease. The family has lost a dear one from its circle, the church a faithful brother, and the community a good citizen. The remains were interred in the Brethren's cemetery at Shannon. His request was that Bro. Edmund Forney should preach his funeral from Rev. 14. DAVID ROWLAND.

HEINEY.—In the Stony Creek church near Noblesville, Ind., sister Barbara Heiney, wife of Christian Heiney, aged 61 years, 11 months and 28 days.

Deceased was an exemplary member of the church for thirty-seven years. She has left a kind husband and five children to mourn their loss and to continue the conflict of life. Funeral services by the Brethren from 2 Cor. 5: 1. L. T. HOLSINGER.

GRABNER.—In Jackson township, Elkhart Co, Ind, Bro. Peter Grabner, aged 58 years, 10 months and 19 days.

Deceased was married to Louisa Hertel, Dec. 20, 1852 Thirteen children blessed their union, ten of whom are living He united with the church in 1869 and proved a faithful member ever after. He leaves, besides his sorrow-stricken widow, one brother and three sisters. Funeral services by Bro. Jeremiah Gump. ALEX. MILLER.

COLCLESSER.—In the Clear Creek congregation, Huntington Co., Ind., May 2, sister Susanna Colclesser, aged 48 years, 4 months and 12 days.

Deceased was born Dec. 20, 1840, in Montgomery Co, Ohio, and emigrated with her parents to this County in 1859 She was married to Samuel Colclesser, and four children were born to them,—three sons and one daughter. One son, while yet small, preceded her to the spirit world. She and her husband were baptized twenty-eight years ago.

Sister Colclesser was a faithful and devoted Christian. Her seat was seldom vacant at meeting or Sunday-school, and she was also a kind and a loving mother. She will be missed in the community. Quite a number of friends and relatives are left to mourn her departure. The high esteem in which she was held was shown by the crowded house on her funeral occasion, which was improved by Bro. Dorsey Hodgden from Rev. 14: 13.

CASSIE FLICKINGER.

MILLER.—In Frederic, Monroe Co., Iowa, April 53, of lung disease, Bro. Peter Miller, aged 68 years, 6 months and 24 days.

Deceased united with the Brethren in 1855, living thirty-four years in the church. He was a deacon most of the time. He united in marriage with Ruth Ann Judson, by which union they had born to them nine children, of whom three are dead. Three are members of the Brethren, while some are still putting off their known duty. Funeral services were preached by Bro. S. P. Miller, of Manhaska County from these words, "Be ye also ready," to a large and sympathizing congregation. HIRAM BERKMAN.

BYERLY.—In the Lower Miami church, Ohio, April 12, sister Elizabeth Byerly, aged 78 years, 11 months and 4 days.

Deceased was the daughter of Jacob and Christiana Grow. She was affected with a paralytic stroke over seven years ago She bore her afflictions with Christian fortitude, and always filled her place in the church although deprived of hearing for years. Funeral services by George Holler and others from Rev. 14: 12, 13. JOHN NOFTSINGER.

GARVER.—In the Lower Stillwater church, Montgomery Co., Ohio, April 29, of heart disease, Eld George Garver, aged 58 years, 2 months and 7 days.

Eld. Garver was widely known in the Brotherhood and highly respected by all who knew him, both in and out of the church. This was fully evidenced on the funeral occasion when nearly twelve hundred people viewed the remains at the church. The intelligence of his death was schocking, indeed, as his very healthy appearance was supposed to indicate a long life, but within ten minutes from the first appearance of any alarming symptoms he was a corpse,—passing away in the presence of his terror-stricken wife and two hired hands.

His sudden departure is deeply mourned by an invalid, heart-broken wife, two sons and a daughter. Bro. Daniel is serving his Master in the ministry and, we hope, will fully fill his father's place in his labors. Perry and Martha (Eby) are left to mourn their loss, and we pray that this sad dispensation will be sanctified to their good, that they may be gathered into the fold and finally be an unbroken family in heaven.

Services by the brethren from Rev. 14: 12, 13, selected by the family.

JESSE STUTSMAN.

BARKLEY.—In Cambria County, Pa, April 29, Bro Israel Barkley, aged 55 years, 8 months and 22 days.

He leaves a mother, a wife, and eleven children to mourn his untimely death.

While we deeply feel the loss of an obedient son, a faithful husband, and a dear father, we bow submissively to God's will and say, with Job of old, "The Lord hath given and the Lord hath taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord!"

Funeral services by Bro. J. M. Mohler, of Lewistown, and the brethren of Johnstown church. Bro. Barkley was a member of the Brethren church over thirty years and died in full fellowship with the same.

DAVID HILDERBRAND.

DRUSHEL.—In Ashland, Ohio, May 27, Mary, wife of Chester Drushel, aged 47 years, 4 months and 30 days

Mary was married to the church when about nineteen years of age and lived a devoted Christian up to the end. Love feast services were held at her home on Monday evening. She also called for the elders and was anointed After all the services were over she expressed her willingness to depart, and shortly after breathed her life sweetly away, without a struggle, and passed into the arms of Jesus. Services by the writer from Rev. 14: 13. DAVID SNYDER.

FRANKS.—In Ashland, Ohio, May 18, Katharine, wife of William Franks, aged 29 years, 6 months and 18 days.

She was a daughter of Bro. William Peters, who is the father of eleven children, and has been called upon to follow ten of his dear children to their last resting place and who has also buried two companions. His is truly a cup of sorrow. Funeral service by Eld. George Worst from Matt. 24: 44.

DAVID SNYDER.

EVERETT.—Near Fannettsburg, Franklin Co., Pa., March 26, Bro. John Everett, aged 80 years.

STUTZMAN.—In the Bethel church, Hudson, Ill., May 2, of inflammatory rheumatism, Louie, adopted daughter of sister Sarah and Bro. Samuel Stutzman, aged 14 years. Funeral discourse by Bro. James R. Gish, assisted by P. A. Moore, both of Roanoke, Ill. THOS. D. LYON.

A Book for Every Member!

Classified Minutes

— OF —

ANNUAL MEETING.

☞ A full supply of this excellent work still on hand. Every member should have a copy of this work, in order to have a thorough understanding of the deliberations of the Annual Meeting in reference to church government, etc. Price, English Cloth, $1.50, post-paid; leather, $2.00.

☞ A responsible agent wanted in each congregation, to whom terms will be furnished upon application. Address,

BRETHREN'S PUBLISHING CO.,
Or, Huntingdon, Pa. Mount Morris, Ill.

Tract Work.

List of Publications for Sale,—Sent Postage Prepaid.

CLASS A.

No. 1. Golden Gleams or Family Chart, ...85 cts.

CLASS B.

No. 1. Trine Immersion, Quinter, per copy ...$ 1 25
No. 2. Europe and Bible Lands, Miller, per copy,..... 1 50
No. 3. Doctrine of the Brethren Defended, per copy,..... 1 50
No. 4. Classified Minutes—A. M.,..... 1 50
No. 5. Two Sticks, Eshelman,..... 1 00
No. 6. Close Communion, Wesh, per copy..... 40

CLASS C.

No. 1. Annual Report, per copy,.....$ 05
No. 2. Path of Life, per 100, $5.00; per copy, 08
No. 3. How to Become a Child of God, per 100, $4 00; per copy, ... 05
No. 4. Conversion, per 100, $2.50; per copy.... 03
No. 5. Water Baptism, per 100, $1.50; per copy 02
No. 6. Single Immersion, per 100, $1 50, per copy,..... 02
No. 7. Sabbatism, per 100, $2.50; per copy,..... 03
No. 8. Discussion on Trine Immersion, per copy,..... 15
No. 9. Sermon on Baptism, per copy,..... 03
No. 10. Glad Tidings of Salvation, per copy... 03
No. 11. Life of Eld. S. Weir (Colored), per copy,..... 08
No. 12. Ten Reasons for Trine Immersion, per 100, $1.50, per copy,..... 02

CLASS D.

No. 1. House We Live In, per 100,..... $ 60
No. 2. Plan of Salvation, per 100,..... 60
No. 3. Come, Let Us Reason Together, per 100 60
No. 4. How Shall I Know that my Sins are Pardoned? per 100,..... 60
No. 5. Intemperance, per 100,..... 60
No. 6. Plain Dressing, per 100,..... 60
No. 7. Which Is the Right Church? per 100... 60
No. 8. House We Live In (Swedish), per 100,.. 60
No. 9. House We Live In (Danish), per 100,.. 60
No. 10. Paul Wetzel's Reasons, Etc., (German), per 100,..... 60
No. 11. Sinner, Stop! per 100,..... 60
No. 12. Faith, per 100,..... 60
No. 13. The Light-House, per 100,..... 60
No. 14. Close Communion, per 100,..... 60
No. 15. The Truth Shall Make You Free, per 100,..... 60
No. 16. Modern Skepticism, per 100,..... 60
No. 17. Infant Baptism Weighed in the Balances and Found Wanting, per 100,.... 60

CLASS E.

No. 1. Pause and Think, per 100,..... 80
No. 2. What Do We Need? per 100,..... 80
No. 3. Right or Wrong Way, per 100,..... 80
No. 4. Why Am I Not a Christian? per 100,.... 80
No. 5. Saving Words, per 100,..... 80
No. 6. Christ and War, per 100,..... 80
No. 7. The Bond of Peace, per 100,..... 80
No. 8. The Kiss of Charity, per 100,..... 80
No. 9. The Evils of Intemperance, per 100,.. 80
No. 10. The Lost Opportunity, per 100,..... 80
No. 11. Are You a Christian? per 100,..... 80
No. 12. Arise, Get Thee Down, per 100,..... 80
No. 13. A Personal Appeal, per 100,..... 80
No. 14. Lying Among the Pots, per 100,..... 80
No. 15. Gold and Costly Array, per 100,..... 80
No. 16. The Brethren's Card, per 100,..... 80

Bibles, Testaments, Hymn Books of all styles, at publishers' lowest retail prices, which will be furnished on application.

Address

Brethren's Book and Tract Work,
DAYTON, OHIO.

Church Register.

—:o:—

To those who would wish to collect and to preserve a complete history of their congregation and biography of each of their members, with names, dates of baptism or letter, dates of death or letter, and also dates of election, ordination of all the official members, and all events of importance occurring in each congregation, we would say, buy a copy of the Church Register Price, containing sample pages and instructions, well bound, and sent by mail, $1.00 per copy Address this office

PUBLICATIONS

☞ The following books, Sunday-school supplies, etc., are for sale by the Brethren's Publishing Co., Mt. Morris, Ill., or Huntingdon, Pa., to whom all orders should be addressed.

The Brethren's Quarterly.

For Sunday-school teachers and scholars this publication is of the greatest benefit. Look at our prices:

Single subscription, one year ..... 35 cents.
Single subscription, per quarter ..... 10 cents.
Three copies, per quarter..... 25 cents.
Eight copies, per quarter. ..... 40 cents.
Fifty copies and over..... 4 cents each.

• • • Hymn Books • • •

New Tune and Hymn Books.

Half leather, single copy, post-paid .....$ 1 00
Per dozen, by express 10 00
Morocco, single copy, post-paid..... 1 25
Per dozen, by express 12 00
Morocco, gilt edge, per copy... ..... 1 50

Hymn Books, English.

Morocco, single copy, post-paid. .....$ 50
Per dozen, post-paid 9 50
Per dozen, by express 9 00
Morocco, gilt edge, post-paid 1 10
Per dozen, post-paid 11 75
Per dozen, by express 11 25
Arabesque, single copy, post-paid 55
Per dozen, post-paid 5 50
Per dozen, by express 5 30
Sheep, single copy, post-paid..... .
Per dozen, post-paid ..... .
Per dozen, by express 5 20
Tuck, single copy, post-paid..... 1 00
Per dozen, post-paid..... 10 00
Per dozen, by express 9 50
Fine Limp, post-paid.. ..... 1 00
Per dozen, post paid 10 00
Fine Limp, single copy, gilt edge, post-paid 1 20
Fine Limp, gilt edge, per dozen 13 00
German and English, per copy, ... 60
" " " per dozen; mail, $9 50; express 9 00

The Young Disciple.

The YOUNG DISCIPLE is a neatly printed weekly, published especially for the moral benefit and religious instruction of our young folks.

Single copy, one year.. ..... $ 50
Six copies (the sixth to the agent). 2 50
Ten copies..... 4 00

For Three Months or Thirteen Weeks.

20 copies to one address $1 75
30 " " " " 2 50
40 " " " " 3 15
50 " " " " 3 80
75 " " " " 5 20
100 " " " " 7 00

For Six Months or Twenty-Six Weeks.

20 copies to one address..... ..... $ 3 35
30 " " " " 5 00
40 " " " " 6 60
50 " " " " 7 50
75 " " " " 10 20
100 " " " " 13 75

Our paper is designed for the Sunday-school and the home circle. We desire the name of every Sunday-school Superintendent in the Brotherhood, and want an agent in every church. Send for sample copies.

Sunday-School Requisites.

The following list of things is needed in all Sunday-schools:

Testaments, Flexible, red edge, per doz..... $1 00
Minute Books, each..... 50
Class Books, per doz 75
Union Primers, with fine engravings, per doz 70

New and Beautiful Sunday-School Cards.

"The Gem," 50 picture cards, each with Bible Text, verse of hymn..... 35
250 Reward Tickets—verse of Scripture—red or blue, 20

Miscellaneous Works.

☞ We are prepared to furnish any book in the market at publishers' retail price. Religious works a specialty.

Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress. ..... Price, $2 00

Brown's Pocket Concordance. ..... Price, 25 cts.

Biblical Antiquities. ..... Price, $2 00

Burns' Notes. ..... Price, $1 00

Close Communion.—By Lloyd Wood. ..... Price, 10 cts.

Cruden's Concordance. ..... Price, $2 00

Companion to the Bible. ..... Price, $1 00

Campbell and Owen's Debate. ..... Price, $2 25

Classified Minutes of Annual Meeting.—A ..... Price, 10 cts.

Europe and Bible Lands.—By D. L. Miller. ..... Price, $1 50

Family Bible, with Notes and Instructions. ..... Price, $2 50

Jamieson's Bible Commentary. ..... Price, $3 00

Life on Wheels.—By J. S. Mohler. ..... Price, 10 cts.

New Testament and Psalms with Notes.—Invaluable ..... Price, $2 00

Origin of Single Immersion. By Eld. James Quinter. ..... Price, 5 cents; 100 copies, $3 00.

Quinter and McConnell Debate.—A debate on Trine Immersion, the Lord's Supper, and Feet washing, between Eld. James Quinter (for a Baptist) and Eld. N. A. McConnell (Christian) held at Dry Creek, Iowa, 1887. Price, $1 50

Reference and Pronouncing Testament.—A copious ..... Price, $2 50

Reason and Revelation.—By R. McCheyne Sheldon. ..... Price, $2 00

Sacred Geography and Antiquities.—A practical ..... Price, $2 00

Smith's Bible Dictionary.—Edited by Peloubet ..... Price, $2 50

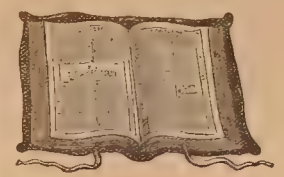
Sabbatism.—By M. M. Eshelman. Treats the Truth ..... Price, 10 cts.

The Christian Sabbath Defended.—By M. T. Eby. ..... Price, Single copy, 15 cents, per doz. $1 50

The Law and Sabbath. The Gospel and Lord's Day.—Why I Quit Keeping the Jewish Sabbath. The ..... Price, 10 cts.

The Path of Life.—An interesting tract for everybody ..... Price, 5 cents per copy, $3 00 per 100.

Trine Immersion.—A vindication of the apostolic form ..... Price, 10 cts.



The House We Live In.—By Daniel Vaniman. It ..... Price, two copies, 5 cents.

The Doctrine of the Brethren Defended.—A complete work on the distinctive principles of our Fraternity. ..... Price, cloth, $1.

The Story of the Bible.—An excellent volume for old and young, will interest and instruct all those desiring a knowledge of the Scriptures. ..... Price $1 00

Universalism against Itself.—By Hall. One of the best works against Universalism. ..... Price $1 00

"Alexander Mack's Writings," 25 cents post-paid. Get a copy.

The "Oxford" Teachers' Reference Bibles.

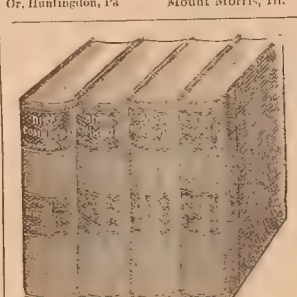
PEARL 16mo.

No. 500. FRENCH MOROCCO, boards $1 40
No. 502. FRENCH SEAL, limp, round corners 1 60
No. 503. FRENCH SEAL, divinity circuit, round corners..... 1 7
No. 514p.i PERSIAN SEAL, divinity circuit, silk sewed, leather lined, patent index..... 4 50

RUBY 16mo.

No. 550. FRENCH MOROCCO, boards..... 2 25
No. 553 FRENCH SEAL, divinity circuit, round corners 2 75
No. 504. PERSIAN SEAL, divinity circuit, silk sewed, leather lined, round corners..... 4 00
No. 504p i. ERSIAN SEAL, same as No. 504, with patent index..... 5 00
No. 565½. LEVANT, divinity circuit, kid lined, silk sewed, round corners. 5 00

NONPAREIL 8vo.



o 660. TURKEY MOROCCO, board, gilt roll 4 50
No. 661½. TURKEY MOROCCO, limp, round corners..... 4 75
No 664. PERSIAN SEAL, divinity circuit, round corners, leather lined..... 4 50
No. 664p.i. PERSIAN SEAL, same as No. 664, with patent index 6 00
No. 665½. LEVANT, divinity circuit, kid lined, silk sewed, round corners.... .... 6 00

INDIA PAPER EDITION.

No. 661x. PERSIAN SEAL, divinity circuit, silk sewed, round corners, leather lined..... 5 25
No. 661½x. TURKEY MOROCCO, silk sewed, loose limp, round corners..... 5 25
No. 671x BEST LEVANT, divinity circuit, kid lined, silk sewed, red under gold edges, round corners... .... 6 00

Address all orders to

BRETHREN'S PUBLISHING CO.,
Or, Huntingdon, Pa Mount Morris, Ill.

NEW AND COMPLETE

Bible Commentary.

Critical, Explanatory and Practical, by Jamieson, Fausset & Brown, in four large 12mo Volumes of about 1000 pages each. This Work has Numerous Illustrations and Maps. It is far in advance of the Older Works. It is Critical, Practical and Explanatory. It is Compendious and Comprehensive in its character. It has a Critical Introduction to each Book of Scripture, and is by far the most Practical, Suggestive and Popular Work of the kind in the English Language. Price, Cloth, $8.00 post-paid.

BRETHREN'S PUBLISHING CO.,
Or, Huntingdon, Pa. Mt. Morris, Ill.

"LITTLE MISSIONARIES,"—a term applied by some one to our BRETHREN'S ENVELOPES, is well deserved. Price, 15 cents a package; for sale at this office.

Announcements.

LOVE-FEASTS.

June 19, at 10 A. M., Wooster church, Wayne Co., Ohio, at the residence of Geo. Hostand

June 21, at 4 P. M., Manor church, Indiana Co., Pa.

June 22, New Haven church, Mich.

June 22, at 10:30 A. M., Seneca church, Seneca Co., Ohio, at Bro. J. B. Fink's, some 3½ miles east of Attica.

June 29, at 2 P. M., Beaver Creek church, Nebr., at the house of Peter Farney, 2 miles south, and 4 miles west, of Aurora

June 29 and 30, Franklin Co., Iowa, near Bristow.

July 4, Coon River church near Panora, Iowa.

July 6, 7, and 8, Rockrove church, Floyd county, Iowa

Sept. 7 and 8, at 3 P. M., Frederic, Monroe Co., Ia.

Sept. 7 and 8, at 10 A. M., Anglaize Chapel, ½ mile from Dupont, Ohio, on the Clover Leaf Railroad; 2½ miles from Hartsburg, on the Nickle Plate Railroad

Sept. 14, at 10 A. M., Sugar Creek church, Whitley Co., Ind

Sept 28 and 29, at 11 A. M., English River congregation, Keokuk Co., Iowa

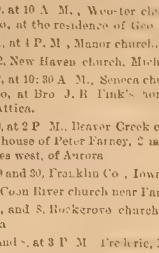
Oct 5 at 10 A. M., in the Vernon meeting-house Somerset congregation, Wabash Co., Ind.

Oct 12, at 1 P. M., Big Creek church, Richland Co., Illinois. Conveyance will be furnished any time by notifying J. M. Forney, Parkersburg, Illinois.

Oct 19 at 10 A. M., Landesville church Grant Co., Ind

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle 28y1



ADVERTISEMENTS.

Rates per Inch each Insertion.

One time or more	$1 50
One month (4 times)	4 20
Three months (12 times)	12 00
Six months (26 times)	20 00
One year (52 times)	36 00
No advertisement accepted for less than	1 00

☞ No Cuts inserted, unless on metal base. No double-column or objectionable advertisements inserted.

ROYAL

BAKING

POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and can not be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. SOLD ONLY IN CANS

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO.,
106 Wall St., N. Y.

Victor Remedies!

These Remedies consist of Victor Liver Syrup, Victor Pain Balm, Victor Infant's Relief, Victor Lung Syrup, Victor Pills, Victor Liniment, Victor Poultry, Horse and Cattle Powders. These Remedies are all sold under a guarantee. If you cannot get them from your merchant, send his name to us, and we will arrange so he has them in stock if he is reliable. Send for circulars. Address:

VICTOR REMEDIES CO.,
Frederick, Md.
5tf

EUROPE AND BIBLE LANDS!

BY D. L. MILLER.

THE large sale of this work gives abundant proof of its popularity. The eighth edition is almost exhausted, and a new edition will be necessary to supply the demand. The following partial list will give an idea of the contents of the work:

Life in Germany.—Berlin.—The King's Palace.—Dresden.—The Crown Jewels.—Women in Germany.—The City of Prague.—The Martyrdom of John Huss.—The Habits and Customs of the People.—Bro. Hope's Work in Denmark.—Old Castles and Prisons of the Middle Ages.—Paul's Preaching at Mars' Hill.—Old Temples at Athens.—The Seven Churches of Asia.—Ephesus, and the Temple of Diana.—Jaffa.—The House of Simon, the Tanner.—Plain of Sharon.—Lepers and Leprosy.—Mountains of Judea.—Jerusalem.—Place of Crucifixion.—Mount Moriah.—Solomon's Temple.—Mount Zion.—David's Tomb.—Bethlehem.—The Fields Where the Shepherds Watched their Flocks by Night.—Rachel's Tomb.—Mount of Olives.—The Garden of Gethsemane.—Jericho.—The Dead Sea.—River of Jordan.—Bethel.—The Mountains of Blessing and Cursing.—Nazareth.—Cana of Galilee.—The Sea of Galilee.—Capernaum.—Damascus.—Ruins of Baalbec.—Customs, Manners, Habits and Home Life of the Arabs.

Bro. Miller visited the places he describes and tells about them in an easy, pleasant manner, which makes the book exceedingly interesting. It contains 439 pages, and 40 engravings, among which are a number of full-page illustrations of Palestine scenery. It is printed on heavy, tinted paper, in clear-faced type, bound in a good, substantial manner, and will be sold at the very low price of $1.50 per copy, cloth binding, postage prepaid.

SPECIAL RATES TO MINISTERS.—In order to have a copy of the book placed in the hands of all our ministers, we make them the following liberal offer: Send one dollar for the book, and sixteen cents to pay postage, and you will receive a copy by return mail.

Agents wanted, to whom liberal terms will be given. Address all orders to

BRETHREN'S PUBLISHING CO.,
MT. MORRIS, ILL.

McShane Bell Foundry
Finest Grade of Bells
CHIMES AND PEALS for CHURCHES, &c.
Send for Price and Catalogue. Address
H. McSHANE & CO.,
Mention this paper. Baltimore, Md.

J. B. COLCLESSER,

ROANOKE, HUNTINGDON CO., IND., Breeder of Purely-bred Poland China Swine. My herd is made up of the most fashionable strains known to the breed. Stock recorded in C. R. and O. R. Pigs and aged animals for sale. Gelts bred and for sale January and February 1890. Breeding a specialty. Correspondence or personal inspection solicited 22t25

The Original Trans-Continental Line.

The Union Pacific Railway. "The Overland Route" runs daily trains from Council Bluffs, Omaha and Kansas City to Denver, Salt Lake City, Sacramento, San Francisco, Los Angeles and Portland.

Quick time across the continent.

Elegant equipment, consisting of latest Pullman Palace Cars and Day Coaches.

The Golden Gate Special, "The Finest Train in the World" leaves Council Bluffs every Wednesday morning for San Francisco; electric light, steam heat, bath rooms, smoking rooms and observation cars are only a few of the many conveniences offered on this train.

This company has also for sale in Kansas and Colorado, 3,000,000 acres of choice farming lands; only one-tenth cash down and balance on ten years' time at seven per cent interest. Fare paid over the Union Pacific by persons who go to see the land, is refunded if land is purchased.

The Union Pacific Railway company has also 3,000,000 acres of land in Wyoming and Utah for sale at very low prices. Best ranch land in the world on liberal terms.

For full information in regard to rates, time-tables, maps, price of lands, etc., address,

THOS. L. KIMBALL,
Gen'l Manager.
C. J. SMITH.
Gen'l Land Com.
J. S. TEBBETS, Gen'l Pass. Ag't.
50 OMAHA, NEB.

SALESMEN Wanted; local and travelling Positions permanent. Salary from start. Experience unnecessary. Brown Bros., Nurserymen, Chicago, Ill.

To California.

SPECIAL parties leave Chicago every Thursday over the Santa Fe Route through to California. These parties are accompanied by a special Conductor whose duty it is to look after the comfort and security of passengers en route, and this feature makes the journey pleasant. Low rates are made for persons joining these parties.

If you think of going to California write to or call upon James Wallace, 212 Clark Street, Chicago, Ill.

Young America!

It will pay you to do your own grinding on a mill that grinds corn with or without cob, as well as all kinds of small grain. Our mill is simple, strong and durable. Send for catalogue & price.

—WE ALSO MAKE THE—

Enterprise Feed Grinder.

Warranted to grind all kinds of grain. The new principle on which the grinding-plates are made, gives them a larger grinding capacity, and makes them more durable than any other style. For further particulars address,

Enterprise M'f'g. Co.,
(Mention this paper.) Columbiana, Ohio.

The Monon Route.

THIS road is running a fine line of Pullman Buffet Sleepers between Chicago and Indianapolis, Cincinnati and Louisville, in connection with the fast Florida express trains.

For full information, address, E. O. McCORMICK, Gen'l Pass. Agt., Adams Express Building, Chicago. (City Ticket Office 573 Clark St.)

Brethren's Quarterly.

ORDERS may be sent in at once for the Quarterly for the third quarter of 1889. Price, three copies, 25 cents; eight copies 40 cents; fifty copies and over, four cents each. Address,

BRETHREN'S PUBLISHING CO.,
MT. MORRIS, ILL.
Or, Huntingdon, Pa.

CLASSIFIED MINUTES OF ANNUAL MEETING.

In order to introduce this excellent work more fully in all parts of the Brotherhood, we would like to secure a live, energetic agent in every congregation to whom we will give special inducements; terms made known on application. Address, Brethren's Publishing Co.

Wanted!

We want brethren in every district to sell our Fertilizers. We manufacture a number of different grades, so as to suit all buyers, viz.:

Blood and Bone Dissolved, Raw Bone and Potash, High Grade Super Phosphate of Bone, Soluble Ammoniated Bone Phosphate and Chemicals!

All the above brands have stood the test for years, and in field contests have proved to be second to none on the market.

We guarantee to keep up the present high standard of these different brands, and feel assured you can save money by buying from us. Write for terms, circulars, etc. Address,

D. BLOCHER & CO.,
11m6 Gettysburg, Pa.

Certificates of Membership.

These Certificates are bound in book-form, and contain a stub which is very convenient for reference. By using these books, a complete record may be kept of all certificates issued, when given, and by whom signed. Sent, post-paid, for 50 cents per copy. Address this office.

Brethren's Envelopes!

Send for a package of these Envelopes, of which over fifty thousand have been sold in the past ten years. They may spread the doctrine of the Brethren everywhere. Price, per package of 25, 15cts; per 100, 40cts. Address this office

Alexander Mack's Writings!

THOSE who have not yet secured a copy of this excellent work, should embrace the opportunity of getting one at the low price at which it is now offered. A copy should be in the library of every brother. Price, 25 cts. per copy, with special inducements to agents. Address this office.

WHEN YOU TRAVEL

Take the

Line selected by the United States Government to carry the Fast Mail—the

As it is the Line running Through Trains to and from the following cities and towns on its own Lines

CHICAGO,
AURORA, OTTAWA,
STREATOR, ROCKFORD, DUBUQUE,
LA CROSSE, ST. PAUL, MINNEAPOLIS,
MENDOTA, PEORIA, GALESBURG, ST. LOUIS,
QUINCY, KEOKUK, BURLINGTON, WASHINGTON,
OSKALOOSA, DES MOINES, CHARITON,
CRESTON, ST. JOSEPH, ATCHISON,
KANSAS CITY, NEBRASKA CITY,
OMAHA, COUNCIL BLUFFS,
LINCOLN & DENVER,

Making Direct Connections

TO AND FROM

NEW YORK,
BALTIMORE, WASHINGTON,
CINCINNATI, PHILADELPHIA, BOSTON,
NEW ORLEANS, LOUISVILLE, SAN FRANCISCO,
LOS ANGELES, SALT LAKE CITY, COLORADO AND
PACIFIC COAST RESORTS, CITY OF MEXICO,
PORTLAND, OREGON, MANITOBA,
VICTORIA AND PUGET SOUND
POINTS.

Good Equipment,
Good Service,
Good Connection.

For information concerning the Burlington Route, apply to the nearest Ticket Agent of the C., B. & Q. or connecting railroads.

HENRY B. STONE, General Manager. PAUL MORTON, Gen'l Pass. & Ticket Agt., CHICAGO, ILL.

THE GOSPEL MESSENGER.

"Set for the Defense of the Gospel."

Vol. 27. Old Series. Mt. Morris, Ill., and Huntingdon, Pa., June 25, 1889. No. 25.

The Gospel Messenger.

H. B. BRUMBAUGH, Editor,
And Business Manager of the Eastern House, Box 50, Huntingdon, Pa.

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

Our Annual Meeting.

WE closed our report last week with the meetings held in the Tabernacle on the Lord's Day. Monday, June 10, not far from five thousand people assembled on the meeting grounds. Every incoming train adds to the throng, and the prospects now are that the meeting will be very largely attended. To-day delegates are arriving from the different churches, and many warm fraternal greetings are interchanged, as we meet once again after a season of separation. As before intimated in this correspondence, this is one of the very best features of our Annual Meetings, and we say again, it will be a sad day for the church if we should ever lose it. At 10 A. M. Bro. John Harshberger, of Illinois, preached in the Tabernacle, and was followed by Bro. Henry Martin, of Lanark, Illinois.

Missionary and Tract Meeting.

At 3 P. M. a meeting was held in the Tabernacle in the interest of the Missionary and Tract Work of the church. A number of earnest, inspiring speeches were made, and we are sorry that we do not have a full report to give to our readers. The great interest taken in the meeting was shown by the fact that the large Tabernacle was well filled.

Bro. I. J. Rosenberger, of Ohio, briefly stated the object of the meeting. The speakers were confined to ten minutes each. Bro. R. H. Miller was the first speaker. He said that ten minutes was long enough to speak, when he considered his bodily strength, but not long enough for the missionary spirit that was in him. In this work the surest pathway to success is to follow the example of those who have successfully labored before us. Let the men of God be our pattern. First we have the example of the Son of God. He spent his life in mission work, in preaching the Gospel, and in doing good. His apostles followed his example and became great missionaries, and spent their lives in the service of the Master. Their hearts were in the work, hence their success. We should to-day have the same spirit that they had, and this will lead us into the mission work. Our opportunities for doing work are great. We have a system for mission work, and a system for tract work. We can send out men and tracts, and in assisting in the work we can all become missionary workers. We want to get our hearts into this work. We want to be stirred up so that we go to work with a will. Let your hearts be stirred up. Go to work as partners in spreading the Gospel, have the spirit of Christ and the apostles, and then the work will move forward. You have a grand cause for which to labor. The old church is founded on the Rock Christ Jesus. The foundation is sure and strong, and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it. Rouse up your hearts and go to work for the cause of Christ.

Bro. B. F. Moomaw, of Virginia, was the next speaker. He referred to the strong and forcible words used by Bro. Miller and hoped all would profit by them. Christ was our great Exemplar in this work. He labored for us, suffered for us, and died for us. He had associates in the work. His disciples and the apostles labored in the mission work. We need to get this matter into our hearts and have the missionary spirit in us. If we do not have the spirit of helping in this great work of the church, there is something wrong in our Christianity, something very seriously wanting in our Christianity. We are to be workers together with God and are to work for him. The responsibility of this work is resting upon us and we cannot throw it off. Opportunities to labor and assist in spreading the Gospel are all around and about us and the obligations are on us. God has blessed us with intelligent minds and with means to give. We have rich advantages and we can not come out blameless unless we use the means and the talents which God has given to help spread the Gospel.

Bro. John Wise, of Kansas, then spoke. He said in substance that the missionary work is a work of sacrifice. Christ sacrificed his glory before the world was, died in shame and agony on the cross to accomplish his mission. Thus the greatest work ever completed in the world was done by making the greatest sacrifice the world has ever known. Christ has intrusted the great missionary work to the church. The apostles made sacrifices and we must also make sacrifices. Our ministers are making great sacrifices to-day in this work. Lay-members, what are you doing in this work? Sisters, what are you doing for the Lord? Are you making sacrifices or do you expect the ministers to do all the work? Remember, it don't mean that Christ, the apostles, and the ministers are to do all the sacrificing. Every child of God must have a part in this work. Some good sisters are giving one-tenth to the Lord, and this is right. We say to ALL, Be co-workers with the Lord; go to the West and South where the doctrine of Christ is scarcely known. Will you say, Go and preach to these people and we will help you, or will you say, Go, and you will be rewarded for your work? We want all to have a part in the reward, and the way to get that is to take a part in the work. Bro. Wise closed by appealing to the elders and ministers present to preach to their congregations the need of sacrificing for this work and thus bringing the whole Brotherhood in line in this great work.

Bro. S. R. Zug, of Pennsylvania, was the next speaker. He spoke of the necessity of our having the spirit of our Master, and if we have his spirit we will engage in missionary work. He illustrated the sacrifices made by many of our ministers as follows. Two brothers start in life with the same prospects for financial success. One of them is called to the ministry and, feeling the responsibility of the work placed upon him, he faithfully labors in his calling to the neglect of his home affairs. As a result he does not succeed, financially, but his brother who lives near him, by looking after his business and giving his time to it, has grown wealthy. The preacher's boys say, "Uncle Ben stays at home and manages the farm and works, but father must be gone from home more than half his time and he never gets anything for it." The application is obvious. The tract work is a great auxiliary to the mission work, and our means should go to both. The tract goes out and opens the door, then comes the missionary and preaches the Word and organizes churches. At first this work did not take so well among us but now it is growing. We must remember that if we are to have a part in the reward that is offered, we must have a part in the work. You can not get the reward without having a part of the sacrifice.

Bro. James R. Gish, our Arkansas missionary, said that when the importance of the subject under consideration was looked at, ten minutes was not time enough to give the subject a passing notice. It would require hours to do the subject justice. Twenty years of work in the mission fields has convinced him that it is a self-sacrificing life. Some seem to think that the labor is easy, but go out into the by-ways and the hedges and work for Christ and you will find that the work is not easy. Christ has charged us to preach the Word to every creature and this command comes to all of us; none are exempt. He had spent three years in Arkansas, laboring as God gave ability, and this he had done at his own expense. There are many ministers needed in the South. Calls come that cannot be filled. Shall these calls be filled? Will you not all help in this great work? God has given you the means, will you not give liberally to this great cause?

Bro. Andrew Hutchison, of Missouri, who is enfeebled by sickness, spoke next and said that no other question than the great Mission and Tract question could have induced him to speak at this time. He was not strong but this work lay close to his heart and he would try to speak briefly. What we want to do is to look at the facts in this case. Jesus says, "He whom God hath sent, speaks the words of God." The missionary is one sent to declare a message and to do a work. In this sense Jesus Christ was the great missionary of the world. He was sent by the Father. He did his work, filled his mission, and now he sends us out into the world to preach the

(Continued on Page 392.)

Allen Boyer 1890

ESSAYS.

"Study to show thyself approved unto God; a workman that needeth not be ashamed, rightly dividing the Word of Truth."

A LITTLE TALK WITH JESUS.

A little talk with Jesus, how it smoothes the rugged road;
How it seems to help me onward when I faint beneath my load!
When my heart is crushed with sorrow, my eyes with tears are dim,
There's naught can give me comfort, like a little talk with him.

I tell him I am weary, and fain would be at rest;
That I am daily, hourly longing for a home upon his breast;
And he answers me so sweetly, in tones of tenderest love,
"I am coming soon to take thee to my happy home above."

Ah! this is what I'm wanting, his lovely face to see,
And (I'm not afraid to say it) I know he's wanting me.
He gave his life a ransom to make me all his own.
And he can't forget his promise to me, his purchased one.

I know the way is dreary to yonder far-off clime,
But a little talk with Jesus will while away the time;
And yet the more I know him, and all his grace explore,
It only sets me longing to know him more and more.

I can not live without him, nor would I if I could;
He is my daily portion, my medicine, and my food.
He's altogether lovely, none can with him compare;
The chief among ten thousand, the fairest of the fair.

So I'll wait a little longer, till his appointed time,
And glory in the knowledge, that such a hope is mine;
Then in my Father's dwelling, where "many mansions" be,
I'll sweetly talk with Jesus, and he shall talk with me.

—Selected by Fannie Morrow.

TRINE IMMERSION.

BY A. W. REESE.

Part Six.—The "Mode" of Baptism.

"Go ye, therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost."—Matt. 28: 19.

But if the Greek verb baptizo were cast to the winds, the English construction would warrant the conclusion already drawn. It, alone, would establish the claims of trine immersion. If but one action were intended, as is claimed by the advocates of single immersion, then, by universal English custom, which makes the law of interpretation in the English tongue, the commission would read as follows: "baptizing them in the name of the Father, Son and Holy Ghost." There would, and could be, no use for the conjunction "and" prefixed to "Son" nor the peculiar form of expression "and of the Holy Ghost." As the rules of English grammar are declared to be derived from the custom and usages of the best writers and speakers of the language, there can be no question of the fact that the supply of the ellipsis in the formula of the commission is fully authorized, and hence nothing short of the three actions will complete the sense. There is yet a further view, which all who accept the doctrine both of the Unity and of the Trinity of God ought seriously to ponder.

The great work of human Redemption was not the work of the Father alone. It was not the work of the Son aside from the Father's will. Nor was it complete until the "Comforter" came. It was the combined work of the Godhead and yet "these three are one"—"one God and Father of us all."

Thus baptism, to represent BOTH the unity and the trinity of God, must be administered by THREE distinct ACTIONS—one into EACH name of the Godhead—and these three are "ONE baptism" — which is the answer we make to those who charge us with having three baptisms instead of one.

Thus the glorious trinity of God is recognized and honored, and, in the full, round sum of obedience, manifested in the COMPLETE act of baptism; the eternal unity of God is declared. Let us now see how single immersion will compare with this, and whether, by that "mode" of baptism, both the unity and the trinity of God are expressed.

Let us, also, see whether, by this method, the single "mode," we can either represent the trinity of God, his unity, or be "planted with Christ" in the likeness of his death!

When single immersion is to be performed, the minister goes with the candidate into the water, not always, I believe, into a stream, but sometimes into a tank inside of the church edifice. He then uses about some such formula as this: "My brother, upon this, thy confession of faith in Jesus Christ, I baptize thee in the name of the Father. and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost!"

At the conclusion of this sentence he plunges the person backwards under the water. Now let us analyze this procedure, which is confidently asserted and devoutly believed to be the "one baptism" referred to in Paul's epistle to the Ephesian church.

We most earnestly declare that, by this method, neither the unity nor the trinity of God are affirmed. Watch closely and see if the preacher did what he said he would do. He solemnly declared to the candidate in the water, "I baptize thee in the name of the Father!" Did he do so? We say he did not! He also said, "and of the Son." What of "the Son"? Why, that he would baptize him in the name of "the Son." Did he do so? We say, most emphatically, No! Finally, he added, "and of the Holy Ghost." What "of the Holy Ghost? Why, that he would baptize him in the name of the Holy Ghost. What else than this could he mean? Did he do this? We answer, Yes! he baptized him in the name of the Holy Ghost, nothing more than this. The candidate comes up out of the stream (or tank) baptized neither in the name of the Father, nor of the Son, but he is baptized in the single name of the Holy Ghost, by single immersion. The preacher tells him, and the candidate believes it, that he has now been "buried with Christ by baptism into death," whereas he has only been buried with the Holy Ghost in baptism—the baptism with Christ having been left out altogether. He is also told, and led to believe, that he has "been planted together (with Christ) in the likeness of his death." Is this true? We say, No! How—in what manner—for that is the meaning of the "how" in this case; it, the word "how," being an adverb of manner, as all know. How, then, did Christ die? Did he fall over backwards in the likeness of the person baptized by single immersion? No, we read that he bowed his head—a forward movement—"and gave up the Ghost." We see, then, that in the single immersion, by the backward movement, we can not be "planted together with him in the likeness of his death;" more especially if the preacher should fail altogether, as we have seen, to baptize him in the name of Christ at all.

"Well, but you can not fail to acknowledge," says our single immersionist friend, "that we are buried with him into death"? Well, we admit that the usual mode of burying the dead is to lay them in the grave on the back, but this is not the invariable way of disposing of the bodies of the dead. An ancient custom, and one that has been revived to some extent in the present age, was to burn the bodies of the dead—cremate them, as it is termed. But we will not spend time on this; we will admit that the immersion of the body is a burial. We still hold that single immersion is incomplete—that it lacks the three distinct actions—one in each name of the Trinity to make it what the Scriptures demand.

Two prominent examples of baptism are given in the New Testament,—Christ and the Ethiopian Eunuch, high officials under Queen Candace. We claim that these examples and all others mentioned in the New Testament, called baptism, are not cases of sprinkling, pouring, or single immersion, but were baptism by trine immersion. If men would lay aside the creeds of men, if they would divest the mind of prejudice and would cast away the subtle but powerful influences of sectarian training, if they could overcome the bias of early education, we feel confident they would accept the plain teachings of the Word of God and would follow those teachings to the end wherever they might lead. But, perhaps, my opponents are ready to retort on me, "Physician! heal thyself!" A good idea, friend, and if I make a brief reply to this I hope no one will accuse me of personal vanity or egotism, while I sketch the outlines of my own religious career.

I was not raised in the Brethren church. In fact, while I often wondered that religious sects seemed universally to have lost the leaf out of the New Testament containing the thirteenth chapter of John, I was a youth twenty-two years of age, before I knew that there was a religious body on the face of this earth that practiced the washing of one another's feet, or trine immersion. The writer of these pages was born and brought up under the strongest Pedobaptist influences. More than forty years of his life were spent under social surroundings utterly HOSTILE to the doctrine of IMMERSION. His early training in childhood, his later associations in youth, and his literary education in a prominent institution of learning where the President and every tutor and every professor were PEDOBAPTISTS of the "straitest sect," were ALL circumstances UNFAVORABLE to the interests of IMMERSION; and yet I can most truthfully and freely say that I never saw the day when I did not FULLY BELIEVE that IMMERSION was the PRIMITIVE BAPTISM commanded in the Word of God. That I did not UNITE with the BRETHREN CHURCH at an earlier day is, perhaps, due to the FACT that I had NO OPPORTUNITY to do so, for if the Brethren church is NOT the CHURCH of CHRIST as described in "the Record that God has given of his Son," then I most fully believe that no such church exists upon the face of this earth at the present day.

If an intelligent PAGAN, born and reared amidst the moral darkness and superstition of HEATHENISM, one who had never HEARD the NAME of JESUS CHRIST, were transplanted from the benighted influences surrounding him—brought to this country—carefully educated in the English tongue and as carefully ISOLATED from ALL SECTARIAN INFLUENCES, a TEST of the case might be made. When such a person had mastered the intricacies of our language with its difficult and ANOMALOUS idioms, then place the New Testament in his hands and let him read the account of the BAPTISM of our Savior and that of the Ethiopian Eunuch, and ask him HOW THIS WAS DONE, and we are fully convinced that he would reply, "Christ and the Eunuch were IMMERSED!" Then give him the COMMISSION to read and analyze, and he would say, "It teaches IMMERSION by a THREEFOLD ACTION, TRINE IMMERSION." And, if he were also skilled in the marvelous language of the GREEK, his affirmative answer would be doubly emphatic and it would be the expression of an honest, intelligent, and UNBIASED mind.

We have not been careful in these pages of the ADVERSE CRITICISMS and OPINIONS of MEN. The FORCE of all MORAL OBLIGATIONS lies in the WORD of GOD. Our blessed Lord said, "Search the SCRIPTURES, for in them ye think ye have eternal life, and they are they which testify of me."

(To be continued.)

Joys are our wings and sorrow our spurs.

THE UNRULY MEMBER.

BY C. F. WALKER.

In the Scripture we read, "If any man among you seem to be religious, and bridleth not his tongue but deceiveth his own heart, this man's religion is vain." James 1:26. All know what effect bridling has upon a horse. "We can," as the apostle says in another place, "make them obey us; bring them into subjection and cause them to do whatsoever we will."

This is just the way the Lord would have us do with our tongue. "But," says one, "the tongue can no man tame, for the Bible says so, and for that reason I will have to do the best I can under the circumstances." To that, I will say, that what man cannot do God CAN, and if you do your very best, God will supply your deficiency. He has created it; he can also bridle it. It is necessary that it be controlled, for the apostle James tells us that "it is a fire; a world of iniquity and that it setteth on fire the course of nature and it is set on fire of hell." Just think of fire of destruction already begun in us by means of this unruly member of the body,—the tongue!

He further represents it as full of deadly poison. Life cannot be long maintained when exposed to deadly poison. No longer can spiritual life exist, exposed to this deadly poison of the tongue. Our Savior has spoken very definitely on this point. He says, in Matt. 12: 36, 37, "But I say unto you that every idle word that man shall speak they shall give account thereof in the day of judgment for by thy words thou shalt be justified and by thy words thou shalt be condemned."

Is it not of very much importance, then, my brethren, that our words be choice? If we must give account for every idle word spoken, what will it be with the words that are worse than idle? O what an account that will be! Further, "by thy words thou shalt be justified and by thy words thou shalt be condemned." Shall our words be such that they shall tend to our justification, or shall they condemn us? Now is the time to decide this question.

God has conferred a great blessing upon us in that he has given us organs of speech. What a crime, then, must it be to use them to disgrace him, ourselves, and our fellow-men, and not make them a blessing, as he intended?

We read that the exalted, holy beings before the throne of God, who have never been the subjects of God's redeeming love and grace as we have, rest not day and night saying, "Holy, holy, holy, Lord God Almighty." We, who ought to be more grateful, often dishonor him rather than praise him. My brethren, this ought not so to be. Shall we not resolve to use every means procurable to guard against the improper use of that one member which we find so unruly? Shall we not use it so as to be a blessing instead of a curse? "He that keepeth his mouth, keepeth his life, but he that openeth wide his lips, shall have destruction." Prov. 13: 3.

Melbourne, Ia.

WHAT JESUS SAYS.

BY MARY J. THRONE.

"Behold, I stand at the door, and knock: if any man hear my voice and open the door, I will come in to him, and sup with him, and he with me."—Rev. 3: 20. John 14: 20.

This is a call of our Blessed Lord and Master. He is actually doing this at the door of every human heart. We cannot doubt it, for we all feel at times the gentle knockings of his hand at the door of our hearts! O, how patient he is when we have refused to open the door! He patiently lingers and waits. How earnest he is about our soul's salvation! He does not stand in silence, but knocks, pleads, begs for admission. Open now, for now is the time to serve the Lord, to insure that great reward! O, what a blessed thought, if we can be so happy as to hear the voice, "enter thou into the joys of thy Lord." On the other side there will be weeping and gnashing of teeth and great sorrow! Dear sinner, which will you choose? Jesus, is a friend indeed! He is the very friend for you!

HOW READEST THOU?—Luke 10: 26.

BY JOHN L. KLINE.

The above question was asked by the Great Teacher,—the one who spake as never man spake, and it was asked instead of giving a direct answer to a young scribe, who had inquired of Jesus what he must do to inherit eternal life. I do not, in the least, doubt that that young scribe was one of the self-righteous Pharisees so numerous at that time. In looking over the Scripture, containing the conversation, they had with each other, we are made to believe that the scribe did not care much about the general welfare of his soul, or that it was on account of that he put the question to the Savior, because the Scripture tells us that he wanted to tempt Jesus. We do not know exactly why he asked Christ the question; but we have reason to believe that it was only because he wanted to find out whether this man could tell anybody what it takes to save a man, or, rather, his soul.

Now, brethren and sisters, let us draw a lesson from this. The devil has his work now-a-days in the world, as he had at that time, and he does not always come in the form of a spirit, but very often in fleshly form. We know by past experience that we are sometimes asked questions in a curious manner, concerning the Scripture. But let us learn to be wise, as the Savior was, and only ask the question, How readest thou?

We know that we can alter the meaning of a sentence by putting a certain stress of voice, called emphasis, upon different words of the sentence. We do not know what words of the Law the scribe emphasized, or whether he emphasized any, but one thing we know, and that is this, he did not do as he read. This is made evident in the answer he gave to Christ, and in Christ's command; for when the scribe told Jesus how he read, or what was written in the Law, Jesus only told him, "Do this and thou shalt live." So we draw a second lesson from this, that it is not the much or well reading of God's Word, but the doing; and this is affirmed by the Great Master himself. Matt. 7: 28: "Whosoever heareth these sayings of mine [which? why, all, not only a part, but all], and doeth them, I will liken unto a wise man." Therefore, I would say unto all my brethren and sisters, Let us look well how we read, and also what we read, and that we also do what we read in the Gospel.

We are sometimes made to believe that there is too much newspaper reading among the Brethren, and not enough Bible and MESSENGER reading. The Brethren who have not felt yet as if it was a duty enjoined on them to read every morning a lesson to their families, out of the Scripture, ought to get the feeling of such a duty at once. Remember, the Scripture that we have quoted as a basis of our writings, says, "How readest thou?" and we have added that in this dark and latter age we have to be very careful what we read. We have a good deal to talk about, and we like to talk about the Bible when the Brethren come to us.

Now, brethren and sisters, let us look how we read in regard to the sisters' head covering. We learn from the Scripture that the great apostle had much trouble in the Corinthian church concerning their disorder. That the brethren prayed and prophesied having something on their heads and the sisters without having anything on their heads, was one reason why Paul had trouble with them; and if it was at that time a disorder when sisters prayed or prophesied uncovered, it is surely to-day. The Scriptures say Jesus Christ is the same yesterday, to-day and forever and Paul preached nothing but Christ and him crucified.

Now let us hear what the inspired apostle says: "Every man praying or prophesying, having his head covered, dishonoreth his head." Now, then, there is not a brother or sister in the Brotherhood who believes that the covering the apostle speaks about in regard to the man, is the hair. We all believe that the men, the brethren, were in the habit of wearing a covering besides the hair, and so they did; and that was what the apostles did not want them to wear. We might say a little more about our idea in regard to the man's head covering, but we will not, for two reasons, one for the want of space; and the other reason is this, I heard a good old brother say once that it is not always best to say everything we know all at once. Let this suffice for the man, and read further to see how we read in regard to the covering of the woman. We will quote the apostle's language: "Every woman that prayeth or prophesieth with her head uncovered, dishonoreth her head." Now, before I go any further, I will say that I have three logical reasons for the woman to have a covering besides that of the hair in time of prayer, and, too, why she ought to have it always upon her head, as much as it possibly lies in her power.

I present as my first reason that if she has no covering but the hair, in time of prayer, she dishonors man; yea, she puts shame upon him. "But," says one, "Bro. Kline, we do not read such a thing at all." Hold on, brother or sister, we want to come back to our text and think, How readest thou? We are looking in the eleventh chapter of first Corinthians, and we all read, "Every woman that prayeth or prophesieth with her head uncovered dishonoreth her head." But now you say, Where is it said that she dishonors man? Precedent to that the apostle says that the head of the woman is the man. Is not the problem solved now, and does she not dishonor man when she dishonors her head? Certainly she does. That is my first reason for a covering. "But," says some one, "you have not proved it yet." Well, we will see how thou readest further on. In the same verse that the apostle talks about the dishonor that the woman puts upon her head while praying uncovered, he also says that it is even all one as if she were shorn or shaven. Read Bro. Daniel Vaniman's tract, "The House We Live in." I think that is proof enough. You can never get the hair as the covering (talked of by the apostle), out of the "as if she were shorn or shaven." There never was reality in the "as if," and there never will be.

I assign as my second reason, that she ought to wear a covering in time of services, because she is in duty bound to have her hair cut off if she does not; and, brethren and sisters, I would rather have her wear the covering than cut her hair off; yes, by far. "But," say a good many, "we cannot see that duty enjoined upon you." Well, I take that from the German Bible; and I think I have a right to. I will tell you why. Luther was a master of different languages; but, for all that, we believe that he understood his own the best, and consequently he could make the translation the best in his own. That we perceive by experience. But now let that suffice as far as the second reason is concerned. In the German it says:

"But if she (the woman) will not cover herself, some one should also cut her hair off." That is plain. There is another point yet untouched, and a good one, too; but we will go on and give a third reason. That is because of the power which the apostle says she shall have on her head, because of the angels. "Because man is not of the woman, but the woman of the man,—neither was the man created for the woman, but the woman for the man." For this cause she ought to have power upon her head, because of the angels. What angel? We might call it the guardian angel, which every woman and man hath; the one watching over them continually, whether good or bad. She shall have that covering upon her head so that the watch or guardian angel can exert his power over her; so that man can not bring the evil things upon her which are contrary to God's will.

First reason why she should have it always, day and night (I will shorten as much as I can), and it is this in short; I believe that the respective angels are willing to be at their posts all the time and protect the woman, and, consequently, she must have that covering, which is the power, all the time. If there was space I could give you a noble illustration of a young sister, in regard to the cap as the power upon her head.

My second reason is because the Savior says we should watch and pray, for we know not when our Lord cometh.

In conclusion I will say that a lady once told me that my wife would wear a double cover. Let me tell you, sisters, with a heart full of love, that the apostle does not condemn a woman if she comes and has her bonnet on top of her prayer covering; but he condemned the one that does not have any on. The Brotherhood has decided what it shall be and, thank God, they did not decide upon something red, or blue, or black, but white, the emblem of purity, the emblem of peace.

If any brother has something better upon this subject, let him give it. We need it. If the covering is lost sight of and the hat takes its place, where will we stand? Will we be the right church? He that offends in one point will be guilty of all. Encourage the sisters, young and old, who are willing to wear the white cap! You are great missionaries when you get out into the world, where the tabernacle is not yet erected.

DOING GOOD.

BY REUBEN SHROYER.

THE Lord Jesus Christ, our adorable Savior, had glory with the Father before the world was, but he laid aside that glory and came into our world on an errand of love. Very little is known of his early life. What we do know may be summed up in a few words. He was strong in spirit, he was filled with wisdom. When he was twelve years old he sat in the temple with the Jewish doctors and asked questions that astonished all who heard him. He was obedient to his parents and he grew in wisdom and stature and in favor with God and man. Luke 2: 40–52. But after he entered on his public ministry he went about doing good. Matt. 3: 16, 17.

Let us consider his conduct in the walks of life. We are told he went about doing good. How true! He opened the eyes of the blind; he gave hearing to the deaf, and he raised the dead. Matt. 11: 5. Those miracles were truly benevolent; they promoted human comfort and they pointed out the saving power of our glorious Redeemer. We also find that he instructed the ignorant in the essential doctrines and duties of life. Matt. 5: 1, 2; Luke 19: 47; John 8: 2. He also reproved the guilty and warned the careless, so that they might mend their ways and turn to God by repentance. Matt. 23: 13–31. He bound up the broken-hearted, he proclaimed liberty to the captives, the opening of the prison to them that were bound, strengthened the weak and wavering, and comforted mourning penitents. Matt. 5: 4, 11, 28. When persons in want applied to him for help he granted their requests and sent them away rejoicing. He did not wait for such opportunities but the sacred Word tells us that he came to seek and save that which was lost. Luke 19: 10.

Dear reader, here is something worthy of careful examination. He went about doing good. We are too much inclined to sit down, fold our arms, and wait for an opportunity to do something. This is all wrong. We should follow our Master's example and go about seeking opportunities to do good and, if this is done, plenty of such openings will be found, I assure you. The motives of our Blessed Master in doing good were pure and holy. The pressing wants and painful sufferings of men excited his pity and tender compassion and all his works were directed to the glory of his Father. John 13: 4. Thus should we be moved and work, as Paul tells us to do, for the glory of God, whether in eating or drinking, or whatsoever we do, do it for that purpose alone. But how widely different are the motives of many, in the exercise of charity, from those of our Savior! They seek the praise of men; HE sought the honor of God. They aim at their own glory; HE at his creatures' good. They are partial to a few; he was good to all.

Jesus went about doing good, and we who profess to be his followers must imitate him in that respect. But, says one, to whom must I do good? I answer, Objects of pity are continually thrown in our company. Our blessed Lord said upon ONE occasion, "The poor ye have with you always, and whensoever ye will, ye may do them good." How? By giving them what they need, out of your abundance.

I am now reminded of a circumstance that I heard related, which will impress the thought upon the mind. A Christian father, at one time, while engaging in prayer with his family, prayed earnestly that God would be merciful to the poor, and abundantly bless them in life and do them good. After prayer was ended, a little ten-year-old son of his said, "Father, I wish I had your corn-crib." "Why, my boy?" asked the father, "What would you do with it?" "I would answer your prayers," was the prompt reply. It is true we are all slow in giving of our means to those who are in want; yet, the Scriptures plainly teach that this is required of God's children.

Dear brethren, we should endeavor to imitate the conduct of Jesus. That we may do so, we should study the character and conduct of our great Exemplar. To this end we should carefully read his public discourses, examine his disposition, and weigh his conduct. These are infallible sources of information on this subject,—the ancient prophecies, the gospels, and the apostolical epistles. The prophets foretold his character, the evangelists have recorded it with simplicity, and the apostles have confirmed the whole. By this course of study we shall gain a clear, correct, and complete knowledge of the character of our Lord. Those who copy after his blessed example must have the mind which was in him. Phil. 2: 5. Without this there can be no successful imitation of his conduct, for the source of the outward action is in the inner man.

Having acquired the mind of Jesus, let us endeavor to imitate his conduct. We can not imitate his miracles, but we should endeavor to copy his benevolent actions. Let us go about seeking the sons and daughters of affliction, and when we find them in their abodes, let us pity them, and then let our pity be shown in acts of kindness. Feed the hungry, clothe the naked, instruct the ignorant, comfort the mourners, visit the sick, the fatherless and the widows. Jesus will reward these works of kindness as said in Matt. 25: 40. This conduct will please the Lord, who is good to all and whose tender mercies are over all his works. Psalms 65: 9. He blesses us that we may be a blessing to others. Gen. 12: 2. This conduct resembles that of angels, who came down from heaven on errands of love to the heirs of salvation, Heb. 1: 14, and has been practiced by the greatest and best of men in all ages. We have a perfect example in the conduct of our Savior, and we are bound by the most sacred ties to walk in his steps. 1 Pet. 2: 21. May the Lord enable us so to do, and, when life's work is done, may we find a seat at his right hand, there to ascribe all praise to him who has loved and redeemed us!

DID CHRIST EAT THE PASSOVER?

BY D. E. BURKHOLDER.

CHRIST did not eat what is commonly called the Jewish passover, the last year of his public ministry. It can be clearly proven from the evangelists that the night on which our Lord supped with his disciples, instituted feet-washing and the Communion, was not that on which the Jews celebrated, but the preceding evening which was on Thursday evening, but the Jews did not eat their passover lamb till the next night, Friday night, before which Christ was betrayed and crucified. He died about the ninth hour, or, according to our time, three o'clock in the afternoon.

Matthew and Mark call it a passover. Luke calls it a passover and then a supper. John speaks of a supper which Christ did eat with his disciples alone, and says, "Now, before the feast of the passover." It means the day before the passover, and the same supper which the other evangelists call the passover.

Other evidences are clear that Christ did not celebrate the Jewish passover. In the same night in which Christ instituted the new church or ordinances, on Thursday night, April 6, A. D. 33, Christ exhorts his disciples to brotherly love, and foretells Peter's denial of him. After they had sung a hymn, Christ and the eleven disciples retired to the Garden of Gethsemane, where Judas betrayed his Master with a kiss; afterwards Peter denied him. "Then when the morning was come (Friday morning, April 7, A. D. 33), all the chief priests and elders of the people took counsel against Jesus to put him to death." Matt. 27: 1. "And straightway in the morning the chief priests held a consultation with the elders and scribes and the whole council, and bound Jesus, and carried him away and delivered him to Pilate." Mark 15: 1. "And as soon as it was day the elders of the people and the chief priests and the scribes came together, and let him into their council." Luke 21: 66. Then led they Jesus from Caiaphas unto the hall of judgment, and it was early; and they themselves went not into the judgment hall, lest they should be defiled, but that they might eat the passover." John 18: 28. "Now at the feast (which the Jews were to observe that evening) the governor was wont to release a prisoner whom they would." Matt. 27: 15. Mark gives it about the same. "And I (Pilate) will therefore chastise him and release him; (for of necessity he must release one unto them at the feast)." Luke 23: 16, 17. "But ye have a custom that I should release unto you one at the passover; will ye therefore that I release unto you the king of the Jews? Then cried they again, saying, Not this man but Barabbas. Now Barabbas was a robber." John 18: 39-40. "Then released he Barabbas unto them; and when he had scourged Jesus, he delivered him to be crucified." Matt. 27: 26. "And it was the preparation of the passover, and about the sixth hour (our time from 11 to 12 o'clock A. M.), and he saith unto the Jews, Behold your king." John 19: 14.

Then the soldiers took Jesus and led him away to be crucified. After Jesus was crucified and dead, Joseph of Arimathea, went to Pilate and begged the body of Jesus. "And now when the even was come, because it was the preparation, that is the day before the Sabbath," that is before the passover Sabbath." Mark 15: 42. "And that day was the preparation, and the Sabbath drew on." Luke 23: 54. "The Jews, therefore, because it was the preparation that the bodies should not remain upon the cross on the Sabbath day (for that Sabbath day was a high day) besought Pilate that their legs might be broken, and that they might be taken away." John 19: 31.

This was the even on which the Jews partook of the passover lamb. The next day was the Jewish Sabbath (or our Saturday, April 8, A. D. 33). This Jewish Sabbath was the day the chief priests and Pharisees came to Pilate, telling him how the deceiver said, "After three days I will rise again," and that he should make the grave secure. Pilate told them to do so. They did and thought it was sure. "When the Jewish Sabbath was past, and very early in the morning, the first of the week" (or our Sabbath, April 9, A. D. 33), Christ had risen from the grave; his words came true when he said he would rise, and he did.

Now the Scriptures are plain on this subject, and can not be taken in any other form without doing the greatest violence to God's Word, to say that Christ did eat the passover, and then instituted the Lord's supper with bread and wine.

Huntingdon, Pa.

FOREVER!

BY MATILDA SCHUBER.

MEN and women, existence on earth is transitory indeed! We have only time enough given to prepare for death! Some of us may live only a few days or months or years; others may, by reason of strength, reach fourscore years; yet these years pass by swiftly, and we are hurried off the stage of life. The Omniscient God alone knows how long we have to live. He has, in his infinite wisdom, kept it hid from us!

We are taught there is within us an immortal principle,—"a spark from the essence of Deity,—the living soul,—which shall exist forever. Forever! Oh, how terrible the thought of being dragged by howling fiends into a lake of fire which burns forever! Dear sinner, stop for a moment, as you read these lines and reflect on your danger! Your life is in peril every day, yea, every hour and every moment. He suffered and died to redeem you, and is now in heaven, interceding for your soul? Why will you slight his proffered mercies, and die, when pardon is so free? Would it not be better to forsake your sins, trust in God and live forever? Think of being confined in everlasting, unquenchable fire, with never a drop of water to cool your parched tongue! There is no possible chance of escape from that horrible pit. Fierce demons and hateful spirits are its inhabitants forever.

We turn from the sad portrayal of the sufferings of a lost soul, and wander in imagination to the shining portals of heaven. There we behold redeemed spirits, clothed in robes of immortality. They wear starry crowns and garments of the purest white. They play on golden harps, and sing the song of Moses and the Lamb. They stayed not long on earth, but they prepare to die, and now they live again! There they will never grow old! Immortal youth, perpetual health is theirs. They wander by crystal streams of living water; they rest under the shade of beautiful trees, and gather ambrosial fruits forever and forever. These are they that have washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb. Dear sinner, Christ has prepared a mansion in that happy place for you! He is waiting to receive you to himself. He only asks you to repent and leave your sins behind. But if you continue in sin till death overtakes you, eternal punishment will be your doom. To-day you may obtain pardon, to-morrow may be too late! Many retire to rest at night in robust health and never greet the rising sun. Many are stricken down without a moment's warning; hence the importance of preparing! God grant that all who read this may make the necessary preparation and be received into mansions of eternal glory, there to dwell in happiness forever!

Alvada, Ohio.

THE LOVE-FEAST.

BY A. FLORY.

"For the law having a shadow of good things to come."—Heb. 10: 7.

ALL the burnt offerings and sacrifices under the law reached their end at the death of Christ. Heb. 10: 9, but all the eternal ordinances of the Gospel of Christ still have their type and shadow under the law, and will reach their end at the second coming of Christ, with the exception of the feast of charity, the Lord's Supper. This reaches much further. Baptism, by burying or dipping, has its shadow under the old covenant. For example turn to 2 Kings 5: 14. There you will find that Naaman, in order to be cleansed from his leprosy, dipped himself seven times in Jordan, and his leprosy was healed.

For the example in feet-washing turn to Ex. 30: 21, "So they shall wash their hands and their feet that they die not."

"The bread and the wine have their type under the law." "The drink offering thereof shall be of wine, the fourth part of a hin." Lev. 23: 13. "Ye shall bring out of your habitation two wave loaves of two tenth deals: they shall be of fine flour; they shall be baken with leaven." Lev. 23: 17.

The kiss of charity has its shadow under the law. Jonathan and David kissed each other. 1 Sam. 20: 41. Moses and Aaron did likewise. Ex. 4: 27.

Anointing with oil has its type under the old covenant. "Then shalt thou take the anointing oil and pour it upon his head, and anoint him." Ex. 29: 7.

The supper which Christ ate with his disciples, recorded in John 13, has its shadow under the law, when they roasted the passover with fire, according to the ordinance, but the other holy offerings they prepared in pots and caldrons, and divided them speedily among the people. 2 Chron. 35: 13. This is the feast spoken of by Luke 22: 1. It is the sacrifice of the Lord's passover. Ex. 12: 27. The lamb that was killed and roasted on that occasion passed away with all other sacrifices, but the other holy offerings are a type of the supper Christ ate with his disciples on the night of his betrayal.

All the external ordinances of Christ and his apostles had their beginning under the law, and they must all be obeyed by his church. If the feast is not necessary, the bread and the wine are of no use, and if one is necessary, the others are likewise. All these will end at the coming of Christ except the Lord's Supper,—the feast of charity. This reaches from the land of Israel clear across the broad river of death into heaven itself, for Christ said, "I say unto you, I will not any more eat thereof, until it be fulfilled in the kingdom of God." Luke 22: 16. We have this comforting assurance, "Blessed are they which are called unto the marriage supper of the Lamb." Rev. 19: 9.

It matters not, dear reader, where you are stationed, whether in the pew or in the pulpit, if you have offended God's holy laws, you had better go to work and start out anew. It will not do to say that the Lord's Supper is only an old Jewish rite. Remember, Paul said, "Let us keep the feast." "I must by all means keep the feast at Jerusalem." Let us never doubt the propriety of keeping the feast. We can not do without it. If we refuse to keep it here, we will not be permitted to keep it after we cross the river. At that feast all the saints will surround Christ's table, and it will be a feast of fat things, a grand jubilee. It will be a grand reunion. Then we will not need baptism,—we will not need feet-washing, nor other ordinances, but the love-feast we will still need. We have a description of the magnitude and grandeur of the city in the Book of Revelation, but what the feast will be, God has never revealed; "eye has not seen nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man the things which God hath prepared for them that love him." 1 Cor. 2: 9.

HAVE FAITH IN GOD.

BY GEORGE L. JENNINGS.

THERE has been considerable said on the subject of prayer, yet I think there can not be too much said in regard to this important part of our Christian duty. We can read of many precious promises in the Bible that God has meant for us, not for those only that were on earth when Christ was here in the likeness of man, when he healed the sick, the blind, and the lame.

To you, poor, troubled Christian, God has said, Know that the Lord, thy God, he is good, he is a faithful God which keepeth covenant and mercy with them that love him and keep his commandments, to a thousand generations. Has he not said, "My word shall stand forever and my faithfulness shall not fail"? We are too apt to think God did not mean us.

Let us pray for more faith. Then, when we have asked God in the name of Jesus Christ, we can feel assured that our prayers are heard.

But while we may have faith in God, we must also expect to have our faith tried. Remember, God can not lie. He does not slumber nor sleep. He will not forsake you as long as you do not forsake him. Was there ever a Christian who faithfully trusted the Lord in vain? When your prayers are answered, do not fail to give God the honor. Tell it to others and encourage them to put their trust where it need fear no betrayal.

Is there a sinner in distress who has never trusted in the Heavenly Friend. You do not know where to look for help. Look to Jesus! Give him your heart forever! Then you can always look to those words as meant for you, "Call upon me in the day of trouble and I will deliver thee, and thou shalt glorify me."

There are many words and promises and we should remember this also, "Thy will be done."

LET us take care how we speak of those who have fallen on life's field. Help them up; do not heap scorn upon them. We do not see the conflict; we do not know the wound.

LIVES OF THE CÆSARS.

BY W. H. ROOSE.

Number Six.—Cæsar.

THE Roman army grew tired of this barbarous island, and they induced Cæsar to return to a "sunnier clime," carrying a few savages with him to show at Rome both as curiosities and trophies of conquest. When Cæsar returned home he wrote a book telling of all his victories and conquests. It is said by those who understand Latin that it is masterly in style, and rich in scholarship; the book is known as "Cæsar's Commentaries."

In the times of Cæsar the composing of books was not so common as it is now. The writing of a letter then was almost of as much importance as the writing of a book now. Writing was invented long before Cæsar's time, for the Lord wrote the commandments on two tables of stone, and it was read by Moses and the priests. Moses wrote the history of the creation, and the transactions of the kings and princes were recorded in writing. The prophets wrote their visions and their communications with the Lord; thus you see there were several books before Solomon's time. He thought "of making books there is no end." In Cæsar's time the number of books had increased, but they were far more valuable than now, as it took years of toil to obtain a book they wished. They had no paper then, but had to write on prepared skins of goats, or other animals, which was called parchment. Only the richest ever thought of writing letters to absent friends as we do, and I venture to say that the majority of you have a larger collection of books than even the wealthy class of Rome. Another convenience they never enjoyed is the post-office and mail coach, or cars; when a person left home he was seldom heard from until his return.

Shortly after this the Barbarians, whom Cæsar had conquered, rose up against him, and had it not been for the "eternal vigilance" of Cæsar, they would have overpowered him. No general ever marched so rapidly as Cæsar. Even the darkness of night had but little power in retarding his movements. His soldiers carried him on his bed while he slept. They destroyed all the castles and towns on the way to meet the Barbarians. At one town the number of soldiers were about the same in number as the Romans, and were as determined in the defense as Cæsar was in the siege. Cæsar was so intent upon their capture, that a re-inforcement of three hundred thousand was coming up in his rear, unnoticed by him. Cæsar saw that he would be in great danger of being cut to pieces if the two armies would attack him, but he slyly withdrew the bravest of his men, and left the rest where the tents were, so that the Barbarians would think they were there yet. Then he slipped around and conquered his enemies.

This battle was fought but a short distance from the town, but those in the town knew nothing of the slaughter, until they saw the Romans carrying the gold and silver shields worn by their brethren. Their cries at this sight were pitiful and beseeching.

Such a battle in our times could be heard for more then ten miles, but they fought with swords and javelins. Many centuries after this, gunpowder was invented by a monk. He little thought when he was teaching others the science of making it that it was an improved means in the hands of murderers by which they might take the lives of millions of people. The conquered general made a surrender to Cæsar. He rode a handsome horse, and it was richly ornamented. The general rode around Cæsar several times, then dismounted, threw off his armor and prostrated himself at Cæsar's feet. A merciful man would have pardoned the humbled man, but Cæsar cruelly ordered him to be carried to Rome, and be imprisoned until he could make a display of him, as also the other prisoners and the spoils of all his victories, at his earliest opportunity.

While preparations for this grand pageant were being made, Cæsar's daughter, Julia, Pompey's wife, died. The people of Rome, in order to show their reverence for Cæsar, desired to bury her with all the pomp and splendor at their command. Cæsar had won all the battles he fought, which made him a great man, yet there was a greater man than Cæsar in the person of Pompey. He was a very kind and considerate husband of Julia. He had been very kind to Cæsar, and he thought little that Cæsar's friendship would turn against him, but Cæsar had been premeditating Pompey's removal for some time. You know Solomon says, "The wicked worketh a deceitful work." When people become ambitious for honor, they do not like to have any superiors. They envy the distinctions they do not enjoy. It is equally so regarding wealth. Oftentimes men covet the honestly-earned possession of the homes of their neighbors, and secretly manage to get possession. It is wrong, sinful.

Cæsar could not find any just cause or excuse for a quarrel with Pompey, but his dealings with him were those of rudeness and ingratitude. He sent back all the soldiers he had borrowed of Pompey, and gave each one a nice sum of money, hoping to win the soldiers' preference and love for himself. These acts returned the desired fruit, as it produced great dissensions among the people of Rome. The rich men and senators preferred Pompey, while the poorer classes preferred Cæsar. Cæsar's friends wished to do him honor in his absence by crowning his friend, Carlo, with flowers. This so enraged Pompey and his friends that they would have killed Carlo, had he not attired himself in a slave's garb, hired a carriage, and escaped.

The situation became so serious that many people were afraid to stay at Rome, while many considered it such a public calamity or misfortune that they wore clothes of mourning. Cæsar was with his army when he heard of the condition of affairs at Rome, and could not go and leave the army. He did not want to trust the management of his interests to his friends, as many of us would have done. He thought nothing could be done so well as if he could be at the head. Do you not think you have seen many people in later times who possessed much the same spirit? When you are hunting for such a person, be careful not to look at "ME."

Finally, after having considered the matter carefully, Cæsar decided to go to Rome, hoping that a sufficient number of friends would be there to defend his cause and destroy Pompey and his party entirely.

Cæsar did not want his soldiers to know he intended to go to Rome, and in order to keep it a secret, he made a feast, and told them to continue the feast till he returned. They could not have done so, for Cæsar never returned. He was soon on his way to Rome, accompanied by three hundred soldiers on horseback. On arriving at the banks of the Rubicon river, he hesitated. He had not until then considered the risk he was running in returning to Rome without consent of the Senate, and the opposition he had to meet in Pompey and his forces. The more he thought of it, the more dangerous it appeared, but his courage overcame him, and he said, "The die is cast," and proceeded on. No doubt you have often heard people say, before venturing upon a hazardous enterprise, "Shall I cross the Rubicon?" It has reference to the boldness of Cæsar on this occasion.

PURE AND UNDEFILED RELIGION.

BY FLORIDA J. E. ETTER.

JAMES describes to us the nature of pure and undefiled religion. Does this include all? What constitutes pure religion? We must keep ourselves unspotted from the world.

There is much that tends to contaminate our minds, and disqualify us for any spiritual good. We say we are professors of religion, but, to test the matter, are we possessors? We can profess as much as we please, but unless we are possessors too, it availeth nothing. To prove that we are possessors, do we live up to our vows? We have promised to renounce the devil and all of his works. To do this effectually, we must watch,—at all times "resist the devil and he will flee from us."

Satan goeth around like a roaring lion, seeking whom he may devour! This is our first cross. We see many things in which we formerly engaged,—things that we loved. Such things are not for the Christian, and unless you are very careful, your comrades will lead you there again. They will say, "There is no harm in it," and make you believe it. You may not intend or mean any wrong, but before you realize it, you are led off and your condition will be worse than it was at first.

We are to keep ourselves pure and unspotted from the world. We are to be a light. If we are possessors, we will not heed their calls, and God, whose promises can not fail, is sure to be with us and help us to resist the temptations.

Let us prove ourselves by our actions! Let our religion be pure and genuine,—true from the heart! Let us study to show ourselves as workmen for Christ. If our religion were more from the heart, there would be more good accomplished! We can not serve Christ and the devil too! If we expect to be engaged with the world in its amusements, we are sure to lose our spiritual influence for good, and the greatest calamity that will befall us, is, we will be eternally lost! What more can we expect? Nothing, all is over. Too late, will be the cry! Jesus of Nazareth has passed by. No hope! All is WOE!

Let us, who embrace the religion of Jesus, try to be his faithful followers! We know not what he has prepared for those who love him and keep his commandments.

Let us not go to extremes on some things and let the others go. Let us obey all of Christ's commands. "Happy are ye if ye know these things and do them." We find enough laid down in his blessed Word to encourage us on our journey. "Be faithful," is my fervent prayer, that we may all meet "over there."

"I know dark clouds will gather round me.
I know my road is rough and steep,
Yet beauteous fields lie just before me,
Where God's redeemed their vigils keep."

WORKING WHILE IT IS DAY.

BY J. H. MILLER.

THIS is a Bible phrase. We read, "Work while it is called to-day." How should we work?

In our Christian work we should have a form, but not become formal, so that our prayers lose not their strength, and God withholds his blessing. In all ages God commanded his children to pray,—not only to pray, but he taught them how to pray. A Christian's prayer should be short and to the point,—only asking God for what we need. I see that in some localities some of our young people do not bow in prayer. They tell us the prayers are so long; they get tired of bowing so long upon their knees. One brother told me he timed a prayer offered by one, that took fifteen minutes. No wonder people get tired. If the Lord would answer our prayers as we present them unto him, I presume some of us would perish. When Peter was walking on the water, he saw that the wind was boisterous. He was afraid, and, beginning to sink, he cried saying, "Lord save me." Jesus stretched forth his hand and saved Peter. If Peter had made his prayers and petitions so long as we do sometimes, he would have gone down to the bottom of the sea, and perished. Jesus was willing to help him as soon as he knew Peter's wants, or as soon as Peter could call for help. Jesus is always willing to help us, if we ask in faith believing. "Ask and ye shall receive."

Jesus instructs us that when we pray we use no vain repetitions as the heathen do, for they think that they shall be heard for their much speaking. Much speaking is equal to long prayers. Solomon tells us, "Let thy words be few." Eccl. 5: 2. Jonah's prayer is found in the second chapter of his book and contains eight verses. It concludes by saying, "Salvation is of the Lord." God heard his prayer and answered by speaking to the fish. Only a few words were necessary. The fish understood it all. Jonah came forth and was willing to work for God.

Christ commanded his disciples how to pray, by saying, "Our Father which art in heaven," etc. This is the most comprehensive prayer in the Bible. In a few words all our needs and wants are brought before God in a plain and comprehensive way. Jesus suffered more than any man ever could have suffered, and, while in the Garden of Gethsemane, he prayed, "O, my Father, if it be possible let this cup pass from me, nevertheless not as I will, but as thou wilt." This prayer was short, but there was power in his words. Christ was willing to leave it all to his Heavenly Father. So should we pray.

When Jesus was upon the cross he said, "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me." Oh, how tenderly he calls to God for help. In a few words he submits it all and is satisfied. So let us imitate our Savior! I am sure it will promote our good!

Jesus upon the cross prayed, "Father, forgive them for they know not what they do." This was in behalf of his enemies. God understood it. When he yielded up the ghost, he said, "Father, into thy hands I commend my spirit." In reading my Bible, I get the idea from those short prayers offered by Christ, that we should imitate them as much as we can. Christ says, "I am the way, the truth, and the life, and no man cometh unto the Father but by me." Jesus, in John 17, prayed a beautiful prayer,—one that concerned him and God mostly. It was for that union and harmony that should exist amongst his followers. This prayer did not exceed perhaps over four minutes of time.

David would offer his prayers three times a day (Psalms 55: 17), and so would Daniel. Dan. 6: 10. Peter and John went up to the temple at the hour of prayer. In all ages of the world God's children had their stated times for prayer. We find Christ in the mountain all night, engaged in prayer to God. Matthew tells us he was there alone. Matt. 14: 23. This, however, was a private matter, and no congregation was there to kneel with him.

Paul tells us to "pray without ceasing." 1 Thess. 5: 17. Do we understand that we should do nothing but pray all the time? True, indeed, we should love a praying mind, and not forget our devotions to God. The apostle would have us to observe stated times and seasons for prayer. We live by eating. "Pray without ceasing," is like the phrase, "Eat without ceasing." We do not eat all the time, but have our stated times for our meals. So with our praying.

It becomes us all, as Christian workers, to make our meetings as interesting as possible, and have all of the brethren and sisters take part in the work.

WOMAN'S LIFE.

BY SARAH M. SAUNDERS.

"In swaddling clothes behold the bud
Of sweet and gentle womanhood."

An infant upon her mother's bosom is the embodiment of helpless innocence and confiding trust. In a very few years she develops into childhood and that innate maternal instinct shows itself in her care for household pets. Almost imperceptibly she is next transformed into womanhood. In a few fleeting years from the cradle she assumes the great and responsible position in life of wife and mother, which brings to her the weal and woe incident to this life. As a wife she is expected to be a companion and help-meet for man. As mother she is the confidant of all the joys and sorrows of her children. In her they find a balm for all their sorrows, a cure for all their ailments. One kiss from mother will heal their wounds, drive away their fears, and dry their tears. To her they look for advice and counsel in all their childish cares.

As the children grow to mature years, a mother is their best and truest friend. She will hide their faults and find excuses for their waywardness which no other one can. She must bear with all their follies and foibles, and though her heart may almost break with sorrow, her brow must beam with smiles, for the world does not like to see our hearts "on our sleeves," it is said.

As woman slowly descends the declivity of time, she looks forward to the time when she can lay aside mortality and rest in peace at home, when all the toils, cares, and sorrows of this life shall be past!

Landess, Ind.

WONDERFUL.

BY C. H. BALSBAUGH.

To Florida J. E. Etter,

Beloved Sister:—

Your unlooked-for, precious Heaven-freighted letter is here. Nothing reads so extravagant to the dull-souled, cold-hearted, as the honest exuberance of Love. This Divine monosyllable can be rightly pronounced only on the cross. At the foot of the cross is not near enough to God to spell the name which is above every name. We must be crucified with Him before we can know Him and be like Him. You tell me of a great work God has given you to do. To wash dishes and darn stockings become divine and sublime in Him. Many so-called Christians have a most effectual way of hiding Christ from those around them. Our nearness to God by faith in Christ, is the unity of personality itself. God in the flesh means not only proximity, but identity. Emmanuel is not only a coming nigh, but a becoming. To be a Christian is not imitating a Model, but living the very life of that exemplar. The Law says do and live; and failure is the necessary consequence. The Gospel says, believe and love, and work, thus making salvation a gift in order to make it also in a sense a reward.

Christ was never known other than Christ. He was God-generated, God-developed, God-sustained, God perfected, very God in our nature and circumstances. He never had a heart-beat, a breath, made a step, moved a finger, shoved a plane, handled saw or hammer, save as Godman. This is the true idea and sober fact of being born of God, Christed, saved. His Name is wonderful, because He is what He is. And what He is His Elect are. Did we believe, remember, exemplify this, we would indeed be a peculiar people. The peculiarity we may boast of is far too shallow and lifeless, and impotent to verify the high claims of sainthood. Ecce Homo! This is God's challenge to earth, and Hell, and Heaven respecting His only Son and His many sons. If our life in its essence and expression does not spell God, Love, Holiness, Righteousness, Truth, Peace, Joy in the Holy Ghost, it is not the Life that Jesus lived, and gives to faith.

Is not the High calling of God in Christ Jesus high enough to satisfy the most towering ambition that ever possessed a human heart? It is because we have eyes and see not, ears and hear not, hearts and understand not, that we have so little power over the flesh, the world, and the devil, and give such feeble, fluctuating evidence of our participation in the incarnation and universal heirship of Jehovah-Jesus. The whole reservoir of Divine Infinitude is open to the humblest soul that is simple and unselfish enough to take it on the terms of the Cross. Paul sums it all up thus: "Christ liveth in me: the life I now live in the flesh, I live by the faith of the Son of God." Not faith in, but the faith of. This is the mighty secret of power over the Gates of Hell, both in the inner and outer kingdom. Work bravely for Jesus, my dear sister, but every moment live and work in consciousness of that little "by" in John 6: 57. This alone means victory and eternal glory.

Union Deposit, Pa.

A FEW REMARKS ON PRAYER.

BY J. T. ELLIS.

We notice an article in Messenger page 339, by sister Sarah Saunders, on "Prayer." She calls our mind to the time when the disciples of Christ asked him to teach them how to pray as John taught his disciples to pray. This opens up a large subject,—one that should be studied by all of God's children. It seems to me as it does to our sister, that we do not fully realize the great importance of our approach to God,—the Fountain of all good, for we do not act in accordance with our petitions.

The Savior says, "Avoid vain repetitions as the heathen do." This teaches us that we should ask for just what we need, and when we ask we should always act in accordance with our petitions. We should not say, "Our Father in heaven," without realizing that he is what we call him. By this we acknowledge him to be the Great Fountain of all good. Sacred should be that name to all the children of Christ, for there is no other name whereby we can be saved, only in the name of Christ.

When we say, "Thy kingdom come thy will be done on earth as in heaven," do we realize this in all times and all places? Can anybody repeat this and act in accordance with the petition, and go and vote in favor of the saloon system of our country? No, it would take out of our country every saloon, and make earth a type of heaven. Every Christian should act as he prays. Brethren, consider this matter, and act likewise!

Whoever looks for a friend without imperfections will never find what he seeks. We love ourselves with all our faults, and we ought to love our friends in like matter.

The Gospel Messenger,

A Weekly at $1 50 Per Annum.

PUBLISHED BY

The Brethren's Publishing Co.

D. L. MILLER, - - - - Office Editor.

J. B. BRUMBAUGH, / J. G. ROYER. \ - - - - Assistant Editors.

JOSEPH AMICK, - - - Business Manager.

Mount Morris, Ill., - - - - June 25, 1889.

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

Our Annual Meeting.

(Continued from First Page.)

Gospel to every living creature. So we are God-sent, and just as certain as God sends us, will we carry God's message to the people. The laity may say, "Our hands are tied, we can not preach." The sisters may say, "Our hands are tied, we can not preach." But I tell you your hands are not tied. You can not preach the Word, but you can furnish the means to send out some one else to preach God's Truth and bring souls to Christ, and in doing this you may add many gems to your crown of glory.

Our dear old brother, John Metzger, who is now over fourscore years old, but whose heart is as warm and as zealous as ever in the work of the church, said he would like to talk the Missionary and Tract Work into the hearts of every brother and sister in our entire Brotherhood. He asked, "Where does the missionary spirit come from? Where do we get our strong desire for the salvation of souls? I tell you, brethren and sisters, it comes from the Lord Jesus Christ." He had this spirit and he has given it to us. He tells us to go and preach his Word, and that is what we want to do. We must make sacrifices. Starving souls are crying for help, asking for the Bread of Life, and shall their cries go unheeded? Here is work for us all to do. Will we do it? "I have worked these many years and intend to work as long as God is willing, but I don't want all the reward myself. I want all of you to share it with me. I want to meet you all in heaven when our work is done here below. Then our reward will be as our works have been."

Bro. J. C. Lahman, of Illinois, who is to take up the missionary work in Washington Territory, was the last speaker. He spoke of the importance of the work, and said it was a grand privilege to speak in this great Tabernacle to the large audience on this great question. What we need is less theory and more practical work. We need to get down to solid work and make a determined effort to move along the whole line. Christ said, "My Father worketh hitherto and I work." In this great work we MUST all take our part. I can not do your work; you can not do mine. We must each act well our part. Shall the ministers bear the burdens all alone? No, we must all take hold with a will and a determination to do our part. The ministers go out and preach the Word, and they must not bear the burden alone. The tracts open the way for the missionary. The work started in Denmark was the result of a tract. We need to look after this work too, and encourage it. Bro. Lahman then read one of the Brethren's cards as follows:

"Be it known unto all men, that there is a people who, as little children, accept the Word of the New Testament as a message from heaven; who teach it in all its fulness, baptize believers by a trine immersion, with a forward action, and for the remission of sins; who lay hands on those baptized, asking upon them the gift of the Spirit of God; who follow the command and example of Jesus in washing one another's feet; in taking the Lord's Supper at night, and at one and the same time; in greeting one another with a holy kiss; and in taking the communion or sacrament at night, after supper, as did the Lord, and tarrying one for another; who teach the doctrines of Christ, peace, love and unity, both of faith and works; non-conformity to the world in its vain and wicked customs; non-swearing; anti-secretism; doing good unto all men; the anointing and laying on of hands on the sick; and the giving of the Word of Life, the common salvation, unto all men without money or price.

Dear reader, for the above we contend and earnestly, and you, with all men, are invited to hear, to examine and to say whether this be the faith once delivered to the saints or not."

This can be sent out for less than one-fourth of a cent, and who can tell the good that it may do! Don't forget the Tract Work. Remember, what you give to the Lord is saved, and the Lord loveth a cheerful giver. The meeting was closed by Bro. Isaac Frantz, of Ohio, who exhorted all to take part in this great work of the church.

We felt that this was one among the best meetings held in the Tabernacle, and we thought what a good thing it would be if every brother and sister in our great Brotherhood could have been there, and heard the earnest, ringing speeches made, and entered fully into the Spirit of the meeting. We believe could this have been possible, that the contributions to the Mission and Tract Work would more than double for the next year. The missionary and tract meetings are an admirable feature of Annual Meetings. The brethren who speak are for the most part old in experience, and are well qualified to give us needed instruction on these important questions. We express the hope that the interest in these meetings may be kept up, for they, undoubtedly, have a strong educational influence upon us as a church.

Monday evening Bro. M. J. McClure, of Illinois, preached in the Tabernacle, and Bro. I. J. Rosenberger, G. L. Studebaker, W. R. Deeter, J. C. Murray, S. Z. Sharp, and Daniel Shively preached in Harrisonburg and vicinity.

Tuesday Morning, June 11.

At 8:30 a meeting of those interested in schools was held in the Tabernacle. A large audience was present. Bro. H. B. Brumbaugh reported the Huntingdon school in a flourishing condition. It was started in 1876 by Bro. J. M. Zuck, and the buildings now occupied were erected in 1878. During the thirteen years since the school was started, about two hundred students united with the church. Students in attendance last term one hundred and forty-three.

Bro. J. G. Royer gave a report of the Mt. Morris school. Two hundred and forty-five students enrolled during the year, and in the last five years about one hundred and fifty students united with the church. Of this number twenty united during the last year. The school is now closing one of its most prosperous years.

Bro. Crouch spoke for the Bridgewater school. It was founded in 1883, and the last year has been the most prosperous of its existence. One hundred and sixty students enrolled, sixteen of whom became members of the church.

Bro. S. Z. Sharp reported progress at the McPherson school. They have succeeded beyond their expectations. The first term opened in September 5, 1888, with sixty-one students, and closed with an enrollment of one hundred and twelve. During the year twenty-five students were added to the church. The College Association has paid over to the school $42,000.

Opening of the Conference.

At 9 A. M. the Standing Committee entered the Tabernacle, which was now crowded to its utmost capacity. There must have been nearly five thousand people in the building, and probably as many more on the grounds outside. The morning trains, as they came in, brought large accessions to the multitude, and there were about as many people on the ground as were present on the Lord's Day.

Bro. S. S. Mohler announced hymn 253, which the vast congregation joined in singing. It was an inspiring season of song service, and as the words, "I love thy kingdom, Lord," rang out all over the Tabernacle, we thought what a glorious time it will be when we can sing this same grand anthem with God's redeemed in heaven. Bro. Mohler said, "Surely nothing but love for the kingdom of God could have thus brought us together from all parts of the country." Bro. John Wise then invoked a throne of grace. The fifteenth chapter of Acts was then read, and, after making a short, appropriate address, the Moderator declared that the Conference was ready for business. Some little delay was occasioned at this point from the fact that the rules governing the deliberations of the meeting were not at hand. This, however, was remedied, and a recurrence of the difficulty was provided against by appointing, at the close of the meeting, a committee of three brethren to collect, prepare and have printed, rules for the Annual Meeting.

The first question to come before the conference was, "Can a district be represented on the Standing Committee by a brother not living in such district? This question arose from the fact that Bro. Chr. Hope, of Kansas, had been selected by the District of Denmark and Sweden as delegate on Standing Committee. It was decided that delegates for Standing Committee, who live outside the State District which chooses them, can only be admitted, when chosen by District Meetings in foreign countries.

The report of the Committee on the best manner of holding and controlling church property, was next presented. The Committe, J. C. Lahman, John Wise and Andrew Hutchison reported that they had consulted a competent attorney of Chicago. The opinion which covers all the points in the case was read. It is somewhat lengthy, and will appear at length in the full report of the meeting. It was decided, in accord with the opinion given, that the church should become incorporated under the name of "The German Baptist, or Brethren," and that five trustees be appointed to hold all church property not otherwise provided for. At a later stage of the meeting, the following brethren were named by the conference to serve as trustees, L. W. Teeter, Hagerstown, Ind.; S. R. Zug, Mastersonville, Pa.; H. C. Early, Meyerhoffer's Store, Va.; Henry Frantz, New Carlisle, Ohio, and H. C. Baker, Wisconsin. The property, now held for the church in Sweden and Denmark, and in this country, should be, after the trustees complete the incorporation, deeded in trust to the brethren for the church. We think this is a move in the right direction. Our church property in the past has been very loosely held, and this will settle the question of title to our real estate. Queries were now called for from the various State Districts, beginning with Virginia.

The first query referred to the riding habit worn by some of the sisters in Virginia, and it was answered by advising them to avoid superfluities, and to keep within the rules of the church in plainness and non-conformity to the world.

The second query asked whether the carrying of gold watches could be made a cause for church discipline. ANS.—1 Tim. 2: 9, and 1 Pet. 3: 3, are sufficiently clear on this subject to enforce discipline.

The third query referred to charges made against members at Annual Meeting, asking that no action be taken until the accused member is given an opportunity to explain. The Moderator ruled this query out of order on the ground that a proper explanation had not been given and that it referred to a matter that had not yet been settled. Exceptions were taken to the ruling, and after considerable discussion the Standing Committee voted twenty to eight to sustain the ruling of the Moderator.

Both Virginia and Illinois sent in queries asking that the elders see that at least one pastoral visit be paid to all the members at least once a year. These papers brought out an interesting discussion. A number of excellent speeches were made, showing the great advantages to be obtained from pastoral visits. The general sentiment was favorable to the papers and it was decided that elders should see to it that such pastoral visits be made.

The tobacco question came up in a query from Maryland and Northern Iowa and from Denmark. The first asked that Delegates to the Standing Committee be asked to abstain from the use of tobacco and the advice was given. The query from Iowa asks if it is wrong to elect and install ministers and deacons who use tobacco, is it not wrong for elders who use tobacco to officiate in such installment? The answer would indicate that it is not right for elders to do so. The Denmark queries referred to members working in tobacco manufactories, to buying and selling tobacco, and to its use in any form. The Conference placed itself squarely against tobacco in all of its forms, and strongly urged all our members to free themselves from it entirely. The last query on this subject with its answer, as it passed the Meeting, reads as follows: "Is it wrong to chew, snuff, or smoke tobacco in any form? If so, what shall be done with offending members?" ANS.—"It is wrong to use tobacco for any except medicinal purposes, and our members are urged to quit it."

The next query in order was read. "We, the brethren of the Oakland church, ask Annual Meeting through District Meeting of Western Maryland, if it is considered wrong for brethren to encourage Local Option or Prohibition and vote for the same. Passed by District Meeting. This query came to Annual Meeting without an answer and the Standing Committee put this answer to it: "IT IS NOT." The question with its answer was put before the Meeting. The sentiment was largely in favor of passing the paper with its answer. It was suggested that a rising vote be taken of the entire congregation. This was done and some temporary confusion resulted. The result showed that on this question there was a deep feeling in the assembly and it showed itself plainly. After securing order, and under the reaction that followed, the question was put again and failed to secure a two-thirds vote and was declared lost. This closed the first day's meeting.

Wednesday Morning, June 12.

During the preceding night considerable rain fell, and the attendance was at least one-half less than on the day before. The session opened at 8:30 P. M. The Missionary and Tract Work Committees submitted their respective reports which were read and accepted by the Meeting. Then Bro. B. C. Moomaw offered a resolution on the Temperance question which he withdrew when informed that the Standing Committee had a paper, covering the points in question, to submit to the Meeting. The following was then submitted: "Whereas, in the consideration of query No. 2, from Western Maryland there unfortunately obtained a misunderstanding among our brethren, producing very unsatisfactory results by creating a wrong impression as to our position on the subject of Temperance,—Therefore, Resolved that this Annual Meeting recommend that all our brethren carefully maintain our position against the use or tolerance of intoxicants, whether to manufacture, to sell, or use as a beverage, and to the extent of our influence contribute our part to secure practical prohibition, but that we may be advised against taking part in the public agitation of the subject. After some explanations were given, the resolution was unanimously passed by the Conference, and thus the matter was satisfactorily settled.

Queries relating to the term of office of the Tract Examining Committee and the Canada Mission were presented to the Meeting and it was decided to limit the time of the former to five years and in the latter to place the Canada Mission in the hands of the General Church Erection and Missionary Committee.

A very interesting discussion was now engaged in upon the query from Ohio, asking whether it is according to the Gospel for a local church to be represented at Annual Meeting by a sister as a delegate. A number of brethren took part in the discussion and this part of the full report will doubtless be read with much interest by our sisters. The answer which finally passed the Meeting says, "We cannot say that it is according to the Gospel to do so."

A query from North-western Ohio asking for the authority for those who are not elders to anoint the sick, was referred to Minutes of Annual Meeting, Art. 54, 1862; and one from Middle Indiana, asking that all direct charges against members must be in writing, signed by the person making them, was answered as follows: "Local churches may require such charges to be given in writing with the signature of the author."

Missouri sent in several queries. The first one looking to uniting the District and General Mission Work of the church was deferred one year. The second, referring to deposed ministers or deacons moving from one district to another was tabled, and the third with its answer, which reads as follows, was passed by the Conference:

"What is to be done with ministers who, in churches from home, cause offense by their manner of conducting meetings, of getting applicants for baptism, of instructing or receiving them into the church, or for causing offense in any other way, where is their offense to be corrected, and how? ANS.—The church where the offense was caused shall, with the aid of one or more faithful adjoining elders, take the testimony in writing and forward it to the church where such ministers live; also a copy of the testimony, with a statement of the offense, to a faithful adjoining elder to said church, who shall call to his assistance other elders, and go into that church and try him upon the testimony forwarded, according to the 2nd paragraph of Art. 4, 1882. If, however, a majority of the church where the offense was committed refuse to send the testimony against said minister, and fails to satisfy the minority that no cause of offense was given, then the testimony of the minority shall be taken and forwarded, as above provided But, should the adjoining elders fail or refuse to go into that church and try the minister, then said failure shall be reported to the Standing Committee, which, by consent of the Annual Meeting, shall appoint a committee to go into said church to act as provided by Art. 6, 1886. Approved by District Meeting."

The fourth, asking that a general R. R. agent be appointed, and that a brother living in the territory of each Passenger Association, be also appointed to secure R. R. rates for those desiring to attend Annual Meeting, was unanimously adopted, and the following brethren were appointed:—General Agent, D. L. Miller, Mt. Morris, Ill.; Trans-Missouri, John Wise, Conway Springs, Kansas; Western States, S. S. Mohler, Cornelia, Mo.; Central Association, J. G. Royer, Mt. Morris, Ill.; Trunk Line, E. W. Stoner, Union Bridge, Md.; Southern States, G. C. Bowman, Boone's Creek, Tennessee. Kansas asked that the elders use their influence in circulating our German paper, the Brüderbote, and the request was granted, and that in electing church officers a change be made from the plurality to the majority system. The Conference decided to make no change in this matter.

The District of Denmark and Sweden ask that a Danish or Swedish brother be sent to them to assist in the mission work in that country. The paper was referred to the General Committee with the recommendation that a brother be sent. The last query that came before the meeting was from Denmark, and related to receiving into the church those who have been baptized by trine immersion, by persons not members of our church. It was decided that they can not be received without being re-baptized. During the afternoon a heavy rain fell, making the Tabernacle a very uncomfortable place to be in. It was built over a low place, and the ground was soon covered with water, and from this time to the close of the meeting the ground floor was a veritable mud hole. We do not remember of ever having attended a meeting where the conditions in this respect were equally as bad.

Thursday morning, June 13, the rain and mud had the effect of lessening the crowd, but even with the unpleasant situation there were at least 4,000 people on the ground during the day.

The first business to come before the meeting was a paper from the General Missionary Committee, suggesting a plan for securing missionary workers. The paper was discussed to some extent, and then referred to the following committee with instructions to report at our next Annual Meeting: L. H. Dickey, D. B. Eby and S. H. Myers. The Committee on the divorce question reported that they did not have opportunity to consult on the subject, that they could not agree to their own satisfaction, and recommended that the question be deferred one year, and another committee be appointed.

The question was deferred and the same committee was appointed, with the exception of Bro. B. F. Moomaw, who, on account of age, asked to be relieved. His request was granted, and Bro. Isaac Long, of Virginia, appointed in his place.

Four requests were made for the next Annual Meeting—Kansas, Missouri, Iowa, and Indiana, each putting in a claim. It was decided that the Annual Meeting for 1890 shall be held with the Brethren in the Middle District of Missouri. The Moderator made a brief closing address and then called upon Bro. D. E. Price, of Illinois, who closed the meeting with devotional exercises, using hymn 115, "Once more before we part, we'll bless the Savior's name."

And so closed our great Annual Meeting of 1889. Its work is finished and the record is made, and we fondly hope that good to the cause of Christ may grow out of its labors. We shall have some further reflections to offer next week, as for the present our space is all occupied. D. L. M.

Special Notice.

WE made arrangements this year, at additional expense, to have the full report of the Annual Meeting printed at once. We are glad to say that it is now ready to send out. By the time this paper reaches our readers, all orders received at Annual Meeting will have been filled. We hope our brethren will generally order the report, so that we may not suffer a financial loss in getting it ready so soon after the close of the Meeting. Send in your orders at once. Price, per single copy, 25 cents, per dozen, $2.50. It will be noticed that the price per dozen has been reduced.

Missionary and Tract Work Department.

"Upon the first day of the week, let every one of you lay by him in store as God hath prospered him, that there be no gatherings when I come." 1 Cor 16. 2.

"Every man as he purposeth in his heart, so let him give. Not grudgingly or of necessity, for the Lord loveth a cheerful giver." 2 Cor. 9: 7.

HOW MUCH SHALL WE GIVE?

"Every man according to his ability." "Every one as God hath prospered him." "Every man, according as he purposeth in his heart, so let him give." "For if there be first a willing mind, it is accepted according to that a man hath, and not according to that he hath not." 2 Cor. 8: 12.

Organization of Missionary Committee.

DANIEL VANIMAN, Foreman, - - - Virden, Ill.
D. L. MILLER, Secretary and Treasurer, - Mt. Morris, Ill.
G. B. ROYER, Assistant Secretary, - - Mt. Morris, Ill.

Organization of Book and Tract Work.

S. W. HOOVER, Foreman, - - - Dayton, Ohio.
S. BOCK, Secretary and Treasurer, - - Dayton, Ohio.

☞ All donations intended for Missionary Work should be sent to D. L. MILLER, Mt. Morris, Ill.

☞ All money for Tract Work should be sent to S. BOCK, Dayton, Ohio.

☞ Money may be sent by Money Order, Registered Letter, or Drafts on New York or Chicago. Do not send personal checks, or drafts on interior towns, as it costs 25 cents to collect them.

☞ Solicitors are requested to faithfully carry out the plan of Annual Meeting, that all our members be solicited to contribute at least twice a year for the Mission and Tract Work of the Church.

☞ Notes for the Endowment Fund can be had by writing to the Secretary of either Work.

"As you learn, teach; as you get, give; as you receive, distribute.

"As certainly as your Master's love is in you, his work will be upon you."

"BUSY lives, like busy waters, are generally pure. Stagnant lives, like stagnant pools, breed corruption."

"TEMPTATION in the line of duty, God has provided for; but temptation sought and coveted, God has no provision for."

"THE question of reaching the masses is not of toleration of them in the church, or of welcome for them when they do come. But it is one of going out after them with laborious, urgent and compelling ardor. It is the question between the shepherd and his lost sheep,—a question of enduring, of sacrifice and of effort to bring back the lost one."

EXPLORATIONS among the ruins of Asia Minor are being carried on under the patronage of England and other European countries with many interesting and instructive results. Unfortunately for those who esteem themselves "wise above what is written" and reject the teachings of the Holy Scriptures, all these discoveries, when they bear on the subject at all, are confirmatory of the truth of those Scriptures.

AN exchange makes the following pertinent remark: "Many a man might make a better Christian of himself if he would consider the church as composed of a membership of which he is a sample. He gives no money; if others give no more, how will workers be supported, churches built, and missionaries be sustained? He does not work; if others be equally careless, how will the business of the congregation be attended to, and how will sinners and sluggish saints be brought under the power of the Gospel? He is half the time out of his pew on the Sabbath; if his brethren act in the same way, how will the ordinances of worship be sustained and public service be saved from sinking into a farce and sham?"

"MANY men speak easily in a good cause who give with great difficulty. That is a keen remark of the Abbe Roux, and justified by experience, that 'it is not as far from the heart to the mouth as it is from the mouth to the hand.'"

"SMALL DUTIES.—If the Kingdom of Heaven could be taken by some wonderful coup d'etat, many would be first that are now last, for it is not in the enthusiasm of actual conflict that the soldier is apt to fail. It is the forced marches, the long lonely watches, the dreary monotony of duties, whose weight is doubled by their sameness, that try of what manner of spirit he is. Of great deeds little account is to be made. They are indigenous in every condition of society. It is a great life that is never a failure, a great life composed of a multitude of small victories and small duties, of petty trials and hidden virtues, of little infirmities patiently borne, and little charges faithfully kept."

AN exchange asks: "Why do the masses neglect the churches?" That is an easy question to answer. The masses neglect the churches for the reason that the churches neglect the masses. The first and essential step toward Christianizing the masses in our centres of population is to Christianize the Christians. Until this is done, nothing else can be done that will be effective. While the churches remain pleasant and fashionable Sunday clubs whose sittings are sold to the highest bidder, and in which the worship is conducted in a fashionable manner that says to the poor, These are no places for you, the poor will stay away. Until Christians are willing to make their religion one of self-sacrifice, willing to worship on equal terms with the masses, they will have little influence in inducing them to come into the churches.

"YE CANNOT SERVE GOD AND MAMMON."

BY S. N. M'CANN.

The Poor Suffer for Lack of Means.

WE read in 1 John 3: 16 that we "ought to lay down our lives for the brethren." Christ said, "Ye have the poor always with you," and the church says, "We take care of them."

The Brethren have always professed that they take care of their poor, but are we doing what we profess? Do we not have a name to live, while we are dead on this subject? How often has our deadness been practically demonstrated in the past few years on this subject? How dare we preach that we do what we are failing to do? We can show a number of illustrations where brethren and sisters became a County charge,—cases where they had to be put into the poor-house or alms-house, or else suffer. Our hearts are filled with sadness to know that such is the case, but our sadness does not take away the wrong. Brethren and sisters getting more sympathy and care from the charities of the world than from the church! May our boasting tongues be dumb until more of the real spirit of Christ is practically seen! The bowels of compassion in the church shut up to a poor brother, suffering need, whilst the world opens hers and gives him what he needs! Where dwells the spirit of Christ most richly in such cases? We must remember, that professors of religion will come up in the last day, claiming admittance, only to be driven away, with the sad greeting, "I was an hungered, and ye gave me no meat: I was thirsty, and ye gave me no drink: I was a stranger, and ye took me not in: naked, and ye clothed me not: sick, and in prison, and ye visited me not." Matt. 25: 42, 43.

How sad this greeting, but may we not have to hear it if we lose sight of Christ or of his great spirit of sacrifice? "Inasmuch as ye did it not to one of the least of these, ye did it not to me" (Matt. 25: 45), ought to ring in thunder tones upon the ears of every congregation in our Brotherhood,—ought to strike the very heart of every brother and sister throughout the land. Sad it is to hear this now, but sadder far will it be to hear it peal from the lips of our Master when the gates of mercy shall close upon us.

We ought to be leading the world in benevolence and kindness to the suffering if we were following in Christ's footsteps. Instead of doing that, our acts of charity and deeds of love are confined to our own church, even to our home congregation, and more frequently to our own FAMILIES, and still most frequently to OUR OWN DEAR SELVES.

"If ye salute your brethren only, what do ye more than others?" (Matt. 5: 47) ought to flash with electric power into our very heart as a church and make us to see ourselves as God sees us.

The world often has to take up our poor and care for them, instead of us reaching out and helping to care for the suffering in the world. Where is Christ's example and practical life if we lose his spirit? No wonder that secret societies are on the increase; no wonder that they are gaining ground! How dare we say one word if we lose the Gospel ground which they profess to cover!

Our charities ought to reach from our families to the home congregation, and from the home congregation to the Brotherhood, and from the Brotherhood to suffering humanity, even to our enemies. May our hearts be opened that we may in some small degree feel God's great love to men, and reach out, in the spirit of Christ, to win them by acts of love and mercy, and deeds of kindness, back to our Father's fold. Brethren, who have this world's goods, often have their bowels of compassion shut up against a poor brother. 1 John 3: 17. They say, "The charities of the world reach him." What is wrong? Can we ever convert the world to cold formalism or must the world convert us to Christ on this subject? Brethren, we must repent and awaken to duty, else faith without works is not dead, or we are dead.

Often congregations are willing to help a poor brother but the church treasury is empty. A collection is made. Some don't have their money with them; others don't give. A few dimes are raised and some benevolent brother assumes the remainder of the debt, depending upon the church to be reimbursed. No person urges the brother's claim and it runs on for years. His modesty keeps him from asking the church for the debt. Time runs on and there is more money needed for the poor, but the old debt is brought up and talked over. A few cents are raised and all is dropped. The new claims demand attention and an effort is again made, but the old debt is in the way. Finally the brother cancels the debt, but the treasury is still empty and money is as hard to raise as ever. The poor must suffer, but above all the poor, covetous soul is suffering most. It suffers by contraction, growing smaller and smaller until it is contracted into self and selfishness. The cause of our falling away from the broad plane of Christian benevolence seems to be more for want of system in the matter of giving than from any other cause. Failing to have system, we fail to give, and failing to give, the old enemy steals a march upon us and we become covetous and close. We begin to feel that we are not able to give, that it is not required of us and that it does not matter anyhow.

"THE finest fruit earth holds up to its Maker is a finished man."

OUR MEETING-HOUSES.

BY J. O. CULLER.

It may not be out of place to give a few timely hints to the different arms of the Brotherhood that contemplate building houses of worship.

The writer knows of several cases where the love, peace, and prosperity of Zion has been destroyed, to a great extent, owing to difficulties after the house was built. There is nothing that is such a detriment to the cause of Christ, as when the brethren become divided upon a Gospel principle. Whenever there is a matter of individual option or privilege in any question, the minority should, and can, readily submit to the majority, because of equal rights of choice. When, however, a matter is suggested and carried by a local church, that is not consistent with the Gospel, nor encouraged or sanctioned by Annual Meeting, should the minority be asked to submit, encourage, and labor with the majority, when it would incur God's displeasure and finally result in the spiritual detriment of the cause? Remember the Lord is not always on the side of the majority. In the time of the flood there was quite a small minority in the ark, but the Lord was on that side and they were saved.

The world has a large majority to-day. God forbears until the proper time comes. Then, whoever will be on the Lord's side will be on the side that rules.

Annual Meeting should ever labor to found her principles upon Christ and his Gospel. Then the individual churches should be subject to Annual Meeting, as individual members must be subject to the church. Then we could be a united family.

In case some branch of this family needs a house of worship, too of ten the members want to build it without consulting with the church about it. They are rather inclined to see how the world would do it, and as that always suits the carnal mind the best, Satan is always ready to suggest some good ideas about it, which are then brought up as an evidence that God wants it so.

When the object of building a meeting-house is considered, it is because our dwelling-houses are not suitable and the school-houses too small. We should build a good, neat, substantial hosue, adapted to hold a fair-sized congregation. Anything more than that is uncalled for.

Here, generally, is the point where the bond of union is broken. Some want a little honor from worldly-minded people, and, regardless of Christ or the church, they want the house decorated after the popular styles. Others want to maintain Gospel simplicity and build in accordance with our principles. Let the world say or think what it will,—it is God we want to glorify. The fact that some of our brethren have their dwelling-houses so richly decorated, is no evidence that we should similarly adorn our meeting-houses. God is not at all pleased if we do so, "for that which is highly esteemed among men is abomination in the sight of God." Luke 16: 15.

One member need not answer for another member's doings at home, but whatever is done by the church, is looked upon by the world and our children as being the ruling principle. How inconsistent it looks for a minister to condemn the world for indulging in the vain and foolish fashions of the day, while standing in a house, ornamented in the unnecessary and fashionable style of the day! It may soon become a question in the minds of the world and our children, when they hear what we say, and see what we do, whether we truly are consistent.

Some claim we ought to have our meeting-houses and surroundings decorated a little after the customs of the world, to make it cheerful for our children, in order to get them to "join the church." Where would they be then? Down on the same broad road, where they were enjoying the pleasures of the world, previous to uniting with us.

If a fashionable building has a tendency to induce some persons to attend meeting, it also has the evil tendency of causing other poor people to stay away on account of their clothes. If we have a grand meeting-house, other things are likely to correspond, and whenever the Brethren church gets so far along in popular customs and fashions that those poor brethren and friends that are supporting a family by working for small wages, do not feel disposed to attend meeting with their families, on account of poor clothes, then you may rest assured that it will be an abomination to God. Let us remember that the world is on the broad road, and if we follow the world, we are on the same road, whether in the name of a church or out of it.

The Lord does not allow us to follow the world at a distance. If we want to follow Christ, we must walk in his footsteps, and we must not seek for them on the broad road. Let us move forward and upward, higher and higher, looking unto Jesus, the Author and Finisher of our faith, and not lay the foundation of a vain and formal religion for our children to build upon, and be deceived and condemned. Let us try and carry the true principles of the Gospel down to the generations to come, as they have been brought down to us by our faithful fathers, some of whom are now awaiting the resurrection morn. Let the church of Christ lead and not follow.

CORRESPONDENCE.

"Write what thou seest, and send it unto the churches."

☞Church News solicited for this Department. If you have had a good meeting, send a report of it, so that others may rejoice with you. In writing give name of church, county and State. Be brief! Notes of Travel should be as short as possible. Land Advertisements are not solicited for this Department. We have an advertising page, and, if necessary, will issue supplements.

Johnstown's Terrible Disaster.

One of the blackest horrors that has ever been recorded in American history befell Johnstown, May 31. Pen can not paint the terror of the scene, nor can the strongest words describe the suffering and distress experienced by the victims of the dreadful catastrophe.

Johnstown was one of Pennsylvania's most thriving towns, beautifully located among the lofty hills of Cambria County. It was an extensive business center, rapidly advancing in wealth, and had a population of thirty thousand. In the years of 1852-53 a reservoir was built for the pleasure of the people; and during summer time hundreds resorted there to enjoy themselves in boat-riding. The dam was located about twelve miles or more above the city, and in the reservoir thus formed there was a large volume of water,—three miles in length, and ninety feet in depth. It had long been feared that it would be the ruin of Johnstown and some of the citizens had taken measures to have it drained, but their efforts were only fruitless.

Two years ago, during high water, the city was threatened with destruction, but, fortunately, the dam did not burst; it had only sprung a leak, hence the flood did comparatively slight damage. Several buildings were swept away but no lives were lost, and it was only a short time until the city was restored to its natural condition. Last fall fears were again entertained which, however, were soon allayed.

But an awful future was in store for Johnstown and that future was not long delayed. On the night of May 30 rain began to fall in torrents, and ere morning dawned the Conemaugh river, which divides the town, had almost overflowed its banks. The water continued to rise, and before noon, even, it had spread over the city to such an extent that boats were used to convey people across the streets. Then an awful truth began to dawn upon our minds and the city was wrapped in an agony of suspense. About 3:30 o'clock P. M., Johnstown received a telegram to the effect that the reservoir must break and that the disaster would be a question of only a few moments.

O dreadful thought! The city immediately dispatched messengers through every street to announce the telegram and warn the people to flee for their lives. At four o'clock the reservoir bursted, and the ringing of bells accompanied by the wild shrieks of the whistles, heralded the near approach of the terrible disaster. And now the flood came in awful surges, crashing houses together and bearing thousands of precious beings to a watery grave. Night! Night! Night to the maddened hearts of the bereaved, and everlasting night, perhaps, to many of the precious souls that sank into eternity.

Who but those that stood eye-witnesses could even imagine the horror of the scene? Who but God alone could record the cries or count the tears that were wrung from these poor victims of despair?

O! it was a scene of agony and distress, too deep and sad for words, and should we live until our hair is as white as the driven snow, we could not forget that awful hour! Johnstown was wrapped in one black veil of mourning. Parents were weeping for children; husbands, for wives; brothers, for sisters; and friends for friends. But the proud and the humble, the rich and the poor, the great and the small, were reduced to one common lot of suffering, and brought to one common level of grief and humility. In that dark hour there was no pomp displayed, no fashions discussed, no profanity or slandering heard; but the burden of each heart was this: "Great God, be merciful!"

Ah, yes, the proud and haughty hearts were then subdued. Men that had grown old in sin, who, perhaps, had never uttered God's holy name except to curse, now prayed in all the fervency of soul. Women, with clenched hands and bloodless lips, stood battling with madness and despair. O, what a sound of lamentation! And now it does not seem so strange that the wicked shall cry for rocks and hills to fall and hide them from an angry God! Surely, a calamity greater than befell Johnstown will be witnessed on the awful Judgment Day!

As the disaster approached, a dense fog began to settle over the town, while fire broke from shattered buildings and added to the terror of the scene. And as the flames shot upward, despairing souls went down to death. Houses, bridges, timber and rubbish went floating down the river at an awful speed, laden with human freight calling in vain for aid,—for human aid could not avail.

Many of the inhabitants fled to the hills and thus were saved. Many others were taken from the ruins alive. But the record of the dead is appalling. The loss of life is estimated at eight thousand. The manner in which we are compelled to bury is distressing. Hundreds are buried without ceremonies or even shrouds. Many have gone insane over the disaster, and many others are sick and wounded. The loss of property is reported to be $25,000,000; but it is probable that an over-estimate has been made. The city is so filled with filth and stench that an epidemic is greatly feared. Measures have been taken to have the remainder of the city burned.

The proud and haughty Johnstown now lies in ruin and desolation, while the force of the language, "Vengeance is mine; I will repay," is keenly felt by the distressed survivors. Dear brethren and sisters, pray that the souls still chained to sin may not forget this lesson and may we all resolve to live a holy and consecrated life to God!

I had intended to be present at Annual Meeting but, owing to the disaster, can not attend. I received injury in escaping from the flood and was confined to my bed all week, but am convalescing now. I was with the family of E. Strayer, a brother-in-law, whose house stood in the district of the deluge. We are all safe, for which we thank and praise the Lord.

Surely the Johnstown disaster will long stand upon the pages of American history!

SADIE C. BRALLIER.

Johnstown, Pa., June 10, 1889.

Notes of Travel.

WE are home again, as well as usual, and thank the Lord for the care he had over us. On the evening of May 5, we received a message to come at once to my wife's son, David, who was considered to be dangerously sick. On the following Monday we started for Lanark, Ill., where we arrived on the 8th. Next day Bro. Kingery took us to the home of the sick son whom we found a little better than we expected, yet we were not very hopeful of his recovery.

May 9, we attended council-meeting at Lanark, and on the eleventh wife and I, with others from Lanark, attended the love-feast at Milledgeville. Here nearly all were strangers to us, but we soon felt that we were with God's children of the same faith. We felt happy in their midst, and had a very enjoyable meeting. On Sunday, May 12, I preached in Lanark at 10: 30 A. M., and in the afternoon, at 4 P. M., anointed Bro. David Eshelman. Elder John Emmert assisted.

On the 15th we attended the love-feast in the Hickory Grove church. We had a very good meeting.

Sunday, May 19, I preached in Mt. Carroll. In the afternoon I visited Eld. John Emmert, who had been unable to attend meeting. On Monday morning, May 20, I was called to anoint Eld. John Emmert and was assisted in this work by Bro. William Eisenbise.

May 21, Bro. David Eshelman and wife started for McPherson, Kansas, there to regain his health.

On Sunday, May 26, I preached in Polo. June 1 and 2 we, with some members of the Pine Creek church, attended the love-feast in Rock River congregation. We had a very good meeting, with quite a large attendance of members. After this we visited for nearly one week in Mt. Morris, where we made a good many calls. We visited the school part of two days and had the pleasure of hearing several recitations. I was highly pleased with the workings of the school, and only wonder that so many of our members' children will attend schools that are so contrary to the faith and doctrine of our Brethren. I also visited the MESSENGER office, and I am so well pleased with the workings of both school and office, that I say, "May the Lord bless them both, and keep the Brethren humble." I had the pleasure of talking to the people in the chapel, after which we left Mt. Morris to attend the love-feast at Naperville. Here we had a glorious meeting. Jacob Sollenberger was ordained to the office of elder. May God bless him and help him to fill his important office to the honor of God, and the building up of the church. On the afternoon of Sunday, June 9, we went with some of the Chicago members, who attended the Naperville feast, to Chicago, where I preached for them.

This was my first visit among the members of Northern Illinois. I made many acquaintances, and learned to love them dearly. I do hope and pray we may all so live, that if we meet no more on earth, we may meet in that sweet by and by where parting will be no more. I thank all the dear brethren and sisters for their great kindness manifested towards us. May the Lord abundantly bless them for the same!

SAMUEL MURRAY.

From Harrison County, Ind.

BRO. ELIJAH HORN, from Roseville, Muskingum County, Ohio, came to us May 18, 1889, and remained till the 27th, delivering in all nine sermons—six at Old Goshen and three at the Buck Creek church. The attendance at Goshen was not large on account of the busy season, rainy weather, and muddy roads. The attendance at the Buck Creek church was pretty good, with a growing interest. We were sorry that the brother was obliged to leave us so soon.

We feel much built up and encouraged by our dear brother, and hope he will remember us, as we are weak and isolated. We hope the Lord will spare, and bless, and enable him to visit us again. Bro. Horn is getting old, but is hale and hearty, and we feel that he is zealous in the cause.

JAMES H. KIRKHAM.

From Altoona, Polk Co, Iowa.

OUR Communion meeting in the Des Moines Valley church was a very enjoyable one, and will long be remembered. Many members from adjoining churches were present. The weather was nice, and we had a large turn-out. The house was too small to hold the number present. Ministers from adjoining churches were Bro. D. E. Brubaker and H. H. Troup, from the Indian Creek church; Bro. George Thomas from the Ames church, Bro. Henry Goughnour from the Dallas Center church, and Bro. C. Folger, of Clark County. Bro. D. E. Brubaker officiated. We thank the brethren for their kindness and labor at our meeting.

J. W. MOATS.

THE FLOOD.

[A lack of room on the first page of this issue, obliges us to insert this editorial in our correspondence columns.]

THE greatest flood that was ever witnessed by the citizens of Pennsylvania occurred on Friday, May 31 of the present year 1889. Were it not for the fact that a number of readers do not have access to the secular press we would not attempt to give a general description of it, as its magnitude exceeds our powers of description. A man once asked a friend why it was that Moses did not give a more extended description of the Deluge. The reply was, "Too big an affair for Moses." So we feel in taking our pen to describe the present one. The reality of it is beyond the possibilities of the pen and the artist's brush.

On Thursday afternoon the clouds that had been shifting over the earth, during the forepart of the day, commenced dropping, what, at first, was supposed to be the gentle showers of the season. These showers not only continued, but became more frequent, and increased in volume until, by night fall, the rain seemed to come down in torrents, so that, within twenty-four hours, six and a half inches of rain fell, the greatest amount ever known to fall in so short a time. By the time that darkness had wrapped its mantle over the earth the little streams had grown to dashing creeks, and the creeks to roaring rivers. And still shower after shower continued to fall until by Friday morning the beautiful Juniata, that is usually so low and still, was a raging current, double its usual width, from five to six feet above high water mark, carrying in its bosom trees, houses, bridges, fences, and everything that was within its destructive grasp.

As the darkness gave way to the coming light, there was a sight presented that struck the beholder with fear and terror. It proved to be the greatest and most destructive flood that ever coursed its way down through the Juniata valley. Many of the families living near its shores and in the low parts of the towns awakened on Friday morning from their slumbers to find themselves surrounded by the raging billows, with their houses and contents ready to float down the stream. Through the heroism of a few of the citizens they were all rescued in boats but two, who sank beneath the surging waves to rise no more in life.

As we learned of these very sad deaths and saw the destruction of houses, bridges, property and lands we felt that a great calamity had befallen our town and vicinity. And, indeed, the scene was a sad one. Carried along with the raging torrents could be seen bridges, houses, barns, stables, great trees, wrenched by a resistless force from their seemingly sure moorings, farming implements, and all manner of things conceivable. On the drift were perched ducks and chickens, and, purring by their side, the house cat, or the faithful dog, who felt it a duty to be loyal to his trust. There is a sadness connected with scenes of this kind that must be seen to be felt. The destruction of property and life always carries with it feelings of sorrow and regret, in proportion to the amount of damage done.

But our own losses were greatly modified in appearance when we learned of the extensiveness of the flood, and the damages done, especially when we heard of the calamity that had befallen the city of Johnstown, Pennsylvania.

The reports were so wonderful, and in many cases, so conflicting that we determined that if it were possible we would go there and see and learn the facts, that we would thus be enabled to give to our readers a report that would be as nearly correct as the attending circumstances would allow. On Wednesday morning we determined to make the attempt, and, in company with Prof. J. H. Brumbaugh and Bro. Stiles, some of whose friends were residents of the ill-fated city, we started for the railroad to strike a way of passage. The first opportunity presented was an engine, and as good luck would have it, the engine was in charge of one of the best engineers, Harry Funk, who runs the Limited Express. Officially, the rule was to take no passengers, but through the big-heartedness of the man we were allowed to jump on, and after once on the way, we were treated with all the kindness that it was possible for him to give us. The engine was one of the largest, weighing 96,000 pounds, and some of the bridges and trestles were a little shaky from the recent flood strains, yet we felt quite safe, knowing that it was in charge of an experienced man. This, to us, novel and open ride gave us excellent opportunities for seeing, and as the iron horse carried us rapidly up through the Juniata valley we had laid before us, on either side, the damages done by the recent flood. A few days ago, along either side of the Juniata were to be seen the beautiful farms, the comfortable farm houses and outbuildings with their well-kept yards and surroundings. But how changed the scenes now? The fences were all gone, the trees that stood on the shores as sentinels to guard the heretofore "still waters," bent over and cast down, the grain fields that promised a rich harvest, all flooded over, and the once beautiful houseyards now all covered over with sand and mud. The loss to the farmers of the Juniata Valley will be very great indeed.

But the destructive work of the flood was not confined to the farms alone. The villages and towns along and near the river sides were equally damaged by the raging torrent as it surged and dashed down through the valley, and between the hills. Petersburg, Spruce Creek, Barne, Birmingham, and Tyrone all showed sad pictures made by the destructive element. It was truly the great flood of the century, and it will take years to restore the losses and damages done.

At Altoona our engine halted, and we took leave of Mr. Funk and his very courteous fireman, feeling very grateful for the kindness shown, and favors bestowed. Here we were compelled to remain until next morning, as there was no passage further west for the day. Here we got a permit from the Mayor to enter the flooded city, and the railroad authorities also gave us free transportation to Lilly, the nearest passenger train approach to Johnstown.

On Thursday morning we again started for the ill-fated city, and had a pleasant passage to Lilly, eighteen miles from the place of our destination. From here the chances were to either walk the whole distance, or wait and risk the possibility of jumping on the first construction train that would come along for South Fork, which would make us within nine miles of Johnstown.

There were several hundred of us, and many were so anxious to reach the scene of destruction that they at once decided to walk. But we "thought on our way," and decided that the journey was too much for us. We preferred to run the risk of a coming possibility, and so did many others. We had learned before that hasty decisions are of doubtful propriety rather than wisdom, and it proved so in this case. A few, however, were in haste to get there, and started on the trip afoot. In the course of a half hour the horse-car opportunity came, and we all took passage, but instead of spring-bottom and nicely-cushioned seats, we sat on railroad ties, which were ranked on the trucks four ties deep. Rough as it was we enjoyed it, and greatly preferred it to walking. On our way we soon passed the walking company, who then saw to their grief the truthfulness of the old adage: "The more haste the less speed."

Soon we reached South Fork, the then terminus of the Pennsylvania railroad. Near this place is the South Fork of the Conemaugh river. And up a ravine, about two miles and a half, was located the reservoir, the bursting of which caused the catastrophe that is to-day calling forth the sympathies of the whole country. The reservoir was built by the State as a feeder to the canal, had a breast of seventy feet, and extended back two and a half miles. In 1862 it had a break, but the opening was small, and the emptying slow and gradual, so that but little harm was done to the property below. When it was abandoned by the canal company, it was bought by the Western Fish and Game Association, of Pittsburg, who rebuilt and enlarged it, and kept it for a fish and pleasure lake.

From this place, along the line of the Pennsylvania railroad, a distance of ten or eleven miles, there are several villages and towns, and some mining and manufacturing industries carried on. Among them was the thriving village of Mineral Point, located immediately on the river in a narrow gorge, the railroad being at least fifty feet above the bed of the river. The valley of the Conemaugh from South Fork to East Conemaugh is a continuing deep gorge, and just such a place, with its heavy fall where the flood, in its fury, would be likely to do the most effective work of destruction, both to property and human life.

Down this narrow valley, with its teeming population and its vast business interests, the immense volume of water, let loose from the broken reservoir, rushed madly on till it reached the Pennsylvania railroad shops, at East Conemaugh, carrying the lower portion of the village of South Fork and the entire town of Mineral Point, coal tipples, factories, cars, engines and one immense freightage of debris, gathered from the mountain and valley, till it struck the round-house, coaling station, ticket office and large boarding-house, together with the great iron bridge of the Cambria Iron company at East Conemaugh, all of which were lifted up bodily and added to the heavy cargo already borne on the breast of the mighty torrent.

Woodvale was the next victim in the victorious march of the turbulent waters, and as it was reached it was wiped out. Conemaugh borough was now reached and almost as entirely carried along as had been the village above, and its immense addition to the weight of floating plunder added to that already moving in the direction of old Johnstown, so soon to feel the force of a mighty power which she could not resist, and from which she could not escape. The great flood of waters, after striking Conemaugh borough, would naturally find an outlet through Adams, Jackson, Clinton and Franklin streets, which would bear them in a southerly direction over, into and across the city of Johnstown in the direction of Stony Creek, and as they swept through the town with resistless force, they effectually cut off all possibility of escape from the doomed inhabitants of the town living on the low land, lying between the two streams, now become one, which, in a few moments, wrought one of the most stupendous disasters to humanity recorded in the annals of time. An eye-witness says, he stood upon the high ground on Prospect Hill, north of the city, and saw the waters mount up like mountains, till the roof of the Methodist Episcopal church, the most commanding edifice in the centre of the city, was covered over by the flood, only the base of the spire being visible above the debris carried on the bosom of the accumulated waters, and far southward the mighty current poured over Kernville till all the fair city, save its monuments and towers, was lost to sight. Houses, upon which whole families had climbed for safety, suddenly toppled and fell into the raging waters and were carried to destruction and death. Houses, mills, coal tipples, large factory buildings, lumber, logs, every conceivable kind of floating stuff came in such quantities as to cover the face of the mighty river that swept everything movable from its foundations and carried them with it in its onward march of destruction and death.

Along this track of death and destruction we made our journey afoot, as there was no possible chance for conveyance, neither was there enough road bed left for any kind of a vehicle. The sight of hundreds of men trudging along with lunch-basket in hand, and, in many places in single file, was a novel one indeed. And though the trip was a long one for inexperienced footmen, yet it was one of unusual interest, and many were the thoughts suggested by the way. While passing along, at one place we noticed a short section of the old turnpike. By its side was the bed of the canal, and on the tow path were planted the telegraph and telephone poles, on which were placed the wires that carried communications at lightning speed from ocean to ocean. Near by was the railroad bed with steel belts that reach from New York to San Francisco in unbroken lines, over which run portable parlors, dining rooms, and spring-cushioned beds, thus making comfortable homes for the traveling public while passing from place to place at the rate of forty miles an hour. As this picture came up before us, and we there saw the large company traveling along the narrow path by the cliffs and rocks, the thought came to us, that the forty minutes' flood had taken from us the developments of a century. And such were the realities to us. We were back of the stage coach, the springless wagon, and the horse and saddle. We were weak-kneed, sore-footed and on the trail.

As we thus trudged along, viewing the path made by the desolating flood, we struck the old Portage railroad, the first one constructed in the State, and the wonder and admiration of all the people. On the road bed were laid two rows of dressed stone about fifteen inches by two feet and ten inches thick. Every twelve or fifteen feet a stone was laid that reached the width of the road to keep the road from spreading apart. In these stones were drilled two holes, about six inches deep. On the stones were laid wooden stringers. These were fastened to the stones by driving spikes through them, and down into the drilled holes in the stones. On these stringers were spiked the iron rails for the car wheel tracks. The road is abandoned, yet the hand-writing of the past is still there, and, as we pass over it, we can read with pleasure and profit.

One of the pleasant scenes we enjoyed was the noon lunching. From the mountain side and a cleft in the rock gurgled forth a stream of pure water, as clear as crystal, and as sweet as nature could make it. Here we halted, here we sat us down, and here we satisfied our hunger and thirst; our hunger from the well-filled lunch-basket of Bro. J. W. Wilt, of Altoona, whose name we forgot to mention before,—thanks for the lunch-basket, and to sister Wilt who filled it with viands so inviting; also to Bro. Wilt, who gave to us so liberally of its contents,—and our thirst from the cooling fountain, one of nature's best gifts to man. Thus rested and refreshed, we continued our journey, and soon reached the field where the flood in its maddened power did its most destructive work. We had read with care and great interest what we hoped would be great exaggerations of facts, but when we saw it with our own eyes, we felt that the half had not been told. From what is left of Millville, Minersville, Woodvale, Conemaugh, and Johnstown, persons not having a former knowledge of the places, could form no idea of the destruction done, and loss sustained. Where, a few days before, stood large manufacturing establishments, fine residences, surrounded by beautiful lawns, and the pleasant homes of the laboring class, was now a barren desert. The buildings were worse than razed to to the ground, the stone foundations torn down, and the soil from the ground swept away.

H. B. B.

(To be continued.)

From Avilla, Jasper Co., Mo.

ELD. C. HOLDERMAN, of the Spring River church, met with an accident June 4. While upon a ladder, about six feet from the ground, the ladder slipped, and Bro. Holderman, being a very heavy man, fell to the ground and broke his leg, close to the ankle joint. He is attended by one of our best physicians, and, at this writing, is doing very well.

SAMUEL GAULT.

From Milford, Ind.

WIFE and I just returned from the Eel River district, Ind., where we enjoyed a pleasant communion season. Notwithstanding the three days' rain and muddy roads, the house was full. Bro. John Metzger of Cerro Gordo, Ill., was present, and Bro. John Metzler, of Wakarusa, Ind., helped to labor in the good work. One brother was baptized at this meeting. He was seventy-two years of age, and had lived among the Brethren most of his life. He was anxious to seek after the more perfect way. One peculiarity about that baptism was that two old persons went "into the water" at the same time. Bro. John Metzger, who now is in his eighty-second year, did the work, and did it with much ease. He remarked, after he came out of the water, that he could have baptized twenty more, if they were only willing.

Bro. Metzger was at the first communion meeting held in Eel River district, about fifty years ago. All that were at that communion have passed over the river except Bro. Metzger. His zeal for the Master's cause is as strong as ever. On Sunday afternoon he preached to a large congregation. Since last Annual Meeting Bro. Metzger has been away from home preaching nearly all the time. If we only had more such workers, what an army of preachers we could see, moving in harmony with the divine command, "Go ye."

June 4, the Brethren of Bremen district held their communion services, during which exercises Bro. Simon Eversole was advanced to the second degree. At this place the order was not so commendable. We, as Christian workers, should strive for that noble trait,—"good order." Peter tells us the law was made for the lawless, disobedient, and if we take proper measures, all will be attended too. Our religious liberties will be regarded, and our rights protected and secured.

June 5th the Brethren of the Elkhart district held their feast, at which all passed off pleasantly. June 6th the Brethren of Salomon's Creek church held their feast. Both of the above meetings were well attended, and there was the best of order.

Our communion meetings, as a general thing, are held with more quietness and less confusion during services than formerly. I do hope the Brethren will still keep on making Gospel improvements, so we can sing with the spirit, "Nearer my God to Thee." God's house is a house of order, and if our order is better, our influence will be stronger, and we will wield a greater power for good.

June 8th we met with the Brethren in the Pleasant Valley district. One sister was reclaimed, and her husband was baptized. The meeting was largely attended. The next morning, Sunday, at 9 A. M., we met for Sunday-school exercises. The little folks requested the writer to have a children's meeting for them. This I did gladly. How I love those children's meetings! I have ever been a friend of children. The Savior took them into his arms and blessed them. By those children's meetings we throw a winning influence around them that will tell on their little minds when they get old, and eventually they will come into the church.

I rejoice to see our members becoming so much interested in the young. The future success of our church largely depends upon our influence over the young mind. Sunday-schools and children's meetings should be heldand encouraged wherever an opportunity presents itself. We should always have a word and a smile for the little ones. Our sermons should be plain and simple, so that a child of ten or twelve years can grasp the ideas, and early in life be brought to Christ!

J. H. MILLER.

From Pleasant Valley, Augusta Co., Va.

TWO weeks ago my father, A. D. Garber, visited the isolated members at Keer's Creek, Rockbridge Co., Va., delivered a few sermons to them and baptized five persons. The Lord be praised!

Father returned home in safety, after a long journey which he made entirely alone, but the Supreme Being, in whom we put our trust at all times, was ever near him!

PRISCILLA E. GARBER.

From Colby Church, Thomas Co., Kansas.

THE brethren and sisters of the Quinter church convened in council June 1, in Thomas County, and organized the brethren and sisters of said County into an organization, called the "Colby Church." The County lines are the church boundary. We decided unanimously to adhere to the principles of the Gospel as understood and taught by the General Brotherhood. Elders John Ikenberry and B. B. Whitmer presided over the meetings. Elder Whitmer was chosen as elder in charge.

On the evening of the same day we celebrated the Lord's Supper, and we were fed bountifully with heavenly manna, and felt strengthened with might by the Spirit in the inner man. May the Lord enable us all to shine as lights to the world, and continue faithful unto death, is our prayer!

C. H. BROWN.

Hudson Happenings.

THE love-feast at Hudson is now in the past, but will always be remembered with pleasure. Such meetings are very enjoyable. Ours was made doubly so by the presence of elders P. A Moore and John Barnhart and Bro. I. M. Gibson. They preached the Word with power to anxious listeners, who greatly appreciated the able efforts of the Brethren in holding forth the Word of Life. The members were made stronger, and a general good feeling prevails as a result of the meeting.

THOS. D. LYON.

Hudson, Ill.

From Ashland, Oregon.

OUR love-feast of May 25 was a meeting long to be remembered on account of the good admonitions and encouragement to go on in the good work of the Lord, and not be ashamed of his commandments. Our dear old brother, David Brower and his son, Mark, from Rossburg, were with us. Bro. David preaches the Word with power. May the Lord bless him in his labors and grant that he may come often and encourage us on our road to Zion. On Sunday we had a social meeting, which was enjoyed by all!

S. A. NININGER.

From the Cedar Creek Church. Anderson Co., Kans.

AGAIN we have been permitted to enjoy a pleasant love-feast occasion, which occurred June 8 and 9. About one hundred members communed. A number of ministers came to our assistance, among them our aged brother, Geo. W. Studebaker, of Fredonia, Kans., who delivered the principal sermon of the occasion, —subject, "Baptism." We had a large and attentive audience, who were richly instructed by the brethren in sound doctrine. Saints were encouraged and built up, while sinners were warned of the awful doom beyond the grave. As a result of the meeting three precious souls came out on the Lord's side, and were immersed. May the Lord help them to be faithful unto the end! Others are near the kingdom. Brethren, pray for them, that they may not put it off too long!

P. H. WATKINS.

MATRIMONIAL.

"What therefore God hath joined together, let not man put asunder."

BEALE—KELSO.—At the residence of of Bro. Jacob D. Livengood, Salisbury, Pa., June 4, by the undersigned, Bro. J. L. Beale, of Waterloo, Iowa, and sister Harriet E. Kelso, of Elk Lick, Pa.

HOWARD H. KEIM.

WOLF—CRIPE.—At the residence of the bride's parents, in the Upper Deer Creek church, Cass County, Ind., June 1, by Eld. A. Rinehart, David W. Wolf to Effa D. Cripe. S. H. BECHTELHEIMER.

CRUMRINE—ARNOLD.—At the residence of the bride's parents, C. C. Arnold, by the undersigned, June 2, Ira S. J. Crumrine to Mary E. Arnold, all of Wabash County, Ind. D. S. CAYLOR.

CULP—GILBERT.—At the residence of the officiating minister, Bro. D. L. Miller, May 19, Bro. Charles E. Culp, of Headlee, Ind., and sister Lottie Gilbert, of Arcanum, Ohio.

FALLEN ASLEEP

"Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord."

CONNELL.—In Rockford, Spokane Co., Washington Territory, May 17, Clementina, daughter of Anak and Jennie Connell, aged 1 year, 9 months and 5 days.

MARY A. CONNELL.

BEEGHLY.—In the Bear Creek congregation, Garrett Co., Md., Clara Fannie, daughter of Bro. Joseph A. and sister Harriet Lavina Beeghly, aged 6 years, 3 months and 23 days.

BEEGHLY.—Also, of the same parents, Arthur Clarence Beeghly, aged 4 years, 2 months and 7 days.

BEEGHLY.—Also, of the same parents, Samuel G. Beeghly, aged 1 year, 9 months and 17 days. Funeral services of all the above by the Brethren. S. A. MILLER.

MUMMERT.—In the Pleasant Valley church, Elkhart Co., Ind., Feb. 16, sister Polly, wife of Bro. Richard Mummert, aged 67 years, 5 months and 9 days. There were nine children born to them. Her husband and two children are left to mourn their loss. Services by Bro. William Deeter. LEVI E. WEAVER.

BAKER.—In the Alleghany congregation, Grant Co, West Virginia, May 24, after a brief illness, Bro. Peter Baker aged nearly 76 years. R. BAKER.

SWARTZ.—At Westfield, in the bounds of Silver Creek church, Ogle County, Ill., May 8, Bro. John Swartz, aged 82 years, 3 months and 20 days.

Deceased was born in Perry County, Pa., Feb. 19, 1807. He was married to Catharine Long, of Perry Co, Pa., in 1833. They lived together nearly forty-nine years. She died Oct. 13, 1882, aged 71 years, 4 months and 16 days. They came West many years ago, both members of the church. He was a deacon for a long time. They were faithful in the vows they had made. There were nine children born to them. Four sons and three daughters are still living. Funeral services by the writer and Bro. Ephraim Trostle, from Heb. 11: 16. E. S. YOUNG.

HODGDEN.—In Chanute, Neosho County, Kans, May 29, of cancer, sister Martha E. Hodgden, wife of Emmet Hodgden, aged 37 years, 10 months and 1 day.

Our beloved sister made all necessary preparations for eternal happiness. She bore her affliction patiently and calmly awaited the angel of death.

The day before she died she called her four children to her bedside and told them to be good children and prepare to meet her in heaven. She earnestly admonished her husband to be a Christian and be ready to meet her in a better world. Funeral services by Bro. Aaron Heastand from Rom. 8: 1.

SARAH BRICKER.

LEEDY.—At Longmoat, Colo., May 26, Fannie L. Leedy, wife of Bro. D. Leedy, aged 36 years, 6 months and 3 days. She was a consistent member of the Baptist church for more than twenty years. Services by the Brethren. G. W. FESLER.

MILLER.—In Johnson County, Iowa, June 10, Sally, wife of Joseph P. Miller, aged 67 years and 1 month. Funeral services by C. Werriegh. W. D. LICHTY.

The "Oxford" Teachers' Reference Bibles.

PEARL 16mo.

No. 500. FRENCH MOROCCO, boards $1 40
No 502. FRENCH SEAL, limp, round corners 1 60
No. 503. FRENCH SEAL, divinity circuit, round corners..... 1 7
No. 514p.i PERSIAN SEAL, divinity circuit, silk sewed, leather lined, patent index..... 4 50

RUBY 16mo.

No. 550. FRENCH MOROCCO, boards..... 2 25
No 553. FRENCH SEAL, divinity circuit, round corners 2 75
No. 564. PERSIAN SEAL, divinity circuit, silk sewed, leather lined, round corners..... 4 00
No. 564p i. ERSIAN SEAL, same as No. 564, with patent index..... 5 00
No. 565½. LEVANT, divinity circuit, kid lined, silk sewed, round corners. 5 00

NONPAREIL 8vo.

o. 660. TURKEY MOROCCO, board, gilt roll 4 50
No. 661¼. TURKEY MOROCCO, limp, round corners..... 4 75
No. 664. PERSIAN SEAL, divinity circuit, round corners, leather lined..... 4 50
No. 664p i. PERSIAN SEAL, same as No. 664, with patent index..... 6 00
No. 665¼. LEVANT, divinity circuit, kid lined, silk sewed, round corners..... 6 00

INDIA PAPER EDITION.

No. 661x. PERSIAN SEAL, divinity circuit, silk sewed, round corners, leather lined..... 5 25
No. 661¼x. TURKEY MOROCCO, silk sewed, loose limp, round corners..... 5 25
No. 671x BEST LEVANT, divinity circuit, kid lined, silk sewed, red under gold edges, round corners..... 9 00

Address all orders to

BRETHREN'S PUBLISHING CO.,
Or, Huntingdon, Pa. Mount Morris, Ill.

NEW AND COMPLETE

Bible Commentary.

Critical, Explanatory and Practical, by Jamieson, Fausset & Brown, in four large 12mo Volumes of about 1000 pages each. This Work has Numerous Illustrations and Maps. It is far in advance of the Older Works. It is Critical, Practical and Explanatory. It is Compendious and Comprehensive in its character. It has a Critical Introduction to each Book of Scripture, and is by far the most Practical, Suggestive and Popular Work of the kind in the English Language. Price, Cloth, $8.00 post-paid.

BRETHREN'S PUBLISHING CO.,
Or, Huntingdon, Pa. Mt. Morris, Ill.

"LITTLE MISSIONARIES,"—a term applied by some one to our BRETHREN'S ENVELOPES, is well deserved. Price, 15 cents a package; for sale at this office.

A Book for Every Member!

Classified Minutes

— OF —

ANNUAL MEETING.

☞ A full supply of this excellent work still on hand. Every member should have a copy of this work, in order to have a thorough understanding of the deliberations of the Annual Meeting in reference to church government, etc. Price, English Cloth, $1.50, post-paid; leather, $2.00.

☞ A responsible agent wanted in each congregation, to whom terms will be furnished upon application. Address,

BRETHREN'S PUBLISHING CO.,
Or, Huntingdon, Pa. Mount Morris, Ill.

Tract Work.

List of Publications for Sale,—Sent Postage Prepaid.

CLASS A.

No. 1. Golden Gleams or Family Chart, ...85 cts.

CLASS B.

No. 1. Trine Immersion, Quinter, per copy ...$ 1 25
No. 2. Europe and Bible Lands, Miller, per copy..... 1 50
No. 3. Doctrine of the Brethren Defended, per copy..... 1 50
No. 4. Classified Minutes—A. M..... 1 50
No. 5. Two Sticks, Eshelman, ... 1 00
No. 6 Close Communion, Wash. per copy..... 40

CLASS C.

No. 1. Annual Report. per copy,.....$ 05
No. 2. Path of Life, per 100, $5.00; per copy, 06
No. 3. How to Become a Child of God, per 100, $4 00; per copy,..... 05
No. 4. Conversion, per 100, $2 50; per copy.... 03
No 5. Water Baptism, per 100, $1.50; per copy 02
No. 6. Single Immersion, per 100, $1 50; per copy,..... 02
No. 7. Sabbatism, per 100, $2.50; per copy,..... 03
No. 8. Discussion on Trine Immersion, per copy,..... 15
No. 9. Sermon on Baptism, per copy,..... 03
No. 10. Glad Tidings of Salvation, per copy... 03
No. 11. Life of Eld. S. Weir (Colored), per copy,..... 03
No. 12. Ten Reasons for Trine Immersion. per 100, $1.50. per copy,..... 02

CLASS D.

No 1. House We Live In, per 100, ...$ 60
No. 2. Plan of Salvation, per 100,..... 60
No. 3. Come, Let Us Reason Together, per 100 60
No 4. How Shall I Know that my Sins are Pardoned? per 100,..... 60
No. 5. Intemperance, per 100,..... 60
No. 6. Plain Dressing, per 100,..... 60
No 7. Which Is the Right Church? per 100... 60
No. 8. House We Live In (Swedish), per 100,.. 60
No. 9. House We Live In (Danish), per 100,.. 60
No. 10. Paul Wetzel's Reasons, Etc., (German), per 100, ... 60
No. 11. Sinner, Stop! per 100,..... 60
No. 12. Faith, per 100,..... 60
No. 13. The Light-House, per 100,..... 60
No. 14. Close Communion, per 100,..... 60
No. 15. The Truth Shall Make You Free, per 100,..... 60
No. 16. Modern Skepticism, per 100,..... 60
No. 17. Infant Baptism Weighed in the Balances and Found Wanting, per 100,.... 60

CLASS E.

No. 1. Pause and Think, per 100,..... 20
No. 2. What Do We Need? per 100,..... 20
No. 3 Right or Wrong Way, per 100,..... 20
No. 4. Why Am I Not a Christian? per 100,.... 20
No. 5. Saving Words, per 100,..... 20
No. 6. Christ and War, per 100,..... 20
No. 7. The Bond of Peace, per 100,..... 20
No. 8. The Kiss of Charity, per 100,..... 20
No. 9. The Evils of Intemperance, per 100,.. 20
No. 10. The Lost Opportunity, per 100,..... 20
No. 11. Are You a Christian? per 100,..... 20
No. 12. Arise, Get Thee Down, per 100,..... 20
No. 13. A Personal Appeal, per 100,..... 20
No. 14. Lying Among the Pots, per 100,..... 20
No. 15. Gold and Costly Array, per 100,..... 20
No. 16. The Brethren's Card, per 100,..... 20

Bibles, Testaments, Hymn Books of all styles, at publishers' lowest retail prices, which will be furnished on application.

Address

Brethren's Book and Tract Work,
DAYTON, OHIO

Church Register.

—:o:—

To those who would wish to collect and to preserve a complete history of their congregation and biography of each of their members, with names, dates of baptism or letter, dates of death or letter, and also dates of election, ordination of all the official members, and all events of importance occurring in each congregation, we would say, buy a copy of the Church Register. Price, containing sample pages and instructions, well bound, and sent by mail, $1.00 per copy. Address this office.

PUBLICATIONS

☞ The following books, Sunday-school supplies, etc., are for sale by the Brethren's Publishing Co., Mt. Morris, Ill., or Huntingdon, Pa., to whom all orders should be addressed.

The Brethren's Quarterly.

For Sunday-school teachers and scholars this publication is of the greatest benefit. Look at our prices:

Single subscription, one year .....35 cents.
Single subscription, per quarter.....10 cents.
Three copies, per quarter..... .....25 cents.
Eight copies, per quarter.....40 cents.
Fifty copies and over.....4 cents each.

• • • Hymn Books • • •

New Tune and Hymn Books.

Half leather, single copy, post-paid .....$ 1 00
Per dozen, by express 10 00
Morocco, single copy, post-paid..... 1 25
Per dozen, by express 12 00
Morocco, gilt edge, per copy..... 1 50

Hymn Books, English.

Morocco, single copy, post-paid.....$ 90
Per dozen, post-paid..... 9 50
Per dozen, by express 9 00
Morocco, gilt edge, post-paid 1 10
Per dozen, post-paid..... 11 75
Per dozen, by express 11 25
Arabesque, single copy, post-paid..... 55
Per dozen, post-paid..... 5 80
Per dozen, by express 5 30
Sheep, single copy, post-paid .....
Per dozen, post-paid.....
Per dozen, by express 5 30
Tuck, single copy, post-paid..... 1 00
Per dozen, post-paid..... 10 00
Per dozen, by express 9 50
Fine Limp, post-paid..... 1 00
Per dozen, post-paid 10 00
Fine Limp, single copy, gilt edge, post-paid 1 20
Fine Limp, gilt edge, per dozen..... 13 00
German and English, per copy, ... 90
" " " per dozen, mail, $9.50; express 9 00

The Young Disciple.

The YOUNG DISCIPLE is a neatly printed weekly, published especially for the moral benefit and religious instruction of our young folks.

Single copy, one year.....$ 50
Six copies (the sixth to the agent)..... 2 50
Ten copies..... 4 00

For Three Months or Thirteen Weeks.

20 copies to one address.....$1 70
30 " " " " 2 50
40 " " " " 3 35
50 " " " " 3 80
75 " " " " 5 20
100 " " " " 7 00

For Six Months or Twenty-Six Weeks.

20 copies to one address.....$ 3 35
30 " " " " 5 00
40 " " " " 6 60
50 " " " " 7 50
75 " " " " 10 20
100 " " " " 13 75

Our paper is designed for the Sunday-school and the home circle. We desire the name of every Sunday-school Superintendent in the Brotherhood, and want an agent in every church. Send for sample copies.

Sunday-School Requisites.

The following list of things is needed in all Sunday-schools:

Testaments, Flexible, red edge, per doz.....$1 00
Minute Books, each..... 50
Class Books, per doz 75
Union Primers, with fine engravings, per doz..... 70

New and Beautiful Sunday-School Cards.

"The Gem," 50 picture cards, each with Bible Text, verse of hymn..... 35
250 Reward Tickets—verse of Scripture—red or blue, 80

Miscellaneous Works.

☞ We are prepared to furnish any book in the market at publishers' retail price. Religious works a specialty.

Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress.—An excellent edition of this good work, printed on good paper, finely illustrated with forty engravings, at the low price of $1 00 per copy.

Brown's Pocket Concordance. This is a very reliable, low-priced work, and very handy for reference. Price, 50 cents.

Biblical Antiquities.—By John Nevin. Gives a concise account of Bible times and customs, invaluable to all students of Bible subjects. Price $1.50.

Barnes' Notes. On the New Testament, 11 vols cloth, $16 50. Barnes' Notes on the Psalms, 3 vols the set, $3 50. Barnes' Notes on Daniel, 1 vol $1.50. Barnes' Notes on Isaiah, 2 vols the set, $3.00. Barnes' Notes on Job, 2 vols. the set, $3.00.

Close Communion.—By Landon West Treats this important subject in a simple though conclusive manner. Price 50 cents.

Cruden's Concordance.—A very complete work Price, cloth, $1 50, sheep, $3 00

Companion to the Bible.—This valuable work is so full of instruction that it can not fail to be of great benefit to every Christian Price $1 75.

Campbell and Owen's Debate.—Contains a complete investigation of the evidences of Christianity Price, $1 50.

Classified Minutes of Annual Meeting.—A work of rare interest for all who desire to be well informed in the church work, from the early days of our Brethren until the present. Price, cloth, $1 50, leather, $2 00.

Europe and Bible Lands. By D. L. Miller A book for the people more comprehensive and thorough than many higher-priced works. Price cloth, $1 50, leather, $2 00

Family Bible, with Notes and Instructions.—Contains the harmony of the Gospels, Chronology, Maps, Tables of Weights and Measures, Family Record, eight elegant illustrations, etc Price, substantially bound, $5 00.

Family Bible. This is a fine and very complete work. New and old versions of the New Testament side by side, concordance and everything usually found in Bibles of the kind. Price only $4 50. Sent by express only.

German and English Testaments.—American Bible Society Edition. Price 75 cents

Josephus' Complete Works.—Large type, 1 vol 8vo. Illustrated with many steel and wood engravings. Library sheep, $3 50

Life on Wheels. By J. S. Mohler The idea of the book is to represent the way to heaven, by using the different terms connected with an ordinary railroad. Price, single copy, 40 cents.

New Testament and Psalms with Notes.—Invaluable for Bible students, Sunday-school teachers, etc. Price, cloth, $2 00.

Origin of Single Immersion.—By Eld James Quinter. Price, 2 copies, 5 cents; 12 copies, 25 cents; 50 copies, $1 00.

Quinter and McConnell Debate.—A debate on Trine Immersion, the Lord's Supper, and Feet-washing, between Eld James Quinter (German Baptist) and Eld. N. A McConnell (Christian) held at Dry Creek, Iowa, 1867 Price, $1 50.

Reference and Pronouncing Testament.—A copious selection of parallel and illustrated passages and a classical pronunciation of the proper names and other difficult words, together with a short dictionary and gazetteer of the New Testament Price, $1 00, post-paid.

Reason and Revelation.—By R. Milligan Should be in the hands of every Bible student. Price $2 00

Sacred Geography and Antiquities.—A practical, helpful work for Bible students, ministers and Sunday-school teachers. Price, $2 25.

Smith's Bible Dictionary.—Edited by Peloubet Cloth, $2.00, leather, $3 00.

Sabbatism.—By M. M. Eshelman. Treats the Sabbath question, showing that the first day of the week is the day for assembling in worship. Price 10 cents, 15 copies $1 00.

The Christian Sabbath Defended.—By M. T. Baer. This is a reliable and interesting work on the Sabbath question, and should be widely circulated. Price, single copy, 15 cents; per dozen, $1 50.

The Law and Sabbath.—The Gospel and Lord's Day.—Why I Quit Keeping the Jewish Sabbath. The author of this pamphlet was once led to observe the Saturday-Sabbath, but has since, after a Bible examination, renounced it as error. Ample proof against keeping the Jewish Sabbath in the Christian Dispensation is given. Sixty-four pages, printed in nice, clear type. Price 20 cents; 5 copies, $1.00.

Two Sticks, or Lost Ten Tribes of Israel Discovered.—By M. M. Eshelman. Maintains that the Anglo-Saxons are the offspring of the Ten Tribes; that the Jews and Israelites are two distinct people, but will again be united in Palestine; 265 pages. Cloth, price, $1.00.

The Path of Life.—An interesting tract for everybody. Price 10 cents per copy; 100 copies $6 00.

Trine Immersion.—A vindication of the apostolic form of Christian baptism. By Eld. James Quinter A most complete and reliable work on the subject. Price, cloth, single copy, $1.25; leather, $1 75.

The House We Live In.—By Daniel Vaniman. It gives a concise account of the faith and practice of the Brethren. Price, 100 copies, 60 cents.

The Doctrine of the Brethren Defended.—A complete work on the distinctive principles of our Fraternity. Price, cloth, $1.50.

The Story of the Bible.—An excellent volume for old and young; will interest and instruct all those desiring a knowledge of the Scriptures. Price $1.00.

Universalism against Itself.—By Hall. One of the best works against Universalism. Price $1.00.

"Alexander Mack's Writings," 25 cents post-paid. Get a copy.

Announcements.

LOVE-FEASTS.

June 29, at 2 P M., Beaver Creek church, Nebr., at the house of Peter Farney, 2 miles south, and 4 miles west, of Aurora.

June 29 and 30, Franklin Co., Iowa, near Bristow

July 4, Coon River church near Panora, Iowa.

July 6, 7, and 8, Rockgrove church, Floyd county, Iowa

Aug 10 and 11, at 3 P. M., at the house of B M Peterson, Fairview congregation, Sherman Co., Kans

Sept. 7 and 8, at 3 P. M., Frederic, Monroe Co., Ia.

Sept. 7 and 8, at 10 A. M., Auglaize Chapel, ¼ mile from Dupont, Ohio, on the Clover Leaf Railroad; 2½ miles from Hartsburg, on the Nickle Plate Railroad.

Sept 7 and 8, at 2 P. M., Juniata congregation, 1 mile south and ½ mile east of Roseland, Adams Co., Neb.

Sept. 13, at 10 A. M., Sugar Creek church, Whitley Co., Ind.

Sept. 14 and 15, at 10 A. M., Sabetha, Kans.

Sept 28 and 29, at 11 A. M., English River congregation, Keokuk Co., Iowa

Oct 5, at 10 A. M., in the Vernon meeting-house Somerset congregation, Wabash Co., Ind.

Oct 12, at 4 P. M., Big Creek church, Richland Co., Illinois Conveyance will be furnished any time by notifying J. M. Forney, Parkersburg, Illinois.

Oct 10, at 10 A. M., Landessville church, Grant Co., Ind

Advice to Mothers.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. 28y1

ADVERTISEMENTS.

Rates per Inch each Insertion.

One time or more	$1 50
One month (4 times)	1 50
Three months (12 times)	1 20
Six months (26 times)	1 00
One year (52 times)	70
No advertisement accepted for less than	1 00

☞ No Cuts inserted, unless on metal base. No double-column or objectionable advertisements admitted.

ROYAL

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and can not be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders SOLD ONLY IN CANS

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO.,
106 Wall St., N. Y.

Victor Remedies!

These Remedies consist of Victor Liver Syrup, Victor Pain Balm, Victor Infant's Relief, Victor Lung Syrup, Victor Pills, Victor Liniment, Victor Poultry, Horse and Cattle Powders. These Remedies are all sold under a guarantee If you cannot get them from your merchant, send his name to us, and we will arrange so he has them in stock if he is reliable. Send for circulars Address:

VICTOR REMEDIES CO.,
5tf Frederick, Md.

EUROPE AND BIBLE LANDS!

BY D. L. MILLER.

THE large sale of this work gives abundant proof of its popularity. The eighth edition is almost exhausted, and a new edition will be necessary to supply the demand. The following partial list will give an idea of the contents of the work:

Life in Germany.—Berlin.—The King's Palace.—Dresden.—The Crown Jewels.—Women in Germany.—The City of Prague.—The Martyrdom of John Huss.—The Habits and Customs of the People.—Bro. Hope's Work in Denmark.—Old Castles and Prisons of the Middle Ages.—Paul's Preaching at Mars' Hill.—Old Temples at Athens.—The Seven Churches of Asia.—Ephesus, and the Temple of Diana.—Jaffa.—The House of Simon, the Tanner.—Plain of Sharon.—Lepers and Leprosy.—Mountains of Judea.—Jerusalem.—Place of Crucifixion.—Mount Moriah.—Solomon's Temple.—Mount Zion.—David's Tomb.—Bethlehem.—The Fields Where the Shepherds Watched their Flocks by Night.—Rachel's Tomb.—Mount of Olives.—The Garden of Gethsemane.—Jericho.—The Dead Sea.—River of Jordan.—Bethel.—The Mountains of Blessing and Cursing.—Nazareth.—Cana of Galilee.—The Sea of Galilee.—Capernaum.—Damascus.—Ruins of Baalbec.—Customs, Manners, Habits and Home Life of the Arabs.

Bro. Miller visited the places he describes and tells about them in an easy, pleasant manner, which makes the book exceedingly interesting It contains 439 pages, and 40 engravings, among which are a number of full page illustrations of Palestine scenery. It is printed on heavy, tinted paper, in clear-faced type, bound in a good, substantial manner, and will be sold at the very low price of $1 50 per copy, cloth binding, postage prepaid.

SPECIAL RATES TO MINISTERS.—In order to have a copy of the book placed in the hands of all our ministers, we make them the following liberal offer: Send one dollar for the book, and sixteen cents to pay postage, and you will receive a copy by return mail.

Agents wanted, to whom liberal terms will be given. Address all orders to

BRETHREN'S PUBLISHING CO.,
MT. MORRIS, ILL.

McShane Bell Foundry
Finest Grade of Bells.
CHIMES AND PEALS FOR CHURCHES, &c.
Send for Price and Catalogue. Address
H. McSHANE & CO.,
Mention this paper. Baltimore, Md.

J. B. COLCLESSER,

ROANOKE, HUNTINGDON CO., IND., Breeder of Purely-bred Poland China Swine. My herd is made up of the most fashionable strains known to the breed Stock recorded in C. R and O. R. Pigs and aged animals for sale. Gelts bred and for sale January and February 1890. Breeding a specialty. Correspondence or personal inspection solicited 22t25

The Original Trans-Continental Line.

The Union Pacific Railway. "The Overland Route" runs daily trains from Council Bluffs, Omaha and Kansas City to Denver, Salt Lake City, Sacramento, San Francisco, Los Angeles and Portland.

Quick time across the continent.

Elegant equipment, consisting of latest Pullman Palace Cars and Day Coaches.

The Golden Gate Special, "The Finest Train in the World" leaves Council Bluffs every Wednesday morning for San Francisco; electric light, steam heat, bath rooms, smoking rooms and observation cars are only a few of the many conveniences offered on this train.

This company has also for sale in Kansas and Colorado, 3,000,000 acres of choice farming lands; only one-tenth cash down and balance on ten years' time at seven per cent interest Fare paid over the Union Pacific by persons who go to see the land, is refunded if land is purchased.

The Union Pacific Railway company has also 3,000,000 acres of land in Wyoming and Utah for sale at very low prices. Best ranch land in the world on liberal terms.

For full information in regard to rates, timetables, maps, price of lands, etc., address,

THOS. L KIMBALL,
Gen'l Manager.
C. J SMITH,
Gen'l Land Com.
J. S TEBBETS, Gen'l Pass Ag't.
50 OMAHA, NEB.

SALESMEN Wanted, local and travelling Positions permanent Salary from start Experience unnecessary. Brown Bros., Nurserymen, Chicago, Ill.

To California.

SPECIAL parties leave Chicago every Thursday over the Santa Fe Route through to California. These parties are accompanied by a special Conductor whose duty it is to look after the comfort and security of passengers en route, and this feature makes the journey pleasant. Low rates are made for persons joining these parties.

If you think of going to California write to or call upon James Wallace, 212 Clark Street, Chicago, Ill.

The Monon Route.

THIS road is running a fine line of Pullman Buffet Sleepers between Chicago and Indianapolis, Cincinnati and Louisville, in connection with the fast Florida express trains.

For full information, address, E. O. McCORMICK, Gen'l Pass Agt., Adams Express Building, Chicago. (City Ticket Office ,73 Clark St.)

Brethren's Quarterly.

ORDERS may be sent in at once for the Quarterly for the third quarter of 1889 Price, three copies, 25 cents; eight copies 40 cents; fifty copies and over, four cents each. Address,

BRETHREN'S PUBLISHING CO.,
Mt Morris, Ill.
Or, Huntingdon Pa.

THE HANDSOMEST TRAINS IN THE WORLD

ARE THE FAST EXPRESS OF THE

SANTA FE ROUTE!

NOW RUNNING DAILY BETWEEN

CHICAGO AND KANSAS CITY

These trains leave Chicago at 5:00 P. M., and Kansas City at 6 35 P. M. Through first and second class Pullman sleepers between Chicago and California without change, leaving Chicago daily at 11:30 P. M.

EMMONS BLAINE,
GEN'L PASS. AGT.

CLASSIFIED MINUTES OF ANNUAL MEETING.

In order to introduce this excellent work more fully in all parts of the Brotherhood, we would like to secure a live, energetic agent in every congregation to whom we will give special inducements; terms made known on application. Address, Brethren's Publishing Co.

Wanted!

We want brethren in every district to sell our Fertilizers. We manufacture a number of different grades, so as to suit all buyers, viz,

Blood and Bone Dissolved, Raw Bone and Potash, High Grade Super Phosphate of Bone, Soluble Ammoniated Bone Phosphate and Chemicals!

All the above brands have stood the test for years, and in field contests have proved to be second to none on the market.

We guarantee to keep up the present high standard of these different brands, and feel assured you can save money by buying from us Write for terms, circulars, etc. Address,

D. BLOCHER & CO.,
11m6 Gettysburg, Pa.

Certificates of Membership.

These Certificates are bound in book-form, and contain a stub which is very convenient for reference. By using these books, a complete record may be kept of all certificates issued, when given, and by whom signed. Sent, post-paid, for 50 cents per copy. Address this office.

Brethren's Envelopes!

Send for a package of these Envelopes, of which over fifty thousand have been sold in the past ten years. They may spread the doctrine of the Brethren everywhere. Price, per package of 25, 15cts; per 100, 40cts. Address this office.

Alexander Mack's Writings!

THOSE who have not yet secured a copy of this excellent work, should embrace the opportunity of getting one at the low price at which it is now offered. A copy should be in the library of every brother. Price, 25 cts. per copy, with special inducements to agents. Address this office.

WHEN YOU TRAVEL

Take the
Line selected by the United States Government to carry the Fast Mail,—the

Burlington Route
C. B. & Q. R. R.

As it is the Line running Through Trains to and from the following cities and towns on its own Lines:

CHICAGO,
AURORA, OTTAWA,
STREATOR, ROCKFORD, DUBUQUE,
LA CROSSE, ST. PAUL, MINNEAPOLIS,
MENDOTA, PEORIA, GALESBURG, ST. LOUIS,
QUINCY, KEOKUK, BURLINGTON, WASHINGTON,
OSKALOOSA, DES MOINES, CHARITON,
CRESTON, ST. JOSEPH, ATCHISON,
KANSAS CITY, NEBRASKA CITY,
OMAHA, COUNCIL BLUFFS,
LINCOLN & DENVER,

Making Direct Connections
TO AND FROM

NEW YORK,
BALTIMORE, WASHINGTON,
CINCINNATI, PHILADELPHIA, BOSTON,
NEW ORLEANS, LOUISVILLE, SAN FRANCISCO,
LOS ANGELES, SALT LAKE CITY, COLORADO AND
PACIFIC COAST RESORTS, CITY OF MEXICO,
PORTLAND, OREGON, MANITOBA,
VICTORIA AND PUGET SOUND
POINTS.

Good Equipment,
Good Service,
Good Connection.

For information concerning the Burlington Route, apply to the nearest Ticket Agent of the C., B. & Q. or connecting railroads.

HENRY B. STONE, General Manager,
PAUL MORTON, Gen'l Pass. & Ticket Agt.,
CHICAGO, ILL.

THE GOSPEL MESSENGER.

"Set for the Defense of the Gospel."

Vol. 27. Old Series. Mt. Morris, Ill., and Huntingdon, Pa., July 2, 1889. No. 26.

The Gospel Messenger.

H. B. BRUMBAUGH, Editor,
And Business Manager of the Eastern House, Box 50, Huntingdon, Pa.

"HAVE courage enough to review your own conduct, to condemn it where you detect faults, to amend it to the best of your ability, to make good resolves for future guidance, and to keep them."

"THE moral cement of society is virtue; it unites and preserves, while vice separates and destroys. The good may well be termed the salt of the earth; for where there is no integrity there can be no confidence, and where there is no confidence there can be no unanimity."

THE FLOOD.

(Concluded.)

OF the soil there was nothing left but the under clay, the sand and stones resembling the bed of a river that had been turned from its course. Such is the appearance of the locations of all the towns and boroughs as you approach Johnstown proper, except occasional places where the debris and drift of the flood were stayed by holds that could not be removed. In these were crushed manufactories with their ponderous machinery, crushed houses, their furniture, and, in many cases, their occupants, piled up in heaps thirty and forty feet high and hundreds of feet long and wide. As we approached the city, these piles of debris became more frequent, and along by the bed of where the current was, there were lying, partly imbedded in the sand, great engines, heavy iron rollers, railroad engines and heavy machinery of every description.

All this seemed to us desolation undescribed, and we did not have time to think that worse was still to follow. This was all the destruction of property, financial loss. We had not yet seen the woes of human sorrow, those who were sorrowing and weeping and refused to be comforted because of the dear ones that had sunk beneath the flood—a loss that can be felt but not seen in its fulness.

It was in the city proper where desolation and destruction ran wild. Here it was that the other towns were found in the great stacks of debris and towering drifts, wedged in among which were found and being found the hundreds of citizens who had been caught in the Mælstrom of death. To this place the survivors and the thousands of visitors and workmen had gathered. Because here was the bulk of the dead, the morgues were here, and thousands of men were at work at different points, separating the debris and taking out the dead.

At the loss of property, the worldly brain has been crazed, and strong men have been bowed down in grief and untold sorrow, but the loss felt by the thousands who crowd around these morgues, is of such a description that can not be measured by barns, and lands, and gold, and silver. It was a loss that severed the tenderest and most sacred ties that are known or experienced in life. The spirit that pervaded the people was sad beyond description. If the loss had been only a few or a score, the bereft ones would have been confined largely to the few immediate friends. But in this case there were thousands of grief-stricken ones for every dead body found, as they were not known until cleaned and placed in the morgue. As one after another was placed there for identification, every one that had been bereft was anxious to see, and expected to recognize, a child, father, mother, or brother, or sister that had been engulfed in the flood.

Need we wonder that there was weeping and mourning at a scene so sad? We had been often in the presence of death before, but never did we feel as we felt while standing in the streets of this deluged city. Why our Heavenly Father permitted this great calamity we know not. There is one thing we learned. It was a city of saloons, and we were informed that there were producers who boasted of the large majority they would roll up against prohibition. How vain their boasting, as out of one hundred and thirty-eight saloons we are told only two were left. Were it not for the good people who are compelled to live among these dens of iniquity, how much better our world would be if every one of them were swept out of existence! What sorrow, what woe, what death and ruin such a flood would deliver us from! Sin destroyed Sodom and the cities of the plains. Sin threatened Nineveh but it was saved by a timely repentance. Should not these judgments and the growing calamities that are coming to us teach us that the sword of vengeance may be hanging over our wickedness and that these things are calling us to repentance?

Our visit to the stricken city was a sad one, but while there, many suggestive thoughts were called forth, which we would be pleased to present had we the space and time to write them out. In all these things there is an Over-ruling Power and a Guiding Hand. Let us ever give heed to the handwriting that God places on the wall!

OUR ANNUAL CONFERENCE.

As it was agreed upon, and arranged, that we should take charge of the report and the correction of copy for the press, while Bro. D. L. Miller was to take notes of the meeting, and write out a report, we left that part of the work entirely in his charge, yet at this date we feel like presenting a few thoughts, as circumstances suggested them to us.

The attending of these meetings has generally afforded us much enjoyment — we hope of the better kind. And as we were deprived of the pleasure of taking part at the one held at North Manchester on account of the sad death that occurred at that time, it was a special pleasure to us to be present at the late meeting held with our brethren at Harrisonburg. On account of the late flood our trip to the place was not so rapid and enjoyable as usual, yet no harm befell us on the way, though we were necessitated to make the latter part of our journey on Sunday morning, which was much against our wishes, especially as we were conveyed upon an excursion train, and we were tormented and disgusted by the rabble that crowded on by the way. This was a feature of the meeting that should be, and indeed must be, stopped. Excursion trains should not be allowed to run to the place of meeting on the Sabbath Day. It results in a desecration of the day, and must be displeasing to our Heavenly Father. The design of the major part of those who thus come together, does not seem to be to worship God, but to have a regular good time or frolic. We noticed that a very small percentage of them attended the services. The order of the day, by a large number, was to eat, drink and promenade.

Another objectionable feature of the day was the noise and confusion in and about the restaurant and boarding hall, and the contingent merchandising on the Lord's Day.

The running of excursion trains was largely to blame for this unnecessary desecration, and we hope, will be avoided in the future.

Our place of stay during the meeting was with the Misses Alexander, and was a very pleasant home indeed. Here lived our own family, Bro. J. B. B., D. L. Miller and wife, and Bro. Amick—having together the greater part of the MESSENGER family. This annual meeting of our firm members is always pleasant, and adds much to the enjoyment of the meeting. We also had with us a number of other brethren and sisters with whom we were pleased to meet and worship. Everything was done, on the part of the sisters of this household to make our stay with them pleasant, and we remember our short stay at Harrisonburg with feelings of pleasure.

The meeting and greeting of dear ones, both well known, and strangers, was greatly appreciated, and is one among the most desirable features of the meeting. The associating together of familiar and Christian spirits forms the chain that binds us together as a church and people. It greatly adds to our well-being and the promotion of our common cause.

Had it not been for the extremely wet weather, and the mud that resulted therefrom, the meeting would have been an unusually pleasant one.

The Virginia brethren and sisters put on their best efforts to accommodate their visiting brethren and sisters, and were successful as far as the circumstances would permit. On the whole, our meeting was a good one, and we hope may prove a blessing to the church and to the cause of pure religion in the world.

Allen Boyer 10490

ESSAYS.

"Study to show thyself approved unto God; a workman that needeth not be ashamed, rightly dividing the Word of Truth."

SEED.

"A wonderful thing is a seed—
The one thing deathless forever!
The one thing changeless, utterly true—
Forever old, and forever new,
And fickle und faithless never.

"Plant blessings, and blessings will bloom;
Plant hate, and hate will grow;
You can sow to-day—to-morrow shall bring
The blossom that proves what sort of a thing
Is the seed, the seed that you sow."

—Selected.

TRINE IMMERSION.

BY A. W. REESE.

Part Seven.—The "Mode" of Baptism.

"Go ye, therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost."—Matt. 28: 19.

WE claim that the Greek language settles the "mode" of Christian baptism. We further claim that the English translation of the New Testament Scriptures while not so absolutely clear as the original Greek, strongly infers that immersion by a threefold action is that baptism commanded by Christ. We say nothing of the late "Revised Edition" because we see but little, if any, improvement on the commonly received version of King James. The former seems but little likely to supersede in general favor, the old-fashioned Bible of our fathers. Many of our brethren, I observe, often refer to the German text as authority on obscure passages in our English version of the Word. But we fail to see much advantage in this, because the German is but a translation of the Greek as is the English also. Both have to go to the same fountain-head, with this further disadvantage that the English reader with his German text gets his Scripture third hand, going through two distinct and separate translations instead of one.

We come now, in the closing pages of these sketches, to consider the historical account of the baptismal "mode." I might further say, upon the very threshold of this part of our investigation, that the authority we now present is of the very highest respectability and commends itself to the serious consideration of every intelligent and earnest seeker after the Truth. It is a serious mistake and an evasion of all just conclusions, to cast any respectable evidence away in our researches upon a subject so important as this. This is the more inconsistent when we are quite willing to admit, on non-controversial points, evidence of the same class. All we know of the past history of the race, outside of the Bible, we obtain from human testimony, whose veracity we can not question. We appeal to profane history to sustain divine prophecy, involving such points as the fall of kingdoms, empires, dynasties, and cities—the most powerful and populous on the face of the earth. Why, then, reject the same—nay, better human evidence — simply because it is human and not Divine testimony, when we come to investigate the "mode" of Christian baptism? We say better class of evidence, because of the high moral character of the Fathers of church history.

The "Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire," is an English Classic, everywhere recognized as authority on the subjects treated. Hume's "History of England" stands in the same class, and yet the morals of their authors were not of the highest type, to say the least. The brilliant genius of even so dissolute a man as Lord Byron, could link to immortal verse the sublime and awful pageantry of the field of Waterloo, when to the proud Imperial eagles of France "The red eye of battle was shut in despair," when over the trampled, broken, routed, panic-struck hosts of the Great Butcher of Europe, the triumphant legions of outraged humanity swept like an irresistible avalanche of destruction and death;

"And he, who knew but duty's iron crown,
On that loud Sabbath shook the spoiler down."

With these preliminary reflections we proceed to the consideration of the evidence furnished on the subject of baptism by the early Fathers of the church. I have omitted some of the earliest writers of the first century, because, while all of them speak of baptism as immersion, a few have not specified the rite as trine immersion. Neither space nor time admit of more than a brief quotation from these venerable witnesses to the Truth.

FIRST CENTURY.

DYONYSIUS—THE AREOPAGITE,

Member of the illustrious council of the Areopagus, converted by the sermon of St. Paul on Mars' Hill at Athens. This celebrated council was composed of the wisest and purest men in Greece. This is the testimony of Dyonysius: "The symbolic teaching, therefore, mystically instructs him who is baptized, according to sacred rite, to imitate, by the three immersions in the water, the death and the burial for three days and three nights, of Jesus, the Life-giver, for it is conceded to man to imitate him."

JUSTIN MARTYR.

"We then lead them to a place where there is water, and there they are regenerated, as we also were, for they are then washed in that water, in the name of the God the Father and Lord of the universe, and of our Savior Jesus Christ, and of the Holy Spirit." Make any grammatical construction out of this language of Justin Martyr that does not imply trine immersion, if you can.

TERTULLIAN.

"He (Christ) gave as his last command that they should immerse into the Father, and the Son, and the Holy Ghost, not into one person. For we are immersed not once but thrice—at the naming of every person of the Trinity."

ST. BASIL.

"In three immersions, therefore, and in the same number of invocations, the great mystery of baptism is finished, so that both the figure of death is exhibited and the souls of the baptized are illuminated by the transmission (or gift) of the knowledge of God."

ST. JEROME.

"We are thrice dipped in water, that the mystery of the Trinity may appear to be but one; and, therefore, though we be thrice put under the water, to represent the mystery of the Trinity, yet it is reputed but one baptism."

ST. AMBROSE.

"Thou wast asked, 'Dost thou believe in God, the Father Almighty?' and thou believe in God, the Father Almighty?' and thou repliedst, 'I believe!' and wast dipped; that is, buried. A second demand was made, 'Dost thou believe in Jesus our Lord and in his cross?' Thou answeredst again, 'I believe!' and wast dipped; therefore, thou wast buried with Christ, for he that was buried with Christ, rises again with Christ. A third time the question was repeated, 'Dost thou believe in the Holy Ghost?' and thy answer was, "I believe!' then thou wast dipped a third time, that thy triple confession might absolve thee from the various offenses of thy former life."

THIRD CENTURY.

CYRIL OF JERUSALEM.

"You made the saving confession and descended thrice into the water, and again ascended, thus shadowing forth, by means of a symbol, the three days' burial of Christ."

FIFTH CENTURY.

THEODORET—BISHOP OF CYRUS.

"He (Eunomius) subverted the law of holy baptism, which had been handed down from the beginning, from the Lord and the apostles, and made a contrary law, asserting that it is not necessary to immerse the candidate for baptism thrice, nor to mention the names of the Trinity, but to immerse once only into the death of Christ."

SIXTH CENTURY.

PELAGIUS—BISHOP OF ROME.

"There are many who say that they baptize in the name of Christ alone and by a single immersion; but the Gospel command, which was given by God himself, and our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, reminds us that we should administer holy baptism to every one in the name of the Trinity and by trine immersion: for our Lord said to his disciples, 'Go, baptize all nations, in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost."

EIGHTH CENTURY.

JOHN DAMASCENE.

"The rite of baptism is a type of Christ's death, for by trine immersion baptism portrays the three days of our Lord's burial."

I might say here, in justice to these venerable witnesses of antiquity, that the italics in all of the foregoing quotations are mine.

Another writer, whom I overlooked, is CHRYSOSTOM.

He says, "Christ delivered to his disciples one baptism in three immersions of the body, when he said to them, 'Go, teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost.'"

Much more testimony might be presented from the voluminous pages of church history, but the preceding declarations are deemed sufficient for the present purpose of the author of these sketches. A mere outline of the historical evidence in favor of trine immersion has here been given; chiefly because other and abler brethren than the writer have already occupied this peculiar field of investigation, and it would scarcely be profitable to again go over the ground. After an exhaustive research we find an almost unanimous concurrence of the first church historians as to the fact that the "one baptism" of the Gospel was by trine immersion. Until the time of Eunomius, near the close of the fourth century of the Christian era, we find no trace of single immersion among the primitive followers of our blessed Savior. There is no mention of it among the writings of the early Fathers of the church. Says Chrystal, a modern writer on the "Modes of Baptism," "Nothing can be found in favor of using any of the compendious modes of pouring and sprinkling in the case of a well person, in the Fathers of the first six hundred years nor in the rubrics or councils, ecumenical or provincial, for at least 1200 years after Christ."

No one familiar with the Greek tongue, the language in which the Scriptures of the New Testament were first written and in which our Savior gave the Divine commission, can deny the fact that the Greek verb baptizo, in its primary significance, means to immerse, or that it belongs eminently to that class of Greek verbs that imply frequentative or continuous action for its completion; nor can any intelligent and conscientious student fail to admit that everywhere in the English version of the New Testament when the word baptize is used in reference to that ordinance of the church called baptism, the original Greek verb, baptizo, is the word used to denote the baptism commanded by Christ.

The uniform practice of the primitive church, for nearly four hundred years, was to baptize by trine immersion, and it is a significant fact that the entire Greek church, from its foundation to the present day, has never changed that mode. Single immersion, first introduced by Eunomius in the latter part of the fourth century, was an innovation of the established practice, and in violation of the "one baptism" and the "one faith." Sprinkling, affusion, or pouring, first permitted as clinic baptism, was, if possible, a more glaring departure from the teachings of the Divine Word, and it is a noticeable fact, that, as men have lost sight of the fact, that the mode of the ordinance is as much Divine as the ordinance itself, baptism has sunk in importance in the precise ratio with which liberties have been taken in the interpretation of the clear light of God's most sacred Word. The careful observer can not fail to perceive that the tendency of modern theologic teaching is largely in this direction. Baptism occupies a very unimportant position in the superstructure of popular Christianity of the present day. When a man is led to believe that anything will do for baptism, the next step is easily reached —that he need not be baptized at all—that in modern theologic phraseology, baptism is not essential to salvation. And this, in the face of the solemn declaration, "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved!"

It will be perceived that a mere outline of the HISTORICAL evidence has been given in favor of TRINE IMMERSION. The chief reason for this is not in the paucity of the material but because other and abler brethren have written extensively on this feature of the case. We are, furthermore, entirely satisfied to rest our cause on the plain teachings of the ENGLISH VERSION of the Scriptures of Divine Truth as compared with "the commandments and traditions of men." In hoc signum vincent. To that Word we carry our solemn and final appeal. It is the pillar of cloud by day and the flaming pillar of fire by night.

Not by human opinions, not by "vain philosophy," not by man-made "creeds," but by that awful Word shall we be judged in the last stupendous day.

(Conclusion.)

THE END.

BY M. H. MILLER.

KIND reader, have you ever thought seriously of the end,—the end of this day, the end of this month, the end of this year, the end of this life, — indeed, the end of all earthly things? The end is surely coming! It may be near! This life is short and uncertain at best, and we can not afford to be thoughtless of the end! A few more rising and setting suns, and we shall be gone,—numbered with the dead!

The end may come when we are least expecting it. "Long life, many days yet,"—you may be saying. Yes, you may think, "To-morrow shall be as this day and much more abundant," but God may say to you as he did to the rich man of old, "Thou fool, this night thy soul shall be required of thee, then whose shall those things be which thou hast provided?"

The end may come suddenly as a flash of lightning or stealthily as a thief in the night, "For in such an hour as ye think not, the Son of man cometh."

The end may come and find you unprepared for it. Sinner, you cannot afford to lose such valuable time when you have no promise of the morrow. Thy days, thy life, thy all belong to the Lord. He is the Creator, the Preserver of all good things, and more than that, we are bought with a price that cannot be estimated, therefore, we are not our own.

"Prepare to meet thy God," is an important question, and should lead you to "Remember thy Creator in the days of thy youth." Remember him by obeying him. Thus we prepare ourselves to meet him when the end comes.

"Procrastination is the thief of time." Do not let it rob you of the golden opportunities afforded you to prepare for the end. While life, health, and strength are granted, prepare for the end! Be prepared and watch and pray! Listen, you may be near the shore and fail to notice the near approach of the breakers. The end may be reached suddenly, and, if unprepared for the event, the sudden shock may hurl you into eternal destruction. If prepared, and on the watch when the end is reached, gradually or sudden, you can be ready to leap ashore, accompanied by the shining host, joyously conducted through the gates into the city of our God!

"That awful day will surely come,
The appointed hour makes haste
When I must stand before my Judge,
And pass the solemn test."

HOME, SWEET HOME!

BY RENA S. MILLER.

"HOME is the rainbow of life." All people desire a home where they can lay aside busy cares and find sweet comfort and rest.

There are many things essential to make a good home. Much depends upon the wife and mother in making home pleasant. Her smiles, her kind words, her pleasant looks, her never-tiring, ever-ready hands can bring sunshine into the most dreary cottage.

Another essential to a good home is order. "God is a God of order," and "order is heaven's first law." If we desire our homes here to be typical of heaven's joys we must have order in them.

Another essential is love. No home can be happy without love. There would be no enjoyment in heaven were not love, there. We sometimes sing:

"In heaven above, where all is love,
There'll be no sorrow there."

If we are wise in home duties, we will make a strong effort to inspire love, for if heaven be robbed of her glory by the absence of love, how much more our earthly homes!

Another essential is politeness. Is it not heaven-like to enter the home where parents and children pay due respect to one another? Parents and children should treat each other politely.

Genuine politeness is a great fosterer of domestic love, and those who are habitually polished at home, are those who exhibit good manners when abroad. When parents receive any little attention from their children, they should thank them for it. They should ask a favor only in a courteous way, never reply to questions in monosyllables, or indulge in the rudeness of paying no attention to a question, for such an example will be surely followed by the children.

Parents sometimes thoughtlessly allow their children to form habits of disrespect in the home circle which crop out in the bad manners afterwards displayed by them in society.

Another essential to a true home is piety. No home can realize true happiness unless its inmates are true, devoted Christians. It is in this kind of a home that we can find most comfort. It is there that our finer sensibilities are aroused and tuned to harmony with the heavenly beings.

Christians should strive to lead noble and pure lives, and live on a higher plane, that by their example all homes may be made happy.

Robins, Iowa.

MYSTERY OF GODLINESS.

BY C. H. BALSBAUGH.

To those who gathered around my Couch on the Feast Days, June 2nd and 3rd:—

MANY of your faces I knew, and many I there saw for the first time; but your hearts I saw not, or very dimly; nor your mind. Looks and words are veils as well as revelations. The Humanity of Jesus hid more than it expressed. We try our utmost to utter our deepest and best: Jesus had constantly to restrain Himself, lest more of His Divinity come out than man could bear. To work miracles was not with Him an effort, but not to work them. The perpetual strain of Jesus was, being very God, to be and appear properly human.

Many of you, while crowding my little apartment said little: but all of you, I am sure, came out of sympathy and left with best wishes. Our next meeting will be at the Judgment seat of Christ. One brother, from Astoria, Illinois, gave me the title and subject of this letter. He said, "give me all the information you can how I may become holy." Significant, solemn, fundamental is such a request. I can tell but little, knowing but little. The hunger and thirst I have, blessed be God, but the feeding and filling is slow. But the hunger itself is a precious part of the blessing. The appetite which God creates will be eternally satisfied; and the larger and sweeter the Bread, the deeper still the hunger, prophesying yet greater abundance and more ecstatic fruition.

Holiness is imperative, "Without it no man shall see the Lord." "Be holy, for I am holy." The necessity and the reasons are emphasized by God Himself. The gate is strait and the way narrow, and few find it. Many called, few chosen. Not saying, Lord, Lord, but being like Him, is the token of Divine citizenship. "Looking unto Jesus, studying Him, appropriating Him, "growing up unto Him in all things," "CHANGED INTO THE SAME IMAGE FROM GLORY TO GLORY," SEEING HIM AS HE IS, AND BEING LIKE HIM." This is holiness, perfect, yet ever perfecting. This is the "high calling of God in Christ Jesus." Lower standard cannot be given; lower attainment would not be salvation. "Who shall not fear Thee, O Lord, and glorify thy name? for thou only art holy." Rev. 15:4.

The garden of Eden, the Tabernacle of witness, the Temple of Jerusalem, and the "City which hath foundations, whose Builder and Maker is God," are the four great symbolic representations of what God and Heaven are, and what man must be in order to fellowship and enjoy God. To study these is a life-work, and to exemplify their meaning is to be "pure as He is pure." There is much knowledge of doctrine in Christendom, but not much holiness. "Knowledge puffeth up, but love,—the very essence of the Holy One of Eternity—"edifieth." Where love is wanting, holiness is a mere theory, if even that, and God an empty name. Holiness can be perfected only in the fear of God, and by cleansing ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and of the spirit. 2 Cor. 7:1. How does the use of tobacco show in the awful light of the Great White Throne? Is there no filthiness in it repulsive to the immaculate God-man, who was "holy, harmless, undefiled, and separate from sinners?" Ponder it well, ye smokers, chewers, and snuffers, and ask yourselves as in the very presence of the tragedy of Golgotha, whether it is consistent with the life of God manifested in the flesh? Let us probe a little deeper. What of the "chambering and wantonness" which debauches so largely the conjugal relation in the church. Rom. 13:13. "God hath not called us unto UNCLEANNESS, but unto HOLINESS." 1 Thess. 4:7. Is unrestrained lust, even within legal limits, compatible with the "holiness which becometh saints?" "The perfect law of liberty" is God incarnate. He came among us through the organic arrangement, for the propagation of all life, and thereby testified the Divine purpose of the generative function. How can we contemplate 1 Thess. 5:23, and plead for indulgence? Are we not afraid of the very thought of undue license? In 2 Cor. 10:5, we find the very consummation of holiness. That is the pinnacle on which God would have us stand, our miter blazing with the inscription which represents our entire being,—"HOLINESS TO THE LORD." This is not merely ideal, much less visionary, but the sober, eternal necessity of moral being. Lest any be discouraged, accept as an honest, available provision 2 Cor. 3:4, 5; Eph. 3:20, Col. 2:10, Philpp. 4:13, and 1 Cor. 1:30. Every word in these passages is the pure gold of the Upper Sanctuary, and will enrich us for an "abundant entrance into the everlasting kingdom of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ." Matt. 5:8; Rev. 21:27. Salvation is no bagatelle. It cost God his Son, and costs us our life.

You inquire as to the best books on "Holiness." This reminds me of an incident in my own history. Perhaps I am not exaggerating when I say I have read as widely on the subject as any one in the Brotherhood. My hunger has for years been intense, and I scanned the shelves of many a bookstore for new titles. One day I entered a large depository of religious literature, and said to the proprietor, "Can you hand me the best work on 'Holiness' in the English language?" He promptly replied, "I can," and quietly handed me the BIBLE. I was rebuked, and went home resolved to stick closer to "the volume of the Book" than ever. The Lord must sanctify, and the Truth is the instrument. John 17:17, 19. O that we could get into our heart of hearts that wonderful Sacerdotal prayer of our Great High-Priest! When "that day" is ours we shall verily know the thrilling verification of John 14:20. O what marvelous things our blessed Jesus would do for us if we would let Him. But self in some form must be caressed even if our eternal interests are jeopardized, or even sacrificed. The right hand and foot must go, the right eye cannot be spared, and even life itself must be given up, if we would be joint-heirs with the All-holy. To prevail with God is to pray mightily, and great prayer, which counts with God, means great self-sacrifice, and where these abound "the God of peace will bruise Satan under our feet shortly," and fill us with "all the fullness of God." Self and Emmanuel are antagonisms. Both can not rule. Jesus claims exclusive sovereignty. Are we His according to the necessary principle of our relation, as Creator and creature, king and subject, Savior and sinner? Does his indwelling permeate and control us as the life of our life? "We are not our own," we "love not unto ourselves." 1 Cor. 6:19, 20, and 2 Cor. 5:14, 15. Salvation is not getting into Heaven, but getting Heaven into us. O that mysterious and wonderful identification and inter-communion. John 17:21, 22, 23.

MEN who think for themselves may not believe quite so much as those who take what they have from hearsay; but it is apt to be a better quality of faith.

"I DID NOT MEAN TO DO IT."

BY WM. M. LYON.

WHEN children, in playing, accidentally hurt each other, it is common to hear them use the expression which forms the subject of this article. They did not mean to do it, yet it is done. Go through our jails and penitentiaries and ask their inmates, "Why are you here?" and they will invariably reply, "I had better intentions, I never thought of coming to this."

Visit the death-chamber of the unconverted, and ask why he is not prepared to pass into eternity, and the answer will be, "I never meant to die this way."

How true the saying of a certain writer, "The way to hell is paved with good intentions." Satan does not care at all how many good resolutions we may make, just so we do not carry them out. It matters not to him how many promises the sinner makes, if he is not careful to fulfill them. When Elisha, the prophet, told Hazael, the king of Syria, of the infamous course that he should take in gaining the throne of his master (2 Kings 8 12), it is evident that the ambitious claimant shrank with horror from such wicked proceedings, yet his subsequent history reveals the sad fact that the predictions of Elisha were literally accomplished. According to his own language, it seems probable that he even exceeded in wickedness that which he had thought impossible.

The history of the human race is one continuous repetition of the lamentable fact, "The good I would, I do not." Rom. 7:19. (What a pity though, that this cannot be used in its connected sense.)

Let us remember that Paul was battling with sin when he used the above expression. He does not say, "The good I intend to do by and by," but he is already wrestling with God for salvation. It is the sinner who says, "The good that I mean to do after a while."

Fair promises and good intentions go ahead, while dull action and slow doing lag slowly on behind. The devil is never so badly beaten as when action overtakes promise.

I wish to appeal to our dear friends, especially the young, who are out of Christ, let not Satan thus rob you of heaven. How many have been called away within the last year, who have had to say, "I'm not ready to die; I had expected to do better, but now it is too late!" They did not mean to miss heaven, but the sun of life went down before they were ready to work; night came and it was too late.

Our subject will also apply in a certain sense to many who already claim to be Christians. "Wherefore let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall." 1 Cor. 10:12. "Though all should be offended, yet will not I" (Mark 14:19), and, "Lord, I am ready to go with thee both into prison and to death" (Luke 22:33), yet in spite of all these strong declarations and good intentions, the great Apostle made a complete failure. When his Master told him that he would fail when the critical hour should arrive, he would not believe him. If meaning were doing, what a wonderful change there would often be in results! Well doing, not well meaning, then, will only answer the purpose in that great day.

Union Bridge, Md.

THE MAN OF SORROWS.

BY CHRISTIAN HOPE.

"Who hath believed our report? and to whom is the arm of the Lord revealed?"—Is. 53:1.

THE plant is still tender, the ground still dry, —his form and comeliness are still hidden from human eyes. The understanding of man is still darkened,—there is still no beauty that we should desire HIM.

He is despised and rejected of man,—"A MAN OF SORROWS" and acquainted with grief. We hid, as it were, "our faces from him; he was despised and we esteemed him not."

While some of his doctrine is admired, and while it has its worshippers, its servants, it also has opponents. While thousands donate for the spreading of its doctrines, and many die for its vindication, others make it a source of gain,—a cloak for sinful lusts. Christ is the author of our salvation, by whom all may prosper who really desire HIM.

Take away the treasures of heaven, and you shut out promises of eternal gain. Yes, you let the man of sorrow remain alone,—poor and despised. Who will come up and say: Take away all else and give me but him!

How about a woman marrying only for her lover's money,—confessing love only to share his honor and power? What about you, if there is nothing but selfish greed for gain, but no love, no affection, no esteem for that person whom we introduce in our text?

"Blessed," you say, "are they that keep his commandments that they may have right to the tree of life and enter in through the gates into the city." Rev. 22:14. True, but even though you have the gift of prophecy, the understanding of all mystery, and all knowledge, and had all faith so you could remove mountains, if you have not love, YOU ARE NOTHING. Should you even bestow all your goods to feed the poor, and, out of zeal for his teaching, give your body to be burned, if you have not love,—no esteem for "the man of sorrow," you are nothing. 1 Cor. 13.

If you comply with his ordinances, if the sacraments were ever so legally administered to you, should your heart not be right in his eyes, you can have no part, whatever, in the sacred promises. It is the esteem of the man, your heart connection with him, and not your mere compliance with ordinances that will seal your fate here and hereafter. "To reserve anything for self is destruction; and to comply with ordinances for gain is a curse." Acts 5:3, 4; 8:13, 20.

"The man of sorrows" has an aim as well as a want, which is, at present, centred in getting himself a bride. He wants to win her faith and love. When he wins her, and when she has sealed her covenant in the baptismal water, when her energies are stirred to action by love to him, then she is told: "If you love me, keep my commandments." John 14:15. If it was death to touch the ark, when not set apart for that work by God, what will it be for any one to touch the commands far holier than those of old, unless you regard the Lord's "if" and take proper care that you are prompted by love? Consider "He that loveth not, knoweth not God," for "God is love." "We love him because he first loved us." 1 John 4:8, 19.

Love begets love, but God being love, it can only issue from him. Man only gets it by receiving the germ from him. It can grow but never originate in man.

The failures of Christendom to-day, are two-fold:

1. To make people content with accepting in their knowledge that God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto himself.

2. To stimulate their members to untimely action in sacramental rites and divine regulations, for fear of damnation and hell.

James denounces the idea of faith without works. James 2:14, 20. God pleads with his servants: "Stir not up nor awaken my love till he please." Songs of Solomon 2:7; 3:5; 8:4. The Master's warning—"If ye love me,"—show plainly that undue stirring is extremely dangerous. "Feed my lambs," John 21: 14, 17,—do not use compulsion, that is the only proper and true way.

A PHOTOGRAPH IN LETTERS.

Do you want it? It is man's likeness taken by divine process, and applied to any one and all. By looking carefully at your own features, you may learn to esteem "the man of sorrows," and apply to him for a better one.

God asks: "Are you better than others?" The answer is "No, they are all under sin." His picture shows that you are not righteous,—you have no understanding, you do not seek after God, —you have gone out of the way,—you have become unprofitable, you do not do good. Look, please, at yourself in the mirror of God, Rom. 3: 9, 13, and you will find your case extremely sad. You will know how nature will develop you, or how it has left you. Try and better it, and your experience will be down, down in the mire of guilt and ruin, but at the bottom of the knowledge of self, as God pictures you, is gathered the hope of immortal glory. There is begotten the possibility of loving him "the man of sorrow," our dear Redeemer.

The man of sorrows is a pleasure to God. He came to the banks of Jordan, and was baptized in its liquid stream. He came,—a partaker of flesh and blood like we are, not in the nature of angels, but in the seed of Abraham. Heb. 2: 14, 16.

He came as a Lamb,—God's Lamb, bearing the sin of the world. John 1: 29. Tell me, did he bear yours too? If he did not, God's Word is not true. You belong to the world, your sins to the world's sins. If yours were wanting, he did bear all except that, but then the Holy Ghost would have misstated facts by not having mentioned yours. As God cannot lie, he bore it all, yours included. Note that as a fact! We invite you to look at him as he goes to fulfill all righteousness in his watery grave. Remember, it was all for you, to save and redeem you,—to atone and deliver you from your unhappy fate!

Look at him on the mountain of transfiguration! Listen to Moses and Elijah, and notice the Son of God. The work of redemption is being made manifest. Types are now passing away, and reality is at hand,—where God's substitute is to regain what was lost through Adam.

It is not all. God did not only give him for us all, he did not only love us enough to do that, but he loves us so far that he could give him, saying: "It pleased the Lord to bruise him; he has put him to grief." Isaiah 53. He was not simply to be our sin-bearer, but he was to bear our grief, —carry our sorrows, to be wounded for our transgressions, to be bruised for our iniquities,—the iniquity of us all was to be laid upon him. He was to make his soul an offering for sin, deliver it up to death, to conquer it, rise again and have the Lord's pleasure prosper in his hands. Is. 53.

The meaning of all this is, that the lost son's return is made possible through a new and living way. He can now be made ONE with his Father, be LIKE him and PRECIOUS in his sight.

If this is attained through "THE MAN OF SORROWS," it is no wonder he pleased the Father; but how does he please you? Oh, how can we pass him by? Let us seek for grace to live faithfully, and seek to obtain his treasures!

FALSE VS. TRUE REASONING.

BY DANIEL HAYS.

TRUTH does come into the human mind without reasoning. The faculty of reason is employed in considering the processes, relations and applications of truth. "The highest office of reason is to believe without reasoning." This is especially true of all universal and necessary truth. "Ye believe in God; believe also in me." The first is a universal and necessary truth. The second grows out of the first upon evidences deduced by reason from miracle and prophecy.

The invitation of God to man, "Come, now, and let us reason together," is proof that reason is the spark of Divinity within us. Though it be but human reason, yet God so honors it as a gift divine that he invites us to approach him in its exercise. Shall not the finite yield to the infinite? In reasoning with God who is infinite in truth and wisdom, we should approach him with deep humility, gratitude, and child-like deference to his holy will.

What is it to believe in God? To believe in God requires belief in his Word. To believe God's Word, means faith in Jesus Christ who is the Way, the Truth, and the Life. To believe the Truth is to live in it and obey it. The Gospel is for the believer. Faith is a fundamental condition of obedience. Faith must precede works—must be in works. What, then, has God done for those who can not believe? Little children can not believe, and the Gospel can not reach them. Christ took away the sin of the world, and they are saved by his atonement. All Gospel duties must be done through knowledge and in faith. Faith and repentance are antecedents of baptism. What reason, then, can be given for infant baptism, when the Gospel requires faith? The reply is that infants do have faith. An imaginary faith has been constructed to meet the wants of the theory, and theologians stick as tenaciously to it as scientists do in accounting for the current theory of acoustics. When the undulatory theory of sound was proclaimed, and an inter-atomic and inter-stellar medium was needed for the transmission of sound and of light, an imaginary ether came into existence. No art, no chemical test, no energy, nor philosophical inquiry has ever discovered the least trace of such a medium, but still it exists in the fertile minds of the expounders of this physical law.

What does repentance require? It is not enough that we feel sorrow for sin, we must cease to sin, turn from it. The Prodigal Son repented when he left the herd of swine and returned to his father's house. The fruit of repentance is to "do those things that are pleasing in his sight." In the "Father's House" the Gospel is the rule. No lust of the flesh, lust of the eye, nor pride of life; nor war, strife, drunkenness, feasting, revelry. Repentance cuts all these and similar sins off, with all desires of worldly amusements. What about those who profess religion, and even sanctification, who, at the same time, practice in their lives what the Gospel condemns? "Come, let us reason together." God wants us to reason in such a way that we get together with him, and in him.

But we must be born again—born of the water and of the Spirit. Baptism is a "burial," a coming forth, a "washing of the body with water." These are scriptural terms for baptism. Now, one minister takes a person down into the water and dips him under it; another stands on the dry floor of the church, and sprinkles a few drops of water into his face; while still another pours a little stream upon his head. Here are three different things done, when the Gospel declares there is but one baptism. This is not according to the standard of reason. "Search and look." If baptism is a burial, we must be buried in baptism. If it is the outward symbol of the new birth, we must come forth from the baptismal waters. If it is a washing of the body in water, then our bodies (which means our entire person) must be washed with pure water. There is no mode that so completely represents a washing of the body in water as a baptism into each name of the Holy Trinity, according to the commission. Three actions in the "one baptism," three persons in the one God-head.

Again, the Gospel had a clearly-defined beginning. It began when John began to preach and baptize. (See Mark 1: 1, 2; Luke 16: 16). John's baptism was Christian baptism; Christ honored it by being baptized by John, and thus set an example for the world. This is the door into the church of Christ. Those of the Jews who were baptized were no longer Jews, but Christians. What Christ did in and after his baptism, he did for his church, as an example to his followers. He did not teach Christianity by practicing Judaism. When he says, "Swear not at all," he does not except the civil oath. When he says, "I say unto you that ye resist not evil;" and, "love your enemies," he does not except human carnage, and desolating war.

"But," says one, "did not Christ eat the Jewish passover, and wash his disciples' feet in compliance with the custom of the age?" Upon what ground do you base your reasoning? Were Christ and his twelve apostles Jews, when they ate the meal together in that "upper room" in Jerusalem, and did they cease to be Jews when they partook of the bread and wine? How can Christ be the Way, as well as the Truth by observing part "law" and part Gospel at the same time? No; Christ is the perfect Pattern; what he did belongs to the Gospel, and is for his followers to do. A certain minister, in order to evade the force of Luke 22: 20, and to justify his own practice, said that the "bread" was the supper, and that the wine was taken "after supper." Another, in order to get rid of "feet-washing," said that it was not practiced by the apostles after the day of Pentecost, overlooking that Paul in Tim. 4: 10, makes a condition of true discipleship even in a woman, to "have washed the SAINTS' FEET." This kind of reasoning will not bring the Truth and the sinner "together." This mode of reasoning will make it very difficult to determine what part of the New Testament is "Jewish," what part is "Gospel," and what part is the custom of the age.

Truth is a unit, and the Gospel is a perfect rule of life in its unity. We reason correctly when we reason from a part to a whole, and from a unit to its parts. If we are born of God, we will be his obedient children. If we be fashioned after the likeness of Christ, we will grow into the image of Christ from glory to glory. Christ became the Way that we might walk in it. He became the Truth that we might practice it. He became the Life that we might be in life and character what he was. "We shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is."

EXAMINATION.

BY FLORIDA ETTER.

IT is very important that we should examine ourselves before we are ready to judge others. We should be very careful that we remove the beam out of our own eyes before we are ready to remove the mote out of our brother's eye. We are inclined to make evil remarks about others instead of good. If we sweep well around our own doors, and attend to our own business, we will not find so much time to backbite, and find fault with our neighbors. If we are close observers of ourselves, we can have no room to slander others. Though others mistreat us, let us pay them in return with kindness!

"THAT peace is an evil peace that doth shut truth out of doors. If peace and truth can not go together, truth is to be preferred, and rather to be chosen for a companion than peace."

LIVES OF THE CÆSARS.

BY W. H. ROOSE.

Number Seven.—Cæsar.

It was not long after Cæsar "crossed the Rubicon" till he arrived at Rome. His arrival caused such excitement that great tumults arose. Pompey became fearful of his safety and fled, advising the people to flee also, if they did not wish to be ruled by a tyrant. Many followed him, as did also the two Consuls and many Senators. Pompey was surprised, when he learned that Cæsar wished to rise above him, and despised the attempt, thinking that it was impossible for Cæsar to accomplish it. "For," said he, "I have only to stamp with my foot upon the ground at any time, and soldiers will instantly spring up to conquer my enemies." For this over-estimation of himself and over-confidence in the loyalty of the people he was much ridiculed. When they had retreated to a safe distance from Rome, a friend laughingly said to Pompey, "Now is the time to stamp with your feet." Pompey had one true friend, whose name was Favorinus. While Pompey was rich and powerful, Favorinus said many hard and bitter things to him, but when sad reverses came, when Pompey lost all he had, when all his friends forsook him, Favorinus showed a spirit of compassion such as he never exhibited before. He lent a helping hand in times of difficulty, and was as affectionate in his word and actions as if the people of Rome were all at the feet of Pompey.

How rare such friendship! When prosperity attends our footsteps, when we have money to lavish upon their enjoyments, and when the luxuries of home satiate their cravings, then many wait upon us to do homage. But when sad reverses come, they, too often, fly with our other enjoyments. We are left desolate except, perhaps, some faithful ones who will stay to sympathize with us. How thankful the human race, and especially the humble follower of Christ, ought to be that he has one Friend who will stay by us in six troubles and not forsake us in the seventh,—one who sticketh closer than a brother! His friendship and sympathies are promised to the poor in heart, as well as in purse, and to the oppressed. The comforting thought comes to us, "If God be for us, who can be against us?" If we do whatsoever Christ has taught us to do, he will call us friends.

Cæsar did not treat those of Pompey's friends who remained in Rome with ill will. He wished to make them his friends. He had such a gracious and agreeable bearing that he never failed to win the affections of anyone he wished. He lost no time in leading a charge on Pompey, and was so anxious, that many of his soldiers could not keep up with him. He did not think it advisable to divide his army, and returned alone, to bring up the rear. It was necessary to go part of the way by water. He went in a ship, within sight of the enemy's ships, with only the sailors as attendants.

At length a storm arose, and so threatened their safety, that the pilot decided they would return, but Cæsar arose, threw off his disguise, and said, "Go, forward, my friends, and fear nothing; you carry Cæsar and his fortune." At this the sailors pulled at the oars with redoubled vigor, in order to please Cæsar. But the waves became higher and higher, so that they were compelled to return to the starting point. Though Cæsar had the power to command men to obey, he had no controlling power over the waves. This circumstance brings to mind an instance in the life of "a man if we be allowed to call him a man," when the waves obeyed him. He said, "Peace be still," and immediately there was a great calm. What a sad sight it must have been to see so many soldiers arrayed against each other, determined to destroy one another! Had Cæsar been content to rule half the world, he might have done so, but he was not.

The country was now about to be deluged with the blood of seventy thousand men, who were willing to kill their fellow-men in order to raise Cæsar or Pompey to higher honors. All these men might have led long and useful lives. Their warfare was in vain, as both these generals died by the violence of murderous hands in a short time.

Cæsar was defeated in this engagement, and the night after it was the saddest one he ever spent. Cæsar wished to renew hostilities, but Pompey did not think it right that two contending parties of a nation should wantonly slay one another. Pompey was wise and humane in this, but he could not carry out his wishes. Cato also agreed with Pompey in the wrongs of warfare. When he looked over the field where Pompey had won, and saw so many brave men lying in their blood, he put his hands over his face and wept.

Though the two armies had averted an engagement for sometime, they at last decided to try their strength on the morrow. Both sides were confident of victory; and Pompey's men decorated his tent with laurels, and made a feast for him as though the victory had already been won. Cæsar had the decision made just to the reverse. He had two reasons for this. One was that Pompey did not improve opportunities. Had he done this, he could have utterly crushed Cæsar's whole army. Cæsar's motto was, "Make hay while the sun shines," "be instant in season, and out of season." The second reason was: As he went out to see whether his officers were ready for duty on the morrow, he saw a star, with exceeding brightness, rise above his camp and shoot across the heavens, appearing to fall into Pompey's camp. Now Cæsar knew there were soothsayers in his camp, and he told them what he had seen, asking them what it meant. They told him there would be a battle fought inside of three days, and the result of it would greatly change the affairs of the government. These deceivers knew as well as Cæsar that there would be a battle, and if so, a change in some form would be inevitable. They did not tell Cæsar in whose favor the change would be, so in either case they would be right.

It might be well in this connection to say something about the omens they had in those times. They noticed very minutely the flight of birds. If eagles hovered over the camp, the soldiers were in transports of joy; if crows hovered over them, they began to despair. The soothsayers would generally kill animals, and before they were really dead, they would take out the heart, lungs or liver, and read future events from them. In Greece, sacred chickens were kept, and when any one wanted to know whether they would prosper in their undertakings, one of these chickens was brought out, and corn was thrown before it. If the chicken ate greedily, the omen was encouraging, but if it refused to eat, the person was advised to postpone the undertaking for awhile.

These soothsayers or fortune-tellers, also pretended to tell fortunes from dreams, but they would have been puzzled as much as the magicians of Nebuchadnezzar, had they first been asked what the people dreamed. Whatever hold these superstitions may have upon the minds of some to-day, we can only ascribe the power to tell future events to the prophets of the Lord. Daniel told many years before how Cyrus would conquer Babylon; of the birth, characteristics, and mission of Christ on earth. Paul truthfully told of the departure from the faith, "heaping upon themselves teachers with itching ears," etc.

THE GREAT SALVATION.

BY J. H. MILLER.

"How shall we escape if we neglect so great salvation?"—Heb. 2: 1–3.

In natural laws, if animals are neglected, they will degenerate, and get more vicious, wild and savage. A garden may be planted, and by neglect it will soon grow up to weeds. Let the strawberries and roses be neglected for a month or for years, and we will soon see them run to waste.

If the garden, by neglect, will so soon lose all of its loveliness, what do you suppose will become of our souls, if neglected?

If we neglect our children, and do not train their minds properly, while young, we may expect them to degenerate, or remain in ignorance. The Bible informs us that "man is conceived in sin and shapen in iniquity," and experience teaches us, so long as man remains in sin, he will grow worse and worse. Why is this? Because he simply neglects duty, and finally will he drift away into the lost world. In all the plants that grow, there is a law of life, and also a law of death. Examine that plant carefully, and there is something in nature to keep it alive. It is rain, sunshine, and air. The same law of nature will change, and cause that plant to die. The rains will fall in flakes of snow, and the weather will be so cold that the plant will freeze. The same may be said of the spiritual world. God gave us the age of childhood. In that age we should train our minds for future usefulness in life. At the proper age, when we cross the line of accountability, God will shower upon us his blessings from heaven. Christ will come into our hearts to give us spiritual life. The air surrounding us will be so invigorating that our being is full of spiritual life. If we neglect those heaven-favored blessings, and do not labor for our blessed Redeemer, the Spirit of God will leave us, and Satan will chill our hearts. God will say, "Depart from me, ye cursed, into everlasting fire." "My spirit will not always strive with man." The same law in summer, that gave life to vegetation, will, by the chills of winter, kill it. The same law that gives life to us (if we obey God), will turn against us if we neglect to love God and obey his commands.

There are two sins in the world,—one of commission, and one of omission. The one of commission is found in Gal. 6: 9. "Whatsoever a man sows that shall he also reap. If he sows to the flesh, he shall of the flesh reap corruption." The one of omission is found at the head of this act: "How shall we escape if we neglect," etc. The first is the positive law, and deals with sins of commission. The one we are now discussing, is the negative, and deals with sins of omission, or neglected duties. It does not say anything about sowing and reaping, but about not sowing. It looks after the moral man and woman, who will not work for Christ. It does not say, If we sow tares we will reap tares, but if we sow nothing, we will reap nothing. If we put nothing in the field, we will take nothing out. If we neglect to cultivate in summer, how shall we escape starving in winter? The Bible asks this question, "How shall we escape?" The answer would be, no possible way of escape. Human nature has been the same in all ages. Paul would teach us, "There are none that doeth good, no not one."

There is a natural principle in man to degenerate. This he will do more and more, unless he falls in line with the Word of God. A man may place himself in a boat, near the rapids, and lay his oars by, and neglect to row his boat, and he will soon go down in the whirlpool of destruction.

God has placed something in our reach to counteract this drifting process. That is salvation. It was not necessary for God to say, "How shall a man escape, if he tramples on the great salvation or doubts it, or rejects it. Simply to neglect duty was enough to close heaven against him. A man who has been poisoned only needs to neglect the antidote, and he will die. It makes no difference whether he dashes it on the ground, or throws the medicine into the fire, or sets it down by his bedside and keeps looking at it,—he will die. So with the moral man and woman. They may sit down and read their Bible,—go to church and listen to the preacher, or gaze at the people of God,—unless they take an antidote to kill sin, that nestles in their hearts, they will surely die, not only a natural, but a spiritual death.

"Work while it is called to-day." The man with the one talent was as good as the other two, with one exception,—he neglected duty. His life was a blank. Some men in the world are like fish, which have eyes, but no vision. The optic nerve loses its strength, and also the power of vision. Place a man in a dark dungeon for many years and his eyes will become so weak he can not bear daylight. No wonder some men are so filled with their morality, that they can not see anything in the church, and neglect so great a salvation! Christ would say, "Having eyes, they see not." Mark 8: 18.

Sometimes we hear of men who ask the question, "Is there a God?" I presume wherever these atheistical theories are taught, the optic nerve of their spiritual vision must have closed up, and they are blind. Even nature is enough to convince them of their folly.

Men and women who will willingly close their eyes against the Bible, and neglect this great salvation, must remember, "It is a fearful thing to fall into the hands of a Living God." Heb. 10: 31. It is a fearful thing to fall into the hands of nature,—such as a mighty earthquake, a cyclone, or a blizzard. Men, in all ages, have met those laws of nature, where many lives have been lost. What will the consequence be with those who are careless and neglect to serve God?

Dear reader, have you prepared to meet God? Will you still procrastinate and neglect? Whatever hopes a soul may have of heaven, if he has neglected to do his duty, it must be a delusive dream. There are three words that must strike terror to the unregenerated,—"Salvation, escape and neglect." Paul would have us to "work out our salvation with fear and trembling." Phil. 2: 12. The angels told Lot to escape for his life. Moses speaks to his people, "Stand still and see the salvation of God." Crossing the Red Sea was the salvation. This was done by moving forward. Sinner, your salvation depends altogether upon moving forward into the service of God. Neglect not this great salvation!

THE CHRISTIAN RELIGION.

BY SARAH M. SAUNDERS.

In nearly all the civilized world and, in fact, the heathen world, man recognizes some religion or worship of a Supreme Being or object.

In most countries and among most all classes of people God, the Creator, is recognized as the object of worship in some way, but a vast difference of opinion prevails as to how to worship God.

All or nearly all recognize or admit that Christ is the Son of God, the Mediator between God and man, and profess to accept the Gospel, or the Bible as being the will of God toward us. But man seems to be a creature of circumstances and his faith seems to be founded or built on the teachings or influence brought to bear on his mind. Some believe and base their reasons for their belief on the religion of their ancestors. "So and so was the religion of our parents, and I believe what they believe." Others believe in some religion because some preacher, whom they happen to think a great deal of, tells them he believes that is a good enough religion.

But the Christian religion is something of great moment to poor mortals, and it behooves us to be very careful how and what we believe and have a Gospel reason why we believe.

It is an easy matter to unite with a church and profess the religion of Christ. But oh! what a hard matter to LIVE the blessed religion of Christ,—to be "living epistles read and known of all men." The observance of the outward ordinances of the church is easily done, but the Christian religion should be a life-work,—an inward life. The whole life should be a reflection of Christ in the flesh; but, oh, what sad failures we are? It is one thing to profess the religion of Christ and quite another to possess the spirit or mind of Christ. How careful and how prayerful the Christian should live, to not bring reproach upon his holy name, or put him to an open shame by loose or vain, unseemly lives! Sunday religion, or dress religion alone, will avail us nothing in that day when we shall be judged according to our deeds.

LOVE.

BY HENRY ROYER.

Christ says, "If ye love me, keep my commandments." How careful we should be to love our blessed Master! One asks, "What are his commandments?" The first commandment is to "love our God with all our heart, and with all our soul, and with all our mind, and with all our strength." The second is, we shall "love our neighbor as ourself." Mark 12: 30, 31.

We do not have love enough among us. The Master says, "If ye despise one of these little ones ye can in no wise be my disciple." We go to church and see "an upper class," who will not notice the poor and humble. Is that love? No, brethren, this should not be. Then come, brethren, in the family of God, be not high-minded, have love one for another, and God will be pleased and bless us here on earth. Christ says we shall love our enemies. Do we observe that? I am afraid very few do. If we would read as we ought to do, we would have no time to hate our enemies. How can we serve God and hate our brethren?

Louisville, O.

FORGIVENESS.

BY B. S. HOLSINGER.

Forgiveness is a thought worthy of our consideration. If it were not for the word, "forgive," we could not expect to gain heaven or its pleasures, for we so often come short that we need pardon, and if our Savior had not promised to forgive us, I am afraid we would have to sink back to sin from whence we came. If we sin we have an advocate with the Father, and if we ask him in the right way, he will forgive, but we must not do this or that wrong and then expect forgiveness for our willful sin. God has not promised to forgive in that way. He has only promised to forgive if we sin through weakness of the flesh. We must be ready to forgive when our fellow-men hurt our feelings. There we often come short. We are not as ready to forgive as we ought to be! How often we hurt the feelings of some one and, when asked to rectify the matter we are not as ready. When we pray the "Lord's prayer," and ask God to forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors, we should remember that we cannot expect to be forgiven unless we do likewise.

How often we see our little children have their little troubles, but how soon they forget it all and forgive each other! What a forgiving spirit they manifest! Had we all such a spirit, we would have a world of joy! Think of the spirit of our Savior on the cross! When they nailed him to the cross, he did not do as we might, in our day. One might think of taking revenge but he said, "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do." He had a forgiving spirit,—the spirit of Christ, which ought to dwell in all of us!

CHEERFULNESS.

BY E. M. SUMSTINE.

There is but one thing that should destroy the cheerfulness of the human heart, and that is a consciousness that we are living under the disapprobation of God. Why should a soul, reconciled to the Heavenly Father, be sad? Should the hand of affliction be laid heavily on the child of God, he is assured that these afflictions are light, compared with the weight of glory to which he is heir. Should all his possessions be taken from him, he knows that he has in heaven a better and enduring substance that fadeth not away. Hence he should rejoice in tribulation, knowing that tribulation worketh patience, and patience, hope; and hope maketh not ashamed, because the love of God is shed abroad in the heart by the Holy Spirit.

Cheer up then, ye heirs of grace, trust in God and do your duty, and all things shall work together for your good. Cheerfulness is a blessing to those who enjoy it, and imparts pleasant sensations to those who witness it! How often has sadness been banished from the heart by the smiling countenance of a friend? Then cultivate a cheerful spirit, look aloft! The sun is shining brightly behind the cloud; banish gloomy fears. Dwell not on the dark side of passing events. Remember the bright home above, and press forward!

THE PROMISES OF GOD.

BY E. MARTIN.

The promises of God were made by him according to the purpose of his own will. They are true, immutable, powerful, and eternal. After the lapse of ages they are still his promises, as much as when he first uttered them. They are found both in the Old and New Testaments from Genesis to Revelation. They are both conditional and unconditional. They contain blessings to varied characters, such as the penitent, believing, serving, praying, obeying, and suffering. We find one of the many promises to the penitent in Isa. 1: 18; one for the believing in John 3: 16; one for the serving in Acts 10: 35; one for the praying in Luke 11: 9, 10; one for the obeying in Rev. 22: 14; one for the suffering in Matt. 5: 11, 12.

What a marvelous wealth lies in these precious promises! They bring us pardon, justification, sanctification, instruction, preservation, etc. All promises in God are yea and amen.

It has been said that "every promise of God is built upon four pillars,—his justice or holiness, which will not suffer him to deceive; his grace or goodness, which will not suffer him to forget; his truth which will not suffer him to change; his power which makes him able to accomplish."

Let us learn the blessedness of resting upon the definite promises of God. They are many, great, and precious, and they cover all our needs. Let us embrace them with all our hearts, and be followers of those who, through faith and patience, inherit the promises!

The Gospel Messenger,

A Weekly at $1.50 per Annum,

PUBLISHED BY

The Brethren's Publishing Co.

D. L. MILLER, - - - - - - Office Editor.

J. B. BRUMBAUGH, } - - - - Associate Editors.
J. G. ROYER, }

JOS. AMICK, - - - - - - Business Manager.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE,
R H Miller, S S Mohler, Daniel Hays.

☞Communications for publication should be legibly written with BLACK ink on ONE side of the paper only. Do not attempt to interline, or to put on one page what ought to occupy two.

☞Anonymous communications will not be published.

☞Do not mix business with articles for publication. Keep your communications on separate sheets from all business.

☞Time is precious. We always have time to attend to business and to answer questions of importance, but please do not subject us to needless answering of letters.

☞The MESSENGER is mailed each week to all subscribers. If the address is correctly entered on our list, the paper must reach the person to whom it is addressed. If you do not get your paper, write us, giving particulars.

☞When changing your address, please give your FORMER as well as your FUTURE address in full, so as to avoid delay and misunderstanding.

☞Remittances should be made by Post-office Money Order, Drafts on New York or Chicago, or Registered Letters, made payable and addressed to "Brethren's Publishing Co., Mount Morris, Ill.," or "Brethren's Publishing Co., Huntingdon, Pa."

☞Always remit to the office from which you order your goods, no matter from where you receive them

☞Do not send personal checks or drafts on interior banks, unless you send with them 25 cents each, to pay for collection.

☞Entered at the Post-office at Mount Morris, Ill., as second-class matter.

Mount Morris, Ill., - - - - July 2, 1889.

75 cts. pays for the GOSPEL MESSENGER from July 1 to the end of 1889. Show this to your neighbors and ask them to subscribe.

Full Report of Annual Meeting.

MANY of our readers have expressed a desire to have the report of our Conference as soon as possible after the close of the Meeting. In order, as far as possible, to meet this demand, we made special arrangements this year to get the report ready as early as possible. Mr. Abbott, our reporter, took with him an expert type-writer, and during the night, succeeding each day's sessions, had the copy ready for the printer. By this means we were enabled to get the report ready to mail the week following the close of the Meeting. All orders received to this date have been filled. The report is well printed and is as nearly correct as it is possible to get it. It contains 141 pages and is sold at 25 cents per copy, or $2.50 per dozen; postage prepaid. Orders are solicited. The report should be read by all our members; by reading it they will become acquainted with the arguments advanced for and against the queries brought before the Meeting. Send in your orders for the Report at once.

THE General Missionary Committee will hold its quarterly meeting at this place on Tuesday, July 2nd.

BRO. HOPE spent last week with us. He left here for Batavia, Ill., where he will hold a series of meetings.

BRETHREN MOSES AND JOHN BRUBAKER, of Virden, Ill., visited with the brethren and friends at Mt. Morris last week.

WE can fill no more orders for "Trine Immersion Traced to the Apostles," and Baer's "Christian Sabbath Defended," as the entire edition of both tracts is exhausted.

BRO. ENOCH EBY visited his old home in the Waddam's Grove church on his way home from the Annual Meeting. Sorry he did not call at Mt. Morris.

SAMUEL W. MILLER, of Plymouth, Ind., inquires through the MESSENGER for his brother in the flesh,—Noah Miller. He moved to Illinois about twenty-four years ago. Who can give the desired information?

BRO. D. C. CRIPE, of Dorchester, Nebr., changes his address to Timms City, Lipscomb Co., Texas, where he will make his home for the present. We hear of quite a number of our brethren locating in different parts of the State.

SUNDAY-SCHOOLS which have not yet ordered the Brethren's Quarterly for the ensuing quarter (the third), should not fail to do so at once. Studying the Bible systematically,—in such a way as to attain the best results,—is the object of the course followed in the Quarterly. For a full description of the lessons we refer our readers to page 373 of MESSENGER No. 24. For prices of the Quarterly see advertisement on last page of this issue.

ON Sunday, June 23rd inst, the members of the church in Chicago held their third love-feast. It was, we are informed, a pleasant and an enjoyable meeting. The little band in Chicago is encouraged and they feel that the Lord is blessing their labors. They have already raised over $600.00 towards securing a meeting-house, and the prospects are that they will be able, by what help the Northern District of Illinois will render them, to either purchase or build a house for worship. During the love-feast meetings a choice was held for minister and Bro. W. R. Miller was called to fill the responsible position. May the Lord bless him in his work and make him a faithful minister of his Word!

AT our Annual Meeting sister Mary C. Crumpacker handed us a sum of money, saying as she did so, "This is the last of mother's missionary money." Her mother, the lamented companion of our esteemed elder, B. F. Moomaw, of Virginia, was, during her lifetime, full of zeal for the cause of Christ. It was from her that we received our first strong inspiration for missionary work. Years ago we met her at an Annual Meeting and in her quiet way she told us of her work,—how, as she walked in the garden or sat in the house, she engaged in knitting and in this way secured means which she used in buying and distributing tracts and for the mission work of the church. All this she told us without seeming to feel that her work was of much value. We can recall her pleasant, happy face yet as she spoke quietly and yet earnestly of the importance of working for the Lord. She has finished her work and has gone to her reward, but being dead yet she speaketh. Her influence lives and will be felt for years to come. We took the money from her daughter with repressed emotion and formed anew our resolution to continue to work until the Master calls us hence. We thank the Lord for the example and the influence of such lives, and we are glad to know that there are many of our sisters who are doing as our dear sister Moomaw did,—quietly working for the Lord. God bless the band of workers!

MR. C. E. DETROW, Traveling Passenger Agent of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, attended to the stamping of the return tickets, and answering questions and giving information as to trains on the Annual Meeting grounds. He will be kindly remembered by our people for his courteous manners and his readiness to give all possible information. It must be trying to a man's patience to have to answer over and over again the same question, but Mr. Detrow was equal to the occasion and he made many friends by his gentlemanly and courteous manner.

THE McPherson brethren have made some changes in the management of their school. A new board of directors has been elected and the entire property has been deeded to them. Bro. Daniel Vaniman is President of the new board and also Business Manager of the college. Bro. John Peck is Vice-president, and Bro. A. W. Vaniman, Secretary and Treasurer. Bro. Vaniman is a careful, prudent, business man and a good counselor, and we hope that success may attend his efforts as well as the efforts of those who are associated with him in making the McPherson school a success. Our educational work needs to be prudently and carefully managed. Failures can only be averted by such management, and failures will do much injury to the cause. Our schools need the support and sympathy of our brethren and we trust that they will all be so managed as to merit the confidence and the patronage of the church. Knowing something of the hard work and sacrifice connected with our school work, we are prepared to sympathize with those who are bearing the brunt of the battle. We extend to our brethren at McPherson our best wishes for their success in the responsible duties they have entered upon.

WE have before us a copy of Bro. M. M. Eshelman's new monthly paper, bearing the title of "Israel at Work." The interest manifested in the Ten Tribes of Israel, lost as they have been for many centuries, has opened the way for the new journal. In his announcement the editor says: "ISRAEL AT WORK maintains that the Ten Tribes of Israel have re-appeared in the Anglo-Saxon race, and, as such, they possess the characteristic attributed by the prophets to new-born Israel. It maintains that England, as Ephraim, and the United States, as Manasseh, are taking the lead as masters in Israel, giving infallible proofs of their identity with the Israelites. It maintains that since B. C. 975, the Jews have been one people while the Ten Tribes or Israelites have been another. It maintains that the Anglo-Saxon race, being the descendants of Israel, is preparing the way for the union of the Jews and the Israelites in the land of Palestine. It maintains that the promises of God, as found in the prophecies, concerning the union of the house of Judah and the house of Ephraim, will be truly and literally fulfilled." The paper is filled with interesting articles on the subjects above named, and it will be full of interest to those who delight in studying the prophecies of the Old Testament. We wish our brother success in this new literary enterprise. "Israel at Work" is a sixteen page monthly. Subscription price, 60 cents per year. Address M. M. Eshelman, McPherson, Kansas.

OUR ANNUAL MEETING.

THE Annual Meeting held at Harrisonburg, Va., did not differ materially from other meetings of like character which have preceded it. The amount of work done was perhaps not quite up to the average. The questions which came before the Conference were discussed earnestly but, at the same time, in the spirit of true Christian courtesy. The discussions were not so lengthy as has been the rule, but they lost nothing in pith and point in being boiled down. Some of the questions brought out very interesting discussions and in this respect the Meeting was full of interest.

It is not to be expected that the conclusions reached on all the questions presented to our Annual Meeting will suit everybody. Whilst we, as a church, are firmly united upon the great principles of the Gospel of Jesus Christ and work together to carry them out, yet differences obtain as to matters upon which the Gospel is silent and also as to the best means for reaching the desired result. These questions come before the Meeting, and they are met, discussed, and decided upon according to the best judgment of the Conference, keeping in view all the time the best interests of the church for which the work is done.

Many years ago one of our old brethren said in substance that we have not yet apprehended all the truth in God's great store-house of knowledge, but we try by study, by investigation, and by prayer to gain more truth. These words were commended for their wisdom by the philosopher, Franklin, and by a greater one than Franklin, for Paul himself said, "Not as though I had already attained, either were already perfect: but I follow after, if that I may apprehend that for which also I am apprehended of Christ Jesus. Brethren, I count not myself to have apprehended: but this one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus." So with us, we have not yet apprehended. If we had all the knowledge, all the wisdom, and all the truth there is in the great store-house of God's Word, for us, we would not need to hold so many Conferences.

Our Annual Meeting is composed of individual members of the church,—elders, ministers, deacons, and lay-members, and the wisdom of its decisions will only be equal to the intelligence, the wisdom and the spirituality of those composing it, with this added factor that in the multitude of counselors there is safety. Were this not true, then we might claim infallibility for her decisions. There are questions, however, upon which there can be no doubt,—upon which the Word and the spirit of the Word are plain. Here there is solid ground, and when our Annual Meeting insists upon a strict adherence to the spirit and the teaching of the Gospel, she stands, within this limit, as the exponent of the Truth, and we must hear her.

On questions as to the means to be used in carrying out the principles of the Gospel, when they come up for consideration as they do, and are fairly and thoroughly discussed and fully investigated, and a decision is reached, we should not hesitate in our adherence to such decision. If, at the time, it does not seem for the best, and time confirms this fact, a reconsideration and a change can be secured. This course will tend to strengthen the unity of the church, while to ignore the decisions of the delegated authority of all the churches can only result in the destruction of our fellowship and union as a church.

Too much of this spirit is manifest among us and we should labor to remedy it. Some there are who insist upon a literal observance of such decisions as meet their approval, whilst they practically ignore others that do not suit them. For example, we know some who take no part in the mission work of the church, and the decision of Annual Meeting in regard to this great work is, in some local churches, practically a dead letter. These same churches insist upon a strict observance of Annual Meeting decisions in regard to dress. The inconsistency of such a course is apparent and those who pursue it, seem to forget that their failure to carry out the decision of Annual Meeting in regard to the Missionary work gives others an excuse to set aside other decisions of the Church, and that such a course, carried to its logical conclusion would result in the overthrow of all authority, and entirely destroy the union, the peace, and the harmony of our Brotherhood. We need to labor more and more against this growing tendency and see to it that we are consistent in our efforts to promote the best interests of the Church.

One of the remedies for this evil is in the hands of the local churches and of the District and General Conferences. Many of the queries that now go to the District Meetings might be settled in the local churches, and the District Conference might decide many that now go to Annual Meeting. Let us use great care in sending questions to our general Conference, and part of the difficulty will be met. Then we need to exercise great care in reaching a final conclusion and making a decision in Annual Meeting. Questions upon which much difference of opinion obtains should be carefully considered. Time for investigation and for research should be given, and a final decision should only be rendered after the fullest and freest interchange of opinion has been had. We are glad that this care and caution is growing. The divorce question is an example of the tendency in this direction, and the fact that a number of important questions that came before the Meeting this year were deferred, some of them being placed in the hands of competent committees, shows that there is a growing disposition to make haste slowly. We hope to see this tendency grow until no question of importance will be settled until time has been given to fully consider it, and that unimportant questions will be kept out of the Conference entirely. We believe an Annual Meeting waste-basket would be a good thing, into which might be conveniently and advantageously dropped some of the queries that come before the Meeting.

Then, after a question has thus been carefully and prayerfully considered, thoroughly investigated and a decision given, let every loyal man and woman in the Brotherhood stand by it and labor to carry it out, not only in the letter but in the spirit. In this way unity of action and a consequent growth of love and of power will be gained, and the church will go forward to do the work assigned to her.

In offering these thoughts, we are not actuated by a disposition to criticise or find fault. They have doubtless occurred to others and have been spoken of and written upon before. We are not disposed to look on the dark side of the question, but we believe, with many others, that we should make such improvements in our methods of work as will be the most helpful in securing the desired result—the unity of the church and the salvation of souls.

The Annual Meeting, held at North Manchester last year, took the following action in regard to Sunday traffic on the meeting grounds:

A number of papers were presented, requesting Annual Meeting to discontinue the practice of feeding a mixed multitude on Sunday (Pentecost). The papers were referred to a committee which reported as follows:

We, your committee, after carefully reading the papers submitted to us by Standing Committee, beg leave to make the following report: However much we may be in favor of avoiding feeding a mixed multitude on Sunday, we are met on every side by the impracticability of such a course, as our Annual Meeting is often held where there are but few Brethren; hence we decide to make no general change, but advise Committee of Arrangements, where such Meetings are held, to dispense with the traffic of everything on Sunday except what is really necessary, and that all cooking be done on Saturday to avoid as much labor as possible on Sunday.

This report of the Committee was adopted by the Meeting, and we believe should be carried out. At Harrisonburg there was perhaps more traffic on the Lord's Day than was really necessary, and it subjected the Brethren to some unfavorable criticism. The Sunday excursion trains to which we referred before, are also an objectionable feature. We should use every effort to keep the sanctity of the Lord's Day and to abstain from every appearance of evil. The multitude must be fed lest they faint by the way, but this can be done in such a way as to avoid so much trafficing and in this way the censure that now rests upon us may be removed.

Notwithstanding the demoralization of the railroads by the great flood which preceded the Conference, we heard of no accident befalling any of those who attended the Meeting. In both going and returning some inconvenience was experienced by overcrowded cars and by delays, but when the unfavorable conditions under which the railroads labored is taken into account, it is really surprising that they were able to do as well as they did. Mr. B. F. Bond, Division Passenger Agent of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, was on the ground during the Meeting and labored assiduously for the comfort of our people. Ample accommodations were made to take the multitudes north and south, but when the main lines were reached, the preparations were not so good. Both at Harper's Ferry and Staunton delays occurred, and from Harper's Ferry to Cumberland, the coaches were crowded so that even standing room was not easily found, but barring these inconveniences, which were doubtless unavoidable under existing circumstances, the railroad accommodations were good.

We are convinced of the fact that in the future our Meetings should be located only on the main line of railroads. By thus locating, we secure at the place of Meeting the advantage of through train service, while, if on a branch of the main line, delays are apt to occur, the trains on the main line are missed, and a long and tedious layover is the result.

The Committee of Arrangements, as well as the Lodging Committee, did all in their power to take care of the people and make them comfortable, and so far as we could learn no one had occasion to find fault with their treatment. Good sleeping quarters were provided for all, and plenty to eat was the order of the day. Had it not been for the heavy fall of rain the grounds would have been pleasant. As it was, all were compelled alike to wade through the mud, but all seemed to put up with the inconvenience patiently, doubtless reflecting on the old adage which says, "What can not be cured must be endured." We are under obligation to the Committee of Arrangements for favors granted in providing for us a suitable office and for their uniform kindness to us while attending the Meeting. We shall not soon forget the Annual Meeting of 1889.

Missionary and Tract Work Department.

"Upon the first day of the week, let every one of you lay by him in store as God hath prospered him, that there be no gatherings when I come." 1 Cor. 16. 2.

"Every man as he purposeth in his heart, so let him give. Not grudgingly or of necessity, for the Lord loveth a cheerful giver" 2 Cor. 9: 7

HOW MUCH SHALL WE GIVE?

"Every man according to his ability" "Every one as God hath prospered him." "Every man, according as he purposeth in his heart, so let him give." "For if there be first a willing mind, it is accepted according to that a man hath, and not according to that he hath not." 2 Cor. 8: 12.

Organization of Missionary Committee.

DANIEL VANIMAN, Foreman, - - - Virden, Ill.
D. L. MILLER, Secretary and Treasurer, - Mt. Morris, Ill.
G. B. ROYER, Assistant Secretary, - - Mt. Morris, Ill.

Organization of Book and Tract Work.

S. W. HOOVER, Foreman, - - - Dayton, Ohio.
S. BOCK, Secretary and Treasurer, - - Dayton, Ohio.

☞All donations intended for Missionary Work should be sent to D. L. MILLER, Mt. Morris, Ill.

☞All money for Tract Work should be sent to S. BOCK, Dayton, Ohio.

☞Money may be sent by Money Order, Registered Letter, or Drafts on New York or Chicago. Do not send personal checks, or drafts on interior towns, as it costs 25 cents to collect them.

☞Solicitors are requested to faithfully carry out the plan of Annual Meeting, that all our members be solicited to contribute at least twice a year for the Mission and Tract Work of the Church.

☞Notes for the Endowment Fund can be had by writing to the Secretary of either Work.

"YE CAN NOT SERVE GOD AND MAMMON." Luke 16: 13.

BY S. N. M'CANN.

The Cause Suffers for Lack of Means.

THE apostle in 2 Cor. 9: 6–10 writes: "He which soweth sparingly shall reap also sparingly; and he which soweth bountifully shall reap also bountifully. Every man according as he purposeth in his heart, so let him give; not grudgingly, or of necessity: for God loveth a cheerful giver. And God is able to make all grace abound toward you; that ye, always having all sufficiency in all things, may abound in every good work: (as it is written, He hath dispersed abroad; he hath given to the poor: his righteousness remaineth for ever. Now he that ministereth seed to the sower both minister bread for your food, and multiply your seed sown, and increase the fruits of your righteousness.)"

How can it be possible for us to let God's cause wane for lack of means, when we look at the reasoning of Paul, or the promises of Christ which assure us of a hundredfold in this time and more in the life beyond? It is a fact that the cause is suffering for want of means, but why this is so, is a perplexing question. Many are crying for the Bread of Life in the East, the West, the North, the South,—all over this land,—but their cries go unheard, or unheeded, at least.

Christ says, Go, teach every creature, but the command goes unnoticed in the main. To answer these calls, to obey Christ's command, requires sacrifice of time, of means, of social ties and surroundings, and of physical strength. Who is to make these sacrifices? The body of Christ, the church of the Living God must make them. No part of the body is separate and distinct from any other part, but every member of the body should be moved by the same Head, — harmoniously work to the same end.

The church of Christ is not many bodies but many members in one body, and each member must obey the Head, else it becomes a dead member, or a mere parasite, and must be lopped off. If some members must make the sacrifice of social ties, of physical endurance, and of time, is it a strange thing if others must make the sacrifice of means? The Gospel can not be preached without means, and those means must be supplied by him who preaches, or by the body of Christ. While we do not believe that a salaried ministry is in harmony with the Gospel, we do believe that a SUPPORTED ministry is in perfect accord with its teachings and with the teachings of the Brethren.

Ministers must live as well as other people. When they buy clothes, ride on the railroad, stop at a hotel, it costs money, and that money must come from some source. If the minister must make it by day's labor or on the farm, he must supply his family also, and Christ's command to go must be neglected, and the calls for the Bread of Life slighted.

Some one says, "Are the ministers better than Paul?" I answer, No; neither are they above working with their hands, but their work does not excuse, nor relieve the church from her work. Paul's work at tent-making did not relieve the church, but they aided and helped him, for he says, "Now ye Philippians know also, that in the beginning of the gospel, when I departed from Macedonia, no church communicated with me concerning giving and receiving, but ye only. For even in Thessalonica ye sent once and again unto my necessity." Phil. 4: 15, 16.

Paul asked the church at Corinth to forgive him the wrong committed in not demanding a part of the burden at their hands. 2 Cor. 12: 13. If this was wrong for Paul, what is it for us? Christ's cause demands sacrifice and that of our means. His word demands it, and can we, as his ministers, go guiltless and fail to show this duty to the people, thereby losing a strong weapon to keep down covetousness and a trusting in riches?

"HE WHICH SOWETH BOUNTIFULLY SHALL REAP ALSO BOUNTIFULLY" signifies temporal reaping as well as spiritual, for God holds in his hands our temporal blessings and will give us a sufficiency for our good, but if we withhold from him, his promise, in neither temporal nor spiritual things, can be ours. Our goods used as our own may increase, but only to our sorrow, for they will prove a curse to us in the end, and may prove a curse to our children. The lack of means is causing many congregations to let their houses of worship go down, and, of course, the congregation grows sickly, and being such, will die unless aroused to duty. Congregations, who are well able to have a comfortable house of worship, are unable to build because covetousness and the desire for possession comes before duty.

Often the expenses of a love-feast can hardly be met because the spirit of giving is at such a low state of development. The few meet the expenses, often at the expense of their own spiritual welfare as well as at the expense of the spiritual welfare of the church, because done grudgingly and not of a free will.

If we would have God's cause prosper, if we would heed the calls for the Bread of Life, if we would hear Christ's command to "go," we must consecrate all to him, acting only as stewards in his hands.

We must decide upon some plan, some system for our work, for our giving, and then work with a will and give cheerfully and not grudgingly. All will not be willing to adopt a system or a plan. True, all are not willing to lay off their gold, their fashionable apparel, all are not willing to quit tippling, or chewing and smoking tobacco, yet that is no reason why we should all wear gold and fashionable apparel, why we should tipple, smoke and chew tobacco. Because others fail to do right, is no excuse for us to fall in line with them. When we work up to the Gospel plan, we are but unprofitable servants, having only done our duty. But when we refuse to work to the Gospel plan, can we be called servants? If we fail to do our part, Christ's blood may be required of us. May we arouse, awake and act in the living present, with our means, our bodies, and our souls! Christ gave his life for the sinners and we must imbibe his spirit, if we would be his! Rom. 8: 9.

"BEHOLD! GOD EXALTETH BY HIS POWER: WHO TEACHETH LIKE HIM?" Job 36: 22

BY ISAAC FRANTZ.

IT is a fact that a willingness to know and do the will of God, implies a willingness to work with all the necessary helps for the advancement of the truth. From a recognition of this fact, our beloved Brotherhood has established the Book and Tract Work. The publications of this work are to present to the reading public the true doctrine of the Bible, as understood and practiced by the German Baptist or Brethren Church. It offers to each individual an opportunity to instruct the wayward and unenlightened in the way of truth and holiness, thus converting and saving the immortal soul. We thus become co-operative with the great Author of salvation and show our obedience to him and the church.

We beg a careful and honest consideration of an explanation of the proposed plan of endowments, bequests, etc. This we understand to be a permanent fund to support any direct object or purpose. Hence to endow or aid said Book and Tract Work we secure a permanent fund by a part of the blessings God has given us, so that, not only during our life we may enjoy the fruits of our labor, but in subsequent years may our posterity not only see our interest and love to the work of the Lord, but may it be so blessed, by the power of the truth of a tract, as to accept Christ, and thus continue the great work of redemption and produce a living fund to celebrate God's goodness, as Jacob erected a monumental pillar (Gen. 38: 19) and consecrated it to the Lord with the vow that if the Lord would bless him, he would give one-tenth.

How many are willing, like Jacob, to give as the Lord has prospered? How many, like Joshua (Joshua 4: 4–7), as a memorial to our children, leave a manifestation of our gratitude and thankfulness for our hope in Christ, and assurance of immortal glory? Greater is the work of eternal deliverance from sin than the dividing of the waters of the Red Sea or the river of Jordan. Hence, that not only our children, but that all people, Josh. 4: 24, may know what the Lord has done for them, and that they might fear and reverence him, let the grand work go on, for the work of the Lord is worthy of remembrance and the heart of man is so prone to forget them that various methods should be adopted to keep them in remembrance.

As the twelve stones, no doubt erected at different points, would naturally excite inquiry, so will tracts written in simplicity,—expressive and emphatic of Bible truths (with their references)—excite not only inquiry, but teach men and women the way of righteousness. Ps. 78: 4–7. With the promise of the above text, Job 36: 22, and that in Daniel 12: 3, shall we not all join, with one accord, and, as the woman of old,—"do what we can"? Let it be much or little,—when he, who rewards according to men's work, shall come, he will reward the faithful!

THE damps of autumn sink into the leaves and prepare them for the necessity of their fall, and thus insensibly are we, as years close around us, detached from our tenacity of life by the gentle pressure of recorded sorrow.

Notes from our Correspondents.

"As cold water to a thirsty soul, so is good news from a far country."

—From Fairview congregation, Tippecanoe Co., Ind., sister Mary Yost writes: "Our Sunday-school was organized June 2. Bro. David Reiff was elected Superintendent, assisted by Bro. Jacob Cripe and an able corps of officers. The teachers are nearly all members of our church. May God help us all to be more zealous in our Master's cause, and work more faithfully in his service in the future, is our desire!"

—Sister Annie E. Nettrour, of Columbiana, Ohio, writes: "We are always happy for the weekly visits of the MESSENGER. It comes with many words of comfort, and in no other way could we get such a variety of good reading for the same amount of money. March 31st one dear sister was received by baptism. May she ever remain faithful! June 1, Zion Hill and Bethel churches met in council. We have a flourishing Sunday-school. Bro. Joseph Harold is our Superintendent, assisted by Bro. Simeon Longanecker."

—Under date of June 13, Bro. Simon Harshman, of Mt. Hope, Ohio, writes: "The love-feast at Sugar Creek occurred June 8. The attendance was large and the attention good. About one hundred and fifty members communed. It was a very enjoyable season to us. Brethren Edward Loomis, Reuben Shroyer, and J. J. Hoover were with us and fed us richly with the Bread of Life. On Sunday, after meeting, one was baptized. May we all take courage and work with more zeal in the Master's cause. May the Lord bless and keep us all faithful to the end!"

—Sister Minnie Miller, of Waterville, Le Sueur Co., Minn., writes: "The members of the Lake Branch church held their love-feast June 8 and 9. The weather was very favorable. We had good attention. Everything passed off pleasantly. Bro. William Ikenberry, of Waterloo, Iowa, came on Friday and preached three interesting sermons for us. While there were no immediate results, we hope the seed sown will bring forth a large harvest. The brethren were built up in that most holy faith. During the meeting Bro. Richard Wolford was put into the second degree of the ministry. We desire the prayers of the brethren that we may ever be found workers of the Lord."

—Bro. S. M. Stephens, of the Greenwood church, Mo., writes: "May 23, our elder, J. T. Mason, was called upon to conduct the funeral services of Elizabeth Oxley, who passed the Jordan of death, May 22nd, after an illness of about six weeks, aged eighty-five years, one month and ten days. She had been helpless nearly two years. Her husband, Wilson Oxley, had preceded her about eleven years. They were natives of Virginia. They leave a large posterity of children and grandchildren, most of whom have united with the Brethren. Their lives had always been most exemplary. Eld. Mason preached the funeral of both, at the cemetery, from Heb. 4: 9."

—Under date of June 18, Bro. T. D. Lyon writes: "As a thirsty land is refreshed by showers of rain, so was the little band of brethren and sisters of Cornell made to realize the gracious showers of divine grace at their late love-feast,—June 14th. One dear old sister, who was too frail to be taken to the church, was remembered by the friends, who arranged to hold a love-feast at her home the next evening, which was attended to in due order. It was a source of much comfort to the old sister, and a great pleasure to those who partook with her. The meetings were very refreshing. One sister was baptized and one reclaimed. Brethren P. A. Moore and I. M. Gibson did the preaching."

—Bro. Silas Hoover writes: "According to arrangements we assisted the members of the George's Creek congregation in a series of meetings commencing May 29, and closing June 3. Their love-feast occurred June 1. As a result we had five additions to the church by baptism. Our love-feast in the Elk Lick church will be June 22. Meetings to commence June 14. Eld. Jesse Calvert will be here."

CORRESPONDENCE

"Write what thou seest, and send it unto the churches."

☞Church News solcited for this Department. If you have had a good meeting, send a report of it, so that others may rejoice with you. In writing give name of church, county and State. Be brief! Notes of Travel should be as short as possible. Land Advertisements are not solicited for this Department. We have an advertising page, and, if necessary, will issue supplements.

LaPorte Notes.

OUR love-feast of the 8th inst. was a very pleasant meeting. About eighty participated in the evening service, fifty of whom were brethren and sisters from South Bend, Portage, St. Joseph Valley, and Pine Creek churches, Indiana, and Berrien and Pokagon churches, Michigan. It will readily be seen that the larger number of communicants were brethren from adjoining congregations. Our membership is small, and, as is usual on such occasions, we presume some remained away from necessity, and others from negligence. The preceding day was rainy, and the roads muddy, yet some came thirty miles, by private conveyance, to attend our meeting.

Among the number from other churches were Eld. James H. Miller, South Bend; brethren David P. Miller, Berrien; Silas Ebersole and Andrew Ruple, Pine Creek. These brethren gave us some rich morsels of food, which, we hope, were partaken of to the strengthening of our spiritual constitution, to help us heavenward. While Bro. Ebersole was illustrating the love of God to sinful humanity, as manifested by his dear Son, we realized, as never before, what our dear Father in heaven sacrificed by giving his only beloved Son for the atonement and redemption of a lost and ruined world.

The evening was fair and a goodly number convened to witness the celebration of the suffering and death of our adorable Redeemer. The order was excellent. We have never before witnessed such good behavior in any locality, as was generally observed here. Truly, God will bless such noble reverence of his house and ordinance. May it redound to his honor and glory! God grant that those who thus reverence his house, may be participants in his holy ordinances when we meet on the other shore!

There are many seasons of joy experienced in the Christian pilgrimage, but there are no others so enjoyable as our love-feast seasons. "If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him." "He that loveth the Father loveth me," saith Jesus. Truly there is a work for us all to do; and that work should begin with the cleansing of our own flesh-pots, that we may keep ourselves in the love of God by obeying the Truth. But this obedience must come from within, and through the sanctifying influence of the Holy Spirit, or it will avail us nothing; for outward forms alone will never waft our souls through the portals of immortal glory.

After the morning service of the 9th, the brethren gave some farewell addresses, from which we gathered some rich fragments of Truth, which, we trust, will be treasured unto life eternal. Then we spent about half an hour in singing sweet songs of Zion, led by Eld. Thurston Miller. There is nothing else that lifts our souls so near the pearly gates of celestial glory as song. Then let us endeavor to improve it for the glory of our eternal king! The Sabbath service was conducted by Eld. James H. Miller, to our edification, and, we trust, to God's honor and glory. Our aged brother is declining, but we pray God that his last days on earth may be his best days, a sweet foretaste of the joys the faithful ones shall know, when they shall meet to partake of the marriage supper of the Lamb, never to sever more, but to associate throughout ceaseless ages in the presence of Jesus.

The Sabbath before the communion, Bro. Richard Shrever held a meeting at Watterford school-house. He preached a very acceptable sermon, containing food for both saint and sinner. After the close of the meeting two precious souls were transferred from the kingdom of darkness into the kingdom of light by baptism; one, a dear old grandfather (Jacob Sweigart), whose head was white with the frosts of seventy-four winters; the other, Bro. Shrever's daughter, Dollie, a girl of fifteen summers. Many tears of rejoicing fell upon this occasion, to see the old and young willing to forsake the pleasures that last but a day, for the inestimable riches and pleasures of Jesus Christ, which he has promised to all who forsake sin to follow him in the narrow way of self-denial. If we, in our finite comprehension, can thus rejoice when sinners return to Christ, what must be the joy of the angels in heaven?

After the communion services, these dear babes in Christ expressed themselves as having experienced the sweetest joy during the evening, they had ever known. Grandfather's only regret is: "O, that I had not waited so long!" And from the light beaming on sister Dollie's countenance, we infer her emotions are only joy, joy, unspeakable joy, that she has set out to serve the Lord in her youth. We pray daily that their lives may be completely consecrated to God; for Jesus loves the confidence and loyalty of his followers far more than the earthly parents can the faithfulness of a tender child. May this be the song of every Christ-born soul:

"Tempt not my soul away,
Jesus is mine.
Here would I ever stay,
Jesus is mine.
Perishing things of clay,
Born but for one brief day,
Pass from my heart away,
Jesus is mine."

GERTRUDE A. FLORY.

From the Vermillion Church, Ill.

OUR love-feast was held June 14th. There were not as many members present as we expected, on account of the rain, but we had a pleasant season together in commemorating the suffering and death of our Redeemer. The ministers present were elders T. D. Lyon, of Hudson; P. A. Moore, of Roanoke; and I. M. Gibson, of Illinois. Eld. P. A. Moore officiated. One dear sister came out on the Lord's side and was baptized in the afternoon, before the Communion services. One was received by letter, and one reclaimed. Eld. Gibson did the principal part of the preaching. How much more good has been accomplished, he, who sees and knows all, alone can tell. By his fair reasoning we all were cited to a higher plane in life and urged to a greater degree of usefulness. May God abundantly bless him in the ministration of the Word in other fields also. May God, in his infinite mercy, be with us all who have named the name of Jesus, and enable us all to be faithful, ever abounding in the work of the Lord, that, when death comes, we can hear the welcome words, "Come, ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom which was prepared for you from the foundation of the world." N. S. DALE.

In Memoriam.

AGAIN the grim monster, Death, has made his appearance among us, and has taken away our old and beloved brother, John Frye. His spirit took its flight to the spirit land, June 2nd, and his body was consigned to the tomb, in the new burial ground, June 4. The funeral sermon was preached by Bro. P. R. Wrightsman.

Bro. John had long borne the burden and heat of the day, being seventy-eight years, ten months, and thirteen days old. He was a member of the Brethren's church for fifty-seven years, and occupied the office of deacon forty years. He was loved and respected by all, in and out of the church. For the last few years he has not been able to do much official labor, but the absence of his friendly and brotherly countenance, with which he greeted every one, shall be keenly felt by the members here. We truly hope that our loss shall be his eternal gain. T. A. EISENBISE.

From West Lincoln, Nebr.

BRO. LEVI EBY, from Beattie, Marshall Co, Kansas, preached in the Christian church in West Lincoln, June 2nd. This was the first sermon preached by our Brethren. We can have the church to hold meetings whenever we have some one to preach for us.

Bro. Eby's text was 2 Tim: 1, 2. We were all taught a good lesson, and richly fed with the true words of our Lord and Savior. May we all, as children, ever live to serve and obey the divine Bible as our only friend and Savior, until death. Home ministers present were Bro. Adam Smith and Bro. Isaac Thomas, of Saltillo.

Oh, may we be ready, when the Lord comes to take us home, and may we praise his name for evermore! D. K. REASY.

From the Yellow Creek Church, Ill.

THE brethren and sisters of the Yellow Creek church are still trying to do what they can for the Lord, through his divine help.

We met in council May 21, prior to our feast. One dear sister come knocking for admission into the fold. May she ever keep her baptismal vow so as to meet the approval of God!

June 4 and 5 was the appointed time for our love-feast. Truly, it was a feast long to be remembered by all those who had the pleasure of participating in the same.

Upon this occasion another dear sister came out on the Lord's side and was baptized. Brethren Edmund Forney, W. H. Eisenbise and P. R. Keltner did most of the preaching, and they did not shun to declare the whole truth of our Lord and Savior.

Our Sunday-school is in a flourishing condition. Our prayer is that it will thus continue and bring precious souls to Christ. If we always had the saving of souls in view, and if we would work with all our might, as Christians should, there would not be so many seats found vacant in our churches. When we read the history of our forefathers and pillars in the church, and see what they had to endure, while trying to bring souls to Christ and teach them the truth, then we can only see how little we do, and how weak we are. We can feel and see that we are falling short of doing our duty. Let us be up and doing, so when time is no more with us in this world, we may hear the sweet voice of the Master, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joys of thy Lord!"

Let us live Christ in our daily walks, actions, conversation and dealings. They must all receive our prompt and prayerful attention, and may the Lord help us in everything that we do, is our prayer! W. W. KELTNER.

Chips from the Work-house.

THE many friends of McPherson College will no doubt be pleased to learn that this day, June 18, all necessary details were arranged, and all the stock of McPherson College Building Association,—together with a warranty deed for College Campus, including College Buildings, for all the unsold lots on College Place, Bass and Irwin addition, College Annex to Grandview addition, East College Place, and College Farm,—were turned over to a company of Brethren, who have now become the College Building Association, instead of A. Bass & Co, of the City of McPherson. These Brethren now hold the title to all the above-named property, and will sell lots and put up the buildings, and thus relieve the Trustees from further perplexity connected with putting up the buildings, etc. The title to the above property being now held by the Brethren, will relieve the doubts that have been in the minds of some brethren, and the work of selling off the remainder of the unsold lots, and pushing on the buildings, will receive a new impetus. All that is possible, will be done toward getting comfortable rooms,—enough to accommodate the large attendance that is expected here during the next school year.

DANIEL VANIMAN.

Annual Meeting Notes.

THE Annual Meeting of 1889, at Harrisonburg, Va., elicited the wide, popular interest which seems to be an unfailing characteristic of these great councils.

The Brethren were there in force from every section of the country, — from mountain and prairie, from lakes to gulf, the same body of plain, substantial, honest, contented looking people, knowing little of the care and worry of the world, and caring for no more than a reasonable share of comfort and peace. A great crowd of spectators thronged the grounds, and distinguished themselves by the most perfect and orderly behavior. This was particularly remarked, and speaks well for our people, who exercise a strong moral and law-abiding influence. They not only know how to behave themselves, but their presence seems to constrain every one else to walk circumspectly.

The Hon. John T. Harris, member of Congress from that District, whose father was a member of the Brethren church, was on the ground, and remarked to the writer, that, outside of our people, it would be impossible to find so large a congregation so perfectly well behaved. This is a good testimony for the Brethren, which they should be careful and diligent to maintain.

When the weather was good, everybody seemed to be happy; and when it was bad, everybody seemed to be patient. There was very little grumbling even where there seemed to be just cause.

The arrangements for the meeting were about up to the average, and there was but one thing which might be criticised. As is too often the case, the sanitary arrangements was unpardonably bad. Due regard to decency would surely secure more attention to this matter, on the part of those who provide for the visitors to our Annual Meeting.

The eating arrangements were very good, and ample justice was awarded to the bountiful provisions. We might offer one suggestion concerning the location of the great tabernacle,—don't put it in a hole!

The business of this year was pretty much of the same character as of former meetings. Some of it was important and some was not. The general character of the decisions was somewhat more pronounced than usual. It was hoped that many of the most perplexing questions of discipline had been settled, when the extreme elements left, and set up for themselves. But such is not the case. We see trouble ahead, and would be unfaithful not to sound a note of warning. Those who advocate a radical policy can not close their eyes to the dangers of such a course. The history of the past ten years gives plenty of illustrations.

There seems to be no end to this controversy which embitters many a heart, and weakens the general bond of brotherly love. We fear that the principle is wrong. We can make rules, but we can not force people to obey them. They may obey outwardly through fear, or for the sake of peace, but such obedience is insincere. It does not come from the heart. It is hypocritical, and so the last state of that man is worse than the first. Unless we are convinced that we ought to do a thing because it is right, the doing of it will make us worse. The Scripture always recognizes this principle, and always seeks to convert the heart before it undertakes to direct the life. Even then it directs from within. So the discipline of the New Testament comes in the form of teaching,—of precept,—and not in the form of ecclesiastical law. We simply offer these suggestions to awaken thought on this serious subject. The problem is a very difficult one, and the end is not yet.

Reports of progress in the missionary work were very encouraging. The cause of education also is very much encouraged and strengthened. Upon the whole, the signs of life, interest and energy along these two important lines of work are gratifying. Soon these two mighty engines of moral force will be in full sweep toward the goal of the world's betterment.

So another Annual Meeting is passed, and we journey on! They are like conspicuous milestones in the pilgrimage of the church. What the future has in store, God only knows. May he appoint that future, and lead us all into the everlasting rest which remaineth!

B. C. MOOMAW.

Notes of Travel.

ARRIVING in Chicago on Sunday, June 2, we were stopped on our way by the Johnstown disaster. No railroad tickets could be had on any line to Virginia. We started to hunt up Dr. Fahrney, where we were kindly entertained and taken to the Brethren's meeting-house. The little band of brethren is quite zealous, and the outlook for the mission encouraging, in our estimation. This little organization, if carried on with prudence, will soon develop into a strong church.

Coming to Harrisonburg, we were taken by Bro. Wampler to the Bridgewater school, which had just closed. Most of the students had left for home. We saw, however, nearly all the teachers, and many other brethren and sisters whose warm greetings and smiling faces were like the rays of the sun to our heart, attaching us to the brethren there as anywhere May God bless them all!

Annual Meeting having been fully described by others I will only say, If every member could have a chance to be confined in the Standing Committee room for several nights and days, they would learn good lessons to humble them, and, no doubt, the great bulk of queries would never be sent from home.

We returned to Chicago in company with our spiritual parent, Bro. Zollars, having much joy on the way. We had meeting in the night, in Staunton Station, and saw Bro. L. West scattering tracts through the car windows, along the road. People ran anxiously to pick them up. This called to memory old Denmark and our own doings there. Bro. West is a good hand for that work and has a large heart for our colored race. God grant him power and means to do much good!

After meeting with the Brethren in Chicago, Sunday, June 16, I came to old Mt. Morris, where the MESSENGER brethren were as busy as ever in their several departments, all working for the best interest of the good cause as heretofore. Here I always feel like Peter on the Mount,—but like him always have to leave the pleasant place. I feel to bespeak for all our brethren warm and earnest prayers, and now and then some encouraging words. Please do not think they have an easy place, or simply work for temporal gain. My conviction is, if we all do as much for the cause of the Master as they do, we would not only share their grace, but partake of their usefulness and fill the world in a short time with our literature, and enlarge the borders of the church.

Now, a word about the school. I was present at a few of the closing exercises and heard some of the addresses by the students, which, every one seemed to admit, were very well delivered. Brethren and sisters, do you know, do you believe that our brethren who work as teachers, generally work for less wages than they could have in other schools? Their work is sacrifice of self in the interest of the growing generation. Please remember that, and let them have your warmest sympathy, and earnest prayers and assistance. If they sink under their burdens,—like we all do, help them up! If in any way they miss the mark,—and who does not?—let us go to their aid and assist them to get upon the right course!

The schools, like everything else, need guidance, encouragement, and much care on the part of the church. They are like some children,—may be trained for either good or evil,—just as the parents may choose to do. May the members of the church every-where, like wise parents, have grace to help to conduct our schools for the glory of Christ and the salvation of mankind!

CHRISTIAN HOPE.

Echoes from the Highway.

MAY 28th, self, wife and daughter, sisters Mary and Sarah Gnagy and sister Keim, left Los Angeles for a trip across the continent. A continuous run of four days and nights brought us to Chicago where we took a rest from Saturday to Monday night. We spent Sunday with the brethren and sisters in the City. Bro. C. Hope assisted us in the services there, and then came on with us to Cincinnati, and thence to place of Annual Meeting, where we arrived on Wednesday morning,—the eighth day after leaving California.

It is wonderful how railroad travel has, seemingly, almost annihilated distance. What, in my boyhood days, was a six-months' travel, is now a journey of less than six days, and ere my "sun is set," peradventure it may be a trip of a day!

* * *

Annual Meeting is in the past. Much has been said and thought about it. All that was said and done is on record,—correctly too,—in the mind of God. Each actor must meet that record and abide the result. May God help us to remember, "what is written is written," what is said is said, and cannot be taken back, and let us, therefore, be guarded in pen, speech and thought.

* * *

We have visited our old homestead,—the house in which we were born, the graveyard where lie our grandparents, and the events of over half a century come back, crowding for a place in memory. Our young associates,—where are they? Many have gone the way of all flesh. Their children talk to us, and it seems we belong to a past generation. Those who remain meet us, now and then, with tottering step and frosted locks, as a reminder of that other crowd we are going over to meet, in the Great Beyond.

* * *

We meet, occasionally, in public service with the Brethren here, and worship the same God and in the same manner that our fathers did. In the rapid whirl of events in this, the near end of the nineteenth century, it takes no little effort to maintain the religion similar to the first, yet the standard-bearers, in common with the laity here, seem to be, through the grace of God, equal to the emergency.

J. S. FLORY.

The Children's Mission.

Dear Children:—

THE time has come to hand in our report. We have a larger amount to report than we have ever had in June. I feel to thank all very kindly for their donations, and hope that a much larger amount may come in before our next report,—near Christmas. Please notice the following welcome little missive from sister Anna B. Witmore:

CENTRE VIEW, MO., MAY 25, 1889.

My dear young Pilgrims:—

I wish to tell you how I earned a few dimes for the mission work. I learned how to make willow baskets, and made two which I sold at twenty cents each. Now I have forty cents to send for the mission cause. Perhaps some who may read this, will have an opportunity to earn a little in some way for the Master. I feel much interested since papa is in California. He writes how glad the people are to hear the true Word preached. We should all try to help send missionaries to preach where the true Word is not preached. I am twelve years old, and last fall, when Bro. J. M. Mohler, of Pennsylvania, was here, I united with the church, and am trying to live a Christian life. Let us all try to do something for the Master, that, when we come to die, we can go to live with him!

ANNA B. WITMORE.

I commend her much for her zeal for our Blessed Jesus. Perhaps more of our workers will do likewise! May God still bless us in our work, is my prayer!

DONATIONS.

Solicited by Darrell and Morvin Hollopeter, Rockton, Pa., J. H. Beer, 25 cents; Laura Beer, 5 cents; Caroline Beer, 25 cents; Sadie Beer, 10 cents; Alice Smith 2 cents; Glenn Hollopeter 10 cents; Mervin Hollopeter, 7 cents; Darrell Hollopeter 6 cents; Willie, Minnie, Charlie, Jessie and Glenn Spicher, 25 cents; Minnie Shaffer 10 cents; Mary Brubaker, 5 cents. Total $1.30.

Solicited by Lydia C. Mason, Norborne, Mo., a sister, 25 cents; Mable Clemens, 10 cents; a sister, 10 cents; Mattie Hogan, 10 cents; Sarah Early, 10 cents; Anna Early, 10 cents; John Clemens, 25 cents; Joseph Clemens, 5 cents; Walter Mason, 10 cents; Maggie Mason, 10 cents; Charley Mason, 5 cents; Willie Mason, 10 cents. Total, $1.40.

The following amounts were sent to me direct: Everett Gibson, Virden, Ill., 83 cents; Preston Gibson, 25 cents; solicited by Aurelia Watson, Macoupin Creek church, $3.27; Laura Heckman, Girard, Ill., 5 cents; Viola, Albert and Harry King, Paulding, Ohio, 50 cents; Lemuel Gibson, Virden, Ill., 10 cents; Evelina Gibson, Ill., 5 cents; Emma A. Miller, Claggetts, Md., $1.00; Fred. M. Miller, 15 cents; Goldie V. Miller, 10 cents; Mary M. Mullendore, 60 cents; Frankie C. Kaetzel, 15 cents; Mary Flora's Sunday-school class, Divernon, Ill., $1.25; Betta Terry, Virden, Ill., 10 cents; Fred. and Leslie Gibson, Girard, Ill., 2 cents; Emma E. Creager, Baltimore City, Md., 15 cents; Carrie Gibson, Virden, Ill., 40 cents; a sister, 30 cents; Lizzie Beckner, $1.00; Addah Warren, Alma and Amy Slabaugh, Lamar, Mo., $1.00; Martha Harnley, Chaturn, Ill., 5 cents; David Gibson, Virden, Ill., 10 cents; Caney, Kans., 10 cents; Mary E. Royer, North Beatrice, Nebr., $1.00; Jennie Richards, Girard, Ill., 15 cents; Mary Richards, Girard, Ill., 10 cents; a sister, Virden, Ill., 50 cents; Pleasant Hill Sunday-school, Virden, Ill., $3.25; Annie B. Witmore, Centre View, Mo., 40 cents; West Otter Sunday-school, Girard, Ill., $1.17; Laura E. Harshbarger, Painter City, Kans., 20 cents; Maggie and Charlie Slifer, Bunker Hill, Ill., 25 cents; Adaline Beanblossom, Raymond, Ill., 5 cents; Sarah Kuns, Cerro Gordo, Ill., $7.00. Total $25.86.

MARY M. GIBSON.

Virden, Ill., Box 421.

Notes of Travel.

WIFE and I left home in company with our elder, Benjamin Fryfogle and wife, on the morning of June 7, for Mason,—a distance of forty miles. We went by private conveyance and arrived at Bro. Cook's at 2 A. M., where, to our surprise, we met brother and sister Reese from near Charlotte. Our old sister Belinda Hill, we found, to our sorrow,—lying in the embrace of death. Sister Hill had been suffering from a cancer in the stomach, but bore her suffering with Christian patience, and was wholly resigned to the will of God.

Our object in going to Mason was, to hold a love-feast with our isolated brethren and sisters that live in that vicinity. Our departed sister had never participated in the sacred ordinances, and the Lord saw fit to call her home before she could thus engage with us.

June 8 we met at the house of Bro. Cook to pay the last tribute of respect to sister Belinda. In the evening we had a love-feast at Bro. Cook's house, to commemorate the death of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. Four members of Bro. Cook's family partook of the sacred emblems. We had a feast of heavenly things, and the best of order prevailed. We were made to think of the time when Christ ate the supper with his disciples, and then again we look forward to the great supper in the evening of this world. Elders B. Fryfogle and D. Chambers officiated during the evening exercises. On Sunday morning, June 9, elder Chambers and wife started for their home in Gratiot. We had two meetings on Sunday, at Bro. Cook's house, conducted by Eld. B. Fryfogle and David Baker. Splendid order prevailed during all of our meetings, and we felt thankful for the good attention manifested during these meetings. We tender our best wishes to Bro. Cook and family for the kind hospitality shown to us during our stay with them. We arrived home on the evening of the 10th and found all well, for which we thank the Lord!

SOL. C. SMITH.

From Gilman, Ind.

THE Killbuck church met in public worship, June 23rd. Bro Isaac Branson, our home minister, handled the Sword of the Spirit. One precious soul came out from among the world and expressed her desires to walk with God's people. This makes in all, since the discussion between R. H. Miller, and Aaron Walker, at this place, twenty-eight members that have been buried with Christ in baptism, to rise and walk in newness of life.

H. E. MILLSPAUGH.

"It is no great matter to live lovingly with humble and meek persons; but he that can do so with the froward, with the peevish and perverse, he only hath true charity; always remembering that our solid, true peace consists rather in complying with others than in being complied with; in suffering and forbearing, rather than in contention and victory."

From Bunker Hill Church, Ohio.

Our love-feast was a very enjoyable occasion. It brought to mind that great reunion that will take place in the kingdom to come.

We had a very large crowd at our communion. The spectators showed a Christian-like spirit, and kept very quiet. Ministering brethren present were, R. Shroyer, I. Hoover, Turner, and four home ministers. Bro. Edward Loomis officiated. One sister was baptized after the love-feast. Two weeks ago last Sunday, two,—a husband and wife,—were baptized. Last Sunday a week five were baptized. Let us pray, all of us, as a church! Let us pray more earnestly that many more will be brought into the fold of Christ, before the icy hand of death overtakes us. Our Sunday-school is progressing nicely. We, as a church, ask the brethren over this wide and extended world to pray for us, that we may not fall away from that first love that was once delivered unto the saints.

SARAH MIDDAUGH.

Missionary Report.

The following is a report of the Home Mission, of Middle District of Pennsylvania from Feb. 1 to May 12, 1889:

Lewistown,	$ 5 47
Yellow Creek,	15 28
Lewistown,	3 33
Check from J. A. Sell,	5 00
Lost Creek,	7 65
Mary Steice,	1 00
Total,	$37 73

ANDREW BASHOR,
Treas.

Report of the Building Committee of the Walnut Valley Church, Barton Co., Kans.

RECEIPTS.

Eld. Jacob Miller and wife, Pa,	$ 11 00
Woodbury church, Pa.,	20 25
New Enterprise church, Pa,	55 75
Cove Side Snake Spring church, Pa,	31 23
General Church Erection and Missionary Committee,	200 00
Neighbors, friends and the church at home,	145 45
Outstanding amounts promised by neighbors and friends, and the home church,	168 55
D. L. Heckman, Girard, Ills,	5 00
Received from General Church Erection and Missionary Committee as a loan, secured by a lien,	300 00
Total,	$937 23
Total cash cost of church,	$937 23

We hereby return thanks in behalf of the church to the dear brethren, sisters and friends for the help you sent us, and we pray God to bless you for it.

MICHAEL KELLER.
PETER BRUBAKER.
DAVID BOWER.

Notes by the Way.

The brethren and sisters of the Hopewell church met May 11, for council-meeting, previous to our love-feast. We had a very pleasant council. Not much business was brought before the church. The meeting was much enjoyed by all, and the whole church seems to be in love and union.

May 18, we had our love-feast, which was very enjoyable, because of the good order which prevailed, and the good instructions we received from our Brethren. There were present with us, Bro. J. M. Mohler, of Lewistown, Pa., and Bro. P. S. Myers. These brethren remained with us over Sunday, and held forth the Word with power. At six o'clock we had a children's meeting, conducted by Bro. John M. Mohler and our aged Bro. Studebaker.

Our Sunday-school, at the Bethel church, which we organized on the last Sunday of March, is in a prosperous condition. We have a full corps of officers. Bro. Alfred Simmons is our Superintendent. The ministers of our church have been very punctual in attending our Sunday-school, which is a great help to us, as new beginners in this important work.

June 1 our friend, John King, died very suddenly of heart disease, being about seventy-five years old. Mr. King was a member of the Seventh Day church. He was interred in the Everett cemetery. Funeral was preached by the Lutheran minister of that place.

DANIEL RITCHEY.

From English Prairie Church, Lagrange Co., Ind.

There are no meetings held during the year that are looked forward to with a greater degree of pleasure by devoted church members, than the communion meetings. On the evening of June 15, we held a very quiet and pleasant communion service, which, I believe, was enjoyed by all who participated in the ordinances of the Lord's house. Two hundred and ten brethren and sisters gathered around the tables to partake of the Lord's Supper. On Sunday morning we had a children's meeting before preaching, at which the ministers gave those assembled some very good instructions. Fifteen ministering brethren took part in the exercises, which will long be remembered.

At 4 o'clock we had preaching again by Bro. Felthouse. On the evening preceding the love-feast, one precious soul was received by baptism, and two by letter. May our Good Shepherd care for them and strengthen them that they may be found faithful unto the end!

We have a very good and interesting Sunday-school. May the Lord help us on with our work!

ELLA BLOSENS.

"He is rich whose income is more than his expenses, and he is poor whose expenses exceed his income."

MATRIMONIAL.

"What therefore God hath joined together, let not man put asunder."

MERICLE—PRINTZ.—At the residence of the bride's parents, May 30, by the undersigned, Mr. John Mericle and Miss Sarah Jane Printz. ELIJAH HORNE.

FALLEN ASLEEP

"Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord."

BOWERS.—In the Blue River church, Whitley County, Indiana, May 30, sister Sarah (Zumbrum) Bowers, aged 30 years, 8 months and 4 days.

She leaves a kind husband, seven small children and many other relatives to mourn their loss. She was an affectionate wife, a kind mother, a good and sociable neighbor, and was loved and respected by all who knew her. In her death the church sustains a great loss. Services by the home ministers from 1 Cor. 15, to a large audience of sympathizing friends and neighbors. CLARA SWIHART.

TRUMP.—Near Melrose, Clark Co., Ill., Dec 1, 1888. Tennis, son of Bro John and sister Florence Trump, aged 10 years, 1 month and 1 day.

TRUMP.—At the same place, Dec. 20, 1888, Bertha Trump, daughter of same parents, aged 2 years, 3 months and 21 days. Both children died of diphtheria.

Dear parents, although God has transplanted your tender buds into his own lovely garden, be not grieved at his mysterious providence. Though you no longer find your precious darlings prattling at your side, or feel them twining about your heart, you have the blessed assurance they are safe in the arms of Jesus. Be faithful to your calling and you shall one day meet them in God's glorious kingdom, nevermore to part!

ALICE J. BOONE.

FLICKINGER.—At Columbia City, Ind., May 18, Rachel, wife of Jeremiah Flickinger, aged 56 years, 4 months and 12 days.

Deceased was an old pioneer of Whitley County, Indiana, settling here in 1851. By her generosity and kindly spirit she won the esteem of all who became acquainted with her. She had been afflicted for several years before she was called away, but during all her sickness and pains she never forgot her God, but ever looked to him for peace, joy, and rest. She earnestly implored her six children, husband, and many friends to meet her in heaven, where they could again be united, nevermore to be severed by the cold hand of death, but where they could live in peace, joy and heavenly content throughout eternity. In such a death we can say, "O death, where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy victory?"

Deceased united with the church of the Brethren in 1872. Since then she has been an active member of the church of her choice. By her death the church loses a faithful and active member, but the church's loss is heaven's gain. W. F. BOLINGER.

SUMMERS.—In the bounds of the Greenmount church, Rockingham County, Va., May 18, John W. Summers, aged 43 years, 7 months and 15 days. Funeral services by the writer assisted by the Rev. Gruver, of the United Brethren church, from Job 14: 10.

FAWLEY.—In the bounds of the Linville Creek church, Rockingham Co., Va, May 19, of cancer, sister Sarah Fawley, aged 60 years, 4 months and 19 days. Funeral services by Bro. M. B. Kline and the writer, from 2 Sam. 14: 14.

FOGEL.—In the bounds of the Flat Rock church, Shenandoah Co., Va., May 30, Lucinda Fogel, in her 70th year. Funeral services by the writer and others from Rev. 7: 13-17.

ADAMS.—In the Pipe Creek congregation, Carroll Co., Md., March 5, sister Hannah Adams, aged 53 years, 11 months and 1 day.

Sister Hannah had been a great sufferer for many years. The cause of her death was cancer. She was a member of the Brethren's church for thirty six years, lived a consistent life and died in the bright hope of eternal bliss. Interment and services at Winter's Lutheran church, by Bro. Solomon Stoner and Rev. W. S. Delp, to a sympathizing congregation.

HOLSINGER.—In the bounds of the Linville Creek church, Rockingham Co., Va., June 5, Mary Holsinger, aged 77 years. Funeral services by Bro. Joseph Spitzer and the writer from Amos 4: 12.

SHAVER.—In the same church, June 6, sister Emma Shaver, aged 78 years, 6 months and 3 days. Funeral services by Bro. M. J. Roler and the writer, from 1 Cor. 15: 23. J. P. ZIGLER.

HILL.—In Ingham County, Michigan, at the home of her brother, Isaac Cook, two and one-half miles south of Mason, June 6, sister Belinda Hill, aged 66 years, 1 month and 15 days.

Deceased was born in Barber County, West Virginia. She was married to Mr Hill, who went to his long home some years ago. Sister Hill remained a widow the remainder of her life and united with the Brethren church Dec. 9, 1883. She was faithful until death and, as a ripe sheaf of wheat, was ready for the heavenly garnering. Funeral services at the house of Bro. Isaac Cook. Her remains were taken to the cemetery at Leslie, about seven miles distant, followed by her relatives, friends and neighbors. Funeral services by Eld. Benjamin Fryfogle, from Sunfield, Eaton County, assisted by Eld. D. Chambers, of Gratiot, and D. Baker, from Saginaw, Michigan. Text, 1 Thess. 4: 14-18.

SOLOMON C. SMITH.

ENGLAR.—In the Meadow Branch congregation, Carroll Co., Md., June 5, Bro. John Englar, aged 66 years, and 8 months. Interment in the Pipe Creek cemetery. Services by brethren U. Bixler and E. Babylon from Rev. 20: 6.

DERRICK.—In the same vicinity, May 31, Mr. George Derrick, aged about 75 years.

Deceased was drowned in attempting to cross Pipe Creek at McFadden's mill. His body was recovered June 8th and buried in the Pipe Creek cemetery. R. A. PROUTZ.

WESTHEAFFER.—In the Spring Creek church, Dauphin County, Pa, March 10, sister Anna Westheaffer, aged 63 years, 5 months and 6 days.

Deceased united with the church in her young days. She was married when about twenty-two years of age. Twelve children, of whom ten are yet living, blessed their union. Funeral services by brethren William Hertzler and George Baker

HALK.—In the bounds of the Spring Creek church, Dauphin Co, Pa., Dec. 31, 1888, Hettie Halk, aged 62 years, 4 months and 30 days.

Deceased was a widow for twenty-two years, and during all this time she struggled hard to maintain herself and family, and bring up her children in the nurture and admonition of the Lord.

CYRUS WESTHEAFFER.

EBY.—In Louisville, Stark Co., Ohio, Anna, wife of Simon Peter Eby, aged 61 years, 6 months and 16 days.

It can truly be said of her that she was a mother in Israel. For many years she lived close by the church known as the Center meeting-house, and her home was a home for all. She was a devoted and zealous member. Even while afflicted and full of pain, her seat in the sanctuary was filled. We feel assured that our loss is her eternal gain. When she found her end approaching, she called for the elders, and was anointed. Four children have preceded her to the eternal world. An affectionate, sympathetic husband and two children mourn their loss.

Funeral services by the Brethren from 1 Thess. 4: 13, 14, to a large and attentive congregation. JOHN F. KAHLER.

The "Oxford" Teachers' Reference Bibles.

PEARL 16mo.

No. 500. FRENCH MOROCCO, boards $1 40
No 502. FRENCH SEAL, limp, round corners 1 60
No. 503. FRENCH SEAL, divinity circuit, round corners 1 7
No. 514p.i. PERSIAN SEAL, divinity circuit, silk sewed, leather lined, patent index 4 50

RUBY 16mo.

No. 550. FRENCH MOROCCO, boards 2 25
No. 553. FRENCH SEAL, divinity circuit, round corners 2 75
No. 564. PERSIAN SEAL, divinity circuit, silk sewed, leather lined, round corners 4 00
No. 564p i. PERSIAN SEAL, same as No. 564, with patent index 5 00
No. 665½. LEVANT, divinity circuit, kid lined, silk sewed, round corners. 5 00

NONPAREIL 8vo.

o. 660. TURKEY MOROCCO, board, gilt roll 4 50
No. 661½. TURKEY MOROCCO, limp, round corners 4 75
No 664. PERSIAN SEAL, divinity circuit, round corners, leather lined 4 50
No. 664p.i. PERSIAN SEAL, same as No. 664, with patent index 6 00
No. 665½. LEVANT, divinity circuit, kid lined, silk sewed, round corners 6 00

INDIA PAPER EDITION.

No. 661x. PERSIAN SEAL, divinity circuit, silk sewed, round corners, leather lined 5 25
No. 661½x. TURKEY MOROCCO, silk sewed, loose limp, round corners 5 25
No. 671x. BEST LEVANT, divinity circuit, kid lined, silk sewed, red under gold edges, round corners 9 00

Address all orders to

BRETHREN'S PUBLISHING CO.,
Or, Huntingdon, Pa. Mount Morris, Ill.

NEW AND COMPLETE

Bible Commentary.

Critical, Explanatory and Practical, by Jamieson, Fausset & Brown, in four large 12mo Volumes of about 1000 pages each. This Work has Numerous Illustrations and Maps. It is far in advance of the Older Works. It is Critical, Practical and Explanatory. It is Compendious and Comprehensive in its character. It has a Critical Introduction to each Book of Scripture, and is by far the most Practical, Suggestive and Popular Work of the kind in the English Language. Price, Cloth, $8 00 post-paid.

BRETHREN'S PUBLISHING CO.,
Or, Huntingdon, Pa. Mt. Morris, Ill.

"LITTLE MISSIONARIES,"—a term applied by some one to our BRETHREN'S ENVELOPES, is well deserved. Price, 15 cents a package; for sale at this office.

A Book for Every Member!

Classified Minutes

— OF —

ANNUAL MEETING.

☞ A full supply of this excellent work still on hand. Every member should have a copy of this work, in order to have a thorough understanding of the deliberations of the Annual Meeting in reference to church government, etc. Price, English Cloth, $1.50, post-paid; leather, $2.00.

☞ A responsible agent wanted in each congregation, to whom terms will be furnished upon application. Address,

BRETHREN'S PUBLISHING CO.,
Or, Huntingdon, Pa. Mount Morris, Ill.

Tract Work.

List of Publications for Sale,—Sent Postage Prepaid.

CLASS A.

No. 1. Golden Gleams or Family Chart, ... 85 cts.

CLASS B.

No. 1. Trine Immersion, Quinter, per copy ... $ 1 25
No. 2. Europe and Bible Lands, Miller, per copy, ... 1 50
No. 3. Doctrine of the Brethren Defended, per copy, ... 1 50
No. 4. Classified Minutes—A. M. 1 50
No. 5. Two Sticks, Eshelman, ... 1 00
No. 6 Close Communion, Wesb. per copy 40

CLASS C.

No. 1. Annual Report, per copy, ... $ 05
No. 2. Path of Life, per 100, $5.00; per copy, 06
No. 3. How to Become a Child of God, per 100, $4 00; per copy, ... 05
No. 4. Conversion, per 100, $2 50; per copy 03
No. 5. Water Baptism, per 100, $1.50; per copy 02
No. 6. Single Immersion, per 100, $1 50; per copy, ... 02
No. 7. Sabbatism, per 100, $2.50; per copy, ... 03
No. 8. Discussion on Trine Immersion, per copy, ... 15
No. 9. Sermon on Baptism, per copy, ... 03
No. 10. Glad Tidings of Salvation, per copy... 03
No. 11. Life of Eld. S. Weir (Colored), per copy, ... 08
No. 12. Ten Reasons for Trine Immersion, per 100, $1.50, per copy, ... 02

CLASS D.

No. 1. House We Live In, per 100, ... $ 60
No. 2. Plan of Salvation, per 100, ... 60
No. 3. Come, Let Us Reason Together, per 100 60
No. 4. How Shall I Know that my Sins are Pardoned? per 100, ... 60
No. 5. Intemperance, per 100, ... 60
No. 6. Plain Dressing, per 100, ... 60
No. 7. Which Is the Right Church? per 100... 60
No. 8. House We Live In (Swedish), per 100,.. 60
No. 9. House We Live In (Danish), per 100,.. 60
No. 10. Paul Wetzel's Reasons, Etc., (German), per 100, ... 80
No. 11. Sinner, Stop! per 100, ... 60
No. 12. Faith, per 100, ... 60
No. 13. The Light-House, per 100, ... 60
No. 14. Close Communion, per 100, ... 60
No. 15. The Truth Shall Make You Free, per 100, ... 60
No. 16. Modern Skepticism, per 100, ... 60
No. 17. Infant Baptism Weighed in the Balances and Found Wanting, per 100, ... 60

CLASS E.

No. 1. Pause and Think, per 100, ... 80
No. 2. What Do We Need? per 100, ... 80
No. 3. Right or Wrong Way, per 100, ... 80
No. 4. Why Am I Not a Christian? per 100, ... 80
No. 5. Saving Words, per 100, ... 80
No. 6. Christ and War, per 100, ... 80
No. 7. The Bond of Peace, per 100, ... 80
No. 8 The Kiss of Charity, per 100, ... 80
No. 9. The Evils of Intemperance, per 100,.. 80
No. 10. The Lost Opportunity, per 100, ... 80
No. 11. Are You a Christian? per 100, ... 80
No. 12. Arise, Get Thee Down, per 100, ... 80
No. 13. A Personal Appeal, per 100, ... 80
No. 14. Lying Among the Pots, per 100, ... 80
No. 15. Gold and Costly Array, per 100, ... 80
No. 16. The Brethren's Card, per 100, ... 80

Bibles, Testaments, Hymn Books of all styles, at publishers' lowest retail prices, which will be furnished on application.

Address

Brethren's Book and Tract Work,
DAYTON, OHIO

Church Register.

—:o:—

To those who would wish to collect and to preserve a complete history of their congregation and biography of each of their members, with names, dates of baptism or letter, dates of death or letter, and also dates of election, ordination of all the official members, and all events of importance occurring in each congregation, we would say, buy a copy of the Church Register. Price, containing sample pages and instructions, well bound, and sent by mail, $1.00 per copy. Address this office

PUBLICATIONS

☞ The following books, Sunday-school supplies, etc., are for sale by the Brethren's Publishing Co., Mt. Morris, Ill., or Huntingdon, Pa., to whom all orders should be addressed.

The Brethren's Quarterly.

For Sunday-school teachers and scholars this publication is of the greatest benefit. Look at our prices:

Single subscription, one year ..... 35 cents.
Single subscription, per quarter ..... 10 cents.
Three copies, per quarter ..... 25 cents.
Eight copies, per quarter ..... 40 cents.
Fifty copies and over ..... 4 cents each.

• • • Hymn Books • • •

New Tune and Hymn Books.

Half leather, single copy, post-paid ..... $ 1 00
Per dozen, by express 10 00
Morocco, single copy, post-paid 1 25
Per dozen, by express 12 00
Morocco, gilt edge, per copy 1 50

Hymn Books, English.

Morocco, single copy, post-paid ..... $ 50
Per dozen, post-paid 9 50
Per dozen, by express 9 00
Morocco, gilt edge, post-paid 1 10
Per dozen, post-paid 11 75
Per dozen, by express 11 25
Arabesque, single copy, post-paid 55
Per dozen, post-paid 5 80
Per dozen, by express 5 30
Sheep, single copy, post-paid 50
Per dozen, post-paid 5 30
Per dozen, by express 5 00
Tuck, single copy, post-paid 1 00
Per dozen, post paid 10 00
Per dozen, by express 9 50
Fine Limp, post-paid 1 00
Per dozen, post-paid 10 00
Fine Limp, single copy, gilt edge, post-paid 1 20
Fine Limp, gilt edge, per dozen 13 00
German and English, per copy, ... 90
" " " per dozen; mail, $9.50; express 9 00

The Young Disciple.

The YOUNG DISCIPLE is a neatly printed weekly, published especially for the moral benefit and religious instruction of our young folks.

Single copy, one year ..... $ 50
Six copies (the sixth to the agent) 2 50
Ten copies 4 00

For Three Months or Thirteen Weeks.

20 copies to one address $1 70
30 " " " " 2 50
40 " " " " 3 35
50 " " " " 3 80
75 " " " " 5 20
100 " " " " 7 00

For Six Months or Twenty-Six Weeks.

20 copies to one address ..... $ 3 35
30 " " " " 5 00
40 " " " " 6 60
50 " " " " 7 50
75 " " " " 10 20
100 " " " " 13 75

Our paper is designed for the Sunday-school and the home circle. We desire the name of every Sunday-school Superintendent in the Brotherhood, and want an agent in every church. Send for sample copies.

Sunday-School Requisites.

The following list of things is needed in all Sunday-schools:

Testaments, Flexible, red edge, per doz $1 00
Minute Books, each 50
Class Books, per doz 75
Union Primers, with fine engravings, per doz 70

New and Beautiful Sunday-School Cards.

"The Gem," 50 picture cards, each with Bible Text, verse of hymn 35
250 Reward Tickets—verse of Scripture—red or blue, 80

Miscellaneous Works.

☞ We are prepared to furnish any book in the market at publishers' retail price. Religious works a specialty.

Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress.—An excellent edition of this good work, printed on good paper, finely illustrated with forty engravings, at the low price of $1 00 per copy.

Brown's Pocket Concordance. This is a very reliable, low-priced work, and very handy for reference. Price, 50 cents.

Biblical Antiquities.—By John Nevin. Gives a concise account of Bible times and customs invaluable to all students of Bible subjects. Price $1 50.

Barnes' Notes.—On the New Testament, 11 vols cloth, $16 50. Barnes' Notes on the Psalms, 3 vols the set, $4 50. Barnes' Notes on Daniel, 1 vol $1 50. Barnes' Notes on Isaiah, 2 vols the set, $3.00. Barnes' Notes on Job, 2 vols the set, $3 00

Close Communion.—By Landon West. Treats this important subject in a simple though conclusive manner. Price 50 cents.

Cruden's Concordance.—A very complete work. Price, cloth, $1 50; sheep, $3 00.

Companion to the Bible.—This valuable work is so full of instruction that all who read it will not fail to be of great benefit to every Christian. Price $1 75

Campbell and Owen's Debate.—Contains a complete investigation of the evidences of Christianity. Price, $1 50.

Classified Minutes of Annual Meeting.—A work of rare interest to all who desire to be well informed in the church work, from the early days of our Brethren until the present. Price, cloth, $1 50; leather, $2 00.

Europe and Bible Lands.—By D. L. Miller. A book for the people and for comprehensive and thorough study of the many higher priced works. Price cloth, $1 50; leather, $2 00

Family Bible, with Notes and Instructions.—Contains the harmony of the Gospels, Chronology, Maps, Tables of Weights and Measures, Family Record, eight elegant illustrations, etc. Price, substantially bound, $6 00

Family Bible.—This is a fine and very complete work. New and old versions of the New Testament side by side. Concordance and everything usually found in Bibles of the kind. Price only $4 50. Sent by express only.

German and English Testaments.—American Bible Society Edition. Price 75 cents.

Josephus' Complete Works.—Large type, 1 vol 8vo Illustrated with many steel and wood engravings. Library sheep, $3 50.

Life on Wheels.—By J. S. Mohler. The idea of the book is to represent the way to heaven, by using the different terms connected with an ordinary railroad. Price, single copy, 40 cents.

New Testament and Psalms with Notes.—Invaluable for Bible students, Sunday-school teachers, etc. Price, cloth, $2 00

Origin of Single Immersion.—By Eld. James Quinter. Price, 2 copies, 5 cents, 12 copies, 25 cents; 50 copies, $1 00.

Quinter and McConnell Debate.—A debate on Trine Immersion, the Lord's Supper, and Feet-washing, between Eld. James Quinter (German Baptist) and Eld. N. A. McConnell (Christian) held at Dry Creek, Iowa, 1867. Price, $1 50.

Reference and Pronouncing Testament.—A copious selection of parallel and illustrated passages and the classical pronunciation of the proper names and other difficult words, together with a short dictionary and gazetteer of the New Testament. Price, $1 00, post-paid

Reason and Revelation.—By R. Milligan. Should be in the hands of every Bible student. Price $2 00

Sacred Geography and Antiquities.—A practical, helpful work for Bible students, ministers and Sunday-school teachers. Price, $2 25.

Smith's Bible Dictionary.—Edited by Peloubet. Cloth, $2 00; leather, $3 00.

Sabbatism.—By M. M. Eshelman. Treats the Sabbath question, showing that the first day of the week is the day for assembling in worship. Price 10 cents, 15 copies $1 00.

The Christian Sabbath Defended.—By M. T. Baer. This is a reliable and interesting work on the Sabbath question, and should be widely circulated. Price, single copy, 15 cents; per dozen, $1 50.

The Law and Sabbath.—The Gospel and Lord's Day.—Why I Quit Keeping the Jewish Sabbath. The author of this pamphlet was once led to observe the Saturday-Sabbath, but has since, after a Bible examination, renounced it as an error. Ample proof against keeping the Jewish Sabbath in the Christian Dispensation is given. Sixty-four pages, printed in nice, clear type. Price 20 cents; 5 copies, $1 00.

Two Sticks, or Lost Ten Tribes of Israel Discovered.—By M. M. Eshelman. Maintains that the Anglo-Saxons are the offspring of the Ten Tribes, that the Jews and Israelites are two distinct people, but will again be united in Palestine. 265 pages Cloth, price, $1 00.

The Path of Life.—An interesting tract for everybody. Price 10 cents per copy, 80 copies $6 00.

Trine Immersion.—A vindication of the apostolic form of Christian baptism. By Eld. James Quinter. A most complete and reliable work on the subject. Price, cloth, single copy, $1 25, leather, $1 75.

The House We Live In.—By Daniel Vaniman. It gives a concise account of the faith and practice of the Brethren. Price, 100 copies, 60 cents

The Doctrine of the Brethren Defended.—A complete work on the distinctive principles of our fraternity. Price, cloth, $1.50.

The Story of the Bible.—An excellent volume for old and young; will interest and instruct all those desiring a knowledge of the Scriptures. Price $1 00.

Universalism against Itself.—By Hall. One of the best works against Universalism. Price $1.00.

"Alexander Mack's Writings," 25 cents post-paid. Get a copy.

Announcements.

LOVE-FEASTS.

July 4, Coon River church near Panora, Iowa.

Aug. 10 and 11, at 3 P. M., at the house of B. M Peterson, Fairview congregation, Sherman Co., Kans

Sept. 6, at 10 A. M., Olathe church Kans. at the residence of Wm. Brunks, 1 mile north of Olathe.

Sept. 7 and 8, at 3 P. M., Frederic, Monroe Co., Ia.

Sept. 7 and 8, at 10 A. M., Anglaize Chapel, ¾ mile from Dupont, Ohio, on the Clover Leaf Railroad; 2½ miles from Hartsburg, on the Nickle Plate Railroad.

Sept 7 and 8, at 2 P. M., Juniata congregation, 1 mile south and ½ mile east of Roseland, Adams Co., Neb.

Sept. 13, at 10 A. M., Sugar Creek church, Whitley Co., Ind.

Sept. 14 and 15, at 10 A. M., Sabetha, Kans.

Sept 21, at 11 A. M., Killbuck church, Ind., 9 miles west of Muncie, on the Jackson St. Pike. Those coming by rail will be met at Reed Station, by notifying Job Mahoney, Reed, Delaware Co., Ind., or Walter Bowers, Gilman, Madison Co., Ind.

Sept 28 and 29, at 11 A. M., English River congregation, Keokuk Co., Iowa.

Oct 5, at 10 A M, in the Vernon meeting-house Somerset congregation, Wabash Co., Ind.

Oct. 12, at 4 P. M., Big Creek church, Richland Co., Illinois. Conveyance will be furnished any time by notifying J. M. Forney, Parkersburg, Illinois.

Oct. 10, at 10 A. M., Landessville church, Grant Co., Ind.

Advice to Mothers.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. 28y1

ADVERTISEMENTS.

Rates per Inch each Insertion.

One time or more	$1 50
One month (4 times)	1 30
Three months (12 times)	1 20
Six months (25 times)	1 00
One year (150 times)	70
No advertisement accepted for less than	1 00

☞ No Cuts inserted, unless on metal base. No double-column or objectionable advertisements admitted.

ROYAL

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and can not be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders BOLD ONLY IN CANS.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO.,
106 Wall St., N. Y.

Victor Remedies!

These Remedies consist of Victor Liver Syrup, Victor Pain Balm, Victor Infant's Relief, Victor Lung Syrup, Victor Pills, Victor Liniment, Victor Poultry, Horse and Cattle Powders. These Remedies are all sold under a guarantee. If you cannot get them from your merchant, send his name to us, and we will arrange so he has them in stock if he is reliable. Send for circulars. Address:

VICTOR REMEDIES CO.,
5tf Frederick, Md.

EUROPE AND BIBLE LANDS!

BY D. L. MILLER.

THE large sale of this work gives abundant proof of its popularity. The eighth edition is almost exhausted, and a new edition will be necessary to supply the demand. The following partial list will give an idea of the contents of the work:

Life in Germany.—Berlin.—The King's Palace.—Dresden.—The Crown Jewels.—Women in Germany.—The City of Prague.—The Martyrdom of John Huss.—The Habits and Customs of the People.—Bro. Hope's Work in Denmark.—Old Castles and Prisons of the Middle Ages.—Paul's Preaching at Mars' Hill.—Old Temples at Athens.—The Seven Churches of Asia.—Ephesus, and the Temple of Diana.—Jaffa.—The House of Simon, the Tanner.—Plain of Sharon.—Lepers and Leprosy.—Mountains of Judea.—Jerusalem.—Place of Crucifixion.—Mount Moriah.—Solomon's Temple.—Mount Zion.—David's Tomb.—Bethlehem.—The Fields Where the Shepherds Watched their Flocks by Night.—Rachel's Tomb.—Mount of Olives.—The Garden of Gethsemane.—Jericho.—The Dead Sea.—River of Jordan.—Bethel.—The Mountains of Blessing and Cursing.—Nazareth.—Cana of Galilee.—The Sea of Galilee.—Capernaum.—Damascus.—Ruins of Baalbec.—Customs. Manners, Habits and Home Life of the Arabs.

Bro. Miller visited the places he describes and tells about them in an easy, pleasant manner, which makes the book exceedingly interesting. It contains 439 pages, and 40 engravings, among which are a number of full-page illustrations of Palestine scenery. It is printed on heavy, tinted paper, in clear-faced type, bound in a good, substantial manner, and will be so'd at the very low price of $1 50 per copy, cloth binding, postage prepaid.

SPECIAL RATES TO MINISTERS.—In order to have a copy of the book placed in the hands of all our ministers, we make them the following liberal offer: Send one dollar for the book, and sixteen cents to pay postage, and you will receive a copy by return mail.

Agents wanted, to whom liberal terms will be given. Address all orders to

BRETHREN'S PUBLISHING CO.,
MT. MORRIS, ILL.

McShane Bell Foundry
Finest Grade of Bells.
CHIMES AND PEALS for CHURCHES, &c.,
Send for Price and Catalogue. Address
H. McSHANE & CO.,
Mention this paper. Baltimore, Md.

J. B. COLCLESSER,

ROANOKE, HUNTINGDON CO., IND., Breeder of Purely-bred Poland China Swine. My herd is made up of the most fashionable strains known to the breed. Stock recorded in C. R. and O. R. Pigs and aged animals for sale. Gelts bred and for sale January and February 1890. Breeding a specialty. Correspondence or personal inspection solicited. 22t25

The Original Trans-Continental Line.

The Union Pacific Railway, "The Overland Route" runs daily trains from Council Bluffs, Omaha and Kansas City to Denver, Salt Lake City, Sacramento, San Francisco, Los Angeles and Portland.

Quick time across the continent.

Elegant equipment, consisting of latest Pullman Palace Cars and Day Coaches.

The Golden Gate Special, "The Finest Train in the World" leaves Council Bluffs every Wednesday morning for San Francisco; electric light, steam heat, bath rooms, smoking rooms and observation cars are only a few of the many conveniences offered on this train.

This company has also for sale in Kansas and Colorado, 3,000,000 acres of choice farming lands; only one-tenth cash down and balance on ten years' time at seven per cent interest. Fare paid over the Union Pacific by persons who go to see the land, is refunded if land is purchased.

The Union Pacific Railway company has also 3,000,000 acres of land in Wyoming and Utah for sale at very low prices. Best ranch land in the world on liberal terms.

For full information in regard to rates, time-tables, maps, price of lands, etc., address,

THOS. L. KIMBALL,
Gen'l Manager.
C. J SMITH,
Gen'l Land Com.
J. S TEBBETS, Gen'l Pass. Ag't.
50 OMAHA, NEB.

SALESMEN Wanted; local and traveling. Positions permanent. Salary from start. Experience unnecessary. Brown Bros., Nurserymen, Chicago, Ill.

To California.

SPECIAL parties leave Chicago every Thursday over the Santa Fe Route through to California. These parties are accompanied by a special Conductor whose duty it is to look after the comfort and security of passengers en route, and this feature makes the journey pleasant. Low rates are made for persons joining these parties.

If you think of going to California write to or call upon James Wallace, 212 Clark Street, Chicago, Ill.

The Monon Route.

THIS road is running a fine line of Pullman Buffet Sleepers between Chicago and Indianapolis, Cincinnati and Louisville, in connection with the fast Florida express trains.

For full information, address, E. O. McCORMICK, Gen'l Pass. Agt., Adams Express Building, Chicago. (City Ticket Office ,73 Clark St.)

CINCINNATI BELL FOUNDRY CO
SUCCESSORS IN BLYMYER BELLS TO THE
BLYMYER MANUFACTURING CO
CATALOGUE WITH 1800 TESTIMONIALS.
BELLS, CHURCH, SCHOOL, FIRE ALARM

Brethren's Quarterly.

ORDERS should be sent in at once for the Quarterly for the third quarter of 1889. Price, three copies, 25 cents; eight copies 40 cents; fifty copies and over, four cents each. Address,

BRETHREN'S PUBLISHING CO,
Mt Morris, Ill.
Or, Huntingdon, Pa.

Young America!

It will pay you to do your own grinding on a mill that grinds corn with or without cob, as well as all kinds of small grain. Our mill is simple, strong and durable. Send for catalogue & price.

—WE ALSO MAKE THE—

Enterprise Feed Grinder.

Warranted to grind all kinds of grain. The new principle on which the grinding-plates are made, gives them a larger grinding capacity, and makes them more durable than any other style. For further particulars address,

Enterprise M'f'g. Co.,
(Mention this paper.) Columbiana, Ohio.

CLASSIFIED MINUTES OF ANNUAL MEETING.

In order to introduce this excellent work more fully in all parts of the Brotherhood, we would like to secure a live, energetic agent in every congregation to whom we will give special inducements; terms made known on application. Address, Brethren's Publishing Co.

Wanted!

We want brethren in every district to sell our Fertilizers. We manufacture a number of different grades, so as to suit all buyers, viz.,

Blood and Bone Dissolved, Raw Bone and Potash, High Grade Super Phosphate of Bone, Soluble Ammoniated Bone Phosphate and Chemicals!

All the above brands have stood the test for years, and in field contests have proved to be second to none on the market.

We guarantee to keep up the present high standard of these different brands, and feel assured you can save money by buying from us Write for terms, circulars, etc. Address,

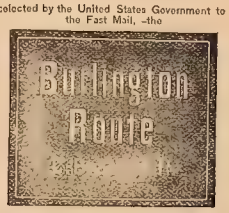
D. BLOCHER & CO.,
11m9 Gettysburg, Pa.

Certificates of Membership.

These Certificates are bound in book-form, and contain a stub which is very convenient for reference. By using these books, a complete record may be kept of all certificates issued, when given, and by whom signed. Sent, post-paid, for 50 cents per copy. Address this office.

Brethren's Envelopes!

Send for a package of these Envelopes, of which over fifty thousand have been sold in the past ten years. They may spread the doctrine of the Brethren everywhere. Price, per package of 25, 15cts; per 100, 40cts. Address this office.



Alexander Mack's Writings

THOSE who have not yet secured a copy of this excellent work, should embrace the opportunity of getting one at the low price at which it is now offered. A copy should be in the library of every brother. Price, 25 cts. per copy, with special inducements to agents. Address this office.

WHEN YOU TRAVEL

Take the

Line selected by the United States Government to carry the Fast Mail, the

As it is the Line running Through Trains to and from the following cities and towns on its own Lines:

CHICAGO,
AURORA, OTTAWA,
STREATOR, ROCKFORD, DUBUQUE,
LA CROSSE, ST. PAUL, MINNEAPOLIS,
MENDOTA, PEORIA, GALESBURG, ST. LOUIS,
QUINCY, KEOKUK, BURLINGTON, WASHINGTON,
OSKALOOSA, DES MOINES, CHARITON,
CRESTON, ST. JOSEPH, ATCHISON,
KANSAS CITY, NEBRASKA CITY,
OMAHA, COUNCIL BLUFFS,
LINCOLN & DENVER,

Making Direct Connections

TO AND FROM

NEW YORK,
BALTIMORE, WASHINGTON,
CINCINNATI, PHILADELPHIA, BOSTON,
NEW ORLEANS, LOUISVILLE, SAN FRANCISCO,
LOS ANGELES, SALT LAKE CITY, COLORADO AND
PACIFIC COAST RESORTS, CITY OF MEXICO,
PORTLAND, OREGON, MANITOBA,
VICTORIA AND PUGET SOUND
POINTS.

Good Equipment,
Good Service,
Good Connection.

For information concerning the Burlington Route, apply to the nearest Ticket Agent of the C., B. & Q. or connecting railroads.

HENRY B. STONE, General Manager,
PAUL MORTON, Gen'l Pass. & Ticket Agt.,
CHICAGO, ILL.

THE GOSPEL MESSENGER.

"Set for the Defense of the Gospel."

Vol. 27. Old Series. Mt. Morris, Ill., and Huntingdon, Pa., July 9, 1889. No. 27.

The Gospel Messenger.

H. B. BRUMBAUGH, Editor,
And Business Manager of the Eastern House, Box 50, Huntingdon, Pa.

AN EXPLANATION.

WHILE at our late Annual Conference our Advisory Committee informed us that there was a complaint made to them against an expression made by us in Editorial of No. 5, of present year, first page, entitled, "Our Practices." The objectionable expression is: "The desire, before God, is quite as good as the act." It occurs in the middle paragraph of the middle column, and reads as follows:

"We know that an objection may be urged against this order, because all can not have the privilege of washing feet at the same meeting. This is so, but abundant opportunity is given for as many as wish to do so; and if there are those present who wish to do so, and the opportunity is not afforded, the desire, before God, is quite as good as the act; and, besides, the blessed privilege of preferring one another is here given. If we sacrifice our desires that others may have theirs, God will accept and the blessing be given."

It will be seen that the expression is used in discussing the act of feet-washing as a matter of privilege between two persons, and, therefore, can not be applied to any other condition. To illustrate our thought more plainly; two of us are together as brethren; I wish to do a certain act or favor — he wishes to do the same thing. To accommodate my brother, I sacrifice my wish, and let my brother do that which I wished to do myself. In this case my desire before God, to do the thing, would be quite as good as the act. This is the manner in which I used the expression, and so it was understood by our Committee, and so we intended it to be understood by everybody.

The Committee kindly suggested that we should make the explanation, and we most gladly do so, as we don't wish to be misunderstood.

RANDOM READINGS.

That "we must take people as we find them," in this world, is unmistakably true; but that we must leave people as we found them, is to admit that our efforts in their behalf have been utterly valueless. Taking people as we find them and leaving them a great deal better for our presence and labors, is the simple duty of all of us.

* * *

Prayer and Bible reading, day by day, ought to be something more than a form. They ought to be a joy to those who practice them. Yet if one has no joy in them, he would do better to continue their practice until he finds them a means of joy to him. Speaking of the importance of training children to read the Bible reverently and regularly, Bishop Ryle said, on one occasion, to those to whom he was commending this duty: "I know well you cannot make this anything more than a form; but there is no telling the amount of sin which a mere form may indirectly restrain." And as it is with Bible reading, so it is with any other good habit; it is better to be adhered to even as a mere form, than not to be adhered to at all.

* * *

Nothing wins love like unselfish thoughtfulness for others. He who thinks nothing of himself in his intercourse with his fellows, is surest to make his fellows think of him with gratitude, when they are with him, and when they are away from him. There is no way of winning a place in the hearts of all, like losing all thought of one's self or of one's claim on the love of any.

* * *

God is a loving Father and a loving Friend to the children of men, and not their arbitrary Sovereign. He who realizes this truth has a freedom in his grateful service of God which is not possible to one who lacks its comprehension. It is said of a devoted missionary that "in his eye all life was a covenant, and every act a consecration." Such a life is a life of joy and a life of peace. There is true joy and true peace in no other life.

* * *

The safest way to stay the progress of wrong is to advance the right. Every direct attack upon the wrong, by the right, imperils the right by inviting a counter-attack upon itself. Every improvement in gun-making necessitates a corresponding improvement in armor-making. If the right is not used as a weapon of offense, it is not so likely to need to spend itself in its own defense. And if the wrong is busy neither with its own defense nor with the direct offense against the right, it is more fairly open to see the right as exhibited in the right. It is better to draw one into the right than even to drive him out of the wrong.

* * *

One of the proofs of the divine origin of the Bible is its capability of enduring the test of close and thorough study in its every portion. The more a man knows about the Bible, the more he values the Bible; and the more a man studies the Bible, the more he finds in the Bible that is worth studying. There is always something that is fresh and that is deserving of fresh attention to be found in any and every text of the Bible that is brought under fresh examination. This is the unvarying testimony of every intelligent Bible student; and the fact that this is so is an added reason why the Bible should be studied systematically and persistently.

* * *

It seems strange, sometimes, that men deliberately yield to temptations to do wrong when there are really greater inducements to do right. But the inducements to the wrong are always in the domain of that which is material, sensual, temporal; while the inducements to the right are most often in the domain of that which is moral, spiritual, eternal. And as only the moral can perceive the moral, only the spiritual the spiritual, therefore it is that he whose moral and spiritual vision is dim and uncertain, fails clearly to apprehend, and fully to measure, the real nature and magnitude of the inducement to do right. As a matter of merely selfish gain, therefore, in the realm of profit and loss, it is worth while to consider the advantages of cultivating the moral sense and the spiritual perception, in order that we may at least be able fairly to weigh the arguments for and against the right and wrong when the choice is presented to us.

* * *

ONE may become surfeited with getting, but he never can be surfeited with right giving. He who spends the most energy in serving himself, will be most likely to tire of the service—as well as in the service. He who spends most energy in serving others, will be least likely to tire of the service—even though he may tire in the service. The surest way to get all the good we can out of our own energies, is to spend them in the service of others.

* * *

The comfort of faith is in the help it gives beyond the realm of sight. So long as we can see just what God is doing for us, and just why he does it, we feel no need of faith. Our reason is sufficient for our encouragement. But when sight fails us, and we can see neither the what nor the why of God's dealings in our behalf, then it is for our faith in the loving and wise God to be our stay and our cheer. Charles Kingsley, indeed, suggests that faith is "reason exercised on the invisible." And thus it is that faith can give to us, in the realm of the unseen, a rest that is as sure as the rest which reason gives to us in any portion of the realm of the seen.

* * *

It is a serious thing to be responsible for the right proclaiming of God's truth to souls; nor is the seriousness lessened when the souls thus entrusted are few. Yet ministers and teachers are oftener anxious to enlarge their responsibility in this direction than they are to discharge aright the measure of responsibility which is already theirs. "If only more scholars would come to our Sunday-school, how much more good we could do!" is frequently on the lips and in the hearts of Sunday-school workers. "If only we took better care of the scholars who come, how much more faithful servants we should be!" is a sentiment that is neither heard nor acted upon so often as it ought to be.

* * *

Many a man seems readier to work almost anywhere else than in his own sphere. His proper and legitimate work he counts as drudgery, while there is a certain fascination to him in work which is not his appointed task. Yet, as a practical matter, the man who will not do his own work is not worth much in the doing of anybody else's work. The first requisite of a good worker is a willingness to attend to his own work; and, unless a man is ready to do a good deal of drudgery as drudgery, he is not likely to do work that is not drudgery; for there is a large percentage of drudgery in all work that is worth doing by anybody. If, therefore, one of us would fain be at work elsewhere than at his appointed daily task, he needs to realize that he is so far lacking in the true spirit of a good worker for any sphere on earth or in heaven.—Selected.

ESSAYS

"Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not be ashamed, rightly dividing the Word of Truth."

TRUST.

I can not see with my small human sight
Why God should lead this way or that for me.
I only know he saith, "Child, follow me."
But I can trust.

I know not why my path should be at times
So strictly hedged, so strongly barred before,
I only know God could keep wide the door,
But I can trust.

I find no answer often, when beset—
With questions fierce and subtle on the way,
And often have but strength to faintly pray.
But I can trust.

I often wonder as with trembling hand
I cast the seed along the furrowed ground,
If ripened fruit for God will there be found;
But I can trust.

I can not know why suddenly the storm,
Should rage so fiercely round me in its wrath,
But this I know, God watches all my path,
And I can trust.

I may not draw aside the mystic veil
That hides the unknown future from my sight,
Nor know if for me waits the dark or light;
But I can trust.

I have no power to look across the tide,
To know, while here, the land beyond the river;
But this I know, I shall be God's forever,
So I can trust.

—Selected by Gertrude A. Flory.

THE TREASURE IN EARTHEN VESSELS.

BY MATTIE A. LEAR.

"For God who commanded the light to shine out of darkness, hath shined in our hearts, to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ. But we have this treasure in earthen vessels that the excellency of the power may be of God, and not of us."—2 Cor. 4: 6, 7.

In the above text allusion seems to be made to the beginning of the creation when "the earth was without form, and void; and darkness was upon the face of the deep; and the Spirit of God moved upon the face of the waters." The above three brief clauses contain matter which might be expanded into volumes. Never, perhaps, was more matter couched into smaller space.

This chaos, this void and formless waste, enveloped in the blackness of darkness, cold, dank, voiceless, shoreless, is a striking emblem of the moral state of the world at the time of our Savior's advent, and more or less an emblem of the state of every unregenerate heart.

But at the fiat of Jehovah what a change is wrought! God said, "Let there be light; and there was light." The apostle says, "God who commanded the light to shine out of darkness, hath shined in our hearts." What a dark cavern is the human heart in a state of nature, full of pollution, evil surmisings, vain, corrupt, rebellious thoughts! "Every imagination of the thought of the heart is only evil continually."

Our Savior tells us that from the heart proceed evil thoughts, murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, false witness, blasphemies. What a dark category, and what a den of vileness where such things reign and rankle! We are shocked and horrified when these evils manifest themselves in overt acts; yet the terrible, revolting crimes, an account of which occupies so large a space in the secular papers, are only the outburst of the pent-up corruption within.

So long as the tree is corrupt, the fruit will also be corrupt, but when the tree is made good the fruit will also be good. What a change must here be wrought! A complete metamorphosis, the greatest of all miracles! That corrupt and deadly fountain from which issued those poisonous streams which spread horror and desolation broadcast over the land, is changed into a pure and life-giving fountain, sending moral healthfulness, joy and gladness to all who come in contact with it.

This knowledge is to be given in the incarnation of Jesus Christ. Moses obeyed the Lord, and would have liked to see God's glory, but he was told, "Thou canst not see my face, for there shall no man see me and live." The time had not yet come for the full spiritual and higher revelation of God to man. The past dispensation was but the twilight; Christ is the true light that lighteth every man that cometh into the world. The law was given by Moses, but grace and truth came by Jesus Christ.

The countenance has been likened to a crystal wherein the thoughts and affections, otherwise invisible, appear. From the countenance, from the whole life, from every word and act of our blessed Savior shone forth the goodness, the purity, the wisdom of the divinity within. Here was God manifest in the flesh, walking and acting before men and teaching the most sublime truths to which human ears had ever listened, so new, so strange, so wonderful, so incomprehensible to the fleshly mind. Oh the grace, the matchless dignity, the purity, the ineffable love, pity, and tenderness that shone forth from this sacred Being! His life and teachings far transcended the highest flight of the human intellect. Here is the model that we are to pattern after!

The lessons which he taught we are not only to admire but to obey. They must regulate our entire lives, acts, words, and thoughts. "Whether therefore, ye eat or drink, or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God! If any man speak, let him speak as the oracles of God." Every thought even must be brought into captivity to the obedience of Christ.

Some lives have been very closely modeled after the Great Pattern. The apostle Paul is an eminent example of the transforming power of the grace of God. How deeply he had entered into the spirit of his divine Master! How his great heart glowed with love to his divine Benefactor! How little, how insignificant every earthly thing in comparison with the things of Christ! He counted all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus his Lord, for whom he had suffered the loss of all things, and counted them but dung that he might win Christ. He could brave persecutions, bonds, and imprisonments for Christ's sake. It mattered litte to him if the world frowned or derided, if only Christ smiled. The vicissitudes of life affected him not. Says he, "I know both how to be abased, and I know how to be exalted, every-where and in all things, I am instructed both to be full and to be hungry, both to abound and to suffer need."

No one, having entered deeply into the spirit of Christ, having feasted upon the riches of his grace, and having experienced the wonders of his love, can again relish mere fleshly pleasures. They are insipid and unsatisfying to one whose life is hid with Christ in God and who has partaken of the hidden manna. We have this treasure in earthen vessels, and, oh, how carefully it must be guarded lest its luster become tarnished! He, who perfectly understood the frailty of human nature, bids us watch,—watch; for though the spirit is willing, the flesh is weak. Oh, how this weakness, this proneness to evil, sometimes plunges us into the greatest distress! An unguarded expression, an improper act, or the indulging of an impure thought will often so dim the luster of this radiant gem until the soul is left in the very blackness of darkness, wholly bereft of all comfort. Nothing but Christ can satisfy the longings of a regenerate soul. If he withdraw his presence, the sorrowing, suffering one, in the language of the dejected spouse, will exclaim, "By night on my bed I sought him whom my soul loveth; I sought him but I found him not. I will rise now and go about the city, in the streets, and in the broad ways, I will seek him whom my soul loveth; I sought him but I found him not."

By much prayer and constant watchfulness we may retain our treasure untarnished. Oh let us, then, gird on the whole armor of God that we may be able to withstand the wiles of Satan, for if we are faithful in that which is least, if we use well the talent or talents intrusted to our care, soon we shall have the full fruition of that grace of which we now only have the foretaste.

AN EXPOSITION OF REV. 16: 15.

BY JAMES EVANS.

Number Four.

In our attempts, we endeavored to interpret the book of Revelation on the historical basis. We read history to find the fulfillment of vials and trumpets in their chronological order, but after reading large volumes of exposition on this principle, we found ourselves still in the dark. We had heard of a school of expounders called Futurists, who claimed that the book was still unfulfilled from the end of the fourth chapter. We now study this book in the light of the futurist principle, viz., that the events represented by the four living ones,—trumpets, seals, vials,—are still future, and our reasons are as follows:

1. The command of the Spirit to John was to write what he had seen, and the things that are, and the things which shall be hereafter. Rev. 1: 19. The command limits the writing to the present and the future.

2. Those who apply Rev. 12 to events which transpired in heaven, ages before John wrote, fall into ludicrous mistakes. If the casting out of Satan has reference to his expulsion from heaven before man was made, how could he accuse the brethren day and night before the throne of God? When Satan was supposed to dwell in heaven, there were no brethren to accuse. There was no woman to persecute, no child to be devoured, hence the whole scene in the twelfth chapter must belong to the future.

3. If the seals, trumpets and vials are fulfilled, how does it happen that expositors differ so much as to what historical event to refer each seal, etc.?

Fulfilled prophecy is easy of explanation. The prophecies relating to Egypt, Tyre, Babylon and Israel present no such difficulties as we find in our attempts to expound the book of Revelation as an almost fulfilled book. For example, how unsatisfactory to call Luther the angel proclaiming the everlasting Gospel! How much better to admit that it refers to an epoch in the near future, introductory to the millennial reign of Christ, differing in some respects from the form in which it was preached by the apostles, but essentially, in its immutable principles, the same! The Gospel, the apostles preached, taught that those who received it world suffer persecution, and that many would seal the testimony with their blood. The Gospel proclaimed by the angel flying in the midst of heaven announces that God's judgments are come, that the hour is near when the vials will be poured out on the earth, that the earth is about to be reaped, and the kingdoms of this world are to become the dominion of Christ. This does not make it another Gospel excluding the great principles of redemption and salvation from sin. Whatever it may be, it will recognize three great leading articles:

1. God so loved the world that he gave his only-begotten Son, that whosoever believes in him should not perish, but have eternal life.

2. This is a faithful saying and worthy of all to be received, that Jesus came into the world to save even the chief of sinners.

3. Worthy is the Lamb that was slain, to receive power and riches, and wisdom and strength, and honor, and glory and blessing. What is expressed in the above statements will be found in any form of the Gospel, so long as man is mortal and needs a Redeemer.

In previous articles we pointed out that the elect body of Christ, those wise virgins who with oil in their lamps went out to meet the Bridegroom, were seen standing with the Lamb on Mount Zion as the first fruits of the earth.

Being found watching and loving the appearing of Jesus, they escaped the things coming on the earth. Luke 21: 36. They do not embrace all the saved, indeed they are only a fraction of those who will be finally saved. They will bear the same relation to the whole number saved as the first fruits bear to the whole harvest when gathered in. We also pointed out the time when the aioonion, or age Gospel would be preached to all people.

There are certain truths set forth in the Word of God that no human reasoning can set aside.

1. Jesus died to redeem all men.

2. The will of God is that all should come to a knowledge of the truth.

3. That all men are reckoned sinners before God.

4. That all must be saved in the same way, viz., by believing and obeying Jesus and being born again.

5. Inasmuch as there is only one way of salvation, in order to render God just, all must hear the Gospel concerning Jesus, and accept it in order to salvation.

6. Inasmuch as all have not heard the Gospel of the grace of God, either of two things is true; viz., those who never heard it must hear it in the future, or be saved by the little morality they may derive from the light of nature,—a most Gospel-nullifying doctrine. The age Gospel makes God just, and treats all alike, as redeemed by the precious blood of Christ.

We now proceed to unfold the mysteries of this chapter. The second angel proclaims the fall of all worldly and humanly organized systems of religion. He announces the fall of Babylon, although we learn from further statements that she continues some time after. A third angel warns the world in the most solemn manner not to worship the beast nor his image.

Awful penalties are annexed to the neglect of this warning. But who is the beast, and what is his image? Many quote this passage and apply the penalty to all sinners of every degree who die unconverted. We have no warrant for this. It is the worshipers of the beast only who are thus threatened. The locality of this punishment is not some far-off region, away from the presence of the Lamb, but right in his presence. It is before (enoopion), the holy angels who come with Christ, and before the Lamb. The fire and the brimstone are earthly judgments of some fearful kind.

After the wise virgins are taken from the earth, there is a great development of evil. The political map of Europe is re-arranged, resulting in ten kingdoms or republics. These ten kingdoms will occupy the site of the old Roman Empire, and will include a part of Asia and the northern part of Africa. Out of these kingdoms will arise the man of sin of 2 Thess. 2. John taught that Anti-christ would come. 1 John 2: 18. Now all the ante and post-nicene fathers or writers, have maintained that Anti-christ would be a person who would appear about three and one-half years before Christ's personal appearing. Luther was the first writer on record who applied it to the Pope. Had he said that the spirit of Anti-christ was in Rome, he would have told the truth. But a long series of Popes can not be the Anti-christ who is yet to come. When he appears he will be an atheist, denying the Father and the Son, and he will exalt something in the place of God, and require all nations to bow down to it. As the beast is yet to arise as the man of sin,—the little horn of Dan. 7,—we can not speak with absolute precision as to his oigin, locality, and many other particulars respecting him. In Rev. 17: 11 he is styled the beast that was and is not, and yet is, and goes into perdition. He will seek to change times and laws, and will become the head of the ten kingdoms, which will yield obedience to Anti-Christ, and make war on the Lamb. Multitudes of nominal Christians will receive the mark of his name in their forehead and in their hand, and thus subject themselves to the awful penalty denounced against those who deny the Father and the Son.

The fire and brimstone is not a cavern in the bowels of the earth, or any such place described by Milton, Klopstock or Pollock, but a graphic mode of describing the judgments of God on the man of sin and his followers.

During the rule of Anti-christ many Christians will be slain. These Christians were unprepared for the coming of Jesus, and could not be caught up to meet the Lord in the air, and so were left on the earth. Persecution was a blessing to them, and they resisted the beast, and so loved not their lives unto death. Of those who are slain by Anti-christ it is said, "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord." They are those who will stand on the sea of glass mingled with fire, and sing the song of Moses and the Lamb, after having gotten the victory over the beast and the number of his name. This will be the second translation of the saints of God. The first translation occurred before the rise of Anti-christ, the second after his rise. Those translated first escape the judgments of God, and stand on Mt. Zion, indicating rule over the nations; those translated afterwards stand on the sea of glass, and sing the song of victory and deliverance. The first class sing a new song which none can sing but themselves; the second class the song of Moses, that is the song of the destruction of the man of sin, whose proto-type was Pharaoh of old. They sing the praises of the Lamb who has brought them through the "Red Sea" of a bloody persecution, and now they are on the sea of transparent glass mingled with fire, as illustrative of the fiery trial through which they had passed. If we belong to the first class we will not sing their song, but a new song unknown to us in the flesh.

As the man of sin is to be destroyed by the appearance of Jesus, the revelator sees him sitting on a white cloud, holding in his hands a sharp sickle and a golden crown on his head. This reaping is translating all who are ripe for removal. This reaping is not in judgment, for in that case a black cloud would symbolize it. We must defer our exposition of this until our next.

HABIT.

BY O. C. SLIFER.

HABIT is universally the master of mankind. It controls the person either for good or bad. It depends entirely upon the habit, whether it will result in good or evil in the end.

Habits are usually formed in youth and it is singular how they will cling to the person all through life, becoming stronger and stronger until they seem to be a part of his nature. Habits become the master of man, and a hard master they are, as some people find, when they try to conquer them.

How important it is, then, for those who have authority over the young and rising generation, to see that correct habits are formed!

Good habits are, of course, always the most desirable, but, like most other desirable articles, they are not as easy to obtain, as man is constantly trying to gratify his own nature and often neglects God and things pertaining to him. Good habits are certainly well pleasing in the sight of God, and they will lead a man in the path of virtue and obedience to God's Word. How often do we hear aged persons say that they were glad their parents trained them to go to the Sunday-school and church when they were young, for, after they grew up, they found it no burden to attend church regularly.

We should acquire habits of self-denial in many things and strive to do our fellow-men good, even if by so doing we must deny ourself some pleasure.

The habit of reading good and wholesome literature is also important. The Bible, of course, should be prized as the Book of books, and, in connection with it, we should read such works as Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress" Milton's "Paradise Lost" and "Paradise Regained;" also the best works of Longfellow, Tennyson, Bryant, Homer, Chaucer, Shakespeare, Whittier, and others, for such reading will tend to elevate the mind instead of degrading it. If men would acquire habits of reading standard works, they would soon love to read, and, instead of going out at night to the various places of amusement, they would find pleasure in staying at home.

There are many other good habits, such as politeness, kindness, meekness, obedience, charity, etc., but we must hasten or we will be tedious. Bad habits seem to be much easier to form. The evil one is constantly on the alert, trying to degrade humanity in every conceivable manner, and one of his strongest aids is the evil habit, which, when once admitted, will soon overpower the will, and often make him as low as the brute creation, such is the power of the habit of intemperance in the use of alcoholic beverages. It steals upon its victim with the subtlety of a serpent. Slowly but surely it fastens its fangs upon the unsuspecting victim, until the habit becomes so strong that it is almost unconquerable.

Thousands are plunged into the everlasting abyss of destruction, annually, by the habit of partaking of the intoxicating cup, and we are glad to note that steps are being taken to suppress the traffic in a number of the States.

There are other things closely allied to intemperance and that is the use of tobacco in any form. All physiologists and hygienists agree that it is positively injurious to the various organs of the body, and that it prevents them from doing their functions properly. The chief constituents of tobacco are carbonic acid, carbonic oxide, and ammonia gases, carbon, and nicotine. The latter is a poison,—most injurious to the body. Steele says that it retards the development of mind and body, hence the youth (especially if he be of a nervous temperament), who uses tobacco, diminishes the energy and strength of his mind and body, which he should have used in making his way in life.

Another peril lies in the wake of this poisonous habit. Tobacco causes a thirst and depression which only too often leads to the use of alcoholic liquor. Let us, then, strive to guard ourselves and friends against this habit, which both science and nature teaches to be detrimental to our health.

Parents, strive to have your children form good habits while young, and they will cling to them all through life, and prompt them to do noble work for mankind as well as for themselves and their God. Young man, conquer yourself while you have the power, discard everything which has the appearance of evil and you will be better qualified to fight the battles of life and help your fellow-men.

EPISTOLARY.

BY C. H. BALSBAUGH.

To Anna L. Soule,

Dear Sister:—

Yours, dated May 31, and mailed June 7, has just reached me. Long in coming, but has lost none of its sweetness. Christ's Kingdom and claims take us altogether away from all interests and enjoyments not included in the very constitution of things ordained of God. "The powers that be are ordained of God," in their radical principles; but this is very far from involving the many foolish anniversaries and celebrations connected with national events, or even religious institutions. The soldiers of Jesus never fight with carnal weapons, and cannot join in the celebration of battles and victories where the Cross is ignored. John 18: 36; 2 Cor. 10: 4. The children of God and heirs of Eternal Glory welcome Heb. 11: 36, 37, 38, sooner than contaminate themselves with the carnal festivities that abound in the names of patriotism and religion. There is too much at stake, and our privileges, and duties, and prospects have been too dearly bought to hazard the loss of eternal fellowship with God for the smile of the world, and the momentary gratification of sense. "Blindness hath in part happened unto Israel," in the allowance made to the flesh in the many forms of pleasure in which many professing Christians now participate. In very many instances, in which strong and vehement pleas are made for popular amusements by those who claim to be followers of Christ, there has never been the faintest pulse of the Divine Life felt. It is barely possible that where there is a keen hunger for these sense-shows, there may exist an incipient stage of the kingdom of Grace. But no one whose Christian experience and conduct are distinctly pronounced will be seen at gatherings where the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life are Alpha and Omega. His tastes and joys so mightily gravitate in the opposite direction, that it would be like making a meal on carrion. It is harder to drive a saint to the parties and vanities of the ungodly, than to keep the worldling away.

The elect are labeled with Gal. 2: 20, and 6: 14. "They have their Father's Name in their foreheads." "They are known and read of all men." They loathe the vulture's fare. Their life is a conspicuous and glorious paraphrase of 2 Cor. 6: 14–17. Be neither ashamed nor surprised if the world ridicule and hate you. Pray God to write in your inmost soul Heb. 12: 2, 3, 4, and 1 Peter 4: 12, 13, 14. Offer both your cheeks to the smiter, and for the scoffs and buffetings you get, show the church and the world how gloriously possible is the impossibility of Matt. 5: 44. "Let God be true, and every man a liar." The devil is not ashamed to negative every word ever uttered by God, and he has "clouds of witnesses" to back him in his assertions to God as "an austere man," and not over-honest. "Yea; hath God said?" is still his scornful and wily interrogative to depreciate the Divine veracity, and make the cross the symbol of omnipotent tyranny! Gen. 3: 1; 2 Cor. 4: 3, 4. No lie is too great for the arch-father of falsehood. He paints the Cross black and repulsive, and places all sorts of witcheries round the mouth of hell. O how I pity the world, and many of our members, that they are so "ignorant of his wiles." They are led "captive by him at his will." Beware of him, for there is no gift of God that he will not try to turn into a snare. He knows how to find texts to stumble the very Son of God, if we are not smarter than he in finding counter-texts. Your only weapon is, "It is written, It is written, It is written," whenever he plies you with wiles, do as did your Redeemer, and a noble young evangelist not long since; hand him the proof-text of your Divine lineage and your co-heirship with the Only Begotten Son, and say, "There, devil, read that." He winces and retires under the well-dealt strokes of the two-edged sword. "Thanks be unto God who giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ." "We are more than conquerors." We battle not only with victory, but with royalty and priesthood, with mysterious and everlasting fellowship, with the nature, and exaltation, and blessedness of God Himself. Is not this enough to sweeten the bitterest cup, lighten the heaviest cross, and bring the glory of the third Heaven into our gloomiest midnight? Look up, my dear sister, and sing, "Alleluia; for the Lord God Omnipotent reigneth." Rev. 19: 6. "Look unto Jesus" until you "cannot see for the glory of that light." Acts 22: 11. Lose yourself and the world in Rom. 8: 18.

THE MAN OF SORROWS.

BY CHRISTIAN HOPE.

Number Two.

"He is despised and rejected of men. We hid as it were our faces from him; we esteemed him not, but as smitten of God, and afflicted"—Isaiah 53: 3, 4.

Surely he hath borne our griefs, and carried our sorrows! He was wounded for our transgressions; he was bruised for our iniquities; the chastisement of our peace was upon him, and with his stripes we are healed. All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way; and the Lord hath laid on him the iniquity of us all.

Well, where are we to-day? Are we not straying sheep? Every one feels his own grief, and that he has to bear his own sorrows, and is very anxious for a sympathetic friend,—not to bear, but to pity; as he drags along on his weary way. All dread the chastisement of God, and call it punishment for wrongs committed. Few know really the peace of God in Christ Jesus,—few, indeed, realize the healing with his stripes.

Simple human justice would seem to say: It is not right to accept a substitute. Exact all from him in behalf of the guilty, and turn right around and exact it a second time from the one in whose behalf the substitute was offered. Is God less righteous than man? He surely must be, if he does that kind of work.

In old times criminals, condemned to death, could secure a substitute to die for them. When he, on the scaffold, had lost his life, did they kill the original offender too? No! The law demanded only life for life, even in the barbaric ages. Is God more barbaric than they?

To-day, as the war spirit is running wild, every man is compelled by law to serve at arms, but sometimes a substitute can be had, taking the place of the one drafted. The substitute is to serve, drill, shoot, kill or be killed instead of the one under obligation. Do the laws demand any more? Surely not, he is free as though he never had any obligation whatever.

Again, if the substitute die on the battle-field, he dies instead of the other; and the latter is released henceforth from all military obligations forever! Is the God of love more unrighteous than they?

A man, broken up, involved in any kind of debt has a friend that pays all in full, and hands the receipt to the poor broken-down creature. Can the creditors obtain pay a second time, pleading the man did not pay himself? Their accepting the pay, their signature to the receipt given would forever debar them from any future claim. God gave fallen man the receipt, sealed with the blood of his dear Son. Yet, in the face of all this, the poor straying sheep think, feel, dread, that God is unpaid yet. They esteem "the Man of Sorrows" as "stricken, smitten of God and afflicted." Isaiah 54: 4. They do not understand that he suffered this as their substitute, that he was wounded for their personal transgression, and bruised for their individual iniquity,—that he had to go on thus, until divine justice had measured out to him all that every one of us deserved, until we, by him, had met and suffered all that ever, by a holy and zealous God, could be demanded at our hands. When that was done, he could die, saying, "It is finished," and not before. Will you stop to think, understand, and rejoice, and more highly esteem him from henceforth? The prophet boldly says that our griefs and sorrows were fully entered into, and Matthew 8: 17, states: "Himself took our infirmities and bore our sickness." We do not have to deal with an angry, but a loving God, who simply makes us follow the footsteps of his dear Son, in order to learn that he was there before, taking the bitter away.

God takes us through the bitter water of affliction, in order to develop faith, hope, and love in our poor, doubting hearts. He wants us to look and live, to heal our conscience, and root out, if possible, from our conviction, a feeling of unpaid debts we owe.

The church is still uncertain on this point, and can hardly come higher than the Old Covenant level,—use sacrifice, not realizing that Christ has made atonement for our sins. Heb. 10: 3.

God made those sacrifices for sins to cease, showing by this that in his eyes this matter is settled, once for all, and that the covenant in Christ is: "Their sins and their iniquities I will remember no more." Heb. 8: 12.

The apostle said, "Be ye perfect, as God is perfect." If this is necessary anywhere, it surely is in understanding God's mind in regard to the "one sacrifice,"—to understand how Christ was "once offered to bear the sins of many," Heb. 9: 28, that our conscience may be cleansed. "How much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works, to serve the living God." Heb. 9: 14.

Sacrifice can only cease by making the comers thereunto perfect. Heb. 10: 1. Christ's offer ceased when this did this. But the idea expressed by the Holy Ghost implies that they cease only, because that the worshipers, once purged, have no more conscience of sins. Their sins are a once-for-all settled affair with God,—continually filling the heart with love and esteem to God, and "the Man of Sorrows." For that reason they sing songs to his praise,—they sing about the blood that never will be lost sight of in Heaven. Before we close, let us look at "the Man of Sorrows," and ask, Did he do this for his friends; did he do this for believers only, or did he do it for all?

Yes, he died for the ungodly! He died for sinners. He died for believers, while they were yet sinners. We were reconciled to God by the death of his Son, while we were yet enemies. Rom. 5. Therefore, if any man is in Christ, he is a new creature. Old things are passed away; behold all things are become new. All things are of God, who hath reconciled us unto himself by Jesus Christ, and hath given unto us the word of reconciliation,—that God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto himself, not imputing their trespasses unto them, and hath committed unto us the word of reconciliation.

Not a few favored individuals, but the whole world may partake of the great salvation. Every single individual, as a part of the world may be benefited. No one can logically reason himself out of the arms of eternal love and the reconciliation in God, man-ward, accomplished by "the Man of Sorrows" when he died for us.

Now, then, what is lacking? Man must be reconciled to God's plan, and receive the Word of Christ, the Gospel, or God's testimony of his Son, in regard to the work of substitution. "Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ's stead be ye reconciled to God. For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him." 2 Cor. 5: 20, 21.

Christ redeemed us "from the curse of the law, being made a curse for us." Gal. 3: 13. "Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree * * * * by whose stripes we are healed." 1 Peter 2: 24. We know he was manifested to take away our sins, 1 John 5, that, in consequence of this, God is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and cleanse us from all unrighteousness, himself providing for the means of cleansing. 1 John 1: 9, 22.

A FEW OF MY THOUGHTS.

BY GEORGE BUCHER.

THE Prohibition Amendment to the Pennsylvania Constitution is lost, and there is one great reason why. It lacked votes. Even if all our members would have voted "for the Amendment," it would still have been lost by a great majority.

It is more than probable when a non-voter, nonpartisan, or non-resistant took part in the late Amendment election, it so stirred the spirit of the opposite party that they doubled (and more so in some cases) their diligence to defeat it. A resistant does not wish to be governed by a non-resistant. Mark that! What is the difference between petitioning Congress to pass a National Prohibition law, or voting for the late Amendment, in principle? Both ask for a law.

Men engaged in the liquor traffic are not men of strict, conscientious, religious principles. They, as a rule, are full of fight. They can only be prohibited from engaging in the traffic by force of law. Our people are above that. We are not governed by legal, but moral suasion. Though we have the privilege under the law (by getting a license) to traffic in the business, the Gospel law, by which we are governed, lifts us far above all such profane privileges. We outlive the law. With the one the great question is, "Is it right in the sight of God?" With the other it is, "How much does the law allow me?" Nay, more, the bounds of the law are overstepped if the force of it can possibly be evaded.

Now I have drawn before our minds, the faithful followers of the Lord Jesus Christ, the sheep of the True Shepherd, and a party in that class of mankind, who will not have the Lord Jesus to reign over them,—a party made up largely of the worst characters in that class.

For the benefit of such as have not read the defeated Amendment to the Pennsylvania Constitution, I will insert it here:

PROPOSED PROHIBITORY AMENDMENT FOR PENNSYLVANIA.

ARTICLE XIX.—The manufacture, sale, or keeping for sale, of intoxicating liquor, to be used as a beverage, is hereby prohibited, and any violation of this prohibition shall be a misdemeanor, punishable as shall be provided by law.

The manufacture, sale, or keeping for sale of intoxicating liquor for other purposes than as a beverage, may be allowed in such manner only as may be prescribed by law. The General Assembly shall, at the first session succeeding the adoption of this article of the Constitution, enact laws with adequate penalties for its enforcement.

Now I leave every brother to decide for himself if the difference between petitioning Congress for a National Prohibition law, and voting for the Amendment is not a difference without a distinction?

I will call the Brethren's attention to the answer to Art. 7, of Annual Meeting of 1884: "Considered best not to petition Congress as requested, but we should continue to labor earnestly in the church against this and all other evils." The point to which I call your special attention is that we "labor earnestly in the church" not only against this; but "all other evils."

Now how often have we queries before Annual Meeting, about tobacco? And why? Because we have that evil in the church. Is it not somewhat strange if any should go into the world for the purpose of getting prohibition of the liquor traffic by legal suasion, when it seems to be a necessity to have it in the church for the prohibition of tobacco? Well has the Savior said, "First cast out the beam out of thine own eye: and then shalt thou see clearly to cast out the mote out of thy brother's eye." Matt. 7: 5.

Some of our brethren are undoubtedly not aware that Pennsylvania has a law which requires physiology and hygiene to be taught in our common schools. Under these branches the evil effects of rum and tobacco on the human system are taught. Let the church purify herself of tobacco, as she is pure of rum, or perchance the world will get ahead of her. May she be, "fair as the moon, bright as the sun, and terrible as an army of banners."

OUR COMMUNION MEETINGS.

BY SARAH M. SAUNDERS.

WHEN we come together to celebrate the sufferings and death of God's only Son, as our Savior, we should feel that it is one of the most, if not altogether the most, solemn meetings of our lives. When we meet on funeral occasions to perform the sad rites of burying our dearest friends, how solemn we all appear! how sorrowful our demeanor, even when we need not sorrow as those that have no hope,—even when we feel that they have exchanged a life of suffering and privation and sorrow for the life of joy and bliss!

When we meet on communion occasions, therefore, we should all feel a far more intense solemnity than on a funeral occasion, realizing that we, as poor, unworthy creatures of time and sense, cumbered as we are with the corroding cares and sorrows of this life, come before the God of heaven and earth to engage in a work so solemn!

We meet with dear brethren and sisters from far and near, form new acquaintances, renew old ones, and meet those whom we have learned to know only through the medium of our church paper, and, ere we are aware, our meeting assumes the appearance of a place of feasting and merry-making.

But imagine (you who can) the feelings of a poor way-farer of this earth who has for years been isolated from the church, returning, like the prodigal son, to the Father's house, approaching the Lord's table with "fear and trembling," to partake once more of the sacred emblems, oh, how weak and unworthy he feels! How many look back to days far gone into eternity, and bewail their neglect of their baptismal vows, their many backslidings, their weakness, and feel with keenest of sorrow, to realize the sentiments, expressed in the 428th hymn in our selection!

SLEEPING ON DUTY.

BY I. N. CROSSWAIT.

CAN we truly claim to have life in Christ, when we do not relish spiritual food with that vital interest that shows a lively concern for the welfare of Zion? Some are all life in the affairs of this life and can talk with fluency, and yet they claim that they can't say a few words in a social meeting. It is, to say the least, a very inconsistent showing to the world,—it is manifest that they are asleep to the welfare of Zion and alive to the world!

O, how terrible! How will such be prepared to receive the Master? They will then see their lack.

Paul, to the Ephesian brethren, gives fitting admonition for those in such sad condition when he says, "Awake, thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead." Many are asleep, or dead. They think they are pretty good Christians. It reminds us of going into a room that is darkened, so we can only see dimly the contents. It appears to be well fitted up, in good keeping, but only let in the bright light of the sun, and it is shown to be all in disorder, dirty, and in a confused, untidy condition. Just so when the great light of the Son of righteousness shines into the heart of those that are awake to true life in Christ. They can then see their great lack.

The strongest hold that Satan has is to get people to feel safe in a dead faith, thereby causing them to make others skeptical. It is not the avowed skeptic that makes unbelief so much as those that claim to believe. I am fearful that many of our own churches are so dead in formal and lukewarm life, that they have only a name to live, and are dead to God, and alive to the world. Some, I know to be so.

O may the Lord sanctify some means by which all such may soon be brought to see their woful and pitiable condition, is the sincere prayer of your brother in Christ!

Timberville, Cal.

THE FULL FRUITION.—What is heaven but supreme goodness unveiled, but every imitable perfection in the character of God impressed on a sanctified mind? Besides, who can tell what floods of ecstasy and delight break in upon the soul of the righteous on mingling with a society made up of the greatest and wisest and best that were, or shall be in the world? How delightful and astonishing the change from a place where virtue is a perfect wonder, to a land where she reigns without control, and shines out in open, undiminished and everlasting splendor! Their intellectual powers feel no fatigue, their taste is not disgusted with deformity, nor their judgment debased by prejudice; their minds are without a cloud; their wills without a sinful bias, and all their affections without a stain; all their wants are supplied, all their toils compensated, all their virtues perfected, and all their wishes full; their faith is turned into sight and their hope into fruition.

PERFECT happiness, I believe, was never intended by the Deity to be the lot of any of His creatures in this world; but that He has very much put in our power the nearness of our approaches to it, is what I have steadfastly believed.

THE good man honestly discharges his duty and shuns ostentation; the vain considers every good deed lost that is not publicly displayed. The one is intent upon realities, the other upon semblances; the one aims to be virtuous, the other to appear so.

LIVES OF THE CÆSARS.

BY W. H. ROOSE.

Number Eight.—Cæsar.

THE men who composed the Roman cavalry were the handsomest men in the world. They were Pompey's defenders. Now it seems that those cavalrymen placed higher estimation upon their looks than on real service to their leader, and Cæsar was shrewd enough to see it, and he instructed his soldiers before they went into the battle of Pharsalia not to strike at the legs and body as was their custom, but to strike at their faces. It resulted just as Cæsar thought it would, as these cavalrymen would rather die than be disfigured, and, in order to save their beauty, they fled from the field with faces as handsome as ever. The soldier who is in the warfare of right against wrong, can draw a good lesson from this characteristic of the Roman cavalryman. When we enlist as soldiers of the cross we must lay aside the sin and every weight that doth so easily beset us, and run with patience the race before us. When we allow nothing to stand between us and our duties toward God and man, we can do much more effective work for our Leader. Pompey's men had the power to defeat Cæsar had nothing been allowed to stand between them and their love for Pompey. This is a complete explanation of the child's attitude toward the father. An objectionable church rule, or custom is nothing to what the zealous Christian must encounter before he comes off more than conqueror. The soldier that would overcome, dare not do as the young Prince,—go away sorrowful,—but rather like Peter he must say, "Not only my feet but my face also."

Now the unfortunate Pompey did not know where to go to find a place of safety. Thinking that Ptolemy, the king of Egypt, would remember the kindness shown him by Pompey, he thought of going thither. But Ptolemy thought Cæsar was the most popular and powerful, and that he had better not shelter Pompey. As soon as Pompey landed he was seized and murdered, beheaded, and left lie in a solitary spot to bleach in the scorching sun, But Pompey had one friend who had served under him, who found the body, and buried it. The cruel monarch thought a presentation of Pompey's head would please Cæsar; but in this he was mistaken. Instead of glorying at the deed of treachery perpetrated upon one who had befriended him, he turned away from the shocking sight and wept.

In looking at the human family, and how little we sympathize with the offenses, trials, and misfortunes that our fellow-men have to endure, we realize how much lighter their afflictions might have been under our kindly ministrations. We know not how soon we may have to endure them all and, perhaps, severer ones. So it was with Cæsar. He little knew how soon his merciless life would end,—though he did not suffer the cruelties he inflicted upon others. He thought he was secure in that his greatest enemy, with the exception of Cicero, was dead, and that he had a powerful army to die for him. His friends talked of him as though he were more than mortal. I wish, however, to modify the phrase "merciless life," as his deeds go to show that his heart could at times impel him to deeds of compassion. He delighted each day to pardon some one who had fought against him.

As for Cæsar he ruled enough, but he wished to have Ptolemy's sister, Cleopatra, rule in Ptolemy's stead, and he sought to dethrone him. Cleopatra's heart was devoid of feeling for those around her. She is said to have been beautiful, and the most extravagant woman that ever lived. It was no unusual thing for her to have as many as six suppers served in one evening. If the victuals were not ready when ordered, they were thrown away, and something else ordered to be prepared immediately. There are many other examples of her follies and wickedness, but we will give you another example which we like much better, and so will you. Christ could command enough food to satisfy the hunger of thousands, but when he had fed them, he said, "Gather up the fragments, that nothing be lost."

Cleopatra was as cruel as she was extravagant. In order to find which was the best poison to take that her life might be ended the easiest, she had the different kinds given to slaves, and watched their struggles till death. She had different ones bitten by different serpents. She watched them in their agonies and found that the sting of an asp was the easiest death, and in the course of our letters you will learn how she put an end to her own wicked life by the bite of an asp.

The first time Cæsar saw her, she emerged from a bale of carpet in which she had rolled herself so no one would see her going to Cæsar's camp. Her beauty had a favorable impression upon him. Her mission to Cæsar's camp was to ask his aid in obtaining the crown for her. Cæsar thought best to have both reign together, but this plan did not suit either party. The occasion was to have been celebrated with a feast in which a conspiracy was planned by which to poison Cæsar by putting poison in his dishes. But this was overheard by a courtier. Photinus was the leader in the conspiracy, and was put to death. Ptolemy raised an army with which to drive Cæsar from Egypt, but his soldiers were slain and Ptolemy was never seen, nor heard of again.

About this time a dreadful fire took place in Alexandria, and burned the library containing forty thousand volumes. Much information of value has been lost to the world through that misfortune. It was more trouble those days to compose books, and when you would find an author you would not find him writing a novel, of which many thousands could be destroyed without loss to any one. Writers, then, improved their time by filling books with useful knowledge.

SURETYSHIP.

BY HENRY SHIDELER.

THE New Testament Scriptures, I believe, say nothing directly on this subject, but St. Paul, in in his second epistle to Timothy 3: 16, says, "All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for instruction in righteousness," therefore, for the sake of instruction in righteousness, I will quote from the words of Solomon on this subject: "My son, if thou be surety for thy friend, if thou hast stricken thy hand with a stranger, thou art snared with the words of thy mouth, thou art taken with the words of thy mouth. Do this now, my son, and deliver thyself, when thou art come into the hand of thy friend; go, humble thyself, and make suretby friend. Give not sleep to thine eyes, nor slumber to thine eyelids. Deliver thyself as a roe from the hand of the hunter, and as a bird from the hand of the fowler." Prov. 6: 1–5. "He that is surety for a stranger shall smart for it: and he that hateth suretiship is sure." Prov. 11: 15. "Be not thou one of them that strike hands, or of them that are sureties for debts. If thou hast nothing to pay, why should he take away thy bed from under thee?" Prov. 22: 26, 27.

Webster defines the word suretyship, as being the obligation of a person to answer for a debt or default of another. The word bail is now commonly in use, although not quite synonymous. Bail means to set free, liberate, or release from arrest.

There are cases in law that demand surety,—such as settling up estates, where surety seems to be necessary, but how many administrators misapply the money and come out defaulter, leaving the surety to suffer! Solomon knew that the whole thing was dangerous, and therefore gave his son this advice. If it was good instruction then, it is good yet. It is now almost a prevailing idea, not only in the world, but in the church, —that custom makes law.

This custom of suretyship is getting so common and ruinous to many and to the church, that it is time to call a halt and give instruction on it. It seems from the reading of Solomon's language, they did not sign a note or bond then, as we do now, but promised with the mouth, and ratified by striking or shaking hands. To sign a note or bond now, as surety, is a promise or pledge and virtually means, "If he does not pay it, I will."

Many a person plunges into this great gulf,—debt,—buying many unnecessaries, and going to public sales, bidding on property he could do without, thereby getting into financial trouble. For the time being a friend helps him out. When the note becomes due, the buyer is no nearer ready to pay it than he was when he made it. To make the matter worse, the next move is to go to a bank and borrow the money. This mode of business often leaves, after a man's death, great trouble and heavy burdens on their families, when bereavement is already burden enough.

When you pledge yourself in behalf of another, you take the burden off him, and put it on your own shoulders. When he knows he has one to stand between him and the demands of law and justice, he feels little responsibility. It cripples his exertions, and causes carelessness and indifference, and perhaps the very person for whom you bear the burden will treat you with neglect, and will avoid both your sight and presence, lest you require the restoration of the pledge. "But," says one, "How can a person's private business affect or concern the church?" I say, Just as the failure of one banking-firm affects an entire community and often shakes the financial foundations of an entire nation. Financial troubles between brethren affect the church as the winds from the icebergs in the north affect our climate. They chill and freeze everything as far as their influence extends. How much better to have peace and union between brother and brother, thus throwing out an influence similar to the mild, lovely breezes of the gulf-stream?

When financial troubles get into the church, there can often be very little done, except to acknowledge the wrong, and if dollars and cents be not restored, it often leaves a sore as incurable as leprosy. Solomon says, "If thou hast nothing to pay, why should he take thy bed from under thee?" It is certain that if a man promise to pay when he has nothing to pay with, the very face of the transaction is a fraud. The little word no is often a difficult word to say, and when said brings down indignation upon those who say it. It is called stingy,—a lack of brotherly kindness, etc. If suretyship means brotherly kindness, I think it mourns afar off. But on the other side, it rather means covetousness. Many are lured into the trap because their friend is a clever fellow, a slick-tongued fellow. Hear what Solomon says of him, "A man that flattereth his neighbour spreadeth a net for his feet." Prov. 29: 5. A safe rule to follow is, to give all you can gratuitously, but, except in cases of necessity, stand surety for none.

Monmouth, Kans.

THE POWER OF MUSIC.

BY PRISCILLA E. GARBER.

To music we are indebted for one of the purest and most refined pleasures that the bounty of heaven has permitted to cheer our hearts. Music softly steals upon our ear, and arrests our roving fancies. If wrapped in melancholy, the sweet voice of music charms away our cares and restores out drooping spirits, or awakens within us the sentiments of honor and glory.

It is a great source of pleasure to engage in delightful song. There is power in music. It will force the soul to bow down and worship God.

Let us, as Christians, engage in spiritual songs, sing to the Lord to whom all praise is due. Let us ever sing praise unto his name, for it is pleasant. Psalms 135: 3. We should be grateful to the God of all mercy, for the raptures that we thus enjoy. Let us ever celebrate God's praise, that shall ascend into heaven, where the blessed angels of light will join in the full chorus of pure and heavenly harmony.

Mt. Sidney, Va.

CORRESPONDENCE.

"Write what thou seest, and send it unto the churches."

☞Church News solicited for this Department. If you have had a good meeting, send a report of it, so that others may rejoice with you. In writing give name of church, county and State. Be brief! Notes of Travel should be as short as possible. Land Advertisements are not solicited for this Department. We have an advertising page, and, if necessary, will issue supplements.

Notes and Jottings.

HAVING been solicited to preach some in Virginia, previous to Annual Meeting, wife and I left home May 30, amid the rapidly falling rain that produced the disastrous flood which will be called up for long years to come by so many sad, aching hearts.

On the morning of May 31, we woke up and found ourselves at Charleston, West Virginia, on the bank of the mad Kanawha, where we were detained seven hours. We arrived at Harrisonburg, June 1, amid dangers only partially realized. The Lord be praised for his protecting care! Our first sojourn was with the Brethren at Timberville. This is a prosperous church under the care of elders S. H. Myers and Daniel Hays. The continued rain and the condition of the roads were a hinderance to the attendance at the meeting. While in this vicinity we visited a quiet grave and from its marble slab copied the following:

"ELDER JOHN KLINE,
KILLED
JUNE 15, 1864, AGED 66 YEARS, 11 MONTHS AND 28 DAYS.
When he was present, he was useful:
When absent, wanted much;
When he lived, desired; when killed, lamented."

With sadness we called up an hour, thirty-seven years ago when this martyred pilgrim, with Bro. D. P. Saylor at his side, stood at the dying couch of my sainted mother and anointed her before she left for the spirit world. This life, at its best, is a lonely journey.

June 5th we were present at the Commencement Exercises of the Brethren's school at Bridgewater. The attendance was large and the occasion seemed one of interest to all present. The school seems to be directed in such a channel as will render it an auxiliary to the church. This is important and should be constantly kept in view. Whenever any one of our schools ceases to impress on the minds of its pupils the humble, peculiar doctrine, order, and practices of the church, it is not only worthless to the church but becomes a hinderance to the cause.

On the eve of June 5th we commenced a meeting at the Lebanon house in the Valley congregation. Bro. Daniel Miller and Bro. Wenger are elders here. The attendance and interest at this place were encouraging. They had written to us for a continued effort, and when we saw the inviting field, we regretted that our visit was so short. We made our home in the kind family of Bro. John Kline who is also in the ministry.

We arrived on the Annual Meeting ground on Monday. There is what is known as Annual Meeting acquaintance. It is needless to say that it is large and pleasant. The hospitality of the citizens of Harrisonburg, as shown in lodging and entertaining of our people at our recent Meeting, is well worthy of a vote of thanks. The buildings, provided for the Meeting, would have served well if there had been no rain during the Meeting, but the heavy, repeated rains exposed many to the inclemency of the weather. I think we ought to seek as much as possible to locate our Annual Meeting where there are permanent buildings, so as to avoid excessive exposures.

The sanitary condition of our Annual Meeting grounds deserves more attention. The waste from eating tents and lunch counters, should be removed from the ground, so as to avoid that nauseating scent that is repulsive to so many, especially while eating.

The Valley branch of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, upon which the Meeting was held, did not handle the guests of the Meeting with desired promptness. A large party of our acquaintance arrived on the ground on Tuesday evening, having spent a large part of the day at Harper's Ferry, waiting for trains. Mr. Hoover, the landlord with whom we stopped at Staunton, told us of large parties at different times who came from the West over the Chesapeake and Ohio to Staunton, spent unpleasant hours, with poor accommodations, waiting for train to Harrisonburg. I allude to the above with the view of impressing brethren with the absolute necessity of securing good railroad facilities for our Annual Meeting.

Hundreds of people took occasion to visit our great Capitol,—Washington—before and after the Meeting. Our party was among the gazing throng. As we passed around the stately Capitol we were led to exclaim, "What buildings are here!" And to think that after awhile, by and by, "not one stone will be left upon another!"

Through the kindness of Mr. Velereborne, of Dayton, Ohio, and Mr. Lawrence, of North Manchester, Ind., we were accorded rather special privileges. Although it was cabinet meeting day, with our "Business Manager," Bro. Amick, by our side, and at the head of a column of one hundred and twenty-seven persons, we were allowed to pass through the Executive Chamber and greet our Chief Executive,—President Harrison. The following is from the Washington Post:

"The White House was overrun by Dunkards yesterday. They are a plain, unassuming people, but for them the Executive Mansion was opened as it has not been for any one else since this administration came in. Even the iron-clad rule of closing the house to visitors at 2 o'clock, was relaxed in favor of the Dunkards."

I. J. ROSENBERGER.

From Dakota.

THE Brethren of Willow Creek church, in Brown and McPherson Counties, held their love-feast on the evening of June 15. There were sixteen persons present to participate in the ordinances. Brother and sister Wampler, who reside on the east side of Brown County, near Detroit, were with us. Bro. Fulker, who lives near Aberdeen, was with us, too, but we regretted that sister Fulker could not be present on account of sickness. Bro. Austin Baker was absent also, his wife being very ill and unable to come. We had our beloved brethren, Jacob Murray, and W. Cook, from Kimball and Bijou Hills, to assist us. We held an election, and Bro. Wm. Horning was unanimously chosen to be our elder and was solemnly ordained by the laying on of hands. The brethren gave us good instruction during their too brief stay. We have now eight preaching places to fill. Two of these are over thirty miles away from us. The monthly meetings, held near Bro. Dan. Wampler's in Detroit, Brown County, are well attended and much interest seems to be taken. We are all in peace and union; indeed, we have been so since Bro. Murray organized us, nearly six years ago. We are too far West to be affected by questions and issues raised in other places. We are in favor of the general order of the Brotherhood, inasmuch as it gives all the liberty that is good for the old Adamic nature. We have all the liberty the New Man needs. We find no restraint on faith and good works; no decisions of Annual Meeting interfering with a life of holiness and self-denial and sacrifice.

We were all made glad to see the Brethren from the South, to hear their good, warm, earnest words of council, and hope to see them again.

JAS. EVANS.

From Odell, Washington Co., Pa.

OUR love-feast, of June 16, at the Brick Church, Washington Co., Pa., was indeed a season of joy, —one long to be remembered on account of kindred hearts, and minds of like precious faith, to meet together and commune and feast on love. One sister told me she had not enjoyed such a privilege for thirty years. She lives about twenty miles from the church of her choice. Ministering brethren present, were, Bro. Stephen Johnson, of Iowa, and Bro. Alpheus Debolt, of near Masontown, Fayette Co., Pa. Bro. Stephen Johnson did the officiating. He tried to give a reason for the "hope within us" by giving plain, solid Scriptural proof of that "form of doctrine once delivered to the Saints." He gave many kind admonitions and solemn warnings to the well-filled house of friendly spectators who were looking on in wonder and amazement upon God's people partaking of the feast of love. We hope they may have formed active resolutions to join in with the people of God, and get a share of God's blessings before it is too late.

The church here has been laboring under great discouragements for some time. The Progressive element took from them their minister and they have been without a located minister ever since, till we came here this spring. We ask an interest in the prayers of the Brotherhood, for this little flock back here in Washington Co., Pa., that it may become a powerful leaven in the hands of God, to gather in souls and extend its borders, and become a power of God unto the salvation of many! N. B. CHRISTNER.

"IDLENESS is the badge of gentry, the bane of the body and mind, the nurse of naughtiness, and stepmother of dissipation, the chief author of all mischief, one of the seven deadly sins, the cushion upon which the devil chiefly reposes, and a great cause not only of melancholy, but of many other diseases; for the mind is naturally active, and if it be not occupied about some honest business, it rushes into mischief or sinks into melancholy."

"TEMPERANCE puts wood on the fire, meal in the barrel, flour in the tub, money in the purse, credit in the country, contentment in the house, clothes on the back, and vigor in the body."

The Gospel Messenger,

A Weekly at $1.50 per Annum.

PUBLISHED BY

The Brethren's Publishing Co.

D. L. MILLER, - - - - - - Office Editor.

J. B. BRUMBAUGH, J. G. ROYER, - - - - Associate Editors.

JOS. AMICK, - - - - - - Business Manager.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE,
H. H. Miller, S. S. Mohler, Daniel Hays.

☞Communications for publication should be legibly written with BLACK ink on ONE side of the paper only. Do not attempt to interline, or to put on one page what ought to occupy two.

☞Anonymous communications will not be published.

☞Do not mix business with articles for publication. Keep your communications on separate sheets from all business.

☞Time is precious. We always have time to attend to business and to answer questions of importance, but please do not subject us to needless answering of letters.

☞The MESSENGER is mailed each week to all subscribers. If the address is correctly entered on our list, the paper must reach the person to whom it is addressed. If you do not get your paper, write us, giving particulars.

☞When changing your address, please give your FORMER as well as your FUTURE address in full, so as to avoid delay and misunderstanding.

☞Remittances should be made by Post-office Money Order, Drafts on New York or Chicago, or Registered Letters, made payable and addressed to "Brethren's Publishing Co., Mount Morris, Ill.," or "Brethren's Publishing Co., Huntingdon, Pa."

☞Always remit to the office from which you order your goods, no matter from where you receive them.

☞Do not send personal checks or drafts on interior banks, unless you send with them 25 cents each, to pay for collection.

☞Entered at the Post-office at Mount Morris, Ill., as second-class matter.

Mount Morris, Ill., - - - - July 9, 1889.

75 cts. pays for the GOSPEL MESSENGER from July 1 to the end of 1889. Show this to your neighbors and ask them to subscribe.

BRO. E. A. MILLER requests us to say that, for the present, his address will be Jonesborough, Washington Co., Tenn.

THE new meeting-house at Pine Creek, ten miles south of this place, will be ready for services in about four weeks.

BRO. DANIEL VANIMAN preached for the Brethren at the West Branch meeting-house, Ogle Co., Ill., on Sunday, June 29.

WE want the addresses of James K. Wilson and Amos Slane at this office. Who will have the kindness to send them to us?

BRO. J. G. ROYER started for Iowa June 27. He will hold meetings in the South Waterloo church for a week or ten days.

BRO. JOSIAH ASHENFELTER, of Salina, Cal., wants the address of Mary Thompson whose maiden name was Mary Bingham. Who will send it to him?

BRO. J. D. TROSTLE, of Kansas, paid us a flying visit last week. He spent two hours in the office with us and we crowded a good deal into those two hours. We hope Bro. Jacob will come again and stay longer.

BRO. VANIMAN'S tract, "The House We Live in" has been translated by Bro. J. Olsson into the Swedish language and a number of copies will be printed and sent to Sweden to be used in our missionary work there. The use of tracts is a wonderful help in doing mission work and we need to encourage this branch of our church work.

FROM Bro. J. Olsson, of Malmo, Sweden, we learn that the brethren and sisters at Malmo held a love-feast June 9, at which time Bro. Ohlein was called to the ministry. Two were added to the church by baptism. May the Lord bless the work in Sweden and Denmark!

BRO. HOPE reports good meetings at Batavia, Illinois. The interest is good, and the meetings will continue another week. Bro. Hope will, at the close of these meetings, go to Nebraska to hold some meetings for the benefit of the Danish members and friends at several places in that State.

SEND to Bro. S. Bock, Dayton, Ohio, for a copy of the Annual Report of the Book and Tract Work, sent free to any address. Each one of our ministers and tract workers should have a copy. In this way the work and our tracts may be introduced into every church and neighborhood in all parts of the Brotherhood.

BRO. W. R. MILLER, of Chicago, met the District Mission Board at this place on the 1st. He reports the prospects good for building up the cause in Chicago, and thinks that they can raise not far from $1,500.00 in the City, for securing a house of worship. The Northern District of Illinois will assist in the work.

BRO. T. T. MYERS is spending his vacation preaching and visiting in Iowa. He sends us the following good news: "Our meetings are still going on. We may continue another week. The congregations are large, and a deep interest is manifested. Three were baptized last Sunday, four more made application last night. My health is good. Remember us at a throne of grace."

"HE who would go heavenward, or go Christward, cannot go with the crowd; for the crowd is not going in that direction. And this is one of the sorest trials of the Christian life. It separates the Christian disciple from many a companionship which would otherwise be delightful to him. But the choice must be made between conformity to the world and consecration to Christ."

"WHOEVER else may be ready to trust us, no one of us ought to trust himself. Others may be sure that we would never fail in fidelity to the right. We know that we are liable to fail at any time. He that thinketh he standeth is already tottering for a fall. Only the one who realizes his constant danger of proving untrue has the possibility of a sure standing in the way of truth."

IN our report of the school meeting at Annual Meeting, we did not give the total enrollment of the McPherson school, because we did not get it. Bro. Sharp informs us that the enrollment for the year was 212, and that twenty-five of the students united with the church during the year. We are glad to note these evidences of the success of the McPherson school. May it grow and prosper in a way that will make it a blessing to the church and to humanity.

THERE are many churches in the Brotherhood not yet in line with the Missionary and Tract Work plans adopted by our Annual Conference. Will not all elders see to it that solicitors are appointed in all the local churches and that the members have a chance to give as the Lord has prospered them? This is a part of the church's work and it is just as much the duty of the elders to see that this work is properly attended to as it is to see that any other part of the church's work is looked after. We cannot, without loss to ourselves and to the church, neglect this work. God's blessing is attending it, and if we are to share in the blessing, we must share in the work.

WHILE attending our Annual Meeting a sister lost a sum of money, and a number of brethren and sisters, hearing of her loss, and ready to give a practical turn to their sympathies, made up a sum of money sufficient to meet the loss and gave it to her, and, without referring to the names of those interested, she requests us to return her warm and heartfelt thanks for the kindness shown. This is a quiet but extremely practical way of helping to bear one another's burdens.

BRO. VANIMAN was with us last week and attended the meeting of General Missionary Committee. We are glad to say that for several weeks he has been improving in health and that he is now hopeful that he may again fully regain his health. Since he was with us in April, he lost in weight about forty pounds, and at one time he felt that his time for work in this world was drawing rapidly to a close. Our prayer is that the Lord may fully restore him and give him yet many days of usefulness to the church.

"BUT as it is written, eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him." Paul quotes this language from Isaiah 64: 4, and when the prophet gave utterance to it, it was true, but now the apostle says, "God hath revealed them unto us by his spirit, for the spirit searcheth all things, yea, the deep things of God." What a glorious knowledge is given to the followers of Christ! The things that the prophets and the holy men of old sought to look into but could not, are now revealed by the Spirit to us, and we may know of a certainty that we are accepted of God and that we are his children, for "We have received not the spirit of the world but the spirit which is of God; that we might know the things that are freely given to us of God."

A BROTHER of Lewiston, Minn, asks:

What should our Brethren do in regard to signing the protest made by those opposed to the Constitutional Amendment? We have Seventh Day Adventists in our neighborhood getting names to their protest. Will you or some other brethren give your views in regard to the matter?

As we understand this question it covers the doing away with our legalized Sunday or Lord's Day. A paper of the above import was circulated at this place and some were deceived into signing it, but as soon as they learned the true character of the paper, they withdrew their names. The worst feature about it is the deception practiced to secure signatures. Our brethren should be careful not to put their names to any paper until they know fully its import. Otherwise they may assist in a work that afterwards they will be sorry for. The plea of the Adventists and the infidel against Sunday laws before the Senate Committee will show the animus of the whole affair. Write to your member of Congress or Senator for a copy of the hearing before the Senate Committee on the Sunday question, and read the arguments.

THE General Missionary and Church Erection Committee met at this place on the 2nd. Considerable business was transacted. New fields of labor are constantly opening up. The Canada mission has been placed in the hands of the General Committee, and a call for preaching in the State of New York was filled. The Eastern District of Maryland through their District Meeting asks the General Committee to take charge of the work in Baltimore, and the Annual Meeting recommends that a Danish or Swedish brother be sent to Denmark and Sweden. This work will require additional funds and we hope our brethren and sisters will respond liberally to the calls made for help, so God's work be not hindered.

MISSIONARY AND TRACT WORK.

NOT the least interesting feature of our Annual Meetings is the part devoted especially to the Missionary and Tract Work of the church, and the Annual Missionary and Tract Meetings, held during our Annual Conference, and in connection with it, are full of interest to all who are permitted to attend them. The large attendance and the close attention given to what is said and done shows that our brethren and sisters take a special interest in the work, and that they enjoy the privilege afforded by these meetings to gain more light and knowledge on these most important church interests. Then, too, the Annual Reports submitted by the Committee are always listened to with marked interest. We are glad to note the gradual growth and development of a sentiment so favorable to this important work of the church, and we hope that it will continue to grow and develop until every brother and sister in our great Brotherhood shall have a part and a lot in the work of sending out missionaries and tracts.

We propose to give to our readers a few items of interest taken from the missionary and tract reports for the last year, as read before our last Annual Meeting.

MISSIONARY WORK.

The missionary work in Sweden and Denmark shows a healthy growth. The ministers are actively engaged in the work. Two of them, Bro. Olsson, of Malmo, Sweden, and Bro. Hansen, of Thyland, Denmark, held during the year six hundred and fifty-nine meetings, or an average of nearly one meeting each day during the year. Twenty-eight souls were added to the churches by baptism, and the interest taken in the meetings is reported as being good. Although they are poor and need help, they are not forgetful to lay aside something for the work of the Lord as the apostle commanded, and they have sent in their mite for mission work. Through their District Meeting they request that a Danish or Swedish brother be sent to them from America to assist in the work, and our Annual Meeting referred this request to the General Missionary Committee with the recommendation that the call be filled if it can be done. The entire cost of the mission work for the year was $1,055.54. The report shows much work done at home. In Texas, as a result of the efforts of the missionaries sent there by the committee there are now four organized churches and six ministers. Three years ago there was not a minister in the State.

Bro. Jacob Witmore, of Missouri was sent out by the Committee on a mission of love to California. He labored faithfully during the winter and spring and the Lord abundantly blessed his labors. Thirty-five were received into church fellowship by baptism and one church organized.

A general summary of the work done during the year shows that six State Districts were assisted, nine meeting-houses provided for, two churches organized, and one hundred and fifty-eight received into the church by baptism. The amount of money received during the year from all sources, for Home and Foreign Missions, was $5,587.28, an increase of nearly twenty-five per cent over the preceding year. The report shows that since 1884 when our present missionary plan was adopted by the Annual Meeting at Dayton, Ohio, five annual reports have been submitted, covering the receipt and expenditure of about $20,000. During these five years the following work has, under God's blessing, been done.

Churches organized,..... 19.
Meeting-houses provided for,..... 36.
Number received by baptism,.....520.

The report says, "The work thus accomplished, under God's blessing, is most encouraging, and when we consider its far-reaching consequences, we should be encouraged to make greater efforts in the future than have been made in the past." The Secretary stated at the close of the report that the entire work of receiving, caring for, and paying out this money had been done without charge by the Committee. The work involved had been considerable but it was freely done for the good of the cause.

BOOK AND TRACT WORK.

The Book and Tract Committee submitted an interesting report of their work for the year, which shows that they have pushed the work forward with much zeal. The entire receipts for the year from all sources was $2,549.13 of which amount $1,957.49 was expended in the work of printing and distributing tracts, charts and books, including incidental expenses. The Endowment Fund of the work is $24,258.00, of which some $11,233.00 is interest-bearing. This fund is placed in the hands of the Committee and only the interest can be used in the work.

The report shows that during the year the Committee published 120,000 tracts and pamphlets and 500 books, and that they purchased 562 books including Bibles and that the volume of printed matter sent out, including 5000 missionary MESSENGERS, aggregated more than three-fourths of a million pages of ordinary printed matter. Bro. S. W. Hoover, foreman of the Committee, who, by the request of the Secretary, read the report, said, in closing it, "This closes the report of the Tract Work for the year 1889, the fourth year of its existence. The first year there were no tracts published and, consequently, none distributed. We have only published and distributed tracts now for three years, and you will see a perceptible increase in each year."

Looking at the great and important work, not so much from the standpoint of the amount of money expended,—for, after all, this is but a small consideration when we come to realize, as we all should, that a single soul is of more value than the whole world,—but from its wide-reaching influence there is much in it all to encourage us in renewing our efforts to spread the Gospel. A single tract has often been the means of leading a soul to Christ and of opening the way for the missionary. Think of it, brethren and sisters, a tract, costing less than a penny, becomes the means, under God's blessing, of saving a soul which is of more value than all the wealth of the world. Think of it, brethren and sisters, it was by means of a tract that our mission was planted in Denmark and Sweden, and which, being followed by the faithful missionary of the Gospel, has resulted in establishing the church in Scandinavia. Think of these things and as you think of them, remember that here you can use at least some of the means which God has given you, in a way that will bring down upon you from God's rich and bountiful store-house such blessings that you will not find room to contain them.

Look at the hundreds of thousands of tracts sent broadcast over the land; look at the thirty-six meeting-houses built and the hundreds of souls brought to Christ, and tell, if you can, the influence that will grow out of this work or of the rejoicing in heaven over these sinners who have turned their feet to the testimonies of God. Think of these things and look at these results, and then hear the calls coming from the East and from the West, from the North and from the South, and from over the ocean's wide expanse, pleading for the Bread of Life, and then ask God to help you to give with a liberal heart and an open hand to help forward this great work of the church. If all our brethren and sisters who read this will take it home to their hearts and to their closets, the Mission and Tract treasuries will be fully supplied with means to fill every call that is now made upon them. May God help us to look upon this important work as we should, for surely we shall be called upon to give an account for the use we make of the Lord's money.

SUPERNATURAL HEALING.

THE subject covered by the above caption is one that has, ever since the Great Healer and Burden Bearer lived and suffered in this world, occupied a considerable space in church literature. Many controversies have grown out of it, and the orthodox Christian world is far from being united in thought upon it. In our own church a difference of opinion obtains. The subject is full of interest and in his book, bearing the title of "Supernatural Healing," our brother, B. C. Moomaw, has opened up a wide field of investigation and has covered the ground in a masterly and efficient manner. The work shows a large acquaintance with the literature on the subject as well as a careful study of its history and theology. The book is written in Bro. Moomaw's well-known, excellent literary style, and is a credit to the author as well as to our church. While we do not fully agree with the author in all the points taken and the conclusions reached, yet we do not hesitate to recommend the work as one among the best on this important subject. It may be read with interest and profit by all, and we believe it should be more generally circulated than it has been. Many of our brethren, who have examined the book, are well pleased with it and we here give the opinion of several, space forbidding a longer list.

B. C. MOOMAW,

My Dear Brother:—

Yo ur treatise on "Supernatural Healing" is received. Many, many thanks. It is a gem in style, lucid in argument, and critically thorough in the investigation of the subject of Divine Healing. It is an honor to our church literature and will take its place among the literary productions of the age that is destined to last. The only criticism I offer is the eulogium given those whose practice did not correspond to the faith they professed (pages 64–70), but I forbear.

DANIEL HAYS.

Moore's Store, Va.

B. C. MOOMAW,

Dear Brother:—

Your favor accompanied by a gem in the form of a very neat little book, has been received. I have already read it through, and next I want to study it, but I think I get some idea of its merits. Its scope is as boundless as the universe. I hope it will have a wide circulation. Those who do not see its value will think it is too high in price. But its value to the child of God can not be overestimated. When I have given it a careful perusal I will have something to say.

A HUTCHISON.

The book is printed on good paper in clear, readable type, and is substantially bound in cloth and contains 154 pages. Send for a copy of it, and you will, if you have not already given the subject careful study and thought, be surprised at the amount of information the book contains.

Missionary and Tract Work Department.

"Upon the first day of the week, let every one of you lay by him in store as God hath prospered him, that there be no gatherings when I come." 1 Cor. 16: 2

"Every man as he purposeth in his heart, so let him give. Not grudgingly or of necessity, for the Lord loveth a cheerful giver" 2 Cor. 9: 7

HOW MUCH SHALL WE GIVE?

"Every man according to his ability." "Every one as God hath prospered him." "Every man, according as he purposeth in his heart, so let him give" "For if there be first a willing mind, it is accepted according to that a man hath, and not according to that he hath not." 2 Cor. 8, 12.

Organization of Missionary Committee.

DANIEL VANIMAN, Foreman, - - - Virden, Ill.
D. L. MILLER, Secretary and Treasurer, - Mt. Morris, Ill.
G. B. ROYER, Assistant Secretary, - - Mt. Morris, Ill.

Organization of Book and Tract Work.

S. W. HOOVER, Foreman, - - - Dayton, Ohio.
S. BOCK, Secretary and Treasurer, - - Dayton, Ohio.

☞All donations intended for Missionary Work should be sent to D. L. MILLER, Mt. Morris, Ill.

☞All money for Tract Work should be sent to S. BOCK, Dayton, Ohio.

☞Money may be sent by Money Order, Registered Letter, or Drafts on New York or Chicago. Do not send personal checks, or drafts on interior towns, as it costs 25 cents to collect them.

☞Solicitors are requested to faithfully carry out the plan of Annual Meeting, that all our members be solicited to contribute at least twice a year for the Mission and Tract Work of the Church.

☞Notes for the Endowment Fund can be had by writing to the Secretary of either Work.

OUR MISSIONARIES.

BY WM. M. LYON.

WHO are they? Those who are willing to work in the right way at the right place. The true missionary is he who works where he is needed.

We have many who are termed missionaries because they spend much of their time in travelling and preaching the Gospel among the Brethren. In laying out a trip, they are very careful to keep within the boundary lines of the established churches and what is peculiarly striking in the matter, nine-tenths of this missionary work(?)—strikes the well-to-do congregations where "carnal things" are liberally exchanged for spiritual, while many of the poor churches are left to do the best they can.

"What! do you object to having brethren travel among established churches, 'feed the flock of God' (1 Pet. 5:2), and 'eat the milk thereof!'" 1 Cor. 9: 7.

No, but I will tell you to what I do object. I object to calling that missionary work in the true sense of the word. Do not think that you are a missionary unless you are willing to "pitch your tent" some place else. O, if we could only have more who are willing to go among the isolated members, scattered here and there over our broad land! How small the number who are willing to seek such places!

Let us illustrate: Suppose you engage a man to feed and care for your sheep. You expect him to give equal attention to all, and you charge him particularly to look closely after the wants of such as are weak and sickly. Every day that servant deals out the food with lavish hand but he puts it all down at one or two places, and strong ones are fed, while the weak and crippled are compelled to suffer and finally die with neglect. You discharge that servant. Why? Was it because he failed to deal out the necessary supplies? No, he emptied your barn and granaries, but what good did it do you?

So it may be with us, brethren, if we are not very careful; you cannot nourish and strengthen a weak sheep by giving a strong one double portions. Will the Great Shepherd be pleased with us if we pile out all the food at one place? Did he not come into the world "to seek and to save that which was lost?" Does he not wish us to do the same? I greatly fear that we do a great deal of feeding that amounts to nothing. And why should such be the case? When we deal out the spiritual food, why not do it judiciously, wisely? Why not place food before the hungry, the starving? Why waste so much with those whose appetites have already been satisfied? Our Savior's mission was not to "call the righteous, but sinners to repentance."

They that are whole need not a physician, but they that are sick. "If ye know these things, happy are ye if ye do them."

God has not only told us what our mission is, but where it is, and the latter is just as essential as the former. Let us be careful then, dear brethren, that we do not evade this part of the work. Let us ask ourselves the question, "Am I working WHERE God has appointed my place?"

"But I am not situated so that I may go out upon the highway and work for Jesus." You are mistaken, my brother, for if you are not able to go yourself, you are able to lend a helping hand to one who can go, and God asks you to do it.

Will you respond to this call from heaven? Can you refuse and be held guiltless? Will you? May we all find grace to cast our strength on the Lord's side!

Union Bridge, Md.

"YE CAN NOT SERVE GOD AND MAMMON." Luke 16: 13.

BY S. N. M'CANN.

Many Willing to Give that do not.

"For if I do this thing willingly, I have a reward: but if against my will, a dispensation of the Gospel is committed unto me."—1 Cor 9: 17.

WHILE Paul labored for the church of Corinth without help from them, he did it willingly, not using the power that the Gospel allowed him, lest in this new field his motives be misjudged. He made the sacrifice willingly, else it would have been a means of condemnation to him, as is every unwilling sacrifice to the one who makes it.

While this expression refers directly to Paul's sacrifice in preaching the Gospel, it may be practically applied to every work for God by his children. Sacrifices that we make must be made with a willing mind, else they can not be acceptable in God's sight. But "if there be first a willing mind it is accepted according to that a man hath, and not according to that he hath not." 2 Cor. 8: 12.

There is much consolation in knowing that God accepts our weak and feeble efforts to do his work when we do it willingly. Our preaching, our sacrifices, our Christian development ALL fall so far below the IDEAL GOSPEL LIFE that we would cover our faces in shame and cry, lost, LOST, FOREVER LOST! We would be undone but for the glorious thought, "My grace is sufficient for thee; for my strength is made perfect in weakness." 2 Cor. 12: 9. We would give up in despair but for the blessed assurance, that God accepts what a man hath, if there be first a willing mind.

With these most precious promises we ought willingly and gladly to go forth not in our own name, but in the all-prevailing name of Jesus,—not in our own feeble strength, but in the strength of the Lord of hosts,—doing with our might whatever our hands find to do.

I believe there are many, all over this Brotherhood, who have the willingness to do, and yet fail, because their minds have never been stirred to duty on the great question of giving. Awaken their minds to the question of duty, and the danger in not doing, and they will as readily come to the front here, as in feet-washing, the salutation, non-conformity, or any other duty. If it can once be manifest that God's promise reaches out to every cheerful giver, there will be a pressing to the mark on this question as on every other important one, by each willing mind. There are many who see the necessity of giving, and also feel a willingness to give, but fail to do much in that direction, because they lack system in their work. For lack of a plan the duty is omitted, and God's work suffers loss. We may be willing to do a work, and there may be plenty of calls for the work, but, until we adopt some plan or system, for the doing, there will be but little done by us.

Talk with many brethren about the duty of giving, and sacrificing for Christ and his cause, and they readily concede the fact, that our church is cold and indifferent on this subject, that the duty is plain and positive for us to give, and that God's promise accompanies the giving, but still they remain inactive.

Talk with other denominations about modest apparel and the majority of them will admit that they are not strict enough on this question, that following the fashionable world is wrong, and that God's blessings are promised upon the nonconformed, but for lack of a plan they fail to execute God's work. Talk with many in regard to the subject of feet-washing, the kiss of charity, and the Lord's Supper, and they readily admit that these things ought to be practiced, but still they go on without practicing them,—all because they do not adopt the Gospel plan for their practice.

Talk with the sinner about forsaking his sins and coming to Christ, presenting his body a living sacrifice, and he readily admits that he ought to do so, acknowledges that he is careless and indifferent, and says that he is going to do better sometime.

How much better are we, as professors, than the sinner, who sees his duty and puts it off for a more convenient season, if we see our duty and neglect it for lack of a system or plan? God's work is suffering because we, as professors, fail to adopt his plans, going right to work with a will, to do all to his glory, because we adopt our own plans, take our own time, and do our work for our OWN GLORY. If we could but realize that godliness with contentment is GREAT GAIN, and press on to duty, Mammon would have one less servant, and God's name would be glorified.

TOO TRUE.—The chief peril of the church today arises not from infidel or ignorant assault. It comes from the false vows of counterfeit members or hypocrites, and from the half-vows of partial consecration of true members. A full fidelity on the part of each, producing a glad, harmonious and self-denying ministry of banded believers, will most effectually refute, and at length utterly overthrow, all outward assailants.—Sel.

EARLY CONVERSION.—"A person converted in youth," says John Angell James, "is like the sun rising on a summer's morning to shine through the long, bright day. But a person converted late in life is like the evening star, a lovely object of Christian contemplation, but not appearing till the day is closing, and then but for a little while."

"THE smallest dewdrop on the meadow at night has a star sleeping in its bosom, and the passage of Scripture that may seem insignificant has in it a shining truth."

Notes from our Correspondents.

"As cold water to a thirsty soul, so is good news from a far country."

—Bro. David Lytle, of Spitzer, Ohio, writes: "Eld. Joseph Holder, of Shelby County, Ohio, has purchased a farm in the Sugar Ridge church, Ohio, and expects to move in the near future. Bro. Holder comes well recommended and is very much needed here. May the good Lord speed his coming!"

—Under date of June 24, Bro. Josiah Beeghly, of Engle's Mills, Garrett Co., Md., writes: "At our regular meeting, yesterday, in the Bear Creek congregation, five dear souls made the good choice, and were added to the Lord's people. Since the beginning of this year twenty-two souls have been added to our church."

—Bro. John Wise writes: "Wife and I have arranged to take an extensive trip East to Pennsylvania,—our old home. We will start about Sept. 1 and stop along the line of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad east of Chicago. Any congregation on or near that line, desiring our services, will correspond with me soon, at Conway Springs, Sumner Co., Kans."

—From Kahaka, Mo., sister Mary E. Rose writes: "Bro. C. C. Root, of Polo, Mo., and C. Lapp, of Shelby County, came June 1 and stayed until the 6th, preaching the Word with power. One was baptized and others were made to realize their condition. Some said they never heard such Bible sermons before. My prayer is that the Lord may work in their hearts, so that they may yield to his will, and try to serve him in his own way."

—Under date of June 17, Bro. George T. Chembelen, of Timberville, Cal., writes: "I left home June 15, to attend the regular appointment at Tuhunga, Los Angeles Co.,—the home of Eld. J. S. Flory. Soon after our arrival we were joined by Bro. J. E. Megie and wife. On Sunday we enjoyed an interesting Sunday-school and meeting with the brethren, sisters and friends. The members here seem to be earnestly contending for the faith once delivered unto the saints. This place has improved considerably in the last year and a half. May the Lord bless the efforts of these members to enlarge the borders of Zion!"

—Sister Sadie C. Brallier, of Johnstown, Pa., writes: "One thing I did not mention in my late article on the Johnstown disaster, and that is the safety of our Brethren. To our knowledge, not one of them has been lost here in Johnstown, but several families of our Fraternity are missing in small towns along the river. Our meeting-house is safe, too, as it is located in a suburb of the city. I received injury, and for some days was very ill, but am now able to be about again. My friends are all safe, which, under the circumstances, is almost miraculous, and for which I praise our Father in heaven with deep thanksgiving that knows no words!"

—Bro. J. P. Nofziger, of Mascot, Harlan Co., Nebr., writes: "We held our love-feast on June 8, and it was a feast indeed! Thirty-two members communed. One brother and sister came eighty miles in a buggy to commune. Ministers present from a distance were our elder, D. Bechtelheimer, from Adams County; Allen Ives, from Jewell County; John Garber and William Jarboe, from Norton County. A choice was held for a deacon, and Bro. Willet Williams was elected. May God help him to perform his duty with an eye single to the honor and glory of God. Our church is in good working order now, but, like many other churches, we, too, have had our share of trials. We have several applicants for baptism and good prospects for more to come soon."

—Bro. William A. Krewson writes: "June 8th was the appointed time for a love-feast to be held at the residence of Bro. Shorts,—one mile west of Neal, Nebr. After the self-examination services nineteen members gathered around the table of the Lord. If some of our Eastern Brethren could have been there, and beheld the earnestness with which the services were attended, they certainly would have realized that God blesses the few as well as the many. The seed that has been sown here for good, has begun to grow. As a result four were baptized, among whom was the wife of the writer. May God's choicest blessing rest upon them, is my prayer!"

—Bro. L. W. Fitzwater, of Bashan, Kans., chronicles another distressing accident which occurred as follows: "June 16, as we were returning from church, our son Guilford asked permission to go home with a neighbor boy. It was granted, and that afternoon they, with a number of other little boys, went to swim in the river. For some reason Guilford was drowned and his body was not found for several hours. He was twelve years, eight months and thirteen days old, and a bright, intelligent boy. When the news reached us, it all came so sudden, that my wife became almost frantic with grief. A doctor was summoned, and all was done that kind neighbors could do to restore her again. At this writing (June 22) she is somewhat better though not yet out of danger. Brethren, pray for us!"

—Some observations on the dealings of man with man are offered by D. Prowant, of Dupont, Ohio. He says: "The man that grows up in his native village is frequently regarded as a boy by the fathers or elders until he is well down the decline of life. Not until then they see his usefulness. The stranger who comes into a place may or may not be an honorable, upright man, but he is oftener pushed to the front than the well-known, honest young man who has grown from boyhood to man's estate, without his qualifications being noticed by his every-day companions. This is one reason why so many young men become dissatisfied with their home surroundings and long to cast their lot in other fields of labor. I know of churches, etc., where the proper consideration is paid to the young men, and, as a general thing, I find that the affairs of the church are in a prosperous condition. Young men should be given a chance to prove their worth!"

CORRESPONDENCE

"Write what thou seest, and send it unto the churches."

☞Church News solicited for this Department. If you have had a good meeting, send a report of it, so that others may rejoice with you. In writing give name of church, county and State. Be brief! Notes of Travel should be as short as possible. Land Advertisements are not solicited for this Department. We have an advertising page, and, if necessary, will issue supplements.

Epistolary.

MAY 29 I left my home near Bremo Bluff, Va., en route for Bridgewater, Rockingham Co., Va., in response to kind invitations to attend the Commencement at the College there.

The two days' exercises were very enjoyable, and many expressed themselves in that way. The essays of the five graduates reflected most propitiously upon the heads and hearts of their writers. The declamations bespoke much to the credit of the teachers for their usefulness and elevating morals, and for the well-skilled students in their delivery. The vocal music, led by Prof. Geo. B. Holsinger, sung by a large class of young ladies and gentlemen, was pronounced "grand and inspiring." For beauty of scenery, healthfulness of location, good discipline, live teachers, exemplary students, a thorough and extensive course of instruction, I can recommend Bridgewater College. For further particulars, address Prof. E. M. Crouch, Principal, Bridgewater, Va. I wish all our schools abundant success. As this is the only one of that kind by our Fraternity in Virginia, my native State, I must say I naturally feel much anxiety for its general welfare. May its banner of success and merit ever float as honorably as it is now doing! Many thanks for courtesies and kindness received there and in the hospitable family of Prof. Geo. B. Holsinger, at whose house I made my home by invitation.

June 9 I began my attendance at our recent Conference, remaining till its close. Being an isolated member, I was made very happy to meet many friends whom I visited in several Northern States during 1880. Our reunion seemed indeed a mutual joy. I had not heard a sermon by our Fraternity since the above date. It is needless, then, to say that I fully enjoyed it all.

During the speeches at Conference, although some did not agree on important points, I was gratified to observe order, courtesy and forbearance. These Christian requisites will reflect honor upon the cause of Christ,—the opposite must prove disastrous in the end. None of us are perfect in God's searching eye. Then let all things be done with a charitable spirit, using "all long-suffering and doctrine." When Christ is uppermost in all our words and deeds, it will be as a "shining light,"—attracting instead of repelling.

Since my arrival in the beautiful and fertile valley of Virginia, I am continuing my visits to our members, and am enjoying myself. I have heard a number of sermons thus far. Many kind invitations have been extended me from numerous places in Virginia and other States, which I shall accept as far as convenient, or within reach of my funds. Replying to persons as to how a communication can reach me during my travels and visits for health, address me as below. My home people will forward it to wherever I may be.

Should I sufficiently recover my strength by autumn, I hope to engage in some suitable employment, convenient to our church people, for one year, perhaps. This change is advisable for my physical, social, religious and pecuniary benefit. Happen as it may, God knows and orders all for the best. To his wise will I unmurmuringly yield obedience. Health is somewhat better since my arrival in this section. I close with Christian love to all my good friends. JULIA A. WOOD.

Bremo Bluff, Va., June 19, 1889.

From Ireton, Iowa.

THE first love-feast of the Brethren of Sheldon, Iowa, held in the barn of Bro. W. C. Kimmel, occurred June 15 and 16. Ministers present were Bro. D. M. Miller, of Illinois, Bro. James Hardy, of Aurelia, Iowa, and others, who gave us much wholesome instruction. It was a meeting long to be remembered, as we have not been permitted to meet with those of like precious faith, in a love-feast capacity, for nearly two years.

We live fifty miles from this organization, and thirty miles to the nearest place of preaching by the Brethren. Bro. Tobias Myers has the oversight of the Sheldon church. When he first went there, there were but five members. They number fifty now, five being added by letter and one by baptism at the feast. They seem to be in good working order and have good prospects for an ingathering soon. About seventy members communed, which brought brethren and sisters from the four winds of the earth, reminding us of the great meeting when God's elect shall be gathered from the same quarters. O what a meeting that will be, with no parting!

We hope to meet some of the dear brethren in our own home in the near future. Those traveling over the North-western or Illinois Central railroads will stop with us and give us some meetings, for there are many here who are perishing for the Bread of Life.

DAVID AND MINNIE MILLER.

Notes of Travel.

WIFE, daughter and I, in company with about fifteen others, left New Carlisle May 31, en route for Harrisonburg, Va, the place of our late Conference. We were two hours on the top of the Alleghany mountains, on account of an obstruction of the track. After reaching the City of Cumberland, Md., we were obliged, on account of the high waters, and damage to the railroad, to remain three days and nights.

June 4 we arrived at Harrisonburg, from which place a number of us went to Bridgewater, to attend the Commencement Exercises of Bridgewater College, where my son has been attending school for three years. We enjoyed the exercises very much.

On Saturday, June 8th, we went to the place of Annual Meeting. It was a great pleasure once more to meet so many brethren and sisters, yet a sad thought would come when we would think of the many that were formerly at our Annual Meeting and who have gone across the river of death.

We spent six days on the grounds,—three in hearing the Gospel preached, and three in hearing the brethren deliberate in the General Council. Taking the meeting as a whole, it was a pleasant, and, we hope, a profitable one to us all. Much might be said as regards the place of meeting, the arrangements, the crowd, rain, etc., but I forbear.

I think when we go to Annual Meeting we ought to go with our heart full of love for the cause of Christ. Sometimes we see that our Brethren can hardly wait until business is over. They are anxious to go home, and some even vote on a question that they think is not for the best. Brethren, these things ought not so to be!

We left Harrisonburg on Friday morning, June 14, arrived home Saturday evening. We have great cause to thank the Lord for his care over us!

HENRY FRANTZ.

The First Communion Meeting in Thomas County, Kansas.

MAY 31 Eld. John Ikenberry and the writer, with six others of like precious faith, went a distance of about sixty-five miles to Thomas County. June 1 we met in council with the faithful in that place. After the visit was reported and all were found to be in peace and love, they were interrogated in reference to an organization as follows:

1. That they give evidence that they are willing to be organized.

2. That they promise to labor together for the maintenance of the Gospel as defined by our Annual Meeting.

3. That they carry out these decisions in the wearing of apparel and hair.

4. After a unanimous agreement to thus labor in harmony with the General Brotherhood, in all principles of non-conformity to the world, they were thus set in order as a working body, with Bro. Chas. Brown as their minister in the second degree, after which, on the same day and evening, a communion season was enjoyed, in which forty-one members participated. It is needless to say it was a time of sweet, yet solemn, enjoyment

Thus another branch is planted in the Master's vineyard. May it become a fruitful vine and be a nucleus, around which other branches of our church may spring up—grow and bear fruit to the glory of God and the welfare of precious souls. There was one applicant for baptism on the last night of the meeting. The members here have a fine country, and the present outlook is hopeful.

One feature in this western country should not be overlooked,—that NOW is the time to do mission work here, as many of the different persuasions have, as yet, no preaching for want of means to support a salaried ministry. People are anxious for the Bread of Life, and will accept the Truth more readily in the absence of opposition.

The writer having been assigned to the mission work of Thomas, Rawlins, and parts of Logan and Sheridan Counties, by order of the District Meeting, he realizes the enormity of the work before him. My efforts, at best, are only as a drop in the bucket, compared to the large field yet unoccupied. Here is a scope of country, with here and there a small band of members, struggling to build up the Master's cause. Here there are almost Herculean difficulties to contend with.

We still think there is a glorious future in reserve for this country, and, also, for those who are plucky enough to endure the privations of frontier life. The writer passed over 300 miles of the trunk line of the great Union Pacific Railroad, and was made to wonder what would become of all the wheat, rye, oats and corn, that are visible to the eye on every side. Millions of acres are yet awaiting development, and, while many of our Brethren in the East are paying enormous rents, they might do much better here. They might also be the means of gathering sheaves for the Lord's harvest in this promising country.

Many have been discouraged by coming here and not realizing their expectations. Many, by virtue of the "Try, try again" system—are moving along quietly and slowly, accumulating what will finally prove to be a competence.

We would encourage those of our members who have no homes in the East, and who have means enough to carry them through a few years here, with the help of six or eight milch cows,—to come here soon. The time can not be far off, when these cheap lands will raise beyond the ordinary means of the working man.

Those who have no means to bring with them, I would advise to remain East. Nothing is more futile than to depend on finding employment here. The Homesteader does his own work, takes care of himself, and allows each one the same privilege.

Any further information wanted can be had by enclosing stamps to the writer.

B. B. WHITMER.

McPherson Notes.

A DEEP interest has been awakened in our Brotherhood, during the last ten years, in the cause of education and in the schools under the care of our Brethren. Like the Sunday-school work in our church, the educational work has been gradual and sure. Huntingdon, Mt. Morris and Bridgewater schools are now firmly established, and have for their warmest friends a host of the most prominent elders in our church; while our young people, educated in those institutions, look upon them as their foster mothers, and will cherish a love for them which will only expire with their latest breath.

We started out, however, to say a few words about the McPherson school, knowing that so many of our members have also a financial interest in it, and a report of the year's work, and the present condition of the institution will be acceptable to all.

Less than two years ago this school was located. Ten months ago the first building was completed, suitable for dormitory and recitation purposes. It is an excellent structure costing over $20,000.

The first year's work closed on the evening of June 4. In the absence of the usual College Commencement Exercises, the two literary societies, under the direction of the faculty, prepared an excellent program to which the patrons, trustees and members of the Visiting Board listened with the deepest interest. The next morning all met in the chapel, once more to offer prayer and sing that appropriate hymn, "God be with you till we meet again."

Then followed the last good bye, while warm tears flowed freely. The large family is now scattered into eleven States, and the large building is silent, with a single occupant.

June 18, the McPherson College Building Association turned over all its right, title and interest in the College property to an association of our Brethren, of which Eld. Daniel Vaniman is President. His skill in working up and managing the missionary finances, will be a sufficient guaranty that the College finances are on a safe basis, and will be carefully managed. A clear waranty deed was made to the following property:

(1) All the stock of the McPherson College Building Association; (2) the College Campus containing ten acres on which are erected the College buildings; (3) all the unsold lots on College Place; (4) lots in Bass and Irwin addition; (5) College annex to Grand View addition; (6) East College addition; (7) the College farm, and about $4,000 in notes.

The prospect for next year's school is excellent. All the teachers remain as last year, except Bro. Snowberger, who wished to go into business for himself. His place will be ably filled by Bro. S. B. Fahnestock, of the commercial school of Columbus, Ohio.

In a short time work will be resumed on the main building and continued only as the money becomes due. The motto is, "Make no debts on the College."

S. Z. SHARP.

Report of Poor Fund.

THE following donations were received since our last report:

J. C. Richer, Ind.,	$ 15
J. Culler, Ohio,	50
Christ Fogle, Ind.,	50
Hannah Good, Pa.,	50
D. C. Hardman, Mo.,	15
H. Cunningham, W. Va.,	15
J. F. and Debbie Hantz, Kans.,	10 00
T. D. Van Buren, Wis.,	55
S. J. Garber, Va.,	1 45
W. H. Gift, Ill,	75
E. R. Wimer, Ore.,	1 35
R. S. Moomaw, Va.,	1 00
Elijah Horn, Ohio,	60
M. G. Schrock, Pa.,	2 00
W. G. Schrock, Pa,	1 00
A Sister, Iowa,	3 08
S. Riddlesberger, Ill.,	5 00
Sarah Slifer, Mo,	2 00
A. Moomaw, Iowa,	50
David Flory, Ind.,	25
David J. Culler, Ohio,	70
Anna Gockley, Ill.,	5 00
Cyrus Wallick, Mich.,	1 00

"ONE man is sometimes afraid to praise another, lest by exalting the accomplishment of that other, he should seem to depreciate his own. But, in truth, it is often more praiseworthy in us to praise another worthily, than it would be for us to have done the very thing which is deserving of praise in that other. To praise worthily is one of the best ways of being praiseworthy."

The Annual Conference of 1889.

Once more they come on swift
Revolving wheels,
With delegated power from
The extensive Brotherhood;
The mode by which the church
Its sentiments reveals,
Retains its union,
And advocates the cause of God.
Dangers intercept; a direful
Disaster marks the year,
When thousands met on
Virginia's shore, a cloud hangs
O'er the land dismal and drear,
The Johnstown tragedy
Is oft referred to here.
But though rising floods devoured,
And death prevailed,
The brother bands are
Safely landed here.
God to them has been
A safeguard and shield,
While gloom was pending,
And death was near.
What a lovely spectacle
Confronts our view,
Of fraternal greetings
From near and far,
The Bible features
Of Christ's disciples true,
Identified soldiers of the holy war.
They bear no carnal weapons
To subdue the wrong,
They show no threatening aspect
Or revengeful mien;
Their hearts are turned to praise
In sacred song,
And disclose the beauties
Of redemption's scheme.

Where years agone,
By hostile bands were riven,
The bonds of unity
In tranquil homes;
And severed friends
In wild dismay were driven
To pine 'mid tears of grief,
And solitary moans,
The cloud of waste
And desolation spread,
And scenes of blood and carnage
The prospect met.
The fields were strewn
With wounded and ghastly dead,
To thrill the ruthful with sorrow
And regret. But lo what a
Contrast now our vision greets:
Instead of military prowess,
Simplicity and love,
Instead of battle's din and
Daring feats, this host
In love and gentleness defeats.

GEORGE D. ZOLLERS.

From South Dakota.

By request from the Willow Creek church, Brown Co., South Dakota, June 13, Eld. Jacob Murray, of Kimball, Dakota, and the writer, took the train via Mitchell, Dakota, for Aberdeen, stopping at the railroad crossing, three and a half miles south of Aberdeen, Dakota, where we were met by Bro. Samuel Fulker, living near by (formerly of Johnson County, Missouri), who took us to his home, where we remained until morning at six A. M., when we were ready to resume our journey by private conveyance, furnished and conducted by Bro. Fulker to place of meeting. We arrived at Bro. Wm. Horning's, thirty miles distant, in five and one-half hours, over splendid roads, in good company, through a good country, and with good health. The meeting on the afternoon of the 14th was held by the church for business, which passed off pleasantly. A few members, only, were absent. All the meetings were held in the house of Bro. Wm. Horning. This building was constructed by Bro. William with an eye to the good of the church. By simply opening folding doors, you can throw two spacious rooms into one, accommodating as many people as an ordinary church. Here we met at 10 A. M. June 15, listening to a sermon by Bro. Murray. Dinner was then prepared for all present, after which the council of the church was taken as to the necessity of having one of the brethren ordained to the full ministry. Bro. William Horning, as their unanimous choice, was ordained. Then followed the charge and laying on of hands, and the receiving by the church. This was witnessed by quite a large congregation of their neighbors, with much interest.

This church was organized some six years ago by Bro. Jacob Murray, by order of the Northern District of Iowa and Southern Minnesota. The church, at that time, chose Bro. Murray as housekeeper. He is living one hundred and sixty miles away, by direct lines, and the only means of getting there, by rail, necessitates one hundred and eighty miles' travel, and nearly fifty miles by private conveyance; hence the necessity of ordaining one.

Bro. Wm. Horning is assisted by our beloved and well-known brother, James Evans, Bro. Mansfield, a promising minister in the second degree, and by as loyal a little band of believers as one seldom enjoys the privilege of meeting. Observing the influence and respect the community manifested towards the brethren and sisters, we would decide that there is success awaiting the church in Brown County and adjoining Counties, and the efforts of the ministry will certainly result in bringing men and women into the church.

At 4 P. M. we met a full house for public services. Discourse by the writer. At the usual hour, the brethren and sisters assembled around the Lord's table to enjoy a communion season together. A little band of nineteen members met as they never had before, to enjoy a love-feast together. A love-feast in truth it was to all of us. One aged sister, the mother of sister Wm. Horning, enjoyed the occasion very much. God bless her to continue faithful a few days longer. Truly can the dear sister say with the poet, "A few more meetings here," etc.

We had long had a desire to meet the brethren and sisters of the Willow Creek church, Brown Co., Dak., and we were glad to enjoy the privilege of doing so, and to find them a united little band of believers in precept and example. The writer, by request, officiated.

At 10 A. M. on the 16th, we met a large congregation, who listened attentively to a discourse by Bro. Murray. Thus ended one of the many pleasant meetings the dear brethren and sisters do enjoy with each other, in doing the will of the Lord. After dinner Bro. Murray and I were conducted to the house of Bro. Fulker. At 1 P. M. we met for services at the school-house near by. The time was used by the writer. We enjoyed the kind hospitality of brother and sister Fulker. Sister Fulker being afflicted, to some extent, with rheumatism, could not attend the love-feast. The morning of the 17th we were taken by Bro. Fulker's son to the city of Aberdeen, where we started at 7: 15 A. M. for Alpena, Dak. Having arranged to stop over one day and night, and visit the brethren and sisters here, we were met at the depot by brethren G. J. Royer and David Thumb, and taken to the home of the former. We enjoyed services in the evening at the public school building. Though a series of meetings was in progress in the little village, a goodly number met, and, I think, were amply repaid for doing so by a discourse by Bro. Murray upon the "Christian Graces." Eld. B. F. Miller has the oversight of this church. May God give him grace to assist in every time of need!

Here some opposition is felt by the Progressive element. We enjoyed again (as we often have), another pleasant meeting with the Alpena brethren and sisters. God bless them for their love manifested! On the morning of the 18th I left for home, where I arrived safely at 10 P. M., and found all well.

In conclusion we return thanks to all, especially the Willow Creek church, for bringing about our pleasant meeting together. God bless you for your love and hospitality to us, and for your kind remembrance of our wants, which were fully satisfied. May God bless us all, keep us humble and faithful, is my prayer! WM. G. COOK.

Notes by the Way.

I WILL give you a brief account of my trip to Annual Meeting and return.

In company with four other members of this (Slate Creek) church, I boarded the train at our depot, May 29, en route for Harrisonburg, Va. At Wichita on the same evening, we took the chair car on the "Frisco" line, and arrived at St. Louis at 6: 30 P. M., May 30. We reached Defiance Junction, Ohio at 6: 20 A. M., where we had to lay over until 3: 05 P. M., of the same day.

We crossed the Ohio river at Bellaire, and at Benwood, on the West Virginia side, we were joined by a delegation from Ohio and Illinois, among whom were Eld. Jesse Stutsman, Eld. Henry Frantz, Eld. M. Stouffer and others. We had a very pleasant ride through the hills of West Virginia. Daylight found us near Cheat River. Passing on, our western passengers were delighted with the mountain scenery until we were stopped on the slope, west of Piedmont, about an hour and a half. Then, passing on, we were again stopped at Cumberland, Md., at 8: 40, on account of high water. The Potomac river had overflowed its banks, and the water covered the railroad, east of Cumberland, for several miles. Here we were obliged to remain until the morning of June 4, being delayed seventy-two hours. We tried to make the best of our delay. We had singing and preaching in the car on Saturday, and the courteous minister of the M. E. church came into our car, and invited us all to his church. Sunday morning, June 2, found about thirty brethren and sisters in the M. E. church in the city of Cumberland, Md. One of our number preached. We were invited to return in the evening, and Bro. E. Eby, of Kansas, preached. The old members of that church said they enjoyed such old style preaching.

On the morning of June 4 we "pulled out," and sped our way over very dangerous places, witnessing the dreadful havoc made by the water. At 9: 20 P. M. we landed at Harrisonburg, Va., thankful to our kind Father in heaven for his care and blessings.

The Annual Meeting was one of unusual interest and pleasure. I never saw people remain until the close, as they did this year. Business passed off with unusual unanimity. There was scarcely a ripple in all of the business.

The meeting having closed on the 13th in good time, a large number of western members started for home at 5 P. M. At Harper's Ferry, where we connected with the main line of the B. & O., through some misarrangement of the Railroad Company, we missed our west-bound train, and, as a consequence, were thrown behind time all the way through. Finding that I could not reach home without traveling on Sunday (which I do not like to do), I stopped off at Cerro Gordo, Ill., attended services on Sunday in the Brick church, and Sunday evening in Cerro Gordo.

I boarded the train again on the 17th at Cerro Gordo and reached Wichita, Kans., at 5: 30 A. M., June 18, and after another lay-over of over six hours was again on my way to Conway Springs, where I arrived at 2: 40 P. M., after an absence of nearly three weeks, having travelled about 3,428 miles. I found all well, and thank the Lord for his fatherly care over us all. JOHN WISE.

From Long Pine Church, Nebr.

WE are glad to note the good that is being done here. Our beloved brother, R. S. Rust, labors with us once each month and is doing much for the good cause.

During the services of June 15 and 16 three precious souls came forward, the writer being one among them, and on Monday morning were led into that liquid stream and "cleansed with the blood of the Lamb." May the Lord so direct us that we may prove faithful, and so live, that when we are called away, we may meet in that home beyond, where there is no more parting and sorrow! Pray for us, brethren, that the good work may continue!

There is a large field open here for able ministers. There are favorable prospects here for a large ingathering. BELLE BOYD.

Newport, Rock Co., Nebr.

Notes of Our Trip to Virginia.

AT daylight, June 14, a large number of western brethren and sisters left Staunton, Va., on our return from the meeting at Harrisonburg, and via the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, for the Ohio Valley and the Far West. The trip was rapid, but pleasant, and the scenery grand. At Charleston, West Virginia, we stopped off to renew our acquaintance with the body of members near here, and whom we had met in their first love-feast two years ago.

All parties seemed gladdened by another meeting, and all seemed encouraged and benefited.

There are, at this place, near a score of members, with one deacon, but no speaker, and here they have their Sunday-school and prayer-meetings. They also have a meeting-house in contemplation. Its material is nearly all on the ground, and there are willing hands to put it up.

To show something of their love for the Brotherhood, as manifested by them, I will give one fact worth remembering by us all. At their meeting on Sunday night, June 9, it was known that the train from Dayton, Ohio, would pass their depot at Charleston after midnight, on its way to the National Meeting at Harrisonburg, Va., and so anxious were these isolated members here to see those from other parts, that a majority of their meeting, after its close, went to the depot at midnight, and waited till the train came. It was due at 2 A. M., and came late, but stopped long enough for these willing ones to meet and to greet numbers of those who were on the train. These strangers in the flesh were all made nigh to each other by the blood of Christ, and all felt more than paid for their sacrifice to obtain the meeting so rare, and so soon broken up.

Our meeting continued with the Brethren at Charleston till Monday night, June 17th, and one sister was baptized.

From there I came west to Lawrence Co., Kentucky, to the home of brother and sister Drayer. Here we have rested and held some meetings at night, in the saw mill, with moderate attendance but good attention. June 24th I go back to Ohio, for I feel that it affords me field enough, for a time at least. "The harvest truly is great," but the laborers are not near so abundant as the work now loudly demands.

LANDON WEST.

From Myrtle Point, Oregon.

THE brethren and sisters here have just closed a series of meetings, which lasted over two weeks. Our dear brother and elder, David Brower, did the preaching. June 1 was the day appointed for church council. Everything passed off pleasantly, and a good feeling prevailed. On the evening of June 1, the meetings began at the Brethren's meeting-house. While Bro. Brower was preaching so powerfully, we believe the brethren and sisters were praying, and the Lord worked upon the hearts of the people. As a result eight precious souls came out on the Lord's side and were buried in baptism. June 12, seven more came out and were baptized, making in all fifteen that were added to the church by baptism. Much more good might have been accomplished if we could have continued the meetings, but Bro. Brower was worn out, having preached twenty-three sermons in all. Contracting, also, a very bad cold, he was compelled to close his meetings nearly a week before he intended to do so. May the Lord bless him and his dear companion!

THOMAS BARKLOW.

From Waynesville, Mo.

SEVERAL weeks ago I preached for some isolated members, near Hancock, about twenty miles from here. A few days after my return, on June 7, I started, in company with Eld. Stump and others, for Sleeper, Laclede County, to a Communion meeting, about twenty miles distant. We arrived at Eld. J. L. Jordan's at 12 o'clock in the night. The communion was held at sister Weed's, close to Sleeper. An arbor had been erected for the occasion, but, on account of rain, we had to go into the house. We were somewhat crowded, but, surely, the Lord was with us. Nineteen members communed. Everything passed off pleasantly. We had preaching in the arbor twice on Sunday. Monday morning we bade farewell to brethren and sisters, and started for home.

Brethren, we are but few in number here, and living scattered. The country is very rough, and much of it timber land. Love and union prevail among us, and, surely, at present we are enjoying a little heaven upon earth. May it so continue!

C. E. GILLETT.

FALLEN ASLEEP

"Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord."

CLICK.—At her home near Nevada, Mo., June 6, Susanna Click, wife of Samuel Click, aged 48 years, 4 months and 15 days.

Sister Click was a daughter of Solomon and Lydia Miller. She moved with her husband from Ohio to Nevada where she has resided twenty-one years. A few months previous to her death, she was taken with dropsy and heart disease. Kind friends and skillful physicians did all in their power to save the life so useful here, but God sent the silent angel of death, who took her away from us. Funeral services were held at the home of deceased by Eld. H. J. Wolfe. Text, 2 Cor. 5: 1. Interment took place in Click's cemetery in the presence of a large congregation of friends and neighbors who came to pay the last tribute of respect to one whom to know was to love.

In the death of sister Click the church sustains a great loss. For years the communion meetings were held at her home, and all were received with Christian kindness and hospitality. At the time of our last meeting in May she was much prostrated, yet she had a smile of welcome for all.

To our elder, the bereaved husband, we extend our deepest sympathy. He has lost a kind and devoted wife,—one that tried to help him bear the trials, cares and perplexities that are so thickly strewn along life's pathway, but he has the consolation that his loss on earth is her gain in heaven. He will realize that in his once happy home a gloom has settled, the shadow of which will ever linger there. The cheerful voice that used to welcome him, is hushed in death; the kind hands, once so willing to administer to his earthly wants, are folded and locked by the icy hand of death.

These sorrows would seem deep as the unfathomable ocean, did we not remember that earth has no sorrow that heaven can not heal. May the bereaved husband, and brothers and sisters, draw consolation from heaven's inexhaustible fountain, to sustain them through the few more years of life, and may they, within the pearly gates, be welcomed by her whose name will ever linger with us!

KATE A. WOLFE.

WALLACE.—In Beaman, Grundy County, Iowa, June 20, of cancer in the face, Bro. William Wallace, aged 77 years, 11 months and 4 days.

Deceased was born in Washington County, Maryland. He married Nancy A. Welty Feb. 14, 1833. They emigrated to Ogle County, Ill., in August, 1845; to Marshall County, Iowa, in March, 1868, and to their present home, in April, 1887. Bro. Wallace was the father of ten children, six of whom are now living.

He was a member of the Brethren church about thirty years, and about twenty-five years of that time he served in the office of deacon. Services by the Brethren, assisted by Rev. Newall, from 2 Cor. 5: 1.

LEVI SAYLOR.

SNECKEBARGER.—At Jennings, Decatur County, Kans., April 13, sister Nancy D. Sneckebarger, aged 37 years, 6 months and 7 days.

Deceased was the daughter of George Hicks, of Maryland. She was the mother of six children,—three of whom preceded her to the spirit world, leaving three children, a kind husband, four brothers and two sisters to mourn their loss. Sister Sneckebarger was married in Maryland and moved to Jennings, Decatur County, Kansas. Her funeral was preached by a Methodist minister, as no Brethren were there; also in Maryland by Bro. N. Martin. O. Z. HICKS.

SAUCERMAN.—Near Silver Lake, in the Eel River church, Kosciusko Co., Ind., May 17, sister Mary Saucerman, daughter of Bro. Abraham and sister Magdalene Montel, aged 25 years, 2 months and 15 days.

Deceased leaves a kind husband and a small child to mourn their loss. Mary will be missed both at home and at church, for her seat was seldom vacant. Services by brethren Samuel Leckrone and Leander Pottinger.

EMMANUEL LECKRONE.

CALVERT.—In Highland County, Ohio, June 5, Francis Calvert, son of Robert and Sally Calvert, aged 65 years, 10 months and 4 days.

Deceased was married to Rebecca Leedy, April 7, 1846, who passed away Feb. 9, 1862. He was married to Sarah E. Gittner, Jan. 20, 1863. Those who mourn his departure rejoice that he is now beyond all pain or suffering. JOHN G. CALVERT.

ASCHENBRENNER.—At Dysart, Iowa, June 7, sister Anna Elizabeth Aschenbrenner, aged 83 years, 10 months and 15 days.

Deceased was born in Germany, July 22, 1805 and died at the home of her son, Frederick Aschenbrenner. She was a member of the Brethren church upwards of thirty years. She lived a devoted Christian life until she was called to her eternal home. Her husband preceded her in death. She had eight children, of whom two died in their infancy and six are living to mourn her death, with full assurance that she has gone to her rest. Funeral by G. Youngblood of the Evangelical church, assisted by the writer.

JOHN RIDENOUR.

MILLER.—In the Hopewell church, Yellow Creek, Pa., June 5, sister Barbara Miller, wife of Bro. Archy Miller, aged 36 years, 5 months and 15 days. Services by Eld. D. S. Clapper from Rev. 22: 14.

J. H. CLAPPER.

WIMER.—In Chique's church, Pa., March 31, sister Magdalena Wimer, aged 72 years, 5 months and 5 days. Text, 2 Cor. 4: 17-18.

MESHEY.—In the same church, June 4, sister Susan Meshey, aged 70 years, 10 months and 18 days. Text, 2 Tim. 4: 6-8.

STEIN.—In same church, June 6, Bro. John Stein, aged 83 years, 4 months and 22 days.

This brother walked to the meeting-house to attend the above funeral. He took a seat on a stump outside, to rest a little—conversing with a brother, and in the twinkling of an eye was a corpse.

KINSEY.—In the same church, June 7, sister Barbara Kinsey, aged 69 years, 8 months and 1 day. Text, Rev. 14: 12-13. All these funerals were held in the Chique's meeting house by the Brethren.

M. G. GIBBLE.

GEORGE.—At her daughter's, Mrs. A. F. Dierdorff, McPherson, Kans., May 23, sister Cornelius George, aged 54 years, 9 months and 4 days.

This beloved sister left her home last October for the purpose of visiting her daughter, Mrs. A. F Dierdorff, at McPherson, Kans. Here, after an illness of three months, attended by her two daughters, and in full consciousness of her change, she surrendered her spirit to God who gave it. Her remains, accompanied by her children, were brought to Ashton, Ill, for burial.

Sister George was an exemplary member and one much respected by all. She was born in Carroll County, Maryland, and married to Cornelius George in October of 1856. Funeral services by Eld Daniel Dierdorff at the Ashton church.

SOLOMON DIERDORFF.

BARKLOW.—In Myrtle Point, Coos Co., Oregon, June 1, Bro. J. S. Barklow, of typhoid pneumonia, aged 25 years, 2 months and 19 days.

Bro. Jacob had just finished his second term of lectures in the Medical Department of the Willamette University of East Portland and received his diploma in April. He had commenced the practice of medicine at Myrtle Point. The funeral sermon was preached by Bro. David Brower, of Roseburg, Oregon, to a very large congregation of sympathizing friends and neighbors.

THOS. BARKLOW.

SHEAFFER.—In Lower Cumberland, Pa., May 20, Bro. Ephraim Gear Sheaffer, aged 59 years, 3 months and 16 days.

J. B. GARVER.

The "Oxford" Teachers' Reference Bibles.

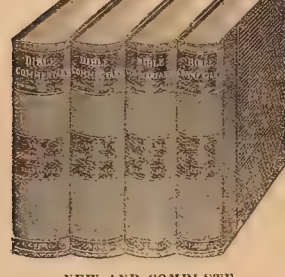
PEARL 16mo.

No. 500. FRENCH MOROCCO, boards $1 40
No. 502. FRENCH SEAL, limp, round corners 1 60
No. 503. FRENCH SEAL, divinity circuit, round corners 1 7
No. 514p.i. PERSIAN SEAL, divinity circuit, silk sewed, leather lined, patent index 4 50

RUBY 16mo.

No. 550. FRENCH MOROCCO, boards... ... 2 25
No. 553. FRENCH SEAL, divinity circuit, round corners 2 75
No 564. PERSIAN SEAL, divinity circuit, silk sewed, leather lined, round corners 4 00
No. 564p i. ERSIAN SEAL, same as No. 564, with patent index..... .... 5 00
No. 565½. LEVANT, divinity circuit, kid lined, silk sewed, round corners 5 00

NONPAREIL 8vo.



o. 680. TURKEY MOROCCO, board, gilt roll 4 50
No. 661½. TURKEY MOROCCO, limp, round corners..... 4 75
No 664. PERSIAN SEAL, divinity circuit, round corners, leather lined 4 50
No. 664p.i. PERSIAN SEAL, same as No. 664, with patent index 6 00
No. 665½. LEVANT, divinity circuit, kid lined, silk sewed, round corners..... .. 6 00

INDIA PAPER EDITION.

No. 661x. PERSIAN SEAL, divinity circuit, silk sewed, round corners, leather lined..... .... 5 25
No 661½x. TURKEY MOROCCO, silk sewed, loose limp, round corners 5 25
No. 671x. BEST LEVANT, divinity circuit, kid lined, silk sewed, red under gold edges, round corners 9 00

Address all orders to

BRETHREN'S PUBLISHING Co.,
Or, Huntingdon, Pa. Mount Morris, Ill.

NEW AND COMPLETE

Bible Commentary.

Critical, Explanatory and Practical, by Jamieson, Fausset & Brown, in four large 12mo Volumes of about 1000 pages each. This Work has Numerous Illustrations and Maps. It is far in advance of the Older Works. It is Critical, Practical and Explanatory. It is Compendious and Comprehensive in its character. It has a Critical Introduction to each Book of Scripture, and is by far the most Practical, Suggestive and Popular Work of the kind in the English Language. Price, Cloth, $8.00 post-paid.

BRETHREN'S PUBLISHING Co.,
Or, Huntingdon, Pa. Mt. Morris, Ill.

"LITTLE MISSIONARIES,"—a term applied by some one to our BRETHREN'S ENVELOPES, is well deserved. Price, 15 cents a package; for sale at this office.

A Book for Every Member!

Classified Minutes

—OF—

ANNUAL MEETING.

☞ A full supply of this excellent work still on hand. Every member should have a copy of this work, In order to have a thorough understanding of the deliberations of the Annual Meeting in reference to church government, etc. Price, English Cloth, $1.50, post-paid; leather, $2.00.

☞ A responsible agent wanted in each congregation, to whom terms will be furnished upon application. Address,

BRETHREN'S PUBLISHING Co.,
Or, Huntingdon, Pa. Mount Morris, Ill.

Tract Work.

List of Publications for Sale,—Sent Postage Prepaid.

CLASS A.

No. 1. Golden Gleams or Family Chart, ...85 cts,

CLASS B.

No. 1. Trine Immersion, Quinter, per copy . $ 1 25
No. 2. Europe and Bible Lands, Miller, per copy,..... 1 50
No. 3. Doctrine of the Brethren Defended, per copy,..... 1 50
No. 4. Classified Minutes—A. M..... .. 1 50
No. 5 Two Sticks, Eshelman, ... 1 00
No 6 Close Communion, Wesb. per copy 40

CLASS C.

No. 1. Annual Report, per copy,.. .....$ 05
No. 2. Path of Life, per 100, $5.00; per copy. 06
No. 3 How to Become a Child of God, per 100, $4 00; per copy, ... 05
No. 4. Conversion, per 100, $2 50; per copy.... 03
No 5. Water Baptism, per 100, $1.50; per copy 02
No. 6. Single Immersion, per 100, $1 50; per copy,..... 02
No. 7. Sabbatism, per 100, $2.50; per copy,..... 03
No. 8. Discussion on Trine Immersion, per copy,..... 15
No. 9. Sermon on Baptism, per copy,..... 03
No. 10. Glad Tidings of Salvation, per copy... 03
No. 11. Life of Eld. S. Weir (Colored), per copy,..... 03
No. 12. Ten Reasons for Trine Immersion, per 100, $1.50, per copy,... 02

CLASS D.

No 1. House We Live In, per 100, ... $ 60
No. 2. Plan of Salvation, per 100,..... 60
No. 3. Come, Let Us Reason Together, per 100 60
No. 4. How Shall I Know that my Sins are Pardoned? per 100,..... 60
No. 5. Intemperance, per 100,. 60
No 6. Plain Dressing, per 100,.. 60
No. 7. Which Is the Right Church? per 100 .. 60
No. 8. House We Live In (Swedish), per 100,.. 60
No. 9. House We Live In (Danish), per 100,.. 60
No 10. Paul Wetzel's Reasons, Etc., (German), per 100, ... 60
No. 11. Sinner, Stop! per 100,..... 60
No. 12. Faith, per 100,..... 60
No. 13. The Light-House, per 100,..... 60
No. 14. Close Communion, per 100,..... 60
No. 15. The Truth Shall Make You Free, per 100, ... 60
No. 16. Modern Skepticism, per 100, ... 60
No. 17 Infant Baptism Weighed in the Balances and Found Wanting, per 100,.... 60

CLASS E.

No. 1. Pause and Think, per 100,..... . 80
No. 2. What Do We Need? per 100,..... . . 80
No. 3 Right or Wrong Way, per 100,..... 80
No. 4. Why Am I Not a Christian? per 100,.... 80
No. 5. Saving Words, per 100,..... .. 80
No. 6. Christ and War, per 100,..... 80
No. 7. The Bond of Peace, per 100,..... .. 80
No. 8. The Kiss of Charity, per 100,..... 80
No. 9. The Evils of Intemperance, per 100,.. 80
No. 10. The Lost Opportunity, per 100,..... 80
No. 11. Are You a Christian? per 100,..... 80
No. 12. Arise, Get Thee Down, per 100,..... 80
No. 13. A Personal Appeal, per 100,..... 80
No. 14. Lying Among the Pots, per 100,..... 80
No. 15. Gold and Costly Array, per 100,..... 80
No. 16. The Brethren's Card, per 100,..... 80

Bibles, Testaments, Hymn Books of all styles, at publishers' lowest retail prices, which will be furnished on application.

Address

Brethren's Book and Tract Work,
DAYTON, OHIO

Church Register.

—:o:—

To those who would wish to collect and to preserve a complete history of their congregation and biography of each of their members, with names, dates of baptism or letter, dates of death or letter, and also dates of election, ordination of all the official members, and all events of importance occurring in each congregation, we would say, buy a copy of the Church Register. Price, containing sample pages and instructions, well bound, and sent by mail, $1.00 per copy. Address this office.

PUBLICATIONS

☞ The following books, Sunday-school supplies, etc., are for sale by the Brethren's Publishing Co., Mt. Morris, Ill., or Huntingdon, Pa., to whom all orders should be addressed.

The Brethren's Quarterly.

For Sunday-school teachers and scholars this publication is of the greatest benefit. Look at our prices:

Single subscription, one year .....35 cents.
Single subscription, per quarter.....10 cents.
Three copies, per quarter.....25 cents.
Eight copies, per quarter.....40 cents.
Fifty copies and over.....4 cents each.

• • • Hymn Books • • •

New Tune and Hymn Books.

Half leather, single copy, post-paid .....$ 1 00
Per dozen, by express 10 00
Morocco, single copy, post-paid..... 1 25
Per dozen, by express 12 00
Morocco, gilt edge, per copy..... 1 50

Hymn Books, English.

Morocco, single copy, post-paid.... .....$ 90
Per dozen, post-paid..... ..... 9 50
Per dozen, by express 9 00
Morocco, gilt edge, post-paid 1 10
Per dozen, post-paid. 11 75
Per dozen, by express 11 25
Arabesque, single copy, post-paid.... 55
Per dozen, post-paid 5 80
Per dozen, by express 5 30
Sheep, single copy, post-paid .....
Per dozen, post-paid.....
Per dozen, by express 5 30
Tuck, single copy, post-paid..... 1 00
Per dozen, post paid..... 10 00
Per dozen, by express..... ..... 9 50
Fine Limp, post-paid.. ..... 1 00
Per dozen, post-paid 10 00
Fine Limp, single copy, gilt edge, post-paid 1 20
Fine Limp, gilt edge, per dozen..... 13 00
German and English, per copy,... 90
" " " per dozen, mail, $9.50; express 9 00

The Young Disciple.

The YOUNG DISCIPLE is a neatly printed weekly, published especially for the moral benefit and religious instruction of our young folks.

Single copy, one year..... ..... $ 50
Six copies (the sixth to the agent)..... .... 2 50
Ten copies..... 4 00

For Three Months or Thirteen Weeks.

20 copies to one address.....$1 70
30 " " " " 2 50
40 " " " " 3 35
50 " " " " 3 80
75 " " " " 5 20
100 " " " " 7 00

For Six Months or Twenty-Six Weeks.

20 copies to one address..... .. $ 3 35
30 " " " " 5 00
40 " " " " 6 60
50 " " " " 7 50
75 " " " " 10 20
100 " " " " 13 75

Our paper is designed for the Sunday-school and the home circle. We desire the name of every Sunday-school Superintendent in the Brotherhood, and want an agent in every church. Send for sample copies.

Sunday-School Requisites.

The following list of things is needed in all Sunday-schools:

Testaments, Flexible, red edge, per doz.....$1 00
Minute Books, each..... 50
Class Books, per doz 75
Union Primers, with fine engravings, per doz..... 70

New and Beautiful Sunday-School Cards.

"The Gem," 50 picture cards, each with Bible Text, verse of hymn..... 35
250 Reward Tickets—verse of Scripture—red or blue, 20

Miscellaneous Works.

☞ We are prepared to furnish any book in the market at publishers' retail price. Religious works a specialty.

Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress.—An excellent edition of this good work, printed on good paper, finely illustrated with forty engravings, at the low price of $1 00 per copy.

Brown's Pocket Concordance.—This is a very reliable, low-priced work, and very handy for reference Price, 50 cents.

Biblical Antiquities.—By John Nevin. Gives a concise account of Bible times and customs, invaluable to all students of Bible subjects. Price $1 50

Barnes' Notes. On the New Testament, 11 vols cloth, $16 50 Barnes' Notes on the Psalms, 3 vols the set, $3 50 Barnes' Notes on Daniel, 1 vol $1 50. Barnes' Notes on Isaiah, 2 vols the set, $3 00. Barnes' Notes on Job, 2 vols. the set, $3 00.

Close Communion.—By Landon West. Treats this important subject in a simple though conclusive manner Price 50 cents.

Cruden's Concordance.—A very complete work Price, cloth, $1 50, sheep, $3 00

Companion to the Bible.—This valuable work is so full of instruction that it can not fail to be of great benefit to every Christian. Price $1 75

Campbell and Owen's Debate.—Contains a complete investigation of the evidences of Christianity Price, $1 50

Classified Minutes of Annual Meeting.—A work of rare interest for all who desire to be well informed in the church work, from the early days of our Brethren until the present Price, cloth, $1 leather, $2 00.

Europe and Bible Lands. By D L Miller A book for the people—more comprehensive and thorough than many higher priced works Price cloth, $1 50 Leather, $2 00

Family Bible, with Notes and Instructions.—Contains the harmony of the Gospels, Chronology, Maps, Tables of Weights and Measures, Family Record, eight elegant illustrations, etc Price, substantially bound, $3 00

Family Bible. This is a fine and very complete work New and old versions of the New Testament side by side, concordance and everything usually found in Bibles of the kind. Price only $4 50 Sent by express only

German and English Testaments.—American Bible Society Edition Price 75 cents

Josephus' Complete Works.—Large type, 1 vol 8vo Illustrated with many steel and wood engravings Library sheep, $3.50

Life on Wheels.—By J S Mohler The idea of the book is to represent the way to heaven, by using the different terms connected with an ordinary railroad Price, single copy, 40 cents

New Testament and Psalms with Notes.—Invaluable for Bible students, Sunday-school teachers, etc. Price, cloth, $2 00.

Origin of Single Immersion.—By Eld James Quinter. Price, 2 copies, 5 cents, 12 copies, 25 cents, 50 copies, $1 00.

Quinter and McConnell Debate.—A debate on Trine Immersion, the Lord's Supper, and Feet-washing, between Eld James Quinter (German Baptist) and Eld N A McConnell (Christian) held at Dry Creek, Iowa, 1867. Price, $1 50.

Reference and Pronouncing Testament.—A copious selection of parallel and illustrated passages and a classical pronunciation of the proper names and other difficult words, together with a short dictionary and gazetteer of the New Testament Price, $1 00, postpaid.

Reason and Revelation.—By R Milligan Should be in the hands of every Bible student Price $2 00

Sacred Geography and Antiquities.—A practical, helpful work for Bible students, ministers and Sunday-school teachers. Price, $2 25.

Smith's Bible Dictionary.—Edited by Peloubet Cloth, $2 00, leather, $3 00.

Sabbatism.—By M M Eshelman. Treats the Sabbath question, showing that the first day of the week is the day for assembling in worship. Price 10 cents, 15 copies $1 00.

The Christian Sabbath Defended.—By M T Baer This is a reliable and interesting work on the Sabbath question, and should be widely circulated Price, single copy, 15 cents; per dozen, $1 50

The Law and Sabbath.—The Gospel and Lord's Day.—Why I Quit Keeping the Jewish Sabbath The author of this pamphlet was once led to observe the Saturday-Sabbath, but has since, after a Bible examination, renounced it as an error. Ample proof against keeping the Jewish Sabbath in the Christian Dispensation is given. Sixty-four pages, printed in nice, clear type. Price 20 cents, 5 copies, $1 00.

Two Sticks, or Lost Ten Tribes of Israel Discovered.—By M. M. Eshelman Maintains that the Anglo-Saxons are the offspring of the Ten Tribes, that the Jews and Israelites are two distinct people, but will again be united in Palestine, 265 pages Cloth, price, $1.00.

The Path of Life.—An interesting tract for everybody Price 10 cents per copy; 100 copies $6 00

Trine Immersion.—A vindication of the apostolic form of Christian baptism. By Eld James Quinter A most complete and reliable work on the subject Price, cloth, single copy, $1 25, leather, $1 75.

The House We Live In.—By Daniel Vaniman It gives a concise account of the faith and practice of the Brethren. Price, 100 copies, 60 cents

The Doctrine of the Brethren Defended.—A complete work on the distinctive principles of our fraternity. Price, cloth, $1.50.

The Story of the Bible.—An excellent volume for old and young; will interest and instruct all those desiring a knowledge of the Scriptures. Price $1.00.

Universalism against Itself.—By Hall. One of the best works against Universalism, Price $1.00.

"Alexander Mack's Writings," 25 cents post-paid. Get a copy.

HARVEST EXCURSIONS

To the Pan Handle of Texas. Many of the brethren having asked me by letter before and since the Annual Meeting, and personally, while at the Annual Meeting, whether there would be cheap excursions to the Pan Handle of Texas, and as I invariably told them I would answer through the "GOSPEL MESSENGER," I take pleasure now in announcing that the Western States Passenger Association and the Trans-Missouri Association, in session at Chicago June 26th, agreed to run Harvest Excursions from Eastern points to all points in Kansas, Colorado, and the Pan Handle of Texas, at the rate of one fare for the round trip, tickets good for thirty days from date of sale, and stop-overs will be allowed within the limits at all points west of the Missouri river. The days of sale are August 6 and 20, September 10 and 24, and October 8

I will be pleased to answer all farther enquiries by mail, by sending maps, routes, etc.

GEO. L. MCDONAUGH,
Trav. Agt Santa Fe Route,
St. Louis, Mo.

Announcements.

LOVE-FEASTS.

Aug. 10 and 11, at 3 P. M., at the house of B. M. Petersen, Fairview congregation, Sherman Co., Kans.

Aug 10 and 11 North Solomon church, Osborne County, Kansas, one and one-half miles north of Portis.

Aug 10 at 2 P. M., Ogan's Creek, five miles southeast of North Manchester, Wabash Co., Ind.

Aug. 31, at 3 o'clock P. M., Turkey Creek church, Pawnee Co., Nebraska, at H. C. Martin's 2½ miles north-west of DuBois station on Rock Island Railroad at which place persons will be met and conveyed to place of meeting on the 31st, or if coming sooner, notify H C. Martin, DuBois, Neb. Those coming to Table Rock on B. & M. R. R. notify B. F. Flory.

Aug. 31 and Sept. 1, at 10 A M., Vermilion church Marshall Co., Kansas at Simon Studebaker's 7 miles north of Beattie, Kansas.

Sept. 8, at 10 A M., Sugar Ridge church, Hancock Co., Ohio.

Sept. 6, at 10 A. M., Olathe church Kans. at the residence of Wm. Brunks, 1 mile north of Olathe.

Sept. 7 and 8, at 3 P. M., Frederic, Monroe Co., Ia.

Sept 7 and 8, at 10 A M., Auglaize Chapel, ¾ mile from Dupont, Ohio, on the Clover Leaf Railroad; 2½ miles from Harteburg, on the Nickle Plate Railroad.

Sept 7 and 8, at 2 P. M., Juniata congregation, 1 mile south and ½ mile east of Roseland, Adams Co., Neb.

Sept. 13, at 10 A. M., Sugar Creek church, Whitley Co., Ind.

Sept. 14 and 15, at 10 A. M., Sabetha, Kans.

Sept 21, at 11 A. M., Kilbuck church, Ind., 9 miles west of Muncie, on the Jackson St. Pike. Those coming by rail will be met at Reed Station, by notifying Job Mahoney, Reed, Delaware Co., Ind., or Walter Bowers, Gilman, Madison Co., Ind.

Sept 28 and 29, at 11 A. M., English River congregation, Keokuk Co., Iowa

Oct 5, at 10 A. M., in the Vernon meeting-house Somerset congregation, Wabash Co., Ind.

Oct. 12, at 4 P. M., Big Creek church, Richland Co., Illinois. Conveyance will be furnished any time by notifying J. M. Forney, Parkersburg, Illinois.

Oct 10, at 10 A. M., Landeesville church, Grant Co., Ind.

Advice to Mothers.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. 28y1

ADVERTISEMENTS.

Rates per Inch each Insertion.

One time or more	$1 50
One month (4 times)	1 30
Three months (12 times)	1 20
Six months (25 times)	1 00
One year (50 times)	70
No advertisement accepted for less than	1 00

☞ No Cuts inserted, unless on metal base. No double-column or objectionable advertisements admitted.

Alexander Mack's Writings

THOSE who have not yet secured a copy of this excellent work, should embrace the opportunity of getting one at the low price at which it is now offered. A copy should be in the library of every brother. Price, 25 cts. per copy, with special inducements to agents. Address this office.

ROYAL

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and can not be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. SOLD ONLY IN CANS

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO.,
106 Wall St., N. Y.

SALESMEN Wanted; local and travelling. Positions permanent. Salary from start. Experience unnecessary. Brown Bros., Nurserymen, Chicago, Ill.

EUROPE
AND
BIBLE LANDS!

BY D. L. MILLER.

THE large sale of this work gives abundant proof of its popularity. The eighth edition is almost exhausted, and a new edition will be necessary to supply the demand. The following partial list will give an idea of the contents of the work:

Life in Germany.—Berlin.—The King's Palace.—Dresden.—The Crown Jewels.—Women in Germany.—The City of Prague.—The Martyrdom of John Huss.—The Habits and Customs of the People.—Bro. Hope's Work in Denmark.—Old Castles and Prisons of the Middle Ages.—Paul's Preaching at Mars' Hill.—Old Temples at Athens.—The Seven Churches of Asia.—Ephesus, and the Temple of Diana.—Jaffa.—The House of Simon, the Tanner.—Plain of Sharon.—Lepers and Leprosy.—Mountains of Judea.—Jerusalem.—Place of Crucifixion.—Mount Moriah.—Solomon's Temple.—Mount Zion.—David's Tomb.—Bethlehem.—The Fields Where the Shepherds Watched their Flocks by Night.—Rachel's Tomb.—Mount of Olives.—The Garden of Gethsemane.—Jericho.—The Dead Sea.—River of Jordan.—Bethel.—The Mountains of Blessing and Cursing.—Nazareth.—Cana of Galilee.—The Sea of Galilee.—Capernaum.—Damascus.—Ruins of Baalbec.—Customs, Manners, Habits and Home Life of the Arabs.

Bro. Miller visited the places he describes and tells about them in an easy, pleasant manner, which makes the book exceedingly interesting. It contains 439 pages, and 40 engravings, among which are a number of full-page illustrations of Palestine scenery. It is printed on heavy, tinted paper, in clear-faced type, bound in a good, substantial manner, and will be sold at the very low price of $1.50 per copy, cloth binding, postage prepaid.

SPECIAL RATES TO MINISTERS.—In order to have a copy of the book placed in the hands of all our ministers, we make them the following liberal offer: Send one dollar for the book, and sixteen cents to pay postage, and you will receive a copy by return mail.

Agents wanted, to whom liberal terms will be given. Address all orders to

BRETHREN'S PUBLISHING CO.,
MT. MORRIS, ILL.

McShane Bell Foundry
Finest Grade of Bells.
CHIMES AND PEALS for CHURCHES, &c.
Send for Price and Catalogue. Address
H. McSHANE & CO.,
Mention this paper. Baltimore, Md.

To California.

SPECIAL parties leave Chicago every Thursday over the Santa Fe Route through to California. These parties are accompanied by a special Conductor whose duty it is to look after the comfort and security of passengers en route, and this feature makes the journey pleasant. Low rates are made for persons joining these parties.

If you think of going to California write to or call upon James Wallace, 212 Clark Street, Chicago, Ill.

Victor Remedies!

These Remedies consist of Victor Liver Syrup, Victor Pain Balm, Victor Infant's Relief, Victor Lung Syrup, Victor Pills, Victor Liniment, Victor Poultry, Horse and Cattle Powders. These Remedies are all sold under a guarantee. If you cannot get them from your merchant, send his name to us, and we will arrange so he has them in stock if he is reliable. Send for circulars. Address:

VICTOR REMEDIES CO.,
8tf Frederick, Md.

CINCINNATI BELL FOUNDRY CO
SUCCESSORS IN BLYMYER BELLS TO THE
BLYMYER MANUFACTURING CO
CATALOGUE WITH 1800 TESTIMONIALS.
BELLS, CHURCH, SCHOOL, FIRE ALARM

Brethren's Quarterly.

ORDERS should be sent in at once for the Quarterly for the third quarter of 1889. Price, three copies, 25 cents; eight copies 40 cents; fifty copies and over, four cents each. Address,

BRETHREN'S PUBLISHING CO.,
Mt Morris, Ill.
Or, Huntingdon, Pa.

THE HANDSOMEST TRAINS IN THE WORLD

ARE THE FAST EXPRESS OF THE

SANTA FE ROUTE!

NOW RUNNING DAILY BETWEEN

CHICAGO AND KANSAS CITY

These trains leave Chicago at 5:00 P. M., and Kansas City at 8 35 P. M. Through first and second class Pullman sleepers between Chicago and California without change, leaving Chicago daily at 11:30 P. M.

EMMONS BLAINE,
GEN'L PASS. AGT.

CLASSIFIED MINUTES OF ANNUAL MEETING.

In order to introduce this excellent work more fully in all parts of the Brotherhood, we would like to secure a live, energetic agent in every congregation to whom we will give special inducements; terms made known on application. Address, Brethren's Publishing Co.

Wanted!

We want brethren in every district to sell our Fertilizers. We manufacture a number of different grades, so as to suit all buyers, viz.,

Blood and Bone Dissolved, Raw Bone and Potash, High Grade Super Phosphate of Bone, Soluble Ammoniated Bone Phosphate and Chemicals!

All the above brands have stood the test for years, and in field contests have proved to be second to none on the market.

We guarantee to keep up the present high standard of these different brands, and feel assured you can save money by buying from us Write for terms, circulars, etc. Address,

D. BLOCHER & CO.,
11m6 Gettysburg, Pa.

The Original Trans-Continental Line.

The Union Pacific Railway. "The Overland Route" runs daily trains from Council Bluffs, Omaha and Kansas City to Denver, Salt Lake City, Sacramento, San Francisco, Los Angeles and Portland.

Quick time across the continent.

Elegant equipment, consisting of latest Pullman Palace Cars and Day Coaches.

The Golden Gate Special, "The Finest Train in the World" leaves Council Bluffs every Wednesday morning for San Francisco; electric light, steam heat, bath rooms, smoking rooms and observation cars are only a few of the many conveniences offered on this train.

This company has also for sale in Kansas and Colorado, 3,000,000 acres of choice farming lands; only one-tenth cash down and balance on ten years' time at seven per cent interest. Fare paid over the Union Pacific by persons who go to see the land, is refunded if land is purchased.

The Union Pacific Railway company has also 3,000,000 acres of land in Wyoming and Utah for sale at very low prices. Best ranch land in the world on liberal terms.

For full information in regard to rates, time-tables, maps, price of lands, etc., address,

THOS. L KIMBALL,
C. J SMITH, Gen'l Manager.
Gen'l Land Com.
J. S TEBBETS, Gen'l Pass. Ag't.
50 OMAHA, NEB.

J. B. COLCLESSER,

ROANOKE, HUNTINGDON CO., IND., Breeder of Purely-bred Poland China Swine. My herd is made up of the most fashionable strains known to the breed. Stock recorded in C. R. and O. R. Pigs and aged animals for sale. Gilts bred and for sale January and February 1890. Breeding a specialty. Correspondence or personal inspection solicited. 22t25

WHEN YOU TRAVEL

Take the
Line selected by the United States Government to carry the Fast Mail,—the

Burlington Route
C. B. & Q. R. R.

As it is the Line running Through Trains to and from the following cities and towns on its own Lines:

CHICAGO, AURORA, OTTAWA, STREATOR, ROCKFORD, DUBUQUE, LA CROSSE, ST. PAUL, MINNEAPOLIS, MENDOTA, PEORIA, GALESBURG, ST. LOUIS, QUINCY, KEOKUK, BURLINGTON, WASHINGTON, OSKALOOSA, DES MOINES, CHARITON, CRESTON, ST. JOSEPH, ATCHISON, KANSAS CITY, NEBRASKA CITY, OMAHA, COUNCIL BLUFFS, LINCOLN & DENVER,

Making Direct Connections

TO AND FROM

NEW YORK, BALTIMORE, WASHINGTON, CINCINNATI, PHILADELPHIA, BOSTON, NEW ORLEANS, LOUISVILLE, SAN FRANCISCO, LOS ANGELES, SALT LAKE CITY, COLORADO AND PACIFIC COAST RESORTS, CITY OF MEXICO, PORTLAND, OREGON, MANITOBA, VICTORIA AND PUGET SOUND POINTS.

Good Equipment, Good Service, Good Connection.

For information concerning the Burlington Route, apply to the nearest Ticket Agent of the C., B. & Q. or connecting railroads.

HENRY B. STONE, General Manager, PAUL MORTON, Gen'l Pass. & Ticket Agt., CHICAGO, ILL.

THE GOSPEL MESSENGER.

"Set for the Defense of the Gospel."

Vol. 27. Old Series. Mt. Morris, Ill., and Huntingdon, Pa., July 16, 1889. No. 28.

The Gospel Messenger.

H. B. BRUMBAUGH, Editor,
And Business Manager of the Eastern House, Box 50, Huntingdon, Pa.

JOHNSTOWN, Pennsylvania, has been visited by another flood. Though not so destructive as the other one, the people were panic-stricken, and considerable damage was done.

BRO. CROUCH, Principal of the Bridgewater, Virginia, school, was with us during our Commencement, and though his stay among us was short, he made quite a number of friends, and his call with us will be remembered with pleasure.

ELD. WILLIAM HERTZLER, of Aberdeen, Pennsylvania, informs us that their office has been discontinued, and that his mail matter hereafter should be directed to Elizabethtown, Lancaster Co., Pennsylvania. Those corresponding with Bro. Hertzler will please make a note of this.

BRO. J. B. BRUMBAUGH, and family, have left us for an extended trip through the West. One of the objective points is a visit to sister Brumbaugh's parents, Eld. Archy Vandyke, of Beatrice, Nebraska. They will be gone several months, and though their presence will be greatly missed, we wish them a pleasant vacation.

ELD. P. S. MYERS, and wife, late of Cerro Gordo, Illinois, are on a visit East among their friends, and, while on a call with us, Bro. Peter gave us some very acceptable admonitions. Bro. Myers is an able expounder of the Gospel, and should be kept in the Master's work. He is now designing a Baptismal Chart, which, if he gets it completed, will be of great value to the church.

THE Normal "Commencement," as usual, was an event of much interest to those who are interested in the educational work of our church. The attendance was quite large, and the exercises did credit to both the school and those who participated in them. The number of the Alumni present was unusually large, and at their meeting on Wednesday they subscribed over two thousand dollars as an Endowment Fund. Considering the number present, this was a very encouraging effort on their part, and they are to be commended for their liberality.

THIS is the "Glorious Fourth," and our juveniles are showing their patriotism by firing off the most common pest of civilization,—the every-where present fire-cracker. Such annoyances are bad enough, but we fear that some of our boys of larger growth will do worse before the day closes. A respectful celebration of any honorable event is not objectionable, if done in a respectable manner. But drunkenness and debauchery do honor to no one. The enjoyment that we thus get is of an exceedingly low order, and the great wonder is that men claiming respectability will identify themselves with such rabble. Brethren, ever remember that men are known by the company they keep.

BRO. W. C. TEETER, of Sidney, Nebraska, is now with us on a short call. He is on his homeward way from Annual Meeting, having visited some of the Eastern cities, Washington, Baltimore, and Philadelphia. Bro. Teeter is an active church worker, and we would have been pleased to have enjoyed a longer visit from him.

DANIEL GOODMAN, an aged and respected citizen, has passed over to the other shore. He was a warm friend of the church, and, when able, a regular attendant at our services. Sometime before his death he expressed a wish to unite with the church, but waited for more physical strength. His wish, in this, was not granted, and he passed away without doing that which he felt it was his duty to do. He was a man of unblemished character, and was always ready to lend the helping hand in every good work. It seems a pity that men so naturally and morally good, should neglect the needful thing, and thus pass away without coming within the promise.

ONE of the pleasant prayer-meetings of the summer was held in the Normal chapel, on Tuesday evening, June 25. The meeting was conducted by the class of the past year, and the following of the Alumni brethren were present, and participated in the meeting: G. W. Brumbaugh, of Dayton, Ohio; W. S. Price, of Royersford, Pennsylvania; N. S. Replogle, of New Enterprise, Pennsylvania; Walter B. Yount, of Virginia; L. M. Himes, of New Jersey, and Dr. G. M. Brumbaugh, of Washington, D. C. All expressed themselves as being very grateful for the privilege of being again permitted to worship with us, and their presence, we are sure, was quite as much enjoyed by us. We are glad that so many can look back to the Normal as their birthplace to a better life, and we hope that the vows here made may never be broken.

MY RELIGION.

COUNT TOLSTOI wrote a book on "My Religion," and in it are contained many interesting facts, as to his views, etc. But what are we to understand by the expression, my religion? Is it an object of possession? In a strict sense it is not, but in the more general sense, it is. It is a something that we all can have, and we hope, do have. We often speak of our church, our belief, our religion, and we are glad that it is our privilege to use the possessive case in this relation. But the mere nominal possession of a thing does not always give the blessing desired. There are many things that we possess, and yet, from them we realize no enjoyment whatever, while others are, to us, a source of continued joy. Every time we think of them, we experience an influx of happiness. This is as it should be. All of our possessions should be of this character. Our possessions should come from God, who is the Giver of every good gift. None others he gives—none others, we should possess.

Of all the gifts ever given there is none so good, so precious as the gift of promised salvation—our religion, and the question often comes to us, what good does it do us? Do we hold it as a possession, do we often think of it as such, and does it afford us pleasure when we think about it? If it does not, to us, it is a worthless possession, and we are mistaken as to our ownership. A thing so good, so precious cannot be owned by us without an appreciation of its value. To us, it is an empty profession, a lamp without the oil, and when the dark hour comes, we will realize our emptiness, and more because our religion has proved to be an ignis-fatuus that eludes our grasp, when we need it most.

With us our religion ought to be a living reality, and a welcome refuge unto which we can flee in every time of need. There is no other possession that we can have that can be so much to us as our religion, and yet there are a few things that we possess, that we so little appreciate. This is one of the things that we possess as though we possessed not. And only rare and wonderful occasions bring us to a full realization of the great riches that are always within our grasp. Let us think of it more, and make it ours to the joy of our souls.

THE TWO SIDES.

WHEN those who are learned and wise fail to to comprehend the true meaning of many Scriptural truths, need we wonder if the unlearned, and those who do less searching after the spiritual import of the Scriptures, should fail to understand God's dealings with them?

Yet, are not the Scriptures plainly given, and is there not a way for all honest seekers to find the truth, and rely on the promises given? The subject of prayer is always a mystery on the part of some good-meaning Christians. There are times when they deeply feel the need of God's help, but when they look at their needs, and the surrounding circumstances, they cannot see how God can help them. This is looking at the wrong side of the question. The how, is the Lord's side, and it is not supposed that we should understand just how he will answer our prayers. It is for us to trust, to believe, and to ask. To do this, is our side. The asking we may do, and we may do it to suit our needs, as we understand them. But the giving is the Lord's side. My son is away from home, and is in need. He writes to me for money, but don't trouble himself how I shall get it, whether I will sell some lots, some stock, or draw on the bank. If I am well-to-do, he knows that it is within my possibility to get it, and therefore believes he will get it, and trusts.

Our Heavenly Father, we know, has the possibilities of giving us all of our requests. And, therefore, in all of our needs we should go to him in full assurance, and without trying first to understand how he can give us what we need. If our wants are proper, and it will be best for us to have them supplied, he has the power to supply, even though we cannot see how it can be done. Let us be sure that our side is right, and the Lord will surely attend to his side. The "whatsoever" that he promises is sufficiently comprehensive to cover all of our needs. Let us believe, and commit our all to Him.

Allen Boyer 1890

ESSAYS.

"Study to show thyself approved unto God; a workman that needeth not be ashamed, rightly dividing the Word of Truth."

HEAVEN AND EARTH.

THERE are no Shadows where there is no Sun;
There is no Beauty where there is no Shade;
And all things in two lines of glory run,
Darkness and light, ebon and gold inlaid.
God comes among us through the shrouds of air;
And his dim track is like the silvery wake
Left by yon pinnace on the mountain lake,
Fading and reappearing here and there.

The lamps and veils through heaven and earth that move,
Go in and out, as jealous of their light,
Like sailing stars upon a misty night.
Death is the shade of coming life; and Love
Yearns for her dear ones in the holy tomb,
Because bright things are better seen in gloom.

—Selected.

A RANGE OF THOUGHT.

BY B. F. MOOMAW.

"Beloved, believe not every spirit, but try the spirits whether they be of God, because many false prophets have gone out into the world."

MY mind was led into this line of thought by the sermon preached by Bro. J. G. Royer, at our late Annual Meeting, his theme being that our kingdom is not of this world,—that this world is not our home, and that, by our peculiarities and exclusiveness, we are subjected to derision and to reproach by the outside world. He forcibly illustrated the fact by a comparison of the different nationalities of the world, who are brought up under different influences, and differently educated, religiously and otherwise. They, when brought together, are slow to assimilate, and to become initiated into a common citizenship. They continue to be objects of criticism and reproach,—each toward the other, especially such as the Chinamen in America. Because of his refusal to become Americanized, he is still a stranger and a foreigner, not in fellowship, and deprived of the benefits and emoluments of an American citizen in the elective franchise, etc. This is all true, yet, by virtue of international law, he may become the owner of property, and he may reside here and engage in business enterprises, enjoying all needed protection for life and property.

So with the kingdom of Christ. It is here in this world. In its constitution and laws the line is drawn, marking the duties and privileges of its subjects. The commandments and ordinances must be observed and must be literally understood unless we would purposely seek to misunderstand them. We must deny ourselves of all sinful pleasures and practices of the world though we may engage in the legitimate business affairs of life as well as in social intercourse. We may unite in doing what we can to promote the best interests of our common country and we may enjoy all the needed comforts of life in food and raiment, in social, commercial, and national intercourse, without compromising the principles of Christ's kingdom, till we come to the line where we meet with things forbidden,—intemperance in all its forms, superfluities, conforming to the world, taking an oath, the use of carnal weapons, and the like, and to be subject to the powers that be, so far as their demands do not come in conflict with the higher law. It is true that we are not, in the fullest sense, subjects of the government under which we are living, yet, in one sense, we are subjects, while we are living in this world, by reason of the international laws which bind us together. Paul settles this question in 1 Cor. 5: 9, 10, "I wrote to you in an epistle not to keep company with fornicators." "Yet not altogether with the fornicators of this world, or with the covetous, or extortioners, or with idolators, for then must ye needs go out of the world."

The line, as drawn between the church and the world, ought to be carefully observed and respected, but it is not necessary that we should, in our application, go beyond what is expressed. It is hard enough any way, in these days, with the progress of liberal ideas, to resist the influence brought to bear upon us. Humanity is,—as it ever has been,—social in its nature, and wants to be "like other people by it is surrounded," and it requires nothing less than the spirit of a martyr to bear the reproach of our singularity.

Our attention is called to the fraternal relation existing among the different denominations in their social meetings, in their union prayer-meetings, and their union revival meetings, and so on. They say to the Baptist friends, "If you would only lay aside your immersion and your close communion, and fall into line, how very nice it would be." The Baptist brother, inclined in that direction, replies, "O we cannot quite lay aside our immersion and close communion, hence we cannot quite have church fellowship, but we acknowledge that you are Christians and so we can have Christian fellowship all the same."

But how is it with us? In order to complete this nice arrangement and fall into line, we must lay aside baptism, the ordinance of feet-washing, the Lord's Supper, the salutation of the kiss, the self-denial, non-conformity, the non-swearing, and put on the armor of carnal warfare, commune with and take in the world. Can we do it, or will we still bear the reproach of singularity and exclusiveness? I propose that we do remain steadfast, and maintain the identity of the church, and that we carry the thought still further, and consider it from a stand-point of morality. We quote the following: "And have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reprove them. For it is a shame even to speak of those things which are done of them in secret." Eph. 5: 11.

My conclusions upon this question are that we, in all things, should pursue that course that will have the best influence morally as well as religiously, on society and on the church, and we can do this by different methods, by our example, by reproof, or otherwise. The apostle's injunction in our text is clear and appropriate: "To have no fellowship with characters of low grade; that is to say, Don't make them your associates. Don't take them into your embrace. Don't walk with them arm in arm, nor associate with them more than is necessary. As opportunity may offer, give them suitable reproof, and, if it can not be done verbally, it may be just as well to let them see that you have too much Christian or even moral dignity, to be found much in their society. Show them your depreciation of their character by your association with those of untarnished character. In this way we will give evidence as to the material of which we ourselves are composed, whereas, if we prefer our fellowship with those even of doubtful character, we,—like them,—will become opposed to, and unite with them in trying to injure, those of a higher caste, and settle the question as to the class to which we belong."

Another point is necessary to be carefully guarded that we may not be deceived. There are those whose morality is at fault, and they have not the shrewdness to conceal it and impose on their surroundings, while there are others who can manage to evade detection, and, if finally they are caught, they manage ingeniously, by their wits, to deny the facts and gain the influence of their confiding associates. How shall we be guided in our investigation of the testimony and our decision in such cases?

It is said that we hold all as innocent till they are proved guilty, and that circumstantial evidence ought not to convict any one. My mind has undergone a change on this point, caused by reading the brief of the prosecuting attorney in the case of Cluverious, the murderer of Miss Madison, of Richmond, Virginia, which is that a combination of circumstances is more to be relied on than a verbal declaration, because figures do not lie, while a living witness may perjure himself and is very likely to do so when testifying in his own defense. I take this position even in our deportment in relation to a person of questionable character, in contrast with the one of unquestionable character, for it will have a good influence upon others, especially upon the rising population, to show our appreciation of an untarnished character, and to excite their aspirations for the fellowship of the higher class.

WHERE ART THOU?

BY C. H. BALSBAUGH.

To Sister E. J. McGaughey:—

A VERY common incident may supply a very significant and solemn caption.

Not knowing where you now are, or your address, and not willing to miss your Heaven-sorrowing morsels for the higher life, I venture to reach you through this medium, although not knowing whether you get the GOSPEL MESSENGER.

Where art thou? This is the first question God ever put to man, indicating a radical, fatal breach between Creator and creature. The devil has an earlier question, full of malice and subtlety, and deception, destroying the divine equipoise of human nature, thus preparing for and necessitating the interrogation of God. "Where art thou?" vibrates through the whole Bible, through every dispensation, and age, and generation, and is the great, startling, Heaven-uttered, soul-searching question of to-day for every individual. Being, and character, and position, and relation are inseparable. God made man in his own image, and this determined both character and position.

There was no necessity for skulking, and hiding, and equivocating. With open face he saw the glory of God. The vail of Moses was not yet woven. The serpent's distracting insinuation had not yet placed an interrogation point behind the behests of God. No thought, or motive, or volition has yet cast a questioning shadow over the Divine veracity and benignity. All was very good from man Godward, as well as from God manward. "And Adam was the son of God." Luke 3: 38. Where art thou? would then have elicited the ready response: In thine image, O Father.

Prohibition is as old as Eden. This Tree, good in its place, and time, and purpose, "thou shalt not eat of it." "Touch not, taste not, handle not." It is a "Tree of knowledge," makes wise unto salvation if let alone, and wiser still when eaten on leave in God's appointed time and way. "Ye shall be as God, your eyes shall be opened," was a great and fatal lie, because it was a glorious truth misused. "Thou shalt not" is as wise and gracious as "Thou mayest eat freely." It was then as now, "only believe." Prohibition is the Divine Goodness in educating us into higher forms of life and bliss through discipline and trust and self-control. The look leads to lust, and lust to indulgence, and then springs the gulf between God and man so deep and wide that nothing can bridge it but "God manifest in the flesh," the sinless made sin, that we once more may "be made the righteousness of God in Him." If visible Deity and His audible voice would today send that thrilling, appalling, soul-shuddering interrogation into the core of our being, "Where art thou?" in its real, awful, deep-and-far-reaching meaning, what would become of both world and church? Nearly six thousand years of this world's history have shown what grows out of one, apparently trivial, infraction of the integrity of our being, and disregard of the smallest iota of the Word of Eternal Truth.

That one act of disobedience switched the whole course of Providence, and dislocated all nations, and peoples, and persons. Is there a soul on earth to-day that can give an exact, self-intelligent answer to God's first question to man as a sinner, "Where art thou?" True, there are a few, and only a few, who have learned to know a little, very little, of what lies hidden under those three solemn monosyllables. We could not bear to realize their full signification. When the Spirit opens them to us but a little, immediately we are also let a little way into the meaning of those Heaven-and-Hell-and-Earth-astonishing words, "Eloi, Eloi, lama, sabachthani?" which rang in quivering agony from the lips of the Godman on the Cross when He personally and vicariously answered his own first question to man in Eden. Where art thou? Lost, lost, lost to God and myself, and all the peace, and glory, and rapture that spring from participation in the Divine nature and fellowship. Our position must somehow be retrieved, our relation and identification restored, or we carry hell forever in the very centre of our being. How few can testify that "THE PEACE OF GOD WHICH PASSETH ALL UNDERSTANDING, keeps their hearts and minds through Jesus Christ." Philpp. 4: 7. "Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you; not as the world, give I unto you: LET NOT YOUR HEART BE TROUBLED, NEITHER LET IT BE AFRAID." John 14: 27. Perfect faith brings perfect peace. "The love of God is shed abroad in the heart by the Holy Ghost." "There is no fear in Love: but Perfect Love casteth out fear: because fear hath torment: he that feareth is not made perfect in love." 1 John 4: 18. Christ is the essential Fountain of all holiness, and the vicarious cesspool of all iniquity. Perfect Love and Holiness finds in itself a perfect satisfaction for all impurity, and unrighteousness, and lovelessness, so that it is now a "faithful saying, and worthy of all acceptation," that "all the fulness of God" is offered as an eternal inheritance to the chief of sinners. We know little of God's provision of present salvation, because, in general, we are more concerned about verbalism, and ritualism, and tradition, and Divine symbolism, than about personal acquaintance and fellowship with God Himself.

Typical representations of Christ and salvation, although established by God Himself, are neither Christ nor salvation. The best service we can render, the most punctilious obedience, of which the most conscientious and devoted soul is capable, is not the link that fastens us to God, and secures our safety. "Christ died for our sins, according to the Scriptures: he was buried, and rose again the third day according to the Scriptures." 1 Cor. 15: 3, 4. "IF CHRIST BE NOT RAISED, your faith is in vain: YE ARE YET IN YOUR SINS," verse 17. Jesus coming up victoriously out of the penalty of our ill-desert—this is the rivet of his redemptive work. This position becomes ours by faith antecedent to any form of symbolism. We start with Christ's finished work. There is no possibility of life, or peace, or power in any other way. Christ could not offer Himself as "the Author of Eternal Life," until he had "abolished death." "Where art thou?" means for faith, "Christ in me, the hope of glory." This faith can not be exercised before repentance. It is a psychological impossibility. The real nature and vastness of our necessities, and the provision of the Cross to meet them, are known only in that opening and sounding of ourselves, which takes place in repentance. And it is only then that it is intrinsically possible to believe unto salvation. The most critical and absolute belief, prior to repentance, possible to man, is no salvation at all. It is a necessary antecedent condition, but can not "lay hold on eternal life" until it rises to the higher plane of commitment and reception. The faith that credits evidence is far away from the faith that appropriates the life which authorizes and verifies the evidence.

This is life eternal that they might KNOW THEE, the ONLY TRUE GOD and JESUS CHRIST. John 17: 3. Self-deception here is self-destruction. O for a fresh, Holy-Ghost-given emphasis to the fundamental truth that "Christ is our life," and that "as many as receive HIM, to them He gives power to become the sons of God, even to them that BELIEVE ON HIS NAME." Col. 3: 4; John 1: 12. Our judicial standing is complete before God the moment we so believe on Christ. This life so received, is developed, or rather we are developed by it, until Eph. 4: 13, is individually and corporately realized.

"Where art thou?" Crucified to the world, and the world unto us? Dead with Christ, risen with Christ, seeking those things which are above, where Christ sitteth on the right hand of God? Blessed with all spiritual blessings in Heavenly Places in Christ? Is 1 Peter 1: 8, 9, the sweet charm we daily and hourly carry in our heart of hearts? Are not all things possible to God? And all things possible to faith? Why, then, are we not more than conquerors through Him that loved us? Here is the salvation. He offers Himself to our faith as a Crucified and Risen Jesus, and our faith is crippled by want of likeness to "the fellowship of His sufferings, and the power of His resurrection." Philpp. 3: 10. To "KNOW HIM," we must "suffer the loss of all things, and count them but dung." O "the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus our Lord." "I know and these know,"—wonderful words. John 17: 25. Is this our inner and outer biography? "Where art thou?"

EXPERIMENTAL RELIGION.

BY A. NELSON GRAYBILL.

EVERY one must feel, and experience, and know for himself that he has passed from the death of sin unto spiritual life,—from darkness unto light,—and from the power of Satan unto God. He must not only have a form of godliness, but also the power.

As Christians, we are to be dead unto sin, and alive unto God. We must not only profess, but also possess the pure and undefiled religion. When we are sick, we know it because we feel it, and so the spirit of God will bear witness with our spirits that we are the children of God. Rom. 8: 16.

When we are born again, we become new creatures in Christ Jesus. We know it and feel it when the love of God is shed abroad in our hearts. We are not to quench the Spirit, 1 Thess. 5: 19, and not to grieve the Holy Spirit, Eph. 4: 30. Some have hardened their hearts, and are past feeling. Eph. 4.

When the people were cured of their diseases, they knew it, and so confessed. Please read John 5: 8–15, 9: 25; 1 Peter 3: 15, 16; 1 John 3: 24; Luke 17: 14–16, 12: 8; Job. 19: 25–27; Psa. 66: 16; 2 Kings 5: 14, 15.

In a spiritual sence we feel and know when our sins are forgiven and we have passed from death unto life, because we love the Brethren,—the children of God, love to keep and do God's commandments, which are not grievous.

It is the Christian's meat and drink to read and learn, and do his Heavenly Father's will. We must not only be readers or hearers, but also doers of the Word. Our deeds are read and known by all, and should be of a godly character. God expects us to hate the evil, and love the good. We must be a separate and peculiar people from the world,—not ashamed to confess Christ in public, and let our light shine before the world as true soldiers for Jesus.

AN IMAGINARY VISIT TO MT. SINAI WHILE THE CHILDREN OF ISRAEL WERE THERE.

BY J. F. BOOMER.

SHOULD we have been permitted to visit Mt. Sinai during the stay of the children of Israel at that place, I suppose, as the people approached, we would have seen the birds of the air and beasts of the field, which had made their-hiding-place so long undisturbed among those mountains and valleys, fleeing into the wilderness before these unusual intruders, and the echoes, silent so long save when the roar of the lion or the fierce cry of the condor and other birds of prey sounded among the mountains, were now awakened by the lowing of herds and the bleating of flocks, and the ceaseless din of the encamping millions of the hosts of Israel.

As the great procession advances, the foremost begin to pitch their tents on the plain before Sinai, and the encamping continues, until we behold, stretched out upon the plain as far as eye can see, the shining tents of two and a half millions of people.

Their herds and flocks, which they had brought with them out of Egypt, sought pasture in the valleys near by. This wandering of the Israelites is a very strange and remarkable occurrence, and one that is without parallel in the world's history. A whole nation in bondage for over four hundred years suddenly obtains its freedom without a single battle! What a beautiful type of spiritual things is this wonderful deliverance! What an encouragement to those who are under the bondage of sin! Only trust in the Lord and he will fight your battles for you!

We turn from beholding these things, to look upon a scene far more wonderful, more sublime and grand, as, amidst the thunderings and the lightnings, the presence of the Lord descends and rests upon the mountain. This scene struck terror to the hearts of the people, for we read that "all Israel trembled in their tents." Then, at the loud sounding of the trumpet, we imagine that we hear the voice of God calling Moses to come up unto him in the mount.

We then see the venerable prophet of God, already past fourscore years of age, leaving the camp, at the head of a small company, consisting of Joshua, Nadab, Aaron, Abihu and seventy of the elders of Israel. The solemn procession slowly advances to the base of the mountain, enters the cloud and begins to ascend. They proceed a short distance up the mountain. We see them stop and hear Moses giving the solemn charge to the elders, and we think we can almost see the lines of care and earnestness upon his face, as he says to the elders, "Behold Aaron and Hur are with you; if any man have any matters to do, let him come unto them." The elders return to the camp, but Moses and his minister, Joshua, continue their journey a little farther up the mountain; then they stop once more. This time Joshua tarries while Moses proceeds on his way up to the very presence of the Almighty, to receive upon the tables of stone, written by the finger of God, the law and commandments for the governing of Israel. Moses now stayed in the mountain for the space of forty days.

Let us turn again to the camp. The people no longer look upon the cloud as being divine, and they no longer look for the return of Moses. It was then as it is to-day,—many people in this day and age of the world no longer look upon the Word of God as being of divine origin, and they no longer look for the return of Christ.

We next see the people gather around the trembling Aaron, and hear them say, "Up, make us gods to go before us, as for this Moses we know not what has become of him." That spirit of idolatry which came upon them in Egypt, returned to them again.

Aaron, fearing to do else than to comply with their wishes, ordered them to break off their earrings and jewelry, and bring them to him. He set to work to make a golden calf, like one familiar with his business. The making of idols is supposed to have been his trade while in Egypt.

Here we see the evil that may arise from superfluities, such as jewelry, etc. Though no one in civilized countries will make of them images, as did the Israelites, yet they are the object of a very debasing form of idolatry, even among the rich, the cultivated and refined of the earth. Let us ever remember, "That which is highly esteemed among men is an abomination unto the Lord."

The calf is now finished and set up before the people, and to it Aaron erects an altar, offers sacrifice, and proclaims a feast. "And the people sat down to eat and rose up to play." Thus we see the children of Israel worshiping the work of their own hands, while the cloud of God's presence rests before them upon the mountain.

How many of us, who have, at times, received as great demonstrations of God's presence as they, though not in the same way, yet in ways unmistakable, have forgotten that he hears every word, knows every thought, and sees every action? How many have erected to ourselves calves, —though not all be golden,—and are now sacrificing to them our time, our talents and all that we have in this life? Perhaps some are risking the life to come, and neglecting the God that brought us out of the dark Egypt of sin,—the God who has promised to lead us through the wilderness of this life and the Jordan of death, and land us safely on the shores of that heavenly Canaan?

The thundering and the lightning now grow more and more terrific, and the cloud upon the mount assumes all the look of a horrible tempest, —a token of God's displeasure with that rebellious and disobedient people. We hear the voice of God saying unto Moses, "Let me alone that I may consume them in mine anger, and I will make of thee a great nation." But Moses, as a type of Christ,—our Great High-priest, who is now at the right hand of God, interceding for us,—plead with God in behalf of Israel, until the Lord finally repented of his wrath, and Moses went down unto the people.

When he arrived at the camp, he found them engaged in a reveling dance in honor of the idol they had just set up. Godly sorrow was written upon his face, as he threw down the tables of stone and broke them in his righteous indignation. He took the calf and burned it, and scattered the ashes of it upon the waters, and compelled the people to drink of it, signifying that they should drink of the bitter fruits of their own wickedness. It was a type of spiritual things, for Paul says, "Whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap." We see him come to Aaron, who falls on his face before him and tries to screen himself by laying the blame on the people, and says that all is the work of chance, for he said, "I cast the gold into the fire and it came out a calf." Often, when we sin, we try to screen ourselves, and lay the blame on some one else. To sin is bad enough, but to try to escape conviction, is worse.

Next we see Moses standing in the gate of the tabernacle, and we hear him call, "Who is on the Lord's side, let him come unto me." We see the faithful of Israel, for they had not all sinned, move unto him. He commands them to take every man his sword, and smite every man that had sinned with the edge of the sword. We turn away from beholding the horrible visitation of God's wrath upon that disobedient and sinful nation, for we read that "there fell of the people in that day three thousand souls."

Moses, the leader of this literal Israel, had gone up into the mountain to receive from God a code of laws and morals, by obeying which the people might enjoy the land, which the Lord their God would give unto them. We know how he found them on his return, and the judgment that followed their sin. Christ, the leader of our spiritual Israel, has gone to prepare a place for us, and just as sure as Moses came down from the mountain, he will come again with power and great glory. How is it with us? Shall we, like Daniel, remain true to the God of Israel?

JESUS LOVES ME.

BY GERTRUDE A. FLORY.

"Wonderful things in the Bible I see,
This is the dearest that Jesus loves me."

"POOR, wretched, miserable, despised worm, who told you Jesus loves you?" He died for me, and he has said, "Greater love hath no man, than to lay down his life for his friends." Jesus had greater love, for he died for me,—his enemy. But he was more than man. He was God in the flesh; hence his love was just as much deeper than man's, as God is higher than man. Being so great, so high, so wonderful, it reaches to me, lowly worm of the dust, his open and avowed enemy!

When I knew good and evil, I chose my portion in Satan's kingdom, because it looked fair, and the work he set before me appeared easy, as it seemed to be interspersed with many pleasures. I labored here for years. But all this time Jesus was suspended on the cross above me, dying in all the agonies that God or man could suffer. One day, when weary of my contract made with Satan, I was looking out for something better than he had given, for he had not fulfilled his promises, but had given hard labor, disappointment, pain, affliction, trials and sorrows without number; therefore I resolved to leave him, as a vile deceiver, and seek for better employment. Weary and sick, almost unto death, I raised my eyes to heaven and there, above me, saw Jesus in all his dreadful anguish, blood oozing from his lacerated palms and feet, blood trickling down his blanched cheek, blood flowing from his left side, for ME, and in the tenderest tones he bade me, 'COME UNTO ME AND LIVE."

Longing for life, I ran and fell upon my knees at the foot of the cross, and as his precious blood dropped, drop after drop, upon my weary, sin-defiled being, I was cleansed and made whole. Then he descended from the cross and took me by the hand, lifted me from my knees, and said, "Behold the glories of my kingdom! All this is mine, and I will give it to thee, if thou wilt serve ME. My yoke is easy, and my burden is light."

I looked, and, lo, a world of indescribable beauty lay before me. Its inhabitants were clothed in white, and their portion was peace, joy, bliss, love, and everlasting light and life. Enraptured with the glory, I cried, "Lead me, dear Master, whithersoever thou wilt." And now I am a follower of him, and find his promises very precious.

This is why I know he loves me, because he did so much for me, and is doing so much every day, and still promises to do more, if I only do the light service he has given me to do.

Ah, yes, I know by innumerable favors and blessings, I daily receive from his bountiful hand, that he loves me, though I am so ungrateful at times! All that I have, I received from him; and all that I am, he made me; and all that I expect to be, must be the work of his almighty power. For this wonderful love and mercy I have made a contract with him for my life-service, and, in return, I shall give you eternal life in celestial courts of bliss, where there is joy unspeakable and full of glory, and love ineffable, besides my daily recompense for my labor.

My Lord's vineyard is large, with plenty of room for all who desire to work therein, and daily he is seeking and calling for helpers to gather the fruit and grain. Who will join me in his service? The fruit is ripe, and the harvest fields are white, ready to garner, but the laborers are few. You shall receive the same wages, as he is giving me, though you come at the eleventh hour. I came in the early part of the day, and I receive the same reward as those who began at dawn. Who will serve Jesus and learn how sweet it is to know that Jesus loves all. Then, in eternity, our theme shall be, "I AM SO GLAD THAT JESUS LOVED ME!"

A MODERN DELUSION.

BY C. E. ARNOLD.

WE proud Americans boast a national prosperity that totally eclipses "the glory that was Greece, and the grandeur that was Rome." With our wheel of progress on the very heels of time, with ten thousand church steeples piercing the arched dome of heaven, with our fair land dotted all over with institutions of learning and charity, with the inspired Word of the one true God in every home, it is a glorious land! If we could only banish the devil from our midst, Eden would be restored, and a millennium inaugurated. But it is a sad fact that Belial reigns, who, with a host of confederates, whose name is legion, is practicing his delusive arts with the accumulated skill of nearly sixty centuries.

We get down to the very bottoms of our hearts in sympathy for poor deluded heathendom, who bow down to wooden gods. With streaming eyes we contemplate the heathen mother placing her babe within the fiery arms of Moloch. How we blush to know the fair pages of our national history are disgraced with such modern delusions as Salem witchcraft! But if there is anything beneath the shining sun to excite men's sympathies, it is the ruinous effects of a single pernicious and filthy weed upon the body, intellect, and soul of this nation! Tobacco, in its several forms, has become one of the most potent instruments in the hands of Satan, in promoting the cause of vice and misery in this land.

In presenting this theme, we wish to say that we have not the slightest unkind feeling toward any one who indulges in the use of the weed. With all due respect for the victim, would that we had the zeal of a Demosthenes, and the eloquence of a Cicero, with which to denounce the vile and ruinous habit! Why will so-called enlightened Christian men, instead of cultivating cereals and fruits, with which to bless mankind, grow with the most devoted and tender care the filthiest and lowest weed that ever cursed the race of Adam? Why will a man become so estranged as to find no pleasure in the happy family which blesses his home, in his lowing herds which graze on a thousand hills, and in the growing crops along his fertile valleys? Why will he turn away from his well-stocked library and even scorn the very service of the God who made and blessed him, and seek comfort alone in his "meerschaum" pipe?

O victims of this so-called fashionable poison, oh, generation of suicides, we would tremble for you, but you tremble for yourselves. Indeed, trembling is one of the most apparent physical effects of this habit. Tobacco injures the voice, blunts the taste, impairs the smell, injures the sight. Germany, a smoking nation, is proverbially a spectacled nation. Tobacco impairs the appetite, destroys digestion, produces thirst, leads to intemperance, and is the handmaid of dissipation and vice. Some of the ills which result from its use are apoplexy, hypochondria, consumption, cancer, dyspepsia, night-mare, irritability of temper, epileptic fits, and insanity.

The number of cigars, the average smoker uses in a life-time, would, if placed end to end, extend five miles. Just imagine a man tugging at a roll of tobacco five miles long, which contains enough nicotine, if properly applied, to kill as many men as could be placed in a line so long! Or imagine, if you please, a man nibbling at a twist of pigtail tobacco, five miles long, until he has diluted deadly poison enough to kill ten thousand dogs!

As to the moral and religious view of this habit it is neither lawful nor expedient. Dr. Talmage says, "The road to hell is paved with tobacco leaves and spittoons," and we may add that all saloons, gambling dens, and in fact all the hell-holes and gangways of vice are darkened with the smoke of the weed, and saturated with its pernicious smell. We venture the assertion that there is not a man in all this broad land of ours, who would dare say that he can serve God better with this filthy habit than without it. Then, my friend, you had better put your money to some charitable use, whereby God may receive glory, instead of spending it for a habit which shatters your nerves, stultifies your intellect, stupefies your whole physical being, and evaporates the very essence of your brain.

O, deluded race of men, we have borrowed a vice from a savage nation, and have multiplied it a thousand fold! God pity ten thousand youths who think themselves to be gentlemen to smoke cigarettes and spit amber! God pity a whole army of wretches who enter the lunatic asylums every year! God pity ten thousand laborers who spend more for tobacco than for bread! God pity a whole nation whose rising generation is dwarfed, whose brightest intellect is smoked as black as the soot on the walls of perdition, whose future prospects are beclouded with the smoke of human ruin!

One of the most deleterious effects of this odious habit is the impairment of the will. It leads men to think that they are unable to release themselves from its iron grasp. But men can quit, have quit, and we hope will continue to quit the use of this poisonous drug! The most desperate victims have been rescued from the clutches of the tobacco demon. As we look around us, we behold the bright countenances of a few noble moral heroes, who have torn asunder the Herculean shackles of the tobacco habit, and who stand to-day with their foot on the neck of the tobacco demon, brandishing defiantly their glittering two-edged sword,—the indomitable I WILL.

When we observe the effects of cigarette smoking, as well as of other forms of the ruinous habit upon the young, the flower and pride of the nation, the promise of the future, we are made to tremble for the awful calamity about to befall this nation. This is not a matter of minor importance. The glory of nations, the destiny of souls, hangs upon it. O may the steady rays of the sun of divine Truth; may the vivid lightnings of scientific knowledge, may the roaring thunders of God's foreboding wrath, may the gaping earthquake of our own impending national ruin, arouse us from this delusive condition!

Bridgewater College, Va.

YOUR NEED OF SALVATION.

BY A. BRICKER.

If you are not a Christian, permit me, without presumption and with sincere solicitude for your welfare, to ask you to seriously consider,—not whether this is a sinful world, but whether you are a sinful man,—not whether there are unworthy professors in the church, but whether you have sinned and come short of the glory of God. Whatever others have done or failed to do, can you claim to be innocent? Do you not condemn yourself as being guilty and impure before God? If your heart condemns you, God is greater than your heart, and knoweth all things.

Will, then, the fact that others, either in or out of the church, have faults, help you? Were you in prison and offered pardon on reasonable conditions, would you refuse it, because other convicts were there, or because some, who had been pardoned, were not living as good citizens should?

Why not act as reasonably in regard to spiritual things, as in worldly things? Let conscience speak. If you had an exact copy of your life transcribed from the book of God's remembrance, would you be willing that others should read it, would you not yourself tremble to read its records? There is your first sinful act, and there is your last, and the many between, — all unrepented of and unforgiven. Then here is death, any day, and after that the judgment.

But you may say, "What if I have sinned?" Well, the Word of God says, "The wages of sin is death." "If you die in your sins, where Christ is you can not come." Admitting that you are by no means a notorious sinner, that you are known as a moral man, still you can not feel that you have never sinned against God. Even one sin against God, unrepented of, becomes exceeding sinful. Your sins, whether one or one thousand, must be forgiven through Christ. Full salvation is only through Christ. He loved you, and gave himself for you. Think seriously and prayerfully about your sins and the wages of sin, and remember that all heaven loves you, and greatly desires your salvation. Jesus proved his love, and the love of God for you, upon the cross, in dying for your sins. Cast yourself upon him for mercy, and trust him for salvation without delay, and he will not let you die in your sins! Give him your poor, weak, sinful heart, and he will never leave you nor forsake you!

"SEARCH THE SCRIPTURES."—John 5: 39.

BY A. FLORY.

This is a subject of great and vital importance! It is a positive command given by Christ. The Jews were very careless about this matter. At one time they had lost the book of the law, and, while the book was lost, they did many wicked things in the sight of the Lord. When Hilkiah found the book, and Shaphan read it before the king, it came to pass, when the king heard the words of the book of law that he rent his clothes. 2 Kings 22: 11. He discovered that they had not done everything according to the reading of the words of the book, and for this cause the wrath of the Lord was kindled against them.

When you went to hear preacher A., he told you that baptism is for the remission of sins, Acts 2: 38, that we are baptized into Christ, Rom. 6: 3, and that faith and repentance are preparatory to baptism. Preacher B. says, "Not so; you must get into Christ by faith and repentance." C. says, "Faith alone is all that is necessary."

Which of these men told you the facts about this matter? Christ tells you to search the Scriptures and how are you going to do this without the Book? Look for it; possibly you have laid it away in your drawer and have forgotten where you have placed it. If you can not find it there, perhaps it is on the shelf, covered with dust. At any rate, be sure to get one and read it. The wrath of the Lord may be kindled, for he wants you to know all the words of the Book. If those Jews had not found the book and read it, possibly they would all have been destroyed.

Perhaps you are not aware of the danger. If a friend of yours would step to your door and attract your attention by telling you that your house is in a blaze, and another, just as honorable as he, would immediately step forward and say, "Remain quiet, my friend, there is no danger; the fire is gone out," you would flee from the building with all possible speed, to see which of those men told you the truth. Christ says, Take heed that no man deceive you. He gave this warning because he knew the danger. Is it not strange how careless persons are in regard to their eternal interests, who, when their natural lives or their properties are in danger, become very much excited? Christ says, "For what shall it profit a man if he shall gain the whole world and lose his own soul?" Mark 8: 36. Never say, "I have not time to read the Book." The Bible is of more value than the whole world. No doubt there are thousands of persons in the world to-day who would tremble if they should hear all the words of the Book read. It is important that we read the blessed Book. If you cannot read it yourself, get some one to read it for you. If you do not obey all the commands written in the Book, the wrath of the Lord will be kindled.

"WHY TARRIEST THOU?"

BY FLORA E. TEAGUE.

There are a number of individuals in every vicinity, in which the church of the Brethren is located, that seem to be almost ready to enroll themselves as members of the body, and yet, for some unknown reasons, they continue to stand aloof in jeopardy, day after day, month after month, yea, year after year! Why is it so? The feast is ready and you have been invited earnestly and cordially many a time by the minister and his Head of authority, the loving Savior, who has plead time time after time with you to come, yet you continue to crucify him afresh by resisting his earnest pleadings, all for your own good! Oh, how can you do it?

Then, too, there are loving parents and friends whose hearts have ached and throbbed with pain many an hour in your behalf.

When the ministers of God plead in public for souls to come to him, many have obeyed the call who seemed to be far away from him, while you were seemingly near, and yet they have overtaken you in the race for the crown. Shall it be so in the end? Oh, why will you delay any longer? You are not safe one hour; no, not one minute.

Then, too, many of you are parents of the little ones whom the Savior has placed in your care to train for Him. How can you do this unless you are his own followers, unless you yourself are a learner from Him?

Oh, can you not see the responsibility resting upon you in regard to them, and be made to feel that for their sake you will come to Him?

May God be lenient to you, and spare you, I pray, until you will come to him, but do not run the risk of delay!

LIVES OF THE CÆSARS.

BY W. H. ROOSE.

Number Nine.—Cæsar.

CÆSAR had not conquered the whole world yet. He pushed his conquest into Syria and adjoining countries. He gained his victories so easily that he wrote to a friend, describing them, in these terms, "I came! I saw! I conquered!"

Cæsar loved to give himself all the praise possible. This is a singular characteristic of the literature of Cæsar's times. Were we to accept the spirit of Cæsar's, Cicero's, or Cato's writings, we would come to the conclusion there was no one of any importance living, but them. At one time, when Cato and some friends were talking of the faults of another, Cato, with an air of self-esteem said, "There is but one Cato." The general tenor of the writings and language of the latter centuries of the Mosaic dispensation would be considered a breach of good manners now. Cato, however, was a wise and virtuous man, and a faithful friend to Pompey. Cæsar strove hard to imprison him. It is not known whether Cæsar intended to cruelly treat him or not, as Cato killed himself when he found he could not escape Cæsar.

The Romans would not live in bonds to their foes, or survive great misfortunes. But in the Word of God we are taught grander lessons than that of the Romans. No murderer shall inherit the kingdom of heaven, and all our ways are directed by a wise Hand that guides for our good. We are taught to bear all our misfortunes and afflictions, which are but for a moment, with patience, as they work for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory. We should be truly thankful that God grants unto us longer lives, that we can better prepare ourselves to enjoy his presence forever!

These things were unknown to Cato, who had resolved to end his eventful life. He had considered carefully the different methods of suicide. He made a feast and spoke so cheerfully and hopefully that none present, but his son, suspected such a thing as death to occupy his mind. After supper he retired to his room to do the rash act, but found his sword had been removed. He called for it, and his son plead that he spare his life for his sake, but Cato requested that they leave him alone. It does not seem possible that any one can realize the true value of life, and his responsibilities to God and man, while deciding upon the most awful event of his life.

Though Cato had read Plato's thoughts about the future world, he greatly misunderstood his situation. No one knew what would become of the soul, neither did they know where they could find it out. They thought it could not die, and all sorts of guesses were made. So we see that all the wisdom of the human family can not find out God except we are taught and guided by his Divine Truth. There are plenty of thoughts connected with the tragic death of Cato, which we can contemplate. Addison studied it, and gave us, what he imagined Cato said, in one of the finest compositions of our language, beginning with, "It must be so."

Cato's death was mourned by many, as he always acted according to what he considered right. When Cæsar was informed of his death he said, "Cato! I envy your death? Why did not you allow me the glory of giving you your life?"

Pompey's sons waged battle against Cæsar to avenge their father's death, but they were defeated with the loss of the eldest brother and thirty thousand men. Cæsar said to a friend that he had always fought for victory before, but that day he fought for his life. This was the last of Cæsar's battles, and he aimed to show his victories by public procession. But the people of Rome did not appreciate it as on former occasions, because it was celebrating the death of Pompey, who had been Cæsar's truest friend. Cæsar was a traitor, and it is said that wolves, bears and rats even will punish traitors. Their associations are not sought by any class of beings.

Cæsar was raised to greater honors than ever. He was appointed to hold absolute power in Rome as long as he lived. The month of July was named in honor of him, his statue was placed in every province and city, and his image was stamped upon all the Roman coins. Some one proposed that he be protected by a standing guard, but he said he would rather trust his life to the love of the Roman people, than be protected by soldiers. He would rather die at once than to live always in fear of death. Cæsar feasted above twenty thousand in one day. He often had plays at theatres for them, and made gladiators fight for the people's amusement.

With all the honors and distinctions that could be, and were, conferred upon Cæsar, he was not satisfied. He wanted to take one step more before he had reached his pinnacle of fame. He wanted to be king of the Roman people. He already possessed as much power as he would, were he king, but he wanted an empty name, and it was this desire that cost him his life. The Roman people did not like the name king; they wished to call their ruler a dictator. They considered themselves slaves when under a king. Cæsar lacked the proper elements to make him a good king. In order to rule in any capacity, it is essential that the would-be ruler carefully weigh the wishes of the majority and become submissive to their wishes. Thus the Romans felt displeased when Cæsar's friends placed a crown upon his statues, in order to see what the citizens would do. The latter angrily tore them off and threw them away. Anthony also offered Cæsar a crown, and called him king, and though he did it as though he were jesting, it surely displeased the Romans. It also displeased Cæsar to think, "I am not called king, but Cæsar!" and laying open his breast, desired that any one who chose could kill him.

Many of Cæsar's friends were imprisoned because they wished to elect him king. While the criminals were taken away, those standing around cried, "You are like Brutus." Junius Brutus lived many years before, and killed Tarquin because he called himself king of Rome. Junius had a descendant, by the name of Brutus, who lived in the days of Cæsar, and was the noblest and most virtuous then living. He always tried to act out his convictions of right, but, like many of us to-day, his judgment or ideas of right and wrong were at fault. He did not imagine himself in other people's situation, which must always be done in order to follow out the "Golden Rule" in the letter and the spirit, and the principle which Paul laid down when he said, "God forbid that we do evil that good may come."

Brutus loved Cæsar, but he loved his country better. Though Cæsar had been kind to him, he disliked the thought of ever having his countrymen enslaved to one man. Cæsar knew the Romans esteemed Brutus highly. At one time when Brutus and Cassius were candidates for the consulship of Rome, Cæsar said, "Cassius has the best right, but I can refuse Brutus nothing." Cassius wished to have Cæsar murdered because he did not want Cæsar to rule, and, accordingly, led in a conspiracy to murder him. The conspirators wanted Brutus to lead in the work, as the Romans thought, whatever he did was all right. Brutus received many anonymous letters, asking him to free the Roman people from the tyrant, as his ancestor did the country from Tarquin.

THE LOVE OF GOD.

BY FLORIDA J. E. ETTER.

IF we love God we will keep his commandments. We see many who claim to be honest Christians, who say they love God and desire to love and serve him, and yet are disobedient to God's laws. This would be cheating the Lord out of his rights. We should deal justly with our neighbors. Why? Because we love them, and would not harm them for anything. Well, if we have the love for our Blessed Master as we should, we will not deceive him either. We may deceive men without being found out, but we can not deceive God.

We sometimes are particular on some points and not on others. Now God has laid down his law for us to obey, and he wants us to obey one command as much as another. We hear that some argue that some points are more important than others. If we only obey a part and not ALL, as it is given us, we are no better off than if we left all undone. If we wash feet and leave the other commands undone, we offend all. If we wear plain clothes, and have not a pure heart, what better are we? We can not have the love of God in our hearts as we should, if we engage in the foolish things of the world. We can not have the love of God shed abroad in our hearts, as we are commanded, if we do thus, for out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh. Let it be filled more with the love of God, than the contaminating things of this awful world of which we have to give an account. The things of this world only tend to lead us to eternal destruction.

God wants us to love one another and not speak evil of our neighbor, and to refrain from worldly amusements and idle talk as much as he wants us to wash feet, or dress plain, or do any other command. "For whosoever shall keep the whole law, and yet offend in one point, HE is guilty of all."

Let us bear in mind if we do not obey the whole law from the HEART, we are as bad as if we did not try to obey any, and we do not love God as we should. May we strive to be like him as near as possible; then we are sure to love him, and he will give us grace sufficient for every trial. If others sneer at us because we are of God, we should be happy and try to serve him better. Then, by and by, our trials here will be turned into joy. All will be joy, peace and love FOREVERMORE!

Cartersville, Va.

HIGHER CHRISTIAN LIFE.—No. 1.

BY S. Z. SHARP.

THERE was a time when the name Christian was abhorred by the world, John 17: 14. At Antioch it was first applied to the followers of Jesus as a term of reproach and remained such until A. D. 310, when this people had become numerous and in a measure respectable. When Satan saw that he could not succeed in destroying the Christians nor stop the spread of their religion, he reversed his tactics, and, instead of persecuting them, which seemed to spread and increase them the more, he now changed his method of work from persecution to that of popularizing the religion of Christ. Emperor Constantine was his chosen instrument for this purpose. This potentate inscribed the cross on his banner and had it engraved on the shields of his soldiers as the emblem of victory. His victorious legions were translated into the visible Christian church without being converted or possessing the qualifications of true Christians. There was no conversion of mind or heart, but a change of name, and the nature was still heathen in fact, though observing Christian ceremonies.

This was the beginning of that long series of centuries called the Dark Ages, because the light of the Word and of the Holy Ghost dwelt not in the souls of men. "Where the spirit of Christ is there is liberty," and when this Spirit no longer dwelt in the church as a body, then liberty of conscience ceased and persecutions arose, and the few true followers of Christ were pursued with the severest tortures that human ingenuity could invent. The name and form of the Christian religion with its outward ceremonies was retained while its spirit had fled.

Since the beginning of the Christian era this has ever been the case. Judas was as much a disciple in name as was John. He observed feet-washing and the holy kiss as well as the other disciples, though he was a devil. John 6: 70. True Christianity can not be known by the outward form only. "They that have not the spirit of Christ are none of his." Rom. 8: 9. The first essential to true Christian life and growth is genuine conversion. Entrance into the church without this makes us no better than the soldiers of Constantine. The observance of the outward ceremonies only is no test of true Christianity. The outward form of religion without the spirit of Christ often makes men persecutors of those who have the true spirit. Those who profess to be Christians and do not show the spirit of Christ by their fruits, have no evidence that they are heirs of salvation.

AN EXPLANATION.

BY JOHN L. KLINE.

VERY frequently we hear some of our Brethren complain about our church paper being too expensive, and that, on that account, they can not take it. By the way, it is not generally the poor brother or sister that hands in such complaints, but generally such as would be able to get it for themselves and for some poor brother besides.

Supposing, brethren, you were to pay three cents per pound more for the tobacco you smoke, and five cents more for the plug you chew, I ask in sincerity, how many of you would be willing to quit? I think that hardly two out of a dozen would quit chewing or smoking, but, at the same time, you would tell the tobacco dealers that it is too high.

Why not take the MESSENGER on the same principle? I assure you it will do you good, where the tobacco only does harm. Get it and read it, hand it to your neighbors and let them read it. They may come to the light, may be convinced, and finally join the church; as a result you and they will feel happy in time and eternity.

Now, then, a brother comes up and compares the reading matter of the MESSEFGER with some secular paper, as being so much less. That may be true enough; but, my brother, let us not look so much at the quantity, but at the VALUE of the words. It is not the preacher with the many words that does the most good, but the one who brings forth a few, well-directed words, to the point. Just so with your worldly papers. You may find out the happenings of the world, etc., but your soul gets nothing. How different when you take the MESSENGER, and read it in the spirit! It will be bread and water to the soul from beginning to end.

Again, another brother comes up, and compares the MESSENGER with the church papers of some popular denomination. Brethren, I do not want you to do that! Their paper is just like their preachers,—it just suits the people; therefore many subscribe for it that would not for the MESSENGER, even if it were the same price.

It seems to be more difficult to convince the people of our doctrine than any other. Why? Because of its not being so popular. Just so with the MESSENGER. A great many people do not read it, just because it does not suit their taste.

Would to God that ere long every family in the Brotherhood would have the MESSENGER! This could easily be done by the well-to-do members, if they would make the proper effort!

CORRESPONDENCE

"Write what thou seest, and send it unto the churches."

☞Church News solicited for this Department. If you have had a good meeting, send a report of it, so that others may rejoice with you. In writing give name of church, county and State. Be brief! Notes of Travel should be as short as possible. Land Advertisements are not solicited for this Department. We have an advertising page, and, if necessary, will issue supplements.

From Antietam Church, Pa.

THE Communion meeting of the Antietam church was held at Price's meeting-house, May 25 and 26. The Elder of the church, Bro. J. F. Oller, and all his co-laborers in the ministry were present.

Eld. David E. Price, of Mt. Morris, Ill., was one of the welcome visitors. He did a great deal of the preaching, and officiated at the Communion. He was on his way to the General Conference, and stopped off to see old friends and acquaintances. Here he was reared, and at one time know, and was known by, nearly everybody. His ancestors were the founders of Antietam church. To-day their ashes rest in sweet repose near the spot where the late meeting was held.

More than one hundred and thirty-five years ago they laid the foundation of a church, the territory of which has now twenty or more church-houses within the limits of the boundary that was once known as the Conocheague, or Antietam congregation.

As was stated in a former communication, the old Antietam Church is now divided into seven congregations. Each organization has three or more church-houses, aggregating, probably, more than two thousand communicants in the several congregations at the present time.

At our late Communion meeting the following ministering brethren were present: Bro. Isaac Frantz, of Pleasant Hill, Ohio; Elder William H. Koontz, and Bro. Anthony, from Falling Spring congregation; Bro. Leonard, from Back Creek; Eld. Daniel Eckerman, from the Ridge church, and Bro. David D. Bonsacks, of Maryland.

The meeting was one of the largest held in forty years, although the weather was inclement a part of the time. Tables were set in the two side rooms besides in the church, all of which were filled during the Communion services. Ninety-one years ago this house was built on the land of John Price, since which time it has been known as Price's church.

At the time of its dedication, A. D. 1798, Elder William Stover was the Bishop. The words of the dedication hymn commenced with, "Gross ist unseres Gottes Güte." (Great is the goodness of our God.) In those days divine services were held altogether in the German language at this place. From the year 1830 (the year when the English was first introduced), to the year 1866, both languages were spoken. Since 1866 the English alone has been used.

About the year A. D. 1798, or soon after this date, a young brother was elected to the ministry here, whose name was George Adam Martin. He was a German by birth. It is said he was an excellent scholar, a fluent speaker, and well versed in theology.

He travelled considerably among the churches, and became quite popular. Previous to his day, the Brethren here and elsewhere, read the fourteenth chapter of Luke to applicants for baptism. At the suggestion of Bro. Martin, the Brethren adopted another portion of Scripture for such occasions, viz., the eighteenth chapter of Matthew. From the information we have gathered, Bro. Martin moved to Eastern Pennsylvania a few years later, where he died.

From the time of the organization of the church, A. D. 1753, to the building of Price's meeting-house, which was in 1798, the Brethren held meetings in their houses in winter, and barns in summer.

As stated above, the first house of worship (Price's) was built in 1798; the second (Welty's) in 1836, the third (Snowberger's) in 1856. The fourth house is in Waynesboro. It was purchased in 1871 from the Lutheran and Presbyterian churches of Waynesboro. The year when it was built is unknown. The membership of the Antietam church is nearly five hundred.

Four Annual Conferences have been held in the congregation during the present century, in 1810, 1829, 1847, 1866.

At the Conference of 1847 an important change was made in holding Annual Meeting. Previous to this time Communion services were held at the close of each Conference. It was then decided to hold no Love-feast thereafter, on account of the confusion it created. It was considered uncalled for, since all churches held such services at their respective places of worship.

Before this change was made, the Brethren met on Thursday before Whitsuntide, commenced Conference on Friday morning, and closed Saturday evening. There was preaching on Sunday, and Communion meeting Sunday night. On Monday morning Conference closed.

The last division of our church took place September 19, 1866. The new church formed, has since been known as the Falling Spring congregation. The name of the elder in charge of the Antietam church at that time was William Boyer. After this date he officiated as the bishop of Falling Spring congregation, and Antietam ordained two ministers to that office, viz., Elders Jacob Price and Joseph F. Rohrer.

The elders of those churches now are, Jacob F. Oller, Antietam; William H. Koontz, Falling Spring. Many members have been added to the two churches within the last few years.

The officials of Antietam church have in recent years labored hard to systematize the business, so as to make everything satisfactory and plain to every member. To do this, a book for each department is kept, and every transaction, important or minute, is faithfully recorded. Future writers will have but little trouble, in giving a continued history to future generations.

D. H. FAHRNEY.

Waynesboro, Pa.

NATURE abhors a vacuum; and nature will not allow a vacuum to remain such. The only way to get rid of anything that is obnoxious in the world of sense, or of spirit is, by displacing it. A common saying, that has only one side of a truth in it, is, "An empty house is better than a bad tenant." But an empty house will not remain empty. No sooner is it empty, swept, and garnished, after one demon has been cast out of it, than it is liable to be entered for a permanent abode by seven other demons, every one of them livelier than the dismissed one. A good tenant is better than an empty house, as well as better than a bad tenant. And no house of head or of heart need remain empty. If you would be rid of bad tenants in your head or your heart, you must fill up that house of the soul with tenants who are worth having there. This is the only course of safety for you. By God's grace, this is possible to you.

The Gospel Messenger,

A Weekly at $1.50 per Annum.

PUBLISHED BY

The Brethren's Publishing Co.

D. L. MILLER, - - - - - - Office Editor.

J. B. BRUMBAUGH, } - - - - Associate Editors
J. G. ROYER, }

JOS. AMICK, - - - - - - Business Manager.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE.
R. H. Miller, S. S. Mohler, Daniel Hays.

☞ Communications for publication should be legibly written with BLACK ink on ONE side of the paper only. Do not attempt to interline, or to put on one page what ought to occupy two

☞ Anonymous communications will not be published.

☞ Do not mix business with articles for publication. Keep your communications on separate sheets from all business.

☞ Time is precious. We always have time to attend to business and to answer questions of importance, but please do not subject us to needless answering of letters.

☞ The MESSENGER is mailed each week to all subscribers. If the address is correctly entered on our list, the paper must reach the person to whom it is addressed. If you do not get your paper, write us, giving particulars.

☞ When changing your address, please give your FORMER as well as your FUTURE address in full, so as to avoid delay and misunderstanding

☞ Remittances should be made by Post-office Money Order, Drafts on New York or Chicago, or Registered Letters, made payable and addressed to "Brethren's Publishing Co., Mount Morris, Ill," or "Brethren's Publishing Co., Huntingdon, Pa."

☞ Always remit to the office from which you order your goods, no matter from where you receive them.

☞ Do not send personal checks or drafts on interior banks, unless you send with them 25 cents each, to pay for collection.

☞ Entered at the Post-office at Mount Morris, Ill., as second-class matter.

Mount Morris, Ill. - - - - - July 16, 1889.

Paul to the Brethren.

"Upon the first day of the week, let every one of you lay by him in store as God has prospered him."—1 Cor. 16: 2.

ONE was baptized last Sunday at Silver Creek, near this place.

BRO. WASHINGTON WYLAND will go to Hunt County, Texas, to labor for the Master.

BRO. J. S. FLORY, of California, is visiting among the churches in the Miami Valley.

JUNE 30 three were added to the church at Garrison, Iowa, so reports Bro. E. H. Stouffer.

BRO. SAMUEL R. ZUG, of Mastersonville, Pa., will fill a call for preaching in the State of New York.

BRO. SYDNEY HODGDEN, of Independence, Kans., will enter the mission work with Bro. Gish, in Arkansas.

HAVE you read the full report of our last Annual Meeting? If not, order a copy at once. It contains 140 pages; 25 cents per copy, $2 50 per dozen.

BROTHER AND SISTER LAHMAN, on their way to the mission field in Washington Territory, stopped a few days at the Yellowstone Park, where may be seen the greatest natural scenery in the world.

BRO. ABR. MOLSBEE reports that there is much work to do in Texas before the churches there can be fully established. After planting a vine, it must be carefully tended. The little foxes spoil the tender vines.

75 cts. pays for the GOSPEL MESSENGER from July 1 to the end of 1889. Show this to your neighbors and ask them to subscribe.

THE farmers in this vicinity are harvesting and making hay. The crops are most abundant. We wonder if one-tenth of the increase will go into the Lord's treasury.

BRO. S. H. BECHTELHEIMER, of Camden, Ind., writes that during the last week three were received into the Lower Deer Creek church and that others are near the kingdom.

SISTER SARAH E. BEEGHLY informs us that the Root River church, Minnesota, is moving along encouragingly. Four have recently been received into fellowship by baptism and a social meeting is held once a week from which all derive much benefit.

WHILST Prohibition has been defeated in Pennsylvania, yet twenty-nine Counties voted in favor of the Prohibition Amendment by majorities aggregating 50,000 votes. Why should not these twenty-nine Counties have the benefit of Local Option.

THE only complaint we hear of short crops this year, comes from Dakota. From Kansas, Nebraska, Texas, and indeed from all sections of the East and West, with the above exception, come reports of abundant harvests. Surely the Lord has blessed our land!

WE have now on hand a full supply of Church Membership Certificates, having just printed a new edition. They are substantially bound with fifty certificates in a book, and every church should have a copy. They are sold at the low rate of 50 cents per copy, postage prepaid.

BRO. ENOCH EBY says in a private letter, "We have excellent crops, nearly all harvested and some threshed. Peaches are very plenty; come out and help us gather and eat them." This is a tempting invitation and if we only had more time and less work it would not need to be repeated.

THERE is some push and energy in the Brethren Sunday-school at Grantsville, Maryland. Last week they decided to get the Brethren's Quarterlies, and, as the time was too short to order by mail, and receive them in time for the following Sunday, they sent a telegram asking us to mail to Bro. A. L. Gnagy, fifty Quarterlies at once. They were sent, and we hope reached them in good time.

THE "Miller and Sommer Debate" is now nearly all electrotyped and as soon as the plates are corrected, the book will be printed. Our agents who have not already done so will please send us the number of copies they will require to fill their orders, so that we may know about how many books to get out. The work will contain over 500 pages. Price, per copy, $1.50. It will be ready to send out in a short time.

BRO. AARON J. MOW, of Saline City, Clay County, Ind., has completed a full course of study in the Indiana State Normal school at Terre Haute, and is again at his home in the Lick Creek church. Speaking of the work there, he says: "We will have an overplus of labor. The members are somewhat scattered but we are glad to say they are earnest and active in the cause and their souls are enraptured with the Father's grace and love. Three have lately been baptized and there is a constant call from all points of the congregation for more meetings. May the Father be gracious toward us that we may be blest with his indulgent love!"

BRO. J. G. ROYER has been holding meetings for the last week at the Spring Creek church, not far from South Waterloo. He closed the meetings on the 9th with six additions to the church by baptism. He goes from Spring Creek to the Waterloo church.

THE General Synod of the Lutheran church met in Alleghany City in June. A warm discussion was had upon the adoption of a common form of worship or liturgy. A compromise was effected by adopting two forms and by saying that the old form may still be used, thus establishing at least three forms of worship.

BRO. G. W. LOWRY, of Scullton, Pa., says: "Our council-meeting for Middle Creek congregation was held June 1, at which we, by almost unanimous vote, decided to henceforth practice the single mode of feet-washing. Three were baptized. Our love-feast was held June 6, at which time one was baptized. Owing to flood and interruption of railroad travel, our ministerial assistance was not so large, but what we had was appreciated."

THE following, taken from a postal card written by Bro. T. T. Myers, under date of July 5, shows how much good news may be sent to the MESSENGER even on a postal card. May the Lord continue to abundantly bless our dear young brother in this great work in which he is so zealously engaged!

"Dear Brother:—Yesterday we had a glorious Fourth. We had meeting in the forenoon, and in the afternoon nineteen precious souls were received by baptism. Brethren Royer and Ikenberry came up from Spring Creek and were with us yesterday. I labored with the Brethren here nearly three weeks, during which time twenty-eight were baptized and one wanderer came home. We leave to-day for Marshall County. We trust the work here may still go on. Pray for us."

WE still have on hand a large number of the Reports of our last Annual Meeting. Those who have read the Report are well pleased with it. It is unusually free from errors. The Moderator of the Meeting, speaking of it, says, "I think the Report is one of the best and most correct we have ever had." Speaking of the Report Bro. Daniel Vaniman says: "Having just read the Report of Annual Meeting, containing 141 pages, so neatly gotten up, and ready for distribution this year in one week after the meeting closed, I thought, surely 'the world do move.' This report not only contains the queries discussed, but also the names of the speakers and the reasons leading up to the conclusions reached,—all for the sum of twenty-five cents. This to us, who could not attend the meeting this year, is a very cheap and easy way to get the reasons for the decisions of Annual Meeting." Send for a copy and read it. Will our agents please assist us in selling them? Single copy, 25 cents; $2.50 per dozen, postage prepaid. Order now. Don't wait until the supply is exhausted.

LAST week there occurred in this country, contrary to law, we are glad to say, one of those disgraceful and brutal prize-fights which still disgrace our civilization and show that we are not very far removed from the gladiatorial shows that disgraced ancient Rome. The fact that two men can engage in such a brutal contest in the United States, and that the daily and weekly secular press should give, under glaring headlines, column after column of the sickening details of the brutal fight, and that these accounts should be read with avidity by the mass of those who read the daily papers, is a sad commentary on our boasted morality and civilization. It shows that we have not yet reached the millennial age, and that there is need that we convert the heathen at home before going to other lands in search of them.

In sending money orders to Bro. Levi Trostle Missionary Treasurer for the Northern District of Illinois, remember that his money order office is Franklin Grove, Lee Co., Ill., and all orders should be drawn on that office. His post-office, Taylor, Ill., is not a money order office. Solicitors of the Northern District of Illinois, will please make a note of this.

Brethren Samuel Riddlesperger, and Daniel Zellers of the District Mission Board of Northern Illinois, visited the city of Sterling last week with a view of securing a place to hold meetings. The outlook for the work in Sterling is good. There are several applicants for baptism. What is needed at Sterling is a house of worship, and a minister to hold regular meetings. The Committee will make an effort to secure a meeting-house.

Yale College received last year over $200,000 to her already large endowment fund. Harvard received gifts for the same purpose of over $300,000. Thus these two institutions of learning, already richly endowed, received over a half million dollars. Looking at these large sums so generously donated, and then looking at the struggle our own schools must make to keep alive without endowment, without necessary buildings and apparatus, it does seem that Bro. J. B. B.'s reflections in another column are not out of place. Would it not be better to have a few good schools well-equipped for the work, with an endowment fund back of them, than to have a number of weaklings, struggling for an existence? Our course in the educational work of the church is such that it seems we are courting failures and they are sure to come. History repeats itself.

We give in another column the quarterly report of the Treasurer of the General Church Erection and Missionary Committee. We ask those who have sent in money to examine it carefully and note whether the sums given are correct. If any errors should occur, please report by return mail to D. L. Miller, Treasurer, Mt. Morris, Ill. Do not delay in giving notice of any omissions or errors. This is the only method by which you may know that the money sent to the Treasurer has been received and properly credited. With this quarterly publication of money received and a careful examination and comparison of the Treasurer's books by a competent Committee, appointed by Annual Meeting, the funds are carefully guarded and it may be known in this way that every cent of the money sent in is properly accounted for. These safeguards are wisely thrown around the money and it is important that all who send in money should read the report carefully to see that it is correct. Errors may occur and this is the only way to correct them. Read the report carefully.

A RAILROAD FROM JOPPA TO JERUSALEM.

We notice an occasional item in the secular press, relative to the building of a railroad from Joppa to Jerusalem. A firman or permit to build the road was granted to a syndicate of European capitalists, by the Sultan, some years ago, and ever since that time we have had annually a rumor that a survey for the road had been made and that work would soon begin upon the grading. In 1884 when we visited Joppa and Jerusalem we were told that the road would be completed in a year or two, and now after five years have passed away we again learn that work on the road will begin very soon and that in two years it will be completed.

We are not very sanguine as to the early completion of this new road. The travel between Joppa and Jerusalem is limited to visitors who go either in the early spring or fall to make a tour of the country. Outside of this there would be but little travel, and the trains would be run on the same time schedule used on the railroad from Smyrna to Ephesus. They run a train whenever a party comes along large enough and with money enough to charter engine and cars.

Eastern people are noted for their conservatism and their strong opposition to innovations and changes, and if the road were built, the inhabitants of the land would cling to the quiet uncomplaining donkey and the ungainly but patient camel to carry their freight as did their fathers for the last forty centuries.

The people who utilize the one-handled plow and the ox goad, used in the time of Abraham, and the hand mills upon which Pharaoh's maidens prepared the meal for their household, and with which Samson, shorn of his strength by a Delilah and blinded by his enemies, was compelled to grind, and the leathern bottles that were in use when our Savior lived and blessed humanity with his presence, will not be likely to take kindly to such a startling innovation as a railroad. They will prefer the good old way of their fathers and will walk therein rather than ride on the cars.

They will say, "Behold, our father Ishmael dwelt in tents all the days of his life, and the camel and the swift-footed dromedary were his beasts of burden, and these continue with us even unto this day. Are we wiser than our fathers were that we should depart from the customs of our people?" Saying this, which is the end of all argument, the descendants of Ishmael will go on as they have gone for these thousands of years and the capitalist will wait in vain for his dividend if he is to get it from the people who now inhabit Palestine.

The road may be built and the plain of Sharon and the hills of Judea may echo and re-echo the sound of the steam whistle, but it will be a kind of a desecration. If there is one spot on the whole earth which should not be invaded by the push and energy of this age of steam and electricity, that spot is the Holy Land.

LEAVES FROM OUR NOTE-BOOK.

For some time we have had in contemplation a visit to some of our friends in Ohio and Illinois, and especially to wife's folks in Nebraska. July 3 was the day set to start on this journey, and some days before this, sister B. commenced "packing." All who have traveled know what this means. There seems to be only one limit to this packing business and that is when all is packed that it is possible to take. We took an early train at Huntingdon and stopped off a few hours at Johnstown. We might give our readers a lengthy description of what we saw and heard there but you have had considerable in these columns concerning that calamity and have as good an idea of it as it is possible to get from a pen picture of it. No one can, however, form a correct idea of what really occurred and the extent of the destruction, without visiting the place. We met a number of friends, some of whom gave us thrilling accounts of their rescue. We are glad to note that all of our people, living in the city, are saved. Some of them had a very narrow escape. We spent a short time at the home of Bro. Ephraim Strayer. He lives near a hill and when the flood came, with his family, fled to it. With him lives Sadie Brallier, a correspondent to the Messenger. When she got to the hill, the sight below was so appalling that she fainted and has not yet fully recovered from the fright. Their house was not destroyed.

The estimates of loss of life are various. Some of the citizens put it as high as ten thousand, others think not so many but say it can not be less than five thousand. From our knowledge of the city before the flood, and as it looks now, we can not see how so many people escaped. It seems that the larger part of the citizens must have drowned. There are a great many visitors to the city. All the trains to and fro from it are crowded.

At 4 o'clock we took the west-bound train and arrived at Pittsburg in time for the 9 o'clock train for Dayton where we arrived the next forenoon and soon enjoyed the hospitality of Bro. Moses Miller who lives near the city. Here we met our brother, G. W. Brumbaugh, and wife, and in the afternoon went with him to his home, some twelve miles from Dayton. His father, Jesse K. Brumbaugh, is a minister in the Salem congregation. He has a nice home and a pleasant family. His two sons, G. W. and N. J. Brumbaugh, both graduated at the Huntingdon school, and, since then, have been teaching with good success. They are staunch friends of their Alma Mater and their words and work tell in her favor. G. W. has recently married a wife,—a wee one in physical proportions, but large in those virtues that adorn the home and make life pleasant. We wish them smooth sailing over life's tempestuous sea. N. J. is at present pursuing an advanced course of study at the Wesleyan University. G. W. is also hard at work and will push to the front ranks in his chosen calling,—teaching. These brethren should be utilized in our educational work.

NOTES.

There is some talk of a Brethren's school being started in the Miami Valley. Our people are surely becoming awakened on the school question. A few years ago the opposition was strong but now our people want them right at their doors. How all these schools are to receive the necessary financial support is a question, those who have had some experience in the work, are unable to solve. No school can be a complete success until it has an endowment fund of several hundred thousand dollars. In view of this fact some of the friends of education are doubtful about the propriety of starting so many schools. Some of them must finally fail. But, then, there is no use in trying to reason on this phase of the subject now. All will get their satisfaction of this school business by and by, and then the selfish phase of it will be dropped and the cause itself will get our attention. It may be, however, with some of these enterprises like the old man out West that took hold of the bear. After he had hold of it a while it got the better of him, and his concern was not about how he should hold the bear but how to let loose of it.

Sister Croft, of Philadelphia, is at present with her mother, sister Younce, who has been quite ill for about twelve weeks. She is a neighbor to Bro. Brumbaugh, with whom we are now visiting. Yesterday, July 5, she was still quite ill.

We are sorry to learn that our brother, C. F. Detwiler, of Johnstown, has poor health. Hope he may speedily recover.

J. B. B.

Missionary and Tract Work Department.

"Upon the first day of the week, let every one of you lay by him in store as God hath prospered him, that there be no gatherings when I come." 1 Cor. 16. 2.

"Every man as he purposeth in his heart, so let him give. Not grudgingly or of necessity, for the Lord loveth a cheerful giver." 2 Cor. 9. 7.

HOW MUCH SHALL WE GIVE?

"Every man according to his ability." "Every one as God hath prospered him." "Every man, according as he purposeth in his heart, so let him give." "For if there be first a willing mind, it is accepted according to that a man hath, and not according to that he hath not." 2 Cor. 8, 12.

Organization of Missionary Committee.

DANIEL VANIMAN, Foreman, - - - Virden, Ill.
D. L. MILLER, Secretary and Treasurer, - Mt. Morris, Ill.
G. B. ROYER, Assistant Secretary, - - Mt. Morris, Ill.

Organization of Book and Tract Work.

S. W. HOOVER, Foreman, - - - Dayton, Ohio.
S. BOCK, Secretary and Treasurer, - - Dayton, Ohio.

☞ All donations intended for Missionary Work should be sent to D. L. MILLER, Mt. Morris, Ill.

☞ All money for Tract Work should be sent to S. BOCK, Dayton, Ohio.

☞ Money may be sent by Money Order, Registered Letter, or Drafts on New York or Chicago. Do not send personal checks, or drafts on interior towns, as it costs 25 cents to collect them.

☞ Solicitors are requested to faithfully carry out the plan of Annual Meeting, that all our members be solicited to contribute at least twice a year for the Mission and Tract Work of the Church.

☞ Notes for the Endowment Fund can be had by writing to the Secretary of either Work.

A THOUSAND tracts cost but a few dollars, and one tract may save a soul, which is most precious in the sight of the Lord and of inestimable value.

WE have several excellent tracts on Intemperance, showing the evil tendencies of the rum power and its effects on the human family. These tracts have no connection whatever with party or politics but may be relied upon for correct information. Literature of this kind having but the one object in view,—the good of mankind and the glory of God, will have far more weight with the candid, careful, thinking reader in determining his course on this important question than much of the common swash served up for political purposes by many of the newspapers. These tracts should have a wide circulation.—H.

"YE CAN NOT SERVE GOD AND MAMMON." Luke 16: 13.

BY S. N. M'CANN.

Giving a Duty.

"GIVE TO HIM THAT ASKETH THEE" is just as positive a command as "Be not conformed to this world," just as positive as "Swear not at all," just as positive as "Ye ought to wash one another's feet," just as authoritative as any that our Savior gave, yet how seldom do we hear it referred to as a duty.

Why do we lose sight of this command and contend earnestly for some other one of less power, and, perhaps, of less importance? We may find in our failure to live out this one little command, the key that is closing the door of covetousness upon us. If so, let us lay hold of the key before the door is bolted, and throw it wide open, that streams of love and benevolence may flow into our hearts, flooding our lives with a complete sacrifice of self, and bearing us upward with the tide, to complete consecration of all to God.

If we can not give what man may ask of us, we can do what Peter did,—give such as we have, and, in God's hands, it may prove a greater blessing than the thing expected. Acts 3: 6.

God says, "Give to him that asketh." Our fallen nature says, "Do so if you feel like it; if you think the person worthy, or if you do not need, what you give, somewhere else." Are we excusable for disobedience on the ground of our feelings? The young man did not feel like selling what he had and giving to the poor. Matt. 19: 21, 22. Peter did not feel like having his feet washed. John 13: 8. Simon, the sorcerer, felt like giving money in order to obtain the power to impart the gift of the Holy Ghost. Acts 8: 18-20. Ananias and Sapphira felt like keeping back part of the price of their land and reporting as if they had consecrated all, Acts 4: 1-10, but their feelings only brought them trouble.

If worthiness were the ground upon which we receive our blessings from God, we would all go naked,—we would starve and perish, not only physically but spiritually, for when we do all we are commanded we are to say, "We are only unprofitable servants; we have done that which was our duty to do." Luke 17: 20.

If we give only that which we do not need, there is no sacrifice in the giving; besides, we unconsciously increase our needs, or our supposed needs, faster than our means increase, so our giving soon narrows down to nothing.

"Give, and it shall be given unto you: good measure, pressed down, and shaken together, and running over, shall men give unto your bosom." Luke 6: 38. Here the duty carries with it a promised blessing as general and far-reaching as the command. Christ's command makes the duty of giving clear enough without referring to anything further to press its necessity. We will, however, look at the practice of the churches in apostolic times upon this great and important command.

We find nothing in apostolic practice that would give the slightest hint at an exemption from this duty. True, Paul does say that we "wrought with labor and travail night and day that we might not be chargeable to any of you. Not because we have not power, but to make ourselves an ensample unto you, to follow us." 2 Thess. 3: 8, 9.

The example given is one of complete consecration and earnest work, and does not encourage any one not to give, for we find that Paul pressed the necessity of giving, and that liberally, upon those very churches, where he did not use his power or privilege in the Gospel.

Paul says, in respect to Macedonia and Achaia, that they are debtors to the brethren in Jerusalem. "For if the Gentiles have been made partakers of their spiritual things, their duty is also to minister to them in carnal things." Rom. 15: 26, 27. He urges them to liberality by their example on former occasions, and then sends Titus and other brethren to urge them to be ready and liberal because of their good name. 2 Cor. 8: 9.

Though "the Lord ordained that they which preach the Gospel should live of the Gospel," 1 Cor. 9: 14, Paul did not use that power while in new fields, lest he hinder the cause. Paul used this power like he did the privilege of marrying,—counting it more expedient to the cause to deny himself. Though Paul says, "I robbed other churches, taking wages of them to do you service and when I was present with you and wanted, I was chargeable to no man; for that which was lacking to me, the brethren which came from Macedonia supplied." 2 Cor. 11: 8, 9. Paul urges the duty of giving instead of excusing them from it. If Christ's command, if apostolic example, if the church's need, if the individual's spiritual welfare, either one or all combined, make giving a duty, an obligation, then we are duty-bound to give.

Paul says, "Let him that is taught in the Word communicate unto him that teacheth in all good things." Gal. 6: 6.

"Lord shall we lie so sluggish still,
And never act our parts?
Come, holy Dove! from th' heavenly hill
And sit and warm our hearts.

"Then shall our active spirits move,
Upward our souls shall rise:
With hands of faith and wings of love,
We'll fly and take the prize."

Notes from our Correspondents.

"As cold water to a thirsty soul, so is good news from a far country."

—Sister Salome Watkins writes: "More good news! Since our last report two have joined at Little Walnut church, and two at the Mt. Pleasant church."

—Bro. J. E. Young, of Beatrice, Nebr., writes: "Sunday evening, June 30, another prodigal made application to be received into the Father's family. Bro. S. Z Sharp stopped with us, and preached one sermon on Tuesday evening, which was strengthening to all, and especially to the many lambs of the flock here. It does so much good to have tried soldiers to step in and help to train workers for Jesus. Do not pass us by, brethren, when you go this way, but at least tarry with us one night."

—Under date of July 1, Bro. W. H. Pyle, of Hansell, Iowa, writes: "Our love-feast was an enjoyable occasion. The meeting was held in J. M. Hanawalt's barn. Quite a number of brethren and sisters were with us. Our elder, J. F. Ikenberry, Wm. Hipes, of Greene, Ia, and Oliver Beaver, of Chickasaw County, Ia., were with us. We had a good meeting throughout. Bro. Hipes led three souls into the water. We trust they arose to walk in newness of life. Three months previous to this, when Bro. Hipes was with us, he baptized three, making six in all this year."

—Sister Ella Reish, of Quinter, Kansas, writes: "To-day the Brethren of the Quinter church held their quarterly council. Much business came before the meeting. It was decided to hold a love-feast sometime in the fall. Our dear elder, John Ikenberry, and Eld. Whitmer gave us some good admonition and advice. O, that we all might cling closer to the cross for 'where there is no cross, there is no crown.' We receive the MESSENGER weekly, and consider it a great blessing to the church. Every member in the Brotherhood ought to have it. Oh, that we may all so live as to hear the welcome voice, 'Come, ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world.' Matt. 25: 34."

—Bro. Isaac Connell gives us the particulars of another sad occurrence, as follows: "Arthur Workman, youngest son of brother Lewis and sister Mary A. Workman, met his death by drowning June 14, 1889, while bathing, three miles east of Warsaw, Kosciusko Co, Ind., near the Brethren's church. He and three or four boys went to that place to bathe. When he jumped into the water, he went under, and, after once rising, sank again, to rise no more. As none of his companions could swim, and the hole was quite deep, his body was not recovered until after midnight. The presumption is that he was overtaken by a cramp, or that he strangled, and was thus rendered powerless to help himself in any way. The drowning has cast a deep feeling of gloom over the entire neighborhood. The stroke upon his parents, brothers and sisters was a heavy one. They desire the prayers of the brethren and sisters in their bereavement. Arthur was an obedient son, a kind associate, and a moral young man. He was respected by all who knew him. Funeral services by Bro. Amsey Puterbaugh from 1 Cor. 15: 56, 57, to a large audience of sympathizing friends and neighbors."

—Bro. D. A. Hetrick writes: "June 26, Bro. Silas Hoover came to the Redbank congregation, Pa., and held forth the Word of the Lord in his usual earnest way. As a result of his labor two souls were made to accept Christ, and were baptized. We hope they will hold out faithful, and be waymarks of piety, and finally gain a crown of life at the end of the race."

—Bro. John Shepherd, of the Forest church, Richland Co., Wis., writes: "Two were added to the church by baptism, June 2. C. S. Holsinger, of Marshall Co., Ill., commenced a series of meetings June 11. We had our love-feast June 15, when three souls were added by baptism and one reclaimed. The meetings were well attended, and closed June 16."

—Bro. D. G. Couser, of the Lincoln church, Nebr., writes: "On Saturday, June 8, the Lincoln church met together in quarterly council. How pleasant it is when brethren dwell together in unity! Business was transacted to the satisfaction of all, and, we trust, in the fear of the Lord! We decided to have a love-feast, if the Lord will, Sept. 7. On Sunday, June 23, joy filled the camp of the saints, when two dear sisters joined in with us to battle against the adversary, and were added to the church by the ordinance of Christian baptism. May they ever be found faithful to the Captain of our salvation!"

—Bro. Samuel Rodefer, of Dayton, Ohio writes: "According to previous announcements, Bro. Crosswhite came to us Saturday, June 22nd, closing Sunday evening June 23, preaching three sermons in power and demonstration of the Spirit. No immediate results followed, yet we are made to believe, that the Word may find well-prepared hearts for the indwelling of the same. On Sunday, June 30, at 3 P. M., Bro. Aaron Coy met with the brethren and sisters of Dayton, for the purpose of organizing a Sunday-school. The writer was elected Superintendent. He is assisted by Bro. Aaron Coy and an able corps of officers and teachers."

—From the New Haven church, Carson City, Mich., Bro. L. D. Bosserman writes: "Our pleasant communion of June 22, was one of great joy and love. The weather being very pleasant and the crowds large, we were much strengthened by once more participating in the ordinances of the house of God. Those few who did not commune with the many who did, must look to the great supper that lies in the future, when all of God's people will partake and none need to sit back. O, how pleasant it will be, when we can meet with those who have gone before, where separation is known no more! We all should try to make these meetings a bright page in our history, instead of a dark one!"

CORRESPONDENCE.

"Write what thou seest, and send it unto the churches."

☞Church News solicited for this Department. If you have had a good meeting, send a report of it, so that others may rejoice with you. In writing give name of church, county and State. Be brief! Notes of Travel should be as short as possible. Land Advertisements are not solicited for this Department. We have an advertising page, and, if necessary, will issue supplements.

From River, Ind.

I WISH to say a few more things in regard to our visit in Northern Illinois. We continued our visit for five weeks. During this time we attended six Communion meetings, three of them were largely attended,—the Lanark, Silver Creek, and Rock River. Their large church houses were very nearly filled with members surrounding the Lord's tables.

I was well pleased with the way the Brethren of Northern Illinois conduct their communion meetings. Notwithstanding the large number of communicants, they got through with the evening services by nine o'clock. I have been in some sections of country where such large meetings dragged till midnight, which, I always claimed, was entirely out of order, and uncalled for. Then, too, the outsiders or spectators conducted themselves so very nicely that we felt we were among Christian people, in a civilized country. May God help the Brethren of Northern Illinois to maintain such good customs and order, and my prayer is, that others may follow their example.

We also attended the District Meeting of Northern District of Illinois, and one council-meeting at Lanark. Notwithstanding the weather was quite disagreeable much of the time, we had a very pleasant visit, never to be forgotten while memory lasts.

We attended one feast since our return home. We had a very good meeting. May God bless every lawful effort made far the advancement of his kingdom! SAMUEL MURRAY.

Treasurer's Report.

THE following amounts were received by the General Church Erection and Missionary Committee between April 1 and July 2, 1889:

Sam'l Riddlesberger, Franklin Grove, Ill.,$	5 00
Sarah Muse, Vinton, Va	1 00
Fairview church, Iowa	2 40
Killbuck church, Ind	6 50
Emma Fisher, Baltic, O	1 00
Amanda L. Ausherman, Middletown, Md	5 00
Lanark church, Ill	7 00
Mrs. Jas. H. Larkins, Cherry Grove, Ill	2 30
Oakland church, O	2 00
Belleville church, Kans	9 10
Hannah Horner, Fredonia, Kans	1 00
Waterloo S. S., Waterloo, Iowa	1 81
Mary Whitmyer, Centreville, Ia	1 10
Upper Codorus church, Pa	4 30
Maple Grove S. S., near Mt. Morris, Ill	3 05
Eliza and Ida Thompson, Fredonia, Kans.	2 11
Lizzie Weddle, Dunlap, Kans	67
Julia A. France, Lann, Kans	1 76
Logan church, O	12 25
Amanda Bashore, Sodaville, Ore	1 25
Eliza Ritter, Sodaville, Ore	50
State Centre church, Ia	2 50
N. A. L. Planck, Sedalia, Mo	10 00
S. District of Kans	3 15
E. J. Elliott, Gambier, O	75
A brother and sister, Sundance, W. T	1 00
William's Creek church, Texas	17 00
O. W. and C. Bradford, Weir, Kans	50
E. B. Bissell, Pa	1 00
Walnut Grove church, Mo	5 70
D. S. McDannel, Elliott, Iowa	2 40
Manocacy church, Md	5 00
Kate Forney	1 00
—— Garrison, Ia	11 80
Frank S. and Sarah A. Waas, Fredonia, Kans	65
Sarah M. Hornish, Jewel, O	3 50
A. Moomaw, Monroe, Ia	50
J. D. Lahman, Franklin Grove, Ill	6 00
J. Wm. Miller and wife, Seward, Kans	5 00
A little girl gone home	14
R. and S. Brethren, Missionary Society, Royersford, Pa	2 00
J. H. Richard, Maitland, Pa	3 34
Elkhart Valley church, Ind	1 75
Catherine Spanogle, Fairplay, Md	3 00
Congo church, Cal	2 50
Caroline E. Beer, Rockton, Pa	1 00
N. G. Neher, Rockford, Neb	5 00
Brownsville church, Md	4 50
Broadfording church, Md	3 05
West Branch church, Ill	4 00
Daniel Barrick, Elida, Ill	2 00
Interest from College Company	12 40
Jesse Wagener, Franklintown, Pa	2 00
J. H. Fahnestock, Montrose, Mo	50
Abbie Baron, Somerset, Pa	52
Ellen Musser, Somerset, Pa	50
J. L. Saylor and wife, Somerset, Pa	1 53
H. Baughman and wife, Somerset, Pa	1 00
Wm. H. Miller, Somerset, Pa	1 00
E. J. Weighly, Somerset, Pa	1 05
S. C. Livingood, Somerset, Pa	1 02
Jas. Parson, Somerset, Pa	50
Henry Saylor, Somerset, Pa	51
Kate Johnson, Somerset, Pa	55
May Miller, Somerset, Pa	52
Sarah Musselman, Tippecanoe City, O	50
Catherine Hawver, Tippecanoe City, O	50
Huntsdale church, Pa	14 00
D. Arnold Garber, Roanoke, Va	50
Noah Smith, Pyrmont, O	40
Loraine church, O	3 00
Eastern District of Pa	10 60
Geo. W. Blul, Golden Springs, Nebr	50
Covington church, O	22 56
J. F. Dagne, Strawsburg, Kans	50
Bexie A. Miller, Orrstown, Pa	50
Wakeuda church, Mo	1 00
David Flory, Adamsborough, Ind	2 75
S. Z. Garber, New Hope, Va	50
Middle Creek church, Pa., per J. W. Myers	31 00
Walnut Valley church, Kans	1 50
Sarah A. Marshall, Fisher St., Mich	1 00
Eliza Sanafrank, Peru, Ind	1 68
—— Waterside, Pa	50
Prairie Creek church, Ind	3 00
D. L. Bowman, Leighton, Ia	4 00
Jacob and Anna M. Miller, Chomute, Kans	5 00
J. F. and Debbie Hantz, Abilene, Kans	10 75
Sugar Creek church, N. E. O	5 64
W. Nimishillen church, N. E. O	3 00
Danville church, N. E. O	75
J. H. Richard, Maitland, Pa	2 03
A Sister	50
Marsh Creek church, Pa	12 50
Proceeds of Annual Meeting of 1888	320 29
Children's Mission, Sarah Kuns, Ill	7 00
Keaka church, Florida	4 50
Anetta Yarger, Orangeville, Ill	2 35
English River church, Ia	11 80
Noah Horn, Somerset, O	2 00
Artemus Smith, Dego, Ind	25
A Sister from W. Nimishillen church, O	10 00
Amanda F. Pefley, Tincastle, Ind	1 00
Beaver Creek church, Va	11 05
Abram G. Whitmer, Danforth, Ill	50
Chippewa church, N. E. O	21 00
A Sister from Hillsdale, Pa	1 55
Daniel Spitzer, Ridgway, Mo	1 00
Clara Reed, Easton, W. Va	1 00
O. W. Reed, Easton, W. Va	1 00
Della Steward, Easton, W. Va	1 00
Etta Huff, Wowaka, Ind	1 00
Lawrence church, Kans	2 50
D., Winona, Minn	10 00
S. Rothrock, Davenport, Nebr	1 75
F. W. Leighton, Moran, Kans	1 10
Poplar Ridge church, O	4 00
A Brother, Timberville, Va	1 00
Children's Mission, Mary Gibson	21 56
Nettle Creek church, Ind	25 00
Churches in Europe	13 40
Tobias Kimmel, Elderton, Pa	5 00
Garrison church, Ia	15 71
A Sister, Valley Pike church, Va	5 00
E. Nimishillen church, O	1 85
Isaac Ankney, Sycamore, O	5 00
Shade church, Pa	10 00
B. C. Moomaw, Green Forest, Va	5 00
D. S. Wine, Mt. Sidney, Va	10
D. S. Wiseman, Harrisonburg, Va	25

Betty Good, Bridgewater, Va	50
Cedar Grove church, Va	2 00
A Sister of Maryland	1 00
Gideon Rogers (deceased), Pa	10 00
Rush Creek church, O	3 40
Sister B. F. Moomaw, balance of Mission Fund left with her daughter, Mary C. Crumpacker	4 50
Nicholas Burkitt, Kingsley, Mich	1 30
John M. Miller, Mt. Morris, Ill	1 00
Sam's Creek church, Md	2 50
V. J. Drayer, Gallup, Ky	10 00
Isaac Click, Bridgewater, Va	5 00
Mr. and Mrs. T. Cripe, Flora, Ind	7 00
Maria Caylor, Clarksville, Ind	1 00
A. D. Kaule, Mongo, Ind	4 25
S. S., two and a half miles east of Mt. Morris, Ill	2 13
Sarah E. Kepner, Nora, Ill	10 00
Green Springs church, O	11 00
Northern District of Illinois	115 70
Southern District of Illinois	14 58
Profit on Sale of a Tent at Annual Meeting by seven brethren from Armstrong and Westmoreland Counties, Pa	1 00
Interest on Endowment Notes for quarter,	128 25

EXPENDITURES.

C. Hope, expenses attending Annual Meeting as delegate on Standing Committee for Denmark and Sweden	$ 38 50
Postal cards for receipts (500)	5 00
Daniel Vaniman, traveling expenses attending Meeting	22 60
Sidney Hodgden, mission work in Arkansas	100 00
Meeting-house, Mound church, Bates Co., Mo	200 00
W. Wyland, mission work, Hunt Co., Tex.	100 00
E. Eby, mission to Lipscomb, Tex	25 00
District of Oregon	200 00
Meeting-house, Saginaw church, Michigan, donation	200 00
Meeting-house, Saginaw church, Michigan, loan	100 00
Jacob Witmore, mission to California and Colorado	35 00
J. Olsson, mission work in Sweden	122 63
C. Hansen, mission work in Denmark,	122 62

D. L. MILLER, Sec. & Treas.

From Shideler, Ind.

MAY 24 wife and I went to the Hartford City church love-feast. We had a very good meeting. Bro. Isaiah Howard officiated. Bro. John Groves was forwarded to the second degree of the ministry.

On the evening of May 25 I attended the love-feast in the Killbuck church. We had a very enjoyable feast and I was glad once more to meet with the brethren and sisters in the above-named church. I was sorry that I could not remain longer.

May 26 I was called to the Lower Fall Creek church to preach the funeral of sister Rebecca Slaughter, wife of James Slaughter, who departed this life Jan. 22, 1889, aged 56 years, 2 months and 20 days. She was a member of the church of the Brethren for twenty-five years. She died in the triumph of a living faith. I was accompanied to this church by Bro. Jacob Rarick, and was assisted at the funeral by Bro. David F. Hoover. May 27 I returned home. May 31 Bro. Samuel Younce and the writer went to the Camden church, Jay County, to attend their love-feast. Owing to inclemency of the weather the meeting was not so largely attended. We had a very interesting meeting. Bro. Samuel Younce officiated. Brethren Moses Cruea and Frederick Hummer were forwarded to the second degree of the ministry. We remained with the Brethren here until Sunday evening. Brethren Wilson Hutchison and Samuel Younce were called on Sunday to anoint a sick brother.

On Friday, June 7, in company with ten of our brethren we started for Annual Meeting via Chesapeake and Ohio. At Cincinnati, we met quite a number of our brethren and sisters which added to the enjoyment of the trip. After partaking of some refreshments, and night being upon us, it was suggested that we have some preaching on the train. Bro. W. R. Deeter, of Milford, Ind., preached awhile, followed by the writer and Samuel Nehr. The services were closed by Bro. Daniel Shively. All seemed to enjoy the occasion. We arrived at the place of meeting Saturday, at 2 P. M. We were well pleased with the location of the meeting ground. The brethren requested us to go out with them to remain over Sunday at the Green Mount church. We accepted the invitation and, in company with Bro. Daniel Henderson, of Ohio, we were conveyed by Bro. Fred Wampler to his hospitable home, located in the beautiful Shenandoah Valley. We attended two meetings and then returned to Harrisonburg. June 12, we started for home, where we arrived safely and found our family well, for this we felt thankful to an All-wise Being.

June 18, wife and I, accompanied by several of the Massissinewa brethren and sisters went to the Prairie Creek church love-feast. We had a very pleasant meeting. Bro. Samuel Murray officiated. On the day of the feast one was baptized. By request we remained with the Brethren here until June 24. We had a very pleasant meeting and good attendance. Two young men were baptized. May they prove faithful! Others, seemingly, were almost persuaded. Two young sisters were baptized on Sunday before the feast. May the Lord keep them all faithful, and may he bless his people every-where! At present writing we are at home. On July 27, we expect, the Lord willing, to start out on our regular ministerial labors. May we have the prayers of all of God's faithful!

GEO. L. STUDEBAKER.

Messages Dropped by the Way.

IN pursuance of our Home Mission duties of the Northern District of Missouri, I went, May 28, to Millport, Knox County, where I held meetings until the night of the 31st, at the close of which we baptized an aged pair, of sixty-nine and seventy-two years, and who had long held the Methodist faith. The old brother concluded to resign the office of justice of the peace, and enter the service of the Great Prince of Peace. Here Bro. C. Lapp, of the Novelty church, joined me with his private conveyance.

From Millport we went to Clark County, from where, it will be remembered by many readers, a Macedonian call had continued to come over the signature of sister Mary E Rose. Here the curiosity, excitement and consternation of the people exceeded everything I ever witnessed; for a large majority had never "heard it so." We baptized a sister, and had many fair promises that are to be redeemed upon a little time for consideration. Upon the whole we took courage and thanked the Lord.

On the morning of June 7 we set out for the vicinity near Novelty, where we held meetings over Saturday and Sunday, and here two more came out on the Lord's side, a brother and his wife, both in the prime of life,—at that period of life when it is so very important that the parents be prepared to show forth that example to their children, so indispensable to bringing them up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord.

At the second-named place, after our services were under way, some one, like "Alexander the copper-smith" assayed to interrupt us, demanding the stand. We, however, proposed to hold the hour, and did, but after we dismissed, our Elymas took not the pulpit, but the stage, and in ten minutes he had the people in such a confusion, that the town-clerk might well have "called us all in question for that day's uproar." But the sympathies of the people, and the sentiments expressed, etc., soon gave us the day. C. C. ROOT.

From Vermillion Church, Marshall Co., Kans.

OUR quarterly council was held June 22. Bro. William Davis, of the South Morrill Church, was with us. All business was disposed of with kind and brotherly feeling. Our feast was appointed for August 31 and September 1, at Bro. Simon Studebaker's. On Sunday one was baptized, making two since May 1. We also have an interesting Sunday-school, of which Bro. L. H. Eby is Superintendent.

We have a membership of nearly forty members, but as we live very much scattered, it is inconvenient for some to meet in Sunday-school and meeting. A. Z. GATES.

From the Tuscarawas Church, Stark Co., Ohio.

WE are putting forth our best efforts to keep the good cause moving on. We re-organized our Sunday-school early in the spring, so as to begin with the first lesson of that quarter. Bro. A. W. Yutzey was chosen Superintendent. He is assisted by a full corps of officers. The school seems to be doing a good work, and each lesson appears to grow more interesting. On the morning of May 15 we met in council. A good deal of business was brought before the meeting, and disposed of in a Christian spirit, to the satisfaction of all.

Our Communion meeting was held on the evening of June 15. The weather was somewhat inclement, yet a goodly number of brethren and sisters assembled together to commemorate the sufferings and death of our adorable Redeemer. We had a very orderly meeting, and all enjoyed the services. Ministering brethren present from abroad were Conrad Kahler, George Kollar, Edward Loomis, Simon Stuckey, and Joseph Kimmel. The brethren labored faithfully, and the church was greatly encouraged through their earnest labors. May God's blessing rest abundantly upon all, that, when life's work is done, we may meet at God's right hand. REUBEN SHROYER.

Notice to the Churches in the Southern District of Ohio.

LET some one in each congregation, report at once to Eld. J. S. Royer, of Mt. Morris, Ogle Co., Illinois, the number of families in his church district, including also the number of isolated members. If there are German members in your congregation, give also the number of families represented by them, so that every family and isolated member, whether English or German, may obtain a copy of the Minutes of the late Annual Meeting. I will give him the name, post-office, County and State of party to whom they are to be sent.

LANDON WEST, Secretary.

Our Trip to Nebraska.

ON June 28 we started to visit some churches in Nebraska. On the 29th we attended a love-feast at the pleasant home of Peter and Charles Forney, who united with the church while at school at McPherson last winter. Their father, Peter Forney, is the only resident minister in the Beaver congregation. Brethren Stambaugh, Zern, Heiney, Ryan and Lerron from adjoining congregations assisted in the exercises of the meetings. One was baptized, one restored, and others almost persuaded. Bro. Stambaugh, the elder in charge of this and a number of other congregations, has entirely too much work on his hands, and an active missionary corps is greatly needed in Southern Nebraska. It is a beautiful country, crops seldom fail, and if our brethren, who toil in the rocky and hilly parts of Pennsylvania, could realize the difference in farming, many, no doubt, would come West.

On our way we stopped at Beatrice with our dear brother and sister, J. E. Young and wife, and his noble band of Christian workers. We were also delighted to meet brethren E. Zern and S. Price, two of our former students while at Mt. Morris. Only those who have attended school at one of our Brethren's Colleges can realize the pleasure it affords one to meet a student or teacher in after years.

As regards the church in Beatrice, the problem is practically solved of establishing Brethren's churches in cities. Bro. Young and two other energetic brethren assumed the responsibility of erecting a church house 36 by 50 feet, plain but neat, and in every respect adapted to their wants. Then they called Eld. J. S. Mohler and Bro. W. C. Teeter to their assistance, and, under the blessing of the Lord, received thirty-two members by baptism, and have a membership at this time of fifty. Preaching, Sunday-school, and a live prayer-meeting are all well sustained. The self-denying principles of the Brethren church are well observed. What other young minister will work up a live church in some city? S. Z. Sharp.

Echoes from the Highway.

We are yet in the valley of Virginia, one of the strongholds of the Brethren. For over a week we have been visiting and preaching some in the vicinity of Sangersville, Parnassus, Elk Run and Moscow in Augusta County. I well remember when those points were on the outskirts of the community of the Brethren. Here and there were a few scattered members, who rarely got to meeting oftener than at the regular appointments, which were two months apart. Now, at the points named, except Parnassus, the Brethren have good meeting-houses with large attendance of members at their regular meetings. The leaven will work out if persistent efforts are used. In many places more might be accomplished if more energy were manifested in pushing out into unoccupied territory. How often is it that good, efficient ministers, in numbers of six or more, congregate at one meeting, while there are places on the outskirts where their labors are badly needed!

* * *

At Sangersville we notice the Brethren are alive in regard to the Sunday-school interests. At some other points, I am sorry to say, there is not the interest there ought to be in this direction. However, as a rule, the large majority of our Sunday-school efforts show that the Brethren realize the importance of the work. That any one, who himself professes to be walking in the light, should oppose Sunday instruction, is one of the inexplicable things to my mind.

* * *

In my rounds I visited the old neighborhood where I was raised from infancy to the early years of manhood. Time has been busy in destroying many of the old landmarks that I remember so well. However, though half a century has gone by, there is, here and there, a tree, or rocky ledge, that points the mind back to the innocent days of childhood, when, with brothers and sister, we played upon the hill-side or roamed the fields in quest of berries. Those days are past, and we have travelled on, every day nearing the end of this life, and the commencement of another. Shall all of that little number meet, to walk together in the glory land! Father and mother have gone before. O! may their family in heaven be one unbroken union!

* * *

In our visits we meet with that warm hospitality so common to our Brotherhood, and the Southern people in general. Brethren, sisters, and relatives alike, give us warm greetings, more than we are worthy to receive. God will abundantly reward them, and to his bounty and grace we commend them! J. S. Flory.

From the Good Hope Church, Colorado and Nebraska.

Our Communion meeting, June 8, at the house of Bro. R. A. Short, near Neel, Dundy Co., Nebr., was a very pleasant meeting, and very encouraging to the brethren and sisters. Our territory is very large, about one hundred and twenty miles from east to west and about seventy miles north and south. As it is inconvenient for all the members to meet at one time, the church decided to have several love-feasts during the summer,—one at the east end, and one at the west end, and then to have our regular meeting somewhere in the centre so that all could have an opportunity to get to one or the other. Nineteen members were present at the meeting at Bro. Short's. A number of them met for the first time, and for several it was their first love-feast, which made it a happy meeting for them. We had no ministerial help from abroad. A. C. Snowberger and the writer did the ministerial labor.

We wrote to the Home Mission Board of Nebraska to send us some help, as we think this part of Nebraska duly belongs to the Mission Work of Nebraska, but got no one to come. We are still doing what we can in the work, and have some encouragement.

At the feast four were baptized,—one a young girl, who had intended to join one of the popular churches, before she heard the Gospel preached and saw the order of God's house practiced.

The members of the west end of our district, which is in the vicinity of Fleming and Sterling, have chosen the second Saturday in October for their love-feast, so that I will have to be with them at that time. The churches under my care will please notice this and arrange their meetings accordingly. J. S. Snowberger.

From Waynesboro, Pennsylvania.

Our love-feast of May 25 and 26 is now in the past, and a meeting that will long be remembered by many, because of the character of the meeting, which was one among the best in the history of the church. (This is the oldest meeting-house in the Brotherhood.) At an occasion of this kind there never was a larger number of persons gathered. More members were seated at the tables in the evening to commemorate the solemn event of the death of Christ, than for forty years. The very best of order prevailed throughout the meeting. During the hours of service the house was crowded by attentive hearers. We had most excellent preaching. Quite a number of ministering brethren were present, some from a distance. Eld. D. E. Price, of Illinois; Bro. Isaac Frantz, from Pleasant Hill, Ohio; D. D. Bonsacks, of Maryland, and our surrounding ministering brethren, were present, and thus there was no lack. All seemed to be inspired by the right spirit. Eld. Price officiated. Bro. Isaac Frantz, and wife, came to us on May 24, and remained until June 4. He preached several very acceptable sermons for us in our town church. Bro. Frantz is a friend of the Sunday-school. He addressed our school, which effort was highly appreciated by all present. He knows how to interest the children. Bro. Frantz is also taking great interest in the missionary cause, and in the Book and Tract Work. He is selling the "Golden Gleams," which should be in every family.

Bro. Frantz left us on the morning of June 4, with his estimable companion, who is worthy of a word of commendation. She certainly fills her position as a help-mate to her husband in his high and important calling. This every minister's wife should be, for certainly the poor preacher does need encouragement.

The next meeting we attended, was with the dear brethren and sisters upon the Annual Meeting grounds. Oh, what a meeting and feasting it was! What joy was expressed in meeting old-time brethren whose locks are whitened by age! This is now all in the past, and we are at home again, in the field of trial,—yea, gloom and sorrow are still before us. The vacancy is still not filled,—it never will be. We stop, and think, and pray, and then take courage, and say, It will not always last. No, oh, no; we are anxiously looking beyond the river on the ever-green shore. Think, brethren and sisters, if our feelings are so overjoyed in meeting in our great Annual Meeting, what will they be when we meet over there, in our Father's Kingdom? Heavenly Father, keep us faithful until death, is our prayer!

J. F. Oller.

An Appeal to the Members of North-Eastern District of Kansas.

Since in good faith we sent our delegates to District Meeting to transact business, we trust for the Lord, does it not follow then, that the churches should accept the business, transacted by that body, in good faith?

It appears to us that every lawful effort, made to spread the Gospel, should be accepted and supported by every brother and sister that has the love of God and his cause at heart.

We candidly believe that we shall only feel and realize our reward in proportion to the sacrifice we make, and if such be the case, let us fear lest we withhold from the Lord the means he has intrusted into our hands, that, by its proper use, we might inherit blessings, "exceeding great and precious." The good work, begun through our last District Meeting,—looking to a free distribution of the Brethren's tracts throughout our District,—should meet the approval of every brother and sister within its limits. There should be an opening of hearts and purses,—such as becomes men and women professing to be born of God. We feel that the amount asked of us is too meager, compared with a cause of such magnitude. Little as it is, how few,—very few have as yet responded! A few, whose hearts burn with the fire of the Holy Spirit, have answered. God bless them abundantly! May God bless your donations in carrying the light of his counsel to many who sit in darkness! May he grant them to bless you in the resurrection of the just! O, Lord, awaken us all! J. A. Root.

From Green Spring, Seneca Co., O.

The members of Green Spring church held their spring love-feast on Tuesday, June 4. There was a good attendance of home members, mostly. Five were received by letter since last March. We are much in need of the prayers of God's dear children, as we are much opposed by persons laboring under better convictions. May God grant them grace to repent, believe and obey the Truth as it is in Christ Jesus! J. B. Light.

From Prairie Creek Church, Ind.

OUR love-feast, which was held June 18, was one of those pleasant meetings which serve to bind us closer together for time and eternity.

A few days previous to the meeting two young sisters came to the church. An aged sister was received into church relationship, the day of the meeting.

Through the efforts of Bro. George L. Studebaker, who remained and preached for us a few days, two young brethren came forward for baptism. We hope they will be among those who shall hold up the banner of the church in the future, and, by their example, induce their associates to see there is reality in the religion of Jesus.

There are many standing back, offering excuses, and what do they want to be excused from? The great marriage-supper of the Lamb,—the only thing worth living for! Oh, why will people refuse the offer of salvation, when it is the only thing that will bring real enjoyment!

The church at this place is at peace and union with each other and the surrounding churches. Our prayer is that the few who represent the church of Christ may not be discouraged, but may bear the light afflictions which bring a more exceeding weight of glory!

MATTIE SALA.

From Bloomville, Ohio.

OUR communion meeting, June 22 and 23, at the home of Bro. J. R. Fink, was a very pleasant, and, we hope, profitable waiting before the Lord. There was a large attendance of members from surrounding churches, eight of them being represented. Bro. J. C. McMullen, of the Richland church, and another minister were with us. The brethren and sisters all seemed to enjoy the meeting.

Our aged brother, Michael Hull, who was absent from the church for over twenty years, but returned last winter, was with us, and his cup of joy was, apparently, running over. We had two protracted efforts last winter,—one at each of our churchhouses, but no additions. We have preaching every Sabbath, and, a portion of the time, two meetings a day.

S. A. WALKER.

Notice.

I WISH to inform the readers of the MESSENGER in regard to a book that is being sold by agents, entitled "Bible Readings for the Home Circle," published at Battle Creek, Mich.

It treats of over one hundred different subjects, by asking and answering questions. The agents represent it as a book of general interest, and of rare merit in simplifying the Scriptures for all, especially children. The facts are, it is a volume written in defense of the Seventh Day Advent doctrine. Enough of general matter and topics is thrown in to disguise the real character of the book for most of the common minds.

There is no method so well adapted to pervert the truth, and mislead the mind, as the method adopted by the author of this book. To intelligent minds there is no method of treating subjects more unsatisfactory than for the author to ask and answer his own questions.

The work has been sold in our community extensively, and very few persons detected the true character of the book when they purchased. The design of this notice to the readers of the MESSENGER is, to acquaint them with the fact, that, when they subscribe for "Bible Readings for the Home Circle," they may know that they agree to purchase the catechism of the Seventh Day Adventists. I. J. ROSENBERGER.

Covington, Ohio.

From the Vermillion Church, Kansas.

JUNE 22 we held our quarterly council. Considerable business came before the Meeting, and was disposed of according to the Gospel. Elder William Davis, of Morrill, Kans., was with us, and strengthened the church by hearty exhortation. The power of the Gospel manifested itself among us in the conversion of two young sisters. One was received by baptism May 26; the other, ten years of age, was baptized June 23. How cheering to see the lambs of the flock gathered into the fold! Many snares of the fowler may be evaded by coming to the Lord while in the days of youth.

Our feast is appointed for August 31 and September 1, seven miles north of Beattie, at the residence of Bro. S. Studebaker, commencing at 10 A. M. L. H. EBY.

Notice to the Members in Southern Ohio.

By this we would notify the brethren and sisters of Southern Ohio, that on Tuesday, July 30, there is a meeting appointed in the Brethren's house, near Pittsburg, Ohio, to consult and consider regarding the enterprise of establishing a Brethren's school in Southern Ohio. A cordial invitation is given.

The meeting is to commence at 9 A. M. If there are others, outside of Southern Ohio, who desire to be present in the deliberations of the meeting, they will be welcome.

Signed by the Committee.

I. J. ROSENBERGER.
HENRY FRANCE.
JACOB COPPOCK.

Notice to the Churches of Eastern Pennsylvania.

YOU are hereby informed that the District Meeting in 1890 will be held in the Ephrata church. Samuel Harley, Ephrata, Lancaster Co., Pa., is the Corresponding Secretary.

GEO. BUCHER,
Writing Clerk.

Good News.

THE little band of Brethren at Little Walnut, about twenty-three miles from the main body of the church, are still earnestly at work. They appointed a communion for May 24. As they needed more help in the deacon's office, they appointed a church meeting for May 23. Eight of the members from Ladoga were with them at that meeting, and glad to aid them in the Lord's work. Brethren Slavens and Heady, with their wives, were elected and installed into office. We have reason to believe they are in the right place.

Several brethren from abroad arrived in time for the meeting the same evening. Among them were brethren Bowers and Campbell, from Potato Creek church. May 24 we spent in going from house to house until two o'clock, when we again met for worship. While visiting a lonely, widowed sister, we found one daughter who was tired of sin. She said she would join the church at some time. We advised her not to put off such a noble work.

The strong appeals from loving brethren made our feast a joyful meeting. Tears flowed freely. No doubt prayers ascended in behalf of poor sinners. We shed tears of joy with our dear sister to know that the good Spirit found lodgment in the heart of her daughter, who came forward, and desired to unite with the church.

Thirty of our home members surrounded the Lord's tables at Little Walnut. May the strength received give us a burning zeal to grow in the Lord's work! Ministers present were brethren M. Bowers, C. Campbell, L. T. Holsinger, William Harshbarger and T. Watkins. Bro. Harshbarger remained with us over Sunday, and officiated at two funerals.

God bless the work every-where, and may his Spirit abide with us all is our prayer! SALOME WATKINS.

Announcement.

IT is announced that Messrs. FUNK & WAGNALLS, New York Publishers, have in course of preparation a new Encyclopedia of Missions. The need of such a book has long been felt, and has become imperative; not only on account of the great number of Missionary Societies actually at work in all parts of the world, but because of the general interest which Missions are exciting among all classes. The Encyclopedia proposes to give —what is essential to an accurate idea of any great movement—the History, Geography, Ethnology, and Statistics of Missions, from the apostolic times to the present. There will be full Maps, Diagrams, and a copious Index. Nothing will be wanting to make it a complete book of reference for all interested in this great work of the Church. The best authorities on Missions in this country and in England have been consulted, and the materials are being furnished from all parts of the Mission field, by those best qualified to give the most accurate and complete information. Embracing in its scope the work of all branches of the Church in every land, every pastor will welcome it; and many a home, bound by peculiar ties to the foreign field, will find it an invaluable help in understanding the circumstances and labors of those who have gone forth as missionaries.

MATRIMONIAL.

"What therefore God hath joined together, let not man put asunder."

WOLF—RYLEY.—At the residence of the bride's parents, at Glendale, California, June 24, by I. E. Megie, Bro. Aaron Wolf to sister Clara Ryley, both of Glendale, Cal.

FALLEN ASLEEP.

"Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord."

GARRETT.—At Topsail, Pa., in the Ten Mile congregation, Washington Co., Pa., sister Annie Garrett, wife of friend Jacob Garrett, aged 74 years and 10 months. Funeral services by the writer. Text, Isa. 3: 10, 11. She was a consistent member of the Brethren church.

N. B CHRISTNER.

ELLZEY.—In Morristown, Minn., June 18, after a sickness of fourteen months, sister Emma, wife of Bro. Ephraim Ellzey, and daughter of Lemuel J. and Tamar Knight.

Deceased was born in 1863, and united with the Brethren church July 5, 1885. She left the earth in triumph, repeatedly calling upon those about her to sing. She took her loved ones by the hand and bade them goodbye. It was hard for her to leave them.

Those sweet songs in the stillness of the night, and the praises whispered by her dying lips, helped us all to feel the truth of what she said, when she raised her hands and with all the emphasis she could command, whispered, "Jesus is here!"

Oh, the half can never be told on earth, but we shall hear more and more of the wonderful power and love of Jesus when the mists have rolled away and we have come up higher! R. ELLZEY.

MCMEANS.—Near Rocky Ford, Colorado, June 20, 1889, Robert A. McMeans, aged 26 years.

Deceased spent his early life in Iowa, where he contracted consumption. Moving to California, he found no relief there, and removed to this place, but was too far gone to get relief. He leaves a wife and one child to mourn their loss. Services by the writer.

JOHN J. HOOVER

FRIEND.—In Hay County, Nebr., May 30, Bro. George Friend, Sen., aged 74 years, 3 months and 6 days.

Deceased was born in Somerset County, Pennsylvania; was married to Priscilla Herrington, with whom he lived until her death in 1882. He was the father of thirteen children, nine of whom survive him. Funeral services from Rev. 14: 12, 13, to a large congregation of neighbors and friends, by the writer. JOHN S. SNOWBERGER.

WEITZEL.—In the Cherry Grove church, Maryland, June 16, 1889, Elias Weitzel, aged 74 years, 11 months and 13 days.

Bro. Weitzel was one of the strong standard bearers of the Cherry Grove church, and also its elder. He was highly respected by all who knew him both in and out of the church. His daily walk and conduct was a constant sermon. The church has lost one of her exemplary Christians, the neighborhood a good citizen, the wife a kind husband, the children an affectionate father. May the Lord bless his companion and children in their bereavement, and may they so live in the world that when they come to die, they may meet in heaven where no farewell tear is shed. Funeral services by the writer from John 11: 25.

SILAS HOOVER.

STEVICH.—In the Beaver Dam church, Kosciusko Co., Ind., Jan. 22, Cora Victoria Stevich, aged 8 years, 7 months and 11 days. Cause of death, membraneous croup.

The subject of the above notice was attending school at the "Institute for the Education of the Deaf and Dumb," at Indianapolis, and was brought to Palestine, Kosciusko Co., Ind., for interment. Funeral services by the writer, assisted by Samuel Burket.

WM. F. NEAL.

The "Oxford" Teachers' Reference Bibles.

PEARL 16mo.

No. 500. FRENCH MOROCCO, boards $1 40
No 502. FRENCH SEAL, limp, round corners 1 60
No. 503. FRENCH SEAL, divinity circuit, round corners 1 7
No. 514p.i. PERSIAN SEAL, divinity circuit, silk sewed, leather lined, patent index 4 50

RUBY 16mo.

No. 550. FRENCH MOROCCO, boards 2 25
No. 553. FRENCH SEAL, divinity circuit, round corners 2 75
No 564. PERSIAN SEAL, divinity circuit, silk sewed, leather lined, round corners 4 00
No. 564p i. PERSIAN SEAL, same as No. 564, with patent index 5 00
No. 565½. LEVANT, divinity circuit, kid lined, silk sewed, round corners 5 00

NONPAREIL 8vo.

o. 660. TURKEY MOROCCO, board, gilt roll 4 50
No. 661½. TURKEY MOROCCO, limp, round corners 4 75
No. 664. PERSIAN SEAL, divinity circuit, round corners, leather lined 4 50
No. 664p.i. PERSIAN SEAL, same as No. 664, with patent index 6 00
No. 665½. LEVANT, divinity circuit, kid lined, silk sewed, round corners..... 6 00

INDIA PAPER EDITION.

No. 661x. PERSIAN SEAL, divinity circuit, silk sewed, round corners, leather lined 5 25
No 661½x. TURKEY MOROCCO, silk sewed, loose limp, round corners..... 5 25
No. 671x. BEST LEVANT, divinity circuit, kid lined, silk sewed, red under gold edges, round corners 9 00

Address all orders to

BRETHREN'S PUBLISHING CO.,
Or, Huntingdon, Pa. Mount Morris, Ill.

NEW AND COMPLETE

Bible Commentary.

Critical, Explanatory and Practical, by Jamieson, Fausset & Brown, in four large 12mo Volumes of about 1000 pages each. This Work has Numerous Illustrations and Maps. It is far in advance of the Older Works. It is Critical, Practical and Explanatory. It is Compendious and Comprehensive in its character. It has a Critical Introduction to each Book of Scripture, and is by far the most Practical, Suggestive and Popular Work of the kind in the English Language. Price, Cloth, $8.00 post-paid.

BRETHREN'S PUBLISHING CO.,
Or. Huntingdon, Pa. Mt. Morris, Ill.

"LITTLE MISSIONARIES,"—a term applied by some one to our BRETHREN'S ENVELOPES, is well deserved. Price, 15 cents a package; for sale at this office.

A Book for Every Member!

Classified Minutes

— OF —

ANNUAL MEETING.

☞ A full supply of this excellent work still on hand. Every member should have a copy of this work, in order to have a thorough understanding of the deliberations of the Annual Meeting in reference to church government, etc. Price, English Cloth, $1.50, post paid; leather, $2.00.

☞ A responsible agent wanted in each congregation, to whom terms will be furnished upon application. Address,

BRETHREN'S PUBLISHING CO.,
Or, Huntingdon, Pa. Mount Morris, Ill.

Tract Work.

List of Publications for Sale,—Sent Postage Prepaid.

CLASS A.

No. 1. Golden Gleams or Family Chart, ... 85 cts.

CLASS B.

No. 1. Trine Immersion, Quinter, per copy ...$ 1 25
No. 2. Europe and Bible Lands, Miller, per copy,..... 1 50
No. 3. Doctrine of the Brethren Defended, per copy,..... 1 50
No. 4. Classified Minutes—A. M..... 1 50
No. 5. Two Sticks, Eshelman, ... 1 00
No 6 Close Communion, Weeb, per copy 40

CLASS C.

No 1. Annual Report, per copy,.....$ 05
No 2. Path of Life, per 100, $5.00; per copy, 05
No. 3. How to Become a Child of God, per 100, $4 00; per copy,..... 05
No. 4. Conversion, per 100, $2 50; per copy.... 03
No 5. Water Baptism, per 100, $1.50; per copy 02
No. 6. Single Immersion, per 100, $1 50; per copy,..... 02
No. 7. Sabbatism, per 100, $2.50, per copy,..... 03
No. 8. Discussion on Trine Immersion, per copy,..... 15
No. 9. Sermon on Baptism, per copy,..... 03
No. 10. Glad Tidings of Salvation, per copy... 03
No. 11. Life of Eld. S. Weir (Colored), per copy,..... 03
No. 12. Ten Reasons for Trine Immersion, per 100, $1.50, per copy,..... 02

CLASS D.

No. 1. House We Live In, per 100, ...$ 60
No. 2 Plan of Salvation, per 100,..... 60
No. 3. Come, Let Us Reason Together, per 100 60
No. 4. How Shall I Know that my Sins are Pardoned? per 100,..... 60
No. 5. Intemporance, per 100,..... 60
No. 6. Plain Dressing, per 100,..... 60
No. 7 Which Is the Right Church? per 100... 60
No. 8. House We Live In (Swedish), per 100,.. 65
No. 9. House We Live In (Danish), per 100,.. 80
No. 10. Paul Wetzel's Reasons, Etc., (German), per 100,..... 60
No. 11. Sinner, Stop! per 100,..... 60
No. 12. Faith, per 100,..... 60
No. 13. The Light-House, per 100,..... 60
No. 14. Close Communion, per 100,..... 60
No. 15. The Truth Shall Make You Free, per 100,..... 60
No. 16. Modern Skepticism, per 100,..... 60
No. 17. Infant Baptism Weighed in the Balances and Found Wanting, per 100,..... 60

CLASS E.

No. 1. Pause and Think, per 100,..... 80
No. 2. What Do We Need? per 100,..... 80
No. 3. Right or Wrong Way, per 100,... 80
No. 4. Why Am I Not a Christian? per 100,.. 30
No. 5. Saving Words, per 100,..... 30
No. 6. Christ and War, per 100,..... 30
No. 7. The Bond of Peace, per 100,..... 30
No. 8. The Kiss of Charity, per 100,..... 30
No. 9. The Evils of Intemperance, per 100,.. 30
No. 10. The Lost Opportunity, per 100,..... 30
No. 11. Are You a Christian? per 100,..... 30
No. 12. Arise, Get Thee Down, per 100,..... 30
No. 13. A Personal Appeal, per 100,..... 30
No. 14. Lying Among the Pots, per 100,... .. 30
No. 15. Gold and Costly Array, per 100,..... 30
No. 16. The Brethren's Card, per 100,..... 80

Bibles, Testaments, Hymn Books of all styles, at publishers' lowest retail prices, which will be furnished on application.

Address

Brethren's Book and Tract Work,
DAYTON, OHIO

Church Register.

—:o:—

To those who would wish to collect and to preserve a complete history of their congregation and biography of each of their members, with names, dates of baptism or letter, dates of death or letter, and also dates of election, ordination of all the official members, and all events of importance occurring in each congregation, we would say, buy a copy of the Church Register. Price, containing sample pages and instructions, well bound, and sent by mail, $1.00 per copy. Address this office.

PUBLICATIONS

☞ The following books, Sunday-school supplies, etc., are for sale by the Brethren's Publishing Co., Mt. Morris, Ill., or Huntingdon, Pa., to whom all orders should be addressed.

The Brethren's Quarterly.

For Sunday-school teachers and scholars this publication is of the greatest benefit. Look at our prices:

Single subscription, one year .....35 cents.
Single subscription, per quarter..... 10 cents.
Three copies, per quarter..... 25 cents.
Eight copies, per quarter..... 40 cents.
Fifty copies and over..... 4 cents each.

• • • Hymn Books • • •

New Tune and Hymn Books.

Half leather, single copy, post-paid .....$ 1 00
Per dozen, by express 10 00
Morocco, single copy, post-paid..... 1 25
Per dozen, by express 12 00
Morocco, gilt edge, per copy..... 1 50

Hymn Books, English.

Morocco, single copy, post-paid..... .....$ 50
Per dozen, post-paid 9 50
Per dozen, by express 9 00
Morocco, gilt edge, post-paid 1 10
Per dozen, post-paid. 11 75
Per dozen, by express 11 25
Arabesque, single copy, post-paid 55
Per dozen, post-paid..... 5 80
Per dozen, by express 5 30
Sheep, single copy, post-paid ... .
Per dozen, post-paid... .....
Per dozen, by express 5 30
Tuck, single copy, post-paid..... 1 00
Per dozen, post paid..... 10 00
Per dozen, by express 9 50
Fine Limp, post-paid..... 1 00
Per dozen, post-paid 10 00
Fine Limp, single copy, gilt edge, post-paid 1 20
Fine Limp, gilt edge, per dozen..... ..... 13 00
German and English, per copy,..... 90
" " " per dozen; mail, $9.50; express 9 00

The Young Disciple.

The YOUNG DISCIPLE is a neatly printed weekly, published especially for the moral benefit and religious instruction of our young folks.

Single copy, one year.....$ 50
Six copies (the sixth to the agent)..... ... .. 2 50
Ten copies..... ..... 4 00

For Three Months or Thirteen Weeks.

20 copies to one address. $1 70
30 " " " " 2 50
40 " " " " 3 35
50 " " " " 3 80
75 " " " " 5 20
100 " " " " 7 00

For Six Months or Twenty-Six Weeks.

20 copies to one address.....$ 3 35
30 " " " " 5 00
40 " " " " 6 60
50 " " " " 7 50
75 " " " " 10 20
100 " " " " 13 75

Our paper is designed for the Sunday-school and the home circle. We desire the name of every Sunday-school Superintendent in the Brotherhood, and want an agent in every church. Send for sample copies.

Sunday-School Requisites.

The following list of things is needed in all Sunday-schools:

Testaments, Flexible, red edge, per doz $1 00
Minute Books, each..... 50
Class Books, per doz..... 75
Union Primers, with fine engravings, per doz..... 70

New and Beautiful Sunday-School Cards.

"The Gem," 50 picture cards, each with Bible Text, verse of hymn..... 35
250 Reward Tickets—verse of Scripture—red or blue, 80

Miscellaneous Works.

☞ We are prepared to furnish any book in the market at publishers' retail price. Religious works a specialty.

Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress. - An excellent edition of this good work, printed on good paper, finely illustrated with forty engravings, at the low price of $1 00 per copy.

Brown's Pocket Concordance.—This is a very reliable, low-priced work, and very handy for reference. Price, 50 cents.

Biblical Antiquities.—By John Nevin. Gives a concise account of Bible times and customs, invaluable to all students of Bible subjects. Price $1 50

Barnes' Notes.—On the New Testament, 11 vols cloth, $16 50 Barnes' Notes on the Psalms, 3 vols the set, $4 50. Barnes' Notes on Daniel, 1 vol $1.50. Barnes' Notes on Isaiah, 2 vols. the set, $3.00. Barnes' Notes on Job, 2 vols. the set, $3.00.

Close Communion.—By Landon West. Treats this important subject in a simple though conclusive manner. Price 50 cents.

Cruden's Concordance. — A very complete work Price, cloth, $1 50, sheep, $3.00.

Companion to the Bible. — This valuable work is so full of instruction that it can not fail to be of great benefit to every Christian. Price $1 75

Campbell and Owen's Debate.—Contains a complete investigation of the evidences of Christianity Price, $1 50.

Classified Minutes of Annual Meeting.—A work of rare interest for all who desire to be well informed in the church work, from the early days of our Brethren until the present Price, cloth, $1 50; leather, $2 00.

Europe and Bible Lands.—By D L. Miller A book for the people—more comprehensive and thorough than many higher-priced works Price cloth, $1 50; leather, $2.00

Family Bible, with Notes and Instructions. — Contains the harmony of the Gospels, Chronology, Maps, Tables of Weights and Measures, Family Record, eight elegant illustrations, etc. Price, substantially bound, $5 00.

Family Bible.—This is a fine and very complete work. New and old versions of the New Testament side by side; concordance and everything usually found in Bibles of the kind. Price only $4 50 Sent by express only.

German and English Testaments.— American Bible Society Edition. Price 75 cents.

Josephus' Complete Works.—Large type, 1 vol 8vo. Illustrated with many steel and wood engravings. Library sheep, $3.50.

Life on Wheels.—By J S. Mohler. The idea of the book is to represent the way to heaven, by using the different terms connected with an ordinary railroad Price, single copy, 40 cents.

New Testament and Psalms with Notes.—Invaluable for Bible students, Sunday-school teachers, etc. Price, cloth, $2 00.

Origin of Single Immersion.—By Eld. James Quinter. Price, 2 copies, 5 cents; 12 copies, 25 cents; 50 copies, $1 00.

Quinter and McConnell Debate.—A debate on Trine Immersion, the Lord's Supper, and Feet-washing, between Eld James Quinter (German Baptist) and Eld. N A McConnell (Christian) held at Dry Creek, Iowa, 1867. Price, $1.50.

Reference and Pronouncing Testament.—A copious selection of parallel and illustrated passages and a classical pronunciation of the proper names and other difficult words, together with a short dictionary and gazetteer of the New Testament. Price, $1.00, postpaid.

Reason and Revelation.—By R Milligan Should be in the hands of every Bible student. Price $2 00.

Sacred Geography and Antiquities. — A practical, helpful work for Bible students, ministers and Sunday-school teachers. Price, $2.25.

Smith's Bible Dictionary. — Edited by Peloubet. Cloth, $2 00, leather, $3.00.

Sabbatism.—By M. M. Eshelman. Treats the Sabbath question, showing that the first day of the week is the day for assembling in worship. Price 10 cents, 15 copies $1.00.

The Law and Sabbath. — The Gospel and Lord's Day.—Why I Quit Keeping the Jewish Sabbath The author of this pamphlet was once led to observe the Saturday-Sabbath, but has since, after a Bible examination, renounced it as an error. Ample proof against keeping the Jewish Sabbath in the Christian Dispensation is given. Sixty-four pages, printed in nice, clear type. Price 20 cents, 5 copies, $1 00.

Two Sticks, or Lost Ten Tribes of Israel Discovered.—By M M. Eshelman. Maintains that the Anglo-Saxons are the offspring of the Ten Tribes; that the Jews and Israelites are two distinct people, but will again be united in Palestine; 265 pages. Cloth, price, $1.00.

The Path of Life.—An interesting tract for everybody Price 10 cents per copy; 100 copies $6 00.

Trine Immersion.—A vindication of the apostolic form of Christian baptism. By Eld. James Quinter. A most complete and reliable work on the subject. Price, cloth, single copy, $1.25, leather, $1 75.

The House We Live In.—By Daniel Vanman It gives a concise account of the faith and practice of the Brethren. Price, 100 copies, 60 cents.

The Doctrine of the Brethren Defended. — A complete work on the distinctive principles of our Fraternity. Price, cloth, $1.50.

The Story of the Bible.—An excellent volume for old and young; will interest and instruct all those desiring a knowledge of the Scriptures. Price $1.00.

Universalism against Itself.—By Hall. One of the best works against Universalism. Price $1.00.

Full Report of Annual Meeting.

The Report of the meeting for 1889 should be read by all. Price, per copy, 25 cts.; per dozen, $2.50.

HARVEST EXCURSIONS

To the Pan Handle of Texas. Many of the brethren having asked me by letter before and since the Annual Meeting, and personally, while at the Annual Meeting, whether there would be cheap excursions to the Pan Handle of Texas, and as I invariably told them I would answer through the "GOSPEL MESSENGER," I take pleasure now in announcing that the Western States Passenger Association and the Trans-Missouri Association in session at Chicago June 26th, agreed to run Harvest Excursions from Eastern points to and points in Kansas, Colorado, and the Pan Handle of Texas, at the rate of one fare for the round trip, tickets good for thirty days from date of sale, and stop-overs will be allowed within the limits at all points west of the Missouri river. The days of sale are August 6 and 20, September 10 and 24, and October 8.

I will be pleased to answer all further enquiries by mail, by sending maps, routes, etc.

GEO. L. MCDONALD,
Trav. Agt Santa Fe Route,
St. Louis, Mo.

CUT RATES TO THE WEST.

Cheap tickets to all points in Kansas, Colorado, Indian Territory (Oklahoma), Texas and other States and Territories in the West will be sold by The Santa Fe Route from Chicago and other points along the line, on August 6 and 20, September 10 and 24, and October 8.

For particulars ask your Ticket Agent, or write to John J Byrne, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Santa Fe Route, Chicago, Ills.

Announcements.

LOVE-FEASTS.

July 27, Little Traverse church, Emmet County, Michigan. Persons will be met July 26 at Harbor Springs. The G. R. & I. R. Railroads sell half fare tickets to Petoskey during M. E. camp-meeting time.

Aug 10 and 11, at 3 P. M., at the house of B. M. Peterson, Fairview congregation, Sherman Co., Kans.

Aug 10 and 11 North Solomon church, Osborne County, Kansas, one and one-half miles north of Portis.

Aug 10 at 2 P. M., Ogan's Creek, five miles southeast of North Manchester, Wabash Co., Ind.

Aug. 24 and 25 at 1 P. M., Oak Grove congregation at Stone meeting-house ten miles south of Iowa City. Persons coming by rail stop at Iowa Junction on B. C. R. & N. Railroad.

Aug. 31, at 3 o'clock P. M., Turkey Creek church, Pawnee Co., Nebraska, at H. C. Martin's 2½ miles north-west of Dalbus station on Rock Island Railroad at which place persons will be met and conveyed to place of meeting on the 31st, or if coming sooner, notify H. C. Martin, Dalbus, Neb. Those coming to Table Rock on B. & M. R. R. notify B. F. Flory.

Aug. 31 and Sept. 1, at 10 A. M., Vermillion church Marshall Co., Kansas at Simon Studebaker's 7 miles north of Beattie Kansas.

Sept. 3, at 10 A. M., Sugar Ridge church, Hancock Co., Ohio.

Sept. 6, at 10 A. M., Olathe church, Kans., at the residence of Wm. Frank, 1 mile north of Olathe.

Sept. 7, at 3 P. M., Berrien church, Berrien County, Michigan.

Sept. 7 and 8, at 3 P. M., Frederic, Monroe Co., Ia.

Sept. 7 and 8, at 10 A. M., Antietam Chapel, ½ mile from Dupont, Ohio, on the Clover Leaf Railroad; 2½ miles from Hartsburg, on the Nickle Plate Railroad.

Sept. 7 and 8, at 2 P. M., Juniata congregation, 1 mile south and ½ mile east of Roseland Adams Co., Neb.

Sept. 13, at 10 A. M., Sugar Creek church, Whitley Co., Ind.

Sept. 14 and 15, at 10 A. M., Sabetha, Kans.

Sept. 21, at 11 A. M., Killbuck church, Ind., 9 miles west of Muncie, on the Jackson Pt. Pike. Those coming by rail will be met at Reed Station, by notifying Job Mahoney, Reed, Delaware Co., Ind., or Walter Bowers, Gilman, Madison Co., Ind.

Sept 28 and 29, at 11 A. M., English River congregation, Keokuk Co., Iowa.

ADVERTISEMENTS.

Rates per Inch each Insertion.

One time or more	$1 50
One month (4 times)	1 20
Three months (12 times)	1 20
Six months (26 times)	1 00
One year (52 times)	75
No advertisement accepted for less than	1 00

☞ No Cuts inserted, unless on metal base. No double-column or objectionable advertisements admitted.

McShane Bell Foundry
Finest Grade of Bells.
CHIMES AND PEALS FOR CHURCHES, &c.,
Send for Price & Catalogue. Address
H. McSHANE & CO.,
Mention this paper. Baltimore, Md.

ROYAL

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and can not be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. SOLD ONLY IN CANS

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO.,
106 Wall St., N. Y.

EUROPE
AND BIBLE LANDS!

BY D. L. MILLER.

THE large sale of this work gives abundant proof of its popularity. The eighth edition is almost exhausted, and a new edition will be necessary to supply the demand. The following partial list will give an idea of the contents of the work:

Life in Germany.—Berlin.—The King's Palace.—Dresden.—The Crown Jewels.—Women in Germany.—The City of Prague.—The Martyrdom of John Huss.—The Habits and Customs of the People.—Bro. Hope's Work in Denmark.—Old Castles and Prisons of the Middle Ages.—Paul's Preaching at Mars' Hill.—Old Temples at Athens.—The Seven Churches of Asia.—Ephesus, and the Temple of Diana.—Jaffa.—The House of Simon, the Tanner.—Plain of Sharon.—Lepers and Leprosy.—Mountains of Judea.—Jerusalem. Place of Crucifixion.—Mount Moriah.—Solomon's Temple.—Mount Zion.—David's Tomb.—Bethlehem.—The Fields Where the Shepherds Watched their Flocks by Night.—Rachel's Tomb.—Mount of Olives.—The Garden of Gethsemane.—Jericho.—The Dead Sea.—River of Jordan.—Beirut.—The Mountains of Blessing and Cursing.—Nazareth.—Cana of Galilee. The Sea of Galilee.—Capernaum.—Damascus.—Ruins of Baalbec.—Customs, Manners, Habits and Home Life of the Arabs.

Bro. Miller visited the places he describes and tells about them in an easy, pleasant manner, which makes the book exceedingly interesting. It contains 439 pages, and 40 engravings, among which are a number of full-page illustrations of Palestine scenery. It is printed on heavy, tinted paper, in clear-faced type, bound in a good, substantial manner, and will be sold at the very low price of $1 50 per copy, cloth binding, postage prepaid.

SPECIAL RATES TO MINISTERS.—In order to have a copy of the book placed in the hands of all our ministers, we make them the following liberal offer: Send one dollar for the book and sixteen cents to pay postage, and you will receive a copy by return mail.

Agents wanted, to whom liberal terms will be given. Address all orders to

BRETHREN'S PUBLISHING CO.,
Mt. Morris, Ill.

CLASSIFIED MINUTES OF ANNUAL MEETING.

In order to introduce this excellent work more fully in all parts of the Brotherhood, we would like to secure a live, energetic agent in every congregation to whom we will give special inducements; terms made known on application. Address, Brethren's Publishing Co.

To California.

SPECIAL parties leave Chicago every Thursday over the Santa Fe Route through to California. These parties are accompanied by a special Conductor whose duty it is to look after the comfort and security of passengers en route, and this feature makes the journey pleasant. Low rates are made for persons joining these parties.

If you think of going to California write to or call upon James Wallace, 212 Clark Street, Chicago, Ill.

Victor Remedies!

These Remedies consist of Victor Liver Syrup, Victor Pain Balm, Victor Infant's Relief, Victor Lung Syrup, Victor Pills, Victor Liniment, Victor Poultry, Horse and Cattle Powders. These Remedies are all sold under a guarantee. If you cannot get them from your merchant, send his name to us, and we will arrange so he has them in stock if he is reliable. Send for circulars. Address:

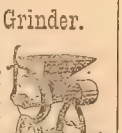
VICTOR REMEDIES CO.,
6tf Frederick, Md.

HYDRAULIC CIDER PRESS.

A Surprise to all who have used it, making, on an average, Four Gallons of Cider to the bushel of Apples.

This press has given universal satisfaction and is decidedly the best thing out for the business. I can give best of references from Brethren who have used it. Send two-cent stamp for catalogue to

A. A. WEAVER,
WARRENSBURG, MO.



Young America!

It will pay you to do your own grinding on a mill that grinds corn with or without cobs, as well as all kinds of small grain. Our mill is simple, strong and durable. Send for catalogue & price

—WE ALSO MAKE THE—

Enterprise Feed Grinder.

Warranted to grind all kinds of grain. The new principle on which the grinding-plates are made, gives them a larger grinding capacity, and makes them more durable than any other style. For further particulars address,

Enterprise M'f'g. Co.,
(Mention this paper.) Columbiana, Ohio

SALESMEN Wanted, local and traveling. Positions permanent. Salary from 75 to $150 per month. Experience unnecessary. Brand New. Nurserymen, Chicago, Ill.

Manuscript Tablets.

THOSE who write for the press, should be provided with the proper material to do it neatly, and without incurring too great an expense in mailing the production to the publisher, when completed. Our manuscript paper is made to meet that want,—just thick enough to write well, and thin enough to send a great number of sheets in a letter, without increasing the postage. Price, only 20 cents per tablet. Address this office.

Wanted!

We want brethren in every district to sell our Fertilizers. We manufacture a number of different grades, so as to suit all buyers, viz.,

Blood and Bone Dissolved, Raw Bone and Potash, High Grade Super Phosphate of Bone, Soluble Ammoniated Bone Phosphate and Chemicals!

All the above brands have stood the test for years, and in field contests have proved to be second to none on the market.

We guarantee to keep up the present high standard of these different brands, and feel assured you can save money by buying from us. Write for terms, circulars, etc. Address,

D. BLOCHER & CO.,
11m6 Gettysburg, Pa.

The Original Trans-Continental Line.

The Union Pacific Railway. "The Overland Route" runs daily trains from Council Bluffs, Omaha and Kansas City to Denver, Salt Lake City, Sacramento, San Francisco, Los Angeles and Portland.

Quick time across the continent.

Elegant equipment, consisting of latest Pullman Palace Cars and Day Coaches.

The Golden Gate Special, "The Finest Train in the World" leaves Council Bluffs every Wednesday morning for San Francisco; electric light, steam heat, bath rooms, smoking rooms and observation cars are only a few of the many conveniences offered on this train.

This company has also for sale in Kansas and Colorado, 3,000,000 acres of choice farming lands; only one-tenth cash down and balance on ten years' time at seven per cent interest. Fare paid over the Union Pacific by persons who go to see the land, is refunded if land is purchased.

The Union Pacific Railway company has also 3,000,000 acres of land in Wyoming and Utah for sale at very low prices. Best ranch land in the world on liberal terms.

For full information in regard to rates, time-tables, maps, price of lands, etc., address,

THOS L KIMBALL,
Gen'l Manager.
C. J SMITH,
Gen'l Land Com.
J. S TEBBETS, Gen'l Pass Ag't.
50 OMAHA, NEB.

J. B. COLCLESSER,

ROANOKE, HUNTINGDON CO., IND., Breeder of Purely-bred Poland China Swine. My herd is made up of the most fashionable strains known to the breed. Stock recorded in C. R. and O. R. Pigs and aged animals for sale. Gilts bred and for sale January and February 1890. Breeding a specialty. Correspondence or personal inspection solicited. 22t25

WHEN YOU TRAVEL

Take the
Line selected by the United States Government to carry the Fast Mail,—the

As it is the Line running Through Trains to and from the following cities and towns on its own Lines:

CHICAGO,
AURORA, OTTAWA,
STREATOR, ROCKFORD, DUBUQUE,
LA CROSSE, ST. PAUL, MINNEAPOLIS,
MENDOTA, PEORIA, GALESBURG, ST. LOUIS,
QUINCY, KEOKUK, BURLINGTON, WASHINGTON,
OSKALOOSA, DES MOINES, CHARITON,
CRESTON, ST. JOSEPH, ATCHISON,
KANSAS CITY, NEBRASKA CITY,
OMAHA, COUNCIL BLUFFS,
LINCOLN & DENVER,

Making Direct Connections

TO AND FROM

NEW YORK,
BALTIMORE, WASHINGTON,
CINCINNATI, PHILADELPHIA, BOSTON,
NEW ORLEANS, LOUISVILLE, SAN FRANCISCO,
LOS ANGELES, SALT LAKE CITY, COLORADO AND
PACIFIC COAST RESORTS, CITY OF MEXICO,
PORTLAND, OREGON, MANITOBA,
VICTORIA AND PUGET SOUND
POINTS.

Good Equipment,
Good Service,
Good Connection.

For information concerning the Burlington Route, apply to the nearest Ticket Agent of the C., B. & Q. or connecting railroads.

HENRY B. STONE, General Manager,
PAUL MORTON, Gen'l Pass. & Ticket Agt.,
CHICAGO, ILL.

THE GOSPEL MESSENGER.

"Set for the Defense of the Gospel."

Vol. 27. Old Series. Mt. Morris, Ill., and Huntingdon, Pa., July 23, 1889. No. 29.

The Gospel Messenger.

H. B. BRUMBAUGH, Editor,
And Business Manager of the Eastern House, Box 50
Huntingdon, Pa.

BELIEVE IT NOT.

"Does Death end all! Then whence the power
That moves this wondrous frame?
Whence the decree that in a breath
May quench life's fitful flame?
Matter is senseless and inert—
'Tis dead—it can not move
Without some power beyond itself—
None can this fact disprove.

Does Death end all? The human brain
With grand ideas how rife,
While moved to rapid action,
By that mystery called Life!
But when the awful voice of Death
Hath summoned life away,
What is this wondrous, subtle brain
But inert, senseless clay?

Does death end all? This human life
Ye children of the sod,
What is it but Divinity—
The breath of mighty God?
Breathed in man's nostrils, ere he woke—
So reads the sacred scroll—
And man, arising from the dust,
Became a living soul.

Does Death end all, ye skeptical?
Can aught destroy God's breath?
Will it not live eternally,
Superior to death?
The power that organized the brain,
And set It into play,
Must still exist and operate
When man has passed away.

Does Death end all? Believe it not—
Things earthly must depart—
The mountain, seas, and sun and moon
From their fixed planes may start,
But vast eternity—its waves
Forever on will roll!
Naught can destroy the breath of God—
The wondrous human soul!"

—Selected

INCONSISTENCY.

BY JOHN HERR.

COULD we but be consistent in all things, we could wield a much stronger influence for good, but in our weakness and shortsightedness we are sometimes very inconsistent, and, being viewed from a critical stand-point, room is afforded for skepticism. A skeptic lately said to me, he would join a church if he could find one that was living up to its profession. This brought to my mind what I once heard an elder say in a sermon to critics and skeptics. "If you think we are not running the church right, come in and help us do it better." Since it is true that we do sometimes greatly err, let us note a few inconsistencies, with a view to greater watchfulness in the future, both as individuals and as a collective body.

It is inconsistent to profess godliness, while we have not divested ourselves of such vices as anger, wrath, envy, malice, blasphemy, filthy communication, etc., which must all be laid aside. Col. 3: 8; 1 Peter 2: 1.

It is inconsistent for a Christian to engage in all kinds of foolish jesting and idle conversation. Matt. 12: 36, 37; Eph. 5: 4.

It is consistent for a Christian to boast of being able, or threaten to resent an insult, or to avenge himself in the least. When Christ was reviled, he reviled not again; when he suffered, he threatened not. 1 Peter 2: 23; 3: 9.

It is inconsistent to claim to love Jesus and to be one of his followers and refuse to do his bidding. "He that hath my commandments and keepeth them, he it is that loveth me." John 14: 21.

It is inconsistent to sit in judgment over an erring one, while we ourselves are guilty of plain Gospel violation. Oh, how carefully we should go into a critical self-examination, before rendering judgment against another!

It is inconsistent to have decisions of Annual Meeting re-affirmed, classified and preserved in a form for future reference, and then utterly to disregard them, as is sometimes done in the installing of officers, etc. See pages 279, 298, Classified Minutes.

It is inconsistent to speak disparagingly of prayer-meetings, and at the same time admit that the apostles held prayer-meetings, Acts 1: 14. If it is best to keep them out of your arm of the church, because of weak members, do so, but do not fail to use your influence in favor of them. If practiced in the primitive church, teach it so, preach it and advocate it until you get every member to crave its privileges, and rejoice in its blessings!

TO PARENTS.

BY H. SHAFFER.

WHEN we look around on every hand and see what awaits our children in the future, we should be awakened to a full sense of duty, which we owe to them, in the care, the training and welfare of them, in order that we may not blight these bright and precious buds of promise upon which many of our future hopes depend. But, oh, how often are they neglected, both temporally and spiritually! Were the time that is often spent by mothers, in some trivial accomplishment, employed in learning how to bring up their children, how to dress them properly, how to supply them with wholesome and nourishing food, how to exercise them best for their growth and for the development of their minds,—if these were made the objects of female instruction, mankind would derive much greater advantages from it. If mothers would reflect on their own importance and lay it to heart, they would, no doubt, spend more time in the careful training of the dear little ones who so earnestly confide in them. If the education of mothers imply little more than what relates to dress and public show, we have nothing to expect of them but ignorance,—even in things of more importance.

The dear mother is not the only one concerned in the management of children. The father has an equal interest in their welfare and ought to assist in everything that respects either the improvement of their body or mind. As the twig is bent so is the tree inclined. Then let us endeavor to win their young and tender hearts and to teach them the first commandment with promise. If they are to honor us, let us see that we be worthy of their honor. If they shall obey us in the Lord, let us command them in the Lord. Let us "not provoke our children to wrath, but bring them up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord." "Train up a child in the way he should go and when he is old he will not depart from it."

Christ loved and blessed the little ones and said, "Suffer little children to come unto me," and used them as a symbol of his kingdom. Let us, each day, become more like them in humility and forbearance, and when we call them around our family altar, to invoke God's blessings upon them, let us ask him for wisdom and knowledge to instruct and train them aright, "for a wise son maketh a glad father, but a foolish son is the heaviness of his mother." "He that soweth iniquity shall reap vanity." By humility and the fear of the Lord are riches, and honor and life." Fathers and mothers, let us not neglect them! We know not what their calling may be, and our words and actions may speak to them in soft and tender tones when we are silently sleeping in our mother dust, awaiting the happy meeting on the other shore. Oh! let us not be weary in well-doing, for in due season we shall reap if we faint not. Remember "God shall bring everything into judgment with every secret thought and every secret thing whether it be good or whether it be evil." Let us "cast our bread upon the waters."

Cherry Grove, Va.

NOT SATISFIED.—"I was lately looking out of my window at night, and I saw the stars in heaven and God's great, beautiful arch over my head, but I could not see any pillars on which the great Builder had fixed his arch; yet the heavens fell not, and the great arch stood firmly. There are some who are always feeling for the pillars and longing to touch them; and because they can not touch them, they stand trembling and fearing lest the heavens should fall. If they could only grasp the pillars, then the heavens would stand fast."

OUR FAITH.—He is Son of Man and Son of God. This is the surety of our faith. He was man, tempted in all points as we are tempted, yet without sin. In this his manhood conquered. He was God. Ere he gave up the ghost upon the cross he prayed for his enemies and slayers: Father, forgive them, they know not what they do. He was God. When He died the heavens put on mourning, and the earth rocked with emotion. He was God. He came forth from the rock-hewn sepulchre, having finished his offering for sin and given the last touch of fullness and joy to the Gospel of redemption and resurrection. Christ has risen from the dead. Our faith is not in vain. "Death is swallowed up in victory." "Thanks be to God, which giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ."—Selected.

"IT is wise not to seek a secret and honest not to reveal it."

ESSAYS.

"Study to show thyself approved unto God; a workman that needeth not be ashamed, rightly dividing the Word of Truth."

LIFE.

In this world of busy action
As we travel to and fro,
Oft we hear dire lamentations;
Listen to sad tales of woe.
Oft we see the outcast brooding
O'er his sorrows, sad and rife;
Hear humanity complaining
Of the wrongs and ills of life.

True, our hearts must meet with sadness,
Life gives grief as well as joy;
Every transitory pleasure
Time will banish and destroy.
But regrets and vain reproaches
We should from us bravely cast.
We should never mar the present
With the anguish of the past.

Then arise and muse no longer
On thy sad adversity,
Life is no mere inclination
But a stern reality.
Bravely fight through all life's battles,
Trample each resentment down.
We must bear the cross in earnest
If we'd ever win the crown.

Were it wise to cloud our pathway
With the shadows of the past?
Should we cling to that which only
Brings us bitterness at last?
True, we meet with wrongs and trials;
True, we're faced by sin and strife;
But since life is what we make it
Why not make the best of life?

—Sadie C. Brallier.

ORDINANCES TO BE KEPT.

BY B. F. MOOMAW.

We are sometimes censured for saying too much about keeping the ordinances, as attaching too much importance to them and thereby detracting from the weightier matters, and we admit that it is a point necessary to be guarded, because of the danger of gliding into a mere mechanical observance of them, and, in proportion, declining in "the weightier matters,—judgment, mercy, and faith."

The reason why we say so much as we do on this subject, is, because the other extreme is becoming so prominent and this "left undone," Matt. 23: 23, Luke 11: 42, thus becomes the object of derision as in the days of the prophets of whom it is said, "Your words have been stout against me, saith the Lord. Yet ye say, What have we spoken so much against thee? Ye have said, It is vain to serve God: and what profit is it that we have kept his ordinance, and that we have walked mournfully before the Lord of hosts?" Mal. 3: 13-15.

But to the question, What are the ordinances that are to be kept?

"Ordinance is a rule established by authority, a permanent rule of action," and when taken in a Bible sense it is exceedingly broad, so much so that if reference were made to it in detail, it would make a volume, but being so well arranged in its adaptation to intelligent minds, it is all comprehended in the saying of the mother of Christ, "Whatsoever he saith unto you, do it."

As a part of the ordinances enjoined upon the church of Christ, we notice that there is a diversity of opinion and of practice and in the way of drawing the line attempted to be drawn by the different schools of theology, between what is regarded as the greater and the less important,—the essential and the non-essential. They are called sacraments which, in my judgment, does not materially change the matter in its application. In the theological sense we have the following definition: "One of the solemn religious ordinances enjoined by Christ, the Head of the Christian church, to be observed by his followers; a sacred ceremony used to bind and impress an obligation."

The Roman and Greek churches have seven sacraments, viz., Baptism, the Lord's Supper, Confirmation, Penance, Holy Orders, Matrimony, and Extreme Unction, which means the anointing of oil at the dying hour. Protestants, as a rule, acknowledge only two sacraments or church ordinances to be kept, viz., Baptism and the Lord's Supper, or Eucharist. The apostolic pattern, however, embraces the following: "Baptism," an ordinance by which a penitent believer is introduced into fellowship with the church, becomes a member of the divine family, in which the ordinances of feet-washing and the Lord's Supper (the Eucharist) are to be kept; that is to say, be practiced as a sacrament in the church. The salutation of the kiss is regarded by some as an ordinance and to be kept as such. Although it does not appear as a command by Christ, yet, having the Apostolic injunction, it is certainly intended to be observed in some way. If not in the form of an ordinance, it is intended as the Christian mode of salutation, and ought to be respected when any salutation would be in place.

It will be understood by the foregoing that we do not understand that baptism is an ordinance to be kept as other ordinances, but, if rightly observed once, is not to be repeated. If this theory is correct, then those that hold there are only two sacraments or ordinance enjoined, while practicing only the Eucharist are keeping an ordinance only and not ordinances, and come short of the commendation of Paul as pronounced upon the Corinthian church,—"Now I praise you, brethren, that ye remember me in all things and keep the ordinances as I delivered them to you." 1 Cor. 11: 2. He further says that he had received of the Lord that which he had delivered unto them, referring them to the night of the betrayal as the time and place when these things were instituted. He must have referred to the ordinances then and there instituted and celebrated, nothing being said or done about baptism in that night, and if we practice only the Eucharist, we do not "keep the ordinances" but only an ordinance. Sacrament denotes an oath or vow and has been applied to the Lord's Supper, where the most sacred vows are renewed in commemoration of the death of the Redeemer.

Eucharist denotes the giving of thanks, and this term has also been applied to the same ordinance, as expressing the grateful remembrance of Christ's sufferings and death. Some receive the sacrament as a means to procure great graces and blessings; others, as a Eucharist and an office of thanksgiving for what they have received. If received in faith, whether as a sacrament, ordinance or Eucharist, a blessing will attend it.

JOY IN GOD.

BY C. H. BALSBAUGH.

Beloved Sister:—

Your Spirit-indited, heaven-freighted epistle is here. I am bound to thank God always for you, as it is meet, because that your faith groweth exceedingly, and your charity aboundeth. 2 Thess. 1: 3. It is manifest that God has counted you worthy of His high calling; and He will fulfill all the good pleasure of His goodness, and the work of faith with power. 2 Thess. 1: 11. I have no words to tell how glad I am that you have found the Messiah, which is, being interpreted, the Christ. John 1: 41. What He has done for you is wonderful, but "thou shalt see greater things than these." John 1: 50. If you are faithful you will have the full exhibition of verse 51, and 2 Cor. 3: 18. Such Christ-beholding, Christ-reflecting folks are, as you remark, generally put in the category of the cranky and fanatic. Blessed fanaticism! I wish my whole soul were saturated with it. I accept every word contained in your letter as the exact "truth as it is in Jesus." The church has scarcely caught an inkling of the fulness of Him in whom dwelleth all the fulness of the Godhead bodily. Very God in flesh and blood, and all this limitless deposit at the command of faith. No wonder Christ says, "O fools, and slow of heart to believe all that the prophets have spoken." Luke 24: 25. We "limit the Holy One of Israel" by our doubt and mistrust. I know well by bitter experience how hard to reach the point of absolute repose in God; and equally clear is the ease and certainty of rest and victory to them that believe. To believe is not always easy, but all things are easy to faith. There is no effort in exercising faith but it is a mighty strain to get it oftentimes. A deep, painful plowing, harrowing, rending, and reconstruction are requisite to put us into a believing position. The mill will run itself if it can be got to the stream. What a mighty can not lurks in our self-esteem and love of approbation. John 5: 44.

The trial of your native propensities is no doubt severe. The trial of your faith is only indirect. But fiery trials lead to Pentecostal Fires of Holiness and Peace and Power. 1 Pet. 4: 12, 13, 14. "Rejoice: happy are ye." Why? Because it is pleasant? Because congenial to human nature? O no, but because we are partakers of Christ's sufferings; that when "His glory shall be revealed, we may be glad also with exceeding joy." Faith itself is precious above all finite thought, and the trial of faith is precious above fire-purged gold, so that it "might be found unto praise and honor and glory at the appearing of Jesus Christ." 1 Pet. 1: 7. If people call you demented because you "rejoice in the Lord always," "with joy unspeakable and full of glory," "be not ashamed, but glorify God on this behalf." Philpp. 4: 4; 1 Pet. 1: 8 and 4: 16. To be a fool for Christ is the summit of wisdom. There is so little joy among professors of religion because so little sympathy with the heart of Jesus. Love that chooses the Cross for the expression of its fervor, and the vehicle of its aims, is not easily chilled. On Golgotha we see into the bottom of the Bosom of Jehovah. To dwell there is Heaven. John 3: 16, 17. 1 John 4: 16.

In sober truth I do not see how we can realize the Divine Ideal in Christ without such a rupture with the world and a worldly-minded church, as to be regarded as ascetic and offensively peculiar. To aim at God-likeness, having a goal of perfection and blessedness no lower than God Himself, seems to not a few of the professed disciples of Jesus the consummation of extravagance. "AS HE IS so are we in THIS WORLD." 1 John 4: 17. In this very fact is our love perfected, that we may have boldness in the day of judgment." The self-love, money-greed, fashion-worship, and world-aping, so sadly prevalent in the church, debar the assimilation to God in holiness and rapture made possible in Emmanuel. Faith does it all, but such faith has such terribly self-annihilating antecedents and concomitants, that few ever discover the great sweet secret of rest in God. Some spot of filth in flesh or spirit is left unpurged, and so holiness is not perfected, and the soul remains weak, vacillating, unsatisfied, and devoid of the comfort of the Holy Ghost. The seventh of Romans is the necessary first chapter of the Christian life; but the eighth is the history of its development, and its glorious consummation. It begins with "no condemnation," and ends with "no separation." God will not accept a single soul into the fellowship of His Peace and Glory, save through participation in the crucifixion of His only begotten Son. Rigid terms, but most reasonable. Thus, or never. It is an eternal necessity. "Be ye holy, for I am holy."

BLESSINGS.

BY MARY M. COX.

In considering this subject, I shall briefly notice some of the blessings promised by the Savior in his memorable "Sermon on the Mount." "Seeing the multitude, he went up into a mountain: and when he was set, his disciples came unto him: and he opened his mouth and taught them." In this sermon he taught not only these disciples who were gathered around him, but all who, from that time forth, should believe on him.

Among those that are blessed are the mourners. "Blessed are they that mourn: for they shall be comforted." When the dark clouds of sorrow gather around us and envelop us in their sable folds, when our hearts are well-nigh broken and our sorrows seem greater than we can bear, the immaculate Son of God says to us, "Blessed are you, for you shall be comforted." It is, indeed, a comfort to be allowed to go to Jesus and tell him all our trials! When the voice of a loved one is forever hushed in death, and our hearts are crushed by sorrow, and our homes are empty and desolate, because we can no more see the loved face and hear the dear voice, Jesus says, "I am the resurrection and the life; he that believeth on me, though he were dead, yet shall he live." We read, "The hour is coming in which all that are in their graves shall hear his voice and shall come forth!"

Blessed words of comfort! Though our loved ones now lie in the lonely graves, yet we know they will again come forth and we will see them again! Then we will be comforted! The long lonely days will have ended. The sorrows of earth will be over and God will wipe all tears from our eyes.

"Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth." The Savior himself was meek and lowly, thus giving an example to all who would follow him. If we would receive the promised blessing, we must follow in his footsteps, ever remembering to give the soft answer that turneth away wrath and to return good for evil. We must humble ourselves, for he that humbleth himself shall be exalted; and he that exalteth himself shall be brought low.

"Blessed are they that do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled." Who that is a follower of Jesus does not hunger and thirst after righteousness? All such have the assurance that they shall be filled. Those that are filled with righteousness will live righteous lives and will know that they have the approval of the Heavenly Father.

"Blessed are the merciful: for they shall obtain mercy." We know not how soon we may need the mercy of our fellow-men and if we wish to obtain it, we must be merciful to others. The sins of others always appear greater to us than our own, yet none of us live perfect lives, and we often need the compassion of others, and we ever stand in need of the pity and pardon of our Creator. If we wish to obtain mercy, we must also be merciful.

One of the most precious promises made by the Savior in this sermon is to the pure in heart. "Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God." Happy, indeed, will those be who are accounted worthy to behold the Living God. What an inducement this should be to us to live holy lives and to be indeed pure in heart!

"Blessed are the peace-makers: for they shall be called the children of God." To be a child of God is indeed a blessed thing, but to be such, we must ever strive to make peace. When troubles arise in the church among the members, or in the neighborhood or in the family, we must not find out all we can about it and then tell it to those for whom it was not intended, thus making the trouble worse. If we can not make peace, we can at least do nothing to add to the trouble, which, if let alone, would in time be forgotten. It is tale-bearing that causes much of such trouble, and tale-bearers do much in keeping such matters alive.

"Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness' sake, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven." We are not apt to look upon persecutions as blessings, but if we are persecuted because we are living righteous lives, the Savior declares us blessed, because the kingdom of heaven is ours; that is, we belong to the kingdom of heaven and form a part of it. We say, "The United States is our country," or "The State we live in is our State." We do not mean that we own them but that we form a part of them and share the blessings and privileges of a free country, with the rest of its inhabitants. So also we do not become owners of the kingdom of heaven by merely living righteous lives, but we become a part of it and enjoy the blessings.

DEAD TO THE WORLD.

BY GEO. L. JENNINGS.

It is thinking more highly of one's self than we ought to think, which prevents us from sinking into nothingness before God, and unless this be our experience, we can not understand the true nature of humility. Much has been said on this subject, and it is generally lamented that so much pride or extravagance in dress is found in our modern churches.

It is true there is no sin more hateful to God than pride, and it seems to be the last to expire in the soul of a saint.

This monster, "pride," has many faces, and is not always visible in the fashionable exterior, yet we admit that a proud heart very frequently manifests itself by indulging in this sinful practice.

A plain exterior may cover a proud heart, yet a fashionable exterior seldom, if ever, covers an humble heart. Outward adorning is strictly forbidden in 1 Peter 3: 3, 4: "Whose adorning, let it not be that outward adorning in putting on of apparel; but that inward adorning, even the ornament of a meek and quiet spirit, which is, in the sight of God, of great price."

Here we have humility of heart, and, if we have crucified the flesh with its affection and lusts, according to Gal. 5: 24, there will not be that sinful indulgence of fashionable dress and foppery, yet it seems scarcely worth while to be wasting time in denouncing extravagance in dress, unless we, at the same time, speak about redeeming ourselves from the love of this sinful practice. This point seems to be neglected by some, while they complain of pride in the church. While the root is yet alive, the weed will come forth, though it may at times seem to be destroyed. Destroy the root and the tree will die.

The Bible not only demands restriction from all evil propensities, but salvation from them; therefore let us lift up a Savior that can save from the love of all that God forbids. Unless we do so, we are ourselves, in a great measure, at least, the cause of pride or carnality in the church. Holiness of heart must be the theme, and pride, with every other evil desire, will vanish and disappear. Oh, brother and sister in Christ, are you dead to the world? Remember, pride or self-conceit was the cause of the devil's downfall! It caused our first parents to fall, they not being satisfied with their present state, but desiring to be as wise as God. Pride will cause us to fall, sooner or later, and will end in the loss of all forever, unless we are saved from it. Blessed be God, the blood of Jesus Christ cleanses from all sin!

Middletown, Ind.

MUSINGS SUGGESTED BY READING HYMNS NUMBER 669, 670, 671.

BY FANNY MORROW.

We are often led to realize that we are:

"Travelers through the wilderness,
To Canaan's peaceful shore."

"Nor eye has seen, nor ear has heard,
Nor sense nor reason known,
What joys the Father has prepared,
For those who love the Son."

"But the good Spirit of the Lord
Reveals a heaven to come,
The beams of glory in his Word,
Allure and guide us home."

So, led by that good Spirit, we can with the poet sing:

"On Jordan's stormy banks I stand,
And cast a wishful eye
To Canaan's fair and happy land,
Where my possessions lie."

My possessions! Christians sometimes love to view their broad acres and earthly possessions, but let us now, for a while, forget alike our poverty and our riches,—that we may by faith cry out:

"Oh the transporting rapturous scene,
That rises to my sight!
Sweet fields arrayed in living green,
And rivers of delight."

Delightful beyond the power of language to express must be such fields of "living green," with no unsightly weeds or thorns, or burning drought to spoil their beauty, which is enhanced ten thousand fold by the presence of the rippling, refreshing, crystal-like streams of water!

"There generous fruits that never fail,
On trees immortal grow:
There rocks, and hills, and brooks, and vales
With milk and honey flow."

In this world the husbandman plants and prunes, labors and waits long in hopes of eating some fruit of his own raising. How often he is disappointed by some untimely frost or destructive storm, robbing him of his expected treasures! What would even this world be with an abundant supply of fruit every year? No failures, no disappointments,—try and imagine such a state of affairs, and you can come a little nearer comprehending something of the eternal riches—of the unfailing supply of good things in store in the future home of the righteous. It may not be fruit, or milk and honey as we know them here, but we are sure it will be a satisfying portion, suited to our exalted, glorified state.

"No chilling winds nor pois'nous breath
Can reach that healthful shore.
Sickness and sorrow, pain and death,
Are felt and feared no more."

We often have been pierced with chilling winds, and how glad we have been to reach the shelter of a comfortable house. "Poisonous breath!" When God made man he breathed into his nostrils the breath of life, clean and pure. Led on by evil influences, man has poisoned that once pure breath, sometimes by the use of alcohol in some of its various forms, a glass of beer now and then, a little wine, ale, etc. Tobacco has been pronounced a poison by eminent physicians. Legislators have made laws in some States forbidding the sale of it to minors, because the poison is more injurious to the growing system of youth. And yet we see some Christians in all denominations, who continue to roll the sweet morsel under their tongues,—"Willing to risk it, any how," although the Word declares that nothing unholy or unclean shall enter Heaven. Not every one who cries, "Lord, Lord," shall enter in; only those who do the will of the Master. He commands us to present our bodies holy and acceptable unto God. When shall this be done? Surely not in the grave, for no work is wrought there. He that knoweth his Master's will and doeth it not, shall be beaten with many stripes. With pain and sickness we are all more or less familiar. Nature shrinks from either one, and we dread sorrow and death. So it becomes us to be diligent students in the school of Christ, that we may reach the land where these things are forever unknown, and sink not into the place where abides eternal sickness, sorrow, pain and death.

"No wanton lips, nor envious eyes,
Can see or taste the bliss."

St. Peter says, "Refrain thy tongue from evil and thy lips from speaking guile." Reckless, deceitful, unchaste, insincere words, must be banished from a Christian's lips, and they cannot indulge in envy if they would see and taste the bliss of "A life in heaven! O what is this?

The sum of all that faith believed;
Fullness of joy and depth of bliss,
Unseen, unfathomed, unconceived."

HABIT.

BY J. H. MILLER.

HABITS are fixed, or established customs, ordinary course of conduct, etc.—Webster.

Habit, or conduct, from childhood up,—when long indulged in,—becomes second nature. The little child will quickly pattern after its parents, and evil habits, if not checked in early life, will be hard to remove.

There are habits that children can contract that are right. I know of two children who were raised together. The older was an idiot. The younger was allowed to play with the older one, and soon partook of the habits of the latter. Although the younger child was perfectly sound, nevertheless there were habits formed,—almost like second nature,—that were hard to shake off.

"Habit in a child is like a spider-web. If neglected, it becomes a thread of twine, next a cord of rope, finally a cable. Then, who can break it?

There are habits contracted by children from parents by bad example, or bad management, before we are aware of it. O, the tyranny of bad habit! When once indulged in, it clings to us like a horrible nightmare!

It is said of Coleridge that he had one of the finest intellects for beautiful poems, and yet he was a slave for twenty years. He tried to emancipate himself from the use of opium, and could not. It is said he went into voluntary imprisonment, and hired a man to watch him day and night, to keep him from tasting the bewitching drug. Mr. Coleridge had tried hard, and formed resolution after resolution to break loose from this evil habit, but had not power enough within himself to tear loose, until some one helped him. During the best years of his life he wasted his substance,—also his health,—and neglected his family. He lived a slave for years. Terrible, oh terrible, is the disposition of bad habit.

Intemperance is another bad habit. This, like all other evils, comes by degrees. Young man, shun this evil as you would a viper! Many have been drawn into this great evil by some friend, who claims to be a moderate drinker. Once indulged in, an appetite is formed, and, by continuing in this evil habit, a taste for that deadly poison is growing, until it gets so strong that seemingly no power is strong enough to shake off "the deadly viper," until the victim falls into a drunkard's grave. I have knowledge of a man who had indulged in this evil habit of drinking, until it destroyed his mind, made a wreck of his family, ruined his character, lost his reputation, lost his trade, until but few would patronize him in his business. He had an honorable business, and at one time, perhaps, sold as many goods as any merchant in town, but was compelled to leave Indiana, because he was sinking fast, and move into a Prohibition State. Since he lives in Kansas he has a guard thrown around him, can not get liquor, and has once more become a man. His wife left friends here, but did that gladly, to keep her husband from making a wreck of himself.

I know of a man, at one time a church member, who became one of the leading physicians of our country. He did much riding, and, as he exposed himself, thought he had better take to using brandy, so as to ward off disease, and avoid taking cold. I have not much faith in those doctors who resort so much to bitters and alcohol to cure diseases. This doctor, however, entertained the idea that nearly all diseases must be cured by using a little brandy, and the result of that man's practice is fearful to relate. He lost his reputation, lost his membership as a Christian, and became such a fearful drinker, that no one would employ him. His wife and children became frightened, and finally left him. He became poverty-stricken, his beautiful home was sold, and to-day he is an outcast, and does not live with his once happy family.

Why all of this trouble? Bad habit in his early practice. In my early life I was taught that fevers, and kidney and liver troubles must all be cured by some stomach bitters. Of late years I have learned my folly. I see all judicious doctors treat diseases more successfully now without spirits, than in years gone by with the warming tansy bitters, to keep off ague.

Those "Tansy Bitters," "Iron Mountain Bitters," and many other bitters, now kept in the market, are only calculated to steal a march upon our sons, to lead them into intemperance. "Touch not, taste not, handle not the unclean thing."

We next notice the habit of chewing and smoking. Some tell us they commenced chewing or smoking to cure tooth-ache, water brash, dyspepsia, etc., and finally formed a habit. I heard a sister say she commenced smoking when she was a child. Her aged grandmother was too feeble to light her pipe, and so she would ask her to light the pipe. This she did for years, and it had a bad result,—a habit, early commenced in life, made a smoker out of that sister. She had no earthly use for that smoking, but contracted a habit, and afterwards could not throw it off. This sister contracted her smoking like the doctor did his drinking,—by allowing that evil too near her person.

I was made glad in reading the Report of our late Annual Meeting, that our Brethren have taken such a stand against tobacco. I have heard from some of the Brethren that the late decision of our Conference will drive the Brethren to want in some States. They dare not raise the weed, manufacture it, or traffic in it, and it is claimed that some of our Brethren can not possibly make a living, if they can not engage in raising tobacco. I might bring up the same argument, and say, "I can not make as much money in raising grain such as we use on the farm, as I can in raising barley and rye, and I do know if these are raised and sold, much of it will be used in making beer and whiskey. Perhaps it does not concern me how much damage it does, or how many drunkards it makes, if I can make a good living." We ought not to look at our own personal benefit so much as at the benefit of our race. Many of these evil habits come stealing a march upon us, and take us by guile when we are not aware of it.

Now let us look at some other habits:

1. Fault-finding is eon of the worst habits, and, if allowed to grow, will not only cause us to be unpleasant, but our neighbors will abhor us. If we, as parents, indulge in this sin too much, our children will partake of our habits. Even preachers are not all exempt from this loathsome disease. It seems to be like a canker,—it will eat and eat, until our influence is partly gone. If I should complain of Bro. A's or Bro. B's preaching, and criticise him all the time, and especially do this to others, I would certainly consider myself a fault-finder. I, however, believe it right to tell one another of our faults, if it is done to the person direct, and not to some one else. I have in that way received some very good counsel or advice from some of our members.

Grumbling and fault-finding is very dangerous, and should not be indulged in. Children partake of such habits, and often must be reprimanded for the same thing they hear their parents indulge in.

There is another habit that comes alike to all. The Lord gave us six days to labor, and the seventh to rest. How much the Good Lord has blessed us in giving us six days out of seven, to labor for the necessaries of life, and yet, sometimes, on Sunday morning, we are careless about attending church! Some of us may form a habit of excusing ourself, and not going to church. This, like all other habits, will have a tendency to fasten itself on our children's minds. During the hot summer months, when Sunday morning comes, we rise later than usual, and claim our bodies need rest, and often imagine that we have a bad headache, that the weather is very warm, and has all appearance of rain. "Wife, what do you say? Don't you think we had better stay at home, seeing the roads are so dusty?" Some of the little children are standing near by, and beg to go to church, or Sunday-school. "Oh, children; it is so warm to-day, and I am tired, and have this old-fashioned SUNDAY HEADACHE. I don't believe we will go."

Here is a habit formed. The children can not go to church or Sabbath-school. They become restless, and finally seek other company. Perhaps they are in bad company, out by the river-side, engaged in fishing or hunting. Those children grow up. During this time they have no privilege to attend church or Sunday-school; in fact, they have no taste for such places.

Habits are fixed principles, which become second nature, and are sometimes very hard to break loose from. Such parents sometimes come to us with tears in their eyes, and beg of us "to come and visit our homes; we can not get our children to meeting any more." Who is to blame? Preachers can not do all the work. My dear brethren and sisters, you can aid greatly in the saving of your children.

If parents are boisterous and unruly, we almost invariably see the children that way. Loud talking and laughing are uncalled for. These habits, if indulged in, will make more or less confusion, and, to the more refined, such habits are disgusting. I can speak by experience, that some of those habits are hard to break off. "Grievous words stir up anger; a soft answer turneth away wrath."

Jesting and joking is another bad habit. How many idle words we say, and some of these hang as heavy weights about us! "Neither filthiness nor foolish talking, nor jesting, which are not convenient," should be found among us, "but rather giving of thanks." That is the instruction of Paul to the Ephesian brethren.

Not long since a brother remarked, "If I could only have the same control over my children that Bro. A has, how much better I would feel!" Our own walk and conduct in life must be the leading influence.

OUTLINES OF A REVIEW SERMON ON THE SABBATH QUESTION.

BY I. J. ROSENBERGER.

THE Seventh-Day Adventists recently came to our town with their tent, and have been holding forth the peculiarities of their doctrine, as their manner is, making a specialty of the Sabbath. The Sabbath question is one that the great mass of minds has never specially examined; hence these Sabbatarian evangelists rarely fail to produce some sensation upon the minds of those who attend their services.

With the above state of things before us, we felt, as did our Brethren, that the Truth needed a defense; that minds unacquainted with the subject might not be misled. We therefore announced to treat the subject in our church in Covington, on Sunday, June 30, at 3 P. M. Our discourse called out three review sermons from these Sabbatarian evangelists during the week following. On Sunday, at 7:30 P. M., July 7, we followed with a second review. There was a large attendance at our reviews of anxious listeners and there seemed to be a pretty general satisfaction with the disposition we made of the subject. For the benefit of the readers of the GOSPEL MESSENGER we append brief outlines of our reviews.

1. The Sabbath law was first given to Israel in the wilderness. See Ex. 16: 29. It was afterwards incorporated in the covenant law at Sinai. Ex. 20: 8; Deut. 5: 12. As evidence of the above we name the following:

(a) "Thou camest down upon Mount Sinai, and spakest with them from heaven * * * And madest known unto them thy holy Sabbaths." Neh. 9: 13, 14. "Wherefore I caused them to go forth out of the land of Egypt, and brought them into the wilderness. * * * Moreover also I gave them my Sabbaths." Ex. 20: 10–12. In these texts there is a clear statement of facts.

(b) The sin of violating the Sabbath is not once named, previous to giving the Sabbath law in the wilderness; after which it is frequently named. See Neh. 13: 18; Ex. 20: 13.

(c) They did not know how to punish the first offender. Numbers 15: 32–34.

(d) They did not know how to prepare food for the Sabbath. Ex. 16: 22, 23.

The above are clear proofs that the Sabbath law was given in the wilderness.

2. The Sabbath was given to the Jews, and those within their household, and hence was not given to the Gentiles. See Deut. 5: 2, 3; Ex. 31: 13, 17; Mal. 4: 4.

3. The Sinaitic covenant included the ten commandments. Ex. 34: 28; Deut. 4: 13; Deut. 9: 9–11.

4. This covenant being a type, a shadow, therefore ceased, was abolished, died, etc. Rom. 7: 1–7; 2 Cor. 3: 6–11; Gal. 4: 21–31: Heb. 12: 18–24.

5. Sabbaths were to cease. "Bring no more vain oblations unto me, * * * the new moons and Sabbaths." Isa. 1: 13. I will cause all her mirth to cease; * * * her Sabbaths and all her solemn feasts." Hosea 2: 11. "Blotting out the handwriting of ordinances. * * * Let no man therefore judge you in meat, or in drink, or in respect of an holy day, or of new moon or of Sabbath days; which are a shadow of things to come, but the body is of Christ." Col. 2: 14–17.

The sentiment of the above texts, in general, is plain. Ordinance means, "A rule established by authority;" hence the ten commandments were ten ordinances, and as they were written by God's finger, they can be styled "handwriting of ordinances," in a sense, as no other ordinances of the law can.

The term Sabbath occurs about sixty times in the New Testament; and in every other instance Sabbatarians admit that the weekly Sabbath is meant; hence we affirm that the weekly Sabbath is meant in this text also. As we are not to be judged in it, this shows that the Sabbath law has ceased.

6. When Christ says, "The Son of Man is Lord also of the Sabbath," Luke 6: 5, it indicates that his authority is superior to the authority of the Sabbath law.

In Matthew 5 Christ says, "Ye have heard that it was said by them of old time, Thou shalt not kill; but I say unto you," etc. Again, "Ye have heard that it hath been said, An eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth. But I say unto you," etc. In this chapter Christ quotes both from the civil laws of the Jews, and the ten commandments, following each with the expression, "But I say unto you." This language plainly indicates that the authority of his laws and sayings is superior to the authority of the sayings of the Jews' civil laws, or the ten commandments.

7. Christ was asked, "Which is the great commandment in the law?" He answered, but did not quote from the decalogue. Matt. 22: 36 The apostle Paul, in Rom. 13: 9, quotes a number of the decalogue items; but closes up so as to leave out the fourth, — the Sabbath commandment. These texts clearly show that neither Christ nor the Apostle Paul embraced this modern Sabbatarian doctrine.

8. "The Sabbath was made for man," is a strong point for Sabbatarians. "Man," they say, means Gentiles as well as Jews. Please turn to Deut. 5: 24. Alluding to the Jews, Moses says, "God doth talk with man." In Psalms 78: 25 we read, "Man did eat angel's food." This is the "Man" for whom the Sabbath law was made and given,— the Jews in the wilderness.

9. Upon history Sabbatarians usually try to prove that the Pope authorized the change from the seventh to the first day of the week. But the facts are, there is an abundance of history to prove, that the first day of the week was observed long before there was a Pope born.

THE LORD WAS TO MAKE A DAY.

"The stone which the builders refused is become the headstone of the corner. This is the Lord's doing; it is marvelous in our eyes. "This is the day which the Lord hath made; we will rejoice and be glad in it." Psa. 118: 22–24.

(a) This crowning work was Christ's resurrection.

(b) No event has afforded such a vast perpetual stream of joy as Christ's resurrection; and as such associated with it is the day.

(c) It is "marvelous" because conceded by the universal Christian experience of all. No event carries with it such vast, crowning hope. See 1 Cor. 15: 14, 55; 1 Peter 1: 3.

We have in the Scriptures, the phrases "Lord's Day," Lord's Table," and "Lord's Supper." It will be readily conceded that the Lord's table is a table which the Lord Jesus has consecrated to the use of his children. The Lord's Supper is likewise a meal consecrated to the sacred use of Christ's children, hence the Lord's Day is that day which Christ has made, by virtue of his resurrection, sacred to his children. In it we rejoice and are glad.

Hence we find Christ's first and second meeting with his scattered disciples after his resurrection, on the first day of the week. The grand Pentcostal revival was on the first day of the week. "And upon the first day of the week when the disciples came together to break bread." Acts 20: 7. This language shows that it was the custom for the disciples to meet on that day.

"Upon the first day of the week let every one of you lay by him in store as God hath prospered him that there be no gathering when I come." 1 Cor. 16: 2. This could only be done by placing their contributions in the church treasury; as to time it was to be done on the first day of the week, hence they met on that day. Mark, there was to be no gathering when the apostle came.

It is said that "Christ kept the Sabbath." And "the disciples rested according to the commandment." Yes, we had no resurrection. Christ had not yet made his, — the Lord's Day. Elements of the law were yet in force. It is said that the apostles taught on the Sabbath. Yes, just as Sabbatarians preach on the first day of the week now. The facts are, Christ never taught the Sabbath; nor did his apostles. The apostles, by request, preached on the Sabbath. See Acts 13: 42. But there is no account that the apostles ever made an appointment on the Sabbath.

"JOYS ARE OUR WINGS, AND SORROWS OUR SPURS."

BY GERTRUDE A. FLORY.

WHAT a thought! I know not who the author is, but to me it is sublime. It is the last line of third column, page 386 of GOSPEL MESSENGER, No. 25. To the thinking mind, it is a sermon in itself.

"Joys are our wings." How far above earth's sadness they bear us,—even to the pearly portals of celestial bliss! Yes, even to the sweet shelter of a Savior's bosom. While thus borne away, we forget our care, trials, and persecutions, and are lost in wonder, love and praise. Pain and affliction are cast aside into the ocean of forgetfulness, while enmity, and hatred are shrouded in oblivion. Ever welcome sweet joys, to bear us far above and beyond earth's fitful strife!

"Sorrows our spurs." When grief lays hold upon us, and bows us to the dust, our sorrow only incites us to seek the haven of joy's peaceful wings. Only those who have drank deeply of the cup of sorrow know how near it brings us to the suffering Son of God, and only in the Blessed Son can joy be found. Then welcome, thrice welcome, be sorrow, to spur us on to seek the joys that are in Jesus, that we may be borne upon her blissful pinions into joys eternal, where sorrow shall be no more. Consoling, blissful thought! Sweet joy and blessed sorrow!

La Porte, Indiana.

"HUMAN sympathy tends to diminish the sharpness of human griefs; and, therefore, so long as sorrow is a condition of human life, it will be obligatory upon the disciples of Christ to "weep with them that weep."

"BE careful to make friendship the child, and not the father of virtue; for many strongly-knit minds are rather good friends than good men, so, though they do not like the evil their friend does, yet they like him who does the evil, and though no counselors of offense, they yet protect the offender."

"HE who is of no use to himself, is of no use to any one."

LIVES OF THE CÆSARS.

BY W. H. ROOSE.

Number Ten—Cæsar.

CASSIUS and his friends at last succeeded in winning Brutus to their side. They decided that he should be killed in the month of March in the Senate chamber. Cæsar was accosted by a soothsayer as he was walking on the street one day, in these words, "Beware of the ides of March." Perhaps he knew something about the plot, and wished to put Cæsar upon his guard, but Cæsar did not believe in fortune-telling, and when March came he met the soothsayer, and laughingly told him that he was still living, but the soothsayer said in the same warning voice, "The ides of March are not over yet." Cassius' mind was burdened with anxiety for the success of the plot, and he seemed much alarmed about the awful deed he was planning to do. His looks often betrayed the agitation of his mind, so much so that Cæsar remarked to a friend one day, "What think you of Cassius? I do not like his pale looks."

Cæsar was advised to watch Anthony, as he was believed to be plotting treason, but Cæsar answered, "I am not afraid of fat and sleek men; it is your pale and lean ones, who are plotting mischief." The night before he was murdered he supped with Lepidus, an intimate friend of his, and who knew nothing of the danger which threatened Cæsar. While Cæsar was busily engaged in answering letters, the rest of the company were talking about in what way they would prefer to meet death. Some would rather die instantly, thus avoiding the suffering which so generally accompanies death, while others said they would rather be sick awhile, as that would give them opportunities to settle up their business, and afford the privilege of seeing their friends. Cæsar said his choice would be a sudden death. He little knew what a day would bring forth,—that he should suffer death in a sad and dreadful way.

His case was somewhat similar to that of Belshazzar, who was also a wicked ruler. God said unto him, "God hath numbered thy kingdom, and finished it," by the hand-writing on the wall, and the army of Darius slew him that night.

How often we pray that we may be delivered from battles, murder, or misfortunes, but all these befell Cæsar at one time. Though he had many men at his command, who would have died for him, he fell a victim to those whom he had trusted as being true and loving friends. His power and glory were about ended, and in his life we can fully realize how vain is man. He appeareth but for a moment, and vanisheth away, and the glory of man is as the flower of the field, for he is cut down, and the place that once knew him, shall know him no more. But a few hours and Cæsar's body would return to dust, and his spirit to the God who gave it.

Cæsar had married a second wife whose name was Calphurnia. She dreamed bad dreams, and passed an uneasy night. She saw Cæsar murdered in her arms. She insisted upon Cæsar not to return to the Senate the next day, and finally gained his consent. The soothsayers told him that the animal they killed that morning had no heart, which betokened ill luck. Would any of our readers, who are acquainted with the anatomical structure of animals tell us what kind of an animal has no heart? Be sure when you kill one of its kind you will suffer the death Cæsar did. I fondly hope all those who are interested enough in these letters to read them, are sufficiently enlightened so that they will never be imposed upon by these humbugs, to whom God does not reveal the destiny of man.

Cæsar changed his mind when derided for his undue attention to dreams, and his closest friend, Albinus encouraged him by pretending the Senate intended to make him king that day. He told Cæsar that the Senate would be angry were they compelled to go home until Calphurnia had pleasanter dreams.

Cæsar could not stand this, as he was like many people of more modern times,—would suffer most anything rather than be laughed at. On his way to the Senate house, a slave attempted to make him aware of his danger, and at another time some of Brutus's friends handed him papers, but he handed them to his attendants. Another person handed him a paper and whispered to him, "Read it quickly; for it contains something of great consequence which concerns you." He tried in vain to read it, as the people would jolt him.

The whole Senate rose up when Cæsar entered. It was truly the noblest and grandest moment of his life, when the greatest men of the world honored him. Many of the conspirators desired to murder Anthony, as he was the only one who really loved Cæsar, but Brutus did not want to shed more blood than was necessary "to remove" Cæsar; and in order to have as little trouble as possible with Anthony, he was detained at the door by a friend, who told him as long a story as he could. A Senator threw the conspirators into confusion by whispering to Brutus that the whole plan was known to himself, and he was seen talking to Cæsar. The conspirators would have taken their own lives with the daggers they had for Cæsar, had it not been for Brutus, who was much more courageous than the others.

Finally Cæsar took his accustomed chair to proceed with the business of the State. Those of the Senators who conspired to take his life, surrounded him, pretending to petition the pardon of a banished criminal; they endeavored long, but Cæsar grew angry. Then the signal of death was given by Metallus Cimber in pulling the gown from Cæsar's neck. This infuriated Cæsar, who turning said, "Nay! this is violence." He received the first blow from Casca's sword. In a moment he saw himself surrounded by glittering daggers, but his courage did not fail him, and he fought for his life, which was so dear to him. A moment more he was covered with wounds. One came from the long-thought friend, — Brutus. When Cæsar saw who inflicted the wound, his courage gave way, and in a tone of sorrow, mingled with reproach, he exclaimed, "You too, Brutus?"

In all, Cæsar received twenty-three wounds before he expired. Cassius said, "There lies the most worthless of men." This is a fair sample of the cowardice of many people of more modern times. No truly courageous person will assail the character of a foe when he can not rise to his own defense. I love at least the latter clause of the saying, "In life men are judged by their worst deeds, but after death by their best."

It was found that Cæsar had willed something to each citizen of Rome. Anthony made a speech over Cæsar's dead body. After eulogizing his skill as a soldier, he reminded them of his kind actions and deeds of love for them; holding the cloak with the twenty-three dagger holes he asked them whether that was the reward he deserved. This speech so enraged the people, that they took the benches and made a funeral pyre, upon which to burn Cæsar's body. They took burning brands, intending to fire the houses of Brutus and Cassius, and murder them. Thus ended Cæsar's life, March 15, B. C. 44, at the age of fifty-six,—just fourteen years after he began to conquer the world.

What shame and sorrow treachery produces! Christ came to his death through the treachery of Judas and the leading Jews, though the blessed fruits of that death can never be described. Paul suffered from the treachery of "false brethren." And it is touching in the extreme, to see men of noble virtues, who have toiled patiently, amid privation, sacrificing home comforts and all that is dear to them, in order to build up the church or neighborhood, and have unappreciating people assail their motives, and the work they so ardently labored to accomplish.

DOOR-KEEPER.

BY ENOCH EBY.

"I had rather be a door-keeper in the house of my God, than to dwell in the tents of wickedness."—Psalm 84: 10b.

THE inference from the above text would be, that door-keeping is perhaps the most humble and annoying business connected with the house of the Lord, and that there is as little pleasure in it as in anything we could do for the Lord, yet more real pleasure in it than in the tents of wickedness.

But my line of thought will not permit me to contrast the highest enjoyment in the wickedness of the world with the lowest in the church of Christ, as I wish to call attention to the damaging effects of caste (or grading society), in the church. In 1874 I was door-keeper for our Standing Committee. In 1875 I was Reading Clerk. A good, prominent brother says, "Quite a promotion." This year I was not eligible to serve as a member on Standing Committee, having been on two years in succession, hence I was nominated Door-keeper. During the meeting remarks were made, which, when properly interpreted, would say indirectly, if not directly, that an Ex-moderator was trifling with his dignity to act as Door-keeper. I felt to thank God I accepted the position. If there is in myself, or in the church the spirit of promotion, or who shall be the gratest, I want to live it down. To sit in the highest seat and to be called of men, "Rabbi, Rabbi," is not gratifying to human nature, but Jesus says, "He that will be great among you let him be your servant; for the Son of God came not to be ministered unto, but to minister," a door-keeper's business. Paul says, "In honor preferring one another, according to the spirit of the Gospel." That is the Christian spirit. We could, with the same propriety, censure the present Moderator, because he was Door-keeper last year. And if he will no more serve as Door-keeper, if nominated, then I confess I know not the man. It was said of Daniel he had an excellent spirit in him. "By love serve one another."

The spirit of caste is ruining Christendom. It keeps the maid in the kitchen, the servant at the barn, during morning worship and breakfast. It compels the poor to take the seat next the door in the sanctuary (if they can get there at all), while Jesus wants them in front, so they can hear, "for he came to preach the Gospel to the poor." It causes the dignitaries of the churches to use the title "Reverend," which occurs but once in the Bible, and then is applied to God, hence never should be applied to mortal beings. It also destroys that social feeling of one common Brotherhood, that approachable spirit which is in the breast of every true Christian.

Many, no doubt, feel like I once felt, and often do yet,—a delicacy to speak to my superiors. We, the older brethren, with the advantage of this experience, should make young people, and even children, feel at home in our presence by noticing them and showing sociability. You must get hold of the heart, and not only of the brain, when you desire to lead them in the path you are travelling. Hear what the sister of the house said where a few of us had our home part of the time during our late Annual Meeting: "Well, I often heard of Bro.——and read his articles in the GOSPEL MESSENGER, and thought I would like to see him, but little did I think I would ever enjoy the happy privilege, and, more than all, I did not expect he would notice me, to speak to me." There are hundreds of members, especially younger ones, who feel just like this poor sister did; hence they are afraid to come to you, and if you do not go to them, you will separate like cold-hearted worldlings, but let them know you are like them and one of them, and as they are, so are we in this world; and the fire will soon commence to burn, and parting will bring tears which will only add fuel to the fire.

Another appeal to the fathers of Israel, and I am done. Hear the experience of a young brother, sorely tempted and discouraged (now a faithful elder of about sixty-five years of age). Several old brethren were sitting together during the intermission at a love-feast, relating their first experience in a Christian life. They were relating the sad experience of a poor, troubled soul, whose feet Satan had plunged into the mire of despondency. "Ah," says the young brother within himself, "If these old soldiers had to fight such battles, why can not I?" From that hour he said, "Get thee behind me, Satan," and with fresh courage he started up the hill, determined, by the grace of God to rise a little higher every day.

What a powerful impetus our great Annual Conference would be to the spiritual growth of our great Brotherhood, if the brethren and sisters would talk more of the work and prosperity of the church, and, by exchanging views on the best method of doing church work, of saving sinners, and of keeping the church pure from pride, etc., instead of talking up our interests as agents for the sale of land or something else! Brethren, please do not send agents as delegates to our General Conference!

Hutchinson, Kans.

TRANSFORMATION.

BY H. W. STRICKLER.

"But some men will say, How are the dead raised up? and with what body do they come?"—1 Cor. 15: 35.

THE transformation of a caterpillar is a strange phenomenon, and highly deserving of our attention. The manner in which the caterpillar prepares for its change is truly wonderful. It does not immediately become a butterfly, but passes through an intermediate state. Naturalists tell us that, "after shedding its coat three or four times, the caterpillar strips itself of its last skin, and becomes a substance, not in the least resembling a living creature. It is enveloped in a hard shell, called chrysalis, or nympha, in which state it remains two or three weeks,—sometimes even for six or ten months, until, at length it comes out in the form of a butterfly." They also tell us that there are 'two kinds of butterflies.' The wings of one are raised, those of the other are flat. The first named species fly during the day; the latter by night. The caterpillar of the night butterfly spins a cone and shuts itself up in it, when the time of its transformation approaches. Those which, when they become butterflies, fly during the day, suspend themselves on a tree, a plant, a wall, etc. In order to do this they spin themselves a very small web with an extremely fine thread, and then suspend themselves in such a manner that their heads are bent back towards the top. Some of these caterpillars remain in this state, hanging perpendicularly with their heads downward. Others spin a thread which passes around the middle of their body and is fastened at both sides.

"In one or the other of these ways, all caterpillars of the day butterfly prepare for the great revolution they are about to undergo. Thus both species of caterpillar bury themselves alive, and seem quietly to await the termination of their state, as if they knew that after a short repose they would receive a new existence and appear again under a more brilliant form."

We now proceed to the consideration of a much more noble and exalted subject,—the death and resurrection of the righteous and the wicked. Here is a field for meditation! Notice the fallen wings of the night caterpillar and the dark cell in which it secretes itself. Then notice the raised wings of the day butterfly in its suspended chambers, in its aerial position, as if to elevate itself high in the heavens until its "change come."

Death resembles a state of sleep, a soft repose in which our nature rests after the toils, the pains and the miseries of this life. For the space of a moment we are deprived of sensibility and motion, that we may awaken to glory and a happy existence.

What is a caterpillar? A creeping worm, insignificant, and despised, which, while it crawls along through life is exposed to various accidents and injuries. And what is man? Is his condition in this world much better? Is he affluent and fortunate? If so, he may, after a misspent life, die unlamented and unregarded. But the rich, compared with the children of penury and misfortune, are few. The greater part of mankind have to pass from their cradle to their grave through toil, misery and poverty. Most men have to labor from morning till night like beasts of burden, without the power or hope of enlarging their minds and expanding their ideas beyond the confined atmosphere of their work-shop or immediate surroundings.

As the caterpillar prepares itself with care for its transformation and the state of inaction and insensibility which it is shortly to undergo, so, in a different way, but not less earnestly, does the good man prepare for, and expect with a cheerful acquiescence and fond hope that awful change when he is to undergo a temporary death, to enter into a joyful state of perfection and immortality.

The sleep of the caterpillar is not perpetual; it is merely the precursor of a new state of existence. After its transformation it appears again, more perfect and brilliant. Before it crept upon the earth; it now flies in the air, and lightly skims over the surface of a thousand flowers, sipping honey and nectar dew.

In all this we may observe a lively emblem of the death and resurrection of a righteous man. Paul says, "He also is the resurrection of the dead. It is sown in corruption; it is raised in incorruption; it is sown in dishonor, it is raised in glory; it is sown in weakness; it is raised in power; it is sown a natural body; it is raised a spiritual body." 1 Cor. 15: 42, 43. That body which was feeble, sensual, and gross, is refined from its earthly nature, puts on a glorious immortality and is clothed with perfection. In verse 49 he says, "And as we have borne the image of the earthly, we shall also bear the image of the heavenly." That mind, which was so limited in its faculties and confined in its powers, subject to passions and emotions that degraded his heavenly essence, so contracted and weak that it could not penetrate mists of prejudice, and so blind that it could not perceive truth, now, pure as light and boundless as infinity, views the whole expanse of nature, and sees at once millions of worlds, communes with angels, and views the infinite God, the source of all power, wisdom and glory. We have here an important lesson. If this be the glorious change we expect, let us make, timely and effectual, the preparations for it.

If our present state be but transitory and imperfect, let us not make it our chief object. "For this corruption must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality. Let not the few moments, which are allotted us for our preparation for eternity, be misspent. "When this corruptible shall have put on incorruption, and this mortal shall have put on immortality, then shall be brought to pass the saying as it is written, "Death is swallowed up in victory. O death, where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy victory?" Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labor is not in vain in the Lord." 1 Cor. 15: 53-58.

"We shall sleep but not forever,
There will be a glorious dawn!
We shall meet to part, no, never,
On the resurrection morn!
From the deepest caves of ocean,
From the desert and the plain,
From the valley and the mountain,
Countless throngs shall rise again.

"We shall sleep, but not forever,
In the lone and silent grave;
Blessed be the Lord that taketh,
Blessed be the Lord that gave.
In the bright, eternal city
Death can never, never come!
In his own good time he'll call us
From our rest, to Home, sweet Home!"

THE THIRTY-FIVE MIRACLES IN THE EVANGELISTS AND WHERE FOUND.

BY JOHN KNISLEY.

THE Centurion's Servant healed,....Matt. 8: 5-13
The Tempest Stilled,.....Matt. 8: 23-27
Two Demoniacs of Gadara cured,..Matt. 8: 28-34
A Man Sick of the Palsy cured,.....Matt. 9: 1-8
Jarius' Daughter Raised,.....Matt. 9: 18-26
Two Blind Men Restored to Sight,.Matt. 9: 27-31
A Dumb Demoniac Cured,.....Matt. 9: 32, 33
A Man with a Withered Hand Cured,....
.....Matt. 12: 10-13
A Blind and Dumb Demoniac cured,.....
.....Matt. 12: 22 23
Five Thousand Fed,.....Matt. 14: 15-21
Christ Walks on the Sea,.....Matt. 14: 22-33
Canaanitish Woman's Daughter Cured,....
.....Matt. 15: 21-28
Four Thousand Fed,.....Matt. 15: 32-39
A Lunatic Possessed of a Devil Cured,....
.....Matt. 17: 14-21
Procures Tribute Money from a Fish,.....
.....Matt. 17: 24-27
Two Blind Men Restored to Sight, Matt. 20: 29-34
The Fig-tree Blasted,.....Matt. 21: 18-21
A Demoniac Cured, ...Mark 1: 23 28
Peter's Mother-in-law Healed,....Mark 1: 29-31
A Leper Healed,.....Mark 1: 40-45
A Man both Deaf and Dumb Cured, Mark 7: 31-37
A Blind Man Restored to Sight,...Mark 8: 22-26
Great Draught of Fishes,.....Luke 5: 1-11
Widow's Son raised from the Dead, Luke 7: 11-17
A Woman With an Issue Healed, Luke 8: 43 48
A Crippled Woman Cured,.....Luke 13: 11-17
A Man Cured of the Dropsy,.....Luke 14: 1-6
Ten Lepers Cleansed,.....Luke 17: 11-17
Malchus' Ear Healed,.....Luke 22: 50-51
Water Turned into Wine,.....John 2: 1 11
A Nobleman's Son Cured,.....John 4: 46-54
A Cripple at Bethesda Cured,.....John 5: 1-9
A Man Born Blind Restored to Sight, John 9: 6-7
Lazarus Raised to Life,.....John 11: 43-44
Surprising Draught of Fishes,.....John 21: 1-14

TROUBLE must have great possibilities of blessing in it, or it would not be so common in God's world. Surely we need not dread it so when it brings in one hand the peaceable fruit of righteousness and in the other the joys of consolation for so many sorrowing souls.

The Gospel Messenger,

A Weekly at $1.50 per Annum,

PUBLISHED BY

The Brethren's Publishing Co.

D. L. MILLER, - - - - - - Office Editor.

J. B. BRUMBAUGH, } - - - - Associate Editors.
J. G. ROYER, }

JOS. AMICK, - - - - - - - Business Manager.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE,
R H Miller, S S. Mohler, Daniel Hays

☞Communications for publication should be legibly written with BLACK ink on ONE side of the paper only. Do not attempt to interline, or to put on one page what ought to occupy two.

☞Anonymous communications will not be published.

☞Do not mix business with articles for publication Keep your communications on separate sheets from all business.

☞Time is precious. We always have time to attend to business and to answer questions of importance, but please do not subject us to needless answering of letters.

☞The MESSENGER is mailed each week to all subscribers. If the address is correctly entered on our list, the paper must reach the person to whom it is addressed. If you do not get your paper, write us, giving particulars.

☞When changing your address, please give your FORMER as well as your FUTURE address in full, so as to avoid delay and misunderstanding.

☞Remittances should be made by Post-office Money Order, Drafts on New York or Chicago, or Registered Letters, made payable and addressed to "Brethren's Publishing Co., Mount Morris, Ill.," or "Brethren's Publishing Co., Huntingdon, Pa."

☞Always remit to the office from which you order your goods, no matter from where you receive them.

☞Do not send personal checks or drafts on interior banks, unless you send with them 25 cents each, to pay for collection.

☞Entered at the Post-office at Mount Morris, Ill., as second-class matter.

Mount Morris, Ill., - - - - July 23, 1889.

BRO. D. M. MILLER changes his address from Lanark to Milledgeville, Ill.

THE little band of workers in Chicago received one into the fold by baptism, on Sunday, the 7th instant.

BRO. W. C. TEETER is at present at Goshen, Indiana, where he will spend some time visiting and preaching.

BRO. JOHN GABLE, of New Sharon, Iowa, reports five accessions to the Middle Creek church, Mahaska County, since May 5th.

BRO. DANIEL BOCK, of Ridgeway, Ind., says, two more precious souls were added to the Howard church by baptism, July 7th.

BRO. NICHOLAS TRAPP informs us that two were recently received by baptism in the Fairview church, Labette County, Kansas.

BRO. J. G. ROYER, after laboring with and for the Brethren in and around Waterloo, Iowa, has returned home again. He will remain home a few days and again enter the field.

BRO. J. D. HAUGHTELIN reports two baptized in the Panora church since he last wrote,—one twelve years old, and one seventy-eight. The old and the young may come to Christ.

BRO. D. M. MILLER spent a short time with the Brethren at Aurelia, Iowa, recently, and preached for them. Several were added to the church by baptism, so reports Bro. K. Leonard.

ORDERS for Annual Meeting Reports are coming in encouragingly but the supply is still largely in excess of the demand. Have you a copy? If not, send in your order at once. Single copy, 25 cents; per dozen, $2.50. Postage prepaid.

THE school buildings at this place are undergoing a thorough renovation and cleaning, and will soon be in readiness for the opening of school, September 3. We are informed that the prospects are encouraging for a large attendance the coming year.

BRO. DAVID ESHELMAN, of Lanark, Illinois, is dangerously ill with the consumption. He was visiting in Kansas, and grew rapidly worse. He is now with his brother, M. M. Eshelman, at McPherson, Kansas. Little hope is entertained of his recovery.

BRO. J. C. LAHMAN writes us that for the present he will make his stopping place at Moscow, Idaho Territory. He is busily engaged in preaching the Word and looking after the scattered members. Any such living in Washington Territory will please write him at Moscow, Idaho Territory, box 177, or to Eld. Isaac Hershey, same place.

BRO. J. B. BRUMBAUGH, and his wife, sister Ella J., with their adopted daughter, Ruth, arrived in Mt. Morris on Wednesday, the 17th inst., on their western trip. They will remain here a few days, visiting among the Brethren and friends. We welcome them back to their temporary home again. It scarcely seems possible that almost five years have sped away since they left us, but so it is. Our days go by swifter than the weaver's shuttle.

To manifest bitterness against those who differ from us in our religious views is no evidence that our faith is strong. It may even show a weak cause and a tottering faith. The man whose feet are on the Rock of Ages, and who is impregnably intrenched by the Truth, and whose faith is firmly fixed, is never bitter or intolerant toward others. The very fact that he knows his ground, gives him a quiet, peaceable demeanor, and settled convictions, that place him above the petty weaknesses that are often seen in those who aim to make up in protestation what they lack in faith.

AT last accounts from Stanley, the African traveler and explorer, he was in a destitute condition and grave fears are entertained for him. He has undergone almost incredible hardships in his attempts to penetrate the mysterious regions of the Dark Continent, and it is to be hoped that he will be able to extricate himself from the dangers that now surround him. He has already done a great work in opening up the Congo country to civilization.

"WHY don't we hear from Farmer John? Are his crops so abundant that he has to tear down his barns and build greater?" A number of readers have asked the same question, all of which goes to show that they are interested in the welfare of "Farmer John," and that his articles were widely read. We have published a number of articles from his ready pen since he laid aside his assumed name, and he will continue to write for the MESSENGER. Doubtless "Farmer John" would have continued to use his trenchant pen under that nom de plume, had it not been for the fact that others felt like writing under assumed names too. We had articles from, "Farmer John's Brother,"—"Uncle John," "Deacon Jones," "Parson Plain-dealer," and a number of other assumed names, all asking for admittance to the MESSENGER. Had we admitted all, our paper would in a short time have been filled with communications bearing these fanciful names. Our judgment then was, and it remains unchanged, that it would not be best to have it that way. "Farmer John" may be heard from again under that name, but not often for the reasons given above.

THOSE who send in money to pay for the MESSENGER, should see that the date on the paper to which it is marked paid, is changed. For example, if the figures on your paper are Jan 1, '89, it shows that your paper is paid up to the first of last January and that you owe us for this year. When you send the money, see that the date is changed to Jan. 1, '90. This will serve as a receipt and show that the money has been received and credited.

ACCORDING to our rule our Business Manager is sending out statements to those who are in arrears. Some are not disposed to look upon these statements with much favor, regarding them as duns. If we knew of any better plan to reach those who are indebted to us, we would most certainly adopt it. It is simply a method of business that all who engage in the credit system are forced to adopt. None should feel hurt because they receive a statement of their accounts. No doubt some mistakes may occur in sending out statements, but in all cases of this kind corrections will be cheerfully made. If a mistake occurs, please notify us at once and all will be made right. We trust those who receive the statements will remit the money at once. We have a large sum of money due us in small amounts. Our expenses, especially since we have increased the size of the MESSENGER, are heavy; it takes a good deal of money to buy paper, pay for material and labor and other expenses connected with publishing our church paper. Singly these sums are small, and to each individual do not amount to a great deal, but in the aggregate they amount to some thousands of dollars and will greatly help us in our business. We hope our brethren and friends will respond promptly to this call. When you receive the statement, if possible, remit the amount due us. If you can not do this, write at once and say when you can send the money. We have had a bountiful harvest all over the country, and no doubt all who are in arrears will now feel like paying up.

MUCH has been said and written about the religious convictions of Abraham Lincoln. In the darkest days of the struggle for national existence, when he was burdened with more care, perhaps, than any other man in the country, he never lost faith in the ultimate triumph of right. An interesting article on this subject will be found in the forthcoming Century for August, in the Lincoln history by Messrs. Hay and Nicolay, from which we give the following extract:

"He was a man of profound and intense religious feeling. We have no purpose of attempting to formulate his creed; we question if he himself ever did so. There have been swift witnesses who, judging from expressions uttered in his callow youth, have called him an atheist, and others who, with the most laudable intentions, have remembered improbable conversations which they bring forward to prove at once his orthodoxy and their own intimacy with him. But leaving aside these apocryphal evidences, we have only to look at his authentic public and private utterances to see how deep and strong in all the latter part of his life was the current of his religious thought and emotion. He continually invited and appreciated, at their highest value, the prayers of good people. The pressure of the tremendous problems by which he was surrounded, the awful moral significance of the conflict in which he was the chief combatant, the overwhelming sense of personal responsibility, which never left him for an hour—all contributed to produce, in a temperament naturally serious and predisposed to a spiritual view of life and conduct, a sense of reverent acceptance of the guidance of a Superior Power. From that morning when, standing amid the falling snow-flakes on the railway car at Springfield, he asked the prayers of his neighbors in those touching phrases whose echo rose that night in invocations from thousands of family altars, to that memorable hour when on the steps of the Capitol he humbled himself before his Creator in the sublime words of the second inaugural, there is not an expression known to have come from his lips or his pen but proves that he held himself answerable in every act of his career to a more august tribunal than any on earth.

Bro. Christian Holderman, of Carthage, Mo., who has been suffering from a severe fracture of a lower limb, informs us that he is rapidly improving. The fracture was a serious one, causing also a large flesh wound from which the bone protruded at the time of the accident. It is healing rapidly and Bro. H. attributes this to the fact that his system is free from all taint of tobacco and intoxicants.

Postmaster General, John Wanamaker, has carried into his department a good deal of the push and energy that characterizes him as a business man, but he has not done anything that will so much commend him to all good, order-loving people as his recent order that all postmasters who are engaged in the saloon business shall be removed from office, and that hereafter no post-office shall be allowed to remain in any saloon or place where liquors are sold, nor in any room opening into such saloon or place where intoxicants are sold. This is right. Why should decent people be compelled to go into a saloon, among a lot of loafers, to get their mail? If other heads of departments of our Government would institute a like reform, and refuse to appoint to office men engaged in the liquor traffic in any manner, it would be a move in the right direction. We commend the course taken by Mr. Wanamaker, and hope it will be carried out to the letter. It is a move in the right direction. Let us have more of this kind of practical work.

"She was nothing but a baby, a quaint, little old-fashioned thing, with troubled locks of sunny hair and deep, soulful eyes that were always full of clouds or sunshine, one following the other in rapid succession. Only a baby, toddling about after her mother, falling down and hurting herself a dozen times a day, and going just as often to hold up a sweet flower, face all wet and dewy, with the lisped request, 'Please, mamma, wipe my tears,' or to other members of the family in a more dictatorial tone, 'Wipe my tears.' Either she could not or would not make any attempt at brushing away the tears of sorrow herself, and sometimes we laughed to see the shut eyes and tightly-drawn features bathed in a liquid shower; sometimes there was a pitiful accent in that little household wail that made our hearts ache, but oftener we talked nonsense as we wiped away the pretty drops from the long, curled lashes, the dainty cheeks and the small, quivering chin, and we drew gay pictures of the baby going about with tear bottles hanging about her eyes, and crooned her to sleep with an idle repetition of Tennyson: 'Tears, idle tears, I know not what they mean.' And we wondered among ourselves what she would do as she grew older and learned to know real sorrow, and if then there would always be some dear one near to wipe away the ready tears as there was now, 'And God himself shall wipe away all tears.' We had never thought of him, and she was still only a baby, a sweet, winsome little thing that we thought we had safe in our hearts under lock and key, with love for the keeper, when all at once her tears were dried and ours began to flow, for we all stood beside her and she knew us not, was insensible to her mother's voice, to tears and prayers. There was a short, sharp struggle with the destroyer, hours of insensibility even to pain, and then for a moment the baby awoke and knew us, and as she felt the last pang of dissolution, her dear little face knotted and seamed with deadly pain, she put one tiny, trembling hand up to her mother, and said in a whisper the old, quaint words, 'W-i-p-e m-y t-e-a-r-s.' Then a sweet smile followed, and she was gone where there shall be no more death, neither sorrow nor crying, 'And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes.'"

Under date of July 8th, Bro. J. C. Lahman writes from Moscow, Idaho Territory as follows: "We arrived here safely at the house of Bro. Isaac Hershey, at 10 P. M., on Saturday, July 6th. We found them reasonably well, Bro. Isaac is improving. We had services twice yesterday in town. By the protecting hand of God we have good health and enjoyed the trip, of which we will speak more in the future. Wife's health has improved. May God's blessing attend the Brethren everywhere!"

WORSHIP AND PREACHING.

Properly speaking there is a marked difference between the worship of God and the preaching of God's Word. It may be well for us to keep this difference in mind, for in associating the two we may give undue prominence to the one to the neglect of the other, and thus, to some extent, at least, lose part of the spiritual blessing that is in store for all who worship God in spirit and in truth.

Worship is the act of paying homage, adoration, reverence, praise, and divine honor to God, and is an important part of religion. It consists in singing songs of praise and spiritual hymns, in reading, especially devotional parts of the Scripture, and in fervent prayer, and is intended to bring about a close spiritual relation between God and his people, and to inspire the human breast with true, devotional reverence for the Creator and the Preserver of all things.

Preaching is the act of delivering in public a religious discourse on some part of God's Word, to teach publicly the Gospel, and to give, in a sermon, instruction, encouragement, comfort, reproof and warning, and is intended to instruct and encourage God's children in their pilgrimage from earth to heaven, and to warn sinners to flee the wrath to come and to induce them if possible to turn to the Lord and be saved.

It has been the aim of our brethren in all meetings for public worship, or regular meetings as we sometimes call them, to so combine worship and preaching as not to surround the simple worship of the New Testament with forms and, at the same time, give it a prominent place in the meeting. But it may be that we have, in some places, come to overlook the real importance of worship and given undue prominence to the preaching. That this is true we only need to stop a moment and think of the terms in common use among us. We speak of the worship as the opening and closing of the meeting thus showing that, to some extent at least, the one prominent feature of the meeting is the sermon. Again, it is often said by those who get to the house of God a little late, by way of excuse, "Oh, well, I got in before the preacher took his text," not seeming, as the remark would indicate, to care so much for the season of worship which precedes the sermon.

Whilst the sermon is an important part of our meeting, we should not forget that preaching is not exactly worship and that the reading of devotional Scriptures and the singing of hymns of praise and of prayer to God Almighty, are the true elements of worship, in part of which, at least, all the congregation may join, and from which the greatest spiritual joy and comfort may be derived by those who engage in the service in the true spirit of devotion.

In the divine worship all may take at least some part; the sermon may or may not contain spiritual food, depending as it does upon the spirituality of the preacher and as to whether he has studied to rightly divide the Word of Truth, but in reading the Scripture, in singing spiritual songs and hymns and in the invocation and earnest, fervent prayer, all may take some humble part and so enjoy a rich, spiritual repast and a refreshing blessing that the sermon may not, and often does not, bring to the child of God. This being true, our season of worship before and after the preaching of the Word should engage the thoughtful and prayerful attention of all the members of the church,—not that we should quench the Spirit by having set forms in our devotions, but that we might all enter more and more truly and fully into the spirit of the season of worship in which we engage, and give it a more prominent place in our hearts and minds.

As singing is one of the important elements of divine worship, we should give more attention to learning to sing well, and this can only be done by practice. In many of our churches the young as well as many of the older ones meet together to practice singing, and we commend this course to others. Good singing is the life of a meeting, while poor singing with discord is not helpful in worship.

In the reading of the Scriptures all may receive a benefit and this should also be considered a part of our worship. We remember well that thirty-five years ago many of the old brethren, before announcing the opening hymn, would read a psalm, or a devotional chapter from Isaiah or one of the prophets, and the reading was usually very impressive and had a marked effect upon the congregation. In some places this good old custom, based on the example of Jesus himself, who stood up on the Sabbath day and read the Scripture, reading on one occasion a passage from Isaiah, has fallen into disuse, and it might be revived again to the advantage of our worship.

Good reading is a rare accomplishment, and, in fact, there are more good singers and good speakers than there are good readers. One thing a reader ought to do is to bring out by proper emphasis the meaning as well as the feeling of the author. This can only be done by carefully studying the subject and becoming fully acquainted with the meaning of the words read. It was said of the elder Booth that he recited the Lord's prayer with so much pathos that he moved all his irreverent hearers to tears. Few, indeed, can hope to read in this way, but, by careful study we may learn to read God's Word well.

In the prayer, the whole congregation bowing before God as David said, "O come, let us worship and bow down: let us kneel before the Lord our Maker," all may take part in the devotion, and while one brings before God our thanksgiving, our praises, our acknowledgments, our petitions and our wants in an audible voice, each heart may become, in secret though it be, an altar upon which is laid an acceptable offering to the Lord.

We need, in our Christian life, all these means of growth and development, and because we need them we are commanded "not to forsake the assembling of ourselves together." Meeting thus and giving due prominence to the worship of God and engaging in that worship with the true spirit of devotion, we grow strong in our spirituality in the inner man, which in the end will issue from the form that shaped it into the true likeness of Jesus Christ, for when we see him, we shall be like unto him.

Missionary and Tract Work Department.

"Upon the first day of the week, let every one of you lay by him in store as God hath prospered him, that there be no gatherings when I come." 1 Cor. 16. 2.

"Every man as he purposeth in his heart, so let him give. Not grudgingly or of necessity, for the Lord loveth a cheerful giver." 2 Cor. 9: 7.

HOW MUCH SHALL WE GIVE?

"Every man according to his ability." "Every one as God hath prospered him." "Every man, according as he purposeth in his heart, so let him give." "For if there be first a willing mind, it is accepted according to that a man hath, and not according to that he hath not." 2 Cor. 8. 12.

Organization of Missionary Committee.

DANIEL VANIMAN, Foreman, - - - Virden, Ill.
D. L. MILLER, Secretary and Treasurer, - Mt. Morris, Ill.
G. B. ROYER, Assistant Secretary, - - Mt. Morris, Ill.

Organization of Book and Tract Work.

S. W. HOOVER, Foreman, - - - Dayton, Ohio.
S. BOCK, Secretary and Treasurer, - - Dayton, Ohio.

☞All donations intended for Missionary Work should be sent to D. L. MILLER, Mt. Morris, Ill.

☞All money for Tract Work should be sent to S. BOCK, Dayton, Ohio.

☞Money may be sent by Money Order, Registered Letter, or Drafts on New York or Chicago. Do not send personal checks, or drafts on interior towns, as it costs 25 cents to collect them.

☞Solicitors are requested to faithfully carry out the plan of Annual Meeting, that all our members be solicited to contribute at least twice a year for the Mission and Tract Work of the Church.

☞Notes for the Endowment Fund can be had by writing to the Secretary of either Work.

APPLYING THE PLASTER.

BY MARY A. HOOVER.

WHEN reading Isaiah 38, we find that Hezekiah was sick unto death, and that he prayed to the Lord and said, "I have walked before thee in truth and with a perfect heart, and have done good." Hezekiah wept, and we believe he meant to do whatsoever the Lord wanted him to do. Isaiah told him to take a lump of figs and lay it for a plaster. If Hezekiah had not applied the plaster, we believe he would not have been healed.

The Christian, too, has a remedy. It consists in engaging in church work, visiting the sick, speaking to the weak and erring ones, etc. In that way we may apply the plaster. When we hear sisters say, "We have nothing for the missionary cause," we think they forget the plaster. When we see brethren buy tobacco, and then complain of "hard times," and "no money for the missionary cause," we think they have forgotten the plaster. Ministers who never preach a missionary sermon, are neglecting to apply the plaster.

TO OUR SUNDAY-SCHOOL WORKERS.—GIFTS.

BY S. W. HOOVER.

THE opportunity to collect and bestow useful and valuable gifts is, we believe, not nearly as highly appreciated nor as much encouraged as it ought to be. Especially is this true of our Sunday-schools throughout the Brotherhood, where many thousands convene every Lord's Day to learn more and more of him and the way he would have us do.

In this way the opportunity is weekly presented to each pupil that he may contribute to the cause. Each occasion that may afford instruction in giving should be encouraged. "Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it." Prov. 22: 6. Why not make the Mission and Tract Work of the church the objects of special contributions, say for at least from three to six months annually?

If each Superintendent of our schools, together with the teachers of their respective classes, would encourage regular contributions for the purpose of sending out tracts, a large sum might, with but little effort and no inconvenience, be annually added to the Tract Fund. In this way many thousands of tracts may be sent out on their mission of good, seeds of righteousness sown, and Gospel precepts planted in many fields and hearts now barren.

The old adage that "time is money" may be duplicated by the fact that opportunities are riches, and that a gift collected and bestowed in this way is of many times more value than gold. Lost opportunities are never regained.

Try it, brethren and sisters, and feel assured that your efforts will be appreciated and find ready responses. Your gifts will be carefully expended, and so distributed as to serve the cause, we all love, in the best manner!

MISSIONARY WORK.

BY GRANT MAHAN.

QUITE a while ago some one suggested laying aside Sunday eggs and giving the proceeds of them to the missionary work of the church. Not long ago you were told in the paper of some who had followed this suggestion. There have been others since then. The Assistant Secretary of the Missionary Committee gave me the following letters from persons sending in money. But it would not be possible to give all the letters that are sent, so only a few are selected.

HILLSDALE, PA., MAY 27, '89.

Dear Brother:—

Please find enclosed $1.55 missionary money, the proceeds of eggs laid on Sunday, from January 1 up to present date, May 27. A SISTER.

FINCASTLE, IND., MAY 28, '89.

Bro. D. L. Miller:—

My first quarter for saving all the poultry eggs laid on the Lord's Day was out April 14. . . . . I will enclose you one dollar for the first quarter.

FLORA, IND., JUNE 24, '89.

Dear Sir:—

Please find enclosed money order for seven dollars ($7 00) for the missionary cause. It was collected by the saving of eggs that were gathered on Sundays.

NORA, ILL., JULY 1, '89.

Dear Brother:—

Enclosed you will find $10.00, the proceeds of our Sunday eggs for the first six months of 1889. Please say it comes from the sale of eggs laid on Sunday. Perhaps it may influence others to lay something by for the missionary work. A SISTER.

From these four families comes $19.55 for less than half a year. Do you suppose any of them are any poorer for having done this much for the good work? They are better off than they would have been if they had not given. If you want to know what the result of giving is, ask some one who gives freely. He will tell you he is richer for every dollar he gives. "The liberal soul shall be made fat." There is no doubt about it.

If there is any one thing in particular that our people need stirring up about, it is this thing of giving to the cause which they profess to love. We do not seem to realize that the Gospel is for "all nations" and "every creature." We do not seem to realize that the main business of our lives should be to give that Gospel to those who must have help from the Christian world if they are to see the Light that lighteth every man that cometh into the world. Too often we forget what it is that we are to "seek first."

But are we making any progress in this direction? Yes, undoubtedly. A look at the reports will show that there has been an advance. But we are yet far, very far, from doing our whole duty in this respect. It would be a good idea for each member of the church to balance his accounts once a year, or oftener, just to see how they stand. Put on the one side what you have received, and on the other what you have returned. The debit side can hardly be summed up, but the credit side looks awfully insignificant. As a body, we come far short of the fifty-two cents a year the Annual Meeting asked from each member. Less than fifty-two cents a year for life, and health, and peace, and happiness! Each one ought to think about this and begin giving at once. Do not put it off till next month or next year. Now is the time, "act in the living present."

It seems strange that any one can profess to be a Christian and yet not believe in doing all the missionary work he can. He surely could not get such an idea from the New Testament, because that is all about teaching the good news to all who have not heard it. Even Christ himself says, "Let us go into the next towns, that I may preach there also: for therefore came I forth." He came forth to spread his doctrine; and, if we are true followers of his, our principal business will be to spread the glad tidings.

We have no right to put off the consideration of this question. It is as Bro. Gish said at Annual Meeting, when they were discussing a missionary plan: "With reference to deferring this matter, it will be perhaps all right to defer it from one year to another, if the people are going to keep on living. But people are all the while dying. . . . . I am satisfied of one thing, that we already have a plan laid down by the Lord and Master, if we will adopt it, which is the very plan we want. That is, to go into all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature. If there is something in the way which hinders your work and hinders you doing your duty, get that out of the way. . . . . I call upon you, especially, my ministering brethren, to think about this. I know many of you are able to go, and you are capable of doing good work when you get there. Now the question is, Will you do it? Will you make the sacrifice necessary to carry forward the work of God? Christ has told you what is necessary to do. The church has set you apart as ministers, and God has given you your charge to go and preach the Gospel to every creature."

But the missionary work ought not to be one-sided. The laymember, as well as the minister, has his work to do. He should be about as thoroughly consecrated to the work as the minister. He can not give his time as the minister does, but he can give to support the minister in the field. His hand should always be open, and his heart too. The fact that I am not a minister does not remove any responsibility from me. I am in duty bound to do all that I can. If I can give no more than five, or ten, or twenty dollars a year, this is all there is required of me. But it often happens that we can do more than we want to do. When it comes to the last day, how many of us will hear the words, "He has done what he could"?

"YE CAN NOT SERVE GOD AND MAMMON." Luke 16: 13.

BY S. N. M'CANN.

Giving a Blessing.

INSPIRATION presses the fact that "it is more blessed to give than to receive." Acts 20: 35; 2 Cor. 9: 7. We can easily see why this is true if we, by faith, obey, looking to God for his promises, but if we fail to obey, we can not see why it is true, neither by sight nor by faith. It is more blessed, because giving is a duty, growing out of our relation to society and to God; because Christ bids us give, and because our spiritual natures suffer without this means of grace. As sure as covetousness is a curse to an individual, narrowing him down to selfishness, giving is a blessing, raising him up out of self to the broad plane of Christian liberality.

As food ministers to the wants of the natural body, so the duties of a Christian minister to his spiritual wants. Giving is, in this respect, one of the substantials to spiritual life, not a mere luxury or a stimulant, but a real necessity, having no substitute.

Giving not only blesses the giver in a spiritual sense, carrying to him the assurance of temporal blessings, but it also blesses the receiver, therefore every gift becomes a triple blessing. "He which soweth bountifully shall also reap bountifully," refers directly to temporal prosperity as a reward for giving to God's cause with a willing mind and a cheerful heart. God does "multiply your seed sown," and if you withhold it from him for self, not even giving a tenth to him, how can he "increase the fruits of your righteousness"? 2 Cor. 9: 10.

God will make all things work together for our good, if we love him, but if our love is confined to our own dear selves, our "seed sown" may multiply to our own hurt. "For he maketh his sun to rise on the evil and on the good, and sendeth rain on the just and on the unjust."

If we hear God and do his bidding, his blessings, both temporal and spiritual, will be ours. There can be no question about this, for Jesus says, "There shall not a hair of your head perish." Luke 21: 18.

We often see this world's goods proving to be nothing but a sad curse, and that even to our Brethren, and our Brethren's children. This sad result is not to be imputed to a failure in God's promise, but to unfaithfulness in the stewardship.

Many persons lose all the spiritual advantage in the duty of giving, in order to lay up something, and start their sons and daughters in life. They starve their own souls, and teach, by example, to their tender offspring, the great and cursed sin of covetousness.

Love, that pure child of God, is often driven entirely from the family by this ugly sin of avarice. The children, instead of being endeared to the parents by their great sacrifice of God's blessings, in order to accumulate, and give them each a farm, are cold, indifferent, and sometimes almost fiendish. They quarrel, and even fight over the little unrighteous "mammon," when father and mother are dead, sometimes before they are laid in their graves.

Sadder still is the picture I have seen with my own eyes,—a father and mother growing old, after having labored hard. Forgetting that they were only stewards, they lay up everything for their children. In old age they divide the estate among the children, depending upon their love for protection and care. But alas, how sad their disappointment! They are made to feel that they are a burden,—that it would be better if they were dead, and their children even openly wish them dead! Can it be that any brother or sister is cultivating such a spirit in their offspring? In proportion as the stewardship is lost sight of, and the blessedness in doing God's will, such a spirit is cultivated. Avarice cultivates that kind of a spirit and nature in yourself, but two-fold more in your children.

"Who hath first given to the Lord and it shall not be recompensed unto him again?" Rom. 11: 35. This is a question of importance to every person,—much more to every child in the Lord's vineyard. This question has never been answered but in one way in my experience, and I have never found a person yet who received a different answer to it.

Those persons who have given most to the Lord are the most ready to give, have the most faith in his promises, and can give us the strongest assurance that God does recompense for all work done in his name, even in this life's blessings.

Solomon's language is verified to every true, Christian giver, for God does recompense his children, and "He that giveth unto the poor shall not lack." Prov. 28: 27.

The Living God, who "gives us richly all things to enjoy" (1 Tim. 6: 17), will hold us accountable for our disposition of our riches, as well as of our time and talents. If we use all our means to his glory, they will bless us and all of our interests; but if God's glory is lost sight of, and we put our trust in "uncertain riches," they will curse us and all that pertains to us.

"Blest is the man whose bowels move
And melt with pity to the poor.
He, in the time of general grief,
Shall find the Lord has bowels too.
His soul shall live secure on earth,
With secret blessings on his head,
When drouth, and pestilence, and death,
Around him multiply their dead."

MARCHING ON!

BY THURSTON MILLER.

It is generally well understood that the impression, or idea received of anything, depends very much upon the stand-point from which it is looked at. This will very often account for conflicting descriptions, or contradictory statements made by different individuals about the same thing. In noting the reviews of different writers, referring to our late Annual Meeting and its work, there seems to be just a little confliction of opinions, caused, no doubt, by the different positions occupied by the writers when taking their views.

When General Conference of 1889 closed its sessions, it may be said that another mile-post in the history of the church was passed, and whether its work was right or wrong,—to become beneficial or a detriment, time alone can prove.

In looking over the history of the church, not for "ten years," but twenty-five years at least, it seems to me that she has much reason for self-congratulation over her present advanced condition every way. To go back ten years is not far enough, to make deductions. That was near the culmination of the work of the two powerful extreme elements. Since that time a great deal of the time and labor of our Annual Conference has been devoted to correcting wrong and conflicting notions, imbibed through the influence of those extremes, and however honest may have been, or still are, the motives of those diverging wings, the fact nevertheless remains, that they are incompatible with the original idea of an apostolic organization of the church. To this cause must be attributed, at least in great part, these perplexing questions of discipline.

Whilst every fair and honorable effort has been put forth to overcome the damaging influence of the past, the present time presents a mighty, and ever increasing foe to the work of reformation, which, in many instances, and in some localities, renders all efforts futile. This is the popular religious idea of uniting the world with the church.

Then, again, we have the wonderful advancement made in the fancied wisdom of the "children of the kingdom" of this world.

I presume there has been no time in the history of the race, when popular delusions, deceptive schemes, legalized gambling, etc., ran so high as now, and yet, notwithstanding this great host and mighty power of opposition, the Brethren's church survives! This seems "wonderful in our eyes, but it is the work of the Lord," and to him all praise is due.

But the church does not only exist,—she is advancing; perhaps not as rapidly as some of us would wish, yet surely and steadily.

Bro. B. C. Moomaw's note of warning in Gospel Messenger, No. 26, Page 412, may appear a little discouraging to some of our zealous workers, but I feel sure that if he will take another position from which to take observations, he will agree that the church is moving on with majesty and power in her grand march toward her promised destination. I feel quite secure yet, under the safeguard of a two-thirds majority rule in passing upon queries. Beside we have the promise that "as is our day, so shall our strength be." Then let us "thank God and take courage!" Surely, the general church is doing well, all circumstances considered, and many of the local churches are wheeling into line upon the old landmarks, while others are earnestly enquiring after "the old paths."

Let us move on, then, trusting in the God of our fathers, that when perplexing questions or difficult problems arise, he will impart to the church sufficient wisdom to meet and dispose of them without any serious jar or impediment to her onward course! God bless the Brotherhood! Amen!

INFLUENCE.

BY SARAH M. SAUNDERS.

As we pass along through life, we all have more or less influence upon those with whom we associate or come in contact,—whether we are aware of the fact or not. I have been very forcibly impressed of late, that we, as professed followers of the meek and lowly Lamb of God, should be very careful what kind of an influence we wield upon the minds and lives of those around us.

If we live quiet, unassuming lives, not boasting of great things, our influence, though small, will be for good; but if, on the contrary, we live carelessly, engage in light, frivolous conversation, and, in our dealings with men of the world, always manage to get goods cheaper than any one else, we are not exerting the proper influence. If, by bartering with the retail dealer, we get him to sell to us at wholesale price or a little less, we thereby cause him to give us all his profits. This not only endangers the man's business, but will greatly lower his estimation of our integrity, or honesty and fair dealing, as this is not doing unto others as we would wish them to do to us. It has a very bad influence, not only against our moral character, but our profession of Christianity also.

If we use honeyed words and flattering encomiums while conversing with our brethren and sisters, and in their absence use harsh, disparaging words, talk about their weaknesses or failings in the presence of others, our influence for uprightness will be very weak. When we meet together in the house of God for worship, and employ the time, before the services, in discussing our prospects for a corn crop, or the excessive rainfall, or our plan of work for the next week, we weaken our influence upon others, in regard to our piety.

If, when we go to church some Sunday morning, and, through some unavoidable circumstance, the minister fails to come, we get nervous and uneasy, chat awhile on various topics, disperse and go home, or accompany some one to enjoy a sumptuous dinner, and stroll around the farm, our influence for religious principles is somewhat diminished in the eyes of thinking people.

Dear brethren and sisters, let us all be very careful of our influence upon others. If we would wish to have an influence upon them for humility, let us strive to show ourselves to be patterns of humility, not only in form, but in deed and in truth. Let us endeavor, by God's assisting grace, to so live that our influence will be for good and not evil!

THE MAMMON OF UNRIGHTEOUSNESS.

BY JOHN FORNEY.

To Bro. Joseph and Sister Fanny Morrow:—

Upon your urgent request, to give an explanation on Luke 16: 8, 9, I will try to do so to the best of my understanding.

The verses alluded to read thus: "And the Lord commended the unjust steward, because he had done wisely; for the children of this world are in their generation wiser than the children of light. And I say unto you, Make to yourselves friends of the mammon of unrighteousness; that when ye fail they may receive you into everlasting habitations."

1. To get the proper idea of this subject, we must notice that the Lord Jesus spoke this to his disciples to teach them a lesson of prudence.

2. We see how wisely the unjust steward acted for himself, when he was aware that he could not continue to be steward. He made the wise provision for himself of a future house and home, and plenty to live on. He called unto him his Lord's debtors and forgave one-half to the first, one-fifth to a second, and so on. This is the way he made unto himself friends, to have a home in after-life.

No wonder his Lord had to commend him for his wisdom! The steward only did it to have a home and food in this world, hence he used only worldly wisdom. Now the Lord Jesus Christ takes up the subject, and holds it up to his disciples. "And I say unto you, make to yourselves friends of the mammon of unrighteousness, that when ye fail they may receive you into everlasting habitations." The Revised Version has it, "Make to yourselves friends by means of the mammon of unrighteousness. The German saith, "with the mammon of unrighteousness." We accept the word mammon to mean worldly or earthly treasures, or goods, or riches. We know that the earth is the Lord's and the fulness thereof,—yea all the cattle upon a thousand hills are the Lord's. "All the silver and gold is mine," saith the Lord.

A few points must be noticed to make the subject, under consideration, plain.

1. We must remember that all we have and possess, of this world's goods, is not our own, but we are only set as stewards to keep house with it for a time, and then will be set off, or, as the text saith (when ye fail), they may receive you into everlasting habitations.

2 We must remember that it all belongs to the Lord who will ever hold us responsible for our dealing with the same, that we may be found as faithful stewards in these little worldly treasures, that we may properly apply them where they belong, feed the hungry, clothe the naked, lodge the stranger,—in short, do good to all men, and especially to those of the household of faith. To do good to all men means, to give of your goods for the spreading of the Gospel.

3. Make unto yourselves friends of the mammon of unrighteousness that when ye fail they may receive you into everlasting habitations.

This last phrase, brother and sister, may be the part of the text that makes the subject look mysterious to you, that you say you can not understand it, and therefore you ask me to explain.

I will only call your attention to the language of Christ, in Matt. 25: 31-40. Here, in answer to those on his right hand, he saith, "Inasmuch as you have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

4. We must make unto ourselves friends, to receive us, when we fail, into everlasting habitations.

All of us, who have studied our Bible, know that no mortal man can give unto us an everlasting habitation. It is only to be obtained by and through our Lord Jesus Christ. He declared to his disciples, "Ye are my friends, if ye do whatsoever I command you." If we are his friends, he is ours, and his friendship will unite us with all the family of God,—yea, with the Father and the holy angels. It will obtain for us the everlasting habitation,—that house not made with hands, of which Paul speaks. 2 Cor. 5: 1, 2.

5. In the tenth and eleventh verses we have another very striking lesson, where Christ sets forth the contrast between faithfulness and unfaithfulness, showing his disciples that if a man doth not deal honest with perishable riches (unrighteous mammon), who will commit to his trust the true riches! The true riches means a better life,—an immortal one,—one that is free from pain and sorrow, and all cumbersome toil and sad disappointment, which beset our way in this life. There we shall be heirs of God, and joint-heirs with his Son,—the Lord Jesus Christ. We shall enjoy all that heaven is, all that heaven means, and all that heaven promises. These are the true riches!

Abilene, Kansas.

CORRESPONDENCE.

"Write what thou seest, and send it unto the churches."

☞Church News solicited for this Department. If you have had a good meeting, send a report of it, so that others may rejoice with you. In writing give name of church, county and State. Be brief! Notes of Travel should be as short as possible. Land Advertisements are not solicited for this Department. We have an advertising page, and, if necessary, will issue supplements.

To the Elders of the Middle District of Indiana.

The Trustees appointed by District Meeting, in behalf of the Old Folks' and Orphans' Home, donated to the District by Bro. Miller, met, according to arrangements, and organized by electing Bro. Noah Fisher as Moderator and Treasurer, and the writer as Secretary. Now, as Bro. Miller thinks he will have the house completed by Oct. 1, and then will deed it to the Trustees, and as he only agreed to build the house, we think we will need at least $600 to complete the Home, and make necessary improvements, before we can receive inmates.

As we are unable to do anything without means, we thought best to notify the elders through the Messenger, hoping they will heed the call and appoint solicitors in every church throughout the District, to collect funds for the Home. Money will get the necessary things, but if any one has bed-clothing, carpet, furniture, a cow, or anything that we can use, we will gladly receive the same. If each one does a little, the burden will not be heavy on any one. I will further say, if any one knows of a person, suitable to take charge of the Home, and superintend the same, we would be glad to hear from such. We would like to have endowment funds sufficient to support the Home. Send all donations to the Treasurer,—Noah Fisher, Perrysburg, Miami Co., Ind.

James Himelick,
Sec'y.

Mexico, Ind.

Vacation.

We are in the midst of our summer vacation, and have seen but few of our students since the close of school, June 18. When the time came for vacation, the question for many to solve, was, What shall I do till September 4, '89, when I shall return to take up my school work again? Many of the students decided to go to their homes and spend vacation with their parents.

This certainly is a pleasure to those who had children here the past year who were made stronger in their faith for the church and in love to their parents.

There are some who have entered upon vacation without any thought as to their spiritual interests. We hope when you return to us at the opening of the school that you have not been on a spiritual vacation, while you have been with your parents, that you have grown in spiritual strength.

There are some who are very indifferent about that which should be of the highest interest to them. Some put off coming to Christ until old age, others come to Christ and put off working for him until they are old, while others come to Christ and make sacrifice for Him all through life. Those who do not come to Christ until old age, are out on the ocean of life many years without an anchor to the soul.

Those who come to Christ and do not consecrate themselves and all to his service, are out on the ocean of life with many doubts and fears. Those who are with Christ, walk with him, talk with him, live with him in their every-day life. They are the strong Christians and known as the workers in the church. How different with the last! All else must be subordinate to their spiritual welfare. When they decide upon a vacation, it does not mean to them a spiritual vacation, but work in that which gives spiritual growth. There may be some who have been on a spiritual vacation for some time, but when will you commence your spiritual work again? No Christian can afford to lose one day's time for spiritual growth. You grow by studying God's Word and by your own secret prayers.

Some have neglected Christian duty, because all their time was occupied by their money and farms. There is no Christian that can afford to become spiritually weak by doing that which pertains to earthly affairs at the neglect of the heavenly. The Christian parent who has the spiritual welfare of his child at heart will not make the same mistake that Lot made, in finding a home for himself and family. Lot located in a beautiful land but his surroundings were all against him, as to his highest interest.

He exposed himself and family to the wicked influence so he might gratify his desire in having a beautiful home. Are there not Christians at the present time who are making the same mistake? They are not aware of the danger to which they are exposing their families; the children are under the wicked influence and may never entirely recover from the marks of sin.

Parents should have the highest interest of their children at heart when they seek a location for them. They should examine the moral and religious atmosphere that they are to breathe.

There are parents who have much of this world's goods who put their children under school influence where the Bible is hardly known, and where the church principles are not taught. They send children away to the worldly schools or to the denominational schools, and in the end are surprised that their children do not come to the Brethren church. If they are already members, why do they not have more love for the church? You are doing this because you put the religious influence of one school at a par with the other. Look at the result and you see that you can not put too high an estimate upon proper influence. Above all, decide to send your children to the school where they will learn that plainness and church order are respected, and where they will learn to love the church, instead of hate it.

Kind parents, give this your attention! Pray for the future welfare of your children, that they may become strong pillars in the church! May this help you to see the importance of having your children under church influence.

Parents can not afford to have their children out in the world when the church is all the time in need of workers. Do not educate your child for the world, but educate him for usefulness in both church and world.

Kind students, vacation will soon be in the past, and you will return to us again. Encourage others to come with you and enjoy the Christian influence here at the Mount. Parents, come with your children and give us a visit. Many of our Brethren have visited us, and we invite others to come and examine our school and church work. May the Lord help us all to be workers in his vineyard! E. S. YOUNG.

From the Highways and Hedges.

AFTER the Annual Meeting and its labors were over, we returned to Augusta County Virginia, where we spent a few days in visiting friends and relatives, and held an occasional meeting. We spent the time pleasantly until July 5, when, in company with Bro. John Cline, of Augusta County, as guide and director-in-chief, we set out to work for the Master. We made our first stop at New Concord, in Rockbridge County. Here the Brethren have a meeting-house and small congregation. This is one of their mission points. They need a minister to assist in the work here. We spent the time in visiting members and others during the day, trying to encourage and build up, preaching each night and Sunday, until Tuesday July 9th, when we crossed the mountain into Amherst County, in the direction of Lynchburg. Here the Brethren from Augusta County, by their patient, untiring efforts, in these mountains and hills have built up quite a large congregation, with a good comfortable meeting-house. There is no resident minister here, where at least two are badly needed. Here, in Eastern Virginia, is a wide field open for mission work and local preachers, if our General Mission Board could only have the men to supply these demands. Our plan is good if carried out. Let each State District select a suitable man (and, if necessary, sustain him). They can do it. Then let them report to the General Mission Board. They can find the work. Send them out for not less than one year, and the longer the better.

We need Brethren to locate at these mission points, and take care of the work. We need good house-keepers,—men that look like Brethren, feel like Brethren, act like Brethren,—in short, such that are Brethren inside and outside, living epistles, known and read of all men. Some there are that have their identity so bedimmed by an unbecoming exterior, that no man can read them, not even know them to be members. Jesus says, "I know my sheep, and they follow me." I notice that a sheep always looks like a sheep, and a goat always looks like a goat. Even if he does run among the sheep, he can not hide good; his wool is generally a little too short. It would be good if they were all where they belong,—out with the goats. But they are in, and will stay in until Jesus comes. He will get them out. He says that he will separate the sheep from the goats. He will get them out and place the sheep on his right hand, and the goats on the left. I wonder if the sheep will not all look like sheep then. Do not think that any of the sheep will be creeping around, trying to look like the goats. "That awful day will surely come, when we must stand the solemn test."

We expect to remain here about six or eight days; then pass on to the "Cane Breaks,"—some twelve or fourteen miles further on towards Lynchburg, where we expect, the Lord permitting, to hold some meetings, but, as it is a very busy time with the people, we can only have preaching at night and on Sundays. Our aim is to go by Lynchburg on to Salem, Roanoke County. Address me there for the next twenty days.

JAS. R. GISH.

July 11.

Notes of Travel.

I LEFT home May 31, for Sheldon, Iowa, and arrived home again July 9. During that time I attended two love-feasts,—one at Aurelia, June 8th, and one at Sheldon, June 15th. I traveled north to the Minnesota line as far as Lyon County, south to Ida County, a distance north and south of about eighty miles. I found good land, good crops, and, above all, a good class of people with whom to build up churches. Many were acquainted with the Brethren. Some are Brethren's children and able to discern between genuine and counterfeit religion. All that is needed is to preach and practice, organize the scattered members into a working body, and in a few years flourishing churches will be found, where the urgent calls for preaching are now heard.

My labors were confined principally to Sheldon, in O'Brien County, and at Galva, in Ida County. At the latter place brethren John Early and James Hardy, from Aurelia church, have preached some. There is a good opening here. About twenty members are scattered over considerable territory. We started a weekly social meeting and after harvest they purpose holding a love-feast here. Some intend to unite with the church at that time. Many are seekers. They make a profession, but have found no home yet.

At Sheldon, Bro. Tobias Myers is the only minister. The calls for preaching are many from all directions. Laborers are needed. Talent should be utilized in the church, and while the current of immigration is running south-west, occasional attention should be called to this section of country. It has its advantages, and the disadvantages cannot bear down the scales. I had the pleasure of seeing ten added by baptism and one reclaimed while amongst the Brethren in Northwestern Iowa.

I have been well all the time, preaching nearly every evening, and two or three sermons each Sunday. If I live I intend to spend the coming fall in this section of country, as I consider it the best field for mission work. There seems to be a readiness to accept the Truth, as practiced by our church, in harmony with the teaching of Christ and the apostles. I have not found one family, the marriage relations of which would exclude them from church membership. From no other place in my experience and observation could I report thus favorable on this subject.

As the MESSENGER is read by many in Wisconsin, as well as by the Mission Board of Northern Illinois, this will notify them that this coming fall my labors will be confined to another field, and that some one else must take my place in Wisconsin where I was appointed by the Mission Board.

We celebrated the Fourth by preaching, and led two sisters into the water. Hence the Fourth will be their anniversary of the new life in Christ.

D. M. MILLER.

Echoes from the Highway.

SINCE my last I have attended appointments at Beaver Creek church, Montezuma and Bridgewater, Rockingham County, Va. We were favored by a large attendance,—mostly members. In Rockingham County the tendency of the larger class of the people is toward a union with the Brethren church. The same may be said of some of the localities bordering on said County, while in other sections the Brethren meet with strong opposition from other denominations, and, I am sorry to say, in not a few instances Brethren's children are seduced into the maelstrom of popular religion. Doubtless there is a fault somewhere,—of which we may speak more at length in the future,—causing a number of the rising generation to go in a way they should not.

* * *

Our visit among the faithful in Virginia will long be remembered as a joyful one,—a happy sojourn in a green oasis of Christian love and hospitable entertainment by the many relatives and friends. July 12, early in the morning, in company with sisters Nettie and Mary Miller, we,—five in number,—left Staunton for West Virginia. We had the privilege of a five hours' stop-off at this famous watering place,—the "White Sulphur Springs," whence these echoes are issued. A more pleasant mountain retreat it is difficult to find. It is, however, no place for persons of small means to tarry long. As aristocracy is the rule in nearly everything, prices of living are high. One can not as much as get a decent bath without paying half a dollar for it.

J. S. FLORY.

From Ashland, Ohio.

THE Sunday-school at Maple Grove church, Ashland Co., O., had a lesson review June 30. This was to impress the very important lessons we had been studying during the second quarter of the present year. It was perhaps not a success. Review with us, at Maple Grove, is a new business, and we have much to learn, so we will try again. We were, however, made to rejoice when, at the close of the review, one precious soul came out on the Lord's side. The dear young sister was baptized by our beloved elder, George Worst.

DAVID SNYDER.

From Dry Bone, Jackson Co., Ala.

IF there are any Brethren in Alabama or Middle Tennessee, I would like to hear from them. We have not seen a brother since we came to this State, eighteen months ago. We think the Brethren in the North and West who desire to make a change to a mild climate where land is cheap and purchasable, would do well to come and look at this country. I believe this to be the mildest climate in the whole South, taking it the year round. As to health, I consider the general health of this country very good.

I would say to the general Brotherhood if they wish to acquaint the people with the true doctrine of the Bible, I think they can do so to some extent by sending books and tracts on doctrinal subjects. The GOSPEL MESSENGER also is a powerful preacher. If any are sent us, we will distribute them the best we can. O. K. PARSONS.

From Panora, Iowa.

AT our love-feast, July 4, we had the largest representation of members we ever had here. Six applicants were baptized,—mostly children; another,—a mother, seventy-eight years old,—is to be received next Sunday. At our feast we had splendid order and attention, and the ministers from neighboring churches contributed to the interest of the meeting. J. D. HAUGHTELIN.

IT is a true instinct when men are led to regard the beauty of the world that comes to them through the eye, and the moral light which shines from behind upon the soul, as coming from one center, and leading upward to the thought of one Being who is above both. In this way all visible beauty becomes a hint and a foreshadowing of something more than itself.

Christian Greeting.

To the Waddam's Grove Church in Northern Illinois:—

I FEEL that I owe you this expression of Christian Greeting. My late, short visit to you was to me an Elim,—like the twelve wells of water and the seventy palm trees were to the children of Israel. Ex. 15: 27. We felt like pitching our tent among you as in days of yore. If it was my own foolish discontent that brought greater labor and responsibilities upon myself and companion, I should with shame lay my hand upon my mouth and remain silent; but if it is the will of the Lord, I should, and will, in submission say, "Thy will be done."

Your expressions of love, whether in tears, grip of the hand, kind and cheering words, or as a matter of bounty, to help bear my burden, are all deeply impressed upon my heart in a way more easily imagined than expressed. My prayer and heart's desire, for the Waddam's Grove church, is not only that she shall be saved, but that in her onward march to victory she may be fair as the moon, clear as the sun, and terrible as an army with banners, waving the Gospel banner high, firing into the camp of the enemy, till the slain of the Lord be many, and sinners around will cry out, "What shall I do to be saved."

You have children, husbands and wives, neighbors and friends fighting against God, some choosing the pleasures of sin, others, in order to evade the cross, may accept the religion of the age, which says, peace, peace, when there is no peace. Let the officers be as valiant generals in God's army, going before and shouting the voice of victory, so that others may be encouraged and fall in line, and swell the march on the narrow road to glory. Be not discouraged when success does not crown your efforts. The Lord's way is sometimes wrapped in mystery, and when the clouds hang the darkest, they often bring the greatest blessings. We often wonder why certain things are so, and yet we can not well change them, and it would not be good if we could; therefore hang up your anxieties and perplexities on this promise, "All things shall work together for good to them that love the Lord," and patiently wait for the blessing. It will come, but you may not know when, where, or how. Only believe it will be so, and be content with your lot.

Never strive to see who shall be the greatest, but in honor prefer one another. He that humbleth himself shall be exalted. Humility, which chiefly consists in being little in our own eyes, is the sure road to spiritual attainments or promotion. When a man climbs a tree himself, it goes hard; but when others push or lift him up, it goes easy, and if your hold should slip, they can keep you from falling.

"Obey them that have the rule over you, and submit yourselves, for they watch for your souls as they that must give account, that they may do it with joy and not with grief; for that is unprofitable for you." "Wherefore, also, we pray always for you that our God would count you worthy of this calling, and fulfill all the good pleasure of his goodness, and the work of faith with power."

Now our Lord Jesus Christ himself and God, even our Father, which has loved us and hath given us everlasting consolation and good hope through grace, comfort your hearts, and establish you in every good word and work!

Your fellow-servant,

ENOCH EBY.

From Garrison, Iowa.

AT this late date I feel to say a few words relative to our feast, which was held June 1 and 2. We had a feast indeed, and all seemed to enjoy it very much. The church decided to call more laborers into the vineyard, both ministers and deacons. The lot fell upon brethren E. H. Stouffer and W. H. Long to labor in the capacity of ministers, and brethren S. Puterbaugh and J. Hulse as deacons. The latter formerly belonged to the River Brethren, and was also a deacon in that church. The above-named brethren were duly installed into their respective offices.

Since our return from Annual Meeting we baptized three dear souls at our church. I rejoice to see such ingatherings at our regular meetings. May the Good Lord bless them all, that they may be shining lights in the church!

July 5, we boarded the midnight train for Grundy Center, and next day met with our dear brethren and sisters in council. The first business that came before the meeting was an application by C. Garner and wife to be received into the church. They had gone with the Old Order Brethren, and Bro. Charles had been preaching for them a number of years. Their statement was made and duly considered by the church. All requirements were fully complied with, and they were unanimously received again into the church. We were well pleased with the spirit manifested by brother and sister Garner. May the Lord abundantly bless them, is our prayer. A considerable amount of other business was transacted, all of which passed off very pleasantly.

The Sunday-school here is moving along nicely. We also enjoyed the privilege of meeting three times with our brethren and sisters in public worship while with them.

To our dear brethren and sisters of Middle Iowa I would say that I arrived home safely from Annual Meeting and found all well; the Lord be praised for his protection!

STEPHEN JOHNSON.

From La Porte Church, Ind.

LAST Sunday was the time again for Bro. Shreve's appointment at the Waterford school-house. Feeling a strong desire to meet once more the many friends who used to assemble there years ago, the writer arranged to attend. The house was well filled and a deep interest was manifested by the earnest attention given during the devotional exercises throughout. The prospect at this point is quite encouraging, and, with properly-directed energy, good will continue to result. Our late love-feast exerted a wide influence for good throughout the neighborhood, which is one of the blessings following such meetings.

Surely, it could not well be otherwise when our neighbors see how well we are remembered by so many from a distance.

I wish to say in this connection to the fifty self-sacrificing brethren and sisters who came to us from abroad, some of whom have been coming from year to year, that the present improved condition of the little band here is largely owing to the silent power of the good examples you have presented to us. May God bless you in your good work in that way!

The improvement in the appearance of our members, as compared with former years, was quite apparent and very gratifying. A few years ago the cap upon a sister's head, without the bonnet, was the exception. Last year but two bonnets were seen at the Lord's table. This year those two had disappeared, and every sister presented the same uniform covering upon the head,—the prayer covering or sister's cap,—even to the youngest babe in Christ,—a sister of fifteen years, who had been but one short week in the church. This is as it should be and we humbly and fervently thank God for what our eyes have seen and our ears heard. Thine, O Lord, be all the glory! THURSTON MILLER.

MATRIMONIAL.

"What therefore God hath joined together, let not man put asunder."

LEE—CLELAND.—At the residence of the undersigned, June 22, Mr. James T. Lee and Miss Nettie Cleland, all of Snowville, Meigs Co., O.

JAMES H. GRAHAM.

FALLEN ASLEEP

"Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord"

JACOBS.—At Walkerton, St. Jo Co., Ind., June 4th, sister Susan Jacobs, aged 80 years.

Deceased was the mother of thirteen children,—five of whom are living. Her husband preceded her in death fifteen years. Both were members of the Brethren church. She was anointed and made her own arrangements for her funeral. Funeral services by the home ministers.

JACOB HILDERBRAND.

LEVITS.—In the Brothers' Valley church, Pa., June 10, Eld. William Levits, aged 79 years and 6 days. Peace to his ashes! Funeral services by Eld. Mich. Weyand and the writer. D. H. WALKER.

MILLER.—In Anderson, Ind, June 25, of apoplexy, Lydia, wife of David Miller, aged 51 years, 10 months and 28 days

Deceased was the daughter of Peter Fesler and sister of elders G. W. and Frederick Fesler. She was married March 27, 1856, and was the mother of six children, five sons and one daughter. The daughter and two sons survive her to mourn their loss. She became a member of the Brethren church when twenty-seven years old, and died steadfast in the faith.

Funeral services were held near Middletown, Ind., June 27, in the presence of a large concourse of people, by the writer and John McCarty, from 2 Tim. 4: 6, 7, 8.

HENRY FRANTZ.

WIMMER.—In Wayne County, Ind., Sept. 15, 1888, Catharine Wimmer, aged 64 years, 11 months and 18 days.

Deceased was born in Wirtemberg, Germany, Sept 28, 1823. She leaves a kind husband, six children and twelve grandchildren, to mourn their loss. While we felt loath to part with her we feel satisfied that our loss is her gain, as she was an invalid for twenty years and suffered very much. She endured all with Christian patience, and often expressed a willingness to go and be present with the Lord. She was joined in marriage to Noah Wimmer, Oct. 19, 1848. She embraced religion in her sixteenth year, and joined the Evangelical church. In 1867 she united with the River Brethren, and with them she remained in fellowship until death.

She was buried in the Brethren's cemetery at Locust Grove, in the Nettle Creek church. A large concourse of friends and neighbors was present at the funeral services, which were conducted by Lewis Kinsey, assisted by Moses Brenaman, of the River Brethren church, from Rev. 14: 12.

BOWMAN.—In the Wakendah church, Ray Co., Mo., June 30, Bro. John D. Bowman, aged 16 years, 9 months and 16 days.

Deceased united with the Brethren's church about three years ago. Though young, he proved to be an earnest and devoted brother.

He attended one term of school at Mt. Morris and afterwards two terms at McPherson, Kans. He leaves his parents, two brothers, and a sister to mourn their loss. Funeral services by Bro. George Clemens.

J. H. SHIRKY.

NICODEMUS.—In the Brothers' Valley church, Somerset Co., Pa., Bro. Herbert Nicodemus, aged 75 years, 9 months and 18 days.

Funeral services by D. H. Walker, M. Weyand and the writer from Job 14: 19. Interment in the Trent cemetery near Griffin.

P. F. CUPP.

TOMS.—In the Silver Creek church, Ogle Co., Ill., March 23, Bertha, daughter of John and Mary Toms, aged 8 years, 1 month and 6 days.

"Dear parents, although God has transplanted your tender bud into his own lovely garden, be not grieved at his mysterious providence. Though you no longer find your darling prattling at your side, or feel her twining about your heart, you have the blessed assurance she is safe in the arms of Jesus. Be faithful to your calling and you shall some day meet her in God's glorious kingdom, never more to part."

NETTIE V. HANMER.

GOODMAN.—June 10, Mr. Daniel Goodman, aged 78 years, 1 month and 13 days.

CORRELL.—In Mountain Valley, Greene Co., Tenn., June 28, Mary S. Correll, widow of Eld A. J. Correll, deceased, aged 51 years, 9 months and 17 days.

P. M. CORRELL.

The "Oxford" Teachers' Reference Bibles.

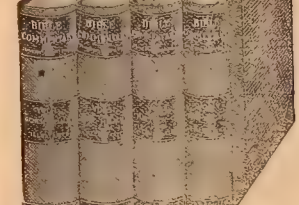
PEARL 16mo.

No. 500. FRENCH MOROCCO, boards $1 40
No. 502. FRENCH SEAL, limp, round corners 1 60
No. 503. FRENCH SEAL, divinity circuit, round corners 1 7
No. 514p.i. PERSIAN SEAL, divinity circuit, silk sewed, leather lined, patent index 4 50

RUBY 16mo.

No. 550. FRENCH MOROCCO, boards..... 2 25
No. 553. FRENCH SEAL, divinity circuit, round corners 2 75
No. 564. PERSIAN SEAL, divinity circuit, silk sewed, leather lined, round corners..... 4 00
No. 564p i. PERSIAN SEAL, same as No. 564, with patent index..... 5 00
No. 565½. LEVANT, divinity circuit, kid lined, silk sewed, round corners 5 00

NONPAREIL 8vo.



o. 660. TURKEY MOROCCO, board, gilt roll 4 50
No. 661¼ TURKEY MOROCCO, limp, round corners..... 4 75
No 664. PERSIAN SEAL, divinity circuit, round corners, leather lined..... 4 50
No. 664p i. PERSIAN SEAL, same as No. 664, with patent index..... 6 00
No. 665½. LEVANT, divinity circuit, kid lined, silk sewed, round corners..... 6 00

INDIA PAPER EDITION.

No. 661x. PERSIAN SEAL, divinity circuit, silk sewed, round corners, leather lined..... 5 25
No 661½x. TURKEY MOROCCO, silk sewed, loose limp, round corners..... 5 25
No. 671x. BEST LEVANT, divinity circuit, kid lined, silk sewed, red under gold edges, round corners..... 9 00

Address all orders to

BRETHREN'S PUBLISHING CO.,
Or, Huntingdon, Pa. Mount Morris, Ill.

NEW AND COMPLETE

Bible Commentary.

Critical, Explanatory and Practical, by Jamieson, Fausset & Brown, in four large 12mo Volumes of about 1000 pages each. This Work has Numerous Illustrations and Maps. It is far in advance of the Older Works. It is Critical, Practical and Explanatory. It is Compendious and Comprehensive in its character. It has a Critical Introduction to each Book of Scripture, and is by far the most Practical, Suggestive and Popular Work of the kind in the English Language. Price, Cloth, $8.00 post-paid.

BRETHREN'S PUBLISHING CO.,
Or, Huntingdon, Pa. Mt. Morris, Ill.

"LITTLE MISSIONARIES,"—a term applied by some one to our BRETHREN'S ENVELOPES, is well deserved. Price, 15 cents a package; for sale at this office.

A Book for Every Member!

Classified Minutes

—OF—

ANNUAL MEETING.

☞ A full supply of this excellent work still on hand. Every member should have a copy of this work, in order to have a thorough understanding of the deliberations of the Annual Meeting in reference to church government, etc. Price, English Cloth, $1.50, post-paid; leather, $2.00.

☞ A responsible agent wanted in each congregation, to whom terms will be furnished upon application. Address,

BRETHREN'S PUBLISHING CO.,
Or, Huntingdon, Pa. Mount Morris, Ill.

Tract Work.

List of Publications for Sale,—Sent Postage Prepaid.

CLASS A.

No. 1. Golden Gleams or Family Chart, ... 85 cts.

CLASS B.

No. 1. Trine Immersion, Quinter, per copy ...$ 1 25
No. 2. Europe and Bible Lands, Miller, per copy..... 1 50
No. 3. Doctrine of the Brethren Defended, per copy..... 1 50
No. 4. Classified Minutes—A. M 1 50
No. 5. Two Sticks, Eshelman, ... 1 00
No 6 Close Communion, Wash. per copy..... 40

CLASS C.

No. 1. Annual Report, per copy.....$ 05
No 2. Path of Life, per 100, $5.00; per copy, 06
No. 3 How to Become a Child of God, per 100, $4 00; per copy, ... 05
No. 4 Conversion, per 100, $2 50; per copy.... 03
No. 5. Water Baptism, per 100, $1.50, per copy 02
No. 6. Single Immersion, per 100, $1 50; per copy, ... 02
No. 7. Sabbatism, per 100, $2.50; per copy..... 03
No. 8. Discussion on Trine Immersion, per copy, ... 15
No. 9. Sermon on Baptism, per copy.... 03
No. 10. Glad Tidings of Salvation, per copy... 03
No. 11. Life of Eld. S. Weir (Colored), per copy, ... 08
No. 12. Ten Reasons for Trine Immersion, per 100, $1.50, per copy,..... 02

CLASS D.

No. 1. House We Live In, per 100, ...$ 60
No. 2. Plan of Salvation, per 100,..... 60
No. 3. Come, Let Us Reason Together, per 100 60
No. 4. How Shall I Know that my Sins are Pardoned? per 100,..... 60
No. 5. Intemperance, per 100,..... 60
No. 6. Plain Dressing, per 100,..... 60
No. 7. Which Is the Right Church? per 100... 60
No. 8. House We Live In (Swedish), per 100,.. 60
No. 9. House We Live In (Danish), per 100,.. 60
No. 10. Paul Wetzel's Reasons, Etc., (German), per 100, ... 60
No. 11. Sinner, Stop! per 100,..... 60
No. 12. Faith, per 100,..... 60
No. 13. The Light-House, per 100,..... 60
No. 14. Close Communion, per 100,..... 60
No. 15. The Truth Shall Make You Free, per 100,..... 60
No. 16. Modern Skepticism, per 100,..... 60
No. 17. Infant Baptism Weighed in the Balances and Found Wanting, per 100,..... 60

CLASS E.

No. 1. Pause and Think, per 100,..... 80
No. 2. What Do We Need? per 100,..... 80
No. 3. Right or Wrong Way, per 100, ... 80
No. 4. Why Am I Not a Christian? per 100, ... 80
No. 5. Saving Words, per 100,..... 80
No. 6. Christ and War, per 100,..... 80
No. 7. The Bond of Peace, per 100,..... 80
No. 8 The Kiss of Charity, per 100,..... 80
No. 9. The Evils of Intemperance, per 100,.. 80
No. 10. The Lost Opportunity, per 100,..... 80
No. 11. Are You a Christian? per 100,..... 80
No. 12. Arise, Get Thee Down, per 100,..... 80
No. 13. A Personal Appeal, per 100,..... 80
No. 14. Lying Among the Pots, per 100,..... 80
No. 15. Gold and Costly Array, per 100,..... 80
No. 16. The Brethren's Card, per 100,..... 80

Bibles, Testaments, Hymn Books of all styles, at publishers' lowest retail prices, which will be furnished on application.

Address

Brethren's Book and Tract Work,
DAYTON, OHIO

Church Register.

—:o:—

To those who would wish to collect and to preserve a complete history of their congregation and biography of each of their members, with names, dates of baptism or letter, dates of death or letter, and also dates of election, ordination of all the official members, and all events of importance occurring in each congregation, we would say, buy a copy of the Church Register. Price, containing sample pages and instructions, well bound, and sent by mail, $1.00 per copy. Address this office.

PUBLICATIONS

☞ The following books, Sunday-school supplies, etc., are for sale by the Brethren's Publishing Co., Mt. Morris, Ill., or Huntingdon, Pa., to whom all orders should be addressed.

The Brethren's Quarterly.

For Sunday-school teachers and scholars this publication is of the greatest benefit. Look at our prices:

Single subscription, one year ..... 35 cents.
Single subscription, per quarter..... 10 cents.
Three copies, per quarter..... 25 cents.
Eight copies, per quarter ..... 40 cents.
Fifty copies and over..... 4 cents each.

. . . Hymn Books . . .

New Tune and Hymn Books.

Half leather, single copy, post-paid .....$ 1 00
Per dozen, by express 1 25
Morocco, single copy, post-paid..... 12 00
Per dozen, by express 1 50
Morocco, gilt edge, per copy..... 1 50

Hymn Books, English.

Morocco, single copy, post-paid.....$ 50
Per dozen, post-paid..... 9 50
Per dozen, by express 9 00
Morocco, gilt edge, post-paid 1 10
Per dozen, post-paid 11 75
Per dozen, by express 11 25
Arabesque, single copy, post-paid..... 55
Per dozen, post-paid 5 80
Per dozen, by express 5 30
Sheep, single copy, post-paid 60
Per dozen, post-paid..... 5 30
Per dozen, by express 1 00
Tuck, single copy, post-paid..... 10 00
Per dozen, post-paid..... 9 50
Per dozen, by express..... 1 00
Fine Limp, post-paid..... 10 00
Per dozen, post-paid 1 25
Fine Limp, single copy, gilt edge, post-paid 13 00
Fine Limp, gilt edge, per dozen..... 90
German and English, per copy, ...
" " " per dozen; mail, $9.50; express 9 00

The Young Disciple.

The YOUNG DISCIPLE is a neatly printed weekly, published especially for the moral benefit and religious instruction of our young folks.

Single copy, one year..... $ 50
Six copies (the sixth to the agent)..... 2 50
Ten copies..... 4 00

For Three Months or Thirteen Weeks.

20 copies to one address.....$1 70
30 " " " " 2 50
40 " " " " 3 35
50 " " " " 3 80
75 " " " " 5 20
100 " " " " 7 00

For Six Months or Twenty-Six Weeks.

20 copies to one address.....$ 3 35
30 " " " " 5 00
40 " " " " 6 60
50 " " " " 7 50
75 " " " " 10 20
100 " " " " 13 75

One paper is designed for the Sunday-school and the home circle. We desire the name of every Sunday-school Superintendent in the Brotherhood, and want an agent in every church. Send for sample copies.

Sunday-School Requisites.

The following list of things is needed in all Sunday-schools:

Testaments, Flexible, red edge, per doz.....$1 00
Minute Books, each..... 50
Class Books, per doz 75
Union Primers, with fine engravings, per doz. 70

New and Beautiful Sunday-School Cards.

"The Gem," 50 picture cards, each with Bible Text, verse of hymn..... 35
250 Reward Tickets—verse of Scripture—red or blue, 20

Miscellaneous Works.

☞ We are prepared to furnish any book in the market at publishers' retail price. Religious works a specialty.

Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress.—An excellent edition of this good work, printed on good paper, finely illustrated with forty engravings, at the low price of $1 00 per copy.

Brown's Pocket Concordance.—This is a very reliable, low-priced work, and very handy for reference. Price, 50 cents.

Biblical Antiquities.—By John Nevin. Gives a concise account of Bible times and customs, invaluable to all students of Bible subjects. Price $1.50

Barnes' Notes.—On the New Testament, 11 vols cloth, $11.50. Barnes' Notes on the Psalms, 3 vols the set, $3 75. Barnes' Notes on Daniel, 1 vol $1 75. Barnes' Notes on Isaiah, 2 vols the set, $3.00. Barnes' Notes on Job, 2 vols the set, $3 00.

Close Communion.—By Landon West. Treats this important subject in a simple though conclusive manner. Price 5 cents.

Cruden's Concordance.—A very complete work. Price, cloth, $1 75, sheep, $3 00

Companion to the Bible.—This valuable work is so full of instruction in that it can't fail to be of great benefit to every Christian. Price $1 75

Campbell and Owen's Debate. Contains a complete investigation of the evidences of Christianity. Price, $1 50.

Classified Minutes of Annual Meeting.—A work of rare interest for all who desire to be well informed in the church work, from the early days of our Brethren until the present. Price, cloth, $1 50; leather, $2 00.

Europe and Bible Lands.—By D. L. Miller. A book for the people—more comprehensive and thorough than many higher priced works. Price cloth, $1 50; leather, $2 00

Family Bible, with Notes and Instructions.—Contains the harmony of the Gospels, Chronology, Maps, Tables of Weights and Measures, Family Record, eight elegant illustrations, etc. Price, substantially bound, $1 60.

Family Bible.—This is a fine and very complete work. New and old versions of the New Testament side by side, in accordance and everything usually found in Bibles of the kind. Price only $4 50. Sent by express

German and English Testaments.—American Bible Society Edition. Price 75 cents.

Josephus' Complete Works—Large type, 1 vol 8vo. Illustrated with many steel and wood engravings. Library sheep, $3 50

Life on Wheels.—By J. S. Mohler. The idea of the book is to represent the way to heaven, by using the different terms connected with an ordinary railroad. Price, single copy, 40 cents

New Testament and Psalms with Notes.—Invaluable for Bible students, Sunday-school teachers, etc. Price, cloth, $2 00.

Origin of Single Immersion.—By Eld. James Quinter. Price, 2 copies, 5 cents, 12 copies, 25 cents, 50 copies, $1 00.

Quinter and McConnell Debate.—A debate on Trine Immersion, the Lord's supper, and feet-washing, between Eld. James Quinter (German Baptist) and Eld. N. A. McConnell (Christian) held at Dry Creek, Iowa, 1877. Price, $1 50.

Reference and Pronouncing Testament.—A copious selection of parallel and illustrated passages and a classified pronunciation of the proper names and other difficult words, together with a short dictionary and gazetteer of the New Testament. Price, $1 00, postpaid.

Reason and Revelation.—By R. Milhean. Should be in the hands of every Bible student. Price $2 00

Sacred Geography and Antiquities.—A practical, helpful work for Bible students, ministers and Sunday-school teachers. Price, $2 25.

Smith's Bible Dictionary.—Edited by Peloubet. Cloth, $2 00, leather, $3 00.

Sabbatism.—By M. M. Eshelman. Treats the Sabbath question, showing that the first day of the week is the day for assembling in worship. Price 10 cents, 15 copies, $1 00.

The Law and Sabbath.—The Gospel and Lord's Day.—Why I Quit Keeping the Jewish Sabbath. The author of this pamphlet was once led to observe the Saturday-Sabbath, but since, after a Bible examination, renounced it as useless. Ample proof and most keeping the Jewish Sabbath in the Christian Dispensation is given. Sixty-four pages, printed in nice, clear type. Price 20 cents, 5 copies, $1 00.

Two Sticks, or Lost Ten Tribes of Israel Discovered.—By M. M. Eshelman. Maintains that the Anglo-Saxons are the offspring of the Ten Tribes, that the Jews and Israelites are two distinct people, but will again be united in Palestine, 2½ by 3½ inches. Cloth, price, $1 00.

The Path of Life.—An interesting tract for everybody. Price 10 cents per copy, 100 copies $6 00

Trine Immersion.—A vindication of the apostolic form of Christian baptism. By Eld. James Quinter. A most complete and reliable work on the subject. Price, cloth, single copy, $1 25, leather, $1 75

The House We Live In.—By Daniel Vaniman. It gives a concise account of the faith and practice of the Brethren. Price, 100 copies, 50 cents

The Doctrine of the Brethren Defended.—A complete work on the distinctive principles of our Fraternity. Price, cloth, $1.25.

The Story of the Bible.—An excellent volume for old and young, will interest and instruct all those desiring a knowledge of the Scriptures. Price $1 00

Universalism against Itself.—By Hall. One of the best works against Universalism. Price $1.00

Full Report of Annual Meeting.

The Report of the meeting for 1889 should be read by all. Price, per copy, 25 cts.; per dozen $2.50.

HARVEST EXCURSIONS

To the Pan Handle of Texas. Many of the brethren having asked me by letter before and since the Annual Meeting, and personally, while at the Annual Meeting, whether there would be cheap excursions to the Pan Handle of Texas, and as I invariably told them I would answer through the "GOSPEL MESSENGER," I take pleasure now in announcing that the Western States Passenger Association and the Trans-Missouri Association, in session at Chicago June 26th, agreed to run Harvest Excursions from Eastern points to all points in Kansas, Colorado, and the Pan Handle of Texas, at the rate of one fare for the round trip, tickets good for thirty days from date of sale, and stop-overs will be allowed within the limits at all points west of the Missouri river. The days of sale are August 6 and 20, September 10 and 24, and October 8

I will be pleased to answer all farther enquiries by mail, by sending maps, routes, etc.

GEO L. MCDONALD,
Trav. Agt Santa Fe Route,
St. Louis, Mo.

CUT RATES TO THE WEST.

Cheap tickets to all points in Kansas, Colorado, Indian Territory (Oklahoma), Texas and other States and Territories in the West will be sold by The Santa Fe Route from Chicago and other points along the line, on August 6 and 20, September 10 and 24, and October 8.

☞ For particulars ask your Ticket Agent, or write to John J Byrne, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Santa Fe Route, Chicago, Ills.

HARVEST EXCURSIONS VIA THE UNION PACIFIC RAILWAY.

The Union Pacific Railway takes pleasure in announcing that it will run Harvest Excursions to all points in Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, Idaho and Montana on the following dates:—August 6th and 20th, September 10th and 24th, and October 8th For these occasions the low rate of one fare for the round trip has been made. Tickets good thirty days, and stop-over privileges will be allowed in both directions for those who may desire to see the country Do not miss the opportunity to visit the great and growing West at this low rate. It affords the business men, stock raiser, mining prospector, and farmer an unequalled chance to see the unlimited resources of the western country

For tickets, rates, pamphlets, etc, apply to your nearest ticket agent, or W. H. Knight, Gen'l Agt., 191 South Clark St, Chicago, Ill.

Announcements.

LOVE-FEASTS.

Aug 10 and 11, at 3 P. M, at the house of B M Petereon, Fairview congregation, Sherman Co., Kans

Aug 10 and 11 North Solomon church, Osborne County, Kansas, one and one-half miles north of Portis.

Aug 10 at 2 P M., Ogan's Creek, five miles southeast of North Manchester, Wabash Co., Ind

Aug. 24 and 25, at 1 P, M, Oak Grove congregation at Stone meeting-house ten miles south of Iowa City. Persons coming by rail stop at Iowa Junction on B C R. & N Railroad

Aug. 31, at 3 o'clock P M, Turkey Creek church, Pawnee Co., Nebraska, at H C. Martin's 2½ miles northwest of DuBois station on Rock Island Railroad at which place persons will be met and conveyed to place of meeting on the 31st, or if coming sooner, notify H C. Martin, DuBois, Neb Those coming to Table Rock on B. & M. R. R. notify B F Flory

Aug. 31 and Sept. 1, at 10 A. M., Vermillion church, Marshall Co., Kansas at Simon Studebaker's 7 miles north of Beattie, Kansas

Sept. 3, at 10 A M., Sugar Ridge church, Hancock Co., Ohio.

Sept 5 and 6, at 10 A. M., Lower Fall Creek church, Ind.

Sept. 6, at 10 A. M, Olathe church, Kans, at the residence of Wm. Brunks, 1 mile north of Olathe.

Sept. 7, at 7 P M, Berrien church, Berrien County, Michigan.

Sept. 7 and 8, at 3 P. M., Frederic, Monroe Co, Ia.

Sept. 7 and 8, at 10 A M., Auglaize Chapel, ¾ mile from Dupont, Ohio, on the Clover Leaf Railroad; 2½ miles from Hartsburg, on the Nickle Plate Railroad

Sept. 7 and 8, at 2 P. M., Juniata congregation, 1 mile south and ½ mile east of Roseland, Adams Co., Neb.

Sept. 7 and 8, at 10 A. M, Pine Creek church, Ogle Co., Ill.

Sept 11 and 12, Scott Valley church, Kansas, at Peter Howe's nine miles south of and ten and one-half miles northwest of Lecton. Brethren will be met at Waldo and Westphalia, by notifying Miss Agnes Yearout, Westphalia, Kans.

Sept. 21, at 5 P M., South Bend church, Ind.

Sept. 13, at 10 A. M., Sugar Creek church, Whitley Co., Ind.

Sept. 14 and 15, at 10 A M., Sabetha, Kans.

Sept 21, at 11 A. M., Kellbuck church, Ind, 9 miles west of Muncie, on the Jackson St Pike Those coming by rail will be met at Reed Station, by notifying Job Mahoney, R. 1, Delaware Co, Ind., or Walter Bowers, Gilman, Madison Co, Ind

Sept 28 and 29, at 11 A. M, English River congregation, Keokuk Co., Iowa.

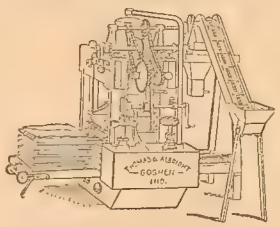
ADVERTISEMENTS.

Rates per Inch each Insertion.

One time or more	$1 50
One month (4 times)	3 00
Three months (12 times)	8 00
Six months (24 times)	15 00
One year (50 times)	25 00
No advertisement accepted for less than	1 00

☞ No Cuts inserted, unless on metal base. No double-column or objectionable advertisements admitted.

ROYAL

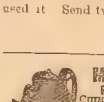


BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness More economical than the ordinary kinds, and can not be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. SOLD ONLY IN CANS

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO.,
103 Wall St., N. Y



HYDRAULIC CIDER PRESS.

A Surprise to all who have used it, making, on an average, Four Gallons of Cider to the bushel of Apples.

This press has given universal satisfaction, and is decidedly the best thing out for the business I can give best of reference from Brethren who have used it Send two-cent stamp for catalogue to

A. A WEAVER,
WARRENSBURG, Mo.

McShane Bell Foundry
Finest Grade of Bells.
Chimes and Peals for CHURCHES, &c.
Send for Price and Catalogue. Address
H. McSHANE & CO.,
Mention this paper. Baltimore, Md.

Manuscript Tablets.

THOSE who write for the press, should be provided with the proper material to do it neatly, and without incurring too great an expense in mailing the production to the publisher, when completed. Our manuscript paper is made to meet that want,—just thick enough to write well, and thin enough to send a great number of sheets in a letter, without increasing the postage. Price, only 20 cents per tablet. Address this office.

Victor Remedies!

These Remedies consist of Victor Liver Syrup, Victor Pain Balm, Victor Infant's Relief, Victor Lung Syrup, Victor Pills, Victor Liniment, Victor Poultry, Horse and Cattle Powders. These Remedies are all sold under a guarantee. If you cannot get them from your merchant, send his name to us, and we will arrange so he has them in stock if he is reliable. Send for circulars Address:

VICTOR REMEDIES CO,
5tf Frederick, Md.

EUROPE
AND BIBLE LANDS!

BY D. L. MILLER.

THE large sale of this work gives abundant proof of its popularity. The eighth edition is almost exhausted, and a new edition will be necessary to supply the demand. The following partial list will give an idea of the contents of the work:

Life in Germany.—Berlin.—The King's Palace—Dresden.—The Crown Jewels.—Women in Germany.—The City of Prague.—The Martyrdom of John Huss.—The Habits and Customs of the People.—Bro. Hope's Work in Denmark.—Old Castles and Prisons of the Middle Ages.—Paul's Preaching at Mars' Hill.—Old Temples at Athens.—The Seven Churches of Asia.—Ephesus, and the Temple of Diana.—Jaffa.—The House of Simon, the Tanner.—Plain of Sharon.—Lepers and Leprosy.—Mountains of Judea.—Jerusalem.—Place of Crucifixion.—Mount Moriah.—Solomon's Temple.—Mount Zion.—David's Tomb.—Bethlehem.—The Fields Where the Shepherds Watched their Flocks by Night.—Rachel's Tomb.—Mount of Olives.—The Garden of Gethsemane.—Jericho.—The Dead Sea.—River of Jordan.—Bethel.—The Mountains of Blessing and Cursing.—Nazareth.—Cana of Galilee.—The Sea of Galilee.—Capernaum.—Damascus.—Ruins of Baalbec.—Customs, Manners, Habits and Home Life of the Arabs.

Bro. Miller visited the places he describes and tells about them in an easy, pleasant manner, which makes the book exceedingly interesting. It contains 439 pages, and 40 engravings, among which are a number of full page illustrations of Palestine scenery. It is printed on heavy, tinted paper, in clear-faced type, bound in a good, substantial manner, and will be sold at the very low price of $1 50 per copy, cloth binding, postage prepaid.

SPECIAL RATES TO MINISTERS.—In order to have a copy of the book placed in the hands of all our ministers, we make them the following liberal offer: Send one dollar for the book, and sixteen cents to pay postage, and you will receive a copy by return mail

Agents wanted, to whom liberal terms will be given. Address all orders to

BRETHREN'S PUBLISHING CO.,
MT. MORRIS, ILL.

J. B. COLCLESSER,

ROANOKE, HUNTINGDON CO., IND., Breeder of Purely-bred Poland China Swine. My herd is made up of the most fashionable strains known to the breed. Stock recorded in C. R and O. R. Pigs and aged animals for sale. Colts bred and for sale January and February 1890 Breeding a specialty. Correspondence or personal inspection solicited 21t25

Wanted!

We want brethren in every district to sell our Fertilizers. We manufacture a number of different grades, so as to suit all buyers, viz,

Blood and Bone Dissolved, Raw Bone and Potash, High Grade Super Phosphate of Bone, Soluble Ammoniated Bone Phosphate and Chemicals!

All the above brands have stood the test for years, and in field contests have proved to be second to none on the market.

We guarantee to keep up the present high standard of these different brands, and feel assured you can save money by buying from us Write for terms, circulars, etc. Address,

D. BLOCHER & CO.,
11m6 Gettysburg, Pa.

To California.

SPECIAL parties leave Chicago every Thursday over the Santa Fe Route through to California. These parties are accompanied by a special Conductor whose duty it is to look after the comfort and security of passengers en route, and this feature makes the journey pleasant. Low rates are made for persons joining these parties.

If you think of going to California write to or call upon James Wallace, 212 Clark Street, Chicago, Ill.

CINCINNATI BELL FOUNDRY CO
SUCCESSORS IN BLYMYER BELLS TO THE
BLYMYER MANUFACTURING CO
CATALOGUE WITH 1800 TESTIMONIALS.
BELLS, CHURCH, SCHOOL, FIRE ALARM

UNION PACIFIC
THE OVERLAND ROUTE

The Original Trans-Continental Line.

The Union Pacific Railway, "The Overland Route" runs daily trains from Council Bluffs, Omaha and Kansas City to Denver, Salt Lake City, Sacramento, San Francisco, Los Angeles and Portland.

Quick time across the continent.

Elegant equipment, consisting of latest Pullman Palace Cars and Day Coaches.

This company has also for sale in Kansas and Colorado, 3,000,000 acres of choice farming lands; only one-tenth cash down and balance on ten years' time at seven per cent interest. Fare paid over the Union Pacific by persons who go to see the land, is refunded if land is purchased.

The Union Pacific Railway company has also 3,000,000 acres of land in Wyoming and Utah for sale at very low prices. Best ranch land in the world on liberal terms.

For full information in regard to rates, timetables, maps, price of lands, etc., address,

THOS L KIMBALL,
ALBERT WOODCOCK, Gen'l Manager.
Gen'l Land Com.
E. L LOMAX, Gen'l Pass. Ag't.
50 OMAHA, NEB.

SALESMEN Wanted: local and travelling. Positions permanent. Salary from start. Experience unnecessary. Brown Bros, Nurserymen, Chicago, Ill.

WHEN YOU TRAVEL
Take the
One selected by the United States Government to carry the Fast Mail,—the

Burlington Route
C.B.&Q.R.R

As it is the Line running Through Trains to and from the following cities and towns on its own Lines:

CHICAGO,
AURORA, OTTAWA,
STREATOR, ROCKFORD, DUBUQUE,
LA CROSSE, ST. PAUL, MINNEAPOLIS,
MENDOTA, PEORIA, GALESBURG, ST. LOUIS,
QUINCY, KEOKUK, BURLINGTON, WASHINGTON,
OSKALOOSA, DES MOINES, CHARITON,
CRESTON, ST. JOSEPH, ATCHISON,
KANSAS CITY, NEBRASKA CITY,
OMAHA, COUNCIL BLUFFS,
LINCOLN & DENVER,

Making Direct Connections
TO AND FROM
NEW YORK,
BALTIMORE, WASHINGTON,
CINCINNATI, PHILADELPHIA, BOSTON,
NEW ORLEANS, LOUISVILLE, SAN FRANCISCO,
LOS ANGELES, SALT LAKE CITY, COLORADO AND
PACIFIC COAST RESORTS, CITY OF MEXICO,
PORTLAND, OREGON, MANITOBA,
VICTORIA AND PUGET SOUND
POINTS.

Good Equipment,
Good Service,
Good Connection.

For information concerning the Burlington Route, apply to the nearest Ticket Agent of the C., B. & Q. or connecting railroads.

HENRY B. STONE, General Manager. PAUL MORTON, Gen'l Pass. & Ticket Agt., CHICAGO. ILL.

THE GOSPEL MESSENGER.

"Set for the Defense of the Gospel."

Vol. 27. Old Series. Mt. Morris, Ill., and Huntingdon, Pa., July 30, 1889. No. 30.

The Gospel Messenger.

H. B. BRUMBAUGH, Editor,
And Business Manager of the Eastern House, Box 50, Huntingdon, Pa.

ELD. S. S. GRAY, of Warriorsmark, Pennsylvania, says: "Our Sunday-school is doing well, and the new singing book, 'Gospel Chimes,' seems to inspire the school with new life." This is the expression of many of our Sunday-school workers, and we feel sure that a fair trial would introduce the work into all of our schools that are interested in good music.

WE had the pleasure of a very agreeable call from sister Lizzie Myers, of Beaverville, Lancaster County, Pennsylvania. She is a warm friend of education, and among the progressive teachers of the day. She moves in society as an uncompromising advocate of the principles she professes, yet fully demonstrating in her life an intelligent advancement in those things that tend toward more efficient and aggressive work essential to the bettering and elevating of the intellectual and spiritual standard of the world.

HOW MANY ORDINANCES?

Dear Editor:—

WILL you answer the following questions: (a) How many, and what are the ordinances of the House of God? (b) Is there any difference between a command and an ordinance? Please give the difference, if any. The world claims that we lay a great deal of stress on the ordinances, and they ask us which they are, and it has puzzled us.

D. M. CLICK.

IN giving answers to the above questions we must go to the definition of the words as ordinarily used.

To command is to direct, order, or bid with or without authority, without establishing a rule.

An ordinance contains the elements of a command, and establishes, by authority, a permanent rule of action; a statute, law, edict, or decree. The difference between the two is, the latter is made permanent by authority, while the other is not.

What are generally termed the "ordinances of the "Lord's House" are sacraments. Sacraments are religious ordinances or commands enjoined by Christ, the head of the Christian church, to be observed by his followers, and are, Baptism, the Lord's Supper, the Communion, Feet-washing, and the Holy Salutation. The other precepts and examples given by Christ and his disciples, though having in them some of the elements of an ordinance, may more properly come under the general head of commandments.

In the Old Testament are given both commandments and ordinances. Zacharias and Elisabeth were called righteous, because they walked in all the commandments and ordinances of the Lord blameless. Luke 1:6. But in the New Testament, outside of the Sacraments, we have no clearly-defined ordinances. As to the precepts, examples and commandments, there are so many that we cannot here name them. Some of them are observed with rigid precision, while others are attended to as the force of circumstances seems to demand. The example of Zacharias and Elisabeth is a good one.

THE SABBATH.

IN looking over a paper published in the eastern part of the State, we noticed that the editor, in speaking of Sunday, July 7, says: "Our farmers, on account of the continued wet weather, made good use of yesterday in hauling in their hay, etc., and, considering the weather, they should not be censured for it."

Working on the Lord's Day under such circumstances involves a very doubtful point of right. It either means that the Lord don't have control over the affairs of life, or that he shapes his Providence in such ways as necessitate his people to violate the sanctity of the day which he has hallowed as a day of rest and worship.

In our humble opinion there was no necessity for our farmers in Eastern Pennsylvania, or anywhere else to make hay on the Sabbath, as the weather since then seems to give evidence. Even if good weather had not followed, the wrong would have been no less apparent from a trustful Christian stand-point.

An excuse, so groundless, to violate the Sabbath could, at all seasons of the year, be followed with others of equal apparent necessity, and in a short time we would have Sabbath desecration all over our country.

As our Heavenly Father has given us six days for secular labor, and has reserved the seventh for our good and his glory, we ought to accept, gratefully, the precious favor, and trust our harvesting and haying into his hands, and we feel sure that in the end we will be better off than if we exercise our own wisdom in doing that which we know to be contrary to his will and purpose.

There are entirely too many oxen falling into ditches as a result of our growing faithlessness in the sure promises of our Lord.

We believe that the Lord does rule and reign on the earth to the good of his people, and if we fully trust in him, he will never allow us or our beasts to suffer on account of his providences, unless intended for our good. We need more of the faith of the Psalmist: "Though he slay me, yet will I trust in him."

GARNERED GLEANINGS.

PETER tells us that Christ, although he "did no sin, neither was guile found in his mouth," nevertheless, "bare our sins in his own body on the tree." He was himself sinless, and yet he was treated as if he had been a sinner, in order that we might be treated as if we had never sinned. He suffered as the just dying for the unjust. Here is the wonder of his grace and love, and here is the basis of our salvation, "Guiltless blood for guilty man was shed."

Truth ought to be the object of every man, for without truth there can be no real happiness to a thoughtful mind, nor any assurance of happiness hereafter. It is the duty of every man to obtain all the knowledge he can, and then make the best use of it.

* * *

We all know that honesty is the best of policy. But I warrant you this—if you knew a man whose honesty had no deeper foundation than a firm conviction of the truth of the proverb, you would count your silver spoons before you left him alone with them.—Dr. F. Coley.

* * *

The very word humanity, and the idea which it expresses, came in with Christ; never before had the oneness of the human race been thought of. It is the sacredness of human nature, its greatness, its dignity, which is declared and secured by the mystery of the incarnation—that God should dwell in man; by the crucifixion—that for man he should lay down his life; by the resurrection—that man should be exalted above all principalities and powers, and should sit upon the throne of heaven beside the Majesty on high. This reverence for humanity constantly meets us in the utterances of Christ. "What shall it profit a man," he asks, "if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul?" He set up the balances and on one side put the round world and all that therein is—wealth, dominion, glory, honor, all things—and the man outweighs them all. Though the man be stamped and branded with vice; though he be too bad for earth, and fit only to be nailed to the cross, yet he is so dear to Christ that such a one is reckoned worth dying for.

* * *

Life is full of changes that greatly affect the enjoyments of the living, and turn their day into night. The loss of property is not the only earthly loss experienced in connection with these changes. In the loss of friends more may be lost than in anything else that can be taken away. The light of many a home is put out, and all is shrouded in darkness there when some loved one is borne away to the grave. Often the hand that sunders the heart-ties of life, and separates for all time loved and loving ones, as it were, shuts up the windows of the soul so that no sunlight can, for a season, find its way into the darkened recesses of the sorrowing heart. Who has not again and again witnessed scenes of deeply afflictive bereavement which have changed midday into midnight in some circle of friends, and caused such darkness as years will not wholly, if considerably, remove? Many never entirely recover from the heart-heaviness caused by their bereavements, the shadows of which rest permanently upon their hearts. To them the sun never shines so brightly again. Many a heart and many a home are never light again after the going down of the sun of joy and hope into the darkness of the grave that received some near and dear one. The bereaved can only say, "Himself hath done it: I shall go softly all my years in the bitterness of woe."—Selected.

ESSAYS

"Study to show thyself approved unto God; a workman that needeth not be ashamed, rightly dividing the Word of Truth."

TEACH ME TO LIVE.

Teach me to live! 'Tis easier far to die—
Gently and silently to pass away—
On earth's long night to close the heavy eye,
And waken in the realms of glorious day.

Teach me that harder lesson—how to live,
To serve Thee in the darkest paths of life:
Arm me for conflict now, fresh vigor give,
And make me more than conqueror in the strife.

Teach me to live! Thy purpose to fulfill;
Bright for Thy glory let my taper shine;
Each day renew, remould this stubborn will;
Closer around Thee my heart's affections twine.

Teach me to live for self and sin no more,
But use the time remaining to me yet;
Not mine own pleasure seeking as before,
Wasting no precious hours in vain regret.

Teach me to live! No idler let me be,
But in Thy service hand and heart employ,
Prepared to do Thy bidding cheerfully;
Be this my highest and my holiest joy.

Teach me to live! my early cross to bear,
Nor murmur though I bend beneath its load;
Only be with me. Let me feel Thee near;
Thy smile sheds gladness on the darkest road.

Teach me to live! and find my life in Thee.
Looking from earth and earthly things away;
Let me not falter, but untiringly
Press on and gain new strength and powers each day.

Teach me to live! with kindest words for all;
Wearing no cold, repulsive brow of gloom:
Waiting with cheerful patience till Thy call
Summons my spirit to her heavenly home.

—Selected.

OF THE PART THAT PARENTS OUGHT TO TAKE IN THE SUCCESS OF THE SUNDAY-SCHOOL.

TRANSLATED BY GRANT MAHAN.

THE Sunday-school is certainly one of the most precious means God has made use of to spread the knowledge of his name. To be convinced of it one has only to think of the thousands of teachers who each week distribute to multitudes of children "the sincere milk of the Word" (1 Pet. 2: 2), by which mankind is developed and formed for the service of God.

And yet it is far from bearing all the fruits that one would have a right to expect of it. Look at the result which comes from it: it is only a relatively small number of children who, once arrived at adult age, continue to walk in paths of piety. The most part seem to have very quickly forgotten the impressions received in the Sunday-school, and turn the back to the church when one could hope to see them walking in the good path.

Without doubt one consoles himself in thinking that the seed which has been planted in their hearts will one day grow and that, under the influence of circumstances, many will later be led to the Lord.

We hope so too; but it is none the less sad to see the great majority of Sunday-school scholars no longer care, once they have left it, for the sacred instruction they have received there.

What is the reason?

There are more reasons than we can point out here. We will point out only three. The first is, that there is not effort enough made in the Sunday-school to convert the children. The second is, that, in general, not enough care is used in the preparation of teachers. And the third is caused by the fact that parents do not understand that the Sunday-school ought to be only the auxiliary of the instruction received in the family, and do not second, as they might, the efforts made by others to bring up their children.

We will confine ourselves to the study of this last point, and will speak only of the part which parents ought to take in the success of the Sunday-school.

We will say to them first: "If you wish the Sunday-school to produce the fruits one has a right to expect of it, act so that your children will not find themselves on entirely new ground there, but let the spirit that reigns in your homes be the same as that of the Sunday-school."

And what is the spirit of the Sunday-school?

It is a spirit of submission to the will of God. That which is, in fact, at the base of this institution is the revealed truth. This truth is the leading thread of all that is done there; not some idle and fruitless discussions; an acceptation full and entire of what it teaches, in order to make of it the principle of life, the rule of all the conduct of man in this world.

May that be, parents, the spirit which reigns in your houses. In the name of the best interests of your children, do not remain strangers to the Truth which they learn in their dear school, for their astonishment would be great, and the consequences might be very grave, if they should find out that the Word of God plays no part in your life, that what occupies your thoughts is the world with its interests, that what directs you is an earthly spirit, directly opposed to the celestial vocation to which you are called, as they are. And know, if there is such an abyss between the teachings received at the Sunday-school and those which come from your life, that there is great danger of the first being neutralized by the second. Such, however, is not your desire, for you recognize that, at the bottom, the Word of God is right and you are wrong. Do then all that you can not to destroy by your example, but rather to strengthen the teachings which your children receive at the Sunday-school.

And further, the spirit which reigns in the Sunday-school is a spirit of spiritualized love, ennobled by the love of the Lord. That which induces, in fact, these teachers to concern themselves with youth is the love they have for it; but this love has been purified and sanctified in their hearts by the infinite love of God, in Jesus Christ, for sinners.

Parents, let all that you do for your children be impregnated and dictated by this love. You naturally love them, and you may impose on yourselves all the sacrifices that you judge necessary to procure for them that which may be useful to them; but this natural love is often blind and does not know what is for their good; it even tolerates, through weakness, things which are hurtful to them. In order to become what it ought to be, it has need of being sanctified by the love of the Lord for the souls which he has redeemed. Then, when once you are penetrated by this love, guided by a superior motive power, you will always have in view their spiritual good; thinking not only of their earthly future and this world which passes away, you will bring them up in view of eternity, and you will have, above all, the desire that they become the true children of God.

Here then is one thing more easy, but yet important in the question which occupies us: Act in such a way that your children will not be deprived, by your own fault or by theirs, of the benefits of the Sunday-school. In other words, see to it that they go there regularly, and that they fail in going only on account of some superior force, as sickness, for example.

The reason for this fact ought to be clear to the eyes of every one. In fact, in order that a child may be benefited by the Sunday-school, it is necessary that he assist there; if he merely goes there from time to time, the fruit which he will receive from it will be nothing, or almost nothing.

And what proves that it is not as difficult to obtain this regularity as one might think is, that one often sees some mothers, the wives of workingmen, burdened with a family, send their children to Sunday-school with an exemplary regularity, while other persons, who are not in the same condition, send them only in a very irregular way. All depends then, almost always, on the willingness of the parents.

But that which is of as much importance as, and is of more importance than, regularity is, that the child goes to his school in the right frame of mind.

Let the parents then take care to recall to their minds, before they leave the house, what they are going to do at the school; let them tell them that they are going to hear their Creator spoken of, whom they ought to remember from their youth, and their Savior, who loves them more than they can love themselves. Let them tell them that they ought to give constant attention to what they will hear, that they ought to listen to the Word of God with the greatest respect and not let their attention be called away by anything. Let them tell them, in short, to ask for themselves the blessing of the Lord, and that they will certainly be blessed.

We are able to affirm it: if the children went to their school provided with these holy recommendations, they would often take part in all that is done with other dispositions than those which they too frequently bring forward there.

The children have now assisted in the lesson, and they get ready to return to their homes. How they know then that their parents expect them at the exact time at which they can return; how they feel, in some sort, followed by the look of their parents, so that they are not tempted to stop on the way and let themselves be led away to some things which might make them lose all the fruit of that which they have heard.

Is that all the task the parents who wish to work for the success of the Sunday-school will have to accomplish? No, assuredly.

It remains to them still to make some efforts, so that the instructions which they have received be deeply engraved in their mind, and no more come out of it.

There is one point of very great importance, to which one does not ordinarily give enough attention. Thence it comes that some children, who have frequented the Sunday-school during many years, are yet extremely ignorant of sacred history in general, and of the truths which it is important for them to know.

Parents could so contribute to this that it would be otherwise, if they invited their children to recount to them, on their return from the school, what they had learned there. In that way they would accustom them to give an account of their impressions, and at the same time would often have the opportunity of making a remark or an application of the most useful kind. It might be very advantageous, moreover, to invite the most developed children to put in writing that which struck them the most in the lesson in which they have taken part.

We would desire also that the children re-read in their Bibles, even though it is well known what it was, the account which has been explained to them, for it is not enough, in general, that they have heard it once so that they possess it perfectly. It is important, however, that the account has been read and studied in the very words of the Scripture. Coming to corroborate the human word the Word of God will then better engrave itself in the mind and in the heart.

* * * * * * * *

One now can easily understand all that may result from such a solicitude for the moral and religious development of the pupils of the Sunday-school. Also, it is certainly not too much to say that, to affirm that, every-where that it shall exist there will be a salutary reaction of the school on the family and of the family on the school, and that these two factors united will be able to accomplish a good the extent of which it will not be easy to measure.

Let us put yet one word on the heart of every parent. If it is important that the children do not lose in the family the fruit of the Sunday-school, it is not less important, as we have already given to understand, that they do not lose it on the outside, in a world immersed in evil.

Let us here state our thought precisely. It is not rare, especially in the country, that parents consider it as a thing quite natural to permit their children to go, whether it be Sunday afternoon or during the week, to run the streets with some comrades often badly brought up, without principles and without the fear of God, in the company of whom they can only be corrupted, as says the proverb which every one knows. It suffices to state this fact, without need of demonstrating it. We will limit ourselves to saying to the parents who have followed us thus far: Keep, as much as it is possible, your children near you; let your houses be as sanctuaries where the good seeds which the Sunday-school has deposited in their hearts are strengthened and developed. Later, like trees from which one has taken their props because they have thrown some roots deep into the ground, they will be able, without fear of losing themselves, to enter into the most direct contact with the world, on the condition that they always remember the warning of the Lord: "Watch and pray, that ye enter not into temptation." (Matt. 26: 41.)

These are some of the counsels which one is able to give to the parents who may desire to contribute to the success of the Sunday-school. Let all that is done there be the object of their attention and of their prayers, and this valuable institution will always become a greater means for separating the youth from the broad way which ends in perdition and of leading it in the narrow way which leads to life eternal.—E. BANZET in Journal des Ecoles du Dimanche, for May, 1889.

APOSTLES, BISHOPS, OR ELDERS.

BY DANIEL HAYS.

THE word apostle is derived from two Greek words, apo, away; and stello, I send; and is a term applied to those who were sent to preach the Gospel. The word apostle is applied to Jesus,—"Wherefore, holy brethren, partakers of the heavenly calling, consider the Apostle and High Priest of our profession, Christ Jesus." Heb. 3: 1. It is used to designate the twelve immediate followers of Christ. It is applied to Paul, as the apostle to the Gentiles; and to those sent out by the churches, as Barnabas, Epaphroditus and others. "Whether any do inquire of Titus, he is my partner and fellow-helper concerning you, or our brethren be inquired of, they are the messengers (apostoloi) of the churches, and the glory of Christ." 2 Cor. 8: 23. "Yet I supposed it necessary to send to you Epaphroditus, my brother, and companion in labor, and fellow-soldier, but your messenger (apostolon), and he that ministered to my wants." Philpp. 2: 25.

The office of an apostle was also episcopal, or equivalent to bishop. In Acts 1: 20 the word bishopric (episcopeen) is employed to show the office that Matthias would fill as the apostle in place of Judas. The apostles were also called elders: "The elders which are among you I exhort, who am also an elder." 1 Pet. 5: 1. "The elder unto the elect lady;" "the elder unto the well-beloved Gaius." First and Second John. The apostles were missionaries in preaching the Gospel among the nations; they were bishops, or elders, in the care and oversight of the churches.

The word bishop is derived from the Greek episcopos, and means an overseer. The term is applied to Christ himself, and in him it receives a deeper signification: "For ye were as sheep going astray; but are now returned unto the Shepherd and Bishop (episcopon) of your souls." 1 Pet. 2: 25. A bishop, then, is not only an overseer, but also a shepherd. But the office of bishop is evidently synonymous with that of elder (or presbyter). Paul to Titus uses the following language: "For this cause left I thee in Crete, that thou shouldst set in order the things that are wanting, and ordain elders (presbuterous) in every city, as I had appointed thee: if any be blameless, the husband of one wife, having faithful children, not accused of riot, or unruly. For a bishop (episcopon) must be blameless as the steward of God." Titus 1: 5-7. Paul here uses the terms elder and bishop to indicate the same office, and he evidently would not so use the words, if they were not synonymous.

We have the fact, then, fully established by the Scripture that the twelve, with Paul, and some others, united in their official duties in the church, the appellation of apostle, and bishop, and elder. And it is worthy of note, as well as of imitation, that the titles follow in the order named, the apostles preferring the word elder toward the close of life; one styling himself "Paul the aged;" another the "elder," and at last, discarding all titles, he chose rather to be known as "that disciple whom Jesus loved."

Our Brethren have followed the apostolic example in preferring the word elder instead of bishop; and though the office still exists, and the elders should be honored in the duties of that office, yet unlike the great ecclesiastical dignitaries of the day, our elders are "fathers" to the church.

The qualifications, duties, and appointment of elders may be considered in one or more future articles.

EPISTOLARY.

BY C. H. BALSBAUGH.

My Dear, Poor Fellow-sufferer:—

YOURS containing two stamps is here. Thanks. My heart aches for you, but I have no power to give you relief but hold up before you the Cross and the Crucified. I am quite sure that you will not in this world find an adjustment of your difficulties according to your ideas of justice and propriety. Where there is so widespread and complicated a trouble it is utterly impossible to gather divergent and conflicting minds into one harmonious view. There are a thousand subtle influences that color and warp the judgment and determine the decision. I have seen great trouble in my time, and have been sorely trampled, and pleaded pitifully for my rights, but all in vain. I had to accept the cross and the nails, and find in them the best means to crucify the last spark of self. Ah, my dear friend, this is far from pleasant, but it is wholesome. I know how gall and wormwood taste, but we must learn to spell with the lips and tongue of faith that wonderful word "afterward" in Heb. 12: 11. In that word are hid all the marvels and raptures of 2 Cor. 4: 17. To believe this is the great work of God with us, and our great work for him and ourselves. The cup which the Heavenly Father gives us to drink is filled to the brim with the malice and cruel ignorance and ignorant cruelty of men and devils. "The mystery of godliness" and "the mystery of iniquity" work not only side by side, but strangely intermingle. "Here is wisdom," possessed by only a few. "Flesh and blood reveals it not, but our Father in heaven." When self dies under the hammer of merciless injustice, and body and soul are torn by the blind fury of envy and unwise zeal for tradition and hollow formality, we learn the last and highest lesson of "pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father"—"Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do." We need many strokes and stabs from world and church and nearest kin before we "know Him, and the power of his Resurrection and the fellowship of his sufferings." "Comfort one another with these words." 1 Thess. 4: 18; 1 Pet. 2: 19, and 3: 13, 14, 16, 17. Let your death be utter, and then your life will be pure and glorious and blessed as God's!

PARABLES OF THE NEW TESTAMENT.

BY JOHN KNISLEY.

THE Sower,	Matt. 13: 1-23
The Tares among the Wheat,	Matt 13: 24 30
The Grain of Mustard Seed,	Matt. 13: 31-32
The Leaven in the Meal,	Matt. 13: 33
The Pearl of Great Price,	Matt. 13: 45, 46
The Hidden Treasure,	Matt. 13: 44
The Net Cast into the Sea,	Matt. 13: 47-50
The Unmerciful Servant,	Matt. 18: 21-35
The Laborers in the Vineyard,	Matt. 21: 1-16
The Two Sons,	Matt. 21: 28-31
The Wicked Husbandman,	Matt. 21: 33-46
The Marriage Feast,	Matt. 22: 1-10
The Man Without a Wedding Garment,	Matt. 22: 11-13
The Ten Virgins,	Matt. 25: 1-13
The Talents,	Matt. 25: 14-30
The Sheep and Goats,	Matt. 25: 31-46
The Seed Growing Secretly,	Mark 4: 26-29
The Two Debtors,	Luke 7: 36-50
The Good Samaritan,	Luke 10: 25-37
The Rich Fool,	Luke 12: 13-21
The Servants Who Waited for their Lord,	Luke 12: 35-48
The Barren Fig-tree,	Luke 13: 6 9
The Lost Sheep,	Luke 15: 3-7
The Lost Piece of Money,	Luke 15: 8-10
The Prodigal Son,	Luke 15: 11-32
The Unjust Steward,	Luke 16: 1-12
The Rich Man and Lazarus,	Luke 16: 19-31
The Importunate Widow,	Luke 18: 1-8
The Pharisee and Publican,	Luke 18: 9-14
The Pounds Delivered for Trading,	Luke 19: 11-27

NO PAIN AMONG THE BLESSED.

BY C. F. WALKER.

"Neither shall there be any more pain."—Rev. 21: 4.

AMONG the many things that make this life uncomfortable and render mankind unhappy here below, is the fact that we are all liable to pain, from which we shall be perfectly delivered in the life to come.

In order to make our present meditations on this part of the blessedness of heaven useful and joyful to us while we are here on earth, let us consider,

1. The evils or inconveniences arising from the pains we suffer here. Also our freedom from them in heaven.

2. The just and convincing proofs that may be given that there are no such uneasy sensations to be felt in heaven or to be feared after this life.

3. The chief reasons or designs of the blessed God in sending pain on his creatures in this world.

4. The lessons we may draw from the painful discipline which we feel while we are here on earth.

Pain has a natural tendency to make the mind sorrowful and the body uneasy. Our souls are so closely united to flesh and blood that it is not possible for the mind to possess perfect happiness and ease while the body is exposed to so much pain. Natural courage and strength of heart may, in some persons, bear up their spirits under long and intense pain of the flesh, yet they really take away so much of the pleasure of life. Pain will make us confess that we are flesh and blood, and force us sometimes to cry out and groan. Even a Stoic, in spite of all the pride of his philosophy, will sometimes be forced, by a sigh or a groan, to confess himself a man. The greatest part of the groans and outcries that are heard all around this earth is but the effect of pain, either felt or feared.

In heaven, where there is no pain, there shall be no sighing nor groaning, nor any more crying. There shall be nothing to make the flesh or the spirit uneasy, or to break the eternal thread of peace and pleasure. Not one painful moment will interrupt the everlasting felicity of that state. When we are done with earth and mortality, we are done also with sickness and anguish. There are no groans in the heavenly world to break in upon the harmony of the harps and the songs of the blessed,—no sighs, no outcries, no anguish will there disturb the music and the joy of the inhabitants, and though the soul shall be united to the body, raised from the dead, to dwell forever in union, yet that newly-raised body shall never be capable of giving anguish or uneasiness to the indwelling spirit.

Pain often so indisposes our nature, as to unfit us for the business and duties of the present state. With how much coldness and indifference do we go about our daily work, when nature is burdened with continual pain, and the vital springs of action are overborne with perpetual uneasiness. Groanings and cries are the language of nature, and the children of God address themselves in this language to their Heavenly Father. Blessed be the name of our gracious God, who hears every secret sigh, who is acquainted with the meaning of every groan, while we mourn before him, and make our complaints to him that we can not worship him, or work for him as we would do, because of anguish. What an indisposition and backwardness we feel, in fulfilling many of the duties toward our fellow-creatures, while we are suffering pain and anguish! Pain will so measurably affect us, as to draw off all our thoughts to self, and centre them there, so that we can not employ our active powers for the benefit of our neighbors. It lessens our concern for our friends, and, while it awakens the spirit within us, it takes away our activity.

When human nature bears so much, it can act but little, but what a blessed state will that be, when we shall never feel this indisposition to duty, either human or divine, through any uneasiness of the body,—when we shall never more be subject to any of these painful impediments, but have forever cast off all the clogs and burdens which fetter the active powers of the soul! Then we shall be joyfully employed in such glorious service to God, our Father, and to the blessed Jesus, as requires capacities much superior to what we here possess. There we shall find no weakness, no weariness, no pain, throughout all the years of our immortality. Rev. 7: 15.

None of the blessed above are at rest or idle, either day or night, but they serve him in his temple continually. Rev. 4: 8. No faintness nor languor is known there! The inhabitants of that land shall enjoy everlasting vigor. Cheerfulness and ease will render every blessed soul forever as zealous and active in obedience, as the angels are in heaven.

Pain unfits us for the enjoyment of life, as well as for its labors and duties. It takes away all the pleasing satisfaction which might attend our circumstances. What pleasure can a rich man take in all the affluence of earthly blessings around him, while some painful distemper holds him upon the rack, and distresses him with the torture? How little delight can he find in meat or drink when sharp pain calls all his attention to the diseased part. What joy can he find in magnificent buildings, in gay and shining furniture, in elegant gardens, or in all the glittering treasures of the Indies, when the gout torments his hands and his feet, or rheumatism afflicts his limbs with intense anguish? If pain attacks any part of the body and rises to a high degree, the luxuries of life grow tasteless, and life itself is embittered to us. Even pain, less acute, if prolonged through weeks, months and years, will result in misery. Solomon calls old age, "the years wherein there is no pleasure, because many aches and ailments seem then to pursue us in a continual succession. So many infirmities and painful hours attend us usually in that stage of life, even in the best situation, that all our pleasure is cut off and destroyed. But, O what a wondrous, what a joyful change shall that be when the soul is commanded to forsake this flesh and blood, when it rises, as on wings of angels, to the heavenly world, and leaves every pain behind it, together with the body, in the arms of death, and what a more illustrious and delightful change shall we meet in the great resurrection day, when our bodies shall be raised out of the dust, with vigorous immortality, and without any semblance of pain! All the unknown enjoyments, with which heaven is furnished, shall be taken by the enlarged powers of the soul with intense pleasure, and not a moment's pain shall ever interrupt them.

Pain adds a new burden to all our grievances. Many evidences of this truth are scattered through all nature, and on all sides of this globe. There is not one age of mankind but what can furnish us with millions of instances. In what melancholy language does Job describe his sensation of the tiresome nature of pain! "I am made to possess months of vanity; and wearisome nights are appointed to me. When I lie down I say, When shall I rise and the night be gone? and I am full of tossings to and fro unto the dawning of the day." Job. 7: 3, 4.

When pain takes hold of our flesh, it seems to stretch the measures of time to a tedious length. We cry out as Moses expresses in Deut 28: 67. In the morning we say, Would to God it were evening, and at the return of evening we say again, Would to God it were morning. Long are those hours, whether of daylight or darkness, wherein there is no relief or intermission of acute pain! How tiresome to wait for the distant approach of morning, while our eyes are unable to close themselves in slumber, and our anguish admits not the common refuge of sleep.

There are multitudes among the race of mortals who have known these truths by sore experience; but when we turn our thoughts to the heavenly world, where there is no pain, there we shall find no weary hours, no tedious days, though eternity, with all its unmeasurable length of duration, lies before us.

What a dismal thought is eternal pain! The very mention of it makes nature shudder, but heavenly rest, for endless years, in a land of peace and pleasure, gives the soul the most delightful prospect, for there is no shadow of uneasiness in that state to render our abode tiresome, or to make us think the ages of it long.

Another evil that belongs to pain is, that it has a tendency to rouse the passions and to render us fretful and peevish within ourselves, as well as toward those who are round about us. Even the kindest and tenderest hand that ministers to our relief, can hardly escape the peevish quarrels of a man in extreme pain. Not that we are to suppose that this peevish humor, this fretfulness of spirit, is thereby made innocent and perfectly excusable. By no means; yet it must be acknowledged that continuance in pain works up the spirit into frequent disquietude and eagerness. We are tempted to fret at everything; we quarrel with everything, we grow impatient under every delay, angry with our best friend, sharp and sudden in our resentments, with wrathful speeches coming from our lips. This peevish humor, in a day of pain, is so common a fault that I fear it is too much excused and indulged. Let me rather say within myself, My God is now putting me to the trial, to see what sort a Christian I am, and how much I have learned of self-government, and through his grace I will subdue my uneasy passions, though I can not relieve my pain. It is noble in a sick-chamber on a bed of anguish, to lie pierced with extreme pain, and yet maintain a serenity and calmness of soul, to be all meekness, and gentleness, and patience among our friends or attendants under the sharp twinges of it, to utter no rude or angry language, and to take everything kindly that they say or do. But such a character is not found in every house. A holy soul, through the severity of pain, may sometimes, in such an hour, be ruffled by violent and sudden fits of impatience. Even that good man Job, under his various calamities, cursed the day wherein he was born and cried out in anguish of spirit, "My soul chooseth strangling, and death rather than my life." Job 3, and 7: 15.

There have been those who, having not the fear of God before their eyes, with hasty violence and murderous hands have put an end to their own lives, through their wild and sinful impatience of constant pain. But these trials are forever finished when this life expires. Then all our pains are ended forever, if we are found among the children of God. There is not, nor can be, any temptation in heaven, to fretfulness or disquietude of mind. All the peevish passions dropped into the grave, together with the body of flesh, and those evil humors which were the sources of smart and anguish here on earth, have no place in the newly raised body. There is nothing but peace and pleasure, joy and love, goodness and benevolence, ease and satisfaction through all the regions on high.

Ours will be a happy state, and we shall have the blessed mansions of the saints when these bodies of sin shall be destroyed, and all the restless atoms that disquiet the flesh and provoke the spirit to impatience, shall be buried in the dust of death, and never, never, rise again.

MOUNT MORRIS COLLEGE.

BY J. G. ROYER.

FIFTY years ago, on the fourth day of this month, the corner-stone of the first building for Rock River Seminary was laid in Mt. Morris. Ten years later the building known as "The Old Sandstone" was commenced. The new school was started by the Methodists, and after spending many thousands of dollars, and learning wisdom by experience, they gave up the school. They then concentrated their efforts, and, as a result, built up at Evanston one of the leading institutions in the West.

Ten years ago the School came under the control of the Brethren. By this it is meant that several brethren, interested in the cause of education, purchased the buildings, repaired them, and started a School. Since then sacrifices have been made by all the brethren who have been connected with the institution, to keep the work moving forward. Four years ago the School received the chartered name of "Mt. Morris College."

It was, however, a College only in name, the Academic Department alone being operative. This was due to the fact that the School looked for patronage to the church, the educational status of which was such that the demand for higher education, and the means available to secure it, were insufficient to sustain a college course. Notwithstanding these and many other adverse circumstances which had to be met, by God's grace, and the self-sacrificing spirit of those in charge of the work, the Academic Department of the School was successfully carried on.

As a result, the meagre sparks of sentiment in favor of higher instruction were fanned into a flame, affording us the pleasure of informing the readers of the MESSENGER that Mt. Morris College is no more an experiment, or a college merely in name,* but that it has grown up to be a fixed institution of learning, destined, under the blessings of God, to be a greater and constantly growing power for good, both to the church and in the world.

By its permanency, it is not to be understood that it has become a self-supporting, money-making institution. No, dear brethren, it is not a money-making concern, and never should become such. It should call into activity that self-sacrificing spirit which prompts Christians to do good. Money invested in our schools should bring the kind of interest which money brings when invested in churches; and we shall make our schools a power for the church and the Lord, in proportion to the sacrifices we are willing to make for them. These sacrifices must be made "heartily as unto the Lord and not unto men."

So far as pertains to facilities for intellectual culture, young people will find all that is desirable at Mt. Morris College. In proof of this, we state that Michigan University, at Ann Arbor, Mich., North-western University, at Evanston, Ill., and other leading colleges offer to give full credit for work done at Mt. Morris College.

In addition to the facilities for intellectual culture, we wish to speak of the opportunities for moral and religious culture. Education is growth, developed by discipline. Bible study affords discipline, as well as the study of anything else, and, instead of calling into activity the thought power only, as does the study of the sciences, it appeals to the student's will power, and develops his sense of right, the crowning element in man.

It is to this that the brethren have given special attention. Their efforts have been abundantly blessed, not only in awakening an interest in Bible study and Sunday-school work, but also in leading many precious souls to Christ, and in purifying the moral and religious atmosphere of the School, thus elevating the standard of character in the institution.

It is this feature that makes the School an important factor for good in the church; and it is this department of the School which affords the higher and more ennobling culture not found in schools of the world. And it is this culture, in addition to the mental culture acquired in schools generally, that our young people need, to prepare them for the responsible stations awaiting them in life.

Another feature not to be overlooked, is the fact that in Mt. Morris there are no saloons. The town is small and quiet, and free from those distracting influences thrown around students in larger cities.

The church privileges are most excellent. The School is in the bounds of the Silver Creek church, and a kindly care is manifested by the church officials and the members generally for the success of the School, and for the spiritual growth and development of the young brethren and sisters who find here a temporary home.

Other advantages might be spoken of but these will suffice. We appeal to our brethren and sisters when sending their children to school, to remember that if they are to be brought into sympathy with our principles, you must send them to our own schools. We have lost, and are losing today, many bright young men and women because parents, in order to save a few dollars in railroad fare, send them to secular schools or those of other denominations.

This is the poorest kind of economy. Every brother and sister who may have children to educate should send them to our schools. We need the patronage, the help and the encouragement you can give us in this way. We need your help in this great work. We need your patronage, and present our claims to you. Will you not, dear brethren and sisters, send your children to the Brethren's schools, instead of patronizing, as some are doing, the irreligious schools that are to be found in many places? Consider well the future good of your sons and daughters, and let them be placed where their religious, as well as their intellectual natures may be cared for.

* During the last two years we have had students taking work in the Collegiate Department, and with the opening of next year we expect a larger class.

FELLOWSHIP WITH CHRIST IN SUFFERING AND REIGNING.

BY JAMES EVANS.

"If we suffer with [him] we shall also reign with him."—2 Tim. 2: 12.

THERE is no doctrine so clearly and persistently set forth in the Scriptures, as oneness with Christ. In fact, the name Christ includes all who have believed on him, and are his real disciples. Jesus is the Head, and all who are his, constitute his body. The bond of union, or that which unites the body to the head is the spirit of the Living God. As the blood is the life of the flesh, so the Spirit of God pervades the spiritual body, composed of all who have crucified the flesh with its affections and lusts, and have ceased from sin. All who have obeyed the Gospel from the heart, and are in Christ, walking in the spirit, constitute the one body of Christ. This one body has passed out of death into life, and its members have come to the knowledge of this truth, that old things have passed away and all things have become new. They are new creatures in Christ, being reconciled to God in all things, so that henceforth they reckon themselves to have died to sin, but as being alive to God, manifesting their faith by their works.

The idea of fellowship with Christ lies at the basis of all true conception of the religion of Jesus. He suffered for us and was made a sacrifice for sin. We, too, must be prepared to suffer with him. The sufferings of Christ did not end when Jesus died. They were finished in the head, but not in the body. Paul tells us that he filled up that which was behind of the afflictions of Christ in his flesh, for the body's sake, which is the church. Col. 1: 24. The sufferings of a member of the one body is in the flesh. Man is a dual being, that is, possessing flesh and spirit. These two differ in their qualities. Jesus says, "The spirit is willing, but the flesh is weak." The spirit is freed, exalted, emancipated from the dominion of the flesh, while the latter is mortified, crucified and held under restraint. No one can be a living member of the Christ body, who has not suffered in the flesh.

The flesh delights in carnal things. These carnal things are as diversified as the tastes of men. A large class of men delight in the pleasures of the sensuous nature. Others delight in the possession of houses, lands, and wealth of all kinds. Some delight in the honors of the world, and seek its highest places. Evangelical repentance destroys the love of these things, and implants in us a love of purer and more exalted things. It is often a painful process to pass out of death into life. To renounce the world, its pleasures and amusements, costs many a pang of regret. The broad way is often so flowery and fascinating, that the flesh pleads for a milder form of doctrine than sacrifice.

The flesh will subscribe to any form of theology, provided no sacrifice is required. The flesh is willing to believe that Jesus "paid it all," and suffered for all, provided it leaves nothing for us to suffer. But the terms are inexorable. No crown, no cross. If there is no suffering or self-denial of the flesh, there can be no fellowship with Christ. The old life must be renounced and the old man destroyed. There is no eternal life nor immortality for the flesh. If the spirit is saved in the day of the Lord Jesus, the flesh must suffer destruction. 1 Cor. 5: 5. The chaff must be burned with unquenchable fire, and the wheat alone saved.

As Christ suffered for us, for all, so we must suffer for others. The one body or church is now preparing to reign with Christ. If we are ashamed of his cross, he will not reckon us worthy to reign with him. The church is now undergoing discipline and trial for the great work of the ages to come. In all the future work of Christ, the church will be one with him. The dead have to be raised and judged in righteousness, the saints shall judge the world. The Gospel must be preached to the dead, that they may be judged as men in the flesh, but made alive to God in their spirits. 1 Peter 4: 6. The church is now baptized into death and suffering for the dead. 1 Cor. 15: 29. Their present baptism into death and suffering is not only for their own personal benefit, but for the benefit of others. This opens up to the cross-bearing Christian a glorious view of future work, when Jesus will be manifested as the great restorer of all things. The work of the glorified church is not to "ascend into space, and become inhabitants of the sky, or ascending further to be where stars forgotten lie." This may be good poetry, but it is bad theology, and at variance with the teachings of Scripture, as to the union of the church with Christ, in reigning as well as suffering.

Those Christians, who indulge the flesh by popular amusements, fashionable dress, desire of wealth and political honors, are evidently not walking after the spirit, but the flesh. They sow to the flesh and shall reap corruption. They shall miss the prize and find themselves excluded from the enthroned ones who now renounce the world, etc.

We may cheat ourselves out of the crown, by calling our cross-hating ideas "progressive," "provident," etc. We lay up wealth, but are not rich toward God.

LIFE intelligently met and honestly passed is the best education of all, except that higher one to which it is intended to lead.

"THERE are three things which the true Christian desires with respect to sin: justification, that it may not condemn; sanctification, that it may not reign; and glorification, that it may not be."

LOYALTY IN GOD'S HOUSE.

BY GERTRUDE A. FLORY.

A SISTER, becoming discouraged because so many others participated in the services of God, improperly "covered," requests me to persuade them through the MESSENGER, to appear in God's house properly adorned. But it seems to me that there has been sufficient said already upon this subject to induce the truly loyal to comply with the requirements of the Lord's house, without anything more being said. And that "sufficient," has been so well told, that I can only repeat what has already been said. Yet, as there are fragments to be gathered from every one's table, I take up my pen, trusting God for strength, the Holy Spirit to suggest and Jesus to hold and guide my hand, that some soul may find a delicious morsel, containing life-giving principles, at my board.

I start out from the stand-point that our sisters believe it is right to have their heads covered during the worship of God, as few, if any, would dare to present themselves at the Lord's Table with uncovered heads. Then, if it is right to be covered during Communion services, is it not right to be covered during all the services in God's house? When I say God's house, I do not want to be understood to mean simply the church, set apart for worship. God's house proper embraces his entire kingdom with all of its ordinances and regulations. Paul declares that "God's house is a house of order and not of confusion." But should one sister wear a bonnet, another a cap, another a veil or something else, in time of prayer and prophecy, where would be the order? I am well aware that this question will be met with the argument, that they are all covered, hence in order. But to an observer does it not appear as a state of confusion? It certainly does, and as confusion is an evil, and we are to shun even "the appearance of evil," we want none of it in the Lord's work. Peace, love and union should characterize every place of divine services.

If I am not misinformed, the church decided, when asked, "What shall the prayer covering for our sisters be?" that it should be a plain white cap, that being the most appropriate covering thought of. It is not only appropriate but convenient and tidy, therefore, since it is a decision of the church, it becomes a law of God's house, and should be adopted by every sister in the Fraternity, and nothing else should be worn in time of worship. The bonnet is an out-door garment, worn for protection, and should be laid off during divine service, leaving the head adorned with the emblem of power,—a crown of beauty.

Laying aside spiritual things entirely, nothing so enhances woman's beauty, as a plain, white cap. The time is not long past when all married women wore caps. In those days, a bride would have been unbecomingly attired without this head-covering. But, since then, customs have changed, the world declaring in actions, that headdress to be a ridiculous affair. Therefore sisters substitute every conceivable article of covering in order to escape the stigma of the cap. Is it right to thus shun the burden of the cross? I shall leave the sense of right vibrating every bosom, to answer this question, while I try, by God's assistance, to show you the position you occupy.

By substituting any covering whatever, for the cap, you disregard the decision of the church, founded upon the commands and precepts of the Word of God, in order to appear less like the subjects thereof, thus virtually saying, "I am ashamed to acknowledge my membership with such a body." You are not like the church, nor yet like the world. Hence you occupy a neutral position, which, in my estimation, is a lamentable one. Wherefore should the ridicule of a godless world destroy the very essence of spirituality within us? This has been Satan's aim for time immemorial, and he means to accomplish it, not only with individual members, but with the entire church. The latter, thank God, he shall not be able to do, but unless we are very careful, watchful, and prayerful, many of the fold shall be snatched up and devoured because they stray beyond its borders, into the wilds of a sinful world. Do you want to be one of that number? The farther you get from the church, the farther from Jesus. The nearer you approach the world, the nearer to Satan. The nearer you stray to Satan, the nearer to hell's gaping woes.

Prove your fidelity to the Lord by being loyal in his house. He wants no half-way Christians. With him it is "all thy soul, heart, mind and strength," or nothing. To disobey the least of his commands, is to be guilty of all. Upon your obedience depends your salvation, as well as your light and influence for good. Some one is following your light, although you may be unconscious of it. Will you lead them into joy and life or into discouragement and death? You must not forget, however, that you reach the terminus of the way before your followers, provided you continue to be the leader. Pause now for a moment, to contemplate the sequel of your influence, whether good or evil. There is much in favor of the good. Why, then, strive so zealously to counteract it by compromises with the world? I plead with you, to use your zeal on the side of the right, that God may be honored, saints edified and sinners won to Christ.

Sometimes we are confused and somewhat cast down by being told that, in order to have power on our heads, we must always wear the covering. If this is true, surely the wise Paul did not explain himself in very definite terms. To convey the idea that woman should always have her head covered, 1 Cor. 11: 5, should read, "Every woman having her head uncovered, dishonoreth her head," whereas it says, "Every woman that prayeth or prophesieth with her head uncovered," etc. Paul's strong point is to have her "covered" during prayer. See verse 13. I, too, believe that the angels will withdraw their guardianship if we do not have power on our heads. But I believe just as strenuously, that we get and keep that power at all times, by having our heads properly covered during divine services. Besides we can bring just as strong arguments in favor of the man having his head always uncovered, as those in favor of the woman being always "covered." Paul places them both in the same position in this matter.

A sister writes me, "We are commanded to pray without ceasing, therefore we should always have our heads covered." To pray without ceasing, is equivalent to, "not forsaking the assembling of yourselves together." We could not be always assembling, nor can we always be engaged in prayer, yet we are to pray to-day, to-morrow, and the day after, and so on until prayer shall be changed to glad hallelujahs in eternal courts of glory. Let no one think that he may cease to pray, and yet be acceptable with God; nor any woman that she may pray to God "uncovered," and yet be found in the way of the Lord. Then let us all, dear sisters, appear in God's house with our heads crowned with power, that we may wear the crown of victory in the everlasting habitations of the just made perfect! Lord, help us all to do thy will! Who will say, Amen?

July 1.

"THERE is a wide difference between happiness and joy; the former 'happens' by circumstances; the latter is a fountain within the heart."

THE RUM-SELLER'S PROPOSAL TO SATAN.

SELECTED BY W. H. GROW.

Dear Sir:—

I have opened apartments, fitted up with all the enticements of luxury, for the sale of rum, brandy, gin, wine, beer, and all their compounds. Our objects, though different, can be best attained by united action. I, therefore, propose a co-partnership. All I want of men is their money; all else shall be yours.

Bring me the industrious, the sober, the respectable, and I will dash to the earth the dearest hopes of the father and mother.

Bring me the father and the mother, and I will plant discord between them, and make them a curse and a reproach to their children.

Bring me the young man, and I will ruin his character, destroy his health, shorten his life, and blot out the highest and purest hopes of youth.

Bring me the mechanic or the laborer, and his own money,—the hard-earned fruits of his toil,—shall be made to plant poverty, vice and ignorance in his once happy home.

Bring me the professed followers of Christ, and I will blight and wither every devotional feeling of the heart. I will corrupt the ministers of religion, and defile the purity of the church.

Bring me the patronage of the city, and the courts of justice. Let the magistrates of the State and Union become my patrons,—let the law-makers themselves meet at my table and participate in violation of law, and the name of the law shall become a hissing and a by-word in the streets.

Bring me, above all, the moral, respectable man,—if possible bring me the moderate temperance man. Though he may not drink, yet his presence will countenance the pretexts under which our business must be masked. Bring him to our stores, oyster-saloons, eating-houses and hotels, and the more timid of our victims will then enter without alarm. Yours faithfully,

RUM-SELLER.

REPLY.

My Dear Brother:—

I address you by this endearing appellation because of the congeniality of our spirits, and of the great work we are both engaged in,—the work of destruction. I most cordially accept your proposals. For five thousand years I sought in vain for a man so fully after my own heart to do my work among men. I even ransacked the lowest depths of hell for a devil who could and would do for me the whole work of destruction. But little success attended their efforts. My minions always make some mistake, or too soon show the cloven foot. I sent the demon "Murder," and slew a few thousand, most generally the helpless and innocent. Men turned away with loathing from him, and his mission was comparatively a failure.

I bade my servant "Lust" go forth. He led innocent youths and beautiful maidens in chains, destroying virtue, wrecking happiness, blasting characters, and causing untimely deaths and dishonored graves. But even then many of his victims escaped through the power of God,—my enemy.

I sent out "Avarice," and in his golden chains some were bound, but men learned to hate him for his meanness, and comparatively few fell by him.

The twin brothers,—"Pestilence and War,"—went forth, and "Famine" stole behind them, but these three indiscriminately slew the old and the young,—men, women and children; the good as well as the bad, and heaven received as many accessions as hell.

In sadness my Satanic heart mourned over the probable loss of my crown and kingdom, as I contemplated the tremendous strides which the Gospel of Jesus was making in saving men from my clutches. But when I received your kind letter, I shouted till the welkin of hell echoed the shout, "Eureka! Eureka! I have found it! I have found it."

Yes, my dear friend, I could have embraced you a thousand times, and I have given orders to reserve for you a place nearest my person,—the most honorable seat in my kingdom. In you are combined all the qualifications of just such a friend and partner as I have long wished for, and in your business are all the elements of success. Now shall my throne be forever established. Only carry out your designs and you shall have money, though it be wrung from the broken hearts of helpless women, and from the mouths of innocent, perishing children.

Though you fill the jails, work-houses and poor-houses, though you crowd the insane asylums, though you make murder, incest and arson to abound, and erect scaffolds and gallows in every village, town and city, you shall have money. I will also harden your heart so that your conscience will never trouble you. You shall look upon blood, and even shed it, without shame or anguish. You shall think yourself a gentleman, though men and women,—your victims,—shall call you demon.

You shall be devoid of the fear of God, the horrors of the grave, and the solemnities of eternity, and when you come to me, your works shall secure to you a reward forever. All I claim is the souls of the victims. Yours to the very last,

DIABOLUS.

OVERSEE OR SET IN ORDER.

BY JACOB HOLSOPPLE.

"Take heed therefore unto yourselves, and to all the flock, over the which the Holy Ghost hath made you overseers, to feed the church of God, which he hath purchased with his own blood."—Acts 20: 28

PAUL was about to leave his brethren, and did not expect to see them again in this life. The deep feeling he entertained for their safety, caused him, in a special manner, to give directions to the overseers. This feeling of concern for the church is manifested also by Christ in all his blessed Gospel, and, indeed, is the fountain from which all the apostles drank. From this, we, in these latter days, must yet partake.

After Christ had risen from the dead, John 21, he said, "Children, have ye any meat?" "Feed my lambs," "Feed my sheep," etc. Peter says we should desire the sincere milk of the Word, that we may grow thereby. Paul says, "Set things in order that are wanting and ordain elders in every city." Titus 1: 5. "Pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest that he will send forth laborers into his harvest." Matt. 9: 38.

I feel like reminding those of us who are overseers, of this weighty matter resting upon us. We are not to lord it over God's heritage, but, of a ready mind (1 Pet. 5), ever persevere in that blessed spirit of peace.

So, in order that we do our duty, we must have teachers or beginners in the ministry at all places where we can find men sound in the faith. This being our duty, why are there so many old, organized churches, with a goodly number of members, but without home ministers? Can the elders comply with Paul's directions to Titus—"ordain elders in every city,"—if there are no home ministers? It can not be done. Ministers must first be supplied. Some churches are not in favor of electing a minister. They would do so, could they elect one who could preach powerfully at once. This would, indeed, be very acceptable to all the hearers, but can we expect more now than in the days of Christ? Did his apostles so preach at once? No; they learned of him for about three years before he left them. And after they were sent into all the world, it took them seven or more years yet, till they learned to obey the "Go teach all nations." By miracles God had to convince them that the Gentiles were to be received into the church. Acts 10: 11.

God needs workers, and if we look only for such ministers as can preach powerfully at once, the number will be small indeed. Christ wants workers, and the calls come from every-where for the Bread of Life.

In some churches there is a greater want than that of a minister. A cure is needed for that contagious and deadly disease,—"itching ears." Then a Peter, John, or even a despised publican like Matthew, will become acceptable, and can be set to work. By the expansion of his gifts or talents, he can prove himself useful, and, by careful study, become competent to oversee, etc. This class may be termed "illiterate" by the world, like the apostles were (Acts 4: 13), yet they were competent, by the blessings of God, to do Christ's work, and that is just what the true overseers are required to do.

My earnest prayer to God is that all of us, as overseers, may have our spiritual eyes opened so that we may look after the work of the church carefully, and supply all wants in the best possible manner.

Geistown, Pa.

TIME IS SHORT.

BY HENRY ROYER.

WHEN we think of days that are past and gone, it seems but a dream. Year after year rolls away, and we are hastening to our long home. Time is so precious that there is never but one moment in the world at once, and that is always taken away before another is given. Oh, how careful we should be not to idle away our time! Yes, those golden moments, that in childhood's days are so often spent in vain! One by one we are passing away.

Young friends, don't think that because you are young, your life is long, for you may be called away in your youth, and how sad to think of it, if you should not be prepared!

Then let us walk in the footsteps of Jesus! He says, "They that seek me early shall find me." He will lead us safely through this life, and finally land us on that shore, where we can meet those who have gone before, and be forever with the Lord!

"Oh, give unto Jesus your earliest days;
They only are blessed who walk in his ways.
In life and in death he will still be your friend,
For whom Jesus loves, he loves to the end!"

Louisville, Ohio.

INFANT BAPTISM.

BY A. FLORY.

"For where no law is, there is no transgression."—Rom. 4: 15.

INFANTS and idiots have no law; they can not distinguish between right and wrong; therefore Christ does not require them to obey his commandments. He said, "Suffer little children and forbid them not to come unto me, for of such is the kingdom of heaven." If the kingdom of heaven is composed of such, their condition can not be made better. Peter told those that believed, to repent and be baptized for the remission of sins. Infants can not do this, for they have no knowledge of sin. Infant baptism has no warrant in the Gospel of Christ.

No doubt thousands of persons are dissatisfied with their baptism who were baptized in their infancy. It is extremely hard for persons to renounce that which father and mother did for them, even if they know better.

I conversed, not long since, with an aged man on this subject. He said that he joined the church when he was a young man and had been a member ever since. "Yet," he said, "I am not satisfied with my baptism. My parents told me that I was baptized when I was an infant, but I think I should know something of it myself, for the Bible says we should repent and be baptized."

Is it not strange that persons will continue in doubt, striving against better light and knowledge? The probabilities are that numbers are in this condition to-day! Infant baptism is doing an untold amount of harm, and is keeping persons from obeying Christ's commands. It is causing many to live in doubt, and is detrimental to the cause of Christ. All persons should do that which they know to be right; then all doubts will vanish.

"Unbelief, the mighty foe,
Lurks within the heart,
Doubts and fears will not arise,
If we bid it all depart."

Meyerhoffer's Store, Va.

MUSIC.

BY SARAH M. SAUNDERS.

GOD, in his might and wisdom created man in his own image, breathed into his nostrils the breath of life, and he became a living soul. God also endowed him with intelligence and reason, with power over all the creatures of the earth, and also gave the human family a language and a voice,—made them a little lower than the angels.

Sometimes we are made to wonder at the great power as manifested in the human voice, or the uses to which it can be put, but the one which we wish to consider just now is the power to produce, what we call music, or sound or sounds, which make melody in their hearts and the hearts of those who hear it.

What is more inspiring than music,—vocal music? It is true, art has been called into existence, and instruments are in use which, when manipulated by the human hand, send forth melodious sounds that please the ear, but the music that inspires the soul, the heart, is produced by the human voice, when a congregation is assembled to worship God, to engage in singing "psalms, hymns and spiritual songs." Then our minds soar away on the wings of music, and we are brought into closer relationship with the angels in Heaven. If, then, our voices are fitted so as to make such inspiring music here, what will it be when we reach the Golden City, where congregations never break up, and Sabbaths never end; where there is no sorrow, neither sighing and weeping, but all tears shall be wiped from our eyes, and we shall sing the song of Moses and the Lamb forever and ever!

Landessville, Ind.

"BE PATIENT.—You are tender-hearted, and want to be sure, and are trying to be—learn these two things: never be discouraged because good things get on so slowly here, and never fail daily to do that good which lies next to your hand. Do not be in a hurry, but be diligent. Enter into the sublime patience of the Lord. Be charitable in view of it. God can afford to wait; why can not we, since we have him to fall back upon? Let patience have her perfect work, and bring forth her celestial fruits. Trust to God to weave your little thread into a web, though the patterns show it not yet."

The Gospel Messenger,

A Weekly at $1.50 per Annum.

PUBLISHED BY

The Brethren's Publishing Co.

D. L. MILLER, - - - - - - Office Editor.

J. B. BRUMBAUGH, } - - - - Associate Editors.
J. G. ROYER, }

JOS. AMICK, - - - - - Business Manager.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE.
R. H. Miller, S. S. Mohler, Daniel Hays

☞Communications for publication should be legibly written with BLACK ink on ONE side of the paper only. Do not attempt to interline, or to put on one page what ought to occupy two.

☞Anonymous communications will not be published

☞Do not mix business with articles for publication. Keep your communications on separate sheets from all business.

☞Time is precious. We always have time to attend to business and to answer questions of importance, but please do not subject us to needless answering of letters.

☞The MESSENGER is mailed each week to all subscribers. If the address is correctly entered on our list, the paper must reach the person to whom it is addressed. If you do not get your paper, write us, giving particulars.

☞When changing your address, please give your FORMER as well as your FUTURE address in full, so as to avoid delay and misunderstanding.

☞Remittances should be made by Post-office Money Order, Drafts on New York or Chicago, or Registered Letters, made payable and addressed to "Brethren's Publishing Co., Mount Morris, Ill.," or "Brethren's Publishing Co., Huntingdon, Pa."

☞Always remit to the office from which you order your goods, no matter from where you receive them.

☞Do not send personal checks or drafts on interior banks, unless you send with them 25 cents each, to pay for collection.

☞Entered at the Post-office at Mount Morris, Ill., as second-class matter.

Mount Morris, Ill., - - - - July 30, 1889.

THE MILLER AND SOMMER DEBATE.

THIS work is now all electrotyped, making 533 pages or nearly 105 pages more than we at first thought it would make. As a result it costs much more to publish it, but notwithstanding the extra cost we shall not increase the price but sell it at the figures first announced, $1.50 per copy, postage prepaid.

We trust our agents and the Brethren generally will assist us in selling the book, and thus help us to get the cost of publication out of it and secure a handsome profit for the missionary work of the church. We undertook the publication of the book at our own risk, agreeing to pay over all profits, after receiving cost of publication, to the mission fund, and this will be faithfully carried out. An accurate account will be kept and submitted to the General Committee so that all may know that the profits go to this important work.

We believe the book will do much good. Bro. Miller ably defended the faith and practice of our church. It will probably be the last of his debates and the ground is so fully and completely covered, and all the arguments in favor of the position held by our people so fully and strongly set forth, that it is not likely another book of this kind will be very soon published. It ought to be found in every home in our Brotherhood. Our ministers will find the book especially helpful in their doctrinal preaching and in preparing them to meet the arguments that are offered by those who oppose us. Let every minister in our Brotherhood order a copy at once.

Our agents who have not already done so will please send in their orders at once so that we may know about how large an edition to publish. If possible, accompany your orders with the money. We must pay cash for everything we get done and will need the money to meet the bills. Agents wanted in every church, to whom special terms will be given upon application. Any one desiring a copy of the work can receive it direct from this office. ORDER AT ONCE.

ONE was baptized last Sunday at Silver Creek, near this place.

BRO. SIMON YOUNG and sister Nettie, his wife, are spending some time with his parents in Ohio.

BRO. G. B. SHIVELY suggests that in addition to giving the names of our correspondents we should also give their post-offices.

THE Brethren at Pine Creek, Ogle Co., Ill., will dedicate their new meeting-house on Sunday, Aug. 4. Preaching both morning and evening.

A TRUE conviction becomes to us a personal matter; it becomes a part of our being, and we not only take hold of it but it takes hold of us and becomes a part of our life and character.

BRO. J. W. METZGER, of Indiana, starts for Canada in a few days. He will engage in preaching the Word during his stay there and we trust that much good may result from his efforts.

BRO. T. T. MYERS is holding meetings at Marshalltown, Iowa, at the present time. The congregations are large and the interest good. He goes from Marshalltown to Grundy Center, Iowa.

BRO. JACOB LECKRONE, of the Jonathan's Creek church, Ohio, reports that they are getting along pleasantly in church work. They have a good Sunday-school at the Helser meeting-house and they feel encouraged.

BRO. N. B. HERTER informs us that Bro. Jesse Calvert is suffering from the effects of a malignant carbuncle, and that he will be confined to his room for some time. The affliction is a serious and painful one and we hope to hear of our brother's recovery.

ARE we doing all we can for the cause of Christ? Will the Master say of us in the end, Let them alone, they did what they could? If we are to hear these words, it will only be when we have come up to the measure of our ability in the service of God.

BRO. J. D. HAUGHTELIN, of the Middle District of Iowa, says, "Stephen Yoder, of Shelby County, is a member of the Annual Meeting Committee instead of Stephen Johnson, of Benton County, as it now appears on the Minutes of the District Meeting."

AN estimate based upon carefully prepared statistics shows that there are at the present time over eighteen millions of teachers and scholars in the Sunday-schools of the world. Of this number about one-half or over nine millions attend the Sunday-schools in the United States.

TRUTH is infinite, we are finite; hence, we are not fully able to grasp all there is in the truth of God's Word for us. It is constantly opening and widening to those who search and who live close to the Infinite. It is as a living well of water, ever new, ever fresh, and always abounding in the life-giving principle, and those who continue to drink at the Fountain of Truth shall be filled and in the end shall never thirst again.

WE still have a large number of the Reports of our Annual Meeting on hand, and we want them to be read by our Brethren. The report is full, and one among the most correct ever published. Send in your orders for it; 25 cents per copy; $2.50 per dozen, postage prepaid. Do not defer sending in orders.

Do not let the cares of life and the rush of business crowd love out of your home, for when it has once fled it will be hard to woo it back again. Too many homes are sadly neglected, and love is crowded out by daily duties and cares, and then a life of unhappiness is the result. Time spent in cultivating and keeping bright the home love will be well spent.

BRO. J. B. BRUMBAUGH and family left us on the 22nd inst. for Beatrice, Neb., where they expect to spend some time. Bro. J. B. preached for us at Silver Creek and in the chapel on Sunday, the 21st, and gave us, at both places, instructive lessons from God's Word. We enjoyed their visit with us very much and were sorry that it was so short. May the Lord be with them as they journey to the West and give them a safe return to home and friends.

THE harvest has been gathered and there is scarcely room to bestow the abundance which the land has produced. The blessing is from the Lord, and to him do we owe all that we have. Will we forget our indebtedness to him and allow his cause to suffer for means? Shall we not rather bring into his store-house "all the tithes," so that there may be no occasion to speak to us, as people, as the Lord once spoke to Israel through the mouth of his prophet? Mal. 3: 8, 10.

ACCORDING to Dr. Brooks, true tolerance for the opinions of others is based on positive convictions and sympathy with men whose convictions differ from our own. The most intolerant men are those who lack a deep conviction of the truth of their position. If a man be fully fixed and settled upon the truth of the position he occupies, if that conviction takes hold of his heart and brain and is a part of his being, he becomes, strange as it may seem, more tolerant than those who hold opinions lightly. The very strength of his convictions, the positive assurance that he is right, frees him from any fear that his position may be overthrown and this makes him, if he have the sympathy, born of the love of God, for his fellowmen, willing to bear with what seems to him their erroneous views, not however without making a strong and earnest effort to lead them to the truth as he apprehends it.

BRO. J. D. HAUGHTELIN, of Panora, Iowa, writing of their enjoyable feast July 4, says: "We had the largest attendance of members ever witnessed here before, about two hundred and forty being present. Six were baptized at the feast and two since. Little did we think, when we had our first love-feast twenty-seven years ago, with eight members living here, although more were present, that we should live to see such a large company of members assembled at this place. Of the eight members who attended the first feast, four were at the tables at our feast." This shows what faithful work will do, and if our Brethren are only faithful in their calling, who can tell what the Lord may do for them all over the West in the next quarter of a century. Many little flocks may grow, as did the one referred to above, to strong congregations. Let us be encouraged, dear brethren, to continue steadfast in the form of doctrine delivered unto us, or rather unto which we have been delivered, and the Lord will do wonderful things for his people.

When we visited California, nearly two years ago, land was very high and the spirit of speculation pervaded every city, town and village of the southern portion of the State. Land was held at fabulous prices, so high that actual settlers were kept out of the State. We are informed that there has been a change in this matter and that good farming land within twenty miles of Los Angeles can be bought for from twenty-five to sixty dollars per acre.

What we need more than all else in our Christian life and work is a firm, abiding, unwavering faith in the truth of God's Word and then, in connection with such faith, "a passionate desire to see his Word reign upon the earth." If we have these two things in us, the question of self-consecration will be definitely settled. There will be no holding back of the Lord's part,—no failure to give to them that ask, no shutting up with a "time lock" our money when there is need for it to spread the Gospel. Some men say with their lips that they love Christ and his kingdom but by their actions one must conclude that their hearts are far from him.

"I was visiting a friend some years ago who had just built a new house. It was beautiful, useful. He took me upstairs. It had wardrobes, toilet glasses, books and paintings. It was furnished grandly. And the father turned to me and said, 'This room is for our daughter. She is in Europe. She does not know we are arranging it. Her mother and I have fixed up everything we could think of for her; and as soon as the house is fully furnished we are going to Europe to bring her back, and we will bring her upstairs, and open the door and say, Daughter, this is all yours.' And I thought of the joy it would give her, and I thought, How kind these parents are! Just then I turned away and thought, That is what Jesus is doing for me. He says, 'I am going away. I will come again. In my Father's house are many mansions. If it were not so I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you, I will come again and receive you unto myself, that where I am there ye may be also.' Then I said, This father and mother are rich; but they have not all treasures; there are a great many things they don't know how to get. But Jesus who is furnishing my mansion in glory has everything. He has undertaken to furnish a place for me, and I shall be with him forever."

LEAVES FROM OUR NOTE-BOOK.

Since our last we have met with a number of our Christian friends, all of whom have received us so kindly that we feel under obligations to them all. We only realize fully the strength of the fraternal tie that binds us together as a people when we get out among them. If there is one thing that gives us encouragement more than another, it is the manifestation of this fraternal feeling. It is one of the evidences of our discipleship.

We enjoyed one season of worship with the Brethren of the Salem congregation. Here we met Bro. John Calvin Bright, a former student at Huntingdon. He still has a warm feeling for his friends there, and it was a pleasure for us to enjoy a season of worship with him. Here, too, resides our brother, John H. Brumbaugh. He, too, has been called to the ministry, and we are told is doing what he can to make himself efficient in his high calling. At this place our attention was attracted to the large attendance at both the Sunday-school and preaching service. The Sunday-school is attended not only by the children, but by the membership in general. This is as it should be. The Sunday-school is for all, the old as well as the young. There is nothing that so impresses us as a large congregation of all ages engaged in the study of God's Word. Too many seem to think the Sunday-school is only for the children. An aged brother told us that he often enjoyed the Sunday-school more than other services because of the practical lessons which were so adapted to his understanding and needs. And so it will be with all who have a relish for Divine Truth. As no one gets too old to eat, so no one gets too old to partake of the Bread of Life, and the Sunday-school often furnishes a table spread with the most nourishing food. Elders Sollenberger, Kinsey and another whose name we can not now recall, were at their post and we remember their kind and hearty greeting with pleasure. After the Sunday morning service we went to the home of John H. Brumbaugh where we enjoyed the association of Christian friends. In the evening we went to John R. Brumbaugh's. Here we met our brother, W. C. Teeter, who had just arrived from Pennsylvania. We spent part of the evening in social worship. Bro. B. gathered his family together as we used to do at home on Sunday evening, for worship, and it brought to our mind vividly those good old times. We sang some of the good old hymns, such as, "The Day is Past and Gone," "When I can read my Title clear," etc. It was a happy time and we will long remember the Sunday evening with our brother and his kind family.

On Monday afternoon Bro. B. kindly conveyed us twelve miles to Bro. Enoch Beery's near Pleasant Hill. Here we made our home for a few days, and it would take too long to tell of all the pleasant meetings and greetings we enjoyed at his home and vicinity. A few notes must suffice.

Sister Cassie Beery recently returned from Cincinnati where she had been taking lessons in vocal and instrumental music. She has been making music a specialty for several years and is becoming quite competent. She would make an efficient instructor and director of music in one of our schools.

We made short visits to the homes of brethren Wine and Frantz, ministers of the Pleasant Hill congregation. They are both active and energetic young men, and under their ministry the church has prospered. Bro. Wine has an interesting daughter who contemplates attending one of the Brethren's schools this Fall. As she is in the limits of Huntingdon's territory, of course we presented our inducements, but if there is any one who knows of our insinuating in reference to influence of other schools, let him speak. We feel that the Huntingdon school has not had a fair showing in the Miami Valley. A few brethren, not connected with either of the schools, with more zeal than knowledge, have, perhaps not been altogether discreet. We are glad to know that among those connected with the different institutions harmony and peace prevails.

We also visited brethren J. M. Neff and G. L. Shoemaker whose acquaintance we formed at Mt. Morris some four years ago. They are both graduates of Mt. Morris and are much attached to their Alma Mater, just as they should be. They are live, energetic young men and a wide field of usefulness is open before them. Bro. Neff's health is not good at present but we hope he may be spared for work in the church.

Bro. George Falkenstein is at present with his mother-in-law in Covington. He had been at Ann Arbor, Mich. He was making special preparation for a department in Mt. Morris College. George graduated at Huntingdon some years ago and since then has attended Oberlin College, and all the time has been a close student. In short we think he is the "right man in the right place."

We spent Sunday last near Dayton, Ohio. We had the pleasure of a visit to the homes of brethren Hoover and Bock. As ever, these brethren are brimful of the Tract Work and are pushing it with a view worthy of the cause. Bro. Perry Hoover, with his little wife is spending vacation at home. They will return to Mt. Morris this Fall where he will continue his studies. Success attend his efforts. It does us good to see our young men preparing themselves for usefulness. We hope the avenues of Christian labor may be fully and freely opened to them. We also visited friend John Weybright and the Pfoutz family at Trotwood. Sister Weybright and sister Auntie Pfoutz, as she is generally called, are earnest and devoted members of the church. How we did wish their husbands could unite with them in their work.

On our way to Mt. Morris we spent a couple days in Chicago. Through the kindness of Dr. Fahrney we were enabled to see considerable of the City. His carriage and driver were at our disposal and it is needless to say we enjoyed it. The doctor himself is busy. Although it is now the dull season of the year, yet he has much to occupy his time and attention. He is pushing his business and, we are informed, is making it a success.

At present, July 18, we are at Mt. Morris. It seems like an old home to us and we can hardly realize that over four years have passed since we sat at the editor's table. Here sits Bro. Amick just as of old, but our chair is occupied by that stout man you all know so well. Out in the type room is Bro. Plate, just as eager to have the editorial in good time as ever. And there, too, is Mattie Hohf always ready for plenty of copy. The more thousands she sets in a day, the more dollars at the end of the week. Sister Ella Amick also occupies a place at the case, which is natural except that she is much larger than she used to be. Down in the mailing room is Bro. S. M. Eshelman as pleasant and good-natured as ever. The rest of the help are strangers to us except Bro. Grant Mahan who has been added to the Messenger force in recent years. In short, things are about as of old. Our Business Manager has his old troubles, but, by close attention to business and a great deal of patience, our people are well served. Indeed, we are doubtful if any of our patrons and especially those who so soon complain and find fault, could do half so well. Bro. Miller is often much perplexed in his efforts to satisfy a Brotherhood of so many minds. We know, however, our patrons generally will unite with us in saying he is doing remarkably well. He is often censured by the more inconsiderate, and those who appreciate his labors will do well to give words of encouragement. One in his position often needs them.

Thus far we have had our home with Bro. Amick. With him we had our home when we came to Mt. Morris four years ago and it is a pleasure to join the family circle again.

We don't have space to say all we meant to say about our visit here this time. We may have more to say in the future. J. B. B.

Missionary and Tract Work Department.

"Upon the first day of the week, let every one of you lay by him in store as God hath prospered him, that there be no gatherings when I come." 1 Cor. 16: 2.

"Every man as he purposeth in his heart, so let him give. Not grudgingly or of necessity, for the Lord loveth a cheerful giver." 2 Cor. 9: 7.

HOW MUCH SHALL WE GIVE?

"Every man according to his ability." "Every one as God hath prospered him." "Every man, according as he purposeth in his heart, so let him give." "For if there be first a willing mind, it is accepted according to that a man hath, and not according to that he hath not." 2 Cor 8: 12.

Organization of Missionary Committee.

DANIEL VANIMAN, Foreman, - - - Virden, Ill.
D. L. MILLER, Secretary and Treasurer, - Mt. Morris, Ill.
G. B. ROYER, Assistant Secretary, - - Mt. Morris, Ill.

Organization of Book and Tract Work.

S. W. HOOVER, Foreman, - - - Dayton, Ohio.
S. BOCK, Secretary and Treasurer, - - Dayton, Ohio.

☞ All donations intended for Missionary Work should be sent to D. L. MILLER, Mt. Morris, Ill.

☞ All money for Tract Work should be sent to S. BOCK, Dayton, Ohio.

☞ Money may be sent by Money Order, Registered Letter, or Drafts on New York or Chicago. Do not send personal checks, or drafts on interior towns, as it costs 25 cents to collect them.

☞ Solicitors are requested to faithfully carry out the plan of Annual Meeting, that all our members be solicited to contribute at least twice a year for the Mission and Tract Work of the Church.

☞ Notes for the Endowment Fund can be had by writing to the Secretary of either Work.

"YE CAN NOT SERVE GOD AND MAMMON." Luke 16: 13.

BY S. N. M'CANN.

System in Giving.

WITHOUT some system in doing any work that work must, of necessity, be more or less hindered. God is a God of order and all of his works show system in their onward progress. We have some system in regard to the assembling of ourselves together, else we would soon neglect that duty and privilege. We have a system in regard to the keeping of the ordinances of God's house, else they would soon be dropped. We have a system about our secular affairs, else they are soon marked with failure. Why should we not have system in regard to the duty that keeps down the danger of trust in riches, wards off the sin, covetousness, prospers the church, makes the poor happy, and blesses the one who systematizes his work?

Spasmodic action in anything soon dies out. What we ought to have in this work is a conscientious conviction of the duty, a confiding trust in the promise, and a willing sacrifice of the means, time and talent to the work.

In order to do anything by system, there must be a plan adopted, and that plan lived out by the one adopting it. We say that all our goods and our lives are the Lord's, but it is very seldom that he gets even a very small rent for the property that he entrusts to us, if we do not consecrate, by some plan, a part to his work. Individuals may reach the same end by different plans, but they are not apt to reach it without some plan. Paul's proposed plan to the church of Corinth is a very commendable one to us, and if we will adopt it, we will have but little trouble on this subject. "TO LAY BY IN STORE upon the FIRST DAY of the WEEK, as God hath PROSPERED" (1 Cor. 16: 2), would make a live church with a full treasury.

This plan sets forth the necessity of a home treasury for the Lord. The necessity of putting something into that treasury every week is obvious. The amount put into it is to be governed by our prosperity. Without a treasury for the Lord we are not apt to lay by anything for him, and when we do consecrate something to him, we are apt to use it without replacing it, but if we have a store or treasury, we will no more break into it and appropriate the means given to God, than we would our neighbor's goods. We give to the Lord when we lay by a portion, and we soon learn to love the Lord's treasury, because we can see the little mites going out to accomplish his great work. Laying by every week soon cultivates the habit of consecrating at least a little to the Lord. This will give us more strength, and we will find it easier to give for any special work that may make a demand upon us, than if we had not laid by every week something for the Lord. We may feel, at first, that our prosperity is but little, but, by waiting upon the Lord, our strength is renewed, and we will soon be willing to lay by more than when we first commenced the Lord's work. It is just like dying to sin, every day we die, but each sin conquered quickens our spiritual vision, and thus we go on dying daily.

"Lay by upon the first day of the week as God hath PROSPERED, not grudgingly, or of necessity; for God loveth a cheerful giver." Don't give of necessity, or because you are commanded to give, but give freely and give willingly upon the first day of the week, as the Lord hath prospered you. Don't give of necessity, or because the church compels you to do so, but give of your own free will that you may be blessed.

I know members who have adopted the plan of laying by every week something for the Lord, and I know of none who are satisfied to lay by less than one-tenth, when they once commence the work. They give one-tenth, not of their surplus, but of their living. I know one devoted family, living on rented property, who give out of their daily labor one dollar each week to the Lord's treasury, whether the tenth of their income amounts to that or not, and if the tenth amounts to more, they give more. I need not tell you that this family is full of love to the Lord, to his cause, and to one another.

To give as the Lord hath prospered, does not say how much, but it surely ought not to be less than the tenth, because under the law the tenth was required of every one, and the house of Levi was to give their lives,—a living sacrifice,—receiving the tithes from the other tribes for their maintenance, but in turn sacrificing the tenth of the tithes to the Lord. Numbers 18: 26. Christ is our great HIGH-PRIEST, and all his children are as was the house of Levi, consecrated to the Lord, their "bodies a living sacrifice," yet consecrating a part of their living to the Lord.

If we would, as a church, consecrate a tenth of all our income even of all our living, to God's cause, there would be much accomplished for God that can not be done, while we remain passive to the great commission of Christ. If all would adopt the plan of giving something each week to the Lord, if but the widow's mite, there would be much accomplished.

The plan of laying by something each week has the advantage of keeping the Lord's work constantly before us; but the same end might be gained by marking out a part of our gardens, of our orchards, of our grain fields, or a part of our stock for the Lord. Then raise, harvest and sell the Lord's, and put it into his treasury. But, as we are stewards, it is better to give him a part of all our increase.

We, as ministers, sometimes feel that we ought not to give of our means, because we give our time to the Lord. I believe that we can not afford the spiritual loss that we must sustain by not giving of our means to the Lord,—loss to ourselves by failing to use this means of grace, neither are we prepared to brave the dangers that are locked out of our hearts by systematic giving. Avarice, covetousness, and a trust in riches, are forever barred out by a Gospel system in giving.

By God's help I hope to be able to consecrate the tenth of all my income to his work,—let it be much or little. I hope it may be his, aside from whatever sacrifice I may make in preaching the Gospel to the lost and ruined world.

DRY BONES.

BY W. D. ATKINSON.

"And he said unto me, Son of Man, can these bones live? And I answered, O Lord God, thou knowest."—Ez. 37: 3

WITH God all things are possible, and with an implicit faith in him the prophet Ezekiel answered in the words of our text 'Tis true, the winds and sun had bleached them, but we are told that bone went to bone, sinew to sinew, and a mighty host was resurrected.

Brethren and sisters of the great commonwealth of God, let us see if we cannot get something out of the text that will benefit us and add to God's glory and the bettering of mankind in general.

Did we ever consider that there is a tendency within us to dry up and become only skeletons in the cause of Christ, and, like those mentioned in God's Word,—become very dry?

Let us look around us and see nature as it is. See the tree with its magnificent foliage, breathe the perfume-laden air, scented by a thousand beautiful flowers, and then look back to the time when the tree was a sapling, and the flower only a seed. From their growth and advancement we can learn that principle of Divine Truth, which says we should leave the first principles and "go on to perfection." Yes, if God arrayed in such beautiful garments the things of life, which man is heir to, how much more has he done for us whom he hath chosen and redeemed by his life, and indescribable suffering on Calvary? Man changes, nature changes, but God never changes, neither does his Word. If he tells us to go on and press forward toward the mark and the prize of our high calling, and we persist in just staying where we began, then there is no wonder we become dry and withered,—only cumberers of the ground.

A child of God is a prince. His domain is the universe,—his wealth is fabulous. He may not possess a cent of earth's currency, but he is permitted to draw on the bank of heaven, whose treasures can never be rusted, nor eaten by moths. O such riches! Brother, let your soul leap in ecstasies and, sister, let gratitude fill your heart, for all things are yours! He has promised to "withhold no good thing from them that walk uprightly."

Have you been a Christian for a number of years, and to-day are not nearer to heaven than the first day of your spiritual birth? Do you feel no new joys of God's love towards you? Then something is wrong, and materially wrong, too. Take, for instance, the babe that is sent to gladden the homes of earth. If it should remain always a babe, what a terrible calamity it would be considered by all who would come to sympathize with the afflicted parents! How much more terrible is the dwarfed Christian who, year after year, instead of growing and expanding, only shrinks, and ultimately becomes like the subject of our text.

How does this "drying up" come upon us?—we may ask. What are its symptoms?—we may inquire. Is it a malady that may be avoided? We answer, It comes upon us in many forms, but may be resisted. We may escape the hydra-headed monster if we only choose to do so. It comes upon us in the forms of superstition, ignorance, carelessness, and in a host of other forms, but if we only buckle around us the armor of righteousness, we have nothing to fear.

Ignorance is a fatal germ. We might know a great deal more about ourselves and of our duties, if we were more disposed to seek after knowledge. Let us take the Book of books as our telescope, in order to bring divine things into our immediate presence. Let us search diligently the entire Word, not resting content with a few cant phrases that suit our taste pretty well, and hit somebody else, but let us become as familiar with the Word as a sailor must be with his chart, in order to steer his ship aright. We need not be ignorant. Even the little birds which sing so sweetly, tell us of God's love to man, and nature is replete with voices, wooing us to look through nature to nature's God. If all of God's animate world can be so happy, we ought to be evermore rejoicing, because we belong to the flock of Christ, and that we are his lambs. Let not prejudice destroy or wither us. Let us look forward with charity, and let us not think that we are better than thousand others. We should not be careless, for our heritage needs guarding. Let us watch and pray that we enter not into temptation. If we do these things, God will not let the destroying angel come near our dwelling.

To grow we must be cheerful. It is a mistake to think that piety is the deepest when the face is the longest. No, God never made anything sad; neither should we be sad. We are heirs and joint-heirs with Christ. Why be sad? It is impossible that we can be made better by trying to look as though some one had a mortgage on our religion. We are told that Christ never smiled. I don't believe it. I think the sweetness of his countenance was an evidence of beauty, and a placid, heavenly radiance was ever on his face. So let us have a godly smile, a pious joyful countenance, and a soul free from gloom. Instead of being dry bones, let us prove to be living sons and daughters of a King whose delight is with the children of the church militant, as well as of the church triumphant. Yes, let us cultivate a cheerful look, and it will give to religion a prestige, which otherwise we destroy. Let us speak gently to the erring one, and go forth with a glad heart on the errand of doing something for him who gave his life for us.

Do not let us be afraid that a smile will ruin us spiritually, or make us any less Christ-like. Sorrows will come, 'tis true, but we need not court them. Let us wait until they appear, before we feel their weight, and then they will only act as a veil between us and things eternal, so that gradually we shall be strong enough to see, unveiled, the glorious things laid up for those who love his appearing. O, what a grand thing Christianity is! What a joyous thought that after death we may be resurrected to joys above, if we only remain faithful. Let us wait until death escorts our souls to the beyond, and our friends gather around our lifeless clay to perform life's last service, before we become dry bones.

The grave will give us opportunity to rest, but so long as we are living let us seek our sphere, and then fill it. If we do what we find to do, we shall have enough work to keep our souls bright, and our lives will approach that ideality so much coveted and so seldom gained. Instead of going around with a look of sadness on our faces, we will enjoy life abundantly.

No, we have no room in the church for dry bones, but we have room for live, energetic whole-souled brethren and sisters, who want to make life grander, nobler and better, and who are in earnest, seeking the outcast, encouraging him to come to the fountain and become washed, and join the great host innumerable. Then, and only then, are we freed from the stigma of being only cumberers of the ground, and we shall find, as did Ezekiel, that the breath which entered the bones in the valley hath also entered us and we, too, have risen to our feet, ready to do our Master's bidding!

HELP IN TIME OF NEED.

BY GEO. L. JENNINGS.

THERE are certain periods in human experience when help is most needed, and most welcome. There are times when pecuniary help bridges over some dark chasm of misfortune and poverty, or of bankruptcy and financial ruin. There are times of physical weakness, when a little assistance will enable us to turn a dangerous corner, and enable us to take the high road to health. A lack of that assistance in time of need, might cost health and life itself.

There are times of mental and spiritual need, when misfortunes, and sorrow, and sin have weighed down the soul, when persons seem forsaken of God and man, when they need, oh, so much, a helping hand stretched out to them. Just at that point the erring may be won, the wanderer brought home, the broken heart bound up, and the soul that trembles on the verge of ruin, turned from the ways of darkness to the paths of peace. How important that Christians be watchful in such times of need! Around us may be breaking hearts. We must find them and pour balm upon them. Around us may be sliding feet. We must stretch out our hands and save them ere they be utterly gone. Around us may be those who have fallen, and who, unaided, may never rise. Our words of kindness, our looks of love, our timely help, may bring them up again and lead them in the paths of safety and blessing.

But how often we allow precious opportunities to escape us, and mourn at last over the sad consequences of our neglect! Thanks be to God, there is one Eye that never sleeps; there is one Hand that is ever stretched out; there is one Helper who is never beyond our cry. We may seek his aid, and we shall find in him a present help in time of trouble. "Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need."

Middletown, Ind.

THE CROSS.

BY THURSTON MILLER.

"No cross, no crown," is an oft-repeated adage, and has no doubt many times been heard with awful distinctness, by many earnest seekers. Thousands join the church with the very laudable object of securing for themselves a bright crown of unfading beauty in the glory world. They think, and rightly too, that it depends upon their bearing the cross. But "what is this cross that I must bear?" "Where shall I find it?" "And how shall I know it?" These are the perplexing questions sometimes suggested to their minds.

To those who may be interested in the question of cross-bearing,—and all should be,—I would say, that I believe that, when the prerequisites are faithfully observed, the cross will generally, if not always, discover itself without much searching. A proper initiation into the church having been secured, places the convert at once upon favorable ground, and with the deeply interested the work begins immediately.

This work is simply self-denial. Jesus says: "He that would be my disciple, let him deny himself, take up his cross and follow me daily."

Self-denial consists in refraining from that which pleases. Cross-bearing is doing or suffering that which is naturally unpleasant.

The cross takes the place of the tempting pleasure, and almost invariably suggests itself. To illustrate: Before joining the church we love the company of careless non-professors, but now to seek such company for self-gratification is inconsistent with our resolve to "forsake the kingdom of Satan." So we deny self of that pleasure, and find the cross in mingling with God's people. We have loved song; but it was the song of levity. Self is denied and the cross of singing the songs of Zion takes the place of the former pleasure. We have loved to congregate in halls of mirth and revelry to "trip the light fantastic toe," to the sound of exhilarating dance music, but that pleasure, so bewitchingly dear, must be denied. The cross here consists in gathering with God's children in his sanctuary, and with them kneel at the throne of grace. We have loved the gay attire of the proud sinner, and ungodly scoffer. But self must be denied here again. For the sisters, ruffles, bustles, bangs, braided hair, gold, pearls, and costly array must all go, and in their stead there must be modest apparel, with sobriety and shamefacedness. The brethren's "jockey" hats, "dandy" coats, fashionable cuffs and ornamental cuff-buttons, gold bosom-studs must also go; and the modest and unassuming attire of men "professing godliness" adopted instead.

"But all this must constitute a very heavy cross indeed," says the world-loving person. "Surely, the life of a Christian is a continual burden." O no, there is a glory in this that you have not dreamed of. The glory of knowing that God approves, and that a crown is in store, to be worn in that "new, bright world." When we have fully assumed the yoke of Jesus, all burdens become light and easy. Do we hope for a crown? It is obtained by the way of the cross. Come, fellow-pilgrim, let us pass that way.

May the guiding spirit of our dear Heavenly Father lead us all safely along that road, and none be disappointed, is my prayer.

TO THOSE WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.

BY FLORIDA ETTER.

My Friends:—

I KNOW there are some of you who are greatly concerned about your spiritual welfare,—indeed we should all be so! You are earnestly searching the Holy Scriptures in order to find out what God will have you do. I feel very much interested in this subject, and feel like saying something that may encourage you in your feeble efforts and earnest desires.

If you are diligently seeking after the Truth, and are desirous of becoming true children of God, he will surely aid you in the work. You must not become discouraged if you meet with opposition, for this is the way of the world. We can not reach heaven on flowery beds of ease. You will meet with many temptations. You will be mocked and scorned by your associates, and perhaps they may cast you out of their society, "but whosoever is a friend to the world is at enmity with God." Is not the friendship of God much better than that of the world?

Do not risk the salvation of your precious soul to gain favor with the wicked world. It will render you no service at the great day of judgment, when all will be called to give an account of the deeds done in the body. You are not responsible for the sins of others, but each individual will have to give an account of his own sins. Please remember this, my friends, and don't let the world laugh down your convictions. Be firm and steadfast in your faith, and let the friends who reject you, see that you care more for God and the salvation of your souls, than for their friendship. God will permit you to pass through the fiery furnace of affliction to test your faith. God will give you grace sufficient to bear these trials, and will help you to overcome them. Be patient and faithful,—all are for your spiritual good. Do not become discouraged and think you can not be pardoned, but go on with the battle and be valiant soldiers of the cross, until you conquer. God is willing to aid you, and he will carry you through. God's blessed Word contains many precious promises that will encourage you on your pilgrimage.

Do not procrastinate! It is very dangerous. When once you are fully convinced of your sins, the time is at hand to begin the work for Christ. "Now is the accepted time; now is the day of salvation." The spirit of God will not strive always, and the older you get, the farther you get from Christ.

Do not wait for another time, thinking your comrades will be better pleased. If we fear the world more than God, we have not the love of Christ shed abroad in our hearts. If you love the sinful world better than dear Jesus, I am sorry for your future welfare.

Dear friends, if you want to be Christians, be true, stand firm, and obey the whole Gospel, and not only a fourth or half of it. Take all as it comes! Be faithful! There shall be laid up for you a crown of righteousness that never fadeth away. All shall be well with you by and by.

Let your wicked associates see your good works, and it may have a tendency to win them to Christ. Let your influence be for good, and exert all the power you can in that direction. My prayer is that these few words may have a tendency for your spiritual good, and that you may be willing to sacrifice all for Christ!

Notes from our Correspondents.

"As cold water to a thirsty soul, so is good news from a far country."

—Bro. William Borough, of South Bend, Indiana, writes: "Another one of our church councils is past, and we hope good has been done. A wanderer returned and was reinstated in church fellowship. We also decided to have our next communion September 12, and our next council August 30, at which time our annual visit will be reported and considered, and further arrangements made for the communion."

—Bro. David Shong, Superintendent of the Union Sunday-school of Sherwood, Ohio, sends us a report of that school, from which we glean the following: "The school was organized April 28, 1889. Total number of verses committed to memory by school, 2,077. Average attendance, 37. We had a children's meeting July 14, at which there was an attendance of about 300. The exercises were continued for about two and one-half hours, and consisted of declamations, orations, songs, etc."

—Under date of July 9, sister Emma J. Fitzgerald, of St. Joseph, Mo., writes: "We live isolated from the church, the nearest member living at a distance of about twenty-five miles. When our little Maudie died, we could not get any of the brethren to preach the funeral, and we are still waiting to have some one come and do so. We would be very thankful if some of our ministering brethren, traveling through this section of country, could stop with us and give us a few meetings. We have heard but three sermons since last September, and are getting very anxious to have a taste again of the heavenly Manna. Brethren, remember us!"

—Under date of July 9, sister Jessie Powell, of the Fairview congregation, Labette Co., Kansas, writes: "The funeral of my mother (Charity Powell), was preached at Montana, by Bro. Trapp, of Altamont, to a large and attentive congregation. Upon this occasion sister Willa and I came out on the Lord's side and said we were tired of living in sin. We were buried with Christ in baptism, to rise and walk in newness of life. Oh, may we be ready when the Lord comes to take us home, and may we so live as to meet father and mother in that Holy City to separate nevermore!"

—Under date of July 14, Bro. J. H. Miller, of Milford, Indiana, writes: "The love-feast in the Yellow River Church was held June 11. There was an abundance of ministerial help, and the largest representation of members I ever saw at that place. The house was well filled, leaving but little room for spectators. It seems that the Brethren can not build their meeting-houses large enough to accommodate all. Bro. Amos Peters, of La Paz, Indiana, held a series of meetings at that place last winter, and some young lambs were brought into the church. May the Lord bless the work at Yellow River."

—Sister Esther Cripe, of the Walnut Creek church, Missouri, writes: "Our church-house, which was wrecked by the storm in June has been repaired, and on last Sunday, July 7, we held our regular meeting in the house for the first time since the storm. We feel very grateful to our dear brethren, sisters, and others who so liberally assisted us in repairing our church-house. Last Sunday one dear sister came out on the Lord's side and was baptized, we trust, to walk in newness of life. Our Sunday-school is progressing nicely, with an average attendance of forty-four. We trust it may be the means of doing much good and bringing souls to Christ. Brethren and sisters, pray for us that we may become as shining lights to the world, and continue faithful until death."

—From Mingona, Kans., Bro. Emmanuel Smith writes: "Our regular quarterly council passed off with brotherly love abounding. Two were received by letter. One poor soul requested to be released from church-fellowship and, with sad hearts, the request was granted. May he see his misstep and yet turn as the prodigal,—'Father I have sinned against heaven and in thy sight, and am no more worthy to be called thy son.' We appointed October 5 and 6 for our love-feast, to be held in Mingona, Barber Co., Kansas. We would be glad to have a general turn-out,—especially of ministering brethren. Our small-grain harvest is past, and the busy thresher is doing his work. We are having plenty of rain and a splendid show for fall crops, corn, etc. There will be an average crop of fruits."

CORRESPONDENCE

"Write what thou seest, and send it unto the churches."

☞Church News solicited for this Department. If you have had a good meeting, send a report of it, so that others may rejoice with you. In writing give name of church, county and State. Be brief! Notes of Travel should be as short as possible. Land Advertisements are not solicited for this Department. We have an advertising page, and, if necessary, will issue supplements.

From River, Indiana.

AT the request of some of the members in Northern Illinois, I write the following:

Last week my health was very poor. I had to spend a good part of my time in bed, but I am now better again and able to attend to my duties. My wife, also, was suffering from illness for a few days, but is now as well as usual. Several of our brethren and sisters visited us, as soon as they heard of my sickness. For this we thank them very kindly. Then we had one special visitor—the GOSPEL MESSENGER. It is always very welcome, and brings us much good news. The last week's number was especially full of good food for the soul. We call especial attention to Bro. Balsbaugh's letter to a sister. It is worth reading often. We have very many brethren and sisters in the church of the Brethren that ought to read that letter until it is so indelibly printed upon their hearts that it may never be erased.

I am sorry to know that many members mingle so much with the things that belong to the kingdom of this world. Many do not take the GOSPEL MESSENGER, and some that do take it, do not read it. I have asked members, whether they have read a certain article. The reply was, "No; I had not time to read the last number."

Can it be possible that we, who claim to belong to Christ's kingdom, load our tables and stands full of papers, filled with novels and other trash, and give our church paper no room? It seems to me we can tell by the books and papers we read as to where our inclinations run. May we all love God's kingdom above all other kingdoms.

I call attention to I. N. Crosswaite's article in MESSENGER of July 9, page 421. Read it often! God bless all of our brethren who are engaged in giving us such a good paper. SAMUEL MURRAY.

Home Again.

WHEN we speak of being at home again, we thereby convey the idea that we have been away from home for a time, and returned again.

The words of our present selection have been used a great many times since our late Annual Meeting, and a few times in print. The thought of what life is has frequently occurred to the writer, and again it comes up with renewed force since our last Annual Meeting. The greater part of us was there on excursion tickets, and these tickets were limited to a certain number of days. In order to get the benefit of the return part of said ticket, we must use it inside of the limit, otherwise we could not return to our homes without additional cost.

I wonder how many of us realize that we are out on an excursion? We are out on duty for a little while. We have a great work to do, and our ticket is limited. We are not certain how many days or years we may have, but we have one consolation, that if we are on duty promptly every day, we can go home at any time whenever called for. We should not be forgetful that whenever this life is ended, our limit is reached, and if we have not completed our work, we can not then get ready or return.

I thought, too, of the difference there was at the late meeting between those who were deeply interested in the business of the meeting, and those who were not so deeply interested. Those especially who were engaged in the active duties of the meeting, were much the happier of the two classes, when the meeting finally closed. While they showed evidences of fatigue, because of the deep anxiety and arduous labor performed, yet, back of all this, there was nestled away a strong reserve force, which only came fully to the surface after all was over, and the work of the meeting had been committed to the Lord, and his blessing prayed upon it. Those who were engaged in its active duties were on their homeward march. They had done their work, and were returning home while their tickets were yet good.

Another feature of the meeting was very perceptible, and that was the social phase of things. While those who were not particularly engaged in the work of the meeting had a very good time, yet the social features of the meeting began to lag with them much sooner than with those who carried the burden of the business of the meeting. The social meetings and greetings were fresh to them at the close of each session of business, hence our conclusion of the whole matter is, that those who felt the deepest interest in the Master's work, left the place of the meeting with better feelings than those who were little concerned for the actual business of our Annual Meeting, and, as far as I now know, all the brethren and sisters, who attended the late meeting and wished to return soon, can now say, "Home again."

Will we all reach our heavenly home safely? Yes, if we obey Jesus.

We are called upon very often to answer the following question: "Will we recognize each other in heaven." At this time I have this to say. Suppose we all try our hand on a smaller scale. Let us see if we can all recognize each other at our next Annual Meeting, so that no one need to ask whether we belong to the church or not? If we can make a success of that, then we will be well on the way to answer the other. "By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another." John 13: 35. Let us all resolve to love one another more, love the church more, love God more. For we all hope, finally, to say, "Home at last." "Home, sweet home!"

A. HUTCHISON.

Report of Bible School for Quarter Ending June 30.

RECEIPTS.

Balance in bank of quarter ending March 31, 1889,	$24 13
Interest and dividend,	2 55
Covington Sunday-school and church, Ohio, per G. L. Shoemaker,	16 03
A brother, Flint, Ind.,	1 00
A brother, Flint, Ind.,	1 00
North Manchester Sunday-school, Ind.,	5 50
A sister, Russelville, Ind.,	5 00
Ella Williams, Funkstown, Md.,	1 00
Sarah Rittenhouse, Easton, Md.,	1 15
Elizabeth Roop, Linwood, Md.,	5 00
Clara Englar, Wakefield, Md.,	1 00
A sister, New Windsor, Md.,	1 00
I. O. Thompson, Elkins, Md.,	25
L. B Bigman, Mountain Lake Park, Md.,	15
W B Stones, Oakland, Md.,	25
Sarah Gnagy, California,	5 00
A sister, Lanark, Ill, per D. L. Miller,	2 50
Susan Lahman, Franklin Grove, Ill.,	2 00
Amanda Harley, Harleysville, Pa.,	2 00
Hiram Musselman, Scalp Level, Pa.,	1 00
Jacob Harley, Quakertown, Pa.,	1 00
State Center Sunday-school, Iowa, per I. C. Seibert,	4 00
I. B. Miller, Moore's Store, Va.,	50
A brother, Harrisonburgh, Va.,	25
Franklin Nine, West Virginia,	20
Total,	$83 46

EXPENDITURES.

60 Quarterlies,	$ 2 40
Minister's car-fare,	2 00
Advertising,	6 88
Towards a boy's funeral expenses,	3 00
Time lost in the interest of school,	2 30
Rent,	21 00
Stationery, postage, etc.,	50
Janitor,	75
Clothing,	6 25
Labor,	2 00
Taking girls and boys to love-feast at Linwood,	17 55
Report of Annual Meeting,	25
500 tracts,	4 50
Revised Minutes,	1 50
Brethren's Publishing Company,	2 50
Hymn books, etc.,	95
C. C. Ellis, fare from Huntingdon, Pa.,	4 02
C. C. Ellis for books,	1 44
Fuel and light,	25
Car-fare, etc.,	2 11
Total,	$82 15
Balance from quarter ending March 31,	$24 13
Receipts,	59 33
Total,	$83 46
Expenditures,	82 15
Balance in Bank,	$ 1 31

JAMES T. QUINLAN.

1926 Light St., Baltimore, Md.

From the Mahoning Church, Ohio.

THIS church used to be the home of our esteemed and worthy Eld. Henry Kurtz. Here he labored many years, preaching, and publishing the GOSPEL VISITOR. Here also labored our worthy brethren Quinter, Hoke, and others, who, with Bro. H. Kurtz, have gone to the home beyond. They rest from their labors, and their works do follow them.

The work of the Lord is going on. As we try to fill their places, we realize that our work in the Lord is not in vain. These brethren labored faithfully in their time, and the church, organized by them, is moving onward in the glorious work, — the salvation of precious souls!

Jacob (son of Henry) is their elder. He is assisted by Jonas Hoke. Neither of them being an able-bodied man, and the church scattered, they need help in the ministry. We have been invited, frequently, to assist them, especially during the last year. Of late we have labored for them every five weeks, remaining over Sunday! The Lord has abundantly blessed our labor. Nine precious souls have been received into the church. We had the satisfaction, during our last two visits, to see most of them engaged in active Sunday-school work, such as superintending and teaching. They have two flourishing Sunday-schools, and are active and alive to church work.

In our next visit we are requested to hold services in a new place, where an effort is being made by the citizens to build a union house. All denominations are invited to take part. Truly the harvest is great but the laborers are few, etc. Let us work while it is called to-day, for the night cometh when no man can work. We will then have all eternity to rest in!

JOHN F. KAHLER.

From Charleston, West Virginia.

THE little band of members at this place is without a preacher, but, thanks be to God, some of the brethren come to us occasionally and give to us the Word of Truth. Bro. Landon West stopped a few days with us on his return from Virginia, and held forth the Word of God to saint and sinner. One sister confessed her faith in God, and was buried in baptism unto repentance. We have a flourishing Sunday-school here, with a regular attendance of about twenty-three scholars. The meeting-house which is being erected here by Bro. Allen Haws, is progressing nicely. Bro. Haws thinks it will be ready for meeting September 1. He requests us to return thanks to a sister in Maryland for the contribution of $2.00 to the building fund of the church. We ask each and every one to remember us in their prayers!

O. J. BURKHOLDER.

"IF our faith has not for its basis the witness of God, to which we must submit as to an authority outside of, superior to, and independent of, our personal judgment, then that faith is no faith."

From Baltimore, Maryland.

THE following query and its answer passed our District Meeting, April 23:

Inasmuch as the churches of the Eastern District of Maryland have more territory outside of Baltimore City than they can occupy, will not this District Meeting grant the Missionary Board of the General Brotherhood the privilege to do what they can, or feel like doing, for Baltimore City? Ans. — Granted.

As this season of the year seems to be the devil's harvest, especially in large cities, we should "be instant in season and out of season." To employ some of our time, we went to Locust Point last Lord's Day, June 30, and distributed quite a lot of old Primitive Christians, Brethren at Work, and GOSPEL MESSENGERS. We went aboard three large English vessels, viz, steamships "St. Bernard," "Servia," "Buenos Ayrean." To the captain of the latter vessel I gave a copy of the Brethren at Work of January 1, 1877, containing the "History of our Church." The Captain became very much interested in it.

We went aboard an American vessel from Maine, and found three sailors engaged in playing cards. I told them that would not take them to Heaven, and that it was not profitable. They said, "We mean no harm; we are only playing for pastime." I left them quite a lot of papers that they might spend their time to a better advantage. These men wanted to know where our meeting-house is located. They thought they would go. I was sorry to tell them that we only had preaching once a month. Our next appointment will find them in Maine.

I pray that the papers we distributed may be seed sown in good ground, and bring forth abundant harvest. We have several dry goods boxes full of old papers, but can use all that are sent us, Please pay expressage when sending papers or tracts, as we are out of funds.

There is a great demand for German tracts and papers. Aboard one of the English vessels there was a German sailor, who wanted German reading matter. He agreed to distribute some English papers among the sailors on board. On the afternoon of July 4 I distributed about one hundred MESSENGERS, Primitive Christians, and Brethren at Work aboard fourteen vessels in port. Some of the officers of these vessels became very much interested, and talked about the church and the doctrine. One was taken with the words "Primitive Christians." He said "Is that the name of your church? That is what I am looking for." He was quite an intelligent man, and seemed to be in earnest. I came home and got some tracts, and the history of the church for him. Another captain said, "You don't treat us as good as they do in England. They leave a bagful, then we have reading matter for a whole year." I said, it would be a small matter to leave a bagful, if I could get them there, or if I thought they would read them.

I wish that some of our Brethren would send us through our tract house, some of Bro. Carpenter's tracts,—"Which is the Right Church?"—also Bro. D. Vaniman's, "The House We Live in," in the German language. We can also use tracts in the Danish and Norwegian languages, as vessels of all nations visit our port.

This work counts. Some years ago, before I united with the Brethren, I did some work at my own expense in having tracts printed and distributed. I have sent tracts all over the world, and they have, no doubt, resulted in changing men's lives and dispositions.

JAMES T. QUINLAN.

1926 Light Street.

"LET nothing be undone which ought to be done."

From Ephrata Congregation, Pa.

JUNE 7 the younger members of our church organized a Sunday-school in the West Ephrata school building, and elected Bro. Samuel W. Kulp, Superintendent. He is assisted by Bro. Levi Keller and an able corps of officers.

The Sunday-school opened with the names of fifty-five scholars on the roll, and the number increased at each meeting until it now numbers nearly ninety regular attendants. The school is meeting with marked success, and as it has the good-will and influence of the members of our church in general, it will, no doubt, meet with abundant success. Not only is it patronized by the children of our own people, but by many whose parents belong to different churches, and, in not a few cases, to no church at all.

I wish God's blessing upon our Sunday-school, its Superintendent, officers and teachers, so that they might prosper in the good work, lately undertaken, in the fear of the Lord. I would also pray that every member of our church could fully appreciate the urgent necessity of establishing Sunday-schools everywhere, under the care of the church, so that by them, and their work, our church would in itself grow stronger and larger.

The school building in which the Sunday-school was organized, is now found to be too small and inconvenient. There is a strong sentiment here in favor of a new meeting-house, as we have none nearer than Mohler's and the "Brick"—both about a mile and a half from town. I hope that efforts will be made to build the house. There are many members of our church living in town, and there is a wide field for active laborers in the Lord's vineyard.

J. B. KELLER.

From Greene, Iowa.

WIFE and I had the pleasure of being with the Franklin County Brethren June 22 and 23, where, according to previous appointment, a goodly number of brethren and sisters had met to hold a Communion meeting. The meeting was held in Bro. Joseph Hanawalt's barn. We had a very enjoyable time. The Spirit of Christ seemed to be present with us, and it was really a feast of love, and an enjoyable time for the children of Christ who were present.

On the afternoon of the 22nd, three precious souls who had become tired of sin came out on the Lord's side, and went down into the liquid stream, and were baptized. Would to God many more would turn from the error of their way and come to Christ while the door of mercy is open. Our Sunday-school and prayer-meetings are still prospering.

We expect to have a Communion meeting here, in the Greene church, Sept. 7 and 8, and the brethren and sisters are cordially invited to attend.

A. S. SHOOK.

"THE Bible from first to last insists upon personal righteousness. Common life, or society, teaches us also that a salvation that did not insist upon every virtue would be the destruction of society in all its interests. If heaven could be sustained and peopled by faith without good works, earth at least could not."

"Read the Bible when you are fresh and wide awake; when the brain is clear, and you are not pressed for time. Read it as the only book on earth that has dropped down from heaven, as your directory for life and your guide to immortality, and it will become a new book to you altogether."

MATRIMONIAL.

"What therefore God hath joined together, let not man put asunder."

CULP—GILBERT.—At Mt. Morris, Ill., May 19, Bro. Chas. E. Culp, of Monticello, Ind., and sister Lottie Gilbert, of Arcanum, Ohio.

HOFF—GOCKLEY.—At the same place, June 18, Bro. Emmanuel Hoff, of Waterloo, Iowa, and sister Anna Gockley, of Illinois.

The MESSENGER family extends to these young people hearty congratulations and many good wishes for their success in life. May God's blessing attend them and may they continue to labor faithfully in his cause.

D. L. M.

BAUMGARDNER—STITZEL.—At the residence of the bride's parents, June 6, Mr. Daniel E. Baumgardner and Miss Lonie Stitzel, all of Lanark, Ill. Ceremony by S. J. Harrison.

FALLEN ASLEEP

"Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord."

SEESE.—In the Markleysburg congregation, Fayette Co., Pa, infant daughter of Jonas W. and Elvina Seese, aged 4 years, 9 months and 16 days. Funeral services by Eld. John H. Myers. M. N. THOMAS.

BRUBAKER.—In Bachelor Run church, Ind., May 24, Joseph M. Brubaker, son of Abraham and Elizabeth Brubaker, aged 19 years, 9 months and 11 days.

The above-named was the youngest child of the family. His death was sudden, as he was confined to his bed but a few hours. He was a model young man, both intellectually and morally. Though he had not yet identified himself with any church, yet he was social and kind. He was reared under the influence of Christian parents, both consistent members of the Brethren.

This incident is but another example of the brevity of life and the certainty of death and should point us to the Lamb of God that we may crave his blessings and confide in his promises, for we know not what hour death may meet us. R. MONTGOMERY.

HEFLEBOWER.—At the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. Igou, near Urbana, O., May 20, sister Hannah Heflebower, aged 83 years, 11 months and 25 days.

Hannah Slifer was born in Frederick Co, Md., May 26, 1805. March 11, 1824, she was married to Abram Heflebower, of Jefferson Co., Va., where they lived till 1831, when they removed to Montgomery Co., O., and two years later to Champaign County. Here they located permanently at Pretty Prairie, five miles south-east of Urbana. Here she lived the rest of her days. Ten children blessed their union, seven of whom preceded her to the spirit world. April 27, 1878, her dear husband also crossed to the evergreen shore, leaving her with two daughters and one son, who survives her.

In 1831 she, with her husband, united with the Brethren church, and, although isolated from the church of her faith, yet, for fifty-eight years, in all godliness and honesty, she lived an earnest, devoted, Christian life. She was in very truth a mother in Israel, endearing herself to people of all churches by her humble walk and exalted Christian character. She bore all her pain and sorrow in a spirit of patient endurance that was touching to witness. She loved to be with the children of God, and longed, in her latter years, to go home to meet her loved ones, and to join in the song of the redeemed in the home above. The writer was the only one of her faith present when she was laid to rest. M. E. S.

BLOUGH.—Near Berlin, Pa, July 7, sister Magdalene Blough, wife of Bro. Christian Blough, aged 66 years, 6 months and 22 days.

Sister Blough was permitted to attend our love-feast but a few weeks ago. She was a consistent member of the church and leaves a kind husband, two children, and many friends, to mourn their loss. Funeral services by Bro. Daniel H. Walker and the writer from Job 14: 10. W. G. SCHROCK.

RIBBLE.—In the bounds of the Saline Valley church, Ottawa County, Kans., July 8, son of friend John and Emma Ribble, aged 7 years and 13 days.

Deceased was born in Lee Co, Ill. The funeral services were conducted by the writer from Matt. 19: 14.

OAKMAN.—In the same church, July 13, Irene Bernice Oakman, daughter of Ida May and friend George Oakman, and grandchild of brother and sister Wain Thomas, aged 1 year, 8 months and 21 days. Funeral services by the writer from Mark 10: 16. HUMPHREY TALBI. M.

POWELL.—In the Fairview church, Labette Co., Kansas, Nov. 18, 1888, sister Charity Powell, daughter of Michael Lyon, aged 56 years, 11 months and 16 days.

She was a faithful and consistent mother in the church,—always ready to do all in her power for the cause of Christ. Services by the writer at the Presbyterian church-house in Montana, Labette Co., Kans, to a very large, sympathizing and attentive congregation, from John 19: 27.

BRADFORD.—At the same place, Dec. 2, H. Morton Bradford, infant son of Bro. O. M. and sister C. Bradford, aged 2 weeks and 4 days.

SUDDUTH.—In Altamont, Labette Co., Kans, June 26, Benjamin Franklin Sudduth, son of James and Lucinda Sudduth, aged 14 years, 4 months and 7 days.

Services by the writer at the Baptist church house from Heb. 9: 27, to an appreciative audience.

EIKENBERRY.—At the same place, Louisa Catharine, infant daughter of Bro. J. W. and sister A. L. Eikenberry. Services by the writer, assisted by Eld. C. H. Kingery from Matt. 18: 3.

NICHOLAS TRAPP.

KEMPER.—In the Middle Fork church, Clinton Co., Ind, July 5, sister Sophia, wife of Bro. Samuel Kemper, aged 42 years, 11 months and 21 days.

She was the mother of twelve children, of whom eight are living. Funeral services in the Pleasant View church by brethren Michael Flory and John W. Metzger, from 2 Sam. 14: 14, to a large congregation.

JOHN E. METZGER.

HOOVER.—In the bounds of the Buck Creek church, June 28, Bro. John Hoover, aged 73 years, 8 months and 18 days.

Deceased was born at Dayton, Ohio, Oct. 10, 1815, and came to Wayne County, Ind., with his parents when quite young. He leaves an aged wife, and children, to mourn their loss. His health has been failing for several years, but he was confined to his bed only a few days before his death. He bore his afflictions with Christian fortitude and was willing to go and be at rest. His family were all present at his bedside in his closing hours, except one daughter,—Mrs. West. Funeral services conducted by Lewis Kinsey, assisted by the writer, from Rev. 14: 13.

ABRAHAM BOWMAN.

NEFF.—In the Roann church, Wabash Co., Indiana, July 10, Frank Rosco, son of Bro. Henry and sister Carrie Neff, aged 2 years, 3 months and 27 days.

Dear parents, weep not for Frankie. He has only gone before, to live with Jesus. Console yourselves with the blessed thought that you have an angel son in heaven. Be faithful unto God while you live in this world of sorrow, and the day will come when you and Frankie will meet again in that glorious kingdom above. Funeral services by Eld. Jacob Crumrine, assisted by Bro. David Swihart, from Kings 19: 27.

JOSEPH JOHN.

LAHMAN.—At Mt. Vernon, Iowa, Vinna A. Lahman, aged 17 years, 6 months and 23 days.

The circumstances attending the death of Vinna were peculiarly sad. She left her home at Franklin Grove, Ill., to attend school at Mt. Vernon. Here she was stricken with scarlet fever and suffered for three weeks, when death came to her relief. Father, mother, brother and kind friends watched by her bedside and did all in their power to alleviate her suffering. Some time before her last illness she accepted Christ as her Savior, and her last prayers were in behalf of some of her friends who are yet out of the church. Funeral services by the Brethren at Franklin Grove, Sunday, July 7. The large number present on the occasion gave evidence that Vinna, by her quiet, peaceful, unassuming life, had won the love and esteem of all who knew her. D. L. M.

ZUCK.—At Lanark, Ill, July 11, Bro. George Calvin Zuck, aged 26 years, 10 months and 16 days.

The deceased was born in Franklin County, Pa., Aug. 26, 1862, and came to Carroll County, Ill., with his parents in 1881. About three years ago he contracted a severe cold which developed into consumption. About the 20th of November, 1888, he started for McPherson, Kansas, where he remained a month visiting among his friends. From there he went to Pueblo, Colo. After remaining seven months he returned to his home, arriving June 21, having received no benefit, and being somewhat reduced in weight. At this time his parents were visiting their former home in Pennsylvania. They returned about a week later. Thirteen days he was spared to enjoy their society.

On the day of his death he, in company with his parents, was visiting his sister, Mrs. J. S. Hartle. In the evening, as he walked from the house toward the carriage, he took a spell of coughing which resulted in hemorrhage of the lungs. There on the lawn, with a paternal hand for a pillow, he breathed his last.

As a young man among his associates he was held in high esteem.

On his last birthday he united with the Church of the Brethren, since which time he has lived a consistent member and enjoyed his new life.

Now he has laid aside this mortal coil, that he may put on immortality and enjoy his mansion in the kingdom of glory. We need not weep as those who have no hope. Our loss is his eternal gain. He has only paid the debt we all owe. Blessed sleep! Peaceful rest! Anxiety and pain exchanged for eternal felicity. Is not this peaceful slumber worth all it costs of sacrifices in this life?

Funeral services by Bro. S. J. Harrison, Saturday, July 13th, from Matt. 25: 13. "Watch, therefore, for ye know neither the day nor the hour wherein the son of man cometh." The services were largely attended. May we all profit by his example and prepare to meet God in peace!

P. F. ECKERLE.

The "Oxford" Teachers' Reference Bibles.

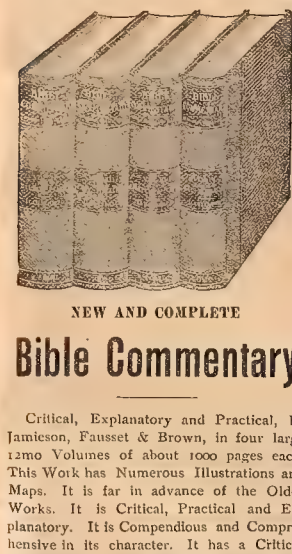
PEARL 16mo.

No. 500. FRENCH MOROCCO, boards $1 40
No. 502. FRENCH SEAL, limp, round corners 1 60
No. 503. FRENCH SEAL, divinity circuit, round corners 1 7
No. 514p.i. PERSIAN SEAL, divinity circuit, silk sewed, leather lined, patent index 4 50

RUBY 16mo.

No. 550. FRENCH MOROCCO, boards..... 2 25
No. 553. FRENCH SEAL, divinity circuit, round corners 2 75
No. 564. PERSIAN SEAL, divinity circuit, silk sewed, leather lined, round corners 4 00
No. 564p i. PERSIAN SEAL, same as No. 564, with patent index..... 5 00
No. 565½. LEVANT, divinity circuit, kid lined, silk sewed, round corners. 5 00

NONPAREIL 8vo.



o. 660. TURKEY MOROCCO, board, gilt roll 4 50
No. 661¼. TURKEY MOROCCO, limp, round corners..... 4 75
No. 664. PERSIAN SEAL, divinity circuit, round corners, leather lined..... 4 50
No. 664p i. PERSIAN SEAL, same as No. 664, with patent index..... 6 00
No. 665¼. LEVANT, divinity circuit, kid lined, silk sewed, round corners..... 6 00

INDIA PAPER EDITION.

No. 661x. PERSIAN SEAL, divinity circuit, silk sewed, round corners, leather lined..... 5 25
No. 661½x. TURKEY MOROCCO, silk sewed, loose limp, round corners..... 5 25
No. 671x BEST LEVANT, divinity circuit, kid lined, silk sewed, red under gold edges, round corners..... 9 00

Address all orders to

BRETHREN'S PUBLISHING CO.,
Or, Huntingdon, Pa. Mount Morris, Ill.

NEW AND COMPLETE

Bible Commentary.

Critical, Explanatory and Practical, by Jamieson, Fausset & Brown, in four large 12mo Volumes of about 1000 pages each. This Work has Numerous Illustrations and Maps. It is far in advance of the Older Works. It is Critical, Practical and Explanatory. It is Compendious and Comprehensive in its character. It has a Critical Introduction to each Book of Scripture, and is by far the most Practical, Suggestive and Popular Work of the kind in the English Language. Price, Cloth, $8.00 post-paid.

BRETHREN'S PUBLISHING CO.,
Or, Huntingdon, Pa. Mt. Morris, Ill.

"LITTLE MISSIONARIES,"—a term applied by some one to our BRETHREN'S ENVELOPES, is well deserved. Price, 15 cents a package; for sale at this office.

A Book for Every Member!

Classified Minutes

—OF—

ANNUAL MEETING.

☞ A full supply of this excellent work still on hand. Every member should have a copy of this work, in order to have a thorough understanding of the deliberations of the Annual Meeting in reference to church government, etc. Price, English Cloth, $1.50, post-paid; leather, $2.00.

☞ A responsible agent wanted in each congregation, to whom terms will be furnished upon application. Address,

BRETHREN'S PUBLISHING CO.,
Or, Huntingdon, Pa. Mount Morris, Ill.

Tract Work.

List of Publications for Sale,—Sent Postage Prepaid.

CLASS A.

No, 1. Golden Gleams or Family Chart, ...85 cts,

CLASS B.

No. 1. Trine Immersion, Quinter, per copy ...$ 1 25
No. 2. Europe and Bible Lands, Miller, per copy,..... 1 50
No. 3. Doctrine of the Brethren Defended, per copy,..... 1 50
No. 4. Classified Minutes—A. M..... 1 50
No. 5. Two Sticks, Eshelman, ... 1 00
No 6 Close Communion, Wesh. per copy..... 40

CLASS C.

No. 1. Annual Report, per copy,.....$ 05
No. 2. Path of Life, per 100, $5.00; per copy, 06
No. 3. How to Become a Child of God, per 100, $4 00; per copy,..... 05
No. 4. Conversion, per 100, $2.50; per copy.... 03
No 5. Water Baptism, per 100, $1.50; per copy 02
No. 6. Single Immersion, per 100, $1.50; per copy,..... 02
No. 7. Sabbatism, per 100, $2.50; per copy,..... 03
No. 8. Discussion on Trine Immersion, per copy,..... 15
No. 9. Sermon on Baptism, per copy,..... 03
No. 10. Glad Tidings of Salvation, per copy... 03
No. 11. Life of Eld. S. Weir (Colored), per copy,..... 03
No. 12. Ten Reasons for Trine Immersion, per 100, $1.50, per copy,..... 02

CLASS D.

No. 1. House We Live In, per 100, ...$ 60
No. 2. Plan of Salvation, per 100,..... 60
No. 3. Come, Let Us Reason Together, per 100 60
No. 4. How Shall I Know that my Sins are Pardoned? per 100,..... 60
No. 5. Intemperance, per 100,..... 60
No. 6. Plain Dressing, per 100,..... 60
No. 7. Which Is the Right Church? per 100... 60
No. 8. House We Live In (Swedish), per 100,.. 60
No. 9. House We Live In (Danish), per 100,.. 60
No. 10. Paul Wetzel's Reasons, Etc., (German), per 100,..... 60
No. 11. Sinner, Stop! per 100,..... 60
No. 13. Faith, per 100,..... 60
No. 13. The Light-House, per 100,..... 60
No. 14. Close Communion, per 100,..... 60
No. 15. The Truth Shall Make You Free, per 100,..... 60
No. 16. Modern Skepticism, per 100,..... 60
No. 17. Infant Baptism Weighed in the Balances and Found Wanting, per 100,..... 60

CLASS E.

No. 1. Pause and Think, per 100,..... 30
No. 2. What Do We Need? per 100,..... 30
No. 3. Right or Wrong Way, per 100,..... 30
No. 4. Why Am I Not a Christian? per 100,.... 30
No. 5. Saving Words, per 100,..... 30
No. 6. Christ and War, per 100,..... 30
No. 7. The Bond of Peace, per 100,..... 30
No. 8. The Kiss of Charity, per 100,..... 30
No. 9. The Evils of Intemperance, per 100,.. 30
No. 10. The Lost Opportunity, per 100,..... 30
No. 11. Are You a Christian? per 100,..... 30
No. 12. Arise, Get Thee Down, per 100,..... 30
No. 13. A Personal Appeal, per 100,..... 30
No. 14. Lying Among the Pots, per 100,..... 30
No. 15. Gold and Costly Array, per 100,..... 30
No. 16. The Brethren's Card, per 100,..... 30

Bibles, Testaments, Hymn Books of all styles, at publishers' lowest retail prices, which will be furnished on application.

Address

Brethren's Book and Tract Work,
DAYTON, OHIO

Church Register.

—:o:—

To those who would wish to collect and to preserve a complete history of their congregation and biography of each of their members, with names, dates of baptism or letter, dates of death or letter, and also dates of election, ordination of all the official members, and all events of importance occurring in each congregation, we would say, buy a copy of the Church Register. Price, containing sample pages and instructions, well bound, and sent by mail, $1.00 per copy. Address this office.

PUBLICATIONS

☞The following books, Sunday-school supplies, etc., are for sale by the Brethren's Publishing Co., Mt. Morris, Ill., or Huntingdon, Pa., to whom all orders should be addressed.

The Brethren's Quarterly.

For Sunday-school teachers and scholars this publication is of the greatest benefit. Look at our prices:

Single subscription, one year .....35 cents.
Single subscription, per quarter.....10 cents.
Three copies, per quarter.....25 cents.
Eight copies, per quarter.....40 cents.
Fifty copies and over.....4 cents each.

• • • Hymn Books • • •

New Tune and Hymn Books.

Half leather, single copy, post-paid .....$ 1 00
Per dozen, by express 10 00
Morocco, single copy, post-paid..... 1 25
Per dozen, by express 12 00
Morocco, gilt edge, per copy..... 1 50

Hymn Books, English.

Morocco, single copy, post-paid.....$ 50
Per dozen, post-paid..... 9 50
Per dozen, by express 9 00
Morocco, gilt edge, post-paid 1 10
Per dozen, post-paid..... 11 75
Per dozen, by express 11 25
Arabesque, single copy, post-paid..... 55
Per dozen, post-paid..... 5 80
Per dozen, by express 5 30
Sheep, single copy, post-paid .....
Per dozen, post-paid.....
Per dozen, by express 5 30
Tuck, single copy, post-paid..... 1 00
Per dozen, post-paid..... 10 00
Per dozen, by express 9 50
Fine Limp, post-paid..... 1 00
Per dozen, post-paid 10 00
Fine Limp, single copy, gilt edge, post-paid 1 20
Fine Limp, gilt edge, per dozen..... 13 00
German and English, per copy, ... 90
" " " per dozen; mail, $9.50; express 9 00

The Young Disciple.

The YOUNG DISCIPLE is a neatly printed weekly, published especially for the moral benefit and religious instruction of our young folks.

Single copy, one year.....$ 50
Six copies (the sixth to the agent)..... 2 50
Ten copies..... 4 00

For Three Months or Thirteen Weeks.

20 copies to one address.....$1 70
30 " " " " 2 50
40 " " " " 3 35
50 " " " " 3 80
75 " " " " 5 20
100 " " " " 7 00

For Six Months or Twenty-Six Weeks.

20 copies to one address.....$ 3 35
30 " " " " 5 00
40 " " " " 6 60
50 " " " " 7 50
75 " " " " 10 20
100 " " " " 13 75

Our paper is designed for the Sunday-school and the home circle. We desire the name of every Sunday-school Superintendent in the Brotherhood, and want an agent in every church. Send for sample copies.

Sunday-School Requisites.

The following list of things is needed in all Sunday-schools:

Testaments, Flexible, red edge, per doz.....$1 00
Minute Books, each..... 50
Class Books, per doz 75
Union Primers, with fine engravings, per doz..... 70

New and Beautiful Sunday-School Cards.

"The Gem," 50 picture cards, each with Bible Text, verse of hymn..... 35
250 Reward Tickets—verse of Scripture—red or blue, 20

Miscellaneous Works.

☞We are prepared to furnish any book in the market at publishers' retail price. Religious works a specialty.

Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress.—An excellent edition of this good work, printed on good paper, finely illustrated with forty engravings, at the low price of $1 00 per copy.

Brown's Pocket Concordance. -This is a very reliable, low-priced work, and very handy for reference. Price, 50 cents

Biblical Antiquities.—By John Nevin Gives a concise account of Bible times and customs, invaluable to all students of Bible subjects. Price $1 50

Barnes' Notes.—On the New Testament, 11 vols cloth, $16 50. Barnes' Notes on the Psalms, 3 vols the set, $4 50 Barnes' Notes on Daniel, 1 vol $1 50. Barnes' Notes on Isaiah, 2 vols the set, $3 00. Barnes' Notes on Job, 2 vols. the set, $3.00

Close Communion.—By Landon West. Treats this important subject in a simple though conclusive manner. Price 50 cents.

Cruden's Concordance. – A very complete work Price, cloth, $1 50, sheep, $3 00

Companion to the Bible. – This valuable work is so full of instruction that it can not fail to be of great benefit to every Christian Price $1 75

Campbell and Owen's Debate.—Contains a complete investigation of the evidences of Christianity Price, $1 50.

Classified Minutes of Annual Meeting.—A work of rare interest for all who desire to be well informed on the church work, from the early days of our Brethren until the present Price, cloth, $1 50, leather, $2 00.

Europe and Bible Lands.—By D L Miller A book for the people more comprehensive and thorough than many higher-priced works Price cloth $1 50, leather, $2. 00

Family Bible, with Notes and Instructions. – Contains the harmony of the Gospels, Chronology, Maps, Tables of Weights and Measures, Family Record, eight elegant illustrations, etc Price, substantially bound, $2 00.

Family Bible.—This is a fine and very complete work. New and old versions of the New Testament side by side convenience and everything usually found in Bible of the kind Price only $1 50. Sent by express 0

German and English Testaments.—American Bible Society Edition Price 75 cents.

Josephus' Complete Works.—Large type, 1 vol 8vo. Illustrated with many steel and wood engravings. Library sheep, $3 50

Life on Wheels.—By J S. Mohler. The idea of the book is to represent the way to heaven, by using the different terms connected with an ordinary railroad. Price, single copy, 20 cents

New Testament and Psalms with Notes. -Invaluable for Bible students, Sunday school teachers, etc. Price, cloth, $2 00

Origin of Single Immersion.—By Eld James Quinter. Price, 2 copies, 5 cents, 12 copies, 25 cents, 50 copies, $1 00.

Quinter and McConnell Debate.—A debate on Trine Immersion, the Lord's Supper, and Feet washing, between Eld James Quinter (German Baptist) and Eld N A McConnell (Christian) held at Dry Creek, Iowa, 1867. Price, $1 50

Reference and Pronouncing Testament.—A copious selection of parallel and illustrated passages and a classical pronunciation of the proper names and other difficult words, together with a short dictionary and gazetteer of the New Testament Price, $1 00, postpaid.

Reason and Revelation.—By R Milligan Should be in the hands of every Bible student. Price $2 00

Sacred Geography and Antiquities. — A practical, helpful work for Bible students, ministers and Sunday-school teachers. Price, $2 25.

Smith's Bible Dictionary. — Edited by Peloubet Cloth, $2.00, leather, $3 00.

Sabbatism.—By M. M Eshelman. Treats the Sabbath question, showing that the first day of the week is the day for assembling in worship. Price 10 cents, 15 copies $1 00.

The Law and Sabbath. — The Gospel and Lord's Day.—Why I Quit Keeping the Jewish Sabbath. The author of this pamphlet was once led to observe the Saturday-Sabbath, but his subsequent Bible examination, renounced it as an error. Ample proof against keeping the Jewish Sabbath in the Christian Dispensation is given. Sixty-four pages, printed in nice, clear type. Price 20 cents, 5 copies, $1 00.

Two Sticks, or Lost Ten Tribes of Israel Discovered. –By M M. Eshelman. Maintains that the Anglo-Saxons are the offspring of the Ten Tribes; that the Jews and Israelites are two distinct people, but will again be united in Palestine; 205 pages. Cloth, price, $1.00.

The Path of Life.—An interesting tract for everybody Price 10 cents per copy, 100 copies $6 00.

Trine Immersion.—A vindication of the apostolic form of Christian baptism. By Eld. James Quinter. A most complete and reliable work on the subject. Price, cloth, single copy, $1 25, leather, $1 75

The House We Live In.—By Daniel Vaniman It gives a concise account of the faith and practice of the Brethren. Price, 100 copies, 60 cents.

The Doctrine of the Brethren Defended. — A complete work on the distinctive principles of our Fraternity. Price, cloth, $1.50

The Story of the Bible.—An excellent volume for old and young; will interest and instruct all those desiring a knowledge of the Scriptures. Price $1.00.

Universalism against Itself.—By Hall. One of the best works against Universalism. Price $1.00

Full Report of Annual Meeting.

The Report of the meeting for 1889 should be read by all. Price, per copy, 25 cts.; per dozen $2.50.

HARVEST EXCURSIONS

To the Pan Handle of Texas. Many of the brethren having asked me by letter before and since the Annual Meeting, and personally, while at the Annual Meeting, whether there would be cheap excursions to the Pan Handle of Texas, and as I invariably told them I would answer through the "GOSPEL MESSENGER," I take pleasure now in announcing that the Western States Passenger Association and the Trans-Missouri Association, in session at Chicago June 26th, agreed to run Harvest Excursions from Eastern points to all points in Kansas, Colorado, and the Pan Handle of Texas, at the rate of one fare for the round trip, tickets good for thirty days from date of sale, and stop-overs will be allowed within the limits at all points west of the Missouri river. The days of sale are August 6 and 20, September 10 and 24, and October 8

I will be pleased to answer all further enquiries by mail, by sending maps, routes, etc

GEO. L. MCDONALDU,
Trav. Agt Santa Fe Route,
St. Louis, Mo.

CUT RATES TO THE WEST.

Cheap tickets to all points in Kansas, Colorado, Indian Territory (Oklahoma), Texas and other States and Territories in the West will be sold by The Santa Fe Route from Chicago and other points along the line, on August 6 and 20, September 10 and 24, and October 8.

For particulars ask your Ticket Agent, or write to John J. Byrne, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Santa Fe Route, Chicago, Ills.

HARVEST EXCURSIONS VIA THE UNION PACIFIC RAILWAY.

The Union Pacific Railway takes pleasure in announcing that it will run Harvest Excursions to all points in Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, Idaho and Montana on the following dates:—August 6th and 20th, September 10th and 24th, and October 8th For these occasions the low rate of one fare for the round trip has been made. Tickets good thirty days, and stop-over privileges will be allowed in both directions for those who may desire to see the country. Do not miss the opportunity to visit the great and growing West at this low rate. It affords the business men, stock raiser, mining prospector, and farmer an unequalled chance to see the unlimited resources of the western country

For tickets, rates pamphlets, etc., apply to your nearest ticket agent, or W. H. Knight, Gen'l. Agt., 191 South Clark St. Chicago, Ill.

Announcements.

LOVE-FEASTS.

Aug. 9, at Bear Creek church, Palmer, Christian Co. Ill.

Aug 10 and 11, at 3 P. M., at the house of B. M. Peterson, Fairview congregation, Sherman Co., Kans

Aug 10 and 11 North Solomon church, Osborne County, Kansas, one and one-half miles north of Portis.

Aug. 10 at 2 P. M., Ogan's Creek, five miles southeast of North Manchester, Wabash Co., Ind.

Aug. 24 and 25, at 1 P. M., Oak Grove congregation at Stone meeting-house ten miles south of Iowa City. Persons coming by rail stop at Iowa Junction on B. C. R. & N. Railroad

Aug. 31, at 3 o'clock P. M., Turkey Creek church, Pawnee Co., Nebraska, at H. C. Martin's 2½ miles north-west of DuBois station on Rock Island Railroad at which place persons will be met and conveyed to place of meeting on the 31st, or if coming sooner, notify H. C. Martin, DuBois, Neb Those coming to Table Rock on B. & M. R. R notify B. F. Flory.

Sept. 3, at 10 A. M., Sugar Ridge church, Hancock Co., Ohio.

Sept. 5 and 6, at 10 A. M., Lower Fall Creek church, Ind.

Sept. 6, at 10 A. M., Olathe church, Kans., at the residence of Wm. Brunks, 1 mile north of Olathe.

Sept. 7, at 5 P. M., Berrien church, Berrien County, Michigan.

Sept. 7 and 8, at 2 P. M., Frederic, Monroe Co., Ia.

Sept. 7 and 8, at 10 A. M., Auglaize Chapel, 3¼ mile from Dupont, Ohio, on the Clover Leaf Railroad; 2½ miles from Hartsburg, on the Nickle Plate Railroad.

Sept. 7 and 8, at 2 P. M., Junista congregation, 1 mile south and ½ mile east of Roseland, Adams Co., Neb.

Sept. 7 and 8, at 10 A. M., Pine Creek church, Ogle Co., Ill

Sept. 7, at 10 A. M., Somerset church, Vernon, Wabash Co. Ind

Sept. 7, at 10 A. M., Summit church, ½ mile north and 2 miles east of Summitsville, Madison Co., Ind

Sept. 7 and 8, at 10 A. M., Vermillion church, Marshall Co., Kansas at Simon Studebaker's, 7 miles north of Beattie, Kansas

Sept 7, Summit church, Wabash Co., Ind

Sept. 7 and 8. State Centre church, Marshall Co., Iowa.

Sept. 7 and 8, at 2 P. M., Martins Creek church, Wayne Co., Ill. at Bro. James Mauck, ¼ mile west of depot, Jeffersonville.

Sept. 7 and 8, at Filley church, at the house of Bro H. Miller, 2½ miles south-west of Filley. Those coming on the Rock Island Railway stop off at Virginia. Those on the B. & M stop at Filley, Nebraska.

Sept. 7, at 2 P. M., Rock Creek church, Kansas, six miles north of Sabetha, Nemaha Co., Kans. Those coming by railroad will please notify E. Cober one week beforehand, and they will be conveyed to place of meeting.

Sept. 11 and 12, Scott Valley church, Kansas, at Bro. Peter Howe's, nine miles south of Waverly, and ten and one-half miles northeast of Burlington. Brethren will be met at Burlington, Waverly and Westphalia, by notifying E. J. Miller, or Charles Yearout, Westphalia, Kansas.

Sept. 12, at 2 A. M., Wakendah congregation at the Rockingham meeting-house, Ray Co., Mo.

Sept. 21, at 5 P.M., South Bend church, Ind.

Sept. 13, at 10 A. M., Sugar Creek church, Whitley Co., Ind.

Sept. 13, at 4 P. M., Wade's Branch church, in Forest Park, Ottawa, Kans. Assembly Hall and the cots of the Chautauqua Association have been secured for the accommodation of all who wish to lodge on the ground

Sept. 14 and 15, at 10 A. M., Sabetha, Kans.

Sept. 21, at 10 A. M., Killbuck church, Ind., 9 miles west of Muncie, on the Jackson St. Pike. Those coming by rail will be met at Reed Station, by notifying Job Mahoney, Reed, Delaware Co., Ind., or Walter Bowers, Gilman, Madison Co., Ind

Sept. 28, at 10 A. M., Maumee church, Defiance Co., Ohio. Brethren coming by railroad will stop off at Sherwood.

Sept 28 and 29, at 11 A. M., English River congregation, Keokuk Co., Iowa.

Oct. 3, at 2 P. M., Arcadia church, Ind,

Oct 4, at 10 A. M., Nettle Creek church, near Hagerstown, Wayne Co., Ind.

Oct. 4, at 4 P. M., Union church, Marshall Co., Ind., 3 miles west of Plymouth and 5½ miles north of Burr Oak. Brethren will be met at the above places either day before or on day of meeting.

Oct. 5, at 2 P. M., Sugar Creek church, Allen Co., Ohio.

Oct. 5, at 3 P. M., Milmine church, Ill.

Oct. 5, at 10 A. M., Weeping Water church, Cass Co., Nebr. On M P. R R trains will be met at Eagle; on B. & M. R. R., at Greenwood.

Oct. 5 and 6, at 3 P. M., Exeter church, at Bro S. H. Caylor's, 4 miles south-east of McCool Junction, Nebr,

Oct. 5, at 4 P. M., Elkhart Valley church, Elkhart Co. Ind

Oct. 5 and 6, at 10 A. M., South Morrill church, Kans.

Oct. 5, Grand Prairie church, near Sidney, Nebr.

Oct. 5 and 6, North Beatrice church, Gage Co., Nebr., 7 miles north-east of Beatrice.

Oct. 5, at 2 P. M., Clear Creek church, Huntington Co., Ind.

Oct. 5 and 6, at Middle Creek church, Iowa.

Oct 5 and 6, at 2 P. M., Grundy church, Grundy Co., Iowa.

Oct. 5, at 1:30 P. M., Pleasant View church, Reno Co., Kans., 10 miles south-west of Hutchinson.

Oct. 10, at 10 A. M., Logan church, Logan Co., O.

Oct. 11, at 4 P. M., Camp Creek church, Kosciusko Co., Ind. The meeting will be held 1½ miles north of Etna Green.

Oct. 12, Longmont, Colo. One week's meeting before feast.

Nov. 2 and 3. Broadfording church, Washington Co., Md. Continued meetings to commence Oct. 26.

ADVERTISEMENTS.

Rates per Inch each Insertion.

One time or more	$1 50
One month (4 times)	1 30
Three months (12 times)	1 20
Six months (25 times)	1 00
One year (50 times)	70
No advertisement accepted for less than	1 00

☞ No Cuts Inserted, unless on metal base No double-column or objectionable advertisements admitted.

Victor Remedies!

These Remedies consist of Victor Liver Syrup, Victor Pain Balm, Victor Infant's Relief, Victor Lung Syrup, Victor Pills, Victor Liniment, Victor Poultry, Horse and Cattle Powders. These Remedies are all sold under a guarantee. If you cannot get them from your merchant, send his name to us, and we will arrange so he has them in stock if he is reliable. Send for circulars. Address:

VICTOR REMEDIES CO.,
6tf Frederick, Md.

Mount Morris College

WITH pleasure we inform the numerous friends of our school that the past year was one among the most successful in the history of the school. Students, instructors, officers, church,—all moved on so harmoniously that success followed as a result The Lord be blessed for it all.

The fondest hopes are entertained for the coming year. The rapidly growing sentiment among our people in favor of schools where are taught by example, thus welcoming the poor and the rich alike to intellectual and religious feasts, should be hailed with joy by all Parents incur fearful responsibility, and expose their children to very great danger when they send them to those cheap, irreligious schools of fashion and infidelity, when the open doors of schools where true vital piety is taught, invite all to enter God help us to save the children!

Plain Dressing, Plain Living, and Social Equality

The facilities for learning at Mt. Morris College are ample.

The Classical, Latin-Scientific, Scientific, and English or Teachers' Courses

are carried through three years in the Academic Department. Following this is a two years' Seminary Course, the completion of which entitles the student to the degree of "Bachelor of Literature." The Seminary Course prepares students to enter the Junior Class in a regular College Course. In the

Commercial Department

Book-keeping, Actual Business, Commercial Law, Business Correspondence, Plain and Ornamental Penmanship afford superior facilities to prepare for a business life

The Music and Art Departments

afford facilities for Vocal and Instrumental Music, Voice Culture, Harmony, Freehand and Industrial Drawing and Painting Last but not least is the

Bible Department

which comprises instruction in Old and New Testament History and Sunday-school Work. The purpose of this work is to assist young people to prepare themselves for usefulness in church and Sunday-school work Since it does not conflict with the student's regular line of work, and costs no extra tuition, every one should take it

The growing interest in this department has led us to arrange for a special term of four weeks, beginning Jan. 6, '90 The instruction will comprise Sermons by Eld. Robert H Miller, on "Evidences of Christianity," "Church Doctrine," and "Church Government," Lectures by D. L. Miller, on "Bible Land," "Relation of the Land to the Book," "The City of the Great King," etc.; "Bible and Sunday-school Work," by E. S. Young.

Mt. Morris is a quiet country town, free from saloons, billiard parlors, and theaters. It is in every sense a school town where parents may send their children, feeling assured that their moral and religious character will be carefully guarded.

All are cordially invited to attend our school, not alone because of the above advantages, but because more real value will be received for the amount of money expended than at a large majority of other schools

We are prepared to render financial aid to a limited number of Freshman students, and we solicit correspondence with such as expect to enter upon college work.

Send for Catalogue and write us fully. We take pleasure in answering questions Address

J. G. ROYER, Prin.
Mt. Morris, Ill.

SALESMEN Wanted; local and traveling. Positions permanent. Salary from start. Experience unnecessary. Brown Bros., Nurserymen, Chicago, Ill.

CINCINNATI BELL FOUNDRY CO
SUCCESSORS IN B.MYER BELLS TO THE
BLYMYER MANUFACTURING CO
CATALOGUE WITH 1800 TESTIMONIALS.
BELLS, CHURCH, SCHOOL, FIRE ALARM

J. B. COLCLESSER,

ROANOKE, HUNTINGTON CO., IND., Breeder of Purely-bred Poland China Swine. My herd is made up of the most fashionable strains known to the breed. Stock recorded in C. R and O. R. Pigs and aged animals for sale. Gelts bred and for sale January and February 1890. Breeding a specialty. Correspondence or personal inspection solicited 22t25

ROYAL
FULL WEIGHT ROYAL BAKING POWDER ABSOLUTELY PURE
ROYAL
BAKING POWDER
BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and can not be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. SOLD ONLY IN CANS

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO.,
106 Wall St., N. Y.

Young America!

It will pay you to do your own grinding on a mill that grinds corn with or without cob, as well as all kinds of small grain. Our mill is simple, strong and durable. Send for catalogue & price.

—WE ALSO MAKE THE—

Enterprise Feed Grinder.

Warranted to grind all kinds of grain. The new principle on which the grinding-plates are made, gives them a larger grinding capacity, and makes them more durable than any other style. For further particulars address,

Enterprise M'f'g. Co.,
(Mention this paper.) Columbiana, Ohio.

Wanted!

We want to be there in every district to sell our Fertilizers. We manufacture a number of different grades, to suit all buyers viz

Blood and Bone Dissolved, Raw Bone and Potash, High Grade Super Phosphate of Bone, Soluble Ammoniated Bone Phosphate and Chemicals!

All the above brands have stood the test for years, and in field contests have proved to be second to none on the market.

We guarantee to keep up the present high standard of these different brands, and feel assured you can save money by buying from us. Write for terms, circulars, etc. Address,

D. BLOCHER & CO.,
11m6 Gettysburg, Pa.

McSHANE BELL FOUNDRY
Finest Grade of Bells.
CHIMES AND PEALS for CHURCHES, &c.,
Send for Price and Catalogue. Address
H. McSHANE & CO.,
Mention this paper. Baltimore, Md.

To California.

SPECIAL parties leave Chicago every Thursday over the Santa Fe Route through to California. These parties are accompanied by a special Conductor whose duty it is to look after the comfort and security of passengers en route, and this feature makes the journey pleasant. Low rates are made for persons joining these parties.

If you think of going to California write to or call upon James Wallace, 212 Clark Street, Chicago, Ill.

THE GOSPEL MESSENGER.

"Set for the Defense of the Gospel."

Vol. 27. Old Series. Mt. Morris, Ill., and Huntingdon, Pa., August 6, 1889. No. 31.

The Gospel Messenger.

H. B. BRUMBAUGH, Editor,
And Business Manager of the Eastern House, Box 50, Huntingdon, Pa.

"THE place of charity, like that of God, is every-where."

BRO. SWIGART has been laboring some among the Eastern churches, and will probably be away from home the greater part of the vacation which will add greatly to our own ministerial labor. Whatever is best is our pleasure.

OUR meetings, since the close of the school are not large, but they are pleasant and, we hope, spiritually beneficial. Our motto is onward and upward, ever realizing that the harvest is before us, and that we shall reap if we faint not.

WE are born with faculties and powers capable almost of anything—such at least as would carry us further than can easily be imagined; but it is only the exercise of those powers which gives us ability and skill in anything, and leads us towards perfection.—Locke.

A CHRISTIAN may enjoy a calm and inward peace, while he sustains the storms of outward trouble. If he enjoys the former, he may expect the latter; if he suffer the latter, he may expect the former. There is no spring without its fall; no summer without its winter.—Secker.

"ABILITY is often re-inforced by necessity. He that will not suffer himself to be discouraged by fancied impossibilities, may sometimes find his abilities invigorated by the necessity of exerting them at short intervals, as the force of a current is increased by the contraction of its channel."

"A MAN climbing a high and rugged mountain better not look far ahead, it might discourage him; nor look back, it might make him dizzy; let him follow his guide closely and every time set his foot firmly and in the right place. In this way must we follow Christ. Let him lead, and we, looking not back nor far ahead, keep close to him and tread in his footsteps."

ELD. J. F. OLLER, of Waynesboro, Pennsylvania, informs us that they have lately added one more to their church by baptism. One by one seems to be a slow process of addition. Yet, so are days added to our lives, and we are sometimes surprised to learn how rapidly they are numbering upward. But the addition of a soul to the number of the saved is no small item. The addition of a few thousand dollars to a man's financial worth is considered of sufficient importance to occupy a whole column in our secular papers, while a soul saved, that is worth more than millions, scarcely receives a passing notice. In Heaven it is otherwise,—there God in the fullness of his glory deigns to notice with interest the event, and angels rejoice. Let us, too, rejoice and be glad when souls, for whom Christ died, cease their wandering in sin and return to the fold of hope and salvation.

"THE Bible, to one who is in the habit of devoutly reading it, begets in the soul a consciousness that excludes all doubt as to its truth. To that consciousness it comes with a self-evidencing power that is both sufficient and conclusive. That man spontaneously believes, and really has no time, nor taste, nor place in his soul for doubts."

WE have on hand a good supply of "Gospel Chimes," and will be glad to have them introduced, not only into all of our Sunday-schools, but also in our homes. Good music drove the evil spirits away from the ancient prophets, and its power will prove no less potent now. It is a healing balm to the disturbed and vexed soul, and to every home it will prove an angel of love and peace. Introduce the "Gospel Chimes." Learn to sing some of the beautiful melodies, and there are many of them, and we are sure that your home will be made better and sweeter for it.

THE Seventh Day Adventists have pitched their tent in our town, and for the last several weeks have been discoursing on the early coming of the better Kingdom, and that the seventh day is the true Sabbath, and should be so accepted by all Christian people. They say that they are the only people that preach the whole truth, and therefore represent the only true church of Christ in the world. Now, we preach about the same thing. We mean that of being the only true church, and so do others, and as we listened to one of the discourses, we were made to wonder at the strangeness of human opinion and belief. We think it strange that they hold the opinions they do and they think the same of us, and so we all think of each other. What can we do about it? There is but one safe course to pursue. Examine the Scriptures carefully and prayerfully, and then live out our convictions of right as they are given to us. If we lack wisdom, and ask God for it, the promise is, we shall receive, and we know we have it, because we asked. Do we believe?

ONE of the speakers at our late prayer-meeting referred, touchingly, to the silent forces that are at work in helping to deliver the world from the power of sin. In this fast age, there seems to be a premium placed upon noise and show, and it is difficult to accept as good any thing or any work that is not thoroughly tinctured with these elements. Yet their real power for good has not been especially marked. The silent forces extant in the world,—and they, very often in a humble garb—are accomplishing the greater good, though not seen by the mass, or heralded by the popular and accepted powers that be. Could the world, to-day, see God's accepted workers, it would be surprised beyond measure, and a new estimate would be placed upon the silent workers who are quietly, yet surely, in their lives, exerting a power that is raising the fallen and the low to a higher plane of moral and spiritual life. Give us more of these silent workers! We need them in our towns and cities, in our streets, stores, offices, in our homes, our churches, — every-where. Honest dealing, truthful speaking, soft words and gentle looks are all elements of the silent forces that are working for the Master.

HARVEST meetings will now be in season, and we hope that they may be expressive of their intentions, and that our Heavenly Father, the bountiful Giver of our undeserved blessings may receive due praise and honor. Sometimes those who have met with what they feel to be misfortunes, think they have nothing to be thankful for. This should not be our feeling, as we ought to believe that all these things happen for our good, and should always be thankful for the higher good that is promised, about which there can be no disappointment if we are trustful and faithful.

THAT THORN.

ONE of our readers wants to know what kind of a thorn that was that Paul had in his flesh. Just what it was we are not prepared to say. It is a figurative expression, and to him was some kind of a besetment in his own disposition, or a sin from which he could not be delivered.

In thinking over some of the things that might be represented by a thorn we name that of a "crooked church member," if we are allowed the expression, "thing" in this connection. By a crooked church member we mean a person who delights only in things that are crooked,—whose soul hankers after it, as a thirsty man for the cooling spring,—such a one as feasts on things that lead to strife. He is the personification of the Gospel of contention, and is at peace only when he has succeeded in sowing the seed of discord within the camp of peace.

We have too many churches that are, to-day, agonizing from the piercing of these thorns, and are praying for their removal. But God knew how difficult it is for their removal by human power. Therefore he promises the grace to endure them. In such cases the churches that are made to endure them are to be pitied indeed. But what have we to say for the thorn? Can not divine grace change this worker of so much ill and corruption into a better tree? Again comes the promise, "My grace is sufficient."

It does seem strange that any rational person or persons could delight in being contrary, ugly and contentious. But, strange as it seems, such is the case, and we have them almost every-where. They seem to have no settled convictions of their own, no standard of right. Meet them on their own ground, give them what they want, and they shift at once to find a new field for contention. It is not right they want, but contention. Their study is not to agree, but to disagree. This miserable disposition grows so much a habit, so much a part of the make-up, that it becomes their life, their being. It is one of the conditions that we should fight against, or, before we are aware of it, we become a thorn to every one about us, and, most of all, destroy our own happiness, both in this life and in the life to come. May our kind Father deliver our churches from this kind of thorns!

Allen Boyer 1890

ESSAYS.

"Study to show thyself approved unto God; a workman that needeth not be ashamed, rightly dividing the Word of Truth."

EVENING THOUGHTS.

Sitting alone in the twilight
When the weary day's work is o'er,
My thoughts are wafted upward
To a brighter, better shore.

I seemed to see through the shadows
A mansion bright and fair,
And white-robed angels are singing
With hearts that are free from care.

And I could not help but wonder,
If, when this life is o'er,
All that we have yearned and prayed for here
We will find on this other shore.

Will the hearts that ached in silence,
Through long and weary years,
Find over there a sweet relief
From all earth's sighs and tears?

Then a voice came softly to me
Like the chiming of a bell,
Saying, "Though thy earthly lot is dark,
In heaven all is well.

"Yes, in your Father's mansion
Where all is bright as day,
You will find your dreams of beauty
That will never pass away."

I did not listen longer
To the voice so low and sweet,
For a brighter path seemed shown me
For my weary, toil-worn feet.

—Selected by Loxilla Schrock.

THE BIRTH OF THE SPIRIT.

Isaac Rosenberger,
Covington, Ohio,
Dear Brother:—

The following subject, "Does the Birth of the Spirit Occur in Baptism by Water, or in the Laying on of Hands?" we had under discussion at your house. Your view of the subject, if I remember correctly, is, that the birth of the Spirit occurs in the laying on of hands, and that baptism is no factor in the birth of the Spirit, while my view was, and still is, that in baptism we symbolize the death of the old man of sin in us, and the resurrection of the new man in Christ Jesus, i. e., the birth of the Spirit. Paul says of those just baptized, in Rom. 6, that they should "walk in newness of life."

Not only is baptism a symbol, but in the use of the symbol life is imparted, as in the use of symbolic bread and wine. These are symbols of something that previously occurred but in their use we also obtain spiritual life and strength.

We infer, then, that the birth of the Spirit is a necessary result of our obedience to the rite of Christian baptism,—other prerequisites having already obtained.

When Christ said, in John 3: 5, "Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit he can not enter the kingdom of God," he did not mean that water should be born neither did he mean that the body should be born again, but an object was to be born, and two things were requisite to this birth,—one was literal water, and the other the Spirit of God. Both these requisites were brought to bear in Christian baptism and the result is, a new birth,—born of the Spirit.

And, inasmuch as Christ has joined the water and the Spirit so closely together in order to effect the new birth in Christ Jesus within us, are we not assuming grave responsibilities in deviating from this rule?

Paul says, in Titus 3: 5, "He saved us by the washing of regeneration and renewing of the Holy Ghost." The phrase "renewing of the Holy Ghost," doubtless means the birth of our spirit, and it is effected by the "washing." The washing comes first, thus making the birth of the Spirit dependent on, and in connection with, baptism, and not by laying on of hands. In Heb. 10: 22 we read, "Having our hearts sprinkled from an evil conscience, and our bodies washed with pure water."

"Hearts sprinkled from an evil conscience" is a rather figurative expression, but it plainly points to the birth of the Spirit in connection with the baptismal waters, just as Christ taught in John 3: 5. Nothing is said about laying on of hands as a means to the new birth.

LAYING ON OF HANDS.

There is really nothing in all the Scriptures that teaches the doctrine of the new birth by laying on of hands.

The laying on of hands seems to have been done for the spiritual benefit of the believer soon after baptism. The design seems to have been to confer upon the believer some special gift for his usefulness in the church. Paul refers to this in 1 Cor. 12, where he says, "Now there are diversities of gifts, but the same Spirit. * * * But the manifestation of the Spirit is given to every man to profit withal. For to one is given by the Spirit the word of wisdom; to another the word of knowledge by the same Spirit; to another faith by the same Spirit; to another the gifts of healing by the same Spirit: to another the working of miracles; to another prophecy; to another discerning of spirits; to another divers kinds of tongues; to another the interpretation of tongues."

Interpretation of tongues is among the gifts imparted through the laying on of hands. We notice that those twelve whom Paul rebaptized, after laying hands on them, spake with tongues and prophesied. These gifts were imparted through laying on of hands.

Then it is clear that the object in laying on hands was to impart some special gifts through the Holy Ghost, for usefulness in the church, as Paul teaches in 1 Cor. 12.

If the birth of the Spirit came by laying on of hands, then we would have as many kinds of spirits as persons on whom the Spirit was to come, but Paul makes the matter very plain when he says, "These are all gifts of one and the same Spirit," and as already proved, the gifts come by laying on of hands. See Acts 19. We must understand that the receiving of a gift through the Holy Ghost and the birth of the Spirit are two separate and distinct operations of the Spirit of God.

A spirit may be born, have life, and yet not be gifted for any use in the church, but by laying on of hands and prayer a gift may be imparted for great usefulness in the church or in the world. As, naturally, when a child is born, there is life there, both animal and spiritual, but its spiritual nature is entirely ignorant,—a blank. Hence it must be taught, and, after receiving instruction, may become a very gifted person in some of the vocations of life.

Equally so of the spirit. When it is first born, it is at its weakest stage, and needs the Holy Ghost as a teacher, through whom gifts may be imparted that will be beneficial to the church.

Of course we cannot expect those great gifts to be imparted to us that were given to the early Christians,—such as working miracles, healing the sick, speaking with tongues, etc., but we may still have the gift of prophecy, in part, of exhortation, of prayer, of discerning of spirits, of wisdom, etc.

"By one Spirit are we all baptized into one body." 1 Cor. 12: 13. Then, through baptism, we all drink in the one Spirit, are born of the Spirit, and, through laying on of hands, the Holy Spirit becomes our teacher, imparting to us useful gifts for the general benefit of the church.

Now, dear brother, I have, in brief given you my thoughts on the above very important subject. I aimed to arrive at the Truth. I also aimed to present my thoughts in a Christian spirit, and hope I have succeeded, in part at least.

J. S. Mohler.

REPLY.

J. S. Mohler,
My Dear Brother:—

I regret that the subject referred to in your letter above did not come up in an earlier stage of your pleasant visit with us. I would have preferred a personal, rather than a written exchange of sentiments on the above grave subject. Agreeable to your desires, however, I will pen my views more fully, which are as follows:

I find the design of the laying on of hands in the Scriptures to be threefold.

1. Prayer and the laying on of hands was engaged in in setting persons aside or advancing them for an especial work. "Wherefore look ye out among you seven men of honest report; full of the Holy Ghost and wisdom, whom ye may appoint over this business. * * * Whom they set before the apostles, and when they had prayed they laid their hands on them." Acts 6: 3, 6. See also Acts 13: 3.

2. The laying on of hands was engaged in to heal or restore the sick. Christ said, "They shall lay hands on the sick and they shall recover." Mark 16: 18. "And they beseech him to put his hand upon him." Mark 7: 32. "And he laid his hands on every one of them and healed them." Luke 4: 40. In these texts we have the plain teaching and example of Christ on the point of our subject now under notice. In the labors of the apostle Paul we have it as follows: "And it came to pass that the father of Publius lay sick of a fever and of a bloody flux; to whom Paul entered in and prayed and laid his hands on him and healed him. So when this was done, others also which had diseases in the island came and were healed." Acts 28: 8, 9. See also Acts 19: 11. The texts above being plain we pass them without note or comment.

With the above as a preliminary to the subject alluded to in your kind letter, we introduce the third Scriptural design of the laying on of hands in prayer, that follows baptism, by which the penitent receives the Holy Ghost. This one we entitle "the birth of the Spirit."

When you state as my sentiment that "baptism is no factor in the birth of the Spirit," you misunderstand my view. Baptism is a factor in the birth of the Spirit, just as faith and repentance are factors in baptism.

As evidence of our view we present the following: "Then Philip went down to the city of Samaria, and preached Christ unto them. * * * But when they believed Philip preaching the things concerning the kingdom of God, and the name of Jesus Christ, they were baptized, both men and women. * * * Now when the apostles which were at Jerusalem heard that Samaria had received the word of God, they sent unto them Peter and John: who, when they were come down, prayed for them, that they might receive the Holy Ghost: (For as yet he was fallen upon none of them: only they were baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus.) Then laid they their hands on them, and they received the Holy Ghost." Acts 8: 5-17.

The text above sets forth in the clearest possible light that the converts alluded to were first baptized, by which they were born of water. As they had not received the Holy Ghost, hence they were not born of the Spirit. Birth has for its meaning change of state or relation.

These Samaritan penitents being baptized for the remission of their past sins, underwent a change; hence, in a sense, it was a birth,—they were evidently born of water. They underwent a second change by the laying on of hands in prayer. They received the Holy Ghost, which, we feel, we are certainly justified in terming the birth of the Spirit.

Would you say those Samaritans were born of the Spirit, before they had received the Holy Ghost, when it is distinctly named that the "Holy Ghost had as yet fallen upon none of them, only they were baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus"? In Acts 19 there were twelve re-baptized. It is added, "And when Paul had laid his hands upon them, the Holy Ghost came on them, and they spake with tongues and prophesied."

They were first baptized, which change we call being born of water. These, like the Samaritans, had not received the Holy Ghost; hence were certainly not born of the Spirit. It is said, "When Paul had laid his hands upon them, the Holy Ghost came on them." Is this not what Christ means when he says, "born of the Spirit"?

There were certainly two distinct changes in the two instances alluded to above. The first change was wrought in water baptism, which we term being "born of water." The second change was wrought by laying on of hands in prayer, which plainly, and, we add, safely, can be termed, being "born of the Spirit."

You say, "We infer, then, that the birth of the Spirit is a necessary result of our obedience to the rite of Christian baptism; other prerequisites having already obtained."

I inquire again, Would you say that the penitents above were born of the Spirit, when they were simply baptized, when upon them hands in prayer were not laid, and hence they had not received the Holy Ghost? I would explain by saying that their conversion is not complete until there was, as we have seen, "prayer and the laying on of hands."

You say, "Inasmuch as Christ has joined the water and Spirit so closely together, in order to effect the new birth through Christ Jesus within us, are we not assuming grave responsibilities in deviating from this rule?" I fail to see any deviation from the rule of the Gospel in our view. The spiritual birth is in two parts, just as baptism is in three parts. When you baptize a candidate "in the name of the Father," you do not claim the candidate is yet baptized into the other names of the Trinity. Hence I utterly fail to see how a person, when he is baptized, born of water, that in that act he is also born of the Spirit. The phraseology of the language will certainly not justify that conclusion. I connect the two parts or services in the new birth just as closely together as I do the different actions in baptism.

Your argument sounds to me very much like the arguments of single immersionists. Please read Heb. 6: 1, 2, and it literally confirms the sentiment I have given above. Note the six principles of the doctrine of Christ. On Titus 3: 5 you say, "Renewing of the Holy Ghost doubtless means the birth of the Spirit [to this I assent] and is affected by washing." Of this I fail to see proof. In Acts 8 and 19 we have seen that the Holy Ghost was given, or renewed, or they were born of the Spirit by laying on hands in prayer. You introduce Heb. 10: 22; John 3: 5, closing your remarks on those texts by saying, "But nothing is said about laying on of hands as a means to the new birth." I do not like to see precious time and space occupied with texts that are "silent."

You started out in your letter with symbols and silent texts. I mean "silent" upon the issue between us. You say, "There is really nothing in all the Scriptures that teaches the doctrine of the new birth by the laying on of hands" To this sweeping negative statement I add, "when candidates are baptized for the remission of sins." This change, all admit, is what Christ means when he says, "born of water." We have seen that another change takes place by the laying on of hands in prayer. This, we repeat, we call the birth of the Spirit; or else you will be driven to the position that persons are born of the Spirit in baptism before the laying on of hands, and hence before they receive the Holy Ghost.

You refer to the list of miraculous gifts of the Holy Ghost, occurring in 1 Cor. 12. You then add, "These gifts were imparted through laying on of hands." I know of no proof. Some references are given, but they are not evidence. Paul says, "But the manifestation of the Spirit is given to every man, to profit withal." 1 Cor. 12: 7. This text does not say that the manifestation of the Spirit is given by laying on of hands. Let us not assume that Acts 19: 6 may be quoted as proof. It reads: "When Paul had laid hands upon them, the Holy Ghost came on them; and they spake with tongues and prophesied." This text certainly does teach that the Holy Ghost was given by the laying on of hands; and then adds, that they spoke with tongues, but does not say how this power was conferred. I do not know how the same power was conferred in Acts 2: 4; Acts 10: 40; but I do know how the Holy Ghost was given to penitents after baptism by laying on of hands in prayer.

You make an important and proper distinction when you say, "A gift, through the Holy Ghost and the birth of the Spirit, are two things." It is the latter that we have properly under notice.

You add, "We can not expect those great gifts to be imparted to us, that were given to the early Christians." Permit me to inquire, if we have not those miraculous gifts or manifestations; have we the kind of laying on of hands by which, you maintain, those powers or miraculous manifestations were conferred?

To develop the subject further, we ask, Is there a single instance in Holy Writ where a miraculous power was conferred by mortal hand?

There are two powers of the Holy Ghost, first, consoling power, such as the newly-baptized penitent received, by laying on of hands in prayer. John 20: 22 is a sample of this. Second, miraculous power or manifestation of the Holy Ghost, such as is seen in Acts 2: 4; Acts 10: 44-46, etc. As to how this miraculous power is conferred, I can only refer you to 1 Tim. 3: 16.

Fraternally,

I. J. ROSENBERGER.

GOD'S PURPOSE IN OUR REDEMPTION.

BY F. C. RENNER.

"According to the eternal purpose which he purposed in Christ Jesus our Lord."—Eph. 3: 11.

GOD'S purpose is so infinitely great, that we can never comprehend it, but, thanks be to God, we can contemplate it in our redemption. A purpose always carries with it a number of causes and effects, and certain objects, all of which are employed to execute the purpose. For instance, to illustrate, take our late Civil War. The purpose was to abolish slavery. This caused in the minds of the people the spirit of rebellion, and rebellion produced secession, which caused fearful bloodshed.

But everything must have a beginning, and so this matter had. On Dec. 11, 1620, the Mayflower arrived at Plymouth Rock, Cape Cod, with a number of immigrants. Among them was one Peter Brown, who had been oppressed in his native country, and who, for the love of freedom and liberty, came to this country. It was one of this man's descendants, in the sixth generation, the famous John Brown, who, at Harper's Ferry, in 1859, started the great work that was agitated for forty years.

God gave notice, time and time again, that he desired the nation to let his people go. As the Egyptians by the plagues, so God warned the nation, and said, Let my people go. No, answered the newspaper plotters. No, cried Congress. No, exclaimed the President. What followed? Financial ruin. Down went the chief cities and also the nation's credit.

Again God said, Let my people go. No, answered the ballot-box from all over the land. And, lo, behold the deep trenches from Baltimore to Corinth, and from Florida to Gettysburg, into which was poured the blood of a million brave men,—blood of sons, fathers and brothers, both of the Blue and the Grey! Hear the lamentations! Fathers weeping like David for his son, and like Rachel weeping for her children, and refusing to be comforted, because they were not! It was enough. A day of fasting and prayer was set apart. The nation came down on her knees, asking the mighty God that the evil might be taken away. Then a voice came from over the land, Let them go.

Here we behold the triumph of God over nations, in carrying out his most holy and noble purpose. Just so he will sacrifice the enemies of the Cross, and those who will not have him to rule over them; for he will put down all rule, and subdue all powers and principalities, in order to accomplish his great and noble purpose.

I have not yet told you what God's purpose is. To tell you that it is for God's own glory is not enough. I see more than that in God's eternal purpose. Raise up your eyes, and look upon nature, as some term it. "For, when we survey the lofty and lovely scenery, and gaze upon her sunlit prospects in which is adorned every object of beauty, and hear the sweetest melodies wafted on the breeze, we reason with ourselves, that if this earth, though wasted by the curse, be yet so fair, must there not be a world in the vast immensity of space the heaven of God, and of angels, and saints, of infinitely greater and surpassing beauty, which is abundant in everything to satisfy the wishes of the immortal soul?"

Old Eden was beautiful, but nothing to compare to the heavenly Paradise of God. Old Canaan, to the Jews, was enchanting; but yet earth with all its remaining loveliness is but a miserable desert, a waste, howling wilderness, compared with the Father's house, the Golden City, full of lovely mansions made and prepared for every soul made an heir to salvation by the operation of the Divine Spirit, through faith in Christ, according to his eternal purpose. It is not God's purpose to banish one soul to the pit of woe and misery, and if you go there it is through your own planning, your own inclinations and preconceived opinions, not discerning the eternal purpose of God in your redemption.

I said that I could see more in the text than God's own glory; and so I can. For instance: If I profess to be an humble follower of Christ, and have not overcome the carnal spirit and cast him out with his lusts and desires, and instead thereof obtained the spirit of Christ, I am none of his, and his wrath still abides upon me. No matter how loud I profess, and cry, "Lord, Lord," if I do not gain his divine favor to sanctify me, I must go down to the pit, and there confess that God is just; hence God would get the glory, though I be lost.

But now it is God's eternal purpose that he may get the glory, and that I may be redeemed and made forever happy. The matter is all left to me, and how can I do anything? I have no power in myself. I am not justified in the works of the flesh. O, what shall I do? Heaven is barred against me. Hell is wide open to receive me. I am on a slippery rock. Clinging to a brittle thread that I fear will soon snap asunder, I am all undone. Jesus comes to the rescue, and says in sweet tones, Ask of me, and you shall have power to become a son of God. Behold, the power is in the Word of God, and my Word ye have. Read it and obey it. I am the Light of the world, the Light that lighteth every man that cometh into the world, that he may walk in the light even as I am in the light, that the blood of Christ may cleanse you from all sin, making you a fit vessel in the Master's service, thereby glorifying God in keeping his holy commandments and obeying them from the heart; for they are not grievous. Here is where we gain the victory, when we have faith to believe his Word and practice his example, and accomplish in Christ the eternal purpose of God.

New Midway, Md., July 8.

REMARKABLE DISCOURSES OF CHRIST.

BY JOHN KNISLEY.

Sermon upon the Mount, ...Matt. 5, 6, 7
Ordination Charge to the Apostles,.....Matt. 10
Woes Against Chorazin, etc.,.....Matt. 11: 20–24
Discourse on the Breaking of the Sabbath. .....Matt. 12: 1–8
Refutation of the False Charge,...Matt. 12: 22–37
Discourse on Internal Purity,.....Matt. 15: 1–26
Against Giving Offense,.....Matt. 18
Directions How to Obtain Heaven, Matt. 19: 16–30
Discourse on his own Sufferings, Matt. 20: 17–19
Woes Against the Pharisees, etc.,.....Matt. 23
Predictions Concerning Jerusalem,.....Matt. 24
Discourse on the Way to Gethsemane,.... .....Matt. 26: 31–36
Discourse With His Disciples,....Matt. 28: 16–20
In the Synagogue of Nazareth,.....Luke 4: 16–32
Woes Against the Pharisees, etc., Luke 11: 37–54
Discourse on Humility and Prudence,..... .....Luke 14: 7–14
Conversation with Nicodemus,.....John 3: 1–24
With the Woman of Samaria,.....John 4: 1–42
Discourse Concerning the Impotent Man,..John 5
On the Bread of Life,.....John 6
At the Feast of Tabernacles, ...John 7
On Occasion of the Adulteress,.....John 8
Concerning the Sheep,.....John 10
Of Consolation,.....John 14

ABIDING IN CHRIST.

BY FRANK STEVENS.

Did you never feel an aching void, a feeling of insecurity in your Christian life? Does not the seventh chapter of Romans describe your feelings more fully than any other chapter in the Bible? How can you make 1 John 3: 9 and 1 John 1: 7–9 completely harmonize? The Bible never contradicts itself.

When you were baptized you rose in newness of life. How, then, can you still continue in sin? "No man can serve two masters." We cannot belong to Christ and yield ourselves servants to the devil. "If we have not the spirit of Christ, we are none of his." Are you abiding in Christ? "Whosoever abideth in him sinneth not." Does not your heart condemn you for sin? "If our heart condemn us, God is greater than our heart and knoweth all things," and he surely will condemn us.

Examine the first epistle of John and see if it is not a sealed book to you. Study it carefully, prayerfully, earnestly, and with a mind unprejudiced; ask Jesus' aid and all will be right. "Seek and ye shall find." This is too important a matter to neglect or pass lightly by. If you will take Jesus Christ for the man of your counsel, joy and peace will soon fill that void.

Chicago, Ill.

THE CRUCIFIXION, DEATH AND RESURRECTION OF JESUS CHRIST AND ITS EFFECT UPON ALL CREATION.

BY JOHN FORNEY.

There is no other event in the history of man so full of interest, that so peculiarly affected all creation as the death and resurrection of Jesus Christ. Let us consider, for a moment, the different effects the crucifixion, death and resurrection of Jesus had on the different natures.

When the believing children of God, who were followers of Jesus, witnessed his betrayal and apprehension in the Garden of Gethsemane, their sad disappointment began to stare them in the face, and their heart began to fail them. Fear and sorrow took the place of joy and consolation. All this multiplied greatly when he was nailed to the cross.

The crucifixion was a source of joy to all the cruel, unbelieving Jews and the Roman soldiers, because they got the victory, as they thought, over him, when they got him fast to the cross. See how they made sport and mockery over him, while we notice a small number standing back, discomforted and weeping, because of their disappointment in him, in whom they had hope that he would redeem Israel. They thought, Behold our enemies got the victory over him, and have killed him, and we have to weep while they rejoice; we are discouraged, while our enemies have the victory over us and do rejoice.

But this doleful period did not only affect the human family in such a peculiar way, but all nature, yea, the heavenly bodies, betokened a visible manifestation of its effect upon them. Behold the darkening of the heavenly lights, that caused darkness from the sixth to the ninth hour. "And, behold, the vail of the temple was rent in twain from the top to the bottom; and the earth did quake, and the rocks rent; and the graves were opened; and many bodies of the saints which slept arose, and came out of the graves after his resurrection." Matt. 27: 51–53. "And when Jesus had cried with a loud voice, he said, Father, into thy hands I commend my spirit: and having said thus, he gave up the ghost." Luke 23: 46.

Here we see another change. Now the centurion, and all the people that came together to that sight, beholding the things which were done, smote their breasts and returned. And all his acquaintance and the women that followed him from Galilee stood afar off, beholding these things.

Now follow two great disappointments. The body of Jesus was embalmed and entombed for preservation, as was the custom among the Jews. When they looked for him the third day, early in the morning, behold he was not there. This was the first disappointment.

Now, when we look at his enemies, we see that the devil, with all his host, met with the greatest disappointment right here. The powers of darkness celebrated their supposed victory over Jesus, the Son of God. They had him killed, he was entombed, and they had the tomb sealed and made sure. They procured the centurion with the band of soldiers to watch the sepulchre, lest his friends come and steal him. But, ah, now came the dismal hour of disappointment and defeat! The angel of the Lord came down and rolled back the stone from the door, and sat upon it. "His countenance was like lightning, and his raiment white as snow." And there was also a great earthquake at that time. "And for fear of him the keepers did shake, and became as dead men." The devil now had to realize that the Son of God was made the strongest in suffering and death, that by it he himself lost his power over death and the grave. The devil with his host was not alone to see this visible demonstration, that Jesus broke the bonds of death and the grave, and took up his life again, but it affected the graves of the saints, and the saints came forth, as we have seen above.

In his resurrection Christ has taken away from his church their disappointments. All sadness vanished away when he appeared amongst them, and great joy was in their heart, so that Peter could of a truth say, "Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, to an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you." 1 Pet. 1: 3, 4.

The third disappointment affected the opposers of Christ and his doctrine very unexpectedly. Only about fifty-two days ago, one of the twelve had sold the Master, Peter had denied him, and the others were scattered, had gone to their own homes, and had abandoned their preaching and their healing of diseases, in the name of Jesus. When the second great festival of the year came, called the feast of the first fruits of the harvest, corresponding with Pentecost, when all the Israelites were to bring their offerings up to Jerusalem, they came up, as usual, by the thousands, unconcerned about any trouble or conflict about this much despised name of Jesus and his doctrine, and his few scattered fishermen. To their great astonishment, they found one hundred and twenty, with the women, already in the temple, speaking with other tongues, and that so miraculous and powerful that the men from the different nations under heaven were astonished "because that every man heard them speak in his own language. And they were all amazed and marvelled, saying one to another, Behold, are not all these which speak Galileans? And how hear we every man in our own tongue, wherein we were born? We do hear them speak in our tongues the wonderful works of God. And they were all amazed, and were in doubt, saying one to another, What meaneth this? Others mocking said, These men are full of new wine." Acts 2: 6–13.

They soon learned that Peter was no more a coward, nor feared to own his Lord, or to defend his cause. He stood up boldly and showed unto Judah his sins and Israel his transgressions. He brought conviction of sin to the heart of about three thousand souls, who turned unto the Lord the same day, and were baptized into the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of their sins. Now they were made willing to confess and put on that name, which they before so much despised and rejected. Now they were made to own him as their only Savior and Christ. Now the working of miracles in the name of Jesus was again continued with as much vigor as before the death of Jesus, so that the opposing enemies of the cross of Christ were defeated and disappointed on every hand in their undertakings. All this gave joy and consolation to the children of God.

The following examples will show the above more fully. In Acts 3 we have the healing of the lame man who was over forty years old and had never walked until Peter told him, "In the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth rise up and walk." Now read Acts 4: 1–22, and you will see how this miracle stirred up the malice of scribes and Pharisees, and in the remaining verses you can see the great joy it brought to the believers and how they were blessed. In Acts 5: 12-17 we see that "by the hands of the apostles were many signs and wonders wrought among the people." "Then the high priest rose up, and all they that were with him, (which is the sect of the Sadducees,) and were filled with indignation, and laid their hands on the apostles, and put them in the common prison. But the angel of the Lord by night opened the prison doors, and brought them forth, and said, Go, stand and speak in the temple to the people all the words of this life." Acts 5: 17-20.

Here God himself took their case in hand and wrought a miracle by the hand of his angel when the enemies had his twelve apostles in prison and the watch before the door. The prison, with its bolted doors, could not hold God's people against his will, neither could the prison hold Peter, although he was bound with two chains and guarded by the soldiers both inside and outside of the prison. See Acts 12: 3-12. Peter could say of a truth, "Now I know of a surety, that the Lord hath sent his angel, and hath delivered me out of the hand of Herod, and from all the expectation of the people of the Jews." So the Lord disappointed them in their expectations. In the case of Paul and Silas, when he so miraculously delivered them from the inner prison at Philippi (see Acts 16: 26-40), all the above-named circumstances were brought about because the apostles healed all manner of sicknesses in the name of this crucified and risen Jesus of Nazareth, and preached in his name repentance and remission of sin, which brought joy and gladness to thousands of hearts. He will continue to do so with all who accept salvation in that great name and upon the terms offered in his teachings. We hear him say, "Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven." "Take heed, brethren, lest there be in any of you an evil heart of unbelief, in departing from the living God."

Abilene, Kans.

EVERY MAN HAS HIS PLACE.

BY SALOME A. STONER.

In the words of Milton, "Parent of good, Almighty, these are thy glorious works." Man's mission, by creation, is the adoration of Heaven's Omnipotent King. Men of average minds give to the objects of their creation no supernumerary parts. They attach no more wheels, levers, and bolts, than are needed for the completeness of the machine. That Infinite Wisdom would act less wisely is unreasonable, and we cannot think otherwise than that God in nature gives a place to every representative of the race of man.

Many persons fail to recognize and accept their places in life, for man is prone to find fault with his surroundings. The fat ox, waiting for the butcher's knife, grazes, ruminates, and tosses his head with a degree of satisfaction and enjoyment, which beings of more intelligence might envy. The butterfly flits about, sipping sweets from every flower. It is happy to show its bright wings with never a thought that its life is but a summer's day. It is only from man, the creature made superior to all other forms of mortality, that we hear lamentations, because of his unhappy lot, and curses because of his miserable existence. Fortunately for himself and all the world, this degrading tendency is restrained by that ancient proclamation "By the sweat of thy brow shalt thou eat bread." The labor for bread is almost universal. A few persist in seeking sustenance from chance and charity. They are a discredit to the race, an exception to the rule,—they have lost their places in life; for while they served ease, others more worthy were given their places in labor and honor. But unless our neighbor can eat for us, he should not be compelled to do our work. Creative wisdom has disposed man's wants and earth's resources so variously and complementary, that every person with a healthy body and a sound mind can contribute to some want, and obtain due compensation. The ability and opportunity, not necessity and inclination, are the requisites for labor.

In choosing a vocation, inclination beckons to those of honor and high remuneration, but necessity may demand a humble calling with meager financial returns. Which a person chooses, matters little, except for his ability to work in one or the other. Where that is he should be, elsewhere he is a usurper and a failure. The great difference in professions is in their possessors. Any calling which has for its object the promotion of the comfort and happiness of mankind is honorable, and will honor him who honors it.

To seek a high position for the honor it bestows is a mean endeavor, and its results are as unsatisfactory as it is mean. But aspirations to a high position are legitimate products of man's progressive, developing nature. They lead him to the present improvement of all opportunities, and the proper performance of all duties. These form the true basis of promotion which leaves not its foundation unused. The first pair given a common task in the garden of Eden illustrates the divine idea of man's social duties. Association, friendship, and mutual helpfulness are every-where taught, while hermits and ascetics are nowhere shown as exemplary. Pope says:

> "Heaven forming each on other to depend.
> A master, or a servant, or a friend,
> Bids each on other for assistance call,
> Till one man's weakness grows the strength of all."

Man's dependence upon his fellow-creatures is shown in an old picture. A little child, taking its first steps, helped by a tight hold on the hands of the nurse, and an old man using a cane to support weak limbs. "From the cradle to the grave man needs assistance."

These mutually dependent creatures constitute society. Their vices and virtues determine its moral condition, and what that is concerns every individual member.

To society every man owes the conduct and conscience of a gentleman, not an aristocratic, assuming dignitary, with conspicuous language, costume, and deportment, but a noble, magnanimous man.

To society every woman owes the conduct and conscience of a lady, not an idle toy, made and exhibited for admiration; but a being with a soul pure and white, with hands busied in good deeds, and with a heart, the fountain of sympathy and charity. These are both ideal and real, and he or she who fails to realize the ideal, fails to fill his or her place.

Looking at man's mission in creation, we see how that more than in other things every man has in religion his place. That place is to be a servant. No one has a right, no one can afford to be an alien. But clear and pleasant as the work is, hundreds fail to see their duty. Hundreds more seeing fail to acknowledge, and other hundreds are slothful servants. Jehovah has said, "My Word will not return to me void," and heaven is wide, and has glory and honor for all who will secure a passport through its portals. Alas for erring man, he loses everything, if he loses his place in religion!

To know that every one has a place is well in general terms, but what and where is my place? Let every one feel assured that he has, by nature, a place in the world of nature, a place in business a place in society, and a place in the direct service the Master. In which of these he may excel will be best learned by performing faithfully the little duties lying nearest. Advice to a doubting monk, recorded by Longfellow, is worthy of acceptance,

> "Do thy duty that is best,
> Leave unto thy Lord the rest."

"YE ARE THE SALT OF THE EARTH."

BY L. T. SHELLABARGER.

The simple definition of a word gives us but little idea of its full meaning, and that little is often so condensed as to afford but very little explanation. In fact the definition of some words is more difficult to understand than the word itself. The primary definition of salt is, "chloride of sodium," but we learn more about it from its uses, properties, and peculiarities.

One peculiarity about salt is that it has no substitute. Nothing in the material universe will take its place. The Savior compares his religion to salt, for which there is no substitute. No other religion can save us.

Another peculiarity about salt is, that there are other substances that look like salt and taste like salt but are not salt. At present there are many systems of religion that look like Christianity and seem like Christianity but are not Christianity.

We determine the identity of salt by chemical analysis. If it contains the proper ingredients and no more nor less, then it is salt. It is the same with genuine Christianity,—it contains all the commands and precepts of the Gospel,—no more and no less.

An important use of salt is the utilizing of its preserving power. The religion of Jesus has also a preserving, saving power. The marvelous tendency of man to moral wreck and ruin is astonishing. Christian piety will save us from such degradation.

Salt is of a penetrating nature, and substances penetrated by it, become, in some degree, like it. The Christian religion likewise has a wonderful penetrating power. The truth of the Gospel penetrates the hearts of men and women, causing them to become, in some measure, like Christ.

There is a condition in which certain substances may be, that can not be penetrated by salt. When meat is frozen, salt has no effect upon it. The same is true of religion. It has no power to penetrate that human heart that is not in the proper condition to receive its penetrating power. That hardened heart, that congealed conscience is not easily affected by the penetrating power of Christianity.

A common use of salt is to utilize its cleansing properties. A little salt in pure water has the effect of cleansing meat from blood and animal odors. The Christian religion will effectually cleanse the human heart from immoral impurities.

There is one peculiarity about salt, inasmuch as it loses its virtue by being mixed with spurious articles. The ocean contains immense quantities of salt, but it is worthless, because it is mixed with so many other ingredients. Christianity loses its virtue by being mixed with other doctrines. It is only effective when pure.

Another peculiarity about salt is that it is not injured by heat or cold. Genuine piety is not injured by the heat of strife or trouble, nor by the cold of trials and storms of life.

A very common use of salt is to season or improve our food so as to make it most agreeable to us. Thus Christianity is the essence of our spiritual life.

In conclusion we may say that salt is indispensable. We can not get along without it. This is equally true of Christianity. It is indispensable. We might do without it in this world, but we must have it in order to get a home in heaven!

Covington, Ohio.

LIVES OF THE CÆSARS.

BY W. H. ROOSE.

Number Eleven.—Augustus.

THOUGH Cæsar was often cruel and ambitious, the Romans often had occasion to regret that things had taken the course they had. Cæsar's nephew, Octavius Augustus, succeeded him, and, like him, all his successors took the title of emperor, though but few of them possessed the virtues that Cæsar did. It is often erroneously thought that it was Julius Cæsar, whose name is mentioned in the Scriptures, but it was Tiberius Cæsar, one of the most cruel and tyrannical rulers that ever undertook to rule a nation. He was a fit example of the desperate wickedness which may dwell in the human heart. His recreations were made more pleasant by seeing people put to death, but, as we will refer to him again later on, we will pass on to the subject of this article.

History informs us that nearly all those who were accessories to Cæsar's death, met their doom at the hands of others, or committed suicide. Not long after Cæsar was buried there was a battle at Philippi, and a night or two before the battle, Brutus saw a specter in his tent. He says he heard a noise as if some one were approaching. He turned about and saw a gigantic figure of demoniacal aspect. Brutus said, "Art thou a demon, or a mortal?" Whereupon it answered, saying, "Brutus, I am thine evil genius! Thou shalt see me at Philippi." Brutus calmly replied, "I'll meet thee there." The battle worked the defeat of Brutus and Cassius. Cassius retired to his tent, followed by his servant Pindarus, whom he commanded to cut his head off, after covering his face up with a robe. This rash act caused Brutus to weep. Brutus said: "Cassius was the last of the Romans."

Brutus decided to follow the fashion of Cassius by putting himself to death. He blamed Cato for doing so, but, no doubt, some of you at least have seen people who would condemn others for doing what they have done, or will do when they have occasion. He said, "If I cannot restore my country to liberty, I can at least, by dying, deliver myself from slavery. We must fly from our enemy, not with our feet, but with our hands." He could not find any one to assist him in so dreadful a deed, and was compelled to command a slave to help accomplish the work, but Strato, one of his companions, said, "It shall never be said that Brutus, in his last extremity, stood in need of a slave for want of a friend."

Strato then held the hilt of the sword with both hands, upon which Brutus fell with such force that the sword went through his body. His head was taken to Rome and thrown at the feet of Cæsar's statue; his body was burned, and the ashes sent to Cæsar's widow, who made her sorrow manifest by swallowing burning coals till she died.

Strato bore the honor of doing the last act of friendship for Brutus. People in those days had queer ideas of what constituted true honor. Many do not understand its true meaning in later times. Some think it an honor to go to war to save their country, and slay their fellow-men who have as much right to live as they. How would a Christian feel, knowing that he had cut one soul off from the advantages of eternal salvation? How could he rest in peace of conscience in reflecting over the fact that he had destroyed all probability of drinking at the well of Life that had been opened up for all mankind? Such is not true honor, and the humble, quiet Christian may well feel thankful that he is not required to do any such acts of friendship.

Suicide was a very common occurrence in those days. There was a fig tree in Athens, noted for the great number of suicides committed beneath its branches. Timon, the owner of the tree, put up the following notice: "There is a fig tree in my yard, upon which many worthy citizens have hanged themselves, and as I am determined to build upon the spot; I give public notice that such as choose to die in this tree may go there before it is cut down."

We need only glance over a few of our dailies to see that suicide is greatly on the increase in our own time. Old and young, male and female, married and single, and people in all conditions of life, fall victims to the desire to end their troubles here. It may be well enough for those who can not see the beauties of the Bible teachings,—for those who have no future hope. But for those who believe in Christ and have a hope of immortality, his last state is worse than the first. I fondly hope that especially the youthful readers of these articles will early grasp the true value of life and the important work that is within the power of each of you to do, that you may improve your melancholy moments in ways that will both brighten your lives and cheer the hearts of those around you. No, No! when we rightly value life we have no desire to die, except we become as a sheaf, ready for the garner.

There were two contestants for the emperorship of Rome. It was not known for some time which would win, Anthony, or Augustus. But as in nearly all cases the one who perseveres with the greatest diligence, succeeds, Augustus paid strict attention to his own business, and made everything count that would advance his interests, while Anthony was making the beautiful, but profligate Cleopatra, queen of Egypt, a visit. She captivated his heart as well as Cæsar's. Anthony was met down the river Cydons by her. Her ship was an expensive one. Its stern was covered with gold, its sails were purple, and its oars were silver. The occasion was enlivened by a band of music, and little cupids standing on either side of the queen fanning her, while delightful perfumes were sprinkled around. Cleopatra, herself, was lying upon a couch, spangled with stars of gold, and she was adorned like Venus, the goddess of beauty. She contrived new pleasures each day to please Anthony, and his mind was so occupied with her that he forgot the interests at stake in Rome.

PETITIONING AGAINST NATIONAL SABBATH REST LAW.

BY REV. WILBUR F. CRAFTS.
Field Secretary of the American Sabbath Union.

IN opposition to the great petition for the National Sunday Rest Law, the Seventh-Day Adventists are circulating a counter-petition, which would be unworthy of the religious press, but for the fact that in many cases it has deceived the very elect. The Petition in duplicate to the United States Senate and House of Representatives, is as follows:

"We, the undersigned, adult residents of the United States, 21 years of age or more, hereby respectfully, but earnestly petition your Honorable Body not to pass any bill in regard to the observance of the Sabbath, or Lord's Day, or any other religious or ecclesiastical institution or rite; nor to favor in any way the adoption of any resolution for the amendment of the National Constitution that would in any way give preference to the principles of any one religion above another, or that will in any way sanction legislation upon the subject of religion; but that the total separation between Religion and the State, assured by our National Constitution as it now is, may forever remain as our fathers established it."

The original petition, which has called forth the above counter-petition, is as follows:

"The undersigned, adult residents of the United States, 21 years of age or more, hereby earnestly petition your honorable body to pass a bill, forbidding, in the Nation's Mail and Military service and in interstate commerce, and in the District of Columbia and the Territories, all Sunday traffic and work, except works of religion and works of real necessity and mercy, and such private work by those who observe another day, as will neither interfere with the general rest nor with public worship."

Certainly it would take more than an ordinary microscope to find in the petition just given, the conspiracies against American principles, which the counter-petition first quoted leads its readers to expect.

The counter-petition is not technically a falsehood, but it is certainly calculated to give the false impression (which, on the lips of those who circulate this counter petition, becomes more than implication), that the petition which millions of us have been urging before the National Congress, includes a proposition to enforce "Sabbath observance" as a "religious or ecclesiastical institution or rite," and also a proposition to weaken the present guarantees of our Constitution against a union of Church and State! Both of these implications are absurdly false. Our petition is headed: "For a Sunday Rest Bill," and simply asks a law to protect the people in their right to the weekly day of rest, without requiring of any one a religious observance of the day, and without hindering those who observe another day from either worshiping on that day, or working on the first day of the week—unless the work be of such a nature, shop-keeping for instance, as will interfere with the general rest. There are enough "private forms of work" that are generally permitted on Sunday to save any one from disobeying the command, "Six days shalt thou labor."

Out of the millions who have petitioned for a National Sunday Rest Law, only a few thousand have asked for the "Blair Sunday Rest Bill." But even this Bill, for four months and a half, has not been open to a single one of the charges made by implication against it in the counter-petition. The Bill, as originally presented, contained in the title and in the closing sentence, an intimation that the law was intended, secondarily to "promote the religious observance of the day," but the wording of the Bill itself showed that this was to be done, not by compelling any one to go to church or to abstain from doing so on any day, nor by forbidding any one to engage in work or recreation of a private character on the first day of the week, but only by giving opportunity for the culture of conscience on the part of those who desired it through the general suspension of public business. But it was stated in the hearing of the chief promoter of the counter-petition four months and a half ago, at the time of the Washington Convention and Hearing, that the word "promote" in this connection would be changed to "protect," so that public worship, so far as this bill is concerned, would simply have that protection which any legitimate institution of the American people is entitled to on any day. Except these brief references, the Blair Sunday Rest Bill is entirely occupied with provisions for "Sunday Rest." The Bill introduces no new principle of legislation. It is simply a supplement to the State Sunday Laws: first, to stop the breaking of those laws by the Nation through the Sunday work it requires in the various States in the Mail and Military Service; secondly, to give to those in these departments, and in interstate commerce, and in the Territories, and in the District of Columbia, who are beyond the control of State laws, the same protection in the matter of their rights of conscience and their right to the weekly rest, that is given to nearly all the people by the Sunday laws of the States.

Where, then, does the counter-petition find its ground for the implication, that there is in this measure a weakening of the American guarantees against a union of "Religion and the State?" We answer, By the very ingenious, but not ingenuous, device of treating two distinct measures that were before the last Congress as if they were one; by making one petition against both, instead of two separate petitions, which is the only honest method of getting the real sense of the people in regard to them. These two measures happen to come, both of them, from Senator Blair, who wrote one in behalf of one group of persons, and the other in behalf of another and much larger group. It would be quite as fair to group the non-partisan Educational Bill of the same Senator with the most extreme Republican bill he has ever favored, in order to get signatures against the Educational Bill from those who were only opposed to his Republican measure.

It will surprise those members of evangelical churches who have hastily signed the counter-petition, not because they are opposed to Sunday laws, but because they dislike the Union of Church and State, to know that the proposed Constitutional Amendment offered by Senator Blair, which is attacked in this counter-petition, so far from weakening the present attitude of the National Constitution in this matter, is a measure to strengthen it. At present only "Congress" is forbidden to set up "an establishment of religion." Senator Blair proposes to forbid State legislatures also to do this, as there is at present nothing to prevent Utah, when it becomes a State, from establishing Mormonism, or New Mexico, Catholicism.

But a minor provision in this Amendment—the proposition that the public schools shall "teach the principles of the Christian religion," by which is meant Christian morality, that is, morality with God and the Bible behind it, which, it is claimed, is a necessity of life in a republic, and which the friends of the Amendment declare can be taught without sectarianism, recognizing only the preference which the Government has shown from the first to Christian morality over Mormonism or Mohammedanism; recognizing "the Christian religion" only as the Government has always recognized it, by its chaplaincies, its oaths, its thanksgiving days. This provision of the Amendment has many opposers, even among evangelical Christians; and the shrewd originators of this counter-petition, perceiving that there is by no means a sufficient number opposed to Sunday laws, counting liquor-sellers, infidels and Sunday newspapers, with the little contingent of Seventh-Day worshipers, who form seven-tenths of one per cent of the population, to defeat the great Sunday Rest Petition, which has been indorsed by the chief labor organizations, and by nearly all denominations of Christians, have so extended their petition as to get signatures on the same document from those who are opposed to all Sunday laws, and also from friends of the Sabbath, who are only opposed to the attempt to teach Christian morals in public schools.

Not content with this, those who are urging this counter-petition by voice and pen, attempt to enlist yet others in their motley army, by declaring what is as ridiculous as it is false, that the Sunday Rest movement is only a preparatory step to a further measure compelling everybody to attend church on the first day of the week.

Many others are induced to sign the counter-petition out of hostility to Romanism. The promoters of this counter-petition, in their official publications, in public addresses, and through their assistants, most violently assert that the Sunday Rest movement is a scheme in the interest of papacy, alleging as conclusive proof the fact that it has been indorsed by Cardinal Gibbons. This endorsement was given after millions of Protestants had indorsed it, and at my own solicitation. To be consistent, the counter-petition should oppose the Labor movement and Total Abstinence movement in its manifold platform, on the ground that the Cardinal has indorsed both of these movements also.

The fundamental error of the chief promoter of this petition is, that he overlooks or ignores the fact that the same subject may have both a religious and a civil aspect, the one to be guarded by the Church, the other by the State. For instance, there are at least six of the Ten Commandments, violations of which are both sins against God, and crimes against man — the fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth. The pulpit condemns the violation of these commandments, both as sins against God, and as crimes against man, but the State forbids them only on the latter ground. Legislatures have nothing to do with the first sentence of the Fourth Commandment, "Remember the Sabbath Day to keep it holy," but the remainder of the Fourth Commandment, as much as all those that follow it, has to do with man's duties to his fellows, and it is only with these human relations of the Fourth Commandment, as they relate to "the general welfare," that the Sunday laws of to-day generally have to do. The laws of our statute books that re-enact the Seventh Commandment are as distinctly Biblical in their origin as the laws that re-enact a part of the Fourth Commandment. To "render to Cæsar the things that are Cæsar's, and to God the things that are God's," is for the State to forbid only what are crimes against man, leaving to Religion the task of dealing with what are only sins against God. But among crimes against man, the very chief and father of all is a lawless Sunday, in which neither greed nor lust are restrained by law. What the result would be, if the Seventh-Day people had their way, and all the Sunday laws were repealed, is not a matter of prophecy, but a matter of history. In Continental Europe, and in our own California, the no-law Sunday stands before us a day of ever-increasing dissipation and ever-decreasing rest. In the words of another, "The Sabbatic Eden must be guarded by the Angel of Law with flaming sword to keep back the spoiler."

There is a question of conscience involved in this National Sunday Rest Law, but it does not relate to the thousand or less Seventh-Day people, who would not come under its jurisdiction. In the mail and military service and in interstate commerce, no Seventh Day worshiper can be engaged consistently, and there are very few of them in the District of Columbia and the Territories. The real question of conscience is, whether two millions of our people who are now required to do on the Sabbath work for gain, which is not in any sense work of necessity or mercy, shall be required to continue working against health and conscience, or whether, by the proposed National Sunday Rest Law and the influence that would follow it, their rights of conscience and their right to rest shall be protected.

As to the alleged unconstitutionality of the National Sunday Rest Law, the answer is as swift and as sure as lightning. The Constitution already contains a National Sunday Rest Law, only it is an un-American monopoly in that it protects only the chief servant of the Republic. In section 7 occur these words: "If any bill shall not be returned by the President within ten days (Sundays excepted), after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law in like manner as if he had signed it," etc. This provision distinctly protects the President in his right to Sunday rest. That parenthesis, "(Sundays excepted)" is the acorn which we ask that Congress will allow to grow into the wide-spreading oak of the Sunday Rest Law, in whose shadow the lowliest servant of the Nation in the Mail and Military Service, and all others who are under the jurisdiction of Congress, as well as the President, may enjoy their Sunday rest.

New York, 23 Park Row, May 1, 1889.

THE SECOND BEAST.

BY W. F. GILLETT.

Number One.

"And I beheld another beast coming up out of the earth; and he had two horns like a lamb, and he spake as a dragon." —Rev. 13: 11.

In the discussion of the subject before us, it will be necessary to notice the meaning of the word beast. As it occurs in the prophecies, it is not to represent some part of the animal kingdom, but always refers to some form of government, power or nation. In proof of this we need only refer to Daniel 7. These four beasts which Daniel saw represent four universal kingdoms of the earth—Babylon, Media Persia, Greece, and Rome. See Daniel 6: 28; 2: 31–41; Rev. 4: 6 8. Here John saw four beasts around the throne. The first represents Asia, where the Gospel was first preached, the second, Africa, the third, Europe, the fourth, the United States. This is admitted by a great many learned men. So we see the word beast is used to represent some power or nation.

The beast, we are talking about, represents a certain power or form of government, that will yet arise before Christ makes his second advent into the world. The Revelator, like the prophet Daniel, was permitted to look through the downward stream of time, even the very end. In so doing he saw the Roman beast, which would make war with the saints and overcome them, Rev. 13: 7, and, after this beast had made war with the saints 1,260 days (years), he beheld another beast, that would exercise all the power of the first beast before him, and cause the earth and them that lived therein to worship the first beast, whose deadly wound was healed. Rev. 13: 12.

Has such a beast as this, yet arisen? We think not. If it has not, it surely will, sooner or later. This second beast has two horns like a lamb,—the first beast had ten horns. These ten horns represent ten kings. Rev. 17: 12. Just so the two horns of the second beast represent two kings or rulers. These ten kings had one mind, and gave their power and strength to the beast. Rev. 17: 13. Just so the two kings or rulers represented by the two horns will have one mind and give their power and strength to the second beast. It will be a consolidation of State and church, as it was in the days of Constantine. The church of Christ will not have anything to do with this consolidation, but as it was in the days when the first beast was formed, so it will be with this,—the Lord's people will remain separate, and will not receive the mark of the beast. He will cause people to worship the first beast, whose deadly wound was healed, or, in other words,—he will cause people to worship the Pope of Rome. This deadly wound which the first beast got, was made by the Reformers, but the churches which they organized departed so far from their teaching, that we fear the deadly wound is about healed. The mystery of iniquity doth already begin to work.

Waynesville, Mo.

"When you dispute with a fool, be is very certain to be similarly employed."

The Gospel Messenger,

A Weekly at $1.50 per Annum,

PUBLISHED BY

The Brethren's Publishing Co.

D. L. MILLER, - - - - - - Office Editor.

J. B. BRUMBAUGH, } - - - - Associate Editors.
J. G. ROYER, }

JOS. AMICK, - - - - - - Business Manager.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE,
R. H. Miller, S. S. Mohler, Daniel Hays

☞Communications for publication should be legibly written with BLACK ink on ONE side of the paper only. Do not attempt to interline, or to put on one page what ought to occupy two.

☞Anonymous communications will not be published.

☞Do not mix business with articles for publication. Keep your communications on separate sheets from all business.

☞Time is precious. We always have time to attend to business and to answer questions of importance, but please do not subject us to needless answering of letters.

☞The MESSENGER is mailed each week to all subscribers. If the address is correctly entered on our list, the paper must reach the person to whom it is addressed. If you do not get your paper, write us, giving particulars.

☞When changing your address, please give your FORMER as well as your FUTURE address in full, so as to avoid delay and misunderstanding.

☞Remittances should be made by Post-office Money Order, Drafts on New York or Chicago, or Registered Letters, made payable and addressed to "Brethren's Publishing Co., Mount Morris, Ill.," or "Brethren's Publishing Co., Huntingdon, Pa."

☞Always remit to the office from which you order your goods, no matter from where you receive them.

☞Do not send personal checks or drafts on interior banks, unless you send with them 25 cents each, to pay for collection.

☞Entered at the Post-office at Mount Morris, Ill., as second-class matter.

Mount Morris, Ill., - - - - Aug. 6, 1889.

MILLER AND SOMMER DEBATE.

BY the time this issue of the MESSENGER reaches our readers, the above-named work will be ready to send out. Quite a number have written to us that when it was ready they wanted a copy. You can now send in your orders and they will be promptly filled. Many who have ordered single copies, may now wish to add one or two more copies to their orders, to supply others living near them. We trust all who have ordered will now see if they can not, at least, get some one else to take a copy and thus assist us in circulating the book. With this object in view we ask all who have intimated their willingness to take a copy to make an effort to sell a few more copies and then renew their orders. We will wait to hear from you.

Of the merit of the work we spoke last week. It will, we think, be a valuable acquisition to our somewhat limited literature, and a copy of it should be placed in every home in our Brotherhood. The fact that ALL THE PROFITS arising from the publishing of the book will go into the missionary fund of the church, should be an inducement to give the book a large circulation. Send in your orders at once. $1.50 per copy; postage, prepaid. Special terms to agents.

UNDER date of July 24 our brother, T. T. Myers, writes: "We closed our meetings in the Iowa River church last night with six additions. This church has passed through some very dark clouds. At present a general good feeling exists, and we have reason to believe that prosperity is again dawning upon our brethren and sisters here. The Lord bless us."

BRO. I. J. ROSENBERGER will begin a meeting with the brethren at Bremen, Fairfield Co., Ohio, on the 8th inst.

FOUR weeks from to-day the school opens at this place. We understand the prospects are good for a large attendance.

THE next meeting of the General Church Erection and Missionary Committee will be held at this place on Tuesday, Oct. 1.

BRO. W. C. TEETER spent a few days at Mt. Morris last week. He is at the present time at Cerro Gordo, Ill., where he will remain a short time.

BRO. J. C. LAHMAN, in company with Bro. Isaac Hershey, is at work visiting the isolated members in Washington Territory. Read his letter in another column.

THE brethren at Bijou Hills, Dakota, are trying to arrange to hold a series of meetings during the fall. We hope they will succeed and that much good will result.

IF people generally made as great an effort to serve God as they do to make money and keep it, there would be a great deal more Christianity in the world than there is.

WE have just put into our printing establishment a new boiler and engine, list price $565, and now have plenty of power to run our machinery. The one taken out was used only three years but had become unsafe and necessitated a new one.

MY brother, my sister, would you be sustained by the hand of God, then constantly lean upon it, trusting his power to hold you up; would you be protected by the shadow of his wing, then patiently repose under it; would you have the riches of his grace in your heart, then give it unreservedly to him.

IN self-examination it is well to make a cross-examination. What we want to do is to get at the real condition of our hearts; and, unless we carefully test the case we may let some things slip that ought to be condemned. The importance of the case demands close and careful, direct cross-examination.

THE church has need of active, earnest workers and where shall she find them? Who is ready to say, "Lord, here am I" and to say it with the spirit of self-sacrifice and consecration that will forsake all for Christ's sake. "To-day let us arise and go to our work. To-morrow we shall arise and go to our reward."

Two articles in this issue of the MESSENGER, in the Missionary and Tract Department, should be carefully read. Bro. McCann gives us the true Gospel plan for giving and we will do well to read and re-read it. Bro. Thurston Miller touches on a subject that we should all look carefully into lest we be found robbing God.

BRO. J. A. ROOT, of Ozawkie, Kansas, reports as follows: "A special meeting was called last Tuesday by a dear young sister who wished to be received into fellowship. After a short service at 2 P. M., she was baptized and is now enjoying that peace of mind which the world can not give. Others are nigh the kingdom."

WE have received recently several essays of considerable merit but the writers have doubtless not been made aware of our rule in regard to anonymous articles. We do not publish them. They go to fill our capacious waste-basket. Always sign your full name to your productions, if you want them to appear in the MESSENGER.

BRO. J. G. ROYER spent a few days with the Brethren at Franklin Grove last week. At their regular meeting on Sunday, July 28, four young sisters were added to the church by baptism. May God bless these young converts and make them valiant soldiers of the cross.

FROM Bro. Jesse Y. Heckler we learn that Bro. L. Sutphin who was delegate to our late Annual Meeting from the Weeping Water church, Nebr., after visiting his friends in Virginia and Southern Illinois returned sick two weeks ago. At this writing he is a little better. He desires an interest in the prayers of all the saints.

HOW true it is that "our worst enemies are those which we carry about in our own hearts." The wise man fully understood this when he said, "Keep thy heart with all diligence; for out of it are the issues of life." We will do well to look constantly into our own hearts and see that the secret enemies lurking there are expelled.

OUR Business Manager, Bro. Joseph Amick, thinks of taking a two months' vacation. He will join Mr. G. L. McDonaugh's excursion to California, and visit his brother at Oceanside, starting about the last of this month. He has certainly earned a vacation and a rest. For eight years he has carefully looked after the business of the paper and has seldom been absent from his post. The many readers of the MESSENGER will join us in wishing him a safe journey, a pleasant visit and a happy return to his home and work.

FEW realize how strong a habit becomes until they try to break the chain that binds them. If you are in the habit of using a silly by-word, try to drop it from your speech and you will find it not an easy matter. If you have formed the tobacco habit, try to give it up and you will realize that you have met a giant in your pathway. And so it is with all habits, be they good or bad. We should be careful to form no bad habits, for a habit is like unto a cable, into which a thread is woven every day until at last it becomes so strong that we cannot break it.

WHEN Admiral Farragut's son was ten years old, the father said in his hearing that when he was old enough to make a contract and keep it, he had a bargain to offer him. The son rose up and asked the father what the contract was. The admiral said, "The proposal I intend to make is this: If you will not smoke or chew tobacco, drink intoxicating or strong wines, till you are twenty-one years of age, I will then give you one thousand dollars." "I am old enough to make that bargain now," said young Farragut: "I will accept the offer." The bargain was closed, and when young Farragut was twenty-one the cash was handed over to him.

BRO. J. S. MOHLER, of Morrill, Kans., in a private letter refers to the bountiful harvest in Kansas as follows: "Crops are matured and harvested, except corn. They are very heavy. Corn promises most excellent and is earing finely. The ground is just wet enough, and the weather warm enough, for all growing crops to do well. The estimated wheat crop of Kansas this year is thirty-five millions bushels. If the corn crop matures as it promises, it will be simply enormous. So with everything else both in the vegetable and fruit line. This is one of the plentiful years. 'Oh that men would praise God for his goodness and for his wonderful works to the children of men.' Ps. 107. If the harvest of souls were as great as that of the field, what a time of rejoicing there would be! Heaven would ring from end to end with angelic song for the bountiful harvest of souls."

We publish, in another column, a letter from Dr. Crafts on the Sabbath question. We have received a letter criticising our reply to a brother asking for advice in regard to signing a petition being circulated by the Seventh Day Adventists and others against the Sunday bill. We invite all to read what Dr. Crafts has to say in regard to the petition. It will be seen that it is calculated to deceive. We shall have something more to say about this petition next week and will refer to some of the efforts of the Adventists to introduce their literature among the people by, what seems to us, to say the least of it, not strictly fair and honorable means.

We have just received from the Book and Tract Committee an order to print the following tracts: "The Sabbath and the Lord's Day," by I. J. Rosenberger, 3,000 copies; "The Prayer Covering," by S. N. McCann, 5,000 copies; "Gold and Costly Array," by S. W. Hoover, 5,000 copies; "The Kiss of Charity," by M. M. Eshelman, 5,000 copies; "Plain Dressing," by D. L. Miller, 10,000 copies. These tracts will be ready to send out in a few weeks and may be ordered from the Brethren's Tract Work, Dayton, Ohio. We are glad to note that the brethren having this work in charge are zealously carrying it forward and our Brethren should not forget that it takes money to print and send out tracts. Don't forget this when you make your donations.

There are many people in the world who, not being familiar with the accepted theory of the movements of the earth around the sun, find it very difficult to believe that the earth is a globe and that it revolves about the sun once in a year, and turns upon its own axis once every twenty-four hours. And many still adhere to the theory so positively asserted by the Richmond, Va., parson who said, "The sun do move." The fact that there is a new theory in regard to the planet on which we live, known to those who accept it as the Zetetic Philosophy, may not be known to many of our readers. It is claimed by these scientists that the earth is flat and that the sun moves about it from east to west. We have before us a book, bearing the title, "One Hundred Proofs that the Earth is not a Globe." Our readers who may be interested in the subject can secure a copy of the work from the author, William Carpenter, 1223 Chew St., Baltimore. Price, 25 cents. It contains some very puzzling questions.

ADVENTISM REFUTED IN A NUTSHELL.

Under the above title we are printing for the author, Eld. D. M. Canright, of Otsego, Mich., who was, for many years, one of the leaders among the Seventh Day Adventists, and, who, several years ago, convinced of the error of their doctrine, left them, a series of ten tracts, making in all something like eighty pages, refuting most conclusively the teachings of these people.

The tracts are printed under the following subheads or titles, each of which is fully discussed. No. 1, "Origin, History, and Effects of Adventism;" No. 2, "The Advent Message Examined;" No. 3, "Twenty-five Objections to Adventism;" No. 4, "Mrs. White and her Visions;" No. 5, "The Jewish Sabbath Abolished;" No. 6, "Why We Keep Sunday;" No. 7, "Immortality;" No. 8, "Is Sunday-keeping the Mark of the Beast?" No. 9, "Not under the Law;" No. 10, "The Commandments in the New Testament."

Eld. Canright is well qualified to write upon the subject under discussion. In the first tract he opens by saying, "The author of this tract was a prominent writer and preacher of Adventism for twenty-eight years, hence he knows of what he affirms." That Elder Canright was all and more than he says he was to the Adventists, the records of the past most abundantly go to show. He held many discussions while with them, and was recognized as one of their strong men. As a writer, he was noted for the clearness of his style and his ability to put the claims of Adventism in their very best light. He wrote, preached, lectured and debated for the people of his choice for twenty-eight years and then, convinced of their errors, he withdrew from them. He now regards it as his duty to correct the errors that are so apparent to him, and he uses this means to set Adventism in its true light before the people.

Having read the tracts carefully in manuscript and looked over them as they came from the press, we are satisfied that they will do much toward setting those who are troubled about keeping the Seventh Day right. After reading them we are at a loss to know how any one can, after looking into the matter carefully and examining the Elder's arguments, have any doubts on the questions discussed. The Elder goes into details and gives facts that can not be refuted.

The tracts can be supplied from this office at 25 cents for the ten, postage prepaid. Orders can be sent in at any time and they will be promptly filled.

AN EXPLANATION.

A brother sends us the following extract which has been going the rounds of the religious press for the last month and asks us to explain the action of our Conference on the question referred to:

> The Cumberland Presbyterian says, "The Dunkards, at their late General Convention, decided that it was wrong for a Dunkard who is attending a religious service held by another denomination to rise when Christians are invited to stand. Why it is wrong we are not told. Some besides Dunkards will doubtless go to heaven; and since all will probably stand up together there, before the throne, it would seem to us not improper to begin to get used to it while here on earth."

The query upon which advice was asked, and the action taken by our Annual Meeting, refers to the very common practice which obtains largely among modern evangelists to have their congregations vote on various propositions relating to Christianity. The propositions assume various forms, depending upon the originality and fertility of the mind of the evangelist. "Let all Christians rise to their feet," or, "All who want to go to heaven," "All who want to be saved," "All who love Jesus," "All who want the prayers of God's people," are some of the forms most commonly used. These forms in themselves are not objectionable, but the tendency is to create excitement and in this way get people to come to Christ without counting the cost, and, as a result, they soon make shipwreck of their faith.

The Brethren have always been, and we trust ever will be, ready and willing to declare their loyalty to Jesus Christ, and to show to the world by exemplary lives and right living that they are Christians in the full sense of the term, but they do not deem it best to sound a trumpet before them in making it known to others. The popular method adopted by many modern revivalists to have their congregations vote on the question as to whether they want to go to heaven or whether they are Christians does not seem to them to be for the best and many very good people, besides the Brethren, take the same view of the case. We believe in using all lawful Gospel means to induce sinners to turn to Christ, but can not give assent to all the methods adopted by the typical modern revivalist to induce people to "stand up" for the purpose of swelling the number of converts to be reported by them, not so much for the glory of God, it is feared, as for their own glory. It is the abuse of what, if properly used, might result in some good, to which we object.

Not long since we heard of one of these evangelists, with the voting hobby largely developed, who asked his entire congregation to rise and join in singing a hymn, and before singing the last stanza he requested the people to remain standing as he had something to say to them. The request was assented to and then, after giving a short exhortation, he commenced his thinning-out process. "All who do not want to go to heaven may sit down," and some very good people, and they were not "Dunkards" either, sat down. The evangelist passed through the regular forms until he had voted on some half dozen propositions and had his congregation about equally divided, —one-half standing, the other half sitting, and it was noted that some who stood up did not bear good reputations while among those who sat down were some professing Christians of unimpeachable integrity. One of the latter said to us, "I do not propose to take any part in such a public parade of my religious convictions. It lowers the dignity of Christianity. I will not encourage it;" and he was among the first to sit down. As a result many were disgusted at the course pursued by the evangelist, and the meeting was a conspicuous failure.

Again the Brethren do not, in their own church, fellowship men who engage in the liquor traffic, no matter whether it be the rich distiller, the wholesale dealer, or the saloon-keeper. No one engaged in this kind of business in any form can unite with the Brethren church without first giving up this sin. Other churches admit them to their communion, and we feel that to unite with them as we should have to do, in standing with them as Christians, would be to sanction their evil deeds, and this we can not consistently do. The Brethren have, for more than a century, set their faces against the manufacture and sale of intoxicants and we can not conscientiously bid those God speed who are engaged in a sinful traffic.

When it becomes necessary for the followers of Christ to stand up in the congregation so that they may be known as Christians, it seems to us that there must be something wrong with their Christianity. Christ gave a better test of discipleship than this, one that will stand in the day of final accounts. "By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one for another." "If ye love me, keep my commandments." "He that hath my commandments, and keepeth them, he it is that loveth me." These are the true tests of discipleship and he that walks according to this rule will not need to tell the world that he is a Christian, for they will take knowledge of him that he has been with Christ and learned of him.

These are some of the reasons,—some of the delegates may have been influenced by others,—that induced our Conference to advise against this particular form, the propriety of which is doubted by many members of the churches that use it, of making it manifest to the world that we are Christians.

Missionary and Tract Work Department.

"Upon the first day of the week, let every one of you lay by him in store as God hath prospered him, that there be no gatherings when I come" 1 Cor. 16: 2

"Every man as he purposeth in his heart, so let him give. Not grudgingly or of necessity, for the Lord loveth a cheerful giver" 2 Cor. 9: 7

HOW MUCH SHALL WE GIVE?

"Every man according to his ability" "Every one as God hath prospered him." "Every man, according as he purposeth in his heart, so let him give." "For if there be first a willing mind, it is accepted according to that a man hath, and not according to that he hath not" 2 Cor. 8, 12.

Organization of Missionary Committee.

DANIEL VANIMAN, Foreman, - - - Virden, Ill.
D. L. MILLER, Secretary and Treasurer, - Mt. Morris, Ill.
G. B. ROYER, Assistant Secretary, - - Mt. Morris, Ill.

Organization of Book and Tract Work.

S. W. HOOVER, Foreman, - - - Dayton, Ohio.
S. BOCK, Secretary and Treasurer, - - Dayton, Ohio.

☞All donations intended for Missionary Work should be sent to D. L. MILLER, Mt. Morris, Ill.

☞All money for Tract Work should be sent to S. BOCK, Dayton, Ohio.

☞Money may be sent by Money Order, Registered Letter, or Drafts on New York or Chicago. Do not send personal checks, or drafts on interior towns, as it costs 25 cents to collect them.

☞Solicitors are requested to faithfully carry out the plan of Annual Meeting, that all our members be solicited to contribute at least twice a year for the Mission and Tract Work of the Church.

☞Notes for the Endowment Fund can be had by writing to the Secretary of either Work.

"HE that loves the Lord will love the church, and he that loves the church much, will be found doing much for her. The measure is in God's hand, and we will be measured according to our ability and opportunities."

IF but one-half, or less, of the money that is uselessly spent annually in our country, were expended in missionary work and in sending out tracts and other publications, setting forth the doctrine and faith of the church, as set forth in the Gospel, what a great work would be done for the enlarging of our Lord's kingdom! Notwithstanding our Lord said to the disciples, Go into all the world, and preach my Gospel, etc. (Mark 16: 15), and Paul said to the Corinthians (Second letter, 6th chapter), "We then, as WORKERS together with him, beseech you also that ye receive not the grace of God in vain," we ask, How? and answer (?) by manifesting a cold and almost utter indifference to the Lord's cause, as the manner of some is,—some, at least, of whom spend large sums of money for tobacco and other filthy things, not to satisfy, but to continue to feed a morbid appetite, neglecting to support the work of the church as a child of God and not of the world.—S. W. Hoover.

"YE CAN NOT SERVE GOD AND MAMMON." Luke 16: 13.

BY S. N. M'CANN.

Systematic Giving Contrasted with Sympathetic Giving.

BY having a treasury and giving to the Lord each week as he has prospered us, we systematize our work and give from the heart TO THE LORD, and not because we are moved, or wrought upon by sympathy. It is a giving to the Lord and will be rewarded, for "whosoever shall give to drink unto one of these little ones a cup of cold water only in the name of a disciple, verily I say unto you, he shall in no wise lose his reward." Matt. 10: 42.

Our giving, when we do not take God's plan and systematize our work, is too often a mere matter of sympathy, and if our sympathetic natures can not be aroused we do not give. Frequently sympathy is aroused and a liberal gift is made, sometimes imprudently, and almost always at the cost of penitence and remorse on the part of the giver, for as soon as sympathy subsides, reaction takes place and as a result harm is done to the giver instead of good. He is harmed because the reaction closes even the door of sympathy and opens the door of covetousness wider. Systematic weekly giving opens the wide door of love and forever bars the door of covetousness. Giving by system becomes a principle, a source of real joy, a feast of heavenly manna, a spring of living water, a true savor of sweet incense. A gift must be for Christ's sake, else it profits the giver nothing. It is strange fire upon their altars, bitter water in their streams, and fiery serpents in their paths, when given for any other than Christ's sake.

How to distribute gifts? is a question that puzzles every one who has no treasury for the Lord; but those who have a treasury always find plenty of the Lord's work, plenty of places to do a little good for Christ's sake, and are truly blessed in their giving from the Lord's treasury that which is consecrated to him. They are blessed in the consecration of their means to him, and blessed again in the distribution of the Lord's money. He who has no treasury for the Lord is constantly troubling himself about the means being misapplied; he has money for the Lord, if he could only find the right place to put it. But something is always in the way, for a proper use of the money would not be made until this is different and that is changed, and somebody else takes hold, or some one else lets go.

Consecration of a part of our means to the Lord each week will, in a large measure, remove all these difficulties. Hundreds of fields will open and we will feel that it is so little that we give, and the work needs so much, that we will truly wish for more means, realizing that much more could be advantageously used than we have in our treasury.

Sympathy will not be the ground of action, but a higher, purer and nobler motive power will move us in the distribution of the Lord's money. The action will not be spasmodic, but steady, onward, upward growth, both in good works and in Christian graces.

The person who fails to consecrate a part of his means to the Lord is much more apt to make a misapplication of a gift when he does give, than one who gives from a consecrated treasury. The one who consecrates can truly submit the case to the Lord, without any covetous or selfish feelings to hinder, while the one who fails to consecrate will be moved almost entirely by feelings of like or dislike to the person who holds a lawful claim for his help. This feeling of like or dislike arouses a corresponding amount of sympathy, which calls out the gift. This gift is often shortened by covetousness coming in between the time of resolving to give and the time of giving.

God's work systematically, conscientiously and prayerfully performed will give broader sympathies to us than spasmodic work can give. Sympathy will not be the controlling power, but a higher, purer and more God-like power will move us to action, not in particular cases alone, but in all cases where our power may reach. The person who specially consecrates a part of his means to the Lord will more readily make special sacrifices, will come nearest holding his goods as not his own, and more truly represent a faithful steward than he who makes no special consecration.

If we would only realize that gain is not godliness, but that godliness with contentment is great gain, presenting our bodies living sacrifices to God, we would be consecrated workers.

WILL A MAN ROB GOD?

BY THURSTON MILLER.

"Yet ye have robbed me. . . . In tithes and offerings." —Mal. 3: 8.

STRANGE that this language should be so very appropriate just at this particular time! And still more strange it is, that there is any occasion for using it against ourselves now, with the knowledge we have of the great need of the tithes for the prosecution of the cause of Christ! It is a painful thought to the minds of all who have the prosperity of the church and the welfare of souls at heart! It is a sad comment, indeed, upon our acknowledged faith in God, and professed confidence in his Word, that we, the favored children of our Father, and situated in this favored land, should withhold God's just dues, and slight his easy demands. In the days of Malachi this dereliction was called robbery. Is it not the same now? At that time God was willing for his people to appropriate nine-tenths of their substance to their own use; but the other tenth he claimed as his share. The withholding of God's share was accounted robbery. Are we, as a church, not guilty of the same offense to-day?

How can we expect a full measure of blessings to rest upon the work of the church under such circumstances? "For," said God, "ye are cursed with a curse: for ye have robbed me." Mal. 3: 9. True, the curse does not appear now, unless it is in mortifying blunders, and shameful failures, for the want of means to carry on the work to a glorious success; but the more is the pity that, when viewing God's long-suffering and forbearance, we should be so slack on our part.

Brethren, the great and growing enterprise of the church to-day is the missionary work. I say growing because, when comparing the present with the past, we find the result gratifying, and I am afraid, with some of us, too satisfying. Yet gratifying or satisfying as the advancement is, it is not owing to the tithes of the many, but to the liberality of the few, and of the latter I dare say a very small number has as yet come up to the legal demand. Some I know have exceeded it, but Paul would have "an equality." If a poor brother or sister, whose entire means for support is derived from work by the day or week, contributes a dollar, when at the same time the rich brother, whose possessions will aggregate twenty-five or fifty thousand dollars, donates five or ten dollars, it is not equality.

Then, again, I am afraid that some excuse themselves because there is a little balance in the treasury at the end of the year. Last year, after hearing the report of the Treasurer of the District of Northern Indiana, a brother remarked to the writer that "the Board had better spend what is on hand before asking for more." This little balance is on hand simply because it is not enough to use to advantage, and must lie idle until more is gathered.

Now, brethren, we pray for the "early and the latter rains." What for? That the planted seed may germinate, grow and mature. What for? That we may reap a bountiful yield. What for? Ah, too often, that our worldly interests may be advanced. To try to better our condition in life is all right, but it is not right to rob God in order to do it, neither is it necessary.

Hear the prophet again: "Bring me all the tithes, . . . and prove me now herewith, saith the Lord of hosts, if I will not open you the windows of heaven and pour you out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it." Mal. 3: 10.

O, then, let us "seek the Lord and his righteousness," and I believe that all our wants in needed blessings will be supplied far beyond our most sanguine expectations.

This summer is not only remarkable for fearful casualities in our land, but also for the unprecedented abundance of earth's productions. The former are merely local, the latter universal. Now comes the season for our Harvest Meetings, when praise and thank-offerings will be the special order of the day. No more appropriate time, nor better opportunity can be presented for proving our gratitude than to accompany our thank-offerings with bountiful contributions to the missionary cause in dollars and cents.

May the means contributed to the Lord's treasury this year be commensurate with the abundance of the harvest secured through his loving kindness, is my prayer, and then no laudable enterprise of the church will suffer for want of means.

ESSAYS.

"Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not be ashamed, rightly dividing the Word of Truth."

NO COMPROMISE WITH SATAN.

BY ISAAC CRIPE.

WHEN it comes to the subject of "Temperance," I always feel like casting in my mite on the side of the right, and this time I feel like giving just a little of my personal experience.

In 1844, after having just been married, I moved to what was then called the "Indian Reserve," now Howard County, Ind. I commenced clearing my farm in a neighborhood where there were many Indians but also several white settlers. After having cleared about six acres of heavy timber land, I asked my neighbors to assist in rolling the logs upon heaps. The question with every one was: "Are you going to have whisky?" I said, "No." "Well, we won't help you then." I asked fourteen different persons, without getting the promise of a single one to come and assist me. Finally one, a brother, offered to come. I said to him, "Brother, what am I to do?" He said, "Get a little whisky, and they will come, if you tell them you have it."

When I asked the same persons again, and had the same question put to me as before, I could answer, "Yes." All said they would come.

Next morning, bright and early, they came from all directions, and we all went to work with a will, and had a number of heaps ready before breakfast.

Then there was a call for the whisky. I brought out a half pint of the liquor. As I handed it to the first one, he said, "Is that for me?" "No," I said, "it is for you all." There was a murmur and some said, "That will never do."

Finally I said, "Friends, have mercy! I am poor, and so are you, my neighbors; let us not spend money for that which is of no benefit." "All right, Isaac," said one, "just so you are in our ring."

In consternation I saw my position and could only find words to say, "God be merciful to me, that I suffered myself to be led into a drunkard's ring! I never will do so again!"

Next spring we took a vote as to whether we would have whisky or not, and, I am glad to say, gained a victory for temperance. From that day when I was led into the drunkard's ring, I abhor a compromise of whatever sort, for Satan is sure to have a part in such work. Brethren, be firm, be true, be temperate, and do not give up the fight against intemperance, until "King Alcohol" is dethroned forever!

Owasco, Ind.

THE SUNDAY-SCHOOL.

BY J. W. KEISER.

To do the greatest amount of good we must have the entire confidence of our Sunday-school. Little folks soon learn to know whether we are in earnest or not, and if they conclude that we are not, our influence over them is lost and they usually form a very poor opinion of the cause we represent.

An address to the children in which we tell them we love them and wish them well, here and hereafter, is very often spoiled by passing them on the street without noticing them or speaking to them. Though their knowledge may be limited, they know that men do not treat a person whom they love, in this manner. Their young minds need attention from those whom they consider their superiors, and if they do not receive it, they think themselves unworthy of notice and drift from good to evil.

Are we among that class that thus use those of whom Christ said, "Of such is the kingdom of heaven"? God forbid! Remembering that the future welfare of the church and of our nation depends on the boys and girls of to-day, let us throw around them such influence as will make them better men and women than we are. Let us have a kind word for the little boys and girls everywhere, and let us instill such things in their little minds as will make them men and women that will be honored both in this world and that which is to come. We think the Sunday-school a very good place to accomplish this good work. Before many risings and settings of yonder sun, those old soldiers of the cross will have passed over the Jordan of death! Then some of these little boys will have to take their place and blow the silvery trumpet of the Gospel,—warning the sons and daughters of men to flee the wrath to come.

Let us work more earnestly in the Sunday-school, so that when the last loud trump shall sound, and all see the face and form of the Son of man,

"We shall come rejoicing,
Bringing in the sheaves."

Pioneer, Ohio.

FOLLOW ME.

BY A. REBECCA WAMPLER.

THIS is the first command that fell from the lips of our Blessed Savior after he had been tempted by the devil.

"Jesus walking by the sea of Galilee, saw two brethren casting a net into the sea; for they were fishers. And he called unto them, saying, Follow me, and I will make you fishers of men. And they straightway left their nets and followed him."

So it must be with all Christians. They must first throw off all incumbrances before they are able to follow after their Lord and Master.

With these words echoing in our ears, we are led down into the limpid stream, the pure waters of which form our baptismal grave. We are thus enabled to surround the table of the Lord, to partake of those sacred emblems, and to stoop down and wash one another's feet. We are given strength to do all this because our Master led the way, for our Shepherd will not lead where his sheep dare not follow. "For even hereunto were ye called: because Christ suffered for us, leaving us an example, that ye should follow in his steps." 1 Pet. 2: 21.

Then, how important, that we obey this first command, for in obeying this, we obey all others that follow! Had ever soldiers such a glorious Captain for their leader? How thankful, then, we ought to be that we have the blessed privilege of serving in the ranks of King Emmanuel and under the leadership of our own dear Jesus! We need not shudder at the thought of the silent grave. Just beyond we hear a calm, gentle voice, saying, "Come to me," and, with child-like simplicity, we reply in the words of the Psalmist, "Yea, Lord, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me."

Then let us gird ourselves for the conflict, putting on the whole armor of God, that we may be able to withstand in the evil day, and having done all, to stand!

Edom, Va.

BEHIND TIME.

A RAILROAD train was rushing along at almost lightning speed. A curve was just ahead, and beyond it was a station, at which the cars usually passed each other. The conductor was late, so late that the period during which the down train was to wait had nearly elapsed; but he hoped yet to pass the curve safely. Suddenly a locomotive dashed into sight right ahead. In an instant there was a collision. A shriek, a shock, and fifty souls were in eternity; and all because an engineer had been behind time.

A great battle was going on. Column after column had been precipitated for eight mortal hours on the enemy, posted along the ridge of a hill. The summer sun was sinking to the west; re-inforcements for the obstinate defenders were already in sight; it was necessary to carry the position with one final charge, or everything would be lost. A powerful corps had been summoned from across the country, and if it came up in season all would yet be well. The great conqueror, confident in its arrival, formed his reserve into an attacking column, and ordered them to charge the enemy. The whole world knows the result. Grouchy failed to appear; the imperial guard was beaten back; Waterloo was lost. Napoleon died a prisoner at St. Helena because one of his marshals was behind time.

A leading firm in commercial circles had long struggled against bankruptcy. As it had enormous assets in California, it expected remittances by a certain day; and, if the sums promised arrived, its credit, its honor, and its future prosperity would be preserved. But week after week elapsed without bringing the gold. At last came the fatal day on which the firm had bills maturing to enormous amounts. The steamer was telegraphed at day-break; but it was found, on inquiry, that she brought no funds, and the house failed. The next arrival brought nearly half a million to the insolvents, but it was too late; they were ruined because their agent, in remitting, had been behind time.

A condemned man was led out for execution. He had taken human life, but under circumstances of the greatest provocation, and public sympathy was active in his behalf. Thousands had signed petitions for a reprieve; a favorable answer had been expected the night before; and, though it had not come, even the sheriff felt confident that it would yet arrive in season. Thus the morning passed without the appearance of the messenger. The last moment had come. The prisoner took his place on the drop, the cap was drawn over his eyes, the bolt was drawn, and a lifeless body swung revolving in the wind. Just at that moment a horseman came into sight, galloping down hill, his steed covered with foam. He carried a packet in his right hand, which he waved rapidly to the crowd. He was the express rider with the reprieve. But he had come too late. A comparatively innocent man had died an ignominious death, because a watch had been five minutes too slow, making its bearer arrive behind time.

It is continually so in life. The best-laid plans, the most important affairs, the fortunes of individuals, the weal of nations, honor, happiness, life itself, are daily sacrificed because somebody is "behind time." There are men who always fail in whatever they undertake, simply because they are "behind time." There are others who put off reformation year by year, till death seizes them, and they perish unrepentant, because forever "behind time."

Five minutes in a crisis is worth years. It is but a little period, yet it has often saved a fortune or redeemed a people. If there is one virtue that should be cultivated more than another by him who would succeed in life, it is punctuality; if there is one error that should be avoided, it is being behind time.—Freeman Hunt.

CORRESPONDENCE.

"Write what thou seest, and send it unto the churches."

☞Church News solicited for this Department. If you have had a good meeting, send a report of it, so that others may rejoice with you. In writing give name of church, county and State. Be brief! Notes of Travel should be as short as possible. Land Advertisements are not solicited for this Department. We have an advertising page, and, if necessary, will issue supplements.

From the Hopewell Church, Pa.

Our little band was once more encouraged June 16. One dear sister became weary of living without a hope in Christ. She came about twenty miles to unite with the Brethren. She said she would have come long ago, but as her husband belonged to another denomination, he was opposed to her doing so. Her faith is so strong that she said she would rather part from her husband and make her home with her children, than remain outside of the fold of Christ. Would to God we could see more such faith manifested among some others, who are almost persuaded to come! After our Sunday-school, June 25, Bro. David Clapper was called away to a place,—distant about ten miles,—to perform the rite of baptism upon a man who desired to live with the Lord's people. Thus, one by one, sinners are forsaking sin and its pernicious ways.

June 30, the second quarter of our Sunday-school closed with an average of fifty-eight in attendance. There were 1,290 verses committed during the quarter. May God bless our Sunday-school! May our brethren and sisters take a more lively interest in the work of the Sunday-schools! There are still some that can not see, or do not want to see the good of Sunday-schools. Some claim that they learn more at Sunday-school than at any other meeting, for the simple reason that what is taught at Sunday-school is so simple that any one can understand. Our quarterly council will be held July 20, and, we hope, will be a profitable one! Daniel Ritchey.

Echoes from the Highway.

For the last twelve days we have been visiting in Fayette County, West Virginia. Our meetings have been well attended. The brethren here seem to be alive to the interest of the church. They meet with considerable persecution from other denominations, yet the ingathering of souls during the last two years has been very encouraging.

We have a warm Christian feeling and regard for the church here. It was here we formed a union with the church; here that we were called to the ministry thirty years ago, and to the full ministry and charge of the flock twenty years ago. Before the war, with [illegible] John Thomas, we did some labor in the work of the Lord, but it was at the close of the war that we labored more fully in the work of gathering the few scattered sheep together, and entering upon a more than defensive war against the elements of error and opposition. The doctrine of the Brethren was comparatively new, but the people in general were ready to consider seriously the claims of a whole Gospel, and nothing but the Gospel. From other denominations we received not a few into church fellowship. As might be expected, religious interest was lively, and as a result the Brethren have had to withstand much opposition from others, but as it is true, truth will prevail, the prospects continue favorable. At a series of meetings last fall, over twenty were added to the church, and we hope able brethren who can do so will come into this locality occasionally and help on the good work. Many here we regard as our children in the Gospel having been born of God under our humble efforts in the administration of the word and doctrine. Oh! may they ever continue faithful, until we all meet over on the shores of a blessed immortality, where quite a number have already gone. Yes, we miss them here, their children have taken their places in the church. We hope none of these dear ones will be missing in that happy home of the soul. This is our second visit here since we moved away, sixteen years ago, and it may be the last, but be that as it may, in memory's store there shall always be a vivid remembrance of those dear children of the Living God with whom we prayed and labored in bygone days.

To-day, July 23rd, we leave for Charleston, where we will make a twenty-four hour stop with the members, and then on to Cincinnati and the Miami Valley. Throughout Virginia and West Virginia the crops are unusually good.

J. S. Flory.

What Does It Mean?

My letters are written with a pressure and a drag, and an agony that renders my chirography well nigh at times illegible. And so it is quite natural that compositors should be sorely puzzled to make sense of all they find in my zigzag contributions.

Whether there is sorrow in Heaven, I know not, but I strongly incline to think there is a Divine sadness from the Eternal Triune down through all ranks of dominions and principalities and powers, and just men made perfect. Only it is such a sorrow that spoils neither the blessedness of God nor of His angelic and ransomed family. If God can be grieved, so can those whom He has preserved in their first estate, and redeemed by the blood of His Son.

In No 28, second page, at the opening of my letter to sister McGaughey, occurs an error which may not be so far out of the way after all. But I beg its correction nevertheless. For "Heaven-sorrowing" read "Heaven-savoring." And may both the sorrowing and the savoring be the very essence of our being, the daily, constant expression and attraction of our life. Mirrors of God: this is Paul's idea of the saints. 2 Cor. 3:18. God-begotten, God-developed, God-configured, God-enshrining, God-revealing, God-enjoying. This is our high-calling, the antepart of Heaven in the flesh, the Heaven of Heavens forever.

C. H. Balsbaugh.

A Few Thoughts.

In a former article I described our late communion and in that made mention of those who did not commune, in manner like this, "Those few who did not commune must look to that great Supper where all can commune and none need set back." I also said that we should make these meetings a bright page in our history instead of a dark one.

Some few think that my remarks were somewhat personal, but this is incorrect, as I had no one singled out from the rest unless it would be myself, as I merely tell my private experience in this matter. The darkest page in my history has been when I had an opportunity to commune and stayed away, and that, too, for a reason too simple for God to know (but he does know it). We read of Jesus rolling away the stone; therefore we are almost without excuse for non-attendance, are we not? We can have excuse upon excuse, but if one of these meetings would be our last (which, undoubtedly, will be the case sometime), and we would go to judgment and there the great Judge would ask our excuse for not communing, no doubt we would be like the man who was at the wedding without a wedding garment.

Jesus says, "Except ye eat the flesh of the Son of Man and drink his blood ye have no life in you." 1 John 6: 53.

"And when he had given thanks, he brake it, and said, Take, eat; this is my body, which is broken for you: this do in remembrance of me. After the same manner also he took the cup, when he had supped, saying, This cup is the new testament in my blood: this do ye, as oft as ye drink it, in remembrance of me. For as often as ye eat this bread and drink this cup, ye do shew the Lord's death till he come." 1 Cor. 11: 24–26.

In this light we think it our duty to participate in the service whenever we have an opportunity.

These few words are intended for those who sit back without a Gospel reason, and I hope none may think it refers to them, unless they are found to be so doing. Of course, sometimes there may not be room at the tables, or we may stay back to take care of children, or preserve order, etc We know not your reasons but God knows the very intent of your heart. Let us be careful what our excuses and reasons are for not partaking on such occasions. It should be our desire to commune, and we should prepare ourselves to be ready to commune at any time. These seasons are a great strength to us if we participate in them. May we all improve our time and opportunities hereafter, is our prayer!

Levi D. Bosserman.

Annual Meeting Observations.

We, in Virginia enjoyed a pleasant season, while so many of our ministering brethren were here, attending Annual Meeting, and giving us so much good, practical preaching! We enjoyed a season of rest, too, as our home ministry had but little labor to perform during that time. Brethren from abroad filled all regular appointments, and numerous special appointments. This season of rest was very agreeable, and, as well as the feast, much enjoyed.

Brethren, come again! If you cannot all come at once, come one at a time! Do not wait for special invitations, but come voluntarily and find a hearty welcome!

While standing at the office of Committee on Credentials at our late Annual Meeting, awaiting my turn, and observing the labors devolving upon the committee, I at once saw that their work could be facilitated; therefore, if in order, I suggest that our Publishing Company formulate and execute a "Certificate of Delegation." A tablet, or package of fifty or one hundred, could be purchased by each District Clerk, and he could distribute to the different congregations. The name of State District (which will be a very important feature), might be printed or stamped upon those furnished that District. S. W. Garber.

Hermitage, Virginia.

From Moscow, Idaho Territory.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY is our present field of labor. We had a personal acquaintance with Bro. Isaac Hershey for a long time. He has charge of all the Territory of Washington. The organization here was effected in 1876, by Bro. Brower. Bro. Hershey came here in 1878, when the country was quite new. There are now five ministers here, so far as known,—three of them in the first degree. Eld. Deeter moved here about one year ago. Some of the members live long distances apart.

This mission field extends from the State line of Oregon on the south, to the British possessions in the north.

Our location is about as central and convenient to our field of labor as at any point, being two and one-half miles from the State line. We just returned from a ten days' trip north, as far as Medical Lake, a distance of one hundred miles, with Bro. Hershey. Though our brother is feeble from an attack of paralysis, which he had last fall, he is gaining slowly. A few members are scattered here, at intervals of fifteen or twenty miles. Bro. S. M. Forney is their minister; he lives twenty miles farther north and eastward. At Spokane Falls there are eight or ten members. From Moscow, south to the State line, there is a distance of seventy-five miles. I shall go there in the near future, and visit a few members at several points. This being the central point, with a house of worship, and a surrounding territory of vast extent, the field is surely quite large,—larger than Pennsylvania. Considering the ministers named, some quite young, and all other denominations in the field, the work of preaching the Gospel to the people moves slowly, while sinners are perishing for the Bread of Life. This ride, so far through the dust, proved anew that the work of the missionary is not very desirable, so far as enjoyment of this life is concerned.

Bro. Hershey has been a pioneer,—first in Illinois, then in Kansas, California, and again here. His days of usefulness are well spent. Though now seventy-four years old, he is still willing to do what he can for extending the Kingdom of God here on earth. Truly the harvest is great, but the laborers few. When we think of the distance over which we traveled,—two thousand miles or more, with scarcely any Brethren,—and then recollect the command to go "into all the world and preach the Gospel," and think of the worth of one soul redeemed, what sacrifice should be made! Some one says, "Yes, go." But, "how shall they go except they be sent by the church?" Certainly, this is the work belonging to the church.

This reminds me of a Baptist minister with whom we talked here. He is a missionary from the States. When he came, the wants here were so great, and the habits so different that he became almost discouraged, and felt like returning. Upon more mature reflection, however, he thought, "Can I be useful in this reformatory movement? Take away the minister, and morals will go lower and lower."

I am not here as an advertising medium, but hope that I may be allowed to make a few statements. The climate is a very dry one. All that part lying east of the Cascade or Coast Range and west of the east line of Territory has a small amount of rain-fall from May to October, but has a snow-fall sufficient to mature crops. This year there is said to be much the shortest crop since the country was settled. Though the weather is warm at noon, there is usually a pleasant breeze; nights are cool and winters short. We have seen fine volunteer potatoes and wild oats. There is good success in growing all small grain crops. Many may think that this country, being so far north, is too cold for fruit, but on our late visit north we saw plenty of apples on very young trees, some being supported to prevent breaking. At one place we saw trees loaded with peaches. Thirty or forty miles down Snake River, an abundance of all kinds of fruit is grown and sold, retail, at five cents per pound. Peaches, plums, apricots, berries, etc., later in the season, may be had at lower rates. Corn, however, is not grown to any extent as the nights are too cool. Land is very hilly, compared with Illinois, but produces well. On the highest ground the surface has the appearance of volcanic formation.

J. C. LAHMAN.

From Spring Creek, Rockingham Co., Virginia.

SINCE July 9, I have been here at Bro. Martin P. Miller's with a severe attack of measles. I am now gradually recovering my strength and appetite. For faithful services rendered me in my utter dependence and sufferings during my prolonged illness, and for their noble hospitality to me, so far from my home, they deserve the honor of mankind and the rich blessings of God, spiritually and temporally. May choice blessings rest upon the Miller family, here and elsewhere, who have so kindly remembered me in my affliction. Any one desiring to communicate with me, may address me at Bremo Bluff, Fluvanna Co., Virginia. My home people will forward it to me wherever I travel, from place to place. JULIA A. WOOD.

An Appeal.

SOME time since I wrote to the MESSENGER concerning the work at Progress, Colorado, and asked that some one come to our aid. Since then I have learned that the railroads west of St. Louis and Chicago have agreed to make Harvest Excursions on August 6 and 20, September 10 and 24, and October 8, at one fare for the round trip.

To those Brethren who are contemplating a change of location, especially ministers, I would say that the work at Progress is in need of immediate and permanent ministerial help. Some one should live with us who is faithful in defending the doctrines we hold as essential,—some one who is energetic in their defense, and, at the same time, willing to undergo the hardships incident to settling in a new country.

If you want to buy land, it can be had at reasonable rates, or if you prefer to get government land, it can still be had within reasonable distance of "civilization," schools, churches and Sunday-schools. Each one must decide for himself where he will live, and these excursions offer opportunity to inspect our country cheaply. We are well satisfied with South-east Colorado, but others might not be. Come and see before you move. Write for further information to either A. L. Walker, W. H. Higgins, or C. C. Ing, at Progress, Colorado, or to me at Monitor, Kansas, where I now am, and expect to remain this summer.

NOAH GARMAN.

From Ashland, Ohio.

THE Maple Grove congregation met July 20, at one P. M., in quarterly council. We attended to all the business presented, and closed at four o'clock. Bro. George Worst, our Elder, is an expert in doing council-work, for which we commend him.

Our harvest meeting is appointed for Saturday, August 24. We will have preaching at 10:30; also preaching in the evening, and on the Sunday following. All are invited. Our Love-feast will occur Oct. 5. Services will commence at 10:30. Ministers and members of adjoining churches are invited to be with us. DAVID SNYDER.

From Timm's City, Tex.

WE are glad to say to the many dear brethren and sisters of the one common family that we are still among the living, doing the best we can in our new field of labor. We had preaching to-day by Bro. D. C. Cripe. We have regular meetings at our houses and also once a month at Timm's City. Our congregations are rather small, but the attention is commendable. We hope the day is not far distant when we can have more people to preach to. The prospects are pretty good at present. Quite a number of visitors were present this fall from Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, and points east.

We hope the brethren have seen the notice in the MESSENGER, No. 28, July 16, of the harvest excursions to this part of the West, Aug. 6 and 20, Sept. 10 and 24, and Oct. 8. We hope the brethren will avail themselves of this opportunity and give us a call. There is plenty of room here and all good, loyal members will find a hearty welcome among God's children.

The prospects, financially, are good. At this writing there is plenty of rain. So far growing crops are doing well. There will be considerable of corn, millet, sorghum, etc. May the blessings of the Lord attend all of God's children everywhere, is our prayer. N. T. BRUBAKER.

From Mississinewa Church, Indiana.

BRO. GEORGE E. STUDEBAKER, of McPherson, Kansas, has been with us, working in the interest of McPherson school. While with us he gave us eight good, practical sermons. After listening to a sermon by Bro. George on Sunday, July 14, two young sisters came forward and expressed a desire to unite with the church. The younger one was only ten years old. How pleasant it is to see the young remember their Creator in their youthful days! May they ever prove faithful! May God bless Bro. Studebaker wherever he goes! GEORGE L. STUDEBAKER.

From Buck Creek Church, Indiana.

AT our last council-meeting, June 22, three precious souls were added to the church by baptism, and two by letter. Many tears of joy were shed. An election was held for church officers. The lot for speaker fell on our much-loved young brother, Isaac Wike, and for deacons on brethren Joseph Oxley, Jacob Priddy and Charles Stauble. May the Lord bless our newly-elected brethren and their companions, and all of God's children.

D. H. REPLOGLE.

From Childress' Store, Va.

WE met in church council at the Mt. Jackson church, July 13. There being no special business before the meeting the time was utilized in admonishing the brethren and sisters to their duties.

Sunday morning we assembled at the church again, where there was a large crowd of people gathered to hear the Word preached. We had a very acceptable sermon on the subject of baptism. After services we repaired to the water where one precious soul was buried with Christ in baptism. Pray for us here; we have a strong opposition to meet. H. M. REED.

"A LARK goes up singing towards heaven; but if she stops the motion of her wings then straightway she falls. So it is with him who prays not. Prayer is the movement of the wings of the soul; it bears one heavenward, but without prayer he sinks in the filth of earthly impulses."

Litchfield News.

THE little band of brethren and sisters at this place held their quarterly council Saturday, July 13. All business passed off pleasantly. We organized a Sunday-school; also decided to have the dedicatory sermon of our church-house on Sunday, Sept. 1. Meetings are to continue for some time. We appointed our love-feast for Sept. 12.

We now have a commodious house of worship in Litchfield, where about 200 can be comfortably seated. Our prayer is that the Lord will bless the efforts that are being put forth here and that a great and powerful church of the Brethren may be established in this city. It would not be doing justice to the brethren of the Mission Board of Southern Illinois to close these notes without mentioning their love and zeal for the cause. As we are weak, financially, it was alone through them that we obtained a sufficient amount to purchase the church we now have. We desire the prayers of all the faithful! J. P. STUDEBAKER.

Walshville, Ill.

From Redbank, Ind.

BRO. R. T. POLLARD, of the Plum Creek congregation, came to us July 7, to fill appointments. Bro. J. P. Hetrick, of the Coventry congregation, also came and preached two sermons for us on the seventh, at which time conviction took hold of a young man and his wife, and, on the eve of the eighth, they were taken into the stream, some little distance from their home, and baptized by Bro. Hetrick. May God keep them faithful to the end!

But while we are made to rejoice over those who have enlisted in the army of the Lord, we are still made to feel sorry that some are suddenly taken away. On the evening of July 8 the sad story was told us that one more of our much esteemed friends had fallen a victim to the grim monster, Death. July 9 the funeral was preached by Bro. J. P. Hetrick to a crowded house of sorrowing friends, from these words, "Why should it be thought a thing incredible with you, that God should raise the dead?" Acts 26: 8.

D. A. HETRICK.

Come and Help.

WE often receive letters regarding this section of country and church, and would have, ere this, responded to the many inquiries were it not that we dislike to see land advertising in the MESSENGER. We have one great need here,—we want workers in the vineyard of the Master, such as will labor for the advancement of Christ's kingdom on earth, for the building up of churches, preaching the Gospel to the many anxious souls on the frontier, caring for the isolated children of God's house, gathering up the sons and daughters of those fathers and mothers in Israel in the East who are continually praying for their children, scattered over the great West.

We have always had more faith in the prayers of the righteous if they be fervent and effectual, than all the land inducements, in advancing the spiritual kingdom, for we have the grand and glorious promises of God, that if we seek the kingdom and its righteousness first, that he will add all these things.

Oh, what a promise! Grand and eternal are the promises of our Heavenly Father. What a sad mistake we poor mortals make by trying to gain the great promise some other way! How often are little churches, so hopefully started, broken up and the cause made to suffer, all because the world with the church, in one great land-boom, rushes madly on in advance, leaving Christ way behind. The day of such sad work, we hope, is past. Let us ask God to take the helm. With one loud, continued call we cry out, Come, you brethren, who have been prospered by God, you, who have a few hundred dollars to start you, come and help us do the Lord's work! Come, minister, deacon, laymember, you, whose life has been graced by a godly walk and whose heart is filled with zeal, love, and a greater desire to be obedient to the church, we greatly need you all! You, who feel a desire to do a greater work for the Master, here is the place. Some have not, for six long years, heard the Gospel preached. Many are the calls made that must go unfilled because of lack of means.

The missionaries of to-day are those who come to stay, and the active laymembers who live a godly life, are a very great help.

Brethren who desire a home of their own in this life, can obtain one here where soil is deep and rich, and the lay of the land is all that can be desired. So far crops are good and there is plenty of rain. We have land to suit all in price. Come and see! Let the country tell for itself. Our little church consists of thirteen members, with prospects for others. Any further information can be had by addressing the undersigned with stamp. J. P. HARSHBARGER.

Painter City, Scott Co., Kans.

From Boynton, Pa.

WE commenced our meeting in the Elk Lick church, June 14. On the 22nd we had our love-feast, and closed our meetings on the evening of June 23. Bro. Jesse Calvert was with us, and preached the Word with power. Sinners were made to tremble and saints to rejoice. As a result of the meetings, thirteen were added to the church by baptism. The meetings were well attended and marked attention was given to the Word preached.

SILAS HOOVER.

"THE worth of a thing depends on the want of it."

"IF we do not restore that which we have injuriously detained from another, repentance is not real, but feigned and hypocritical."

"No one of all redeemed souls on earth or in heaven, who has approached the Glorified for the ten thousandth time—who has even lived with him in the intimacy of familiar friendship—has ever ceased to find new visions of beauty and goodness, new depths of mercy and compassion, new revelations of sweetness and grace, new exhibitions of grace, wisdom and love."

Literary Notes.

EMERGENCY NOTES.—What to do in Accidents and Sudden Illness until the Doctor comes. By Glentworth R. Butler, A. M., M. D., Physician and Lecturer in three Hospitals and two Schools in Brooklyn, N. Y. Cloth, 12mo, 102 pp, 50 cents. New York: Funk and Wagnalls.

This is a small book, but it grapples with large subjects. It tells what to do in the emergencies that are ever arising in this world of multiplied diseases and accidents. Since "all that a man hath will he give for his life," and since that life often depends upon the enlightened common sense and prompt action of some friend on the spot, it is important for people to know how to act. Here, then, is a compendium of practical knowledge for the masses. It gives elementary descriptions of the body and its functions. It then gives various hints, suggestions, rules, and methods, to be applied in such cases as the following: Bleeding; fleshwounds; poisonous bites; fractures and sprains; burns, scalds, and frostbites; drowning and suffocation; foreign bodies in throat, nose, or eye; convulsions and croup; unconsciousness and shock; poisoning from acids, alkalies, arsenic, iodine, lead, mercury, opium, phosphorus, etc. It also tells how to prepare bandages and transport the sick and injured. The lessons are illustrated by 18 cuts. The book does not ignore medical skill but recommends it. But what if the doctor is distant, absent, disabled, or dead? Everything may depend upon assistance rendered during the first hour. This book tells how to render it.

FALLEN ASLEEP

"Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord."

McCARTNEY.—Within the limits of the Lower Cumberland church, Cumberland County, Pa, near Shiremanstown, July 12, Nancy McCartney, wife of Jerry McCartney, aged 66 years, 3 months and 26 days. Interment at the Stone church. Services by Levi S. Mohler and the writer from Heb. 4: 9. HARRY BEELMAN.

YODER.—In Louisville, Ohio, May 17, Mrs. Anna Yoder, wife of friend Christian Yoder, aged 79 years, 9 months and 8 days.

Deceased leaves a sorrowing husband, father, and four children. Services by Mr. Baker, of the River Brethren church, and the writer from the language, "Set thy house in order, for thou shalt die and not live." Isa. 38: 1.

SNYDER.—In the Canton church, Ohio, June 21, sister Mary Ann Snyder, aged 82 years, 11 months and 23 days.

Her husband, Bro. Henry Snyder, preceded her to the spirit world about one year. She was the mother of eight children, six of whom are living to mourn her death. Many of our old brethren will remember the pleasant communion seasons they enjoyed at their place, as their large barn and house were ever open for meetings of this kind. They lived in Osnaburg township, near Osnaburg, since November, 1826,—nearly sixty-two years,—until death separated them. Services by Eld. David Byers and the writer.

REESE.—Near Freeburg, Stark Co., Ohio, March 22, of pneumonia, sister Amelia Reese, aged 58 years, 5 months and 3 days.

Sister Amelia was one of our earnest workers in the good cause. Her seat was scarcely ever vacant in the sanctuary. She was one among the first in the sick room and at funerals in her neighborhood. She was loved by all who knew her. This was manifest on the day of her funeral, when between eight hundred and a thousand people had assembled. She leaves a husband and nine children to mourn her loss. Five of the children are in the church. God grant that the others may soon awaken to a sense of duty! Services by Eld. Conrad Kahler, assisted by the writer.

RAMSYER.—Near Paris, Ohio, June 11, Jacob Ramsyer, aged 43 years, 11 months and 3 days.

He was a member of the Omish church. He came from Albion, Indiana, where he had staid for some time. He lived but a few days after reaching his old home. Services June 13 by Eld. John Yoder, (Omish) of Wayne County, Ohio, the writer and others, to a very large concourse of people.

S. B. STUCKEY.

TINKEL.—At Landess, Grant Co., Ind., July 7, Eld. Jacob C. Tinkel, aged 48 years, 10 months and 3 days.

Our beloved brother was always remarkably zealous in the cause of his Master, often traveling through heat and cold to preach the glad tidings of salvation. Last winter he contracted a severe cold, resulting in pneumonia, from which attack he never fully recovered. His "earthly tabernacle continued to dissolve, and July 1 his reason was dethroned. He remained delirious until death relieved him.

He told the writer during his affliction that there was nothing so near and dear to his heart as the church,—nothing which so concerned him as the welfare of the body of Christ. He leaves an aged father, a dear companion and six dutiful children, three of whom have remembered their Creator in the days of their youth, and have chosen that good part which shall not be taken away from them. The church at this place sustains a great loss but our sorrow is mingled with joy in the thought that he has gone to rest.

Funeral sermon by Eld Jacob Crumrine, July 8, in the Landessville church, Ind. Text, 2 Cor. 5: 1, "For we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, a house not made with hands eternal in the heavens."

SARAH M. SAUNDERS.

STAMY.—In the Dry Creek congregation, Linn Co., Iowa, July 22, sister Rachel P. Stamy, wife of Eld. Stamy, deceased, aged 74 years and 7 days.

Our sister was born in Frederic County, Maryland, July 15, 1815. Her early piety, her motherly care for three mutes, her devotion as a wife and companion, her earnest and sincere consecration to God, and readiness to encourage the young and old, endeared her to all. Her disease was cancer, and her sufferings great and long, but she endured all with patience. She said, "Glory be to God; my suffering will soon be over! Blessed Jesus, I have fought a good fight; I have finished my course; I have kept the faith. Henceforth there is laid up for me the crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous Judge, will give me in that day! Farewell, brethren and sisters!" Funeral services conducted by Eld. John Zuck. Text, 2 Tim. 4: 6–8. THOS. G. SNYDER.

GUISERT.—At Beatrice, Nebr., July 14, infant son of Charley and Mary Guisert, aged 1 year, 10 months and 10 days. He was their only child and has gone to the glory land sooner than expected by them. Funeral services took place from Bro. Milton Raines' residence. J. E. YOUNG.

A Book for Every Member!

Classified Minutes

— OF —

ANNUAL MEETING.

☞ A full supply of this excellent work still on hand. Every member should have a copy of this work, in order to have a thorough understanding of the deliberations of the Annual Meeting in reference to church government, etc. Price, English Cloth, $1.50, post-paid; leather, $2.00.

☞ A responsible agent wanted in each congregation, to whom terms will be furnished upon application. Address,

BRETHREN'S PUBLISHING CO.,
Or, Huntingdon, Pa. Mount Morris, Ill.

Tract Work.

List of Publications for Sale,—Sent Postage Prepaid.

CLASS A.

No. 1. Golden Gleams or Family Chart, ...85 cts.

CLASS B.

No 1. Trine Immersion, Quinter, per copy ...$ 1 25
No 2. Europe and Bible Lands, Miller, per copy..... 1 50
No. 3 Doctrine of the Brethren Defended, per copy,..... 1 60
No. 4. Classified Minutes—A. M.,..... 1 50
No. 5 Two Sticks, Eshelman, ... 1 00
No 6 Close Communion, Wesb, per copy..... 40

CLASS C.

No 1. Annual Report, per copy,.....$ 05
No 2. Path of Life, per 100, $5.00; per copy, 06
No. 3 How to Become a Child of God, per 100, $4 00; per copy, ... 05
No. 4 Conversion, per 100, $2.50; per copy.... 03
No 5. Water Baptism, per 100, $1.50; per copy 02
No. 6. Single Immersion, per 100, $1 50; per copy,.. 02
No. 7. Sabbatism, per 100, $2.50; per copy..... 03
No. 8 Discussion on Trine Immersion, per copy,. 15
No. 9. Sermon on Baptism, per copy..... 03
No. 10. Glad Tidings of Salvation. per copy,... 03
No. 11. Life of Eld. S. Weir (Colored), per copy, ... 03
No. 12 Ten Reasons for Trine Immersion, per 100, $1.50, per copy,..... 02

CLASS D.

No 1 House We Live In, per 100, ... $ 60
No 2 Plan of Salvation, per 100,..... 60
No 3 Come, Let Us Reason Together, per 100 60
No 4. How Shall I Know that my Sins are Pardoned? per 100,..... 60
No 5 Intemperance, per 100, ... 60
No 6. Plain Dressing, per 100,..... 60
No 7 Which Is the Right Church? per 100... 60
No. 8. House We Live In (Swedish), per 100,.. 60
No 9. House We Live In (Danish), per 100,.. 60
No 10. Paul Wetzel's Reasons, Etc., (German), per 100, ... 60
No. 11 Sinner, Stop! per 100, ... 60
No 12 Faith, per 100,. 60
No. 13. The Light-House, per 100,..... 60
No. 14 Close Communion, per 100,..... 60
No. 15. The Truth Shall Make You Free, per 100,..... 60
No. 16. Modern Skepticism, per 100,..... 60
No 17 Infant Baptism Weighed in the Balances and Found Wanting, per 100,.... 60

CLASS E.

No 1. Pause and Think, per 100,..... 30
No. 2. What Do We Need? per 100,..... 30
No. 3 Right or Wrong Way, per 100,..... 30
No. 4. Why Am I Not a Christian? per 100,.... 30
No. 5. Saving Words, per 100,..... 30
No. 6. Christ and War, per 100,..... 30
No. 7. The Bond of Peace, per 100,..... 30
No. 8. The Kiss of Charity, per 100,..... 30
No. 9. The Evils of Intemperance, per 100,.. 30
No. 10. The Lost Opportunity, per 100,..... 30
No. 11. Are You a Christian? per 100,..... 30
No. 12. Arise, Get Thee Down, per 100,..... 30
No. 13 A Personal Appeal, per 100,..... 30
No. 14. Lying Among the Pots, per 100,..... 30
No. 15. Gold and Costly Array, per 100,..... 30
No. 16. The Brethren's Card, per 100,..... 30

Bibles, Testaments, Hymn Books of all styles, at publishers' lowest retail prices, which will be furnished on application.

Address

Brethren's Book and Tract Work,
DAYTON, OHIO

Church Register.

—:o:—

To those who would wish to collect and to preserve a complete history of their congregation and biography of each of their members, with names, dates of baptism or letter, dates of death or letter, and also dates of election, ordination of all the official members, and all events of importance occurring in each congregation, we would say, buy a copy of the Church Register. Price, containing sample pages and instructions, well bound, and sent by mail, $1.00 per copy. Address this office

⇒PUBLICATIONS⇐

☞ The following books, Sunday-school supplies, etc., are for sale by the Brethren's Publishing Co., Mt. Morris, Ill., or Huntingdon, Pa., to whom all orders should be addressed.

The Brethren's Quarterly.

For Sunday-school teachers and scholars this publication is of the greatest benefit. Look at our prices:

Single subscription, one year .....35 cents.
Single subscription, per quarter.....10 cents.
Three copies, per quarter.....25 cents.
Eight copies, per quarter.....40 cents.
Fifty copies and over.....4 cents each.

• • • Hymn Books • • •

New Tune and Hymn Books.

Half leather, single copy, post-paid .....$ 1 00
Per dozen, by express 10 00
Morocco, single copy, post-paid..... 1 25
Per dozen, by express 12 00
Morocco, gilt edge, per copy..... 1 50

Hymn Books, English.

Morocco, single copy, post-paid.....$ 90
Per dozen, post-paid 9 50
Per dozen, by express 9 00
Morocco, gilt edge, post-paid 1 10
Per dozen, post-paid 11 75
Per dozen, by express 11 25
Arabesque, single copy, post-paid..... 55
Per dozen, post-paid..... 5 80
Per dozen, by express 5 30
Sheep, single copy, post-paid .....
Per dozen, post-paid. .....
Per dozen, by express 5 30
Tuck, single copy, post-paid..... 1 00
Per dozen, post-paid..... 10 00
Per dozen, by express 9 50
Fine Limp, post-paid..... 1 00
Per dozen, post-paid..... 10 00
Fine Limp, single copy, gilt edge, post-paid 1 20
Fine Limp, gilt edge, per dozen..... 13 00
German and English, per copy,..... 90
" " " per dozen, mail, $9.50; express 9 00

The Young Disciple.

The YOUNG DISCIPLE is a neatly printed weekly, published especially for the moral benefit and religious instruction of our young folks.

Single copy, one year.....$ 50
Six copies (the sixth to the agent)..... 2 50
Ten copies..... 4 00

For Three Months or Thirteen Weeks.

20 copies to one address.....$1 70
30 " " " " 2 50
40 " " " " 3 35
50 " " " " 3 80
75 " " " " 5 20
100 " " " " 7 00

For Six Months or Twenty-Six Weeks.

20 copies to one address.....$ 3 35
30 " " " " 5 00
40 " " " " 6 60
50 " " " " 7 50
75 " " " " 10 20
100 " " " " 13 75

Our paper is designed for the Sunday-school and the home circle. We desire the name of every Sunday-school Superintendent in the Brotherhood, and want an agent in every church. Send for sample copies.

Sunday-School Requisites.

The following list of things is needed in all Sunday-schools:

Testaments, Flexible, red edge, per doz.....$1 00
Minute Books, each..... 50
Class Books, per doz 75
Union Primers, with fine engravings, per doz..... 70

New and Beautiful Sunday-School Cards.

"The Gem," 50 picture cards, each with Bible Text, verse of hymn..... 35
250 Reward Tickets—verse of Scripture—red or blue, 20

Miscellaneous Works.

☞ We are prepared to furnish any book in the market at publishers' retail price. Religious works a specialty.

Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress.—An excellent edition of this good work, printed on good paper, finely illustrated with forty engravings, at the low price of $1 00 per copy.

Brown's Pocket Concordance. — This is a very reliable, low-priced work, one that is handy for reference Price, 50 cents

Biblical Antiquities.—By John Nevin. Gives a concise account of Bible burial and customs, available to all students of Bible subjects. Price $1 50

Barnes' Notes.—On the New Testament, 11 vols cloth, $16 50. Barnes' Notes on the Psalms, 3 vols the set, $4 50. Barnes' Notes on Daniel, 2 vol $3 00. Barnes' Notes on Isaiah, 2 vol the set, $3 00. Barnes' Notes on Job, 2 vol the set, $3 00

Close Communion.—By Enoch West. Treats this important subject in a simple though conclusive manner Price 50 cents

Cruden's Concordance.—A very complete work Price, cloth, $1 50, sheep, $2 25

Companion to the Bible.—This valuable work is so full of instruction that it can not fail to be of great benefit to every Christian. Price $1 75

Campbell and Owen's Debate. Contains a complete investigation of the evidences of Christianity Price, $1 50

Classified Minutes of Annual Meeting. A work of rare interest for all who desire to be well informed in the church work, from the early days of our Brethren until the present Price, cloth, $1 50; leather, $2 00

Europe and Bible Lands.—By D. L. Miller. A book for the people—now a comprehensive and thorough one—many higher priced works. Price cloth, $1 50; leather, $2 00

Family Bible, with Notes and Instructions.—Contains the harmony of the Gospels, Chronology, Maps, Tables of Weights and Measures, Family Record, eight elegant illustrations, etc Price, substantially bound, $6 00

Family Bible. This is a fine and very complete work. New and old Versions of the New Testament side by side, concordance and everything usually found in Bibles of the kind. Price only $4 50 Sent by express only

German and English Testaments.—American Bible Society Edition. Price 75 cents.

Josephus' Complete Works.—Large type, 1 vol 8vo. Illustrated with many steel and wood engravings. Library sheep, $3 50

Life on Wheels.—By J. S. Mohler. The idea of the book is to represent the way to heaven, by using the different terms connected with an ordinary railroad. Price, single copy, 10 cents

New Testament and Psalms with Notes.—Invaluable for Bible students, Sunday-school teachers, etc. Price, cloth, $2 00.

Origin of Single Immersion.—By Eld. James Quinter. Price, 2 copies, 5 cents, 12 copies, 25 cents, 50 copies, $1 00

Quinter and McConnell Debate.—A debate on Trine Immersion, the Lord's Supper, and Feet-washing, between Eld. James Quinter (German Baptist) and Eld. N. A. McConnell (Christian) held at Dry Creek, Iowa, 1867 Price, $1 50.

Reference and Pronouncing Testament.—A copious selection of parallel and illustrated passages and a classified pronunciation of the proper names and other difficult words, together with a short dictionary and gazetteer of the New Testament. Price, $1 00, postpaid

Reason and Revelation.—By R. Milligan. Should be in the hands of every Bible student Price $2.00.

Sacred Geography and Antiquities.—A practical, helpful work for Bible students, ministers and Sunday-school teachers. Price, $2 25.

Smith's Bible Dictionary.—Edited by Pebubet. Cloth, $2 50, leather, $3 00.

Sabbatism.—By M. M. Eshelman. Treats the Sabbath question, showing that the first day of the week is the day for assembling in worship Price 10 cents, 15 copies $1 00

The Law and Sabbath.—The Gospel and Lord's Day.—Why I Quit Keeping the Jewish Sabbath. The author of this pamphlet was once led to observe the Saturday-Sabbath, but has since, for a little examination, renounced the error. Ample proof against keeping the Jewish Sabbath in the Christian Dispensation is given. Sixty-four pages, printed in nice, clear type. Price 20 cents, 5 copies, $1 00.

Two Sticks, or Lost Ten Tribes of Israel Discovered.—By M. M. Eshelman. Maintains that the Anglo-Saxons are the offspring of the Ten Tribes, that the Jews and Israelites are two distinct people, but will again be united in Palestine, 215 pages. Cloth, price, $1 00.

The Path of Life.—An interesting tract for everybody Price 10 cents per copy, 12 copies $0 00

Trine Immersion.—A vindication of the apostolic form of Christian baptism. By Eld. James Quinter. A most complete and reliable work on the subject Price, cloth, single copy, $1 25, leather, $1 75.

The House We Live In.—By Daniel Vaniman. It gives a concise account of the Faith and practice of the Brethren. Price, 100 copies, 50 cents

The Doctrine of the Brethren Defended.—A complete work on the distinctive principles of our Fraternity. Price, cloth, $1.50.

The Story of the Bible.—An excellent volume for old and young. It will interest and instruct all those desiring a knowledge of the Scriptures Price $1.00.

Universalism against Itself.—By Hall. One of the best works against Universalism. Price $1 00

Full Report of Annual Meeting.

The Report of the meeting for 1889 should be read by all. Price, per copy, 25 cts.; per dozen $2.50.

Announcements.

LOVE-FEASTS.

Aug. 9, at Bear Creek church, Palmer, Christian Co., Ill.

Aug 10 and 11, at 3 P. M., at the house of B. M Peterson, Fairview congregation, Sherman Co., Kans

Aug 10 and 11 North Solomon church, Osborne County, Kansas, one and one-half miles north of Portis.

Aug 10 at 2 P M., Ogan's Creek, five miles southeast of North Manchester, Wabash Co., Ind.

Aug. 24 and 25, at 1 P. M., Oak Grove congregation at Stone meeting-house ten miles south of Iowa City. Persons coming by rail stop at Iowa Junction on B. C. R. & N Railroad.

Aug. 31, at 3 o'clock P M., Turkey Creek church, Pawnee Co., Nebraska, at H. C. Martin's 2½ miles north-west of DuRois station on Rock Island Railroad at which place persons will be met and conveyed to place of meeting on the 31st, or if coming sooner, notify H C. Martin, DuRois, Neb Those coming to Table Rock on B. & M. R. R. notify B. F. Flory.

Sept. 3, at 10 A. M., Sugar Ridge church, Hancock Co., Ohio.

Sept. 5 and 6, at 10 A. M., Lower Fall Creek church, Ind.

Sept. 6, at 10 A. M., Olathe church, Kans., at the residence of Wm. Brunks, 1 mile north of Olathe.

Sept. 7, at 5 P M, Berrien church, Berrien County, Michigan.

Sept. 7 and 8, at 3 P. M., Frederic, Monroe Co., Ia.

Sept. 7 and 8, at 10 A. M., Anglaize Chapel, ¾ mile from Dupont, Ohio, on the Clover Leaf Railroad; 2½ miles from Hartsburg, on the Nickle Plate Railroad.

Sept 7 and 8, at 2 P. M., Juniata congregation, 1 mile south and 1½ mile east of Roseland, Adams Co., Neb.

Sept. 7 and 8, at 10 A. M., Pine Creek church, Ogle Co., Ill.

Sept. 7, at 10 A. M., Somerset church. Vernon, Wabash Co., Ind.

Sept. 7, at 10 A. M., Summit church, ½ mile north and 2 miles east of Summitsville, Madison Co., Ind

Sept. 7 and 8, at 10 A. M., Vermillion church, Marshall Co., Kansas at Simon Studebaker's, 7 miles north of Beattie, Kansas.

Sept 7, Summit church, Wabash Co., Ind

Sept 7 and 8, State Centre church, Marshall Co., Iowa.

Sept. 7 and 8, at 2 P. M., Martins Creek church, Wayne Co., Ill., at Bro. James Mauck. ½ mile west of depot, Jeffersonville.

Sept 7 and 8, at Filley church, at the house of Bro H. Miller, 2½ miles south-west of Filley. Those coming on the Rock Island Railway stop off at Virginia. Those on the B. & M stop at Filley, Nebraska.

Sept. 7, at 3 P M., Rock Creek church, Kansas, six miles north of Sabetha, Nemaha Co., Kans. Those coming by railroad will please notify E. Cober one week beforehand, and they will be conveyed to place of meeting.

Sept 11 and 12, Scott Valley church, Kansas, at Bro. Peter Howe's, nine miles south of Waverly, and ten and one-half miles north-east of Burlington. Brethren will be met at Burlington, Waverly and Westphalia, by notifying E. J. Miller, or Charles Yearout, Westphalia, Kansas.

Sept. 12, at 2. A M., Wakendah congregation at the Rockingham meeting-house, Ray Co., Mo.

Sept. 21, at 5 P M., South Bend church, Ind.

Sept. 13, at 10 A. M., Sugar Creek church, Whitley Co., Ind.

Sept 13, at 1 P. M., Wade's Branch church, in Forest Park, Ottawa, Kans. Assembly Hall and the cots of the Chautauqua Association have been secured for the accommodation of all who wish to lodge on the ground

Sept. 14 and 15, at 10 A. M., Sabetha, Kans.

Sept 21, at 11 A M., Kildbuck church, Ind., 9 miles west of Muncie, on the Jackson St. Pike. Those coming by rail will be met at Reed Station, by notifying Job Mahoney, Reed, Delaware Co., Ind., or Walter Bowers, Gilman, Madison Co., Ind

Sept. 23, at 10 A M., Maumee church, Defiance Co., Ohio. Brethren coming by railroad will stop off at Sherwood.

Sept 28 and 29, at 11 A. M., English River congregation, Keokuk Co., Iowa.

Oct. 3, at 2 P. M., Arcadia church, Ind,

Oct 4, at 10 A M., Nettle Creek church, near Hagerstown, Wayne Co., Ind.

Oct. 4, at 4 P. M., Union church, Marshall Co., Ind., 5 miles west of Plymouth and 5½ miles north of Burr Oak. Brethren will be met at the above places either day before or on day of meeting.

Oct. 5, at 2 P. M., Sugar Creek church, Allen Co., Ohio.

Oct. 5, at 3 P. M., Milmine church, Ill.

Oct. 5, at 10 A. M., Weeping Water church, Cass Co., Nebr. On M P. R. R. trains will be met at Eagle; on B. & M. R. R., at Greenwood.

Aug 24 and 25, at 10 A. M., at Washington church at the residence of Jacob Merky, north-east of Washington, Washington Co., Kans.

Aug. 31 and Sept 1, at 3 P. M., Iowa River church, Quarry, Marshall Co., Iowa

Sept. 7 and 8, at 2 P. M., Berkey church, Vancleaversville Station, W Va, on the B & O. R. R.

Sept 7, at 4 P. M., Urbana church 4 miles east of Urbana, Champaign Co., Ill.

Sept 7 at Bro J. J. Wissam's, 3 miles west of Reece, Greenwood Co., Kansas

Sept 7 and 8, in Crooked congregation, Washington Co., Iowa

Sept. 8, Long Branch church, Harrison County, Mo. A protracted meeting will commence Aug. 31 and continue over the love-feast. Those coming by rail will stop off at New Hampton and Ridgway, on the C., B. & Q. R. R., running from St. Joe to Des Moines, and notify William Echard, Martinsville, Missouri, giving date

Oct. 5 and 6, at 3 P. M., Exeter church, at Bro S. H. Taylor's, 4 miles south-east of McCool Junction, Nebr.

Oct. 5, at 4 P. M., Elkhart Valley church, Elkhart Co., Ind

Oct 5 and 6, at 10 A. M., South Morrill church, Kans.

Oct 5, Grand Prairie church, near Sidney, Nebr.

Oct 5 and 6, North Beatrice church, Gage Co., Nebr., 7 miles north-east of Bentrice.

Oct. 5, at 2 P. M., Clear Creek church, Huntington Co., Ind.

Oct. 5 and 6, at Middle Creek church, Iowa.

Oct 5 and 6, at 2 P. M., Grundy church, Grundy Co., Iowa.

Oct. 5, at 1.30 P. M., Pleasant View church, Reno Co., Kans., 10 miles south west of Hutchinson.

Oct 10, at 10 A. M., Logan church, Logan Co., O.

Oct. 11, at 4 P. M., Camp Creek church, Kosciusko Co., Ind. The meeting will be held 1½ miles north of Etna Green.

Oct. 12 Longmont, Colo One week's meeting before feast.

Nov. 2 and 3. Broadfording church, Washington Co., Md Continued meetings to commence Oct. 26

HARVEST EXCURSIONS

To the Pan Handle of Texas. Many of the brethren having asked me by letter before and since the Annual Meeting, and personally, while at the Annual Meeting whether there would be cheap excursions to the Pan Handle of Texas, and as I invariably told them I would answer through the "GOSPEL MESSENGER," I take pleasure now in announcing that the Western States Passenger Association and the Trans-Missouri Association, in session at Chicago June 27th, agreed to run Harvest Excursions from Eastern points to all points in Kansas, Colorado, and the Pan Handle of Texas, at the rate of one fare for the round trip, tickets good for thirty days from date of sale, and stop-overs will be allowed within the limits at all points west of the Missouri river. The days of sale are August 6 and 20, September 10 and 24, and October 8

I will be pleased to answer all further enquiries by mail, by sending maps, routes, etc

GEO. L. McDONALDH,
Trav. Agt Santa Fe Route,
St. Louis, Mo.

HARVEST EXCURSIONS VIA THE UNION PACIFIC RAILWAY.

The Union Pacific Railway takes pleasure in announcing that it will run Harvest Excursions to all points in Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado, Wyoming, Utah Idaho and Montana on the following dates: August 6th and 27th, September 10th and 24th, and October 8th. For these occasions the low rate of one fare for the round trip has been made. Tickets good thirty days and stop-over privileges will be allowed in both directions for those who may desire to see the country Do not miss the opportunity to visit the great and growing West at this low rate. It affords the business men, stock raiser, mining prospector, and farmer an unequalled chance to see the unlimited resources of the western country

For tickets, rates pamphlets, etc, apply to your nearest ticket agent or W. H. Knight, Gen'l. Agt., 191 South Clark St., Chicago, Ill.

ADVERTISEMENTS.

Rates per Inch each Insertion.

One time or more	$1 50
One month (4 times)	4 20
Three months (12 times)	12 00
Six months (25 times)	24 00
One year (52 time)	70
No ads. inserted accepted for less than	1 00

☞ No Cuts inserted, unless on metal base No double-column or objectionable advertisements admitted.

J. B. COLCLESSER,

ROANOKE, HUNTINGTON CO., IND., Breeder of Purely-bred Poland China Swine. My herd is made up of the most fashionable strains known to the breed Stock recorded in C. R and O. R. Pigs and aged animals for sale. Gilts bred and for sale January and February 1890 Breeding a specialty. Correspondence or personal inspection solicited 22t25

ROYAL

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and can not be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders SOLD ONLY IN CANS

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO.,
106 Wall St., N. Y

Gospel Chimes!

BY WM. BEERY.

THIS little book has been selling more rapidly than the publishers anticipated. The first edition was almost exhausted in the first two months. A second edition is now printed.

Following are a few of the good words received from brethren and other competent judges:

"An Excellent Book for Sunday-schools."

"After having carefully examined "Gospel Chimes" I can pronounce it an excellent book for Sunday-schools, and hope all the schools of the Brethren will adopt the same Our church is conceded to have the best congregational singing of any denomination, and if it is improved, as it can be, by the use of 'Gospel Chimes,' the power for good will be surprising "—GEO. B. HOLSINGER, Teacher of Music, Bridgewater College, Va.

"Fresh and Pleasing Melodies; Thoughtful, Spiritual, and Poetical Words."

"It gives me pleasure to speak in terms of praise of your new book, 'Gospel Chimes' It contains many fresh and pleasing melodies to which are wedded thoughtful, spiritual and poetical words. I trust it will hold its own in competition with the numerous books now in the market and find a large sale."—T. M. TOWNE, Chicago, Ill., one of America's best writers of Sunday-school music.

"Better than Many Similar Publications."

"Copy of your new book received It contains some very pleasing and useful music, while it is to be commended especially for the selection of hymns. Good Sunday school hymns are in great demand in Sunday school work, and in this particular 'Gospel Chimes' is better than many similar publications."—A. J. SHOWALTER, the leading writer and publisher of Sunday-school and church music in the South.

"An Excellent Collection."

"I have carefully examined your late Sunday-school singing book, 'Gospel Chimes,' and find it to be an excellent collection for the purpose designed, both in words and music "—S. W. STRAUB, Chicago, Ill., the popular Western writer and publisher of Sunday-school music "

Bro. Beery has had a large experience in Sunday-school work, and the book which we offer to the brethren, and the public in general, evinces the exercise of talent as well as good judgment. The religious purity of the hymns contributed by sister Beery adds much to the excellence of the book.

Price per single copy, 30 cts.; per dozen by mail, $3.00; by express, $2.60. Lots of more than a dozen must be sent by express.

BRETHREN'S PUBLISHING CO.,
Or, Huntingdon, Pa. Mt. Morris, Ill.

Mount Morris College

WITH pleasure we inform the numerous friends of our school that the past year was one among the most successful in the history of the school Students, instructors, officers, church,—all moved on so harmoniously that success followed as a result. The Lord be blessed for it all

The fondest hopes are entertained for the coming year The rapidly growing sentiment among our people in favor of schools where are taught by example, thus welcoming the poor and the rich alike to intellectual and religious feasts, should be hailed with joy by all. Parents incur fearful responsibility, and expose their children to very great danger when they send them to those cheap, irreligious schools of fashion and infidelity, when the open doors of schools where true vital piety is taught, invite all to enter God help us to save the children!

Plain Dressing, Plain Living, and Social Equality

The facilities for learning at Mt Morris College are ample.

The Classical, Latin-Scientific, Scientific, and English or Teachers' Courses

are carried through three years in the Academic Department. Following this is a two years' Seminary Course, the completion of which entitles the student to the degree of "Bachelor of Literature." The Seminary Course prepares students to enter the Junior Class in a regular College Course. In the

Commercial Department

Book-keeping, Actual Business, Commercial Law, Business Correspondence, Plain and Ornamental Penmanship afford superior facilities to prepare for a business life

The Music and Art Departments

afford facilities for Vocal and Instrumental Music, Voice Culture, Harmony, Freehand and Industrial Drawing and Painting Last but not least is the

Bible Department

which comprises instruction in Old and New Testament History and Sunday-school Work. The purpose of this work is to assist young people to prepare themselves for usefulness in church and Sunday-school work. Since it does not conflict with the student's regular line of work, and costs no extra tuition, every one should take it

The growing interest in this department has led us to arrange for a special term of four weeks, beginning Jan. 6, '90 The instruction will comprise Sermons by Eld. Robert H Miller, on "Evidences of Christianity;" "Church Doctrine," and "Church Government," Lectures by D. L. Miller, on "Bible Land," "Relation of the Land to the Book," "The City of the Great King," etc.; "Bible and Sunday-school Work," by E. S. Young.

Mt. Morris is a quiet country town free from saloons, billiard parlors, and theaters. It is in every sense a school town where parents may send their children, feeling assured that their moral and religious character will be carefully guarded.

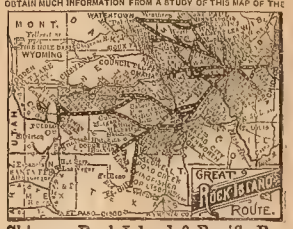
All are cordially invited to attend our school, not alone because of the above advantages, but because more real value will be received for the amount of money expended than at a large majority of other schools.

We are prepared to render financial aid to a limited number of Freshman students, and we solicit correspondence with such as expect to enter upon college work.

Send for Catalogue and write us fully. We take pleasure in answering questions Address

J. G ROYER, Prin.
Mt. Morris, Ill.

SALESMEN Wanted; local and traveling Positions permanent. Salary from start. Experience unnecessary. Brown Bros., Nurserymen Chicago, Ill



Victor Remedies!

These Remedies consist of Victor Liver Syrup, Victor Pain Balm, Victor Infant's Relief, Victor Lung Syrup, Victor Pills, Victor Liniment, Victor Poultry, Horse and Cattle Powders. These Remedies are all sold under a guarantee. If you cannot get them from your merchant, send his name to us, and we will arrange so he has them in stock if he is reliable. Send for circulars. Address:

VICTOR REMEDIES CO.,
Frederick, Md.
5tf

A MAN

UNACQUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THE COUNTRY WILL OBTAIN MUCH INFORMATION FROM A STUDY OF THIS MAP OF THE Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Ry.

Including Lines East and West of the Missouri River. The Direct Route to and from CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND, DAVENPORT, DES MOINES, COUNCIL BLUFFS, WATERTOWN, SIOUX FALLS, MINNEAPOLIS, ST. PAUL, ST. JOSEPH, ATCHISON, LEAVENWORTH, KANSAS CITY, TOPEKA, DENVER, COLORADO SPINGS and PUEBLO. Free Reclining Chair Cars to and from CHICAGO, CALDWELL, HUTCHINSON and DODGE CITY, and Palace Sleeping Cars between CHICAGO, WICHITA and HUTCHINSON.

SOLID VESTIBULE EXPRESS TRAINS

of Through Coaches, Sleepers, Free Reclining Chair Cars and (East of Mo. River) Dining Cars daily between CHICAGO, DES MOINES, COUNCIL BLUFFS and OMAHA, with FREE Reclining Chair Car to NORTH PLATTE (Neb.), and between CHICAGO and DENVER, COLORADO SPRINGS and PUEBLO, via St. Joseph, or Kansas City and Topeka. Splendid Dining Hotels west of St. Joseph and Kansas City. Excursions daily, with Choice of Routes to and from Salt Lake, Portland, Los Angeles and San Francisco. The Direct Line to and from Pike's Peak, Manitou, Garden of the Gods, the Sanitarium, and Scenic Grandeurs of Colorado,

Via The Albert Lea Route.

Solid Express Trains daily between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, with THROUGH Reclining Chair Cars (FREE) to and from these points and Kansas City. Through Chair Car and Sleeper between Peoria, Spirit Lake and Sioux Falls via Rock Island. The Favorite Line to Watertown, Sioux Falls, the Summer Resorts and Hunting and Fishing Grounds of the Northwest.

The Short Line via Seneca and Kankakee offers facilities to travel to and from Indianapolis, Cincinnati and other Southern points.

For Tickets, Maps, Folders, or desired information, apply at any Coupon Ticket Office, or address

E. ST. JOHN, Gen'l Manager. JOHN SEBASTIAN, Gen'l Tkt. & Pass. Agt.
CHICAGO, ILL.

CINCINNATI BELL FOUNDRY CO
SUCCESSORS IN BAYMYER "BELLS TO THE
BLYMYER MANUFACTURING CO
CATALOGUE WITH 1800 TESTIMONIALS.
BELLS, CHURCH, SCHOOL, FIRE-ALARM

McShane Bell Foundry
Finest Grade of Bells.
CHIMES AND PEALS for CHURCHES, &c.
Send for Price and Catalogue. Address
H. McSHANE & CO.,
Mention this paper. Baltimore, Md.

WHEN YOU TRAVEL

Take the
Line selected by the United States Government to carry the Fast Mail,—the

Burlington Route
B. & Q. R. R.

As it is the Line running Through Trains to and from the following cities and towns on its own Lines:

CHICAGO,
AURORA, OTTAWA,
STREATOR, ROCKFORD, DUBUQUE,
LA CROSSE, ST. PAUL, MINNEAPOLIS,
MENDOTA, PEORIA, GALESBURG, ST. LOUIS,
QUINCY, KEOKUK, BURLINGTON, WASHINGTON,
OSKALOOSA, DES MOINES, CHARITON,
CRESTON, ST. JOSEPH, ATCHISON,
KANSAS CITY, NEBRASKA CITY,
OMAHA, COUNCIL BLUFFS,
LINCOLN & DENVER,

Making Direct Connections

TO AND FROM

NEW YORK,
BALTIMORE, WASHINGTON,
CINCINNATI, PHILADELPHIA, BOSTON,
NEW ORLEANS, LOUISVILLE, SAN FRANCISCO,
LOS ANGELES, SALT LAKE CITY, COLORADO AND
PACIFIC COAST RESORTS, CITY OF MEXICO,
PORTLAND, OREGON, MANITOBA,
VICTORIA AND PUGET SOUND
POINTS.

Good Equipment,
Good Service,
Good Connection.

For information concerning the Burlington Route, apply to the nearest Ticket Agent of the C., B. & Q. or connecting railroads.

HENRY B. STONE, General Manager. PAUL MORTON, Gen'l Pass. & Ticket Agt.,
CHICAGO, ILL.

THE GOSPEL MESSENGER.

"Set for the Defense of the Gospel."

Vol. 27. Old Series. Mt. Morris, Ill., and Huntingdon, Pa., August 13, 1889. No. 32.

The Gospel Messenger.

H. B. BRUMBAUGH, Editor,
And Business Manager of the Eastern House, Box 50, Huntingdon, Pa.

BRO. W. J. SWIGART has left us to spend a few weeks in the eastern part of the State, and will fill several appointments for the Philadelphia brethren during his absence.

THE noble power of suffering bravely, is as far above that of enterprising greatly, as an unblemished conscience and inflexible resolution are above an accidental flow of spirits, or a sudden tide of blood.—Pope.

SISTER HARTMAN and daughter, of Philadelphia, are spending several weeks in the shady nooks of Huntingdon, and there are few places where cooler retreats and lovelier mountains and rocky scenes can be found. The weather, with the exception of a few rainy days, has been delightful.

WE had a short season of social communion with Eld. J. R. Lane, of Hill Valley, Pennsylvania, who made a call to our town this week. He seems, as usual, full of zeal for the good work, and as he is now untrammeled by the cares of farming, we hope that all his powers will now be devoted to the work of the church. There is much to do, and none who wish to work need be idle.

WE have some people in the world that are not very appreciative of favors received. One writes us that a friend sent him the MESSENGER free for a year, and now scolds because it was continued, and he was asked to pay for it. Had he known that he was expected to pay for it during the second year, he would have ordered it stopped, but would have read it with pleasure, at the expense of his friend.

"THE chief peril of the church to-day arises not from infidel or ignorant assault. It comes from the false vows of counterfeit members or hypocrites, and from the half-vows of partial consecration of true members. A full fidelity on the part of each, producing a glad, harmonious and self-denying ministry of banded believers, will most effectually refute, and at length utterly overthrow all outward assailants."

LAST Sunday we spent with the James Creek brethren, and attended an appointment at the Coffee Run church house, one of the places where we tried to preach years ago. The attendance was good, but in the congregation we noticed a considerable change, as a large part of the faces were strange to us, while many of the familiar ones of years ago were absent. We also called to see our father, who has passed his eightieth year, and is still in the enjoyment of excellent health, both physically and mentally. The home visits are always pleasant ones, and never fail to awaken most happy scenes of by-gone days. The James Creek church is still moving slowly forward, and had two additions to the number lately.

THE Aughwick, James Creek, and Newry churches had their "Harvest Home" meetings on August 10th. May the spiritual harvest be as abundant as the cereal one just reaped. Surely, the Lord has been good, in showering his temporal blessings upon us. And for them let us praise the Sender.

THE new Normal building is moving slowly upward. The stone work is all completed, and the bricklayers have commenced. If all goes well, in a few weeks things will have a new and greatly improved appearance upon the hill, and when the building is completed we will have all that can be desired in the way of accommodations for our students, and we hope that the inducements which we expect soon to offer, will be such as will fill every nook and corner with good and active young men and women.

IT is the glory of Christianity that it makes its votaries superior to circumstances. Paul could say, "I have learned in whatsoever state I am therewith to be content." The touch of faith can transmute the basest metals of life into fine gold. Our Lord, addressing an ancient church, said: "I know . . . . thy poverty, but thou art rich." A poor man rich in faith has a higher satisfaction than a rich man destitute of faith. Those who possess only the wealth of this world may become poor, but the Christian has durable riches.—Christian Inquirer.

THE other day we and Bro. Swigart drove out to Manor Hill, some twelve miles, to anoint sister Hershberger, wife of Bro. Horatio, who has been sick for several months, and of late a great sufferer. It was her wish to receive the anointing, and she received great comfort from the ordinance. Faith in the religion of Christ is certainly a great blessing to the afflicted. Too often Christ is made the last resort. We seek help from every other source, and go to him only when everything else fails. Is it not strange that we should do so when we are assured that our God is a very present help in every time of need? The anointing is a privilege that should be enjoyed by every afflicted child of the Lord, and, no doubt, would, did we give the subject more prominence in our preaching. For an interesting and intelligent discussion of Scriptural anointing we refer the reader to Bro. B. C. Moomaw's book, "Supernatural Healing." Sent from this office, post-paid, for 50 cents.

THE SOLID FOUNDATION.

STRONG convictions of the right of the positions we take are important factors in the steadfastness of our religion. A well-founded conviction of right cannot be moved by trifles. It does the soul good to see things that are solid and cannot be moved. When we look for safety, our minds naturally turn towards the mountains, the rocks, and the caves.

The strength and surety of the Lord are represented as the rock that cannot be moved. The safe building is founded upon the rock, and the faithfulness of the Lord is as the everlasting hills. The soul shudders at a weak and shaking support, especially in time of danger. These feelings are natural to us in all that pertains to our physical good. We see it manifested every-where. The first principle in our nature seems to be that of safety. It is the important consideration, the first thing sought for. Is it safe, is the first question, as we set our feet on a tottering bridge, or a slippery path,—and we venture only as far as we have convictions of safety. Having these well fixed, our purposes cannot be changed. It is because we are sure we are right, which means, it is safe.

Spiritually, many of us do not have such strong convictions, our concern is not so earnest and deep. Our faith is not founded on the solid Rock, —Christ Jesus, and, as a result, we are tempest-tossed at every little wind that blows.

"Be ye steadfast" was not a random stroke at our waywardness, neither was it prophetic, as the need of it was as apparent, when given, as now or at any other period of human existence. Sandy foundations are not modern inventions as far as spiritual safety is concerned.

The Master found men as fickle as the wind, and as unstable as water. They saw by sight, and didn't have much of that. "Master, careth thou not that we perish?" was the expression of the disciples during the storm, and not during the calm, and when the sun shone. Such men have been duplicated by the thousands, and they are not all among those who are classed as sinners, either. They are, many of them, professors if not possessors, and make a fair show of orthodoxy when the wind is fair, and there is clear sailing. Fair-weather Christians are not the kind the Lord wants to save the world. The soldiers are not needed in times of peace, neither can they be proven. In the conflict their steel is tried, and the true test is made. So it is with the true Christian. He stands the test when the forces are at war, when the conflict comes. As a tree planted by the water side, with roots deep down in the earth, he withstands the storm, and defies every resisting force that sin and the devil can bring to bear against him. He is the voicing of the apostolic injunction: "Be ye steadfast, immovable, always abounding in the faith."

Reader, how is it with you? Do you have this all-abounding faith? Are your convictions of right well founded? If not, you are in an unsafe condition. Your foundation is of sand, and when the storms come, there will be a fall, and one, too, in which your soul will be imperiled. You want safety for your soul. You want it now. You want it all the time,—and you may have it by accepting Christ as your only Savior. Implicit faith in the truth, as revealed to us in the Scriptures, will give us a steadfastness that will never fail us, and in the end give us a foundation that will prove to us a rock—the Rock of Ages—Christ Jesus.

Allen Boyer 12790

ESSAYS.

"Study to show thyself approved unto God; a workman that needeth not be ashamed, rightly dividing the Word of Truth."

A HUNDRED YEARS FROM NOW.

The surging sea of human life forever onward rolls,
And bears to the eternal shore its daily freight of souls;
Though bravely sails our bark to-day, pale death sits at the prow,
And few shall know we ever lived a hundred years from now.

O mighty human brotherhood, why fiercely war and strive,
While God's great world has ample room for everything alive?
Broad fields, uncultured and unclaimed, are waiting for the plow
Of progress that shall make them bloom a hundred years from now.

Why should we try so earnestly in life's short narrow span,
On golden stairs to climb so high above our brother man?
Why blindly at an earthly shrine in slavish homage bow?
Our gold will rust, ourselves be dust, a hundred years from now!

Why prize so much the world's applause? Why dread so much its blame
A fleeting echo is its voice of censure or of fame;
The praise that thrills the heart, the scorn that dyes with shame, the brow,
Will be as long forgotten dreams a hundred years from now

O patient hearts, that meekly bear your weary load of wrong!
O earnest hearts, that bravely dare, and striving, grow more strong!
Press on till perfect peace is won; you'll never dream of how
You struggled o'er life's thorny road a hundred years from now.

Grand, lofty souls, who live and toil that freedom, right and truth
Alone may rule the universe, for you is endless youth;
When 'mid the blest, with God you rest, the grateful lands shall bow
Above your clay in rev'rent love a hundred years from now.

Earth's empires rise and fall, O Time! like breakers on thy shore;
They rush upon thy rocks of doom, go down and are no more;
The starry wilderness of worlds that gem night's radiant brow
Will light the skies for other eyes a hundred years from now.

Our Father, to whose sleepless eyes the past and future stand
An open page, like babes we cling to thy protecting hand,
Change, sorrow, death are naught to us if we may safely bow
Beneath the shadow of Thy throne, a hundred years from now.

Selected by Rosa Spickler.

WHAT IS THE SEAL OF GOD?

BY F. C. MYERS.

The above subject is a very important one, and should be considered by every soul as such, since our acceptance with the King of kings depends entirely upon our having the seal of God. And as he has threatened everlasting death to every one that is not in possession of his seal, it certainly, then, is one of the most important subjects that has ever entered upon the mind of man, and I hope, dear reader, if you have never been interested in this subject before, that you will from henceforth be interested enough in it to search diligently till you have found what is the seal of God, and then never stop till you are sealed by him unto the day of redemption. As God has taught us in his holy Word that he knoweth his own, and is known of them, John 10–14, we can but expect that he has a mark on his own to distinguish them from his enemies. He proclaims to the world that he seals his servants in the forehead, the head being the seat of the mind or spirit. Therefore we must yield ourselves servants unto God if we would bear the seal or mark of God, but if we will not yield ourselves servants unto God, we can not receive his seal or mark, and he that hath not the seal of God, is none of his, and those who are not for him, are against him, and such will be destroyed from off the earth when he cometh to receive his own.

Our blessed Lord, while on earth, taught that he that asketh, receiveth, and he that seeketh, shall find, and to him that knocketh, it shall be opened. Now, if we will use these three privileges which the Lord grants to us, the blessings will be ours, and as the Bible, the Word of God, is the only place we have to go to, to find out what is his seal or mark, let us turn to it. In Eph. 1: 13, the apostle tells the brethren that they were sealed with that Holy Spirit of promise, and in 4: 30 he tells us that we are sealed with the Spirit of God unto the day of redemption. The spirit of God is the seal or mark which those bear that will be saved from everlasting destruction. Paul, in Rom. 8: 9, says that those who have not the spirit of Christ are none of his. This now brings us to part second.

HAVE YOU THE SEAL OF GOD?

The time is near at hand when no man can work; then he that is unjust will be unjust still, and he which is filthy will be filthy still; and he that is righteous will be righteous still: and he that is holy will be holy still. As this life is the only time that God has given us to work out our own salvation, let us make use of the few precious days that remain, so that the day of the Lord does not come as a thief in the night. Let us awake to righteousness, and sin not, neither by omitting or committing, "for we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ; that every one may receive the things done in his body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or bad." 2 Cor. 5: 10. Knowing, therefore, that the terror of the Lord will be poured out upon those that have not the seal of God, let us, then, labor faithfully so that we may be numbered among those who have received the seal of God. Let us not treat God's Word with indifference, for it is to be a lamp to our feet and a light to our path. Let us turn to his Word again and search to know if we have the seal of God, for the time is at hand when we are liable to be led astray, if we heed the teachings of man, without going to the Word of God. Paul says, in 2 Tim. 4: 3, "For the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine; but after their own lusts shall they heap to themselves teachers, having itching ears; and they shall turn away their ears from the truth, and shall be turned unto fables."

Dear reader, lest we be turned unto fables and fail to do the will of God, and be destitute of his seal, let us draw nigh unto God and he will draw nigh unto us! Let us lay his Word before us, as it is to be a light to our path. Then we can see whether we have the seal of God or not.

The first ray of light comes to us from John 3: 36, "He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life: and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him." Here we are taught that we must believe on the Son, but this belief must be a living one; it must be one that brings us into subjection to God's will, doing whatever the Master saith. If we have the seal or spirit of God, we will be found earnestly contending for the faith which was once delivered unto the saints, but as there are many faiths in these last days, it becomes us, as wise servants, who desire to do that which pleaseth their Master, to turn to the written Word, which he has left, to be a light to our path. We must compare the faith of Jesus which was once delivered to the saints, with the faith that we are contending for. This would be doing according to the teachings of Jesus. Matt. 24: 4. Our Blessed Master says, "Take heed that no man deceive you." By this language of Jesus we understand that there will be deceivers in the world, teaching the people to walk in ways whose end is destruction. In 1 John 4: 1 we are warned not to believe all teachers, for he says, "Believe not every spirit, but try the spirits whether they are of God: because many false prophets are gone out into the world." Beloved, if a prophet or teacher should come to us and teach us, we must not forget the warning of the apostle John to try the spirit,—that is,—to compare his teachings with the Word of God, and should there be more or less than in the Blessed Word of God, do not receive it, but reject it as you would loathsome food. Should it agree with the Word of God, then receive it, and hold fast till our Blessed Master comes; for he has promised to come, and to those that look for him shall he appear the second time, without sin unto salvation. Heb. 9: 28.

Pasadena, Cal.

SELECT READING AND QUESTIONS.

BY JOHN FORNEY.

"Behold, I will send you Elijah the prophet before the coming of the great and dreadful day of the Lord: and he shall turn the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to their fathers, lest I come and smite the earth with a curse."—Malachi 4: 5, 6

"Behold, I will send my messenger, and he shall prepare the way before me."—Malachi 3: 1.

"For all the prophets and the law prophesied until John. And if ye will receive it, this is Elias, which was for to come."—Matt. 11: 13, 14. Also Matt. 17: 10, 11; Mark 9: 11–13; Luke 1: 17.

Question 1.—Did John the Baptist baptize some out of all the twelve tribes of Israel, and if not out of all, out of how many tribes did he baptize?

Question 2.—From how many tribes were the apostles chosen?

Question 3.—Was the church of Jesus Christ, at the day of Pentecost, composed of the twelve tribes of Israel, or only of two?

Question 4.—What does Paul mean when he says, "And now I stand and am judged for the hope of the promise made of God unto our fathers: unto which promise our twelve tribes, instantly serving God day and night, hope to come." Were they serving God in the Gospel (without delay) instantly, or were they only zealous for the law of Moses? Acts 26: 5, 7.

Answer 1. — John the Baptist, without any doubt, must have baptized some out of all the twelve tribes of Israel, as we may read, "The voice of one crying in the wilderness, Prepare ye the way of the Lord, make his paths straight." Matt. 3: 3. "Then went out to him Jerusalem, and all Judea, and all the region round about Jordan, and were baptized of him in Jordan, confessing their sins." Matt. 3: 5, 6. In Luke 3: 3 we read, "And he came into all the country about Jordan, preaching the baptism of repentance for the remission of sins." "And all flesh shall see the salvation of God." "And the people asked him, saying, What shall we do then? He answereth and saith unto them, He that hath two coats, let him impart to him that hath none; and he that hath meat, let him do likewise. Then came also publicans to be baptized, and said unto him, Master, what shall we do? And he said unto them, Exact no more than that which is appointed you. And the soldiers likewise demanded of him, saying, And what shall we do? And he said unto them, Do violence to no man, neither accuse any falsely; and be content with your wages." Luke 3: 10–14.

From the above we would naturally gather the idea that there must have been some baptized of every tribe of Israel. We are at least safe to say, that there were some baptized by John of the tribes of Jude, Levi, Benjamin and Asher.

ANSWER 2.—I do not know that it can be positively proved of how many tribes the apostles were composed. One thing we do know, that the first twelve were all chosen from the house of Israel, which was composed of twelve tribes, and their first mission was confined to the lost sheep of the house of Israel. The whole tenor of the Bible from the time when God gave the promise to Abraham that in his seed all the families or nations of the earth should be blessed, we see it branch out in Isaac and Jacob into the twelve sons, called the heads of the tribes of Israel. Out of these chosen twelve tribes God, after this, chose one man from each tribe, to carry on his work, as we have many examples in the Bible. Josh. 3: 12; 4: 2; Num. 13: 3–16.

The twelve apostles were also chosen from amongst the twelve tribes. The bride, the Lamb's wife, was seen by John in a figure as the holy Jerusalem with "twelve gates, and at the gates twelve angels, and names written thereon, which are the twelve tribes of the children of Israel. And the wall of the city had twelve foundations, and in them the names of the twelve apostles of the Lamb." Rev. 21: 10–14.

It is even possible, as well as probable, that, out of the fifteen apostles named in the New Testament, there may be one from each tribe, if not from the father's, perhaps from the mother's side.

ANSWER 3.—I would answer this question in the affirmative,—that the church upon the day of Pentecost was composed of the twelve tribes of Israel.

(a) Because God said, "I will pour out of my Spirit upon all flesh." Acts 2: 17. It is not likely that only one part,—say one-fourth or one-half of the tribes were representatives in the church, and the other half of the tribes were excluded. That would not have filled the prophecy of Joel.

(b) In Rev. 7: 4–8 John saw or heard that the number of them which were sealed are a hundred and forty and four thousand of all the tribes of the children of Israel, out of each tribe twelve thousand. There was no preference in tribes, so, as we can see, no one was overlooked or lost.

ANSWER 4.—I am willing to take Paul at his word, that the twelve tribes of Israel were instantly serving God day and night, just as he tells us.

(a) Those who had become believers in Christ Jesus served God in the Gospel day and night, with reverence and godly fear. Acts 2: 41–47; 4: 31–35; 12: 5–12.

(b) Those who would not believe in Jesus Christ when he was preached unto them, still retained their zeal of God, but not according to knowledge, as Paul said of Israel, in Rom. 10: 1–2. Peter, filled with the Holy Ghost, said unto them, "Ye rulers of the people, and elders of Israel, . . . be it known unto you all, and to all the people of Israel, that by the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth." Acts 4: 8–10. Peter and Paul seem to include in their teaching all the people of Israel. They must have known something of their whereabouts. James also greets the twelve tribes with an epistle as brethren in the Lord Jesus Christ, although they were scattered abroad. James must have known where to send his letter to reach them. James 1: 1. Please read the epistle of James entire, and you will see how wisely and kindly he talks to the twelve tribes, like a father to his children.

From Scriptural testimonies we gather that the apostolic church was made up of converts from every tribe of Israel as well as largely of Gentiles. The apostle Barnabas was a Levite; Paul, a Benjaminite; Thomas, of the tribe of Judah; Nathanael, a true Israelite, in whom is no guile, from some other tribe. Anna, the prophetess, was from the tribe of Asher. The father of Timotheus was a Greek; the mother, a Jewess. The Samaritans to whom Philip preached Christ and who believed and were baptized, were offsprings of the tribes of Ephraim, Issachar and the half tribe of Manasseh, and had their portion in the mountain of Samaria. They worshiped there from the time of Jeroboam. See 1 Kings 12: 25–33; 13: 1–6. Jacob's well was also in that part of the country. John 4: 5.

We learn from the Bible, that in the reign of King Josiah all the other tribes of the ten that were led to believe, by Jeroboam, that that mountain was the place of worship, now went back again to Jerusalem to worship, except the two and one-half tribes above named. Paul deeply laments the condition of his kinsmen in the flesh. Rom. 9: 2–5.

Paul, in the tenth chapter of Romans, says, "But they have not all obeyed the gospel. But I say, Have they not heard? Yes verily, their sound went into all the earth." In the eleventh chapter of Romans Paul says, "I say then, Hath God cast away his people? God forbid. For I also am an Israelite, of the seed of Abraham, of the tribe of Benjamin." In verse seventeen he says, "And if some of the branches be broken off, and thou, being a wild olive tree, wert graffed in among them, and with them partakest of the root and fatness of the olive tree." This language makes it positive, that the church in the days of the apostles had members of every tribe of Israel or of all its branches. Now the Gentile convert is a partaker of the fatness and riches of the Gospel with them, as is shown in Rom. 11.

Abilene, Kans.

THE WORLD'S REDEEMER.

BY MATTIE A. LEAR.

ALMOST as soon as sin entered into the world, the blessed promise was given that God would provide an antidote. The first promise was couched in the words addressed to the servant, "I will put enmity between thee and the woman, and between thy seed and her seed; it shall bruise thy head, and thou shalt bruise his heel." It was afterwards revealed to Abraham that the promised Deliverer should descend from him. Then Judah, Abraham's great-grandson, was specified and his tribe chosen. Again we see the promise renewed in Jesse, a descendant of Judah. See Gen. 22: 18; 49: 10; Isa. 11: 1, 10. Then of the sons of Jesse the family of David was chosen. Jer. 23: 5.

As the fulfillment drew nearer and nearer, these promises became more full and clear. The Coming One is dimly shadowed forth in many of the sacrifices and offerings under the law. The blood of slaughtered animals had no efficacy, only as it pointed to the great Sacrifice. The passover Lamb and the sin offerings on the great day of atonement were special symbols of him who should reconcile man to his Maker.

In the prophecies we have him more clearly revealed than in the law. Not to any one is given a full portraiture of him. He is revealed at different times in different characters. Moses beheld in this prophet, to be raised up among his brethren, his successor. Deut. 18: 15. Isaiah beholds him born of a virgin. Isa. 7: 14. Micah sees the place of his birth, Micah 5: 2; Daniel, the time, Dan. 9: 25. Haggai and Malachi see him in the temple, Hag. 2: 7, 9; Mal. 3: 1. His meekness is seen by Isaiah, Isa. 43: 2, 3; his zeal by David and Isaiah, Ps. 69: 9; Isa. 59: 16, 17. His miracles are foreseen by Isaiah, Isa. 29: 18; 33: 3; 35: 5. David and Isaiah see him preaching to the people, Ps. 40: 9, 10; Isa. 11: 4; 61: 1–3. David foresaw that the rulers would unite against him, Ps. 2: 1–3. Isaiah saw his passiveness during his trial, Isa. 53: 7. He also foresaw the cruelty and insults to which he was subjected while standing at the bar of mock justice, Isa. 1: 5, 5; 53: 14. The manner of his death is foretold by David, Isaiah and Zechariah, Ps. 22: 14–16; Zech. 13: 44; Isa. 22: 23–25. Even the insults that were flung at him when on the cross were also foreknown, Ps. 22: 7, 9; 109: 25. Nor did the prophets overlook the fact that he would be despised and rejected by his own nation. Isa. 53: 1–6.

The prophecies also foretold his kingly office and transcendent dignity, Ps. 2: 6; 45: 1, 3–5; 110: 2, 5, 6; Isa. 32: 1; Dan. 7: 13, 14. The prophets also foresaw him seated upon the throne of David, to establish it forever; also the return of the Israelites to their own land, and their happy condition, Isa. 9: 7; 16: 5; 55: 3, 4; Jer. 30: 9; Ezek. 34: 24; 37: 24, 25; Hosea 3: 5.

These predictions, speaking of his lowliness, sufferings, and death, and of his majesty and endless reign, the Jews could not reconcile. They could not conceive how they could all be fulfilled in one and the same Messiah. But the idea of a great conquering Prince, who would deliver them from the galling yoke of the Romans, and restore them to all the glory and greatness of David's time, was so captivating to the nation, and so accorded with their ambitious and worldly ideas, that they had overlooked entirely the prophecies that spoke of his humility. Hence when he appeared they were wholly unprepared to receive him.

The terrible mistake of the Jewish nation regarding the kingdom which their Messiah was to set up, is but another proof of the weakness and imperfection of human wisdom. Every prophecy concerning him has, or will have, an exact fulfillment. But their prejudiced minds were too narrow to grasp the whole truth, hence they only accepted such as suited their national fancy.

Unfulfilled prophecy is ever difficult to understand. Many have written upon the second coming of Christ, have told us just when he shall come, and how he shall appear, with all the attending circumstances. As to the time, so far, they have all failed, and, no doubt, the rest of their descriptions is equally faulty.

Very much time and talent has also been expended in explaining the symbols used in the Apocalypse. We have read several such expositions from learned writers, and their explanations have seemed plausible. But we now doubt very much if any of these labored treatises approach near the truth.

The wisdom of God is hard for the enfeebled human intellect to grasp even after it has been thoroughly explained and exemplified; and it seems impossible to comprehend it when it comes to us through the dim and shadowy medium of unfulfilled prophecy.

Prophecy is an enigmatical chart, covered with hieroglyphics, inscribed by the hand of God. We admire the boldness and beauty of the symbols. But no human wisdom can decipher it. Only divine wisdom can do this. But when it is unfolded, what beauty, what harmony we behold!

When the blessed Redeemer made his advent, we doubt if any comprehended the great object of his mission, not even the self-sacrificing Baptist. Jesus had lived in such complete obscurity until the time of his baptism, that no one, not even his fellow-townsmen, had any idea of his majesty, and we wonder if even he himself was fully aware of his heavenly origin, and of the grand and awful mission for which he was set apart.

His baptism was the great crisis in his life. He was no longer to be the obscure tradesman of Nazareth, but he now received that holy anointing, that full measure of the Holy Ghost which inducted him into his kingly and priestly offices. He was not washed in the brazen laver as was Aaron, but in the flowing Jordan; not anointed with the sacred oil compounded by human hands, but with the Holy Spirit.

The clear moon, and bright stars that hung over his native town had often been the silent witnesses of his nightly devotions, and deep communions with his Heavenly Father. And with his ripening years, his great work was more and more unfolded to him. But now, as the whole truth bursts upon him, what thoughts, what conflicting emotions must have filled his sinless soul! The evangelist tells us that "immediately the Spirit driveth him into the wilderness."

He must at once enter upon his great work, as conqeuror of the prince of darkness, of sin, of the world, and of death. Let us follow him into this seclusion, and awful isolation. We do not know just where the scene of his temptation and victory was, but it was somewhere in the barren, broken, and desolate region that borders the Dead Sea. There, by the light of the few Scriptures that bear on the subject, we behold him. His life, from that time until its tragical close on Calvary, passed before him.

He must now break with the past. He must take a position entirely antagonistic to the revered teachers of the day, and thus draw upon himself their implacable hatred and opposition. He must ignore the puerile forms and ceremonies, so sacred in the eyes of the people, and thereby subject himself to the charge of disregarding the law. He must mingle with the outcasts of society, in order to lift them from their degradation, even at the risk of being branded as the friend of publicans and sinners. Though he sympathized, keenly sympathized with his countrymen in their oppressed condition, he must firmly oppose every appeal made to him to assume political force, and exert his mighty power to crush the enemies of his nation.

But why not assume the reins of government? Was he not the rightful king of Israel? Was he not the son of David, who should establish his throne forever and rule the heathen with a rod of iron, and break them in pieces as a potter's vessel? Would it not be a righteous act to drive out of God's heritage, the haughty, uncircumcised Romans, who polluted the land with their very presence? No, no, the way to conquer for him was through humility and suffering.

The above were probably some of the struggles through which our Lord passed in his wilderness retreat. The whole scene of his sufferings, insults, humiliation and death was spread out before him. Would he accept the great work which his father was about to lay upon him, with all its agony, and thus deliver the human family from the thralldom of sin?

To appreciate the tremendous struggle through which he must have passed, we must not forget that he was a man as well as God, and the extreme delicacy and sensitiveness of such an exalted nature. He instinctively shrank from the gross insults and misconceptions to which he must be subjected. He to whom his Father's honor was more than life, must be stigmatized as a blasphemer. He who fulfilled every jot and tittle of the law must be charged with disregarding the law of Moses. He who was purity itself is accused of being in league with Beelzebub, the prince of devils; and to whom could he unbosom himself; to whom could he go for sympathy, sweet sympathy, which the stricken heart so much craves? Not to his disciples, not to any human being, for no one could comprehend him. He was emphatically alone, so far as human help was concerned. This also was noticed by the prophets. "I looked and there was none to help; I wondered that there was none to uphold; therefore mine own arm brought salvation unto me." But Christ conquered in the only way that a spiritual victory can be achieved. St. Paul tells us that, "In the days of his flesh when he had offered up prayers and supplications with strong crying and tears unto him, that was able to save him from death, and was heard in that he feared." He prayed for strength, and strength was given him, and when he returned to the busy world he was perfectly calm, and self-possessed, and ready to commence his great, great work, — the work of human redemption! This constitutes a work before which the work of creating and upholding the universe pales. The former is an exhibition of his love, the latter of his power. In the light of Christ's sorrows and sufferings, our own petty grievances sink into insignificance.

In him religion has her ideal. He established a religion for the world. The veil of the temple was to be rent, and he who, according to Jewish ideas, had only dwelt in the hidden chamber which it concealed, was to go forth to consecrate all the world as one great Holy of Holies. Henceforth there was to be no longer a separate court, for heathen, for male Israelites, for female Israelites, and for the priests to worship in, but all middle walls of partition were to be broken down. In Christ Jesus there is neither male nor female, bond nor free, Jew nor Greek.

The religion of the letter was now to yield to the religion of the Spirit. All that was imperfect and material in religion is now to be replaced by the perfect, spiritual and abiding. Israel had sunk into spiritual death in spite of its zeal for the precepts of the Rabbis, and the letter of the Scriptures. The great mission assigned to it as a disseminator of the Truth, to the heathen nations, had proven to be a complete failure.

It was reserved to Jesus to teach that only a religious and moral new-birth of humanity could avail. He was the first who founded a religion, not on external precepts, or on a priesthood, or on sacrificial rites, but in the living spirit; in individual, personal conviction; in the free, loving surrender of the will to God, a religion which looked not at mere acts, but at what men were, and set no value on works apart from the motive from which they sprang.

The transition from a state of nature to that of grace, is the spiritual realization of that beautiful fancy of the Portuguese mariner, who, after rounding Cape Horn amid storm and dangers, found that the ocean on which he had entered lay as if hushed asleep before him, and ascribed its calm to the glittering form of the southern cross shining down upon it. Even so the cross of Christ is sufficient to calm all the troubled billows in the human breast.

Each heart that receives Christ, is a spot in which his kingdom is fully set up, its laws accepted, and the will and affections entirely his. To each new convert he is more than king, for he reigns over the whole nature with a majesty such as no other king can command. The highest bliss of every Christian is to have no thought or wish apart from his. For in the measure of likeness to him lies our spiritual peace, purity and joy.

THE HAPPY CHRISTIAN.

BY THURSTON MILLER.

ARE we to believe that God is a Being capable of emotions, and can he be pleased and displeased? These questions we should sometimes ask ourselves, as a help in remembering the relation between us and him. Surely, an affirmative will be the answer by all, to the above!

Can man, in any way, affect those emotions in God? Yes, undoubtedly; otherwise much of the Scriptures would have no meaning at all.

Well, then another question is pertinent in this connection,—Does God show his pleasure or displeasure to the children of men in a manner that they can understand it? Answer, "yes," again. Can we know how to thus affect God toward us? Yes, that is the special mission of the New Testament Scriptures.

It seems to me, then, that the true incentive to obedience ought to be quite plain to all,—namely that of pleasing our Father in heaven.

But are we all thus prompted to obey? Then, if not, will other promptings satisfy the divine Mind, and the same reward be meted out?

To love God with all the heart, soul, mind and strength is the highest possible attainment in the divine life here, and that it is possible is evident from the fact that it is the "first and greatest" command. We must imbibe the divine nature, in order to attain to this standard, and this is effected through the love of God shed abroad in our hearts.

"God is love," and he is willing, nay anxious,—to impart this divine attribute to all who will receive it, and desires it to be the moving power in bringing man to him.

Many obey with careful exactness, in order to avoid the punishment threatened the disobedient in the eternal world. They may succeed, but their service to God through fear of hell, is cumbersome to say the least, and far from pleasant and enjoyable.

Others have only the reward in view, and labor earnestly for that. They have not much thought of pleasing God, but are very much concerned about the reward he has promised for obedience. They, too, may succeed and find a happy home among the blessed. But theirs is not that perfect enjoyment of a Christian life here that the Father intended. "Except ye become as little children," means more than obedience through fear of punishment or with the hope of reward. The little child who complies with the demands of its parents, through fear of chastisement alone, is not the best child, but is generally rude, unrefined, and untrustworthy. On the other hand the child who must be hired with the promise of reward for obedience, is generally an "ugly pet." But when the love of parents fills the heart of their offspring, it becomes the true bond of fellowship between them and impels the child to obey, and by that it is perfectly happy because it delights to do that which pleases, and so should we render service to our better and nobler Parent in heaven.

This is the highest earthly plane. It is the nearest possible approach to God in this world, and insures the greatest degree of happiness.

The Heavenly Father has done much for his earthly children and placed us under many and great obligations, but to serve with the thought of repaying God, is absurd, for each day we find the debt increased and its discharge no nearer than when we began. But when the "love of God is shed abroad in our hearts," we become possessed of the Divine nature, and our lives gravitate towards God as naturally as the stream flows down hill. We will have no thought of duty, no thought of punishment, no thought of reward. Our delight will be in performing that which pleases him whom we love.

O could we all burst the narrow bounds of our carnal environments and have our whole being imbued and filled with the Divine nature! Then service would be recreation, labor a pleasure, and obedience a happy, enjoyable privilege!

La Porte, Ind.

EVERY duty which is bidden to wait, returns with seven fresh duties at its back.—Charles Kingsley.

DIFFERENCES BETWEEN THE LORD'S SUPPER AND THE COMMUNION.

BY HENRY C. EARLY.

(a) IN NAME. Different writers of the New Testament speak of the Lord's Supper as a feast. 1 Cor. 5: 8; 2 Pet. 2: 13. Feast of charity, Jude 12. Passover, Luke 22: 15. Supper, Luke 22: 20; John 13: 2, 4. It is spoken of as the Lord's Supper in 1 Cor. 11: 20. Of the Communion as the bread and the cup we read in Matt. 26: 26, 27; Mark 14: 22, 23; Luke 22: 19, 20; 1 Cor. 11: 23, 24, 25; and as the Communion in 1 Cor. 10: 16. It is to be observed that these two classes of names, representing these two different services, are nowhere, in the New Testament, used interchangeably.

(b) THE SUPPER IS TYPICAL, Luke 22: 16. The Communion is commemorative, 1 Cor. 11: 26. Luke 22: 16 is the clearest explanation we have of the character of the Supper service, and its antitype or substance is spoken of figuratively in Luke 22: 29, 30. When, therefore, this service is intelligently observed, we look forward to the object of our hopes, while in the bread and cup service we look back to the bloody tragedy of Calvary as the foundation of the Christian religion and as the ground of our hopes. If the Supper be removed from the practice of the church, she is left without a single typical service.

(c) The Supper is a full meal, 1 Cor. 11: 20, 21, symbolical of the saints' full feast in rest. The Communion is a mere wafer of bread and sip of wine, 1 Cor. 11: 23, 24, 25. This chapter shows clearly that Paul used the word Supper with its common, and in fact, only signification.

Three things unite to make a supper, (1) sufficient quantity of food to make a meal, (2) of edible quality, (3) observed in the evening or close of the day. The word (deipnon) of which the word supper, as it occurs in the New Testament, is the translation, means not only a full meal but the chief and last of the day. It would be too ridiculous to refer to the Communion as the Supper spoken of in this chapter. The word communion means fellowship, etc., without regard to the quantity or the means employed in the communion.

(d) The Supper is in its nature a messenger of gladness and joy. Luke 22: 29, 30. The Communion is a messenger of the most profoundly solemn thought. 1 Cor. 11: 26. As we look through the Supper service to our feasting with Christ, our Savior, and his saints in light, as the consummation of all pure desire, our hearts throb with gladness and joy. When we really enter the meaning of this service, it engrosses our entire being for the time. But soon we reach the bread and cup service, when a deep cloud of solemn thought rolls over us, as a mighty ocean. The black darkness over the face of the earth, the rending of the rocks, the quaking of the earth, the separating asunder of the veil of the temple, the piercing shrieks and cries of the dying, the bursting open of the graves of the dead, the actual dying of the Son of God and awful impression of the people, give us feelings and thoughts that no man can describe until, at last, the blood and the water gush forth, when heavy hearts brighten up and say, "It is finished."

CONCLUSION.

1. It is clear that the Lord's Supper and the Communion are different services,—two things essentially separate in constitution, practice and purpose,—each having its own class of New Testament names.

2. Those teaching that the bread and cup are the Lord's Supper, and who practice it as such, and that, too, at the middle of the day, disregard the example of Christ and the apostles and the plain teaching of the Word of God on this point, and assume all responsibility growing out of it.

3. Those dismissing the Supper service, dismiss the only typical ordinance of this dispensation, and, therefore, can not enjoy the benefits of the inspiration of the great end of Christ's purchase, made tangible to us through a divinely-appointed type.

Meyerhœffer's Store, Va.

WHO ARE OUR FRIENDS?

BY SUSAN SIDLE.

IN our pathway through this vale of tears we all desire and need the sympathy and companionship of friends,—not friends in words only, but also in deeds. It is not in hours of prosperity and ease that we most need the assistance and sympathy of others, but it is when storms of adversity hang heavily on the mind! Then, O then, words of comfort and consolation from some kind friend will be like water upon the thirsty ground. How pleasant might be our pilgrimage, if each and every one would strive to benefit and assist his fellow-men that all might live together in unity and brotherly love. How cheerful we might make the journey of life, if we would interest ourselves in each other's welfare and prosperity!

We have cause to reflect upon the shortness of life and the uncertainty of our stay here, and it may be well for us to pause and consider what we are and what relation we hold to each other, and the duty we are bound to perform one toward another. "Bear ye one another's burdens," is the example of him who was the friend of sinners. Let us bring to our minds the question, Have we and are we fulfilling the commands of our Savior? Are we not partial? Have we not been more ready to encourage and assist the prosperous, than to lend a helping hand to those in adversity? The time is soon coming when we shall all be equal,—the rich and the poor, the high and the low, must all slumber side by side in the silent tomb. Thinkest thou, O man, that there will be any distinction beyond the confines of this life? Will the riches that a man may possess here, be of any avail, or secure to him a seat in the kingdom of heaven? Oh no, "how hardly will a rich man enter into the kingdom of heaven."

Let us associate together in brotherly love, and help each other on our pilgrim journey toward the heavenly city. Even when the world hath withdrawn its sympathies and ceased to extend the hand of kindness, there is One to whom we can flee for consolation.

It is the want of religion that causes all this disunion, selfishness, pride, and jealousy within our borders. The apostle James says: "Pure and undefiled religion is to visit the widows and the fatherless in their affliction and to keep themselves unspotted from the world." When we look over the vast field of humanity it is quite easy to discern what a number of spotted Christians we have at the present time,—the same kind that Jude speaks of in his day. All this springs from the want of religion. Is religion beautiful? Yes, more so than all the jewels or diadems that deck a monarch's crown. We can all have it in our possession, if we have a desire and try. The Savior says, "Ask and ye shall receive; seek and ye shall find; knock and it shall be opened unto you." What words can be more comforting?

If all our congregations were united in the same faith, what a glorious, united, loving church we would have upon earth! We would then enjoy ourselves in green pastures, beside the still waters! Although our number might be small, we could trust and believe that it is much larger than it was a long time ago, when the Savior met with the twelve in that upper room.

The Apostle says, "Fear not, little flock; it is your Father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom." There is much said sometimes about getting religion, but when we behold the fruits thereof, it corresponds with their idea of getting,—we must come to the conclusion that religion is still wanting. It is much easier for many to ask, seek, and knock at the door of fashion, pride and vanity than to labor for that pure and undefiled religion.

Is religion beautiful? We answer, All is desolation and deformity where it is not. Not until man is enabled, by religion, to fill the design of his Creator, can he enjoy God and hold sweet communion with him. Not until then can he glorify him in his soul and body which is his reasonable service. Religion prepares him for the society of angels and the spirits of just men made perfect. With them he may sing the loud hallelujahs to God and the Lamb throughout the endless ages of eternity.

East Coventry, Pa.

"COME UNTO ME."

BY FRANCES RIDLEY HAVERGAL.

WHAT kind, sweet words for your pillow to-night! Jesus says them to you.

"How am I to know?"

Well, they are for every one that is weary and heavy laden. Do you know what it is to be weary and tired sometimes? Perhaps you know what it is to feel almost tired of trying to be good—weary with wishing you could be better. So, you see, it is to you that he says "Come!"

And if you have not yet come, you are heavy-laden, too, even if you do not feel it; because the burden of sin is heavy enough to sink you down unless Jesus takes it from you. So it is to you that he says "Come!"

And lest you should think he says it to grown-up people only, he said, "Suffer the little children to come unto me." Are you a little child? Then it is to you that he says "Come!"

"If he were here, and I could see him, I should like to come."

He is here, as really and truly as you are. Suppose your mother and you were in a dark room together, and she said, "Come to me!" you would not stop to say, "I am coming, mother," but you would soon feel your way across the room, and be safe by her side. Not seeing her would not make any difference.

Jesus calls you now. Will you not say, "I am coming, Lord Jesus!" and ask him to stretch out his hand and help you to come, and draw you quite close to himself?

Yes, to himself—the blessed, beloved Lord Jesus, who loved you and gave himself for you, who has waited so patiently for you, who calls you because he wants you to come and be his own little lamb, and be taken up in his arms and blessed. Will you keep him waiting any longer? Will you not "come?"

A FATHER AND FRIEND.

GOD is a loving Father and a loving Friend to the children of men, and not their arbitrary Sovereign. He who realizes this truth has a freedom in his grateful service of God which is not possible to one who lacks its comprehension. It is said of a devoted missionary that "in his eye all life was a covenant, and every act a consecration." Such a life is a life of joy and a life of peace. There is true joy and peace in no other life.—Sel.

LIVES OF THE CÆSARS.

BY W. H. ROOSE.

Number Twelve.—Augustus.

ANTHONY had two objects in view, neither of which he ever enjoyed. One was to be a ruler of the Roman Empire, the other to make Cleopatra his wife. In order to accomplish the latter, he divorced himself from his own wife, Octavia. How often is this done in our own times! Men and women become dissatisfied with each other though they promised adherence till death,—the only Scriptural severer of the marital vows. Not only do they stop with the crime of unlawful divorce or elopement, but often end with the deepest of all crimes,—murder! There is one point connected with such actions I wish our readers to note carefully,—that is this,—if a man will not be true to the vows he made to his first wife, he can not to the second. He is sacrificing virtue to gratify passion.

This action of Anthony incurred the displeasure of Augustus, his brother-in-law. He took up arms to punish Anthony for the insult to his sister, though he, undoubtedly, inwardly desired to remove a man whose power kept him in constant fear and dependence.

Their fleets met at Actium to decide which should govern Rome. Anthony was supported by the Eastern, and Augustus by the Italian powers. Anthony was badly defeated through the cowardice of Cleopatra for whom he had been fighting.

He charged her with inconstancy. The terrified queen fled to a monument, which had already become the receptacle of all her treasures, and bolted herself within its walls, and sent word to Anthony that she was dead. He thought it was true, and sent for his servant Eros to do him the last kind act, such as Strato had done for Brutus. Though Eros had promised that when his master wished to die he would assist him, like impetuous Peter, he denied Anthony the desired service by plunging the fatal sword into his own breast.

Anthony, in agony of grief, endeavored to give himself a mortal wound. Before expiring he learned that Cleopatra was still living, and desired to be taken in her presence, bathed in blood. The queen assisted with all her strength to draw him up to a window, by a rope, to where she had taken refuge. She acted rudely toward herself to show her grief, but Anthony told her to be more moderate. He told her "Lament not my misfortunes, but congratulate me on the happiness I have enjoyed. I have lived the greatest and most powerful of men; and though I fall, my fate is not shameful."

It was not long after the incidents just narrated, when Cleopatra was taken prisoner by Augustus. Her beauty failed to win his favor as it had done with others. She found that she was to be exhibited to the Roman people. She determined to thwart his purposes here by taking her own life; but the vigilance of his servants prevented her from doing so. Even her clothes were shaken to see that no instruments of death were concealed beneath them.

With all their caution she foiled them in their object. One day a basket of figs was brought by a peasant, who requested the guard to deliver them to the imprisoned woman. To be sure the keepers were assured they were harmless, by allowing them to eat some of them. When they were brought in, Cleopatra dressed herself in her royal robes, sent away all her attendants, except two, —Iras and Charmion,—then sat down to her magnificent feast. When she was next seen she was lying dead upon her golden couch, and Iras was expiring on the floor, while Charmion was directing her last efforts as a token of honor to her dead mistress in carefully adjusting the diadem upon Cleopatra's head. When Augustus' messengers came in, they said, "Is this well done?" The answer, "Yes, it is well done, and worthy the descendants of the kings of Egypt," were the last words of Charmion. While Cleopatra undoubtedly knew that the poisonous asp lay among the luscious figs, we often enjoy pleasures in which is hidden as deadly an element as the asp, though we may not know it. It may not cause death as soon as the bite of the asp, yet the ruining of the soul is just as sure. The sparkling cup is very inviting to the youth, and many are confronted with the declaration that there is no harm in drinking a glass of beer, wine, or brandy, but some day the effects of this habit will be manifest. It will bite like a serpent and sting like an adder, and destroy both soul and body.

Mothers often array their children with gay things that do not add to their comfort in the least, but as children are easily captivated by frivolous things, they become attached to gay clothing, and nothing but the powerful workings of the grace of God in their hearts can ever wean them from them. Whether it is wrong for people to adorn themselves with superfluities or not, we will not decide as to the clothes themselves, but the results which come from being accustomed to nice apparel, are often ruinous.

We saw an account of a finely-dressed lady, who acted as missionary to many houses of illfame in New York City. She found many women who moved in the most refined society, making regular visits to these houses in order to clothe themselves in accordance with the demands of fashion. Many others could not satisfy the love for dress, formed by mothers and servants in eraly childhood, by legitimate methods, and thus began to lead lives of shame. We ask, Who is responsible for all this sin?

Then we have the private dances and parties. So little harm in them! But we can only tell the harm that lurks behind these innocent amusements when we look at the lives of those who take part in them.

Charmion was true to the last to her wicked mistress, and this was a noble trait of character in her. Her last words were commendatory of her deeds. So should our lives be faithful to the good Master, endeavoring to make every act of our lives and all our words count for his cause and kingdom here on earth. Then our last words will praise his holy name.

THE SECOND BEAST.

BY W. F. GILLETT.

Number Two.

"Here is wisdom. Let him that hath understanding count the number of the beast: for it is the number of a man: and his number is six hundred threescore and six."—Rev. 13: 18.

IN our last we said we would say something about how the second beast would be formed. The Brethren may not all agree with us on this subject, but the principal object of these articles is to give the Brethren warning, so that they may be careful and not receive the mark of the beast. The Scripture at the head of this article says, "Let him that hath understanding count the number of the beast: for it is the number of a man: and his number is six hundred threescore and six." We understand this to mean 666 human organizations or man-made institutions, which will be necessary to make this second beast. "Well," says one, "Where are you going to find that many man-made institutions?" We believe these are the secret societies and the different churches that are so numerous in the world at the present day.

In the Southern States there is a secret society called the "National Agricultural Wheel." This society has some of the characteristics of the second beast, and one of them is this,—they cause all that join them to receive a mark or a sign in their right hand, whereby they may recognize each other in the act of handshaking. They have not yet forbidden people to buy or sell, but they seem to be working on the same principle. They have their own stores, and they sell to members of their own society at ten per cent profit, consequently any one else selling goods in their town has to sell goods at the same profit, or not sell at all. It looks very much as though they would forbid people to buy or sell, except they have the mark in their right hand, if they had the power to do so. It seems to be their object to control the merchandising power of the world. In this respect they are like the first beast. There seems to be something about this society that is very attractive, for it seems to be taking in nearly every one as it moves northward, and thus is like a cloud to cover the land. Ezekiel 38: 9. They have already begun the work of consolidating with other societies of like principles. They have already consolidated with the "Farmers' Alliance," and, no doubt, will with the "Knights of Labor," and next with "Union Labor," and so on till they become very strong. They do not claim to be political, but we do not see how they can accomplish their object until they do so. As we said before, they will unite with other societies until they become strong. Then they will become political and elect a President of the United States, and other officers. No doubt this President will be a Catholic, or at least a Catholic sympathizer. He will then be one of the horns of the beast. The other horn will likely be the King of England. Queen Victoria, of England, is very old, and at her death her eldest son,—the Prince of Wales will ascend the throne. This Prince of Wales is very friendly to the Pope of Rome, and it is thought by some of the people of England that, as soon as the Prince of Wales ascends the throne, he will turn Catholic, and that he will compel people to receive a mark in their forehead, Rev. 13: 16, or the sign of the cross.

The early Christian thought the sign of the cross was the mark of the beast. Now this King of England and President of the United States, will agree and will say, Let us make an image to the beast, which had the wound by a sword, and did live. Rev. 13: 14. So they will appoint one man to settle their difficulties, just as the ten kings did appoint the Pope of Rome to settle their difficulties. We do not hesitate to say that this man will be a Catholic, because he will cause the earth and them that dwell therein to worship the first beast whose deadly wound was healed. Rev. 13: 12. This man will have a good deal of authority vested in him. He will have dominion over England, Ireland, Scotland, Wales, United States and Canada. This power will be the second beast, or the image of the first beast whose deadly wound was healed.

We said in our first article there would be a consolidation of church and State. Our reason for this is the fact that church members join these societies readily. They say they can take Christ with them into the lodge, as well as anywhere, but Christ says, "If they shall say unto you, Behold he is in the secret chambers, believe it not." Matt. 24: 26. Christ will not be there, and if Christ is not there, somebody else is. It must be the evil one, working to get his forces organized in such a shape that he can form another beast that will persecute the followers of the Lamb.

These church members, that are joining these secret institutions, likely have no idea to what it will lead. This beast will come up lamb-like and will lead on by deceit and flattery, until it emerges in the form of a great beast. Then it will be too late to help themselves. The ten kings that gave their power and strength to the first beast, when they saw what a blunder they had made, regretted their course, Rev. 17: 16, but it was too late. Just so a great many will hate the second beast, but it will be too late, because they have already got the mark. Brethren, let us be very careful, and have nothing to do with secret societies or political affairs, and then we will not help to make this beast, and we will be sure not to receive his mark.

(To be Continued).

Waynesville, Mo.

POWER OF INFLUENCE.

BY D. G. COUSER.

"Thou art writing a book for the living to read;
Be ambitious to write it well,
That its precepts of wisdom, which they may heed,
May for good on their destiny tell."

"YOUTH is the seed-time of life." Impressions are more easily made on the minds of the youth, than on older persons. Influence brought to bear upon the minds and lives of the young mould their characters for time, and eternity as well. Plants partake of the nature of the soil in which they grow,—likewise young minds partake of the nature of their surroundings.

Two children, alike in nature, pure in character equal in mental endowments, are thrown under different influences. The one is placed in a good home, under religious influence. He grows up honest, truthful, virtuous, and respected for his good character, and finally unites himself with God's people and leads a quiet Christian life. The other is thrown into bad society, and associates with evil companions continually. He inhales the contaminating atmosphere of vice, and his character is stained by crime.

From this we notice that we partake of the nature of the atmosphere in which we live. Where that influence may end, we do not know, but, like the pebble dropped in mid-ocean, the circles widen and move on till they reach the distant shores.

We have little ones around us. They, too, are creatures of imitation. Our words and actions are watched. Just as we act and talk, so do the little ones.

What a great responsibility is resting upon us as teachers and parents! The wise man knew what he was speaking of when he said, "Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it." Prov. 22: 6.

The influence we exert in our daily walk and conversation can never be estimated. "Words fitly spoken are like apples of gold in pictures of silver." "A soft answer turneth away wrath: but grievous words stir up anger."

We sometimes see the sad effects of bad influence in the church. We have seen sisters at home or at church in time of worship, without the covering. "Well," says a young sister, "if sister A. can go without the covering, I think I can," and "if sister A. can wear a ribbon or a ruffle, why can not I." So the bad influence spreads.

There are some persons who watch others to pattern after them. Paul says, "Be ye followers of me, even as I also am of Christ." Christ is the only perfect pattern, and we should follow only the true one. Paul again says, "Let no corrupt communication proceed out of your mouth, but that which is good to the use of edifying, that it may minister grace to the hearers."

Filthy and foolish stories are sometimes told, and that by professed Christians. At thrashing times, log-rollings, raisings, and such gatherings, this kind of a "pastime" is engaged in, and, perhaps, some young mind is poisoned in this way. Here is an influence that may be seen in after-years, as such things will long remain in memory. Jesting and joking, "which is not convenient," is also spoken against, and we would all do well to heed this timely admonition, as those outside are looking on, and will soon see our faults, which may be a stumbling-block to them. We are commanded to live soberly, righteously, and godly in this present world. Titus 2: 12. "Among whom ye shine as lights in the world." Philpp. 2: 15. "Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven."

Saltillo, Nebr., July 16.

NOVEL READING.

BY A. FLORY.

THIS is one of the great evils of the age! Thousands of young men and women are tainted with its poison. How important that all who have formed the habit, abandon it at once, and that those who have not, shun it as they would a viper!

Novel reading drives away nearly all desire for Bible study. It will not do to spend part of our leisure hours in reading fiction, and part in reading the Holy Bible. God will not accept this kind of service, for we can not serve two masters. Matt. 6: 24. No fountain will yield sweet water and bitter. James 3: 12.

Trashy novels are found in nearly all book stores. They are handed to the young and thoughtless, to induce them to read such matter. No doubt many are led into the habit in this way, and it would be wisdom on the part of all persons to refuse such gifts. Numbers of men have been ruined by taking one glass, not knowing that next time they would want two, and so on until they landed in the gutter. Just so with this. If you read one novel, you will be likely to want the second. In this way you may be led into a habit that will be hard to overcome.

Never read any book or paper that has an immoral or dangerous tendency. You should read most of all the Bible,—the Book of all books, for Christ says, "Search the Scriptures." John 5: 3. Read the MESSENGER and such other papers or books as are useful in a moral or religious sense.

Meyerhœffer's Store, Va.

INTEMPERANCE.

BY S. W. HOOVER.

INTEMPERANCE is a great and growing evil, but it does not wholly consist, as some think, in the use of intoxicants and narcotics. Intemperance is sin, and sin arises from many other causes and has its evil effects upon both the physical and moral status and character of all men and women. It also has its baneful influence on society, and in communities, countries, nations and churches.

Intemperance, arising from the use of intoxicants, tobacco, opium and other narcotics, is not confined to the ignorant and uncivilized,—whether individual or country,—but facts show that even the most enlightened and highly civilized of any country become habitually addicted to their uses; hence subject to their worst effects. Then, too, there are thousands of Christian professors whose habits are not strictly temperate, that must be included in this catalogue, which is still worse. What a sad commentary is this on the social, moral and Christian character and civilization of our own beloved country, whose people annually spend many thousands of dollars for that which is unwholesome and sinful, and is thus destructive to both body and soul.

Intemperance may include riches, covetousness, pride, evil communications, religious affectation, etc., and while it is true, however much to be deplored, that intoxicants annually make paupers, and both physical and moral wrecks of thousands of men and women in the world, sending them down to the drunkard's ruin, — THESE evils and works of the devil sum up their millions of victims, all going down to Christless graves, ruin and woe.

During our Lord's incarnation the Scribes and Pharisees affected much righteousness, while their hearts were far from Christ and full of sin. Their widened phylacteries were no index to their hearts. Let none think that they were sinners above all men. The slanderer and hypocrite of to-day is no less deceptive, or the enemy of Christianity and its principles, or any more righteous than were they, and however assumptious, they practically, by such attitude, not only assume to deceive their fellow-men, but also God. The lives of all such must eventually result in ignominious failure,—themselves being both the deceivers and the deceived. Paul says to the Galatians, "Be not deceived; God is not mocked; whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap." Gal. 6: 7.

Peter instructs the disciples and all followers of Jesus to be temperate in their religion,—naming temperance as one of the Christian graces. The apostle could speak from experience, having realized the evil effects of intemperance in speech when he denied his Lord. He realized the utter emptiness of religion without living it out in a practical, unostentatious and humble, upright life.

From a careful consideration of this subject, so vital to pure and undefiled religion, it will be observed that temperance does not consist in the moderate use of any evil. Moderation in the use of intoxicants, tobacco, etc., or the indulgence of any filthy habit in the sense of temperance is wholly out of the question. It is simply yielding true manhood and womanhood to vice and the cravings of an unsatisfied appetite. Paul would not only have the followers of Jesus be free from the use of all these, but more, that we should also "abstain from all APPEARANCE of evil." 2 Thess. 5: 22. In other words,—touch not, taste not, handle not. Col. 2: 22.

Bible temperance, practically, consists in the judicious employment of all Gospel means and methods for relieving men from sin, the possession of a new heart and nature, and the development of a higher social, moral and Christian character.

Dayton, Ohio.

BLESSING IN AFFLICTION.

WHILE the water is quiet the mud lies at the bottom, but when it is disturbed it rises to the top. Every cock-boat can swim in a shallow river, but it must be a strong vessel that plows the troubled ocean. "The Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away, blessed be the name of the Lord." He gives before he takes, and takes but what he gives. The hour-glass of outward happiness soon runs out. To-day Job is the richest man in all the East; to-morrow Job is the poorest man in all the world; yet his heart was like a fruitful paradise when his estate was like a barren wilderness. Though God burnt up his out-house, yet his palace was left standing. Outward mercies are like the tide, which ebbs as well as flows; like the sky, which sometimes is clear and at another time clouded; or like a budding flower, which a warm day opens and a cold day shuts again. If God bless us in taking as well as in giving, let us bless him for taking as well as for giving.—Sel.

"LET not him who prays," says South, "suffer his tongue to outstrip his heart; nor presume to carry a message to the throne of grace, while that stays behind."

The Gospel Messenger,

A Weekly at $1.50 per Annum,

PUBLISHED BY

The Brethren's Publishing Co.

D. L. MILLER, - - - - - - Office Editor.

J. B. BRUMBAUGH, J. G. ROYER, - - - - Associate Editors.

JOS. AMICK, - - - - - - Business Manager.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE,
R. H Miller, S. S. Mohler, Daniel Hays.

☞Communications for publication should be legibly written with BLACK ink on ONE side of the paper only. Do not attempt to interline, or to put on one page what ought to occupy two.

☞Anonymous communications will not be published.

☞Do not mix business with articles for publication. Keep your communications on separate sheets from all business.

☞Time is precious. We always have time to attend to business and to answer questions of importance, but please do not subject us to needless answering of letters.

☞The MESSENGER is mailed each week to all subscribers. If the address is correctly entered on our list, the paper must reach the person to whom it is addressed. If you do not get your paper, write us, giving particulars.

☞When changing your address, please give your FORMER as well as your FUTURE address in full, so as to avoid delay and misunderstanding.

☞Remittances should be made by Post-office Money Order, Drafts on New York or Chicago, or Registered Letters, made payable and addressed to "Brethren's Publishing Co., Mount Morris, Ill.," or "Brethren's Publishing Co., Huntingdon, Pa."

☞Always remit to the office from which you order your goods, no matter from where you receive them.

☞Do not send personal checks or drafts on interior banks, unless you send with them 25 cents each, to pay for collection.

☞Entered at the Post-office at Mount Morris, Ill., as second-class matter.

Mount Morris, Ill., - - - - Aug. 13, 1889.

50 cts. pays for the GOSPEL MESSENGER from Aug. 1 to the end of 1889. Show this to your neighbors and ask them to subscribe.

ONE was baptized in the South Bend church, Indiana, Aug. 4.

IN No. 29, first page, under "Inconsistency," read page 297 instead of page 279.

BRO. D. E. PRICE expects to go to Fulton County, Illinois, to attend to church work.

BRO. E. S. YOUNG is spending two weeks in Ohio, visiting and preaching for the Brethren.

BRO. ANDREW HUTCHISON is holding meetings in the Plattsburg church, Clinton Co., Mo. Interest is good. They hold their feast on the 14th inst.

BRO. J. H. MILLER has changed his address from Milford, Kosciusko County, Ind., to Goshen, Elkhart County, same State. His correspondents will please make a note of this.

LAST week we referred to Bro. Amick's vacation, stating that he would start for California the last of this month. He has deferred the trip and will not leave home until about Oct. 8.

BRO. A. W. AUSTIN, of Reed, Cook County, Texas, writes us that Bro. Henry Brubaker has been very sick. Three of his family were also sick at the same time. We are glad to know that they are all improving and, we trust, will soon be restored to health. Our Brethren in Texas need the sympathies, the prayers, and the help of the Brotherhood in their arduous labors. May the Lord abundantly bless them.

BRO. JOHN SHEPHERD, of Ash Ridge, Wis., reports three additions to the church by baptism.

HAVE you read the Full Report of our last Annual Meeting? If not, order a copy at once. Price, postage prepaid, 25 cents.

SISTER MAMIE HALL, of Lingleville, Erath Co., Tex., says she can use back numbers of the MESSENGER to advantage among her neighbors. The paper is much appreciated and will do good. Any one having back numbers to spare can do good by sending them to the above address.

ALL orders for the "Miller and Sommer Debate" have now been filled and we still have a large number on hand. We want a good, active agent in every congregation in the Brotherhood to sell the book. Special terms sent on application. We will send the book to any address, postage prepaid, on the receipt of $1.50. Send in your orders.

BRO. J. G. ROYER informs us that he is now ready to send out the Minutes of the Annual Meeting. All orders received up to this date have been filled at the uniform rate of two cents per copy. Others desiring the Minutes can order at the above rate, except for single copies, when five cents must be sent. Please accompany your orders with the cash. Address J. G. Royer, Mt. Morris, Ill.

WE call special attention to the apportionment made by the Committee appointed for that purpose by last Annual Meeting, and published in this issue of the MESSENGER. Bro. S. H. Myers, the Treasurer, informs us that the brethren who have paid out money at the request of Annual Meeting, would now like to have it returned and he requests the State District Treasurers, or those having the matter in hand, to forward the amount of their apportionment at once. Address Eld. S. H. Myers, Timberville, Va.

To do with our might what our hands find to do in God's work, is to have his help, and with his help we shall not know what it is to fail. That "God helps those who help themselves," is true both in spiritual and temporal work. The preacher who fails to work and to "study," sitting down waiting to have his mouth filled with words, will have but a meager message to deliver to the people, and the man who idles away his time, expecting his mouth to be filled with food, will often go hungry.

"I AM always content with that which happens; for I think that what God chooses is better than what I choose." So said Epictetus, and the question should come to us. "Can we express the same contented trust in God?" In this life some strange things happen and we can not always see the end from the beginning. Not seeing, it is hard for us, when passing through a trying ordeal, to feel that it is all for the best because God has chosen it for us. When trials and sickness come upon us, we lack that perfect trust in God that we should always have. Why is this? Simply because during health and prosperity we have not taken the Lord with us and trusted him as much as we should have done, and when trouble comes we find that we are weak, and lack in having a perfect trust. How important it is, then, that we take the Lord with us all the time and live close to him, trusting in him, knowing that he doeth all things well. Then, when trials and sorrows come, when disease assails us, let them come ever so suddenly, we can trust the Lord, leaning upon his strong arm for support, knowing with full assurance that he will care for us because we have trusted him before, and he never forsook us.—L.

BRO. J. E. YOUNG, of Beatrice, Nebr., writes as follows: "Bro. J. B. Brumbaugh and wife were with us yesterday in Beatrice. He preached for us very acceptably in the morning, and expressed himself as being well pleased with the tender plant in town."

SISTER SADIE C. BRALLIER, who narrowly escaped in the Johnstown disaster, sends us the following letter: "I am at home again, and my address will now be Vinco, Pa. Ever since the Johnstown disaster I have been suffering from nervous prostration, and the doctors advised that I return to the country, hoping that when once removed from the impure air and the horror of the surroundings, my health might be restored. Although able to take an occasional short walk and drive, I do not seem to gain strength at all. I am far from being well. Dear brethren, won't you let your prayers ascend to the Great Physician in my behalf?"

WE are very glad to learn that Bro. D. M. Mohler and wife, of Warrensburg, Mo., have renewed their former pleasant and useful relationship with the Brethren's church. Under some misapprehension of the facts in the case, they had identified themselves with the Old Order Brethren some time ago, but feeling that the church was laboring earnestly for the Truth as it is in Jesus, they decided to again take hold and help on the good work. They now live in the Warrensburg church where Bro. Mohler will continue his labors in the ministry. May the Lord bless him and his companion and make them instruments in winning many souls to Christ.

BRO. I. J. ROSENBERGER informs us that the meeting held at Pitsburg, Ohio, July 30, to consider the propriety of making an effort to establish a Brethren's school in the Miami Valley, presumably at Covington, Ohio, was well attended and passed off pleasantly. The school question was pretty thoroughly discussed, and after giving it due and careful consideration it was decided to drop the matter for the present. In this we think the Brethren have acted wisely. The time may come when a school will be able to live and succeed in the Miami Valley, but we do not think the time has come as yet. We need to take care of what we now have until we grow stronger and are better able to support new candidates for favor.

"THE leading errors and corruptions of Romanism came into the church from the close of the fourth century on, and all these errors, with the exception of two, prior to the seventeenth century, when things in the ecclesiastical world were under the shadowy corruption of the dark ages.

	A. D.
Invocation of the Saints,	375
The Service in Latin,	600
Papal Supremacy,	606
Images and Relics,	787
Baptism of Bells,	965
Canonizations of Saints,	993
The Celibacy of the Priesthood,	1000
Trans-substantiation,	1000
Sale of Indulgences,	1090
Use of Beads in Worship,	1090
The Sacrifice of the Mass,	1109
The Confessional Box,	1215
Restriction of the Bible,	1546
Purgatory,	1439
Worship of Mary,	1563
Seven Sacraments,	1547
Creed of Pope Pius IV,	1564
Immaculate Conception,	1854
Papal Infallibility,	1870

The Roman Church, as characterized by these distinctive features of doctrine and practice, is wholly unapostolic, and especially contradictory to the teaching of Peter, who is claimed to be historic and Scriptural authority in matters of dogmatic and ecclesiastical claims."

THE SUNDAY REST BILL AND THE ADVENTISTS.

We have received the following communication from Bethlehem, Iowa, signed "A Sister," taking exceptions to what we said in regard to the petition which is being circulated by the Adventists against the "Sunday Rest Bill" now pending in the United States Congress. She says:

"I see by your paper of July 9th, in answer to a correspondent of Lewiston, Minn, concerning the Constitutional Amendment you advise 'the brethren' not to sign the protest because there is deception practiced to obtain names. It is plainly stated at the head of each petition what it is for, simply asking Congress to pass no laws giving preference to the principles of any one religion. The Adventists are not the aggressive party. They are trying to preserve the Constitution as our forefathers gave it to us. There is nothing whatever said about doing away with the legalized Sunday. You class Adventists with Infidels. Do you call that Christian charity? Will you please read the ninth commandment? Hoping you will look more closely at this matter, I close."

A SISTER.

The item to which exception is taken reads as follows:

A brother of Lewistown, Minn., asks: "What should our Brethren do in regard to signing the protest made by those opposed to the Constitutional Amendment? We have Seventh Day Adventists in our neighborhood getting names to their protest. Will you or some other brethren give your views in regard to the matter?" As we understand this question it covers the doing away with our legalized Sunday or Lord's Day. A paper of the above import was circulated at this place and some were deceived into signing it, but as soon as they learned the true character of the paper, they withdrew their names. The worst feature about it is the deception practiced to secure signatures. Our brethren should be careful not to put their names to any paper until they know fully its import. Otherwise they may assist in a work that afterwards they will be sorry for. The plea of the Adventists and the infidel against Sunday laws before the Senate Committee will show the animus of the whole affair. Write to your member of Congress or Senator for a copy of the hearing before the Senate Committee on the Sunday question, and read the arguments.

We might reply to "A Sister" by saying that if she had taken her own advice and looked into the matter carefully, she would not have had occasion to write as she did, and make no further allusion to the matter; but presuming that she is honest and yet mistaken, and that others may fall into the same error, we will give some space to answering her criticism.

In the first place we refer our readers to the very able article which appeared in the last week's MESSENGER from the pen of Wilbur F. Crafts on this subject. Read it carefully and you will see where the deception comes in to which we referred in the item given above. The gifted author has given the subject the most careful attention, and sets it forth in such a clear, forcible way that it leaves nothing further to be desired on this point. If, after reading Dr. Craft's article, "A Sister" and others who may feel as she does, can not see the deception practiced in obtaining names to the petition, anything that we might offer would not have that effect.

The strongest evidence that the petition is deceptive is, that it deceives. It is very skillfully written and carefully worded, and carries upon its face a plausibility that makes it all the more dangerous. There is not a word in the original petition about favoring or giving preference to any form of religion, but it simply asks that all labor, traffic, military service, and mail service, except "works of religion and works of real necessity and mercy, and such private work by those who observe another day as will neither interfere with the general rest nor with public worship," be prohibited. This last provision was doubtless inserted for the benefit of the Adventists and Seventh Day Baptists. The Adventists observe our Saturday as the legal Sabbath and they want all Sunday laws abolished, and here again they deceive those who sign the petition. They could get but few names to a petition if their real purpose was set forth. How many Christians could they get to sign a petition to set aside the Lord's day? Not many, we are sure, but by covering up the true design and asking that no laws be passed favoring any particular form of religion, they are able to induce a great many, under misapprehension, to sign their petition.

One of their petitions was circulated in our town, and the first name that appeared on it was that of the pastor of one of our prominent churches and his name was followed by those of several other church members. When the true nature of the petition was discovered, the names were quickly withdrawn, and there was an end to the petition so far as Mt. Morris was concerned. It is so skillfully drawn up that it may deceive the very elect, and because of this we gave the warning to our brethren not to be caught signing a petition which really aims at the overthrow of the Lord's Day.

The petition deceives, but in this respect it is only in keeping with the efforts made by Adventists in introducing their literature among the people. Here they practice deception just as boldly as they are doing in the petition under question. Bro. I. J. Rosenberger recently gave an illustration of their methods to our readers. Some time ago we were visiting a brother in Kansas, when a book-agent came in and showed the brother a book, purporting to be a history of American progress during the last century. The agent spoke of the merits of the book, claiming that it was a reliable history, and induced him to take a copy of the work. In looking over the book afterward, we found several chapters, skillfully woven into the historical part of the work, setting forth the Adventists' doctrine. We have before us one of their works, entitled, "Helps to Bible Study, Containing a Series of Simple Bible Readings for Bible Workers." The title gives no idea of what the book contains and many purchasers are deceived in buying it. Personally we know some who purchased the book without the slightest idea that it was a skillfully-arranged series of questions and answers setting forth the Adventist doctrines. These and other cases might be cited to show that deception is practiced by these people, and many of their books are being sold all over the country to-day by their agents, which, if their true character were known could not be sold. With the Adventists, personally, we have no quarrel. We do not agree with them as to doctrine but feel to treat them with Christian courtesy and fairness; but we do most seriously object to their methods, as shown in their effort to get names to their anti-Sunday petition and the methods adopted by them in selling their books.

The charge in "A Sister's" criticism that we lacked Christian charity in classing the Adventists with infidels, is based on a misconception of what we said. We did not so class them. We left them where we found them, arrayed in company with the infidel against the Sunday Rest Bill. After the bill in question had been read before the Senate, it was referred to a committee. The Committee, in order to get the fullest expression of opinion on the subject, gave the friends and the enemies of the bill an opportunity to appear before them and discuss the question involved. The hearing was held in Washington, Dec. 13, 1888, a full report of which was published by order of the Senate. We have a copy of the report before us and we find that Professor Alonzo T. Jones, of Battle Creek, Mich., representing the Adventists, appeared before the Committee in opposition to the bill. Mr. John B. Wolff representing the American Secular Union, "A body of unbelievers," appeared in opposition to the Bill. Here we find the Adventist and the unbeliever standing together before the Senate Committee in opposition to the Sunday Rest Bill. We simply stated a fact that existed. If the Adventists unite with infidels in their opposition to Sunday laws, surely it can not be a breach of Christian charity to state the fact when warning others not to be found in such company.

It is known that in the State of California the people voted at the polls to abolish all Sunday laws, and we found, while in that State, that but little respect is paid to the Lord's Day. During our stay there we inquired into the cause that gave such a result at the polls, and we were informed that whiskey men, who wanted to carry on their drunkard-making on Sunday, infidels, who wanted to strike a blow at Christianity, Jews and Adventists who observe the Jewish Sabbath or Saturday, and the irreligious men of all parties united and voted against the observance of the Lord's Day. One of the great political parties, truckling to these elements and aiming to secure their votes in other political contests made an issue of the Sunday question, with the result before stated.

If the Adventists find themselves in accord with unbelievers on the Sabbath question and unite with them in opposing the passage of a bill favored by nearly all orthodox professors of Christianity, and vote with them to abolish Sunday laws and thus practically do away with keeping the Lord's Day, they should not object to a statement of the fact. "A Sister" says, "they are not the aggressive party," it is presumed, in getting up the petition. So much the worse for them. If they had taken the aggressive, and unbelievers had joined in with them, it would not appear so bad as for them to join with opposers of Christianity in their opposition to a bill that has for its object the release from Sunday labor of over two million wage-earners, and to protect those who desire to keep the Lord's Day as a day of rest and religious observance.

The report of the hearing before the Senate Committee to which reference has been made above, contains 161 pages and is well worth reading. A limited number of copies are intended for free distribution and any one desiring a copy can secure one provided the supply has not yet been exhausted, by writing to the United States Senator representing his State.

We trust those who have felt that the petition was all right and were induced to sign it, being deceived, will see that their names are stricken from it. We can not afford to have our names appear on a petition of that kind. Again we say, Read Dr. Craft's article and study the subject carefully and you will be convinced. We further suggest to "A Sister" and all others who are disposed to judge hastily, that hasty judgment is nearly always unwise, and that it is only just and right to look carefully into a question before offering criticisms upon it. See Matt. 7: 2.

Missionary and Tract Work Department.

"Upon the first day of the week, let every one of you lay by him in store as God hath prospered him, that there be no gatherings when I come." 1 Cor. 16: 2.

"Every man as he purposeth in his heart, so let him give. Not grudgingly or of necessity, for the Lord loveth a cheerful giver." 2 Cor. 9: 7.

HOW MUCH SHALL WE GIVE?

"Every man according to his ability." "Every one as God hath prospered him." "Every man, according as he purposeth in his heart, so let him give." "For if there be first a willing mind, it is accepted according to that a man hath, and not according to that he hath not." 2 Cor. 8: 12.

Organization of Missionary Committee.

DANIEL VANIMAN, Foreman, - - - Virden, Ill.
D. L. MILLER, Secretary and Treasurer, - Mt. Morris, Ill.
G. B. ROYER, Assistant Secretary, - - Mt. Morris, Ill.

Organization of Book and Tract Work.

S. W. HOOVER, Foreman, - - - Dayton, Ohio.
S. BOCK, Secretary and Treasurer, - - Dayton, Ohio.

☞ All donations intended for Missionary Work should be sent to D. L. MILLER, Mt. Morris, Ill.

☞ All money for Tract Work should be sent to S. BOCK, Dayton, Ohio.

☞ Money may be sent by Money Order, Registered Letter, or Drafts on New York or Chicago. Do not send personal checks, or drafts on interior towns, as it costs 25 cents to collect them.

☞ Solicitors are requested to faithfully carry out the plan of Annual Meeting, that all our members be solicited to contribute at least twice a year for the Mission and Tract Work of the Church.

☞ Notes for the Endowment Fund can be had by writing to the Secretary of either Work.

WHO IS RESPONSIBLE?

BY S. M. FRIEND.

Is the Minister of the Gospel the only One that will be held Accountable for the Instruction he Gives?

THIS is a question that has often presented itself to our mind as we, in our weakness, were standing before our little school, trying to instruct them in the different branches.

If the minister will have to answer for the instruction which he gives, when he deals with the adult mind, how can parents and common-school teachers escape, when they instruct the children of the land?

The course of a rivulet is more easily changed than that of a large and mighty river; so it is with the mind. The mind of the little child is of such a nature that we can train it in any way we desire, while with the adult this is not true. The man thinks and reasons for himself, and will reject anything that does not meet his views; while, if you gain the confidence of the child, you can make him believe almost anything. If this be true, is it not a question that should receive the most earnest thoughts of parents and teachers?

We have been taught to train a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it. This training should begin at home. The parents must begin this work; then it must be carried to the school-room; there it should be taught both by precept and example.

If it be taught only by precept, while the example is quite different, the result will not be the best, and if they take either lesson, it will be the one given by example, for children are natural imitators.

Thoughtful reader, when we view this subject in the light in which it stands, and think that our teaching may have a tendency, either to bring some soul into the fold of Christ, or to keep him out, it ought to make us feel solemn and determined to walk uprightly before them, so if they do go astray, it will not be our fault.

If parents and teachers would do their duty as they should do, the conversion of the rising generation would be almost accomplished before they come under the direct teaching of our ministers, thereby lightening their labor and helping to convert the world.

Parents, you know not but within your humble cottage dwells one who might become a minister of the Gospel, if you instruct him in the way he should go. If you do not, you know not what his destiny will be,—perhaps a felon's cell, or anything but something good. This thought may startle you, but it is just possible for your child to fill such a cell if not properly trained.

All this may be largely avoided by teaching him to love the truth and discard falsehood, to respect the Sabbath and read the Bible; to shun the card-table and drinking-saloon, and, above all, to love God with all his heart.

Parents and fellow-teachers, if any of these little ones, under our instruction, should be lost after they grow up, on account of our misinstructing them, or not instructing them at all, their blood will be required at our hand. Wonderful thought!

New Philadelphia, O.

WHAT WINS?

BY A. BRICKER.

MANY brethren and sisters inquire how to win their children to Christ. They say they have talked with them, and have tried various other expedients, and yet failed. I think there is no way so sure to win our families, our neighbors and those whom we are anxious to see brought to Christ, than to adorn the doctrine of Jesus Christ in our lives, and grow in all these graces. If we have peace, and joy, and love, and gentleness, and goodness, and temperance,— if we live in our homes as the Lord would have us do, day by day, we shall have a quiet and silent power proceeding from us that will constrain those around to believe on the Lord Jesus Christ. An uneven life, —hot to-day and cold to-morrow,—will only repel.

Many are watching God's people. It is the very worst thing that can happen to those whom we want to win to Christ, to see us at any time in a cold, backslidden state. This is not the condition in which the church should be. It is not God's intention. He would have us growing in these graces, and the only true, happy, Christian life is to be growing, constantly growing, in all those delightful graces of the Spirit. Even the vilest,— the most impure,—acknowledge the power of godliness; they recognize the fruits of the Spirit. It may condemn our lives and cause them to say bitter things at times, but, deep down in their hearts, they know that the man or woman who is living that kind of a life, is superior to them. The world does not satisfy them, and if we can show the world that Jesus Christ does satisfy us in our present life, it will be more powerful than the words of professional reformers. A man may speak like an angel, but if he does not practice what he preaches, if he does not live up to what he professes, his testimony is of no effect, and the people will say it is all hypocrisy after all,—it is all a sham.

Words are very empty if there is nothing back of them. Our testimony is poor and worthless if there is not a record back of that testimony that will correspond with our profession. What we need, is to pray to God to lift us up out of this low, cold, formal state in which we have been living, that the Lord may lift upon us the light of his countenance and that we may shine in this world, reflecting his graces and glory.

The first of the graces spoken of in Galatians, and the last mentioned in Peter, is charity and love. Without love it is impossible to please God. That is the key which unlocks the human heart. Parents should show by their actions that it is pure love that prompts them in advising their children to lead a different life. True love touches the heart. May God's blessing rest on these words and do us all good!

Primrose, Ohio.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND THE SUNDAY-SCHOOL?

BY FLORA E. TEAGUE.

I MIGHT briefly answer,—everybody. But as that would hardly prove satisfactory, I shall expand and also produce some reasons why those persons or classes whom I shall name should go.

1. We assert that the parents should attend. If any one is particularly needed there, they are. It is not very consistent for them to say, "Children, get ready and go to Sunday-school," and then stay at home themselves as if it was a duty only obligatory upon their offspring. How much more pleasant it would be to hear them say, "Come, children, it is time to go to Sunday-school," and then all start off to the place which should be a hallowed spot to them!

They should go because we are bidden not to forsake the assembling ourselves together, as the manner of some is.

They should go to set a good example for their children and to influence others to go.

How many we find in every neighborhood who meet on the Sabbath day in various nooks and corners to gossip! If a few who are guilty of this offense would attend our schools it would soon break up this form of desecrating our Sabbaths, and much more good might be accomplished.

"Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it," the wise man said many hundred years ago, and the same advice is applicable yet.

St. Paul tells us to bring up our children in the nurture and admonition of the Lord. Now, don't, we beg of you, try to cast this responsibility upon somebody else, as is too frequently done. Probably the teachers of our schools are not doing what you consider the proper thing. You had better be there to see and hear what the tender and receptive minds of your little ones are receiving.

Young teachers frequently need the advice and experience of the old to direct them properly. Be there, then, we pray you and aid them.

2 Young men and young women should attend the Sunday-school. A young person who is a regular attendant upon the Sunday-school always occupies a more honorable and influential position in the community than he or she who does not attend or meet with us. Is it not true? Observe for yourself.

All intelligent young people are found there. The lower classes are not, and it is a difficult thing to get them to attend. A natural or hereditary or willful desire to do evil, does not wish to be brought into the light. Your influence for the good is made stronger by attending the schools. The older ones wish you to come, for they know full well that some day you must take their places, and they desire that you may be thoroughly qualified to fill that position. The little boys and girls are glad to have you come. They miss you more than you probably think when you are absent. They are molding their future lives by yours. If you go to the Sabbath-school they think, "When I am big I'll go to Sunday-school too, like brother and sister." If you spend the day in some other place, probably a questionable one, they are making up their minds to do the same some day.

You can not afford to set them a wrong example. Some day the positions in which you will be placed will require a goodly knowledge of the Bible. How thankful, then, can you be if you make a habit of regularly studying its loved pages while your memory was at its best.

3. Little boys and girls should attend the Sunday-school. Bless their bright young faces, they are the light and life of the schools! They certainly are needed. It is the best time to fill their young minds with their Creator's Word. The truths taught then, will never be forgotten. "Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth while the evil days come not," was wisely said by a wise man.

Then little inquiring minds often bring out thoughts to older heads which are almost astounding. Verily, "Out of the mouths of babes and sucklings hast thou ordained strength!"

I am certain that I will not be far wrong if I say that probably one-half of the children in this land receive but very little Bible instruction from their parents, therefore, if they cast aside their duty, it is the place of the Sunday-school worker to take it up, and do for them what he can to bring them safely into the fold in God's own good time.

Now we have noted all classes who should attend the Sunday-school, yet there are many who do not attend, but should. May some plan be developed by which every person in the community may become a regular attendant, is the wish of every true Sunday-school worker.

COMMENTS.

BY JULIA A. WOOD.

At our late Conference I was handed, for examination and comments, some tracts by their author,—Bro. Jacob Rife. Subject: "Intemperance." A careful review pronounces them worthy of circulation by the thousands. Their logical, solemn and all-important truths should arouse whisky-lovers and venders to a keen sense of their duty. Down with that "accursed stuff!" Up with Prohibition, lest Satan gain the more complete rule,—lest he ruin what is near and dear to the advocates of Christianity, and all that is refining and ennobling. May the masses delay not to cast their influence on the side of every lawful and expedient measure for the banishment of that Demon,—Whisky!

ESSAYS.

"Study to show thyself approved unto God; a workman that needeth not be ashamed, rightly dividing the Word of Truth."

FASTING.

BY JAMES T. KINSEY.

We notice in Gospel Messenger, page 123, an article from John F. Cline on "Fasting." I have long wondered whether we, as a people, have not almost lost sight of the duty of fasting, and have often felt impressed with the necessity of fasting on certain occasions,—especially at our council-meetings, and more especially when brethren are to be chosen as officers to serve the church. It seems to me it is very important on such occasions for the members of Christ's body to give themselves to prayer and fasting, as we read in Joel 1: 14. "Sanctify ye a fast, call a solemn assembly; gather the elders and all the inhabitants of the church or land into the house of the Lord. And blow the trumpet in Zion, sanctify a fast."

It seems to me that on those solemn occasions fasting was highly necessary in olden times, and it is equally necessary for us. It appears to be more in harmony with the Gospel to fast on such occasions than to make it a day of feasting. We are commanded that when we fast we be not as the hypocrites are,—of a sad countenance,—but to give ourselves wholly to the Lord.

When the apostles met to ordain elders in the church they prayed with fastings. They commended them to the Lord on whom they believed. Acts 14: 23. It seems from the apostle's language that we ought not to neglect such an important duty, but should at some time give ourselves to prayer and fasting, and it seems there is no better time to fast than on such occasions as have already been set forth. No doubt the Lord would be well pleased if we make such days seasons of fasting, and not days of feasting.

Centropolis, Kans.

HEZEKIAH'S REPENTANCE.

BY IDA M. PUTERBAUGH.

"In those days was Hezekiah sick unto death. And Isaiah the prophet the son of Amoz came unto him, and said unto him, Thus saith the Lord, Set thine house in order: for thou shalt die and not live."—Isaiah 38: 1.

We see in the above language the uncertainty of life. Hezekiah having received a message of death, was afterwards spared to live,—was recovered from his sickness. Thus we see the Lord is ever ready to hear and answer the prayers of his children if the prayers come from a sincere heart. The Lord sent Isaiah to Hezekiah, saying, "Thus saith the Lord the God of David, thy father, I have heard thy prayer and seen thy tears."

Behold, how good the Lord was! He added unto his days fifteen years. He also delivered him and his city out of the hand of the king of Assyria and defended the city. It appears from the language of the Scriptures that this was to be a sign given unto him from the Lord, that he would do as he promised. The Lord always fulfills his promises, but how apt we all are to make promises and not fulfill them! It is truly a great lesson to us. What a great trouble we would save ourselves and others, if we would always do as we promise to do!

Quinter, Kans.

BUSINESS IS BUSINESS.

SELECTED BY MARTHA THORNBURGH.

A bright little boy entered a saloon with popcorn. The bar-tender offered to buy a dime's worth of the corn if the little fellow would take his pay in drink. The boy refused, saying he needed his money to buy bread and clothes for himself and little sister. The saloon-keeper finally bought ten cents worth of corn, and the boy started on his way to the door.

The keeper of the den called the boy back and gave him three tablespoonfuls of whiskey, mixed with water and sugar, saying, as he did so, that it was good for colds. The boy's eyes sparkled as he pronounced it good and went on his way. Then this fiend in human shape gave this explanation to his conduct. He said, "The Prohibition cranks are injuring us and unless we continue making drunkards out of the young, they will soon have them all on their side."

"If that boy keeps on selling corn on this side of the river, it won't be three weeks till he will buy drinks of me. They learn easy when young," and he laughed heartily.

Then the monster went on to enumerate how many boys he had taught to drink. One was a six-year-old son of a widow, whom he taught to drink through spite. The mother had prosecuted the saloon-keeper for selling liquor to her husband who had died from its effects, and the seller took revenge on the widow's son. He taught him to drink at six: at fourteen he was a confirmed drunkard, and at seventeen he died.

How long, O Lord, how long!—Chicago Advocate.

WHAT IS LIFE?

BY SARAH M. SAUNDERS.

It has been said that life is what we make it, and again it might be said that a great deal depends upon the material we use in making it. Life, in reality, is our existence, and our mortal life is the ability to think and act, and the make-up of our life is dependent upon our intelligence, our inclination, and our circumstances, morally and socially.

If our surroundings are such that we are constantly coming into contact and association with the worst elements of character, we are very sure to become more or less contaminated with its poisonous influences. I have heard it asserted that it is not necessary to become like those with whom we associate, but I am thoroughly convinced that, though a man may have an unblemished character when he leaves the parental roof, if he is, by force of circumstances, thrown into the society of the vicious and depraved in character and morals,—the inebriate or others of immoral character, it will not be very long until the influence of his associations will become painfully apparent to all. If, on the other hand, he is ushered into good society, kept free from the allurements of vice, surrounded with good and wholesome influences, he must have a very depraved nature if his life will not be a blessing to the world and to himself.

If we start out in life with the sole aim of accumulating wealth, of laying up treasures on earth, we will, sooner or later, become so absorbed in our object that we become avaricious, sacrificing everything else to the one idol of our life, until, at last, every good impulse of the heart is stifled and stunted, and our very existence is laid on the altar of the love of money, and our life becomes a failure. If, however, we take the advice of the inspired apostle as our motto in life, and "seek first the kingdom of God and his righteousness, all necessary things shall be added unto us."

Let us live for God's glory and honor,—endeavoring to serve him according to his will, bringing our carnal desires into subjection, ever keeping the service of God uppermost in our hearts! Let us live so that we may enjoy the blessings of the religion of Jesus while we live on earth, looking unto him who is the Author and Finisher of our faith,—living every day as if it were our last day on earth. Let us scatter seeds of kindness around our pathway, and, in every possible way, make this world of sorrow the better for our having lived in it.

Landess, Ind.

CORRESPONDENCE

"Write what thou seest, and send it unto the churches."

☞Church News solicited for this Department. If you have had a good meeting, send a report of it, so that others may rejoice with you. In writing give name of church, county and State. Be brief! Notes of Travel should be as short as possible. Land Advertisements are not solicited for this Department. We have an advertising page, and, if necessary, will issue supplements.

From Union City Church, Ind.

Our Sabbath-schools are growing in interest and attendance. One hundred and forty-four scholars were in attendance to-day and quite a number of interested visitors. The old and the young attend. We have Sabbath-school at all of our church houses (four in number), with a total attendance of about 250 scholars.

Two were baptized to-day after services. Two were restored to fellowship that had been away from the fold for several years, and one was received by letter. We have from two to six meetings at different points every Sunday, and the calls for meetings are on the increase. We have arranged to have two love-feasts this fall,—the first one Sept. 11 at 2 P. M., at the Pleasant Valley house, eight miles north of Union City, and the other one, Oct. 3 at 10 A. M. at the Brick house, one and a half miles north of Union City. We extend a cordial invitation to those meetings. Union City is the nearest railroad station. Give notice to me, and conveyance will be provided.

W. K. Simmons.

To the Various State Districts in the Brotherhood.

At last Annual Meeting a committee was appointed to apportion the amounts to be paid by the several State Districts for the purpose of defraying such expenses as the Annual Meeting may have incurred in sending out committees, etc. The committee have completed their work, and herewith submit the apportionment. State District Treasurers will please forward the several amounts to the Conference Treasurer, Eld. S. H. Myers, Timberville, Virginia. As there is now an indebtedness of over $125.00 it is urged that the District Treasurers forward the money at once.

First District of Virginia,	$ 10 00
Second District of Virginia,	10 00
First District of West Virginia,	3 00
Second District of West Virginia,	3 00
District of Tennessee,	3 00
Eastern District of Maryland,	10 00
Western District of Maryland,	10 00
Eastern District of Pennsylvania,	10 00
Middle District of Pennsylvania,	10 00
Western District of Pennsylvania,	8 00
North-western District of Ohio,	10 00
Eastern District of Ohio,	10 00
Southern District of Ohio,	10 00
Southern District of Indiana,	10 00
Middle District of Indiana,	10 00
Northern District of Indiana,	10 00
Southern District of Illinois,	10 00
Northern District of Illinois,	10 00
Southern District of Iowa,	3 00
Middle District of Iowa,	5 00
North-western District of Iowa and Minn.,	5 00
District of Nebraska,	3 00
Northern District of Missouri,	3 00
Middle District of Missouri,	3 00
Southern District of Missouri,	3 00
North-eastern District of Kansas,	3 00
Southern District of Kansas,	3 00
North-western District of Kansas and Colo.,	3 00
District of California,	3 00
District of Michigan,	2 00
District of Oregon,	1 00
District of Denmark and Sweden,	1 00

Joseph Amick,
D. L. Miller, } Com.
J. G. Royer,

A Suggestion to the Sisters of the Middle District of Indiana.

Since our dear aged Bro. Miller has so generously donated a home for the poor and the orphan of this District, and since the District has accepted the offering, it seems to me that the way is now open for all the sisters to do a good work. Bro. Himelick says in a recent number of the Messenger that the building will soon be completed, and, of course, it must be furnished before it can be occupied. Now I wish to make the suggestion that each congregation in the District appoint a sister as a solicitor or collector, to visit every sister in her respective congregation, and, in order to work systematically, each solicitor should correspond with all the others, so as to get an understanding of what is required of them. For instance, one solicitor might ask each and every married sister for five pounds of carpet rags, cut and sewed, and each single sister for twenty-five cents in cash. By this means that congregation could easily make thirty or forty yards of carpet for the floors. Another church could solicit in the same way for muslin, calico and batting to make covers for the beds. Another might, perhaps, furnish a few easy chairs; still another some feather pillows, and thus the home could easily be fitted up in a comfortable and cosy way and no one be any poorer.

I offer this as a suggestion, and if any sister can suggest a better plan, let us hear from her.

Sarah H. Saunders.

Landessville, Indiana.

Echoes from the Highway.

July 23 we were met at the depot at Charleston, West Virginia, by dear members, and piloted to the home of brother and sister Haws, where we found a houseful of eager persons ready to hear the Word preached. Next day, although a little rainy, we had another very interesting meeting. The whole-souled hospitality and Christian love, so common to our brethren and sisters of West Virginia, is a matter worthy of remark. Rich toward God may be truthfully said of them. The little band near Charleston is struggling to put up quite a neat church-house, and, to accomplish their desires, they are willing to deny themselves of some of the comforts of life. I wonder how many of God's children who read this will be willing to comfort them with a little aid, in response to that still, small voice within which says, "giving to the poor is lending to the Lord." All who feel to help in the building of that much-needed house, can do so by corresponding with Bro. A. Haws, Charleston, West Virginia.

Through the rain a number of the members accompanied us to the depot, where, after the shades of the night had set in, we started for Cincinnati, where we arrived next morning, and before noon we were at Dayton, Ohio. At the home of Bro. S. W. Hoover we met with a cordial reception. Here we also met other acquaintances who were just making arrangements to attend a church council at the new district of West Dayton. It was a joy to us to meet with the church and have a pleasant meeting together. In addition to other business, Bro. S. W. Hoover was, by the unanimous consent of the church, advanced to the second degree of the ministry. We visited their new brick church house, which is going to be a good commodious building, and, from the apparent zeal manifested by the members of the West Dayton congregation, we have reason to believe they will prosper in the work of building up the church in the city and suburbs.

* * *

July 25th, while having a pleasant evening visit at the home of Bro. D. Bock, the telephone in the adjoining room sounded out the sad news of the sudden death, a few minutes before, of Eld. Isaac Bright, who lived in Miami City. Thus the old veterans of the cross are passing over the stream,—one by one to rest from their labors!

* * *

Here, at Bro. Bock's, is the headquarters of the Brethren's Tract department. There is quite an activity in filling orders for Gospel "shell and shot," to be used in defending the "faith once delivered to the saints" from the opposing forces of the enemy. This is as it should be, and yet there is much room for a more general effort in the tract work. Brethren and sisters, do not forget this important work. Here is a channel in which every member of the body of Christ can work. Let each one be a soliciting agent to solicit his own heart to give, and, if done in the spirit of pity and compassion for a sin-ruined world, the response will be such an outpouring of means that the powers of darkness may be made to tremble.

* * *

July 27th we attended two meetings in the bounds of the Lower Stillwater church. This is the district in which our old brother, Peter Nead, lived, labored and died. Though dead, yet he speaketh.

One very commendable feature in the Brethren's Sunday-school in this district is that the old members, with the whole congregation of parents and children, take an active part, and all seem interested. They do not send the children ahead, to Sunday-school, as is the custom in some places, but it is, "Come, children, let us go to Sunday-school." God's blessings are to the comers!

J. S. Flory.

From Waverly, Spokane Co., Washington Territory.

Bro. J. C. Lahman was at our place July 17 and 18 and preached two sermons. This is the only preaching by the Brethren for nearly a year. The attendance was small, owing to the busy time, and the short notice of the meeting. Bro. Hershey, from Moscow, came with him. We had a good meeting, and would be glad to have him locate with us and preach for us. There would be a good chance to build up a church here. From here the Brethren went to Medical Lake, but will be back again on their way to Moscow. We are having a very dry summer. Our harvest is the lightest for eleven years. Water also is getting scarce. Springs and wells are going dry.

Isaac N. Huffman.

From Huntingdon, Pennsylvania.

Already four weeks have passed since the many hand-shakes, good-byes, good wishes, etc., were exchanged between students and friends at the close of the last school-year at the Normal. Already says some student who is home-sick to return, "Don't you folks at Huntingdon get very lonely when the students are all gone?" Yes, sometimes, when we notice the comparatively small attendance upon the services in the chapel, and have time to think of the quietness and observe the emptiness about the Normal grounds, occasioned by the absence of students, we do realize some feeling of loneliness.

Some of us, however, have been quite busy, which is a good preventative of loneliness. It might be interesting to many who read this to know what those whom they left here have been doing. It would take too much space to tell it all. A good portion of the time has been used in getting things in shape for the opening of school by September 2, such as looking after stone-masons, brick-layers, carpenters, etc. A great many letters have also been written, catalogues sent out, and some canvassing has been done for the school.

The foundation of the new building on the Normal campus is completed, and the brick-layers have begun their work. We hope the students who come here in September will have the pleasure of seeing the new building.

While we hope that those who left us a month ago, often think of us, we would have you know that we think of you many times, and wonder what you are all doing, and how you are spend-vacation. We like to think that you are all ing something commendable. The majority of u are doubtless doing work differing from that hich you did here. That is all right, so long as is respectable. Don't, however, neglect your oks altogether, and, especially, don't forget the ook of books. Nothing else is of so great im- rtance to you as a thorough, practical knowl- lge of the Bible. May God bless you all, and ay it be his will that many former students, as ell as new, will be among us the coming school ear.

WILLIAM BEERY.

July 29, 1889.

From South English, Iowa.

OUR new meeting-house in North English, Iowa, s nearly completed, and we expect to hold meet- ng in it the third Sunday of August at 11 A. M. Bro. M. Dierdorff, of Yale, Guthrie Co., Iowa, ex- pects to be with us to conduct a series of meet- ngs, to commence December 1.

To the many friends whom I met while in the East, I would say that I arrived home safely, July 3, after an absence of five weeks, and found all well, as usual. I had felt right well till ten days ago, but am now getting better again. I enjoyed my visit very well, but regret that there were many whom I could not visit for want of time.

A. J. WINE.

From Jonathan's Creek Church, Perry Co., Ohio.

WE have again enjoyed another refreshing sea- son from the Lord! On Sunday, July 21, six precious souls came out on the Lord's side, and were baptized. Then again, on the 28th, six more followed and were likewise buried with Christ in baptism, making in all twelve that have come into the fold within the last two weeks. Many more are counting the cost, and we are made to believe they will soon follow. We have a fine Sunday-school, with an average attendance of about seventy-five pupils. The church at this place is in a prosperous condition. While the church has had her dark seasons, we are rejoiced to know that the Lord is smiling upon us by sending the glorious light of the Gospel to the hearts of many of his dear children. We desire the prayers of all in our behalf, that many more may soon come over on the Lord's side and be saved.

J. M. BOWMAN.

From Brownsville Church, Maryland.

JULY 7 we had an unusually good meeting at the above-named church. After an excellent ser- mon by Bro. Eli Yourtee, two sisters of promise made application for admission into the family of God. Coming as they did, without their hus- bands, and knowing that they would have to meet the adversary single-handed and alone, in a meas- ure, we hope that God in his tender love will be ever near them and support them in temptation's trying hours. May their companions, whom they have left behind, finally yield to the whispers of that still, small voice, shall be our unceasing prayer until it be accomplished. One who had wandered away from the fold was restored at the same time and place.

G. W. KAETZEL.

July 20.

Quarterly Notes.

OUR love-feast, held June 15, was an enjoyable one. Many familiar faces were seen among the attendants, that have often been with us on love- feast occasions. Some that we just now remem- ber, will no more meet with us here on earth. Two brethren that were with us formerly, have since gone to their long home. At this meeting we, for the first time, met with one of the worthy correspondents of the MESSENGER,—sister Sarah M. Saunders and her husband, besides many others whom we remember with pleasure. The ministry was well represented. Among the number were Eld. J. W. Metzger, S. Myers, J. J. Fox, and J. C. Tinkle. The latter has since passed away.

Eld. Elias Caylor, from the Arcadia church, Ind., is here. He and his companion are visiting their son, Eld. D. S. Caylor, of this arm of the church. They are both well stricken in years, —his age being eighty-four years, and hers eighty years. They are in good health, considering their ages. Four years ago he was here with us, and we had a long talk with him. I remember he told me when we separated, that he never expect- ed to meet with us again, but so it is in life. Many that have been called away, in these few years of our separation, are far younger in years, and some that met with him at that time have passed away.

At our last meeting one sister was restored again to the church, and her husband was bap- tized.

C. C. ARNOLD.

Aug. 3.

From Middle Creek Congregation, Somerset Co., Pennsylvania.

JULY 20 I went to one of our outposts on the eastern slope of Laurel Hill Mountain. We had preaching in the evening at a school-house, and attended Sunday-school next morning, at 9 o'clock. Then we had preaching at 10. From what I had learned in the morning, and the feelings mani- fested by some in the congregation during ser- vices, I concluded that some were willing to for- sake the ways of sin, and enter the service of God. When an invitation was given, five signi- fied their willingness to unite with the church, and were received by baptism immediately after services. Eld. Josiah Berkley had baptized four at the same place since spring.

VALENTINE BLOUGH.

Bills, Pa.

From Lexington Church, Ohio.

LAST Sabbath, July 28, will be a day long re- membered by us, as we had the pleasure of seeing our children,—Winnie and Leslie,—baptized into Christ. Their ages are eleven and thirteen years respectively. If we, as parents, would be faithful to our calling, nearly all Brethren's children that have come to the age of accountability, would be in the church. We have Sunday-school each Lord's Day morning, and preaching every second and fourth Sunday of each month. We have prayer-meeting each Wednesday night. This is the best invigorator a church ever had. With all these advantages, and the direct attention of God and his Spirit, we do claim to be a part of the true church of Christ. May we be looked up- on as such and remembered at a throne of grace, for Jesus' sake!

ALLEN OCKERMAN.

From Dillon, Montana.

THE writer can not tell you of the success of the church at this place, for we have no organized church in this territory yet. There are two weak sisters here, whose hearts are burning with zeal and love for the Truth. We see no other way of starting a church than by appealing to the Breth- ren through the columns of the MESSENGER. Is there not one brother who is willing to forsake all and come here to preach the glorious Gospel? Do you not hear the Savior speaking to you, "Go ye, therefore, and teach all nations"? Matt. 28: 19.

Precious souls are perishing here for the Bread of Life. Who is the one that will answer, "Here am I, Lord, send me"?

We have distributed tracts, and often we see the poor sinner weeping over his sins. It stirred our hearts within us, as we stood helpless, unable to do for them that which a minister should do. Brethren, we ask you, in the name of Jesus, to come and bring the pure Gospel, and may God help us, is the prayer of your sister.

A. E. STATLER.

From Garden Grove, Iowa.

BRO. S. M. GOUGHNOUR paid us another visit July 19th, remaining over Sunday and preaching four sermons for us, which were very acceptable, and, we hope, are appreciated. July 20 we met in council, at which time a choice was held for two deacons. The lot fell on brethren J. W. Moore and John Caster. May the Lord help them and us to discharge our solemn duties as in his fear. We also decided to hold our love-feast at the Franklin church, four and one-half miles north-east of Leon, Decatur Co., Iowa, on the ev- ening of Sept. 6.

LEWIS M. KOB.

Notice.

THE Brethren's Ministerial Association of West- ern Maryland will meet in the Brethren's meet- ing-house of Hagerstown, Nov. 29 and 30, 1889. The following subjects will be considered:

1. "Define the Difference between Soul and Spirit as Referred to by Paul in Heb. 4: 12."

2. "What is the Relation of the Sabbath-school to the Church and the best Means of Conducting the School?"

3. "In what Way are we to Discern the Lord's Body as spoken of by Paul in 1 Cor. 11."

The first subject is to be opened by elders D. Long and Eli Yourtee; the second, by elders Samuel Foltz and D. Victor Long; the third, by elders Nicholas Martin and John Roland. A general invitation is extended. By order of COMMITTEE.

From Helm's, Va.

JULY 19, in company with S. L. Boon, we started for Rucker's school-house, on horseback, a distance of sixty-five miles,—to hold some meet- ings. We arrived the second evening and com- menced preaching the same evening. We preached eleven sermons and had two prayer- meetings. We baptized two, and two other ap- plicants wish to be baptized soon. May God help them all to be faithful! Several others are counting the cost. The congregations were not large but the interest good. On account of sick- ness in Bro. Boon's family we had to leave too soon, with a promise to return in the near future. May the Lord prosper his work and have all the glory!

DANIEL PETERS.

IT is the part of good citizenship, much more of sound Christianity, to call things by their right names; to call evil evil, and good good. No hope of gain, no dream of office, no desire of popularity should deter good men from denouncing evil and approving good. In no other way can a public sentiment be created and fosted that will not tolerate the desecration of the Sabbath and the destruction of all else in our civilization that is preserving.

EVERYTHING yields before the strong and earnest will. It grows by exercise. Difficulties before which mere cleverness fails, and which leave the irresolute prostrate and helpless, vanish before it. —Dr. Tulloch.

Literary Notes.

THE TREASURY FOR PASTOR AND PEOPLE for August is promptly on our table and brimful of excellent matter. There are five full Sermons, and Leading Thoughts of Sermons, all of the highest order. The Editorials are timely, suggestive and well put. The Frontispiece is the portrait of President Robert Graham, D. D., of Bible College, Kentucky. There is a sketch of his life, a view of Central Christian Church, Cincinnati, and portrait of the late Isaac Errett, D. D. The articles on Heated Machinery, by Dr. Kelley; on Reciprocal Ministerial Helpfulness, by Rev. S. C. Clopton; on John Wiclif, by Prof. Hunt, and on the pastor with his Church, by Dr. L. D. Roby, will be read with interest and profit. Other interesting articles are on Preparation to Preach, Pointed Preaching, by Dr. Phillips; on The Sacred Literature of Chaldea, by St. Chad Boscawen; on Notes and Suggestions upon the Prayer-meeting, by Rev. J. L. Hill, and on Miserable Christians, by James Sprunt, F. S. S. The Sunday-School Lessons are ably treated by Dr. Moment. All Departments full. Yearly, $2 50; Clergymen, $2 00; Single copies, 25 cents.—E. B. TREAT, Publisher, 5 Cooper Union, New York.

THE BIBLE WORK, prepared by J. Glentworth Butler, D. D. The New Testament complete in two volumes. Three volumes of the Old Testament also now ready. Volume III, fresh from the press, gives a full treatment of Israel under Joshua, the Judges, Saul, David, and Solomon. Royal octavo, double columns, leaded brevier, 635 pages. Cloth, $4.00; sheep, $5 00; half morocco, $6.50, and full morocco, $9.00 per volume. New York: Funk & Wagnalls.

Butler's Bible Work is a marvel of successful compilation. The author's aim has been "to furnish an orderly, coherent, proportionate, and measurably complete exposition of the sacred text, so that the meaning of the divine utterances, as discerned by studious, devout interpreters, qualified by special gifts or attainments, may be disclosed to all who will devoutly read." How well he has succeeded, may be inferred from the strong words of able critics, in the different denominations, who have examined the preceding volumes and emphasized various points of excellence. We name a few special features of the work:

1. It is a commentary, possessing high homiletic value. "Here is the cream of all comment on the Scriptures."—Herrick Johnson, D. D. "It is a consensus of all masterly orthodox comment."—The Churchman. "As a pastoral help, and for homiletic value, I know no work that I would place above it."—Bishop D. A. Goodsell, "Better for constant practical use than a score of the best other commentaries."—Geo. F. Pentecost, D. D.

2. It is a thesaurus of useful knowledge. "The volumes draw upon the best treasures of every period in the modern history of the Church, and unfold with ample and varied eloquence the spiritual and practical wealth of the Word of God."—Bishop F. D. Huntingdon. "No such treasury of intellectual and spiritual riches can elsewhere be found in our literature."—R. M. Patterson, D. D. "Each volume is a library in itself."—Charles F. Parkhurst, D. D. "It is a perfect mine of gold."—Theodore L. Cuyler, D. D.

3. It is scientifically reliable. "In all respects pertaining to the geography and topography of Palestine it is much in advance of anything else before the public. I find careful accuracy in all particulars, based on the latest explorations of Oriental lands."—Prof. Wm. W. Patton, D. D. "This work contains the best thinking of the best minds of the ages."—Prof. Austin Phelps, D. D. "While representing the best thought of the centuries, this work is in every sense fresh and up to date."—Bibliotheca Sacra.

4. It is a great help to Sunday-school workers. "The commentary by Dr. Butler is a work of exceeding value to Sunday-school Teachers and Bible Readers."—Bishop J. H. Vincent. "I recommend it to all Sunday-school workers and students."—J. A. Worden, D. D. The new volume covers the S. S. lessons of the present season.

5. It is good for all classes in search of Bible truth. "I am specially impressed with its adaptation to guide, inform, and stimulate in the sphere of Christian life."—Prof. J. B. Thomas, D. D. "This admirable work is a Harmony of the Gospels, a Paragraph Bible, a Family Expositor, and a Manual of Devotion combined in one."—E. Wentworth, D. D. "It is a wonderful work, complete in every way, and suited to readers of every class."—Prof. W. M. Paxton, D. D.

6. The plan, style, and subject-matter, all combine to commend the work. Each volume contains about 100 sections. It is printed on excellent paper, and bound in several styles. It is illustrated with various maps, diagrams, and engravings. It has a copious index, and a list of all the authors quoted. The present volume quotes from nearly 300 eminent writers, and the reader can tell in each case whose words he is reading. Each volume is complete in itself. But whoever secures the entire set, though all other books should be taken from him, would still have a grand literary and religious furnishment.

CHURCH HISTORY, by Professor Johann Heinrich Kurtz D. D., Germany. Translation from latest Revised Edition by Rev. John MacPherson, M. A. In three volumes, Vol. II now ready. Cloth, 12mo, 496 pages. Price, per volume, $2.00. New York: Funk & Wagnalls. This standard work has now reached its tenth edition. The second volume covers nearly 700 years—from the beginning of the 10th to the close of the 16th century. It presents a rich bill of fare, treating vigorously and at length such topics as the following: Missionary enterprises, as conducted for 300 years in 16 different fields; the crusades of the 11th, 12th, and 13th centuries; the hierarchy, the clergy, and the monks; theological science and its controversies; the Germano-Romanic church; the papacy and its claims; monastic orders and societies; national literature; worship and art; church discipline; corruptions and indulgences: inquisition and persecution; the reformation; Luther and his co-workers; perils and martyrdom; divisions and fanaticism; councils and creeds; victories and defeats. These subjects are divided and developed with much interesting detail. The Reformation deservedly occupies a conspicuous place in the present volume. It seems strange to us that only 350 years ago the Christian church was so superstitious and corrupt that a great, scholarly, and conservative man like Martin Luther should be the object of such hatred that some were put to death for selling or even possessing copies of his books! Certain fanatical movements which marred the Reformation are aptly grouped together under the head of "Deformation." On the whole, Professor Kurtz has shown himself a master workman, and his Church History is one of great value.

MATRIMONIAL.

"What therefore God hath joined together, let not man put asunder."

STREETER—ALBAUGH.—At the bride's home, July 16, Mr. Fred Streeter, of Shiawassee County, and sister Ann Albaugh, of Saginaw Co, Mich. LEVI BAKER.

FALLEN ASLEEP

"Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord."

SMITH.—At Baker's Summit, Bedford Co., Pa., July 16, Winfield S. Smith, aged 30 years, 11 months and 15 days.

Deceased came to his death very unexpectedly. While in the act of preparing dynamite for a blast, putting on the cap and fixing fuse, it exploded in his hands, killing him almost instantly. The occurrence cast a gloom over the entire community, as he was a young man of promise and respected by all. He leaves a young wife,—a sister in the church,—and four small children. May God, in his goodness and mercy, ever bless the bereft family in their sudden distress. Funeral services by Bro. Michael Claar, from Matt. 24: 44, to a very large congregation of sympathizing friends and relatives. May this be another loud call to those who put off their return to God before it is forever too late!

D. S. REPLOGLE.

ROYER.—In the Weeping Water church, Cass Co., Nebr., sister Mary Royer, aged 57 years, 10 months and 3 days.

Sister Royer was born in Union County, Pa. Her maiden name was Mull. Funeral services by Bro. G. Stambaugh.

JESSE Y. HECKLER.

STROHM.—Near Hawthorn, Fla., July 18, Bro. Samuel S. Strohm, aged 43 years, 2 months and 13 days.

Bro. Strohm was born in Trumbull County, Ohio, May 5, 1846. He was an invalid for a number of years. A little more than a year ago he came to Florida with his family, hoping that he might regain his health, but the good Master saw fit to call him to the land where pain and suffering are unknown. Funeral services by Bro. B. T. Bouser and the writer. E. J. NEHER.

RIBBLE.—In the bounds of the Saline Valley church, Ottawa Co., Kans., July 17, ——, son of friend Charles and Ida Ribble, aged 7 years, 5 months and 3 days. Funeral services by the writer from Matt. 11, and first part of 28th verse.

HUMPHREY TALHELM.

HOOVER.—In the Nettle Creek church, Ind., May 2, sister Catherine (Mesner) Hoover, aged 83 years, 8 months and 18 days.

Deceased was born in Rockingham County, Va. She married Joshua Hoover in 1824; emigrated from Ohio to Indiana in 1826. She lived in the vicinity of Hagerstown, Ind., up to the time of her death. She bore her suffering with Christian fortitude, and was willing to wait for her change to come. She was a member of the Brethren church about fifty-seven years and lived a consistent member in full faith to the time of her death. Funeral services at the Brick church by Eld. Teeter and others.

HOOVER.—Also at the same place, April 14, Josephine C. Hoover, wife of George M. Hoover, aged 36 years, 1 month and 4 days.

She gave evidence before her death that she had no fears and that it would be well with her in the other life. Her sickness was of short duration but her suffering was intense. She bore it with that sweet resignation and fortitude that characterizes the Christian alone. She has been a faithful member of the church nineteen years. Services at the White Branch church to a large congregation, by Eld. Daniel Bowman and the writer. LEWIS KINSEY.

BRUGH.—In the Upper Conawago congregation, Adams Co., Pa., July 11, sister Lydia Ann, wife of Bro. Andrew Brugh, aged 75 years, 3 months and 11 days.

Deceased was a consistent member of the church for half a century or more, having obeyed the holy injunction, "Remember thy Creator in the days of thy youth." She thus enjoyed a long life in the service of her Maker, and in her declining years seemed to grow stronger in the faith. In her days of sorrow and trouble she looked unto God as her shield and hiding-place. She was the mother of ten children, and before she departed she saw them start out in life with a good moral and religious training. Her husband is an aged minister in this arm of the church.

HOOVER.—In the Canton church, Stark Co., Ohio, Bro. David Hoover, aged 83 years, 1 month and 7 days.

Bro. Hoover was a consistent member of the church for about fifty years. He was the father of eleven children, of whom four sons and three daughters are left to mourn their loss. Funeral services by Eld. David Byers and Conrad Kahler from Heb. 15: 9.

M. S. HOOVER.

ALBRIGHT.—At Roaring Springs, Blair Co., Pa., July 21, Clara May, infant daughter of Aaron Albright, aged 1 year and 9 days.

CLAAR.—In the Claar congregation, Bedford Co., Pa., Abel, son of Bro. Henry I. and sister Susan Claar, aged 14 years, 2 months and 23 days. MICHAEL CLAAR.

HOWARD.—In the Nettle Creek church, May 19, Earnest, son of Albert and Catharine Howard, aged 7 months and 5 days. Services at the Brick meeting-house by Eld. David Bowman and Lewis Kinsey.

LICHTY.—In the Meyersdale congregation, Somerset Co., Pa., March 26, Bro. Emmanuel Lichty, aged 71 years, 8 months and 18 days.

Deceased was the youngest of a family of eleven children who all preceded him but one,—Bro. Samuel,—who is now ninety years old and blind. Bro. Samuel was married to Barbara Miller about a half a century ago. Not having any children the sister is left in loneliness. Bro. Lichty served in the office of deacon about forty years, with entire satisfaction to the church, and during the church's severest trials, he stood firm. His remains were taken to the Meyersdale meeting-house followed by a large concourse of friends and neighbors, and the occasion was improved by the writer from Ps. 68: 20. His remains were then laid to final rest in the Union cemetery of Meyersdale. C. G. LINT.

YODER.—In the bounds of the Brothers' Valley church, May 12, of heart disease, Bro. Joshua Yoder, aged 51 years, 6 months and 4 days. Funeral services by Eld. M. Weyand and the writer.

D. H. WALKER.

LICHTY.—At Waterloo, Iowa, June 30, Edward W., son of Hiram J. and Sarah Lichty, aged 17 years, 11 months and 28 days.

A week before his death he could be found in church and Sunday-school, and was never found idle when he could find anything to do that was for right and justice. He was an unusually bright and intelligent young man, and the high esteem in which he was held was shown by the great number of people who followed his remains to their final resting-place. His sickness and death occurred during the time when Bro. T. T. Myers was conducting a series of meetings at South Waterloo church,—two miles only from the home of his parents. His untimely death was a sad warning to many of those outside the ark of safety, and a number took advantage of the warning and surrendered their hearts to God. His death was a sad blow to the home and community, but after all we have the blessed assurance that "God doeth all things well." Edward leaves two brothers, three sisters, father and mother, besides a large number of relatives and friends, to mourn their loss. C. A. LICHTY.

SHIVELY.—In the Antioch church, Huntingdon Co., Ind., July 15, sister Mary, companion of Bro. Owen Shively, aged 68 years and 30 days. Deceased was a faithful member of the church for thirty-five years. Funeral services by the writer. A. LEEDY.

STEPHEN.—In the Fredonia church, Wilson Co., Kans., July 16, of cholera infantum and congestion, Lowery M., son of friend John and sister Melinda Stephen, aged 6 months and 25 days. Funeral discourse by brethren J. W. Hess and Jacob Frantz from Matt. 19: 14.

E. STUDEBAKER.

ZUMBRUM.—At his home in Athens, Kansas, July 11, of blood poison, Bro. David Zumbrum, aged 64 years and 28 days.

He was a devout Christian, having been a member of the Brethren church for twenty-five years. He was a kind and indulgent father, and a good neighbor, loved and respected by all who knew him. He suffered untold pain for six weeks, but at no time during his illness did he lose his faith in his Redeemer. He often said he was ready and willing to go if it was the Lord's will.

F. BAIN.

A Book for Every Member!

Classified Minutes

— OF —

ANNUAL MEETING.

☞ A full supply of this excellent work still on hand. Every member should have a copy of this work, in order to have a thorough understanding of the deliberations of the Annual Meeting in reference to church government, etc. Price, English Cloth, $1.50, post-paid; leather, $2.00.

☞ A responsible agent wanted in each congregation, to whom terms will be furnished upon application. Address,

BRETHREN'S PUBLISHING CO.,
Or, Huntingdon, Pa. Mount Morris, Ill.

Tract Work.

List of Publications for Sale,—Sent Postage Prepaid.

CLASS A.

No. 1. Golden Gleams or Family Chart, ...85 cts.

CLASS B.

No. 1. Trine Immersion, Quinter, per copy	$ 1 25
No. 2. Europe and Bible Lands, Miller, per copy,	1 50
No. 3. Doctrine of the Brethren Defended, per copy,	1 50
No. 4. Classified Minutes—A. M.,	1 50
No. 5. Two Sticks, Eshelman,	1 00
No 6 Close Communion, Wesh, per copy,	40

CLASS C.

No 1. Annual Report, per copy,	$ 05
No 2. Path of Life, per 100, $5.00; per copy,	06
No. 3 How to Become a Child of God, per 100, $4 00; per copy,	05
No. 4. Conversion, per 100, $2 50; per copy	03
No 5. Water Baptism, per 100, $1.50, per copy	02
No. 6. Single Immersion, per 100, $1 50; per copy,	02
No. 7. Sabbatism, per 100, $2.50; per copy,	03
No. 8. Discussion on Trine Immersion, per copy,	15
No. 9. Sermon on Baptism, per copy,	03
No. 10. Glad Tidings of Salvation, per copy	03
No. 11. Life of Eld. S. Weir (Colored), per copy,	08
No. 12 Ten Reasons for Trine Immersion, per 100, $1.50, per copy,	02

CLASS D.

No 1 House We Live In, per 100,	$ 60
No. 2 Plan of Salvation, per 100,	60
No. 3 Come, Let Us Reason Together, per 100	60
No. 4. How Shall I Know that my Sins are Pardoned? per 100,	60
No. 5. Intemperance, per 100,	60
No 6. Plain Dressing, per 100,	60
No. 7. Which Is the Right Church? per 100	60
No. 8. House We Live In (Swedish), per 100,	60
No 9. House We Live In (Danish), per 100,	60
No. 10. Paul Wetzel's Reasons, Etc., (German), per 100,	60
No. 11. Sinner, Stop! per 100,	60
No. 12. Faith, per 100,	60
No. 13. The Light-House, per 100,	60
No. 14. Close Communion, per 100,	60
No. 15. The Truth Shall Make You Free, per 100,	60
No. 16. Modern Skepticism, per 100,	60
No. 17. Infant Baptism Weighed in the Balances and Found Wanting, per 100,	60

CLASS E.

No. 1. Pause and Think, per 100,	80
No. 2. What Do We Need? per 100,	80
No. 3. Right or Wrong Way, per 100,	80
No. 4. Why Am I Not a Christian? per 100,	80
No. 5. Saving Words, per 100,	80
No. 6. Christ and War, per 100,	80
No. 7. The Bond of Peace, per 100,	80
No. 8. The Kiss of Charity, per 100,	80
No. 9. The Evils of Intemperance, per 100,	80
No. 10. The Lost Opportunity, per 100,	80
No. 11. Are You a Christian? per 100,	80
No. 12. Arise, Get Thee Down, per 100,	80
No. 13. A Personal Appeal, per 100,	80
No. 14. Lying Among the Pots, per 100,	80
No. 15. Gold and Costly Array, per 100,	80
No. 16. The Brethren's Card, per 100,	80

Bibles, Testaments, Hymn Books of all styles, at publishers' lowest retail prices, which will be furnished on application.

Address

Brethren's Book and Tract Work,
DAYTON, OHIO

Church Register.

—:o:—

To those who would wish to collect and to preserve a complete history of their congregation and biography of each of their members, with names, dates of baptism or letter, dates of death or letter, and also dates of election, ordination of all the official members, and all events of importance occurring in each congregation, we would say, buy a copy of the Church Register. Price, containing sample pages and instructions, well bound, and sent by mail, $1.00 per copy. Address this office.

↠PUBLICATIONS↞

☞The following books, Sunday-school supplies, etc., are for sale by the Brethren's Publishing Co., Mt. Morris, Ill., or Huntingdon, Pa., to whom all orders should be addressed.

The Brethren's Quarterly.

For Sunday-school teachers and scholars this publication is of the greatest benefit. Look at our prices:

Single subscription, one year	35 cents.
Single subscription, per quarter	10 cents.
Three copies, per quarter	25 cents.
Eight copies, per quarter	40 cents.
Fifty copies and over	4 cents each.

• • • Hymn Books • • •

New Tune and Hymn Books.

Half leather, single copy, post-paid	$ 1 00
Per dozen, by express	10 00
Morocco, single copy, post-paid	1 25
Per dozen, by express	12 00
Morocco, gilt edge, per copy	1 50

Hymn Books, English.

Morocco, single copy, post-paid	$ 90
Per dozen, post-paid	9 50
Per dozen, by express	9 00
Morocco, gilt edge, post-paid	1 10
Per dozen, post-paid	11 75
Per dozen, by express	11 25
Arabesque, single copy, post-paid	55
Per dozen, post-paid	5 80
Per dozen, by express	5 30
Sheep, single copy, post-paid
Per dozen, post-paid
Per dozen, by express	5 30
Tuck, single copy, post-paid	1 00
Per dozen, post-paid	10 00
Per dozen, by express	9 50
Fine Limp, post-paid	1 00
Per dozen, post-paid	10 00
Fine Limp, single copy, gilt edge, post-paid	1 20
Fine Limp, gilt edge, per dozen	13 00
German and English, per copy,	90
" " " per dozen; mail, $9.50; express	9 00

The Young Disciple.

The YOUNG DISCIPLE is a neatly printed weekly, published especially for the moral benefit and religious instruction of our young folks.

Single copy, one year	$ 50
Six copies (the sixth to the agent)	2 50
Ten copies	4 00

For Three Months or Thirteen Weeks.

20 copies to one address	$ 1 70
30 " " " "	2 55
40 " " " "	3 35
50 " " " "	3 80
75 " " " "	5 20
100 " " " "	7 00

For Six Months or Twenty-Six Weeks.

20 copies to one address	$ 3 35
30 " " " "	5 00
40 " " " "	6 60
50 " " " "	7 50
75 " " " "	10 20
100 " " " "	13 75

Our paper is designed for the Sunday-school and the home circle. We desire the name of every Sunday-school Superintendent in the Brotherhood, and want an agent in every church. Send for sample copies.

Sunday-School Requisites.

The following list of things is needed in all Sunday-schools:

Testaments, Flexible, red edge, per doz	$1 00
Minute Books, each	50
Class Books, per doz	75
Union Primers, with fine engravings, per doz	70

New and Beautiful Sunday-School Cards.

"The Gem," 50 picture cards, each with Bible Text, verse of hymn	35
950 Reward Tickets—verse of Scripture—red or blue,	20

Miscellaneous Works.

☞We are prepared to furnish any book in the market at publishers' retail price. Religious works a specialty.

Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress.—An excellent edition of this good work, printed on good paper, finely illustrated with forty engravings, at the low price of $1 00 per copy.

Brown's Pocket Concordance.—This is a very reliable, low-priced work, as I very handy for reference Price, 50 cents

Biblical Antiquities.—By John Nevin Gives a concise account of Bible manners and customs, invaluable to all students of Bible subjects. Price $1 50

Barnes' Notes.—On the New Testament, 11 vols cloth, $16 50 Barnes' Notes on the Psalms, 3 vols the set, $4 50. Barnes' Notes on Daniel, 1 vol $1 50. Barnes' Notes on Isaiah, 2 vols the set, $3 00. Barnes' Notes on Job, 2 vols the set, $3.00

Close Communion.—By Landon West Treats this important subject in a simple though conclusive manner Price 50 cents.

Crudea's Concordance.—A very complete work. Price, cloth, $1 50, sheep, $3 00

Companion to the Bible.—This valuable work is so full of instruction that it can not fail to be of great benefit to every Christian Price $1 75

Campbell and Owen's Debate.—Contains a complete investigation of the evidences of Christianity Price, $1 50.

Classified Minutes of Annual Meeting.—A work of rare interest for all who desire to be well informed in the church work, from the early days of our Brethren until the present Price, cloth, $1 50, leather, $2 00

Europe and Bible Lands.—By D I Miller A book for the people—more comprehensive and thorough than many higher priced works Price cloth, $1 50, leather, $2 00

Family Bible, with Notes and Instructions.—Contains the harmony of the Gospels, Chronology, Maps, Tables of Weights and Measures, Family Record, eight elegant illustrations, etc Price, substantially bound, $5 00.

Family Bible.—This is a fine and very complete work New and old versions of the New Testament side by side, concordance and everything usually found in Bibles of the kind. Price only $4 50 Sent by express only.

German and English Testaments.—American Bible Society Edition. Price 75 cents.

Josephus' Complete Works.—Large type, 1 vol 8vo. Illustrated with many steel and wood engravings. Library sheep, $3 50

Life on Wheels.—By J S Mohler The idea of the book is to represent the way to heaven, by using the different terms connected with an ordinary railroad. Price, single copy, 40 cents.

New Testament and Psalms with Notes.—Invaluable for Bible students, Sunday-school teachers, etc. Price, cloth, $2 00.

Origin of Single Immersion.—By Eld James Quinter. Price, 2 copies, 5 cents, 12 copies, 25 cents, 50 copies, $1 00.

Quinter and McConnell Debate.—A debate on Trine Immersion, the Lord's Supper, and Feet-washing, between Eld James Quinter (German Baptist) and Eld M A McConnell (Christian) held at Dry Creek, Iowa, 1867. Price, $1 50.

Reference and Pronouncing Testament.—A copious selection of parallel and illustrated passages and a classified pronunciation of the proper names and other difficult words, together with a short dictionary and gazetteer of the New Testament. Price, $1 00, Postpaid.

Reason and Revelation—By R Milligan Should be in the hands of every Bible student. Price $2 00

Sacred Geography and Antiquities.—A practical, helpful work for Bible students, ministers and Sunday-school teachers. Price, $2 00.

Smith's Bible Dictionary.—Edited by Peloubet Cloth, $2 00, leather, $3 00.

Sabbatism.—By M M Eshelman To us the Sabbath question, showing that the first day of the week is the day for assembling in worship Price 10 cents, 15 copies $1 00.

The Law and Sabbath.—The Gospel and Lord's Day.—Why I Quit Keeping the Jewish Sabbath The author of this pamphlet was one I felt led to serve the Saturday-Sabbath, but his views after a Bible examination, removed all his error Ample proof against keeping the Jewish Sabbath on the Christian Dispensation is given. Sixty-four pages, printed in nice, clear type Price 20 cents, 5 copies, $1 00.

Two Sticks, or Lost Ten Tribes of Israel Discovered.—By M M Eshelman Maintains that the Anglo-Saxons are the offspring of the Ten Tribes, that the Jews and Israelites are two distinct people, but will again be united in Palestine. 265 pages. Cloth, price, $1 00.

The Path of Life.—An interesting tract for everybody Price 10 cents per copy, 100 copies $6 00

Trine Immersion.—A vindication of the apostolic form of Christian baptism. By Eld. James Quinter A most complete and reliable work on the subject Price, cloth, single copy, $1 25, leather, $1 75.

The House We Live In.—By Daniel Vaniman It gives a concise account of the faith and practice of the Brethren. Price, 100 copies, 60 cents

The Doctrine of the Brethren Defended.—A complete work on the distinctive principles of our Fraternity. Price, cloth, $1.50

The Story of the Bible.—An excellent volume for old and young, will interest and instruct all those desiring a knowledge of the Scriptures. Price $1 00

Universalism against Itself.—By Hall. One of the best works against Universalism. Price $1 00

Full Report of Annual Meeting.

The Report of the meeting for 1889 should be read by all. Price, per copy, 25 cts.; per dozen $2.50.

Announcements.

LOVE-FEASTS.

Aug 24 and 25, at 10 A. M., at Washington church at the residence of Jacob Merky, north-east of Washington, Washington Co., Kans.

Aug. 24 and 25, at 1 P. M., Oak Grove congregation at Stone meeting-house ten miles south of Iowa City. Persons coming by rail stop at Iowa Junction on B. C. R. & N Railroad.

Aug. 31, at 3 o'clock P M., Turkey Creek church, Pawnee Co., Nebraska, at H C. Martin's 2½ miles north-west of DuBois station on Rock Island Railroad at which place persons will be met and conveyed to place of meeting on the 31st, or if coming sooner, notify H C. Martin, DuBois, Neb. Those coming to Table Rock on B. & M. R. R. notify B. F. Flory

Aug. 31 and Sept 1, at 3 P. M., Iowa River church, Quarry, Marshall Co., Iowa

Sept. 3, at 10 A. M., Sugar Ridge church, Hancock Co., Ohio.

Sept. 5 and 6, at 10 A. M., Lower Fall Creek church, Ind.

Sept. 6, at 10 A. M., Olathe church, Kans, at the residence of Wm. Brunks, 1 mile north of Olathe.

Sept. 7, at 5 P. M., Berrien church, Berrien County, Michigan.

Sept. 7, at 1 P. M, Urbana church 4 miles east of Urbana, Champaign Co., Ill.

Sept. 7 and 8, at 2 P M, Berkey church, Vancleaversville Station, W Va, on the B & O. R. R.

Sept. 7 and 8, at 3 P. M., Frederic, Monroe Co, Ia.

Sept. 7 and 8, at 10 A. M., Auglaize Chapel, ¼ mile from Dupont, Ohio, on the Clover Leaf Railroad; 2½ miles from Hartsburg, on the Nickle Plate Railroad.

Sept. 7 and 8, at 2 P. M., Juniata congregation, 1 mile south and ½ mile east of Roseland, Adams Co., Neb.

Sept. 7 and 8, at 10 A. M, Pine Creek church, Ogle Co., Ill

Sept. 7, at 10 A. M., Somerset church, Vernon, Wabash Co., Ind.

Sept. 7, at 10 A. M, Summit church, ½ mile north and 3 miles east of Summitville, Madison Co., Ind.

Sept. 7 and 8, at 10 A. M, Vermillion church, Marshall Co., Kansas at Simon Studebaker's, 7 miles north of Beattie, Kansas.

Sept 7, Summit church, Wabash Co., Ind

Sept 7 and 8, State Centre church, Marshall Co., Iowa.

Sept. 7 and 8, at 2 P. M., Martins Creek church, Wayne Co., Ill., at Bro. James Mauck, ¼ mile west of depot, Jeffersonville.

Sept 7 and 8, at Filley church, at the house of Bro. H. Miller, 2½ miles south-west of Filley. Those coming on the Rock Island Railway stop off at Virginia. Those on the B. & M stop at Filley, Nebraska.

Sept. 7, at 3 P. M., Rock Creek church, Kansas, six miles north of Sabetha. Nemaha Co, Kans Those coming by railroad will please notify E. Cober one week beforehand, and they will be conveyed to place of meeting.

Sept 11 and 12, Scott Valley church, Kansas, at Bro Peter Howe's, nine miles south of Waverly, and ten and one-half miles north-east of Burlington. Brethren will be met at Burlington, Waverly and Westphalia, by notifying E. J. Miller, or Charles Yearout, Westphalia, Kansas.

Sept. 12, at 2, A M., Wakendah congregation at the Rockingham meeting-house, Ray Co, Mo.

Sept. 12, at 5 P M., South Bend church, Ind.

Sept. 13, at 10 A. M., Sugar Creek church, Whitley Co., Ind.

Sept 13, at 4 P. M, Wade's Branch church, in Forest Park, Ottawa, Kans. Assembly Hall and the cots of the Chautauqua Association have been secured for the accommodation of all who wish to lodge on the ground

Sept. 14 and 15, at 10 A. M., Sabetha, Kans.

Sept 21, at 11 A. M., Kulpsuck church, Ind, 9 miles west of Muncie, on the Jackson St. Pike Those coming by rail will be met at Reed Station, by notifying Job Mahoney, Reed, Delaware Co, Ind., or Walter Bowers, Gilman, Madison Co., Ind.

Sept. 28, at 10 A. M, Maumee church, Defiance Co., Ohio Brethren coming by railroad will stop off at Sherwood.

Sept 28 and 29, at 11 A. M, English River congregation, Keokuk Co., Iowa

Oct. 3, at 2 P. M., Arcadia church, Ind,

Oct. 4, at 10 A M., Nettle Creek church, near Hagerstown, Wayne Co., Ind.

Oct. 4, at 4 P. M., Union church, Marshall Co, Ind., 5 miles west of Plymouth and 3½ miles north of Burr Oak Brethren will be met at the above places either day before or on day of meeting.

Oct 5, at 2 P. M., Sugar Creek church, Allen Co., Ohio.

Oct. 5, at 3 P. M., Milmine church, Ill.

Oct. 5, at 10 A. M., Weeping Water church, Cass Co., Nebr. On M. P. R. R. trains will be met at Eagle; on B. & M. R. R., at Greenwood.

Aug. 17 and 18, Garland Ind. Ter.

Aug 31, at 3 P M., Fairview church, Garrett Co., Md.

Aug. 31 and Sept. 1, at 2 P. M., Van Wert church, O., 7 miles north-east of Van Wert. Conveyance will be at Van Wert up to 11 A. M. on day of meeting.

Sept. 5, at 10 A. M., 2 miles north-east of Loudonville, O.

Sept. 6, Franklin church, north-east 4½ miles of Leon, Decatur Co., Iowa

Sept. 7, at 2 P. M., Abilene church, Kans., at new house at Navarro, on the Santa Fe R. R., 8 miles south and 4 miles east of Abilene. Dickenson Co., Kans

Sept 7, Wayman Valley church, at White schoolhouse, 1½ miles south of East Elkport, Clayton Co., Iowa

Sept 7, at Bro J. J. Wassam's, 8 miles west of Reece, Greenwood Co., Kansas

Sept 7 and 8, in Crooked congregation, Washington Co., Iowa

Sept. 7 and 8. Long Branch church, Harrison Co., Mo., at C Fansler's, 7 miles west of Ridgeway, Mo. A protracted meeting will commence Aug. 31 and continue over the love-feast. Those coming by rail will stop off at New Hampton and Ridgeway, on the C., B. & Q. R. R., running from St. Joe to Des Moines, and notify William Eckard, Martinsville, Missouri, giving date.

Sept. 7 and 8, Coal Creek church, Fulton Co., Ill. Those from a distance will be met at Norris, on the Buda Branch of C. B. & Q. R. R.

Sept. 7 and 8, at 11 A. M., Brooklyn church, Iowa.

Sept. 14, at 11 A. M., Deep River church, Iowa.

Sept. 28 and 29, at 2 P. M., Verdigris church, 3½ miles north-west of Madison, Kans., at John Ivy's.

Oct. 2, at 10 A. M., Lick Creek church, Owen Co., Ind.

Oct. 3, at 2 P. M., Cerro Gordo church, Ill.

Oct. 4, at 4 P. M., Tippecanoe church, Kosciusko Co., Ind

Oct. 4, at 4 P. M., Macompin Creek church, Montgomery Co., Ill.

Oct. 5, at 4 P. M., Hopewell church, Pa.

Oct. 5, at 4 P. M., Elkhart Valley church, Elkhart Co., Ind

Oct. 5, at 2 P. M., Cherokee church, Cherokee Co., Kans., at N. S. Gripe's, 6 miles south-east of McCune and 6 miles south-west of Monmouth.

Oct. 5, at 2 P. M., Saline Valley church, Kans., at L. W. Fitzwater's, 5 miles south-east of Lincoln Center, Lincoln Co., Kans.

Oct. 5, at 10 A. M., South Beatrice church, Nebr. On Friday conveyance will be at Holmesville, on U. P. R. R., Beatrice, on B. & M. R. R., Rockford, on Rock Island R. R.

Oct. 5, at 10:30 A. M., Maple Grove church, 4 miles north of Ashland, Ohio.

Oct. 5, at 10 A. M., in the Vernon meeting-house Somerset congregation, Wabash Co., Ind.

Oct. 5, at 2 P. M., Lower Deer Creek church, Carroll Co., Ind.

Oct. 5 and 6, at 1 P. M., Arnold's Grove church, Ill.

Oct 5 and 6, at 10 A. M., South Morrill church, Kans.

Oct 5, Grand Prairie church, near Sidney, Nebr.

Oct. 5 and 6, North Beatrice church, Gage Co., Nebr., 7 miles north-east of Beatrice.

Oct. 5, at 2 P. M., Clear Creek church, Huntington Co., Ind.

Oct. 5 and 6, at Middle Creek church, Iowa.

Oct 5 and 6, at 2 P. M., Grundy church, Grundy Co., Iowa.

Oct. 5, at 1:30 P. M., Pleasant View church, Reno Co., Kans., 10 miles south-west of Hutchinson.

Oct. 8, at 3 P. M., Exeter church, at Bro. S. H. Taylor's, 4 miles south-east of McCool Junction, Nebr.

Oct. 10, at 2 P. M., Pigeon River church, Ind.

Oct 10, at 10 A. M., Landessville church, Grant Co., Ind.

Oct. 10, at 2 P. M., Upper Fall Creek church, 2 miles east of Middletown, Iowa

Oct 10, at 10 A. M., Logan church, Logan Co., O.

Oct. 11, at 4 P. M., Camp Creek church, Kosciusko Co., Ind. The meeting will be held 1½ miles north of Etna Green.

Oct. 12, Longmont, Colo. One week's meeting before feast.

Oct 12, at 4 P. M., Big Creek church, Richland Co., Illinois Conveyance will be furnished any time by notifying J. M. Forney, Parkersburg, Illinois.

Oct 12, at 4 P. M., Yellow Creek church, Bedford Co., Pa

Oct. 12 and 13, at 1 P. M., Walnut Valley church, Barton Co., Kans.

Nov. 2 and 3, Broadfording church, Washington Co., Md. Continued meetings to commence Oct. 26.

Nov. 8, at 4 P. M., Monticello church, Ind.

DISTRICT MEETINGS.

Oct. 1, at 3 A. M., Southern District of Illinois, in the Panther Creek church, Woodford Co., Ill.

HARVEST EXCURSIONS

To the Pan Handle of Texas. Many of the brethren having asked me by letter before and since the Annual Meeting, and personally, while at the Annual Meeting, whether there would be cheap excursions to the Pan Handle of Texas, and as I invariably told them I would answer through the "GOSPEL MESSENGER," I take pleasure now in announcing that the Western States Passenger Association and the Trans-Missouri Association, in session at Chicago June 26th, agreed to run Harvest Excursions from Eastern points to all points in Kansas, Colorado, and the Pan Handle of Texas, at the rate of one fare for the round trip, tickets good for thirty days from date of sale, and stop-overs will be allowed within the limits at all points west of the Missouri river. The days of sale are August 6 and 20, September 10 and 24, and October 8

I will be pleased to answer all further enquiries by mail, by sending maps, routes, etc.

GEO L. MCDONAGH,
Trav. Agt Santa Fe Route,
St. Louis, Mo.

HARVEST EXCURSIONS VIA THE UNION PACIFIC RAILWAY.

The Union Pacific Railway takes pleasure in announcing that it will run Harvest Excursions to all points in Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, Idaho and Montana on the following dates:—August 6th and 20th, September 10th and 24th, and October 8th For these occasions the low rate of one fare for the round trip has been made. Tickets good thirty days, and stop-over privileges will be allowed in both directions for those who may desire to see the country. Do not miss the opportunity to visit the great and growing West at this low rate. It affords the business men, stock raiser, mining prospector, and farmer an unequalled chance to see the unlimited resources of the western country.

For tickets, rates, pamphlets, etc., apply to your nearest ticket agent, or W. H. Knight, Gen'l. Agt., 191 South Clark St., Chicago, Ill.

ADVERTISEMENTS.

Rates per Inch each Insertion.

One time or more	$1 50
One month (4 times)	1 30
Three months (12 times)	1 20
Six months (25 times)	1 00
One year (50 times)	70
No advertisement accepted for less than	1 00

☞ No Cuts inserted, unless on metal base. No double-column or objectionable advertisements admitted.

The Monon Route.

THIS road is running a fine line of Pullman Buffet Sleepers between Chicago and Indianapolis, Cincinnati and Louisville, in connection with the fast Florida express trains.

For full information, address, E. O. McCORMICK, Gen'l Pass. Agt., Adams Express Building, Chicago. (City Ticket Office ,73 Clark St.)

SALESMEN Wanted; local and travelling. Positions permanent. Salary from start. Experience unnecessary. Brown Bros., Nurserymen, Chicago, Ill

Windsor European Hotel,

TRIBUNE BLOCK,

145 to 153 Dearborn St. S. GREGSTEN, Prop.

Chicago, Ill.

This Hotel is centrally located, and the most respectable House of its class in the City. The charges are moderate, varying in price from 75 cts. to $1.50 per day, per person. Thompson's Restaurant underneath. First-class passenger elevator.

The Original Trans-Continental Line.

The Union Pacific Railway, "The Overland Route" runs daily trains from Council Bluffs, Omaha and Kansas City to Denver, Salt Lake City, Sacramento, San Francisco, Los Angeles and Portland.

Quick time across the continent.

Elegant equipment, consisting of latest Pullman Palace Cars and Day Coaches.

This company has also for sale in Kansas and Colorado, 3,000,000 acres of choice farming lands; only one-tenth cash down and balance on ten years' time at seven per cent interest. Fare paid over the Union Pacific by persons who go to see the land, is refunded if land is purchased.

The Union Pacific Railway company has also 3,000,000 acres of land in Wyoming and Utah for sale at very low prices. Best ranch land in the world on liberal terms.

For full information in regard to rates, time-tables, maps, price of lands, etc., address,

THOS. L KIMBALL,
Gen'l Manager.
ALBERT WOODCOCK, Gen'l Land Com.
E. L. LOMAX, Gen'l Pass. Ag't.
OMAHA, NEB.

Alexander Mack's Writings

THOSE who have not yet secured a copy of this excellent work, should embrace the opportunity of getting one at the low price at which it is now offered. A copy should be in the library of every brother. Price, 25 cts. per copy, with special inducements to agents Address this office.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and can not be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. SOLD ONLY IN CANS.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO.,
106 Wall St., N. Y.

Wanted!

We want brethren in every district to sell our Fertilizers. We manufacture a number of different grades, so as to suit all buyers, viz.,

Blood and Bone Dissolved, Raw Bone and Potash, High Grade Super Phosphate of Bone, Soluble Ammoniated Bone Phosphate and Chemicals!

All the above brands have stood the test for years, and in field contests have proved to be second to none on the market.

We guarantee to keep up the present high standard of these different brands, and feel assured you can save money by buying from us. Write for terms, circulars, etc. Address,

D. BLOCHER & CO.,
12m6 Gettysburg, Pa.

Young America!

It will pay you to do your own grinding on a mill that grinds corn with or without cob, as well as all kinds of small grain. Our mill is simple, strong and durable. Send for catalogue & price.

—WE ALSO MAKE THE—

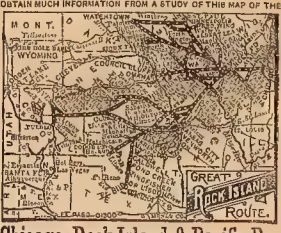
Enterprise Feed Grinder.

Warranted to grind all kinds of grain. The new principle on which the grinding-plates are made, gives them a larger grinding capacity, and makes them more durable than any other style. For further particulars address,

Enterprise M'f'g. Co.,
(Mention this paper.) Columbiana, Ohio.

J. B. COLCLESSER,

ROANOKE, HUNTINGTON CO., IND., Breeder of Purely-bred Poland China Swine. My herd is made up of the most fashionable strains known to the breed. Stock recorded in C. R. and O. R. Pigs and aged animals for sale. Gelts bred and for sale January and February 1890. Breeding a specialty. Correspondence or personal inspection solicited. 22t25



Victor Remedies!

These Remedies consist of Victor Liver Syrup, Victor Pain Balm, Victor Infant's Relief, Victor Lung Syrup, Victor Pills, Victor Liniment, Victor Poultry, Horse and Cattle Powders. These Remedies are all sold under a guarantee. If you cannot get them from your merchant, send his name to us, and we will arrange so he has them in stock if he is reliable. Send for circulars. Address:

VICTOR REMEDIES CO.,
5tf Frederick, Md.

A MAN

UNACQUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THE COUNTRY WILL OBTAIN MUCH INFORMATION FROM A STUDY OF THIS MAP OF THE Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Ry.

Including Lines East and West of the Missouri River. The Direct Route to and from CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND, DAVENPORT, DES MOINES, COUNCIL BLUFFS, WATERTOWN, SIOUX FALLS, MINNEAPOLIS, ST. PAUL, ST. JOSEPH, ATCHISON, LEAVENWORTH, KANSAS CITY, TOPEKA, DENVER, COLORADO SPRINGS and PUEBLO. Free Reclining Chair Cars to and from CHICAGO, CALDWELL, HUTCHINSON and DODGE CITY, and Palace Sleeping Cars between CHICAGO, WICHITA and HUTCHINSON.

SOLID VESTIBULE EXPRESS TRAINS

of Through Coaches, Sleepers, Free Reclining Chair Cars and (East of Mo. River) Dining Cars daily between CHICAGO, DES MOINES, COUNCIL BLUFFS and OMAHA, with FREE Reclining Chair Car to NORTH PLATTE (Neb.), and between CHICAGO and DENVER, COLORADO SPRINGS and PUEBLO, via St. Joseph, or Kansas City and Topeka. Splendid Dining Hotels west of St. Joseph and Kansas City. Excursions daily, with Choice of Routes to and from Salt Lake, Portland, Los Angeles and San Francisco. The Direct Line to and from Pike's Peak, Manitou, Garden of the Gods, the Sanitariums, and Scenic Grandeurs of Colorado,

Via The Albert Lea Route.

Solid Express Trains daily between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, with THROUGH Reclining Chair Cars (FREE) to and from those points and Kansas City. Through Chair and Sleeper between Peoria, Spirit Lake and Sioux Falls via Rock Island. The Favorite Line to Watertown, Sioux Falls, the Summer Resorts and Hunting and Fishing Grounds of the Northwest.

The Short Line via Seneca and Kankakee offers facilities to travel to and from Indianapolis, Cincinnati and other Southern points.

For Tickets, Maps, Folders, or desired information, apply at any Coupon Ticket Office, or address

E. ST. JOHN, Gen'l Manager. JOHN SEBASTIAN, Gen'l Tkt. & Pass. Agt.
CHICAGO, ILL.

SUCCESSORS IN BLYMYER BELLS TO THE BLYMYER MANUFACTURING CO
CATALOGUE WITH 1800 TESTIMONIALS.
BELLS, CHURCH, SCHOOL, FIRE ALARM

McShane Bell Foundry
Finest Grade of Bells.
CHIMES AND PEALS for CHURCHES, &c.
Send for Price and Catalogue. Address
H. McSHANE & CO.,
Mention this paper. • Baltimore, Md.

WHEN YOU TRAVEL

Take the
Line selected by the United States Government to carry the Fast Mail,—the

Burlington Route
C. B. & Q. R. R.

As it is the Line running Through Trains to and from the following cities and towns on its own Lines:

CHICAGO,
AURORA, OTTAWA,
STREATOR, ROCKFORD, DUBUQUE,
LA CROSSE, ST. PAUL, MINNEAPOLIS,
MENDOTA, PEORIA, GALESBURG, ST. LOUIS,
QUINCY, KEOKUK, BURLINGTON, WASHINGTON,
OSKALOOSA, DES MOINES, CHARITON,
CRESTON, ST. JOSEPH, ATCHISON,
KANSAS CITY, NEBRASKA CITY,
OMAHA, COUNCIL BLUFFS,
LINCOLN & DENVER,

Making Direct Connections

TO AND FROM

NEW YORK,
BALTIMORE, WASHINGTON,
CINCINNATI, PHILADELPHIA, BOSTON,
NEW ORLEANS, LOUISVILLE, SAN FRANCISCO,
LOS ANGELES, SALT LAKE CITY, COLORADO AND
PACIFIC COAST RESORTS, CITY OF MEXICO,
PORTLAND, OREGON, MANITOBA,
VICTORIA AND PUGET SOUND
POINTS.

Good Equipment,
Good Service,
Good Connection.

For information concerning the Burlington Route, apply to the nearest Ticket Agent of the C., B. & Q. or connecting railroads.

HENRY B. STONE, General Manager. PAUL MORTON, Gen'l Pass. & Ticket Agt., CHICAGO, ILL.

THE GOSPEL MESSENGER.

"Set for the Defense of the Gospel."

Vol. 27. Old Series. Mt. Morris, Ill., and Huntingdon, Pa., August 20, 1889. No. 33.

The Gospel Messenger.

H. B. BRUMBAUGH, Editor,
And Business Manager of the Eastern House, Box 50, Huntingdon, Pa.

"PARENTS who are ignorant of their duty will be taught by the misconduct of their children what they ought to have done."

Now is the time to look around for profitable fields of labor for the coming fall and winter. There are plenty of them, and they should not be left unoccupied.

THE prospects for a good attendance at the Normal for the coming school year is encouraging. Send for a Catalogue for time of opening, terms, etc.; mailed free to all who may wish it.

BRO. J. B. B'S. are taking in Nebraska and Kansas. So far, they have been favored with good health, and, we suppose, are as happy as people can be while traveling from place to place. We prefer the environments of home during the hot days of July and August.

THE second edition of "Gospel Chimes" is now ready for distribution, and all orders for them will be promptly filled. For Sunday-schools, singing-classes and series of meetings they are especially well adapted. Single copy, 30 cents; per dozen, $3.00; by express, $2.60.

THE Advance, a sixteen-page monthly, devoted to education, general literature, and to the interests of the Normal College at Huntingdon, Pa., has been resurrected from a long sleep, and No. 10 is now ready for distribution. A free copy will be sent to all applicants. Send for a copy and learn all about the happenings at the Normal.

BRO. FRANK F. HOLSOPPLE, a young minister of good promise, has returned to Huntingdon and will remain for the coming school year. He is now working on the Normal campus,—grading around the new building under way of erection,—and making himself useful generally. He is made up of the true metal and is determined to hoe his own row, and will succeed. More such young men are wanted,—we mean such as are not ashamed to work, or to soil their hands when necessary.

THERE are those who, for insufficient causes, become dissatisfied with the regulations of the church, and, without proper consideration, are ready and willing to sever their relations that were once sacred and dear. Brethren and sisters, in such cases, can afford to move slowly. A rupture often proves fatal, and, at best, is much easier made than healed. Never make a change in your church relations until you are sure that such change will be for the better, and that your spiritual welfare will be enhanced by it. Personal likes and dislikes should have no weight in decisions of this kind. The divine sanction should be clearly felt and recognized; as to change our spiritual relations and homes are events of most serious character.

IF you desire happiness, comply with the terms upon which it is promised. It is not a plant of spontaneous growth. And to have its fruits, careful and continued culture is needful. Yet it is alike free to all.

ALMANAC FOR 1890.

WE have already called the attention of our Brethren to the compilation of the Brethren's Almanac for 1890, and asked for suggestions as to what it shall contain and matter to fill its pages. We now repeat the request, as we expect soon to commence work on it, and get it out earlier than last year.

The corrections for the Ministerial List should also be made as soon as possible, by noting the changes made and sending us the names of all those who are not now on the list. Please remember, there are only three things to be noticed. First, to erase all names that should be omitted. Second, add all names that are not now on that should be on. Third, to note all changes of address that are to be made. In no case send us the names of those that are now properly on the list.

We will be glad to consider any changes in the make-up of the Almanac that may add to its interest and usefulness, if made at once, so as to give us the necessary time.

AFTER HARVEST.

IT is now "after harvest." The reapers have returned from the field, the shocks of golden grain have been hauled into the barns, the last gleanings are safely housed, and every-where is written, "After harvest." Take our country through, and the year, so far, has been unusually favorable to the farmer. The wheat, the oats, and the barley crops have been large, and those who have plowed and sowed can rejoice in a rich reward for their labor.

After the flood Noah builded an altar on which he offered an acceptable sacrifice unto the Lord. "And the Lord smelled a sweet savor; and said in his heart, I will not again curse the ground any more for man's sake; neither will I again smite any more every thing living, as I have done. While the earth remaineth, seedtime and harvest, and cold and heat, and summer and winter, and day and night shall not cease." So he has promised, and so he has fulfilled. The Lord has been faithful in his promises made to us. Seed-time and harvest are continued, and we are made the subjects of his tender care. We have been blessed with an abundant harvest. This harvest time has come and gone, and the question now is, How is it with us? Who are those that now rejoice, and who are they that are murmuring and mourning? Those who have sown, have had the satisfaction of gathering. But those who have not sown are disappointed. And yet, why should they be? We should not be disappointed when nothing could be reasonably expected. When we sow nothing we should expect nothing as a reward. If we are not satisfied with this, we should observe the conditions upon which the things we desire are promised.

But the trouble is, in many cases men don't think,—"my people," the prophet has said, "doth not consider." They wait until the force of circumstances makes them feel. Then the wailing is, "The harvest is past, and I am not saved." It is the bitter wail of a loss, too late for a remedy. It seems sad that, in a world of seed-time and harvest, men and women should be made miserable for the want of the necessaries of life, but if it is because they refuse to sow, is it not right? It is their natural and legitimate reward. God, nature, experience and reason all teach alike this truth. And if such a result would not follow, there would be cause for surprise and wonder.

Though this truth is taught every-where and is so apparent to all, yet we live in a world, wonderfully mixed with misery and wretchedness, not because the Lord has been unfaithful or that nature has played false, but because men have proved recreant to both revelation and reason. Why is this?—we are made to ask. No good reason can be given. With all the possibilities with which we are endowed, there can be no reason why men and women should suffer for the common wants of life unless there be physical causes or such as are beyond our control.

But the harvest is past, and we are glad to know that, with the many, there is rejoicing. They are returning from their fields, rejoicing, bringing their sheaves with them. It means not only a partial rest from almost incessant toil, but with the rest is also the reward. It is the double enjoyment that always follows duties well performed.

While these physical rests and enjoyments are desirable, and richly worth the sacrifice made to obtain them, they do not and can not satisfy the souls. We have wants that are higher and more important than the simple demands of our bodies. Man liveth not by bread alone, has been ringing in the hearts and consciences of men for the last eighteen hundred years, and it is as true to-day as when first it fell from the lips of the loving Savior. The time for physical enjoyments is short, uncertain and deceptive. Our spiritual enjoyment will be co-equal with our existence. About this there will be no disappointment. For it we may labor with assurance that it will be all that the soul can desire. A rich harvest has been made possible for every soul. For it we are to labor. Life is the seed-time,—the time for sowing,—and the promise is, Whatever we sow now, we shall reap when the harvest time comes.

As the harvest of the soul is the one in which we are all personally interested, let us put forth every effort to make it one which, to us, will be a season of everlasting rejoicing.

ESSAYS.

"Study to show thyself approved unto God; a workman that needeth not be ashamed, rightly dividing the Word of Truth."

ANGEL GUESTS.

Oft they come in sweet rotation
From that country fair and blest,
When the earth and all creation
Save my heart have sunk to rest.
Hosts of seraphim surrounded me
Wreathed in smiles divinely bright;
Keeping vigil all around me
In the lonely watch of night.

O, they press my lips, and pity
Beams from out their tender eyes;
Then they tell me of a city
Free from pain, beyond the skies.
And my soul then longs to enter
That majestic home above,
Where sweet joys eternal centre,
And no theme is known save love.

Then they vanish. But another
Comes love's fondest joys to stir;
Dearer far than friend or brother
Is this heavenly messenger,
Face to face we meet in gladness.
Hand in hand our tryst we keep;
Thus my heart is hushed from sadness
And once more my sorrows sleep.

Oft I smoothed the raven tresses,
Kissed the brow as fair as snow;
Yielded to the sweet caresses
Of this darling, long ago.
Now, though space too vast for measure
Seeks to part us evermore,
God sends back my cherished treasure
To renew the joys of yore.

Oh, the holy guests from Heaven!
How my soul drinks in their charms!
How my troubled heart at even
Leaps for solace to their arms!
And in silent awe I wonder
As around my couch they stand,
Shall I one day join their number,
Be an angel of their band?

Shall I leave the Courts of Glory,
Come unto this earth again,
View life's conflicts dark and gory,
Cheer the saddened hearts of men?
Shall I calm the wronged, the yearning,
As these blest ones calm me now?
Kiss fond lips with anguish burning?
Soothe some sorrowing weeper's brow?

Oh, I wonder! will the portals
Of that home divinely blest,
Keep my soul with bright immortals
Evermore in silent rest?
Or, will God, when arms elysian
Bear me to that "higher berth,"
Send me on a holy mission
To console my loved of earth?

Sadie C. Brallier.

A COLLECTION OF THOUGHTS.

BY FLORIDA J. ETTER.

As I take my Bible this morning and peruse its sacred pages, I find much that is precious to my soul. Again, take the Hymn Book. It contains many precious words derived from the Blessed Word of God. Why should we become despondent when we meet with obstacles on our way? Every cloud has a silver lining. There is always a calm after a storm.

We come to the conclusion that there is a deficiency of faith on our part. God's promises are the same now as they were at first. In Psalms 37 God tells us to trust him and do good and to commit our way unto him. In another place he says, "Rest in him and wait patiently for him." Now if we have that living, saving faith, do we not believe what he says is true? He tells us he is our refuge and strength,—a very present help in time of trouble. From Ps. 27: 10–14 there is much encouragement to be derived. "Be of good courage and he shall strengthen your heart, all ye that hope in the Lord." "The Lord is on my side; I will not fear what men can do unto me." Read carefully 1 Peter 3 and 4.

Does not God mean the same for us now as he did for the old prophets? I think if we search well the Scriptures, and have that apostolic faith mentioned in the history of their life, we shall be all safe, now and hereafter. "They that trust in the Lord shall be as Mount Zion which cannot be removed, but abideth forever." The words of encouragement are too numerous to mention. Pen and paper can not give all the glad tidings that it contains. Blessed Bible, what a treasure!

While we are despondent over a few difficulties here, do we think what our dear Savior passed through while here on earth without a murmur? Don't you know we are committing a great sin by doing so? It is hard, we all know. But it is not too much for God to help us if we will trust him. If we suffer with our Master here, we shall there before his face appear, and by his side sit down.

"The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want." What better leader can we desire? If we follow him we can not go astray; we shall be able to stand the storm and anchor by and by. We shall join our loved ones, gone before, never to part again.

How do we think about this home? Do we think of it as we would some earthly residence? If so, let me say, it will be quite different. It is a place of great interest and requires a great effort on our part to obtain it, and we should consider well the great importance of trying to obtain it. It lies in our power to obtain it, if we do our part in obeying the rules and regulations that have been prescribed in the Blessed Word of God. When we can all come to that decision, that we are willing to humble ourselves enough to obey from the heart the whole law as it is given, then we have the promise of reaching that home.

Now, in conclusion, let me say, Consider this subject well, and if there is any command you have not complied with, do so at once. I beg of you, that you may be able to join the rest of the band and be happy. Care not for the sneers of this sinful world. Only look, believe and obey, and all shall be well by and by. "We'll join the everlasting song, and crown him Lord of all."

Cartersville, Va.

ELDERS—THEIR DUTIES AND QUALIFICATIONS.

BY DANIEL HAYS.

Any trust or position in life is reached only by a faithful and conscientious discharge of duty. The office of bishop is not a post of honor, but a work, so much so that it became a saying, and, as Paul says, a true saying, "If a man desire the office of a bishop, he desireth a good work." Paul then proceeds to give the qualifications for the office; and for convenience I will give a summary of the qualities an elder should possess and of those he should not have, as we have it from Paul's instructions to Timothy and Titus, and of Peter to the churches.

A bishop must be an "example to the flock." 1 Pet. 5: 3. "He must be blameless, the husband of one wife, vigilant, sober, of good behavior, given to hospitality, apt to teach, patient, one that ruleth well his own house, of good report of them that are without, a lover of good men, just, holy, temperate, holding fast the faithful word as he hath been taught, that he may be able by sound doctrine both to exhort and to convince the gainsayers." On the other hand, he must not be "self-willed, not soon angry, not given to wine, no striker, not greedy of filthy lucre, not a brawler, not covetous, not a novice, lest being lifted up with pride, he fall into the condemnation of the devil." See 1 Tim. 3; Titus 1.

These qualifications are prerequisites to the office, and are developed in life and character by a faithful service in the ministry. Then there are qualifications in the office, duties growing out of the relation the elder sustains to the church. Timothy received instructions that he might know how he ought to behave himself in the house of God,—the church. If the elder is to take the "oversight" of the church, if he is to "rule well," if he is to "feed the flock," then there are attainments to reach that may not have been contemplated before he was set apart for this special work. There is, however, very much more included in Titus 1: 9 than is generally realized. It is there made the essential duty of the bishop to "hold fast the faithful word AS HE HATH BEEN TAUGHT, that he may be able by sound doctrine both to exhort and to convince the gainsayers." An elder, then, must be firm in his hold upon the Word, and he must be sure that it is the faithful Word; and it is not enough that he hold fast to the faithful Word in his way of thinking about it, or according to his opinion of it; but "as he hath been taught," for in no other way can the continued faith and practice of the Gospel be assured. There are gainsayers to be convinced, and many of them are in the church who, like the Cretians, "are unruly, and vain talkers and deceivers whose mouths must be stopped, who subvert whole houses, teaching things which they ought not for filthy lucre's sake." "Wherefore," Paul would have Titus to "rebuke them sharply that they may be sound in the faith." But if the elder himself be a gainsayer, who will do the exhorting, who will do the convincing and reproving?

Furthermore, an elder should be well informed in the government of the church. There are questions that arise concerning church polity that the elder should be able to explain and give the reason why. If the elders of the churches would faithfully discharge their duty, most queries would be satisfactorily explained and disposed of at home. There would be few attempts to dig up some of the old foundation stones and replace them with new and untried ones. The fact is, an elder is not doing his duty unless he informs himself. Whose duty is it to know the rules of the church if the elder does not? There is no people more derelict, I fear, in this respect than we. An elder, and one of the most talented among us, told me not long ago that he did not know it was contrary to the rules of the church for a brother to have his life insured. Another confessed that he could not rule his own house, his children not being in subjection with all gravity. I do not mention this out of disrespect to these or other brethren, but to stir up the minds of all by way of remembrance.

One great reason why an elder should be well posted in church government, is, because he is an important factor in the government of the church. An elder may do wrong, may commit an error. The church, with the adjoining elders, has the right to bring him to account, and correct the error. On the other hand, a church may be in error. Then it becomes the duty of the adjoining elders to go to that church, and labor with the church to correct the error and set things in order. By this arrangement the balance of power is preserved.

I believe the principles of our church government should be carefully taught. The reason why of things should be given. This instruction should not be reserved for a way-side talk as though it was a private matter. Teach it to the young; preach it to the people. We should not wait till they clamor for the reason why at Annual Meeting, and then, for want of time and want of information, pass it by as unfinished business. It is our duty so to teach that all may know that the church has a government, strong and well-based,—based upon principles fixed and eternal as the Word of God upon which the church stands—a government by all, and by consent of the governed.

RESTING.

BY C. H. BALSBAUGH.

To Bertha E. Kittinger,

Dear Sister:—

Through the kindness of Bro. B. F. Kittinger, I have the sad yet joyous intelligence that my old correspondent and ardent personal friend, J. Levi Kittinger, has passed within the veil to enjoy the "rest that remaineth for the people of God." Heb. 4: 9. You are heart-broken, as you well may be, under the unsparing lance of death, but have also abundant reason to mingle and overbalance your threnody with the glad pæan of hope and assurance. The eye of sense sees only loss and desolation and corruption; but faith looks not at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen. 2 Cor. 4: 18. Looking at the corpse, shroud, coffin, sepulchre, we are crushed, helpless, hopeless; but fixing our gaze on things above where is Christ and all the reserves of Infinite Love, we see "our light affliction, which is but for a moment," issue in "a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory." You must not only contemplate your loss, but his gain. While your heart breaks with agony, his bursts with rapture. While you look with tears on the pledges of your mutual affection, sobbing over the exit of a husband so cherished and a father so loved, he beholds the face of Jesus "with joy unspeakable and full of glory."

Death is a Divine appointment: the wages of sin, yet the instrument of redemption, and the gateway into the Holy of holies for all the sanctified. You could not have kept your beloved always, neither will you be separated long. Only a hand-breadth and you will share his joy forever. Let the tears fall freely, but let them all be pearls of faith. Let not one miss the bottle of God. Ps. 56: 8. When Jesus returned to Bethany after the death of Lazarus, the first ejaculation of the sisters was, "Lord, if Thou hadst been here, my brother had not died." His absence was not accidental, but for the glory of God. John 11: 4, 21. Would you fetch your beloved dead, or rather your glorified bosom-mate, back again into this scene of temptation and suffering and sorrow, to be buffeted afresh, and endure again the pangs of the last enemy? Would you not rather pass through the swellings of Jordan to rejoin him in "the inheritance of the saints in light"? Col. 1: 12.

O, the marvels of faith! We do not half prize the glorious gift. Faith annihilates time and space, and realizes the unseen and far away as now and here. Just see how real and present it makes God and all the denizens of the upper commonwealth. "Truly our fellowship is with the Father, and with His Son Jesus Christ." 1 John 1: 3. Again, "Ye are come unto mount Sion, and unto the city of the living God, the heavenly Jerusalem, and to an innumerable company of angels, to the general assembly and church of the firstborn, which are written in heaven, and to God the Judge of all, and to the spirits of just men made perfect and to Jesus the mediator of the new covenant, and to the blood of sprinkling." Heb. 12: 22, 23, 24. If our faith is large enough to take in all this, we will be in company with our sainted dead constantly. Your own soul-enshrined Levi is in that white-robed general assembly, and faith takes you right there to his side, and gives you his sweet fellowship in every step of your tear-stained pilgrimage. "Our citizenship is in Heaven." Philpp. 3: 20. The more you allow sense to dominate you, instead of faith, the longer and more wearisome will the hours appear, the deeper will be your sorrow, and the darker your path. "The cup which my Father hath given me, shall I not drink it?" John 18: 11. A bitter cup, indeed, to sense, but not to faith. See in it only the Love that died for us all. Trust where you can not trace. Eternity is long enough for all the explanations of your present afflictions. Your beloved now rests in fruition, and God asks you to rest in faith. Just ask the Holy Spirit to write into your immortal soul the great truth that can comfort you every step till you cross the threshhold of glory. Rom. 8: 18. When John 17: 24 is fulfilled, you will shout Alleluia for every drop of wormwood mingled in your earthly cup.

SUPERSTITIONS.

BY WILLIAM G. SCHROCK.

Man is inclined to have an excessive reverence or fear for that which is unknown and mysterious. To demand the observance of rites not commanded,—to believe in the direct agencies of superior powers in certain special events, or in signs natural and spiritual,—such is the natural disposition of the race, unaided by Revelation and the light of reason.

Among the uneducated and uncivilized, the most degrading and superstitious notions prevail, while among the enlightened very little superstition is found and much less practiced. It is safe to conclude that it is in every conceivable case the direct outgrowth of ignorance and wrong training. The evils of superstitious notions and practices, if traced to their origin, must in every instance be attributed to ignorance. This is, without exception, the common parent of every evil. Ignorance and superstition are so closely allied as to go hand in hand.

Superstition prevailed in ancient times to an alarming extent, even among the better and higher classes. History is full of its evil results. Almost without exception, the darkest spots in the history of the ancients can be traced to superstition in some form or shape. Some of the bloodiest and most gigantic wars of the old world have resulted from this common evil among the people. Millions upon millions have been wasted, and almost as many precious lives sacrificed upon the field of battle, to defend the cause of superstition.

In ancient times, and among the unenlightened of every age, the belief in prevailing superstitions seems to have been regarded as an essential part of man's education. Nature, in all her changes, the starry heavens above us, the earth beneath us with all her objects, animate and inanimate, constituted subjects for superstitious beliefs.

The marvelous in nature or the disposition to believe what could not be proved, was considered supernatural in all its manifestations. Any unusual phenomenon was considered by the people an indication of good luck or a forerunner of some great calamity. Falling meteors or the appearance of a new comet were sure signs of natural evils in the form of war, the death of some distinguished personage, or, perhaps, some other great loss to the people.

The most noted example is found in the "Delphic Oracle" of ancient times. The rise, progress and decline of this wonderful superstitious belief has found a very prominent place in ancient history, and has, probably, affected a larger class of people than any other single superstitious notion. This remarkable superstition is said to have originated through Apollo, the son of Jupiter, and the god of archery, prophecy and music. He sought out a suitable place to build a temple, and founded it on the very spot where he slew a huge serpent which inhabited the place. It was here that he established his worship, and, in order to obtain priests, he was obliged to transform himself into a dolphin. This accounts for the name of the place and oracle. The Greeks and other nations made long and dangerous pilgrimages to Delphi, to do homage to the Delphic god. Immense wealth accumulated here from gifts and votive offerings, for erecting and maintaining superb and stately temples in honor of this superstitious belief.

However much the world has improved in general by the rapid and onward march of civilization and Christianity, it is nevertheless astonishing to know how much superstition is found even among the people of our enlightened land. It is true, we do not stoop to fabled gods, as found in heathen mythology, but the people of this modern age believe in things equally unreasonable if not more absurd. Many people of the present day, with all the advantages of education, civilization and the blessings of Christianity thrown around them, are still tainted more or less with superstitious notions. Examples of domestic superstitions are found in the burning of the ear, in the itching of the hand, dreaming, the appearing of spectres, and a catalogue of other things, all of which are said to have their meaning, if properly interpreted.

It can not be denied but that these things have a very detrimental effect upon our influence for doing good, and, in proportion as we believe and practice these every-day superstitions, in life, will our comfort and happiness be destroyed. A reasonable and truly enlightened person will not waste his time over the dream-book and fortune-teller to discover the meaning of everything that borders on the superstitious.

These things should not be regarded, on account of the misery they frequently occasion to those who may be their unfortunate victims. The only remedy found is to banish from our minds anything that borders on superstition, and seek light from the proper source for everything that seems otherwise mysterious.

Berlin, Pa.

FARMER JOHN'S APOLOGY.

In the early dawn of manhood, when traveling through a strange section, I saw an innocent-looking little girl playing with her sister beneath a cherry-tree. Years after the same little girl, in the health and charm of young womanhood, entered my school-room and enrolled her name as a pupil. Years came and went. I worked hard with both head and hands. I traveled from State to State, through the great valleys and over the lofty mountain tops, from the ice-bound regions of the North till near the Torrid Zone; on the great rivers of the West, and over the briny deep, until my travels in miles exceeded more than twice the distance around the entire globe. But in all my wanderings, whether on the land or on the sea, I never forgot the little girl under the cherry-tree. So metimes I walked erect in the line of sacred duty, at other times I stumbled in the paths of error. I even climbed the ladder that sometimes leads to fame, but, after looking at those above me, as well as at those below, I climbed down again.

A score, or more, of frosty winters passed over my head, the silver threads were multiplying in my hair, when I was called to watch, for weeks, at the bedside of the same little girl, who was then the mother of my children. She told me what to do with the little ones, for she was going away to live with the angels in the land beyond the stars

And now, my only apology for not writing more for the MESSENGER lies between these orphan children, whom I am trying to keep together, and a lonely grave beneath some stately trees that have stood the frosts and storms for many centuries. I sometimes try to write, but my pen moves not as in days of yore.

By and by, as I become better reconciled to my misfortune, I hope to resume my writing, and be enabled to perform more and better work for the good of humanity in the future than I have done in the past. FARMER JOHN.

ARE WE READY TO MEET JESUS?

BY GEO. L JENNINGS.

A MEETING with him is inevitable, and it is sure that he will bring every work into judgment. O, let us heed the warning voice of mercy and flee from the wrath to come! Remember that Jesus saves and gives rest from the burden of sin to all who come to him for salvation, that his blood cleanseth us from all sins, if we, by faith, apply it to our hearts. The Holy Spirit will sanctify us (make us holy) if we allow him to rule within our hearts as our teacher and guide. Jesus is coming! Behold he cometh with clouds, and every eye shall see him. You and I, dear reader, shall see him. Would we be greatly alarmed should we this moment hear, as we then will, the archangel's voice, and the trumpet of God, summoning us into Christ's presence? If so, I kindly entreat one and all by the mercies of God, to flee for refuge to Jesus while yet you may. Accept Jesus as your only Savior upon the promises of God, before the gloom of eternal death overshadows you. Then shall you be prepared to say, "I am ready. Come, Lord Jesus!" Then it shall be yours to enjoy eternal life,—a glorious welcome at the appearing of Jesus, and an eternal home in heaven!

Our Savior's invitation was to the laboring and the heavy-laden. How many of them there are, scattered through this weary world,—laden with sin, with grief, with cares, with woes, with sorrows,—pressed down by poverty and suffering beneath the hand of disease, tried, troubled and afflicted!

The Savior bids the "heavy-laden" come to him and rest. Will you not come, O weary, heavy-laden soul? Life is brief, time is short, earth is a scene of trouble, toil and conflict, yet there is rest to come. But we need not wait for that rest. There is rest even now to those who take Christ's easy yoke, and learn of him, for he has said, "I am meek and lowly in heart, and ye shall find rest to your souls."

Oh, may those of us who have consecrated all, and thus put our hands to the Gospel plow, be enabled to keep our eyes on the heavenly prize, that its glory may keep us from looking back, and that the fascination of former human ties may not hold us in bondage like our Lord. May it be our meat and drink to do Jehovah's will! Let us remember well the condition in which the foolish virgins were, and let us profit by the lessons. Let us keep our lamps well filled with the oil of grace. Then, when Jesus comes, we will all be ready to meet him in glory.

Middletown, Ind.

IN CHRIST OR NOT?

BY ANNA E. NETTROUR.

ARE you in Christ? If not in Christ, you are out of him and in an unsafe condition. This simple fact determines your danger. When the flood came, it found the people of the globe in various places and occupations, the same as to-day. Some may have been in fortresses strong enough to resist the attack of their enemies, but they were not in the ark. Those that dwelt on the mountain top, may have had fine outlooks on the valley below, but over the highest mountain swept the flood. Those who trusted their own good works, and all who scaled the mount of fame, and were outside the ark,—no matter where they were,—were swept away!

Christ is the divine ark. Those who are in the ark will be saved; those who stay out will be lost. So, my unconverted friends, it is of little difference to your immortal soul where you are, if death finds you out of Christ. You are lost! Christ says, "I am the door: by me if any man enter in, he shall be saved." If God's Word teaches this, and we know it does, the question arises, How shall we enter the ark of safety? If you are out of your house, no neighbor seizes you by main strength, and forces you in. You open the door and enter in of your own accord. Precisely so you must enter Christ,—that is, enter the Christian faith and life. The door is open to all, and over it in words so bright, "Whosoever will, let him come!" Why not enter without delay and be forever happy and blest, not only in time but eternity, for to-morrow may be too late. Now dear friends, "that have washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb," are waiting to welcome you home.

Columbiana, Ohio.

BIBLE MATHEMATICS.

BY J. E. YOUNG.

ADDITION.—"Add to your faith virtue; and to virtue, knowledge; and to knowledge, temperance; and to temperance, patience; and to patience, godliness; and to godliness, brotherly kindness; and to brotherly kindness, love." 2 Pet. 1: 5-7. "If these things be in you, and abound, they make you that ye shall neither be barren nor unfruitful in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ." 2 Pet. 1: 8.

SUBTRACTION.—"He that lacketh these things is blind, and cannot see afar off, and hath forgotten that he was purged from his old sins." 2 Pet. 1: 9. "Let all bitterness, and wrath, and anger, and clamour, and railing, be put away from you, with all malice." Eph. 4: 31. Wherefore putting away falsehood. Revised Version, Eph. 4: 25.

MULTIPLICATION.—"Grace and peace be multiplied unto you through the knowledge of God and of Jesus our Lord." 1 Pet. 1: 2. "He that ministereth seed to the sower both ministereth bread for your own food, and multiply your seed sown, and increase the fruits of your righteousness." 2 Cor. 9: 10.

DIVISION.—"Come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, and will be a Father unto them, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty." 2 Cor. 6: 17, 18.

In teaching children the science of arithmetic, none of the fundamental principles are so hard for them to understand as that of division. The same principle is observed in Biblical arithmetic. No good teacher will try to teach a child how to divide before it has learned to add, subtract and multiply. When these three rules are applied in religious life first, it is not hard to "come out from among them." Should the rule be reversed, as we see it is so much by religious teachers? Common sense would answer in the negative. Practical religion never disagrees with common sense unless the latter is perverted.

Beatrice, Nebr.

DEATH.

BY SARAH M. SAUNDERS.

WHEN we contemplate death, we seem to consider it a something that is undefinable,—something that is nearer to others than to us. We think of death as pertaining to an event in the far distant future, and seem to forget that it is appointed unto all the human family,—that death is no respecter of persons, but that the high and low, rich and poor, bond and free, are alike subject to death.

We sometimes feel reluctant to be resigned to a strange providence when the pale rider summons from earth the "brightest and best," and those whose usefulness can not be spared,—those whose lives prove a blessing to all with whom they associate, while he spares the careless, the profligate, the imbecile,—a care and a sorrow to others.

When death invades the family circle and snatches away father or mother, son or daughter, oh, how our hearts bleed! But the sorest bereavement is felt when the bosom friend, the companion of our youth, is torn from our embrace! All other wounds time will heal, but, oh, the aching void left to the bereft ones when the very life of our existence is taken away! There is great mourning when the silver cord of conjugal love and affection is severed, and the icy hand of death sets his seal upon their brows! Oh, how the bleeding heart cries out in its anguish, "How can I live without them!"

Let us look at the promises of God and take courage, ever remembering that he has said, "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord," and try to realize that he doeth all things well, even though we, poor finite beings, can not understand his dealings to us, realizing that his ways are above our ways, and his thoughts above our thoughts.

"God moves in a mysterious way
His wonders to perform."

OUR GREATEST CURSE.

BY E. K. NOE.

THERE are many evils in the land, all exerting a degrading influence upon humanity and bringing a curse upon the whole nation. The saloon stands at the head of the list. It extends its influence farthest and sinks its victims deepest in disgrace, woe and everlasting misery. The growth of the saloon power is the greatest curse that afflicts this nation. It ruins spiritually, morally and socially. Spiritually, because so many church members of all denominations disgrace their church through the influence of whisky, and lose their influence over their friends which would have accomplished great good. Dear brethren, be careful of your actions before the world!

Intemperance ruins morally because it has stolen the morality from so many homes, and, instead of moral, virtuous young men, we have drunkards, gamblers, and confirmed smokers, all of which originate from the saloon.

Intemperance ruins society because society has been deprived of some of its most influential members. This is all caused by the saloon. Once it was said that money is the root of all evil, but we may well say the same of the saloon, for malt liquors are made principally to obtain money. Under the influence of liquor more than three-fourths of the prevalent crimes are committed. Thus our American people who ought to be the happiest people on the globe, have sunk down under the accursed power of the saloon.

Not merely the wealth, but manhood and, to our shame, many ladies, who otherwise might be pure, are now sinking into degradation and despair. Especially in large cities, thousands that once were pure, are being swept down to perdition. Any intelligent person, walking through our populous cities, may notice, as he passes those places of disgrace, the loving wife bending over her darling husband, entreating him to go home with her.

Spend an hour in the Police Courts, if you please, and I think you would realize the force of the above statements and bid a fervent God-speed to Prohibition. This evil is so glaring, so gigantic and aggressive that no argument should be necessary to prove to all that they should condemn it. We can see so many evils arising from it that, if it were swept out of our beloved land, we could imagine all of the penitentiaries, State prisons, jails, etc., empty for want of criminals to fill them.

"Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging: and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise." A man that is wise, spiritually, should not meddle with intoxicating drink, for it ruins health, destroys wealth, love, happiness, and, in the end, sends you to hell, there to groan in everlasting misery throughout endless ages. Dear Christian friends, can we let our neighbors and friends go on in this evil? Why not check them in their downward career?

Now, while the rum power is exerting such an influence, let us exert a Christian influence that may reach down deep into the heart of some drunken sot and bring him to Christ! Let all your prayers be seasoned with a petition against this evil that is ruining our country.

CORNELIUS.

BY LIZZIE H. DELP.

"A just man, and one that feareth God, and of good report among all the nations of the Jews."

This is the record of his life, and a biography of many volumes could not give a much clearer delineation of his character. He was a commander; his soldiers were treated justly. His alms to the poor and needy proved a blessing to them, and more glorious still, were cherished in heaven as a memorial. Herein lies comfort for those whose work for God may be unnoticed and unappreciated here. Jesus, who revealed the full value of the widow's mite, will appreciate your daily service, your trials cheerfully borne for him, temptations manfully resisted in his strength,—all these will be inscribed on a scroll of crystal. We are "unprofitable servants," but Jesus remembers the little we do for him.

It was not a random trance that taught Peter the worth of a Gentile's soul. God especially prepared Peter for the conversion of Cornelius, by showing him a wonderful vision. It revealed to him that all souls were lying under the curse of sin, that only the blood of Jesus could redeem them, that the souls of the heathen are valued as highly as those of the Jews. It was hard for a Jew to believe that. Peter realized the truth, but he had to relate the story more than once to convince his brethren that God willed salvation to all.

The prejudice of the Jew against the Greek was well justified in one sense. The scribes and the priests were well versed in the laws of God; but by their traditions it was rendered almost ineffective. Some of their precepts were concreted into the "Mishna;" to this was added the "Gemara," a volume of fables, of Jewish superstitions, and the decisions of Rabbis. The perverted oral teaching thus given in the synagogues deserved the severe denunciations of Christ, but yet they worshiped the true God, and the pious Jew looked with abhorrence on the pagan worship of their day. To-day we study Grecian History in the glamour of poetry, and a false radiance brightens the virtues, and through the mist of the ages we see but very imperfectly the vices of ancient Greece. The intelligent people were atheists, the more ignorant were superstitious.

This conversion of Cornelius should make us long and strive to possess the faith that takes the Lord at his word, and places entire trust in his promises. Cornelius believed the message Peter brought, and then was willing to fulfill the conditions of salvation. Just as free is salvation to all, and to be enjoyed in the same way by faith in the Lord Jesus Christ, a faith which humbly relies on his Word, and includes a perfect surrender of soul and body to him.

Mainland, Pa.

NO TEARS THERE.

BY MATILDA SCHUBERT.

It is said of our home in heaven, that "there shall be no tears there." The reason is, because there is no sorrow in that blessed abode. This world is made up, in a great measure, of meeting and parting. Friends who have long been separated often weep on beholding each other again. Then, when the parting hour arrives, and the thought forces itself upon the mind that we may never meet again on earth, when the parting embrace is taken, and hands are pressed, the lips quiver with emotion, the eyes suffuse with tears, and we weep, for we can not help it.

We weep at the graves of those who have gone home to God, not as those who have no hope, for by faith we see our compassionate Savior, who wept at the grave of Lazarus. Tears were sanctified then, and we are bidden to rejoice with them that do rejoice, and weep with them that weep. O, how sad to say farewell to one who is going to the bar of God, unprepared to meet his Judge! May our Heavenly Father grant that this sad part may never be ours! If it is so sad to separate from those whom we love, for so short a time here, how much more painful will it be to separate eternally!

It is a blessed thought that in heaven there are no tears, there are no broken hearts! There will be no grief that refuses consolation, no bleeding wounds of affliction to be healed! God shall wipe away all tears from our eyes,—he shall remove all grounds of grief and trouble. "Weeping may endure for a night, but joy cometh in the morning." When sin and death shall have been done away, then there will be no cause for crying! There will be no more weeping from bodily pain or mental anguish! No more farewells will be spoken! There will be no more sobbings in the house of mourning, or at the graves of the departed! Death is overcome! All pain is left behind!

Alvada, Ohio.

"THE HARVEST IS THE END OF THE WORLD."

Matt. 13: 38.

BY A. FLORY.

What a harvest that will be! Are you ready for that harvest? Good farmers do not wait until harvest, expecting then to do that which should have been done before harvest. They will plow their corn, pluck up all briers and weeds, and everything that may hinder the growth of their crop, and, if they have much work to do, they will toil early in the morning and late at night. If the weather is unfavorable, so that they can not attend to their crops as they would like, they will say, "The wheat will soon be ripe and we are not ready. Our corn should be plowed and we have hay to make. We fear that we will not get all necessary work done till harvest."

Is it not strange that men will toil late and early in order to be ready for this temporal harvest and never try to be ready for the great harvest at the end of the world, which is vastly more important? Dear reader, are you ready? Do you believe the Gospel? Christ says, "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved; but he that believeth not shall be damned." Mark 16: 16. Have you repented of your sins? Christ says, "Except ye repent, ye shall all likewise perish." Luke 13: 5. Christ told Nicodemus, "Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God." John 3: 5.

Dear brethren and sisters, are you ready? Christ says, "Then shall the kingdom of heaven be likened unto ten virgins, which took their lamps, and went forth to meet the bridegroom. And five of them were wise, and five were foolish." Are you among the foolish or are you among the wise? Have you been living peaceably with all men as much as lieth within you? If you have not, you are not ready. The apostle Paul tells us to follow peace with all men, and holiness, without which no man shall see the Lord. Heb. 12: 14. Do you love all your brethren and sisters? If you do not, you are not ready.

The apostle Peter says, "See that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently." 1 Pet. 1: 22. The apostle John says, "Whosoever hateth his brother is a murderer: and ye know that no murderer hath eternal life abiding in him." 1 John 3: 15. "If a man say, I love God, and hateth his brother, he is a liar: for he that loveth not his brother whom he hath seen, how can he love God whom he hath not seen?" 1 John 4: 20. Did you tell your brother of his fault as directed by Matthew 18, or did you spread the matter by telling your friend or your neighbor how bad your brother treated you? If you did, you are not ready. Unless you become reconciled with your brother, you will not be ready for the harvest.

"Harvest time is coming,
The fields are almost white,
Angels will be the reapers,
When the wheat is fully ripe."

Meyerhoeffer's Store, Va.

"We can not overestimate the importance of the spiritual life. Without a warm religious life ourselves, we are not in a condition either to pray or work for others. We have had some experience in this decline of spiritual life, and we know that the Christian is miserable in such a state. The child of God should aim to live constantly, day by day, in the light of his countenance. The life 'hid with Christ in God' is the only really happy one. It seems strange sometimes to us that we are willing to continue in so low a religious state. We are good for nothing either to others or to ourselves. We can not lead souls to Christ, or help Christians, unless we are filled with the Spirit of God. But when we have this spiritual life, we are in the way of Christian service. We need more live ministers and live Christians in this sense."

"A man may beat down the bitter fruit from an evil tree until he is weary; whilst the root abides in strength and vigor, the beating down of the present fruit will not hinder it from bringing forth more. This is the folly of some men; they set themselves with all earnestness and diligence against the appearing eruption of lust, but leaving the principal and root untouched, perhaps unsearched out, they make but little or no progress in this work of mortification."

"Wealth nor power can ennoble the mean."

LIVES OF THE CÆSARS

BY W. H. ROOSE.

Number Thirteen—Augustus

AUGUSTUS was exceedingly prosperous, and in a few years he was the ruler of the largest nation on the earth. He did not always feel safe and secure, and to make his life safer, he paid his guards double pay. He was loved very much by his soldiers as well as his subjects. Many were so attached to him and had such confidence in his wisdom and judgment that they covenanted with one another that they would obey all the laws he had made before, and also all that he might enact in the future.

Though they were virtually forswearing themselves to unknown duties and requirements, they had nothing to regret, as he was the maker of excellent laws. The rulers of any nation should only enact such laws as conduce to the peace and prosperity of its subjects; then have such subjects as are willing to be faithful in carrying out these laws both in the spirit and letter. Such a nation needs but few laws, and the government can be carried on with greater economy than where the contrary is the case. This is what we call anarchy in its infancy. Organized anarchy disapproves of law and order in order to appropriate property to its enjoyment which it can not justly claim where there are laws for the protection of life and property.

So it is in the kingdom of Christ. Some do not think it necessary to live up to all the laws established by the King, and as a result there is confusion, spiritual anarchy, and the trouble it has produced has cost the government many dollars that could have been saved by a submissive citizenship.

It is said that Augustus was the first Roman ruler who tried to be great by making application of the principles of peace. The Roman people honored him so much that they planted laurels beside the palace gates. He forbade that any should be put to death on the days he entered the city. No men or women of rank were allowed to exhibit as dancers on the stage, and he also said that gladiators should not be compelled to fight more than three times a year.

He spent much of his time with learned men, to whom he frequently read his compositions. It did not make him angry when the faulty portions of them were pointed out. This is one virtue we should cultivate more in the Christian world than we do. There is not a single doubt in my mind but that Augustus made greater progress in literature than he would have done had he acted otherwise. Horace and Virgil, two renowned authors, lived during his reign.

Augustus possessed a kindly disposition and was courteous to all; visited the sick, etc. At one time one who had fought for him, had a lawsuit, and asked Augustus to be present that he might have fair play. The emperor told him he had not time to go, but would send a friend. The man reminded Augustus that he went and fought personally for him and did not send a substitute. Instead of becoming angry at the rebuke, he managed his affairs so as to attend the lawsuit in person. When reviled, he reviled not again, and did good to them who despitefully used him.

In spite of Augustus' nobility he was not exempt from the decrepitude of old age. He was sensibly aware of its approaching effects. At the age of seventy-four he expressed the desire to have his mind relieved of the cares of reigning, and had his step-son, Tiberius, appointed his colaborer in the work. This release of duties did not lessen his love for the Roman people. He did everything laudable to increase their happiness. He did not know what a deceitful, wicked man Tiberius was, or he would have certainly regretted ever having allowed him to be ruler.

Augustus abhorred every act of misconduct, and felt grieved at the profligate life of his daughter, Julia, who was the wife of Tiberius. When asked to pardon her, he refused by saying, "Fire and water shall sooner unite than I with her." Two years had now passed since his relaxation from the duties of emperor, at which time he made a will. This is one of the preparations for death every one should make. Some neglect this act and in consequence much trouble and legal strife is caused by those whom they most loved and wished to do good. The Father and King of mankind made a will to the human family. The wealth he has in store is to be equally divided among all his children. The conditions with which we must individually comply he has expressed in the life work of his "only begotten Son." As definite as these stipulations are, they are unthankfully received and their legality questioned by many who professedly declare themselves to be children of the King. They look at the examples, teachings and doctrines of Christ as the Will of God, while they should really consider them as the revealed interpretation of that Will.

Giving Augustus credit for the many good traits of character he possessed, he had one fault in particular which we must mention. Like Pompey's soldiers, he was foolishly ambitious of being handsome. It is said of him, that just before he died he requested a mirror to be brought so he could take one more look at himself. He wanted his hair to be dressed with more than ordinary care. Adorned in richly-embroidered robes he asked those around him whether he had not performed his part well. Of course, courtesy compelled the courtiers to reply in the affirmative. Then said he, "Clap your hands and applaud!"

How different from this is the Christian! He cares but little concerning his beauty. We are told in prophecy that "he shall grow up before him as a tender plant, and as a root out of a dry ground: he hath no form nor comeliness; and when we shall see him, there is no beauty that we should desire him." Isa. 53: 2. Christ was not, according to this description of him, of such appearance as to fascinate those who looked to the "outward appearance." His doctrine was not such as can be accepted by man in his natural state. Christ did not ask men to applaud his work nor his excellence of character; neither do his followers. A clear, inward consciousness that they have yielded active obedience to every noble impulse to duty is of more consequence to them than the applause of nations.

The most notable event that occurred in the reign of Augustus was the birth of this unpretentious One to whom we look as our Savior. Of Augustus we have this in Luke 2: 1, "And it came to pass in those days, that there went out a decree from Cesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed." Of all the renown Augustus thought he really deserved, he little knew that this notice of him would be read in families and places of worship, and by individuals in all parts of the world so many years after he was buried, and that his name should be mentioned more on account of one small family in Bethlehem, than because of all the great victories he had won!

Augustus had begun his life with much bloodshed, but ended it by doing much good. In speaking of him some one said, "It would have been best for mankind if Augustus had never been born, or if he had never died." But both the life and death of Christ were a blessing to mankind.

"No man should so act as to take advantage of another's folly."

THE PECULIAR LIFE AND CONDUCT OF JESUS.

BY JOHN FORNEY.

THE peculiar life and conduct of Jesus Christ is a subject that should be studied with interest by every man. He "gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people." Titus 2: 14.

Christ, when but twelve years old, was "found in the temple, sitting in the midst of the doctors, both hearing them, and asking them questions. And all that heard him were astonished at his understanding and answers." Luke 2: 46, 47.

Oh, ye young people, do you study the life of Jesus,—he who redeemed you with his precious blood? Do you know that you are not your own? Christ, by his example, teaches the young where their place is, where their enjoyment should be,—that they should be about their Heavenly Father's business even in their days of youth. Therefore "let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus: who, being in the form of God, thought it not robbery to be equal with God: but made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant."

Although Christ knew he was the Son of God, he, as a dutiful son, obeyed his parents. He gave this as an example to the world. The greatest Teacher that ever lived in this world thus sanctifies, by his own actions, manual labor, and as no servant is above his master, we must follow him in his life of obedience to his Heavenly Father's will. His life was not only an honor to his Father and to himself, but it was a life that was profitable, not only to the thousands that came in contact with it when he walked here amongst men, and diffused his peculiar healing power in so many ways, to so many peculiar cases, but it will continue to have a beneficial effect upon all who believe in him and imitate his life as the light of the world.

Then, again, we have the wonderful miracles that Jesus wrought during his ministry. At the "marriage in Cana of Galilee" he made the water wine. After this he went down to Capernaum, and then up to Jerusalem, where he found in the temple those that sold oxen and sheep and doves, and the changers of money sitting. He drove them all out of the temple, and said unto them that sold doves, Take these things hence; make not my Father's house a house of merchandise.

Next we find Jesus in Galilee, where he was asked by a nobleman to come and heal his son. To him he said, "Go thy way: thy son liveth." Next we find Jesus at the pool of Bethesda, healing the impotent man by saying, "Rise, take up thy bed and walk." Upon another occasion we find Jesus across the Sea of Galilee on a mountain, with his disciples. A great multitude followed him, because they saw his miracles which he did to them that were diseased. Here Christ fed five thousand men with five loaves and two fishes, and there were left of fragments twelve baskets full. No wonder those men wanted to make Jesus their King when they had seen this miracle.

Next we find Jesus giving sight to a blind man by laying clay, mixed with spittle, on his eyes, and then telling him to go and wash. We then see Jesus raise up Lazarus from the grave, after he had been buried for several days.

Some of the above are peculiar cases, such as were not heard of before or since.

Considering the peculiar manner of Christ's conduct in his travels, we see him not only doing good, as above shown, by healing all manner of diseases, and feeding the hungry, but we see that wherever he met with any people, whether few or many, by land or by sea, in the synagogue, or in a private house, he used every opportunity of teaching them, and all this so diversified that it furnished a great store of instruction for all. While the downcast and broken-hearted received consolation, the haughty were reproved. The one who asked for wisdom that cometh from above received it in abundance; the one that was wise in his own conceits was so completely confounded that he knew this only, that he was yet a fool. The self-righteous scribes and Pharisees had their hypocrisy uncovered, and were openly declared to be blind guides, and the condition of their inward part of the heart was laid bare to them and the world in likening them "unto whited sepulchres, which indeed appear beautiful outward, but are within full of dead men's bones, and of all uncleanness. Even so ye also outwardly appear righteous unto men, but within ye are full of hypocrisy and iniquity." Matt. 23: 13–29. Here Jesus denounced eight woes against the scribes and Pharisees for their blindness and hypocrisy.

Christ also showed his power in the great variety of his teachings. In the Sermon on the Mount, Matt. 5–7, he gave the disciples the golden rule of right and wrong. We follow him to Jacob's well, where he met one woman whom he makes the object of instruction, and taught her some of the greatest and wisest lessons she ever heard, for she ran to the city, "and saith to the men, Come, see a man, which told me all things that ever I did: is not this the Christ?" John 4: 28, 29.

Another time we find Christ dining with a certain Pharisee who marveled that Jesus did not first wash before dinner. This gave Jesus a subject to preach on while he was eating. Here he once more laid bare the hypocrisy of the Pharisees. Luke 11: 37–52.

We follow the Savior to Luke 14, into the house of one of the chief Pharisees, to eat bread on the Sabbath day. Here they watched him. This furnished one more text for Jesus to enlarge on. He first asked the company a question which they would not answer. He asked them a second, – one which they could not answer. Then he put forth a parable to those which were bidden, when he marked how they chose out the chief rooms. This parable moved one to say to Jesus, "Blessed is he that shall eat bread in the kingdom of God." This was a second text, at the same meal, for further teaching, as we find it in the above-named chapter.

When the publicans and sinners came to hear him, the Pharisees and scribes murmured, and said, "This man receiveth sinners, and eateth with them." Luke 15. This text called forth three parables, first, that of the lost sheep; second, that of the woman having ten pieces of silver, losing one and finding it again; third, that of the prodigal son, who went into a far country and wasted his substance in riotous living.

I have given these short sketches of Scriptural circumstances to show to the reader how peculiarly wise the Lord Jesus Christ conducted himself in all societies and in all places. Whether eating or drinking, or in whatever he was engaged, his whole soul was in the work the Father had sent him to do.

When we read the record of the life and conduct of our Master and Great Teacher, the lessons he taught us, and the examples he gave, we can not help but think of the deep fountain of heavenly wisdom and knowledge he has opened for us in his teachings, and the great blessings and promises he has given us in his word, if we do the will as he revealed it to us in the Gospel. Resting our hopes on him, we shall be forever happy, and when he shall appear, we shall also appear with him in glory, and shall be like him and see him as he is.

When I meditate on these glorious themes, I get lost in the love of God, and am made to exclaim with the apostle Paul, "O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out! For who hath known the mind of the Lord? or who hath been his counsellor? Or who hath first given to him, and it shall be recompensed unto him again? For of him, and through him, and to him, are all things: to whom be glory for ever. Amen." Rom. 11: 33–36.

THE RUM TRAFFIC.

SELECTED BY J. L SWITZER.

Dr. Cogswell says: "Taverners and grocers should not sell ardent spirits, seriously remembering that the money acquired by the sale of spirituous liquors is the price of fortune, health, happiness, reputation, body and soul, and will be dissipated, like the morning cloud and early dew, before the solar beams."

John Wesley declared, "That the men who traffic in ardent spirits, and sell to all who will buy, are poisoners general; that they murder his majesty's subjects by wholesale; neither does their eye pity or spare. And what is their gain? Is it not the blood of these men? Who would envy their large estates and sumptuous palaces? A curse of God is on their gardens, their walks, their groves; a fire that burns to the nethermost hell. Blood, blood is there; the foundation, the floor, the walks, the roof are stained with blood. And canst thou hope, O man of blood, though thou art clothed in scarlet and fine linen, and farest sumptuously every day, canst thou hope to deliver down the fields of blood to the third generation? Not so. There is a God in the heavens, therefore thy name shall be rooted out like as those whom thou hast destroyed, both body and soul. Thy memorial shall perish with thee."

The Rev. Austin Dickenson, of New York, in an address to those who distil and sell ardent spirits, said: "You are creating and sending out the materials of disorder, crime, poverty, disease and intellectual and moral degradation. You are contributing to perpetuate one of the sorest scourges of our world. And the scourge can never be removed till those deadly fires which you have kindled shall be put out."

Dr. Beecher has remarked: "The dealers in this liquid poison of ardent spirits may be compared to men who should advertise for sale, consumptions, and fevers, and rheumatisms, and palsies, and apoplexies. But would our public authorities permit such traffic? No. The public voice would be heard at once, for the punishment of such enemies of our race; and the rulers that would not take speedy vengeance, would be execrated and removed. But now the men who deal out this slow poison are licensed by law, and they talk about their constitutional rights, and plead that they are pursuing lawful callings. Where lies the difference in criminality between the dram-seller who administers the slow, but certain death, and the public murderer? The former is licensed in his wickedness by law, the other must be hanged."

Judge Daggett, of Connecticut, said: "On every grog-shop should be inscribed in capital letters: 'The way to hell; going down to the chambers of death!'"

"It is a very encouraging fact," said Dr. Cogswell, "that many of our tavern-keepers have banished spirits from their bars;" and I would like to add that it is much more encouraging that one great star, in the glorious galaxy of powers that be, has banished spirits entirely from all her borders, and others are trying to do so with all their might.

The extracts given above are copied from an article in "Porter's Rhetorical Reader," and were written many years ago. It is a consoling thought that such faithful, pointed, pungent sentiments are never lost, but now, in after years, we enjoy their fruits in the glorious uprisings of moral sentiment against the drinking habit.

As a sequal to "The Rumseller's Proposal to Satan," let me quote to you a piece of poetry, published years ago in the Philadelphia Casket,

"THE VICTIM."

"Hand me the bowl, ye jovial band,"
He said, "'twill rouse my mirth,"
But conscience seized his trembling hand
And dashed the cup to earth.

He looked around, he blushed, he laughed,
He sipp'd the sparkling wine:
In it he read, "Who drinks this draught
Shall dig a murderer's grave."

He started up, like one from sleep,
And trembled for his life;
He gazed and saw—his children weep,
He saw his weeping wife.

In his deep dream he had not felt
Their agonies and fears:
But now he saw them as they knelt
To plead with prayers and tears.

But the foul fiend her hateful spell
Threw o'er his wilder'd mind,
He saw in every hope a hell;
He was to reason blind.

He grasped the bowl to seek relief:
No more his conscience said:
His bosom friend was sunk in grief,
His children begg'd for bread.

Through haunts of horror and of strife,
He passed down life's dark tide.
He cursed his beggar'd babes and wife,
He cursed his God—and died.

Monmouth, Kans.

TOILING ON.

BY LEE BARNHART.

If we want to be true followers of Christ, we must labor for his cause. It should be every Christian's duty to work for Jesus. Work is an important part of our Christian race, for Christ says, "He that loveth me, keepeth my commandments." So, if we love him, we must follow in his footsteps, for we all shall be judged according to our deeds.

O sinner, come to Christ while you have time and opportunity, for there is a night coming, in which no man can work! Jesus says, "He that knoweth the will of my Father and doeth it not, to him it is sin." Then do not put it off till it is everlastingly too late! Do not wait until it will be said, at the day of judgment, to those on the left hand, "Depart from me, ye cursed, into everlasting fire, prepared for the devil and his angels." Matt. 25: 41. Just stop and reflect for a moment, what a dreadful death that will be! There will be gnashing of teeth, and pain which shall never, never cease.

Let us look at Matt. 25: 34, and see what Jesus has promised to the faithful: "Then shall the King say unto them on the right hand, Come, ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world." Oh, what a blessed thought! We are to go home with the Holy Child Jesus, and walk the shining courts of heaven with the holy angels of God forever and ever! These happy meetings which we enjoy here below are only a foretaste of that glorious meeting over there. Then, my Christian friends, let us hope and trust! Let us watch and pray, and labor till the Master comes!

Roanoke, Ill.

"It is not selfish to be correct in your dealings."

The Gospel Messenger,

A Weekly at $1.50 per Annum.

PUBLISHED BY

The Brethren's Publishing Co.

D. L. MILLER, - - - - - - Office Editor.

J. B. BRUMBAUGH, } - - - - Associate Editors.
J. G. ROYER, }

JOS. AMICK, - - - - - Business Manager.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE,
R. H. Miller, S. S. Mohler, Daniel Hays.

☞Communications for publication should be legibly written with BLACK ink on ONE side of the paper only. Do not attempt to interline, or to put on one page what ought to occupy two.

☞Anonymous communications will not be published

☞Do not mix business with articles for publication. Keep your communications on separate sheets from all business.

☞Time is precious. We always have time to attend to business and to answer questions of importance, but please do not subject us to needless answering of letters.

☞The MESSENGER is mailed each week to all subscribers. If the address is correctly entered on our list, the paper must reach the person to whom it is addressed. If you do not get your paper, write us, giving particulars.

☞When changing your address, please give your FORMER as well as your FUTURE address in full, so as to avoid delay and misunderstanding.

☞Remittances should be made by Post-office Money Order, Drafts on New York or Chicago, or Registered Letters, made payable and addressed to "Brethren's Publishing Co., Mount Morris, Ill.," or "Brethren's Publishing Co., Huntingdon, Pa."

☞Always remit to the office from which you order your goods, no matter from where you receive them.

☞Do not send personal checks or drafts on interior banks, unless you send with them 25 cents each, to pay for collection.

☞Entered at the Post-office at Mount Morris, Ill., as second-class matter.

Mount Morris, Ill., - - - - - Aug. 20, 1889.

50 Cts. pays for the GOSPEL MESSENGER from Aug. 1 to the end of 1889. Show this to your neighbors and ask them to subscribe.

ONE was baptized at Lanark, Ill., on Sunday, the 11th inst.

THE Brethren at Dayton, Ohio, are pushing the work on their new house of worship and will soon have it ready for services.

BRO. I. J. ROSENBERGER is at present laboring for the Brethren at Webb Summit, Hicking Co., Ohio, where he will remain several weeks.

BRO. WM. A. ANTHONY has changed his post-office address to Clay Hill, Franklin Co., Pa. His correspondents will please make a note of this.

BRO. JOHN W. METZGER, of Indiana, is now in Canada and will labor for the Brethren in the Dominion. His address, for the present, will be Gormley, Ontario, Canada.

BRO. H. HILDRETH, of Buena Vista, Colo., would like to know if there is a church of the Brethren nearer Buena Vista than that of Longmont, Colorado. Will some one who knows, write him?

BRO. A. M. DICKEY, of Melbourne, Iowa, writes, under date of the 7th, as follows: "We received four into church fellowship by baptism within the last two weeks, all heads of families. Prospects are good for more."

CHRIST built no church, wrote no book, left no money, erected no monuments; yet show me ten square miles anywhere on earth without Christianity, where the life of man and purity of woman are respected, and I will give up Christianity. —Prof. Drummond.

BRO. LANDON WEST writes: "Let every servant of God proclaim a fast for himself and pray mightily to God for help in the work."

BRO. J. G. ROYER has been spending a few days with the Brethren at Lanark, and has held a few meetings. As a result, under God's blessing, several have been received into church fellowship by baptism.

ELD. SAMUEL MURRAY and wife, of River, Ind., have been visiting at Lanark and Mt. Morris. They came to Lanark to attend the funeral of sister Murray's son, Bro. David Eshelman. Bro. Murray bears his fourscore years well and appears to be enjoying good health.

BRO. WM. LYON, of Union Bridge, Md., writes: "After having spent over one month among the Brethren of North-eastern Ohio, at their request I hastily pen this communication to inform them of my safe arrival home. For the present let this suffice. May the hand of our kind and merciful Father ever lead and guide you all is my prayer."

BRO. J. E. YOUNG, of Beatrice, Nebr., writes as follows: "While some grow cold and backslide, others come to the help of the Lord. Saturday one of the unfortunate in this life came eighteen miles on the train in order that he might be received into the church of his choice. He has been blind for over two years. But physical blindness does not obscure the heavenly light. 'I am the Light of the world.' May Jesus guide into the way of light and life."

BY request of Bro. Abram Leedy we give the following notice a place in these columns: "We would like to have the address of all the members in Morton County, Kansas, and South-eastern Colorado, and J. C. Funderburg's address in particular. We had his address but have lost it. If some brother that sees this notice will drop a card addressed to either the writer, Abram Leedy, Hugoton, Stevens Co., Kans., or Z. Henricks, Conductor, Grant Co., Kans., they will do us a great favor."

THE series of Tracts entitled, "Adventism Refuted in a Nutshell," by Eld. D. M. Canright, of which we gave an extended notice in a recent issue of the MESSENGER, is well calculated to show the fallacies of the doctrine advocated by these people. Elder Canright is thoroughly posted on the question, having been for twenty-eight years a leader among the Adventists. He has given the subject the most thorough and comprehensive investigation, and he speaks as one who knows. The set of Tracts, ten in number, are sold at 25 cts. per copy, postage prepaid; by the dozen, $2 40; postage prepaid. If you want to be posted on this subject, send for the tracts. Our ministers especially should read these tracts carefully so as to be able to meet the question when it comes to them.

We have repeatedly given notice in these columns that we do not publish anonymous articles, and yet we receive communications almost every week without the name of the writer. Either those who write them do not read the notices, or else they must conclude that we do not mean what we say. Many very good articles and interesting bits of correspondence find a resting-place in the waste-basket because the writer failed to sign his name. Just now we have before us a well-written and interesting account of a meeting held at Bareville, Pa., and we wish the writer had signed it, for we would like to publish it. We write this as we drop the communication into the waste-basket, and repeat again, If you write for the MESSENGER don't forget to sign your name to your communication.

ORDERS for the "Miller and Sommer Debate" are coming in encouragingly. Up to this date we have received and filled orders for 560 copies. We hope our agents and the Brethren generally, will assist us in getting the book circulated.

"A PATIENT English gentleman, who collects statistics, brings out some figures to help the cause of peace. It seems that from 1852 to 1877, war killed 1,948,000 people, and what is still more wonderful, the killing of each man cost more than $10,000. The total cost was $12,065,000,000; so that peace has its good points from an economical side.

A BROTHER asks us whether it is right for members of the church to attend soldiers' reunions, where the spirit of war is fostered. Looking at this question from the stand-point that we, as a church, profess to occupy in relation to war, it seems to us that there can only be one answer to the query. If there is any one thing more strongly urged than another in the Gospel of Jesus Christ, it is that of peace and good will to all men. Our Master was pre-eminently a man of peace and his kingdom is one of everlasting peace. The spirit of war is as foreign to the kingdom of Christ as is the spirit of Satan. Holding these views, the Brethren make peace one of the cardinal principles of their faith, and those who become members of the church promise, before being received, to carry out our peace principles and to take no part in war. This being true, how utterly inconsistent it is for our Brethren to attend meetings of any kind where the spirit of war is fostered and encouraged! Those who do so certainly violate a solemn promise and obligation taken upon themselves when they enlisted under the banner of the cross and became subjects of Christ's kingdom. No, brethren, let us rather labor more earnestly for peace and set our faces firmly against anything that savors of war. One of the charges made by infidels against Christianity is that its followers have engaged in bloody wars, and even the eminent church historian, Dr. Schaff, gives place to a similar idea. It is an error. If they should say "so-called" Christians the truth would be on their side. A Christian war is a misnomer. Such a thing never existed. The spirit of war comes from beneath, and is "sensual and devilish," but the spirit of Christ is "pure, peaceable, gentle, easy to be entreated, full of mercy and good fruits." My brother, have you this spirit in your heart, this wisdom which cometh down from above? If so, you may be absolutely certain that it will not lead you where the spirit of war is fostered.

COMPLAINING.

IT is quite common for people who fail in any undertaking in which they engage to find fault with somebody and to fret over their ill success. In this way they succeed in making themselves miserable and, by sitting down and fretting over their losses, lose golden opportunities to retrieve at least in part what they have lost. The folly of such a course may be illustrated by the following incident, related by Arvine.

Two gardeners, who were neighbors, had their crops of early peas killed by frost; one of them came to condole with the other on this misfortune, "Ah!" said he, "how unfortunate we have been, neighbor! do you know I have done nothing but fret ever since? But you seem to have a fine, healthy crop coming up already; what are these?" "These," said the other gardener; "Why, these are what I sowed immediately after my loss." "What! coming up already?" cried the fretter. "Yes, while you were fretting I was working."

"What? don't you fret when you have a loss?" "Yes; but I always put off fretting until after I have repaired the mischief." "Why, then you have no need to fret at all." "True," replied the industrious gardener, "that's the very reason why I put fretting off."

There is a good deal of practical common sense in the course pursued by the industrious gardener, and those who are disposed to fret and complain when they meet a loss, will do well to profit by it. To fret and complain does no good but may do much harm. To become disheartened, and to get what is commonly known as the "blues" don't pay. There is nothing helpful in it for the one who is afflicted or for those with whom he comes in contact. People who get the "blues," and fret and worry over their misfortunes simply waste their time and disqualify themselves for useful and successful work.

This disposition is found at times among church members and manifests itself in complaining about the church and her work. Nothing seems to be going just right for them. A little church trouble or some minor difficulty is magnified and grows at once from a mole-hill to a mountain. These people will pour into the ear of the willing or unwilling listener alike, the burden of their complaints. They really seem to take a kind of melancholy pleasure in recounting their imaginary troubles. They never seem to think for a moment that they are doing an injury to the church by the course they are pursuing. They seem to forget that fretting and complaining never settles a difficulty and only makes a trouble worse, adding fuel to the flame already kindled.

If we trust in God as we should, knowing that he does all things well, and that the light afflictions that come to us in this life, will, if we are properly exercised by them, work out for us great good in the end, we will be much less disposed to fret and complain when our affairs do not go just to our notion.

But there is another phase of complaining that we want to look at. It is the disposition so often manifested by those who fail in business enterprises to lay the blame on others, and to complain of them. In looking at their lack of success, which is often the result of their own inability, they can not see that they are the responsible parties, but having considerable confidence in themselves, they put the blame upon some one who may have incidentally advised them to embark in the business of which they have made a failure, and at once enter serious complaints against the innocent party. On the other hand, if advice has been given and success is attained, the credit is all self-appropriated. So true is this that it may be said, if you advise a man to make an investment and it proves profitable, he will place all the credit to his shrewdness and business ability, but if he fails he will place all the blame on you.

Striking examples of this disposition may be seen among those who purchased land in Kansas, Nebraska, and other Western States a few years ago. Heavy crops of grain and a large immigration caused an advance in land in many places of over one hundred per cent, and you never heard a word of complaint against the land agents who had induced persons to purchase land. Everybody was happy and well satisfied and congratulated themselves that they had the foresight and business tact to get a body of land before the advance came. The advance in land stimulated speculation and now others, seeing that their more fortunate neighbors had done well by investing money in western land and town lots, concluded to try their hand at it, and they purchased at the sharp advance. The result was, what is known as a "boom," set in, and values advanced rapidly. People became excited and invested. Then came the failure in crops several years in succession; drought and chinch-bugs nipped many an incipient boom in the bud. Those who invested could not realize on their property; they needed money; tried to sell but could get no offers, and when it became apparent to them that, instead of making a large per cent on their investment, they were to suffer a loss, you could hear complaints long and loud against the LAND AGENT. Of course, many who invested bore their loss and placed the responsibility where it properly belonged,—on themselves. Now it must be apparent to every one who will stop long enough to think candidly on this subject that if those who invested in the last instance had been as successful as those who invested first, no word of complaint would have been heard. Hence it is apparent that the complaints are not to be traced to the derelictions of the land agent so much as to the fact that the investor failed to make money.

We are not to be understood, even in the remotest degree, as defending those who, by the many tricks known to the trade and by misrepresentation, induce people to invest their money where it is doubtful if they will ever see it again, or those who engineer "booms" for the purpose of taking money out of the pockets of the unwary, under false pretenses, and by misrepresenting to them in glowing colors the prospects for large profits. Such practices, to speak of them in the mildest terms, can only be characterized as dishonest and disreputable, but there are those who engage in selling land who do not stoop to such practices, and who, believing that what they have to sell is worth what they ask for it, do an honest and legitimate business, and they should not be made to bear the blame of dry weather, crop failures, and other causes that lead to lower prices for land.

It seems to us that when an investment is offered for our consideration we should carefully examine the proposition, get all possible information on it, and then, using our judgment, accept or decline as it may seem best to us. If we accept and in the end suffer loss, we should have the manhood to bear it and not put the blame on some one else and enter complaint against them. To pursue the latter course is for us to say that we did not use our own minds but were simply led by others, and such a conclusion does not speak well of our intelligence.

The course indicated in the last paragraph should be followed in making donations for charitable purposes as well as in making investments. Weigh the matter well and give not so much out of sympathy as from a sense of duty. If the cause for which the donation is asked is a good one, —one upon which you can ask God's blessing, and you have means, then give because it is right to give and wrong not to give. If you give out of sympathy you may give to an unworthy cause, or you may give to a good cause and when your sympathy cools down you may be sorry you gave and then find fault and complain about the solicitor who may be discharging a duty that is anything but pleasant to himself. We should in all things cultivate a disposition not to fret and complain, but at all times to trust in the Living God and do our best, and if we suffer loss in this world's goods from injudicious investments or other causes, let us not spend precious time in brooding over our so-called misfortunes and fretting over what can not be helped, but let us learn a lesson from the industrious gardener.

LEAVES FROM OUR NOTE-BOOK.

OUR last notes were written in July, and now we are almost surprised to find that it is August 8. Then we were at Mt. Morris, Ill., and now away out in the country, eleven miles from Beatrice, Neb. Here is where father-in-law, Archy Van Dyke, lives. Six years or more had passed by since we last visited our folks, and it was a great pleasure to meet them once more. Few changes have occurred except that some of the younger members of the family have grown larger. Then, too, father and mother Van Dyke show some slight marks that Old Time makes on us all. Taking into consideration their hard physical labor and the care and responsibility of rearing a family of fifteen children, all of which has been done so well, we are only surprised that they are still so vigorous and enjoy life so well. The family is somewhat scattered. Two sons are in Oregon, one in Colorado, a daughter in Kansas and one in Pennsylvania. It was expected that all would be at home the 17th of September, but on account of some business matters the sons in Oregon could not come until later in September. We could not remain so long and now the reunion idea is abandoned. It was a sad thought to us all that our expectations of all meeting could not be realized, but while we are deprived of this privilege and enjoyment on the 17th of September, we can look forward with bright anticipations to a reunion on a grander scale. The reunions of life are only for a day, and the pain of separation almost overbalances the joy, but when we meet to part no more, our joy will be complete. This prospective reunion is bright because all the family but one, a boy of eleven years, have given their hearts to Christ. Lambert, although but a boy, it seems, has been thinking of this important matter and, we hope, ere long will consecrate his young life to Christ. To the absent members of the family, and to all, we give these words of admonition: Be faithful to the solemn vows you have made. Do not grow weary in well-doing and faint by the way. Adhere closely to the church of your choice. It has its faults because it is composed of fallible beings, but your greatest concern should be that you are pure and good. Be sure that you give evidence of purity in your own lives. This is not done by drifting worldward. We do it by becoming more dead to the world and more alive in Christ Jesus. Since we came here we have attended the regular Sabbath services and are pleased with the apparent growth and activity of the church here. This is true of the North Beatrice church and within the last year two neat and commodious meeting-houses have been built,—one in Beatrice and the other out in the country about six miles. Of the church and its work we will have more to say in a future communication. To-morrow we expect to go down into Kansas. The season in this State is unusually fruitful. Apples are plenty. There will also be an abundance of grapes. The oats and flax crops are large and the prospects for corn have never been better. J. B. F.

Missionary and Tract Work Department.

"Upon the first day of the week, let every one of you lay by him in store as God hath prospered him, that there be no gatherings when I come" 1 Cor. 16: 2.

"Every man as he purposeth in his heart, so let him give. Not grudgingly or of necessity, for the Lord loveth a cheerful giver" 2 Cor. 9: 7.

HOW MUCH SHALL WE GIVE?

"Every man according to his ability." "Every one as God hath prospered him." "Every man as he purposeth in his heart, so let him give." "For if there be first a willing mind, it is accepted according to that a man hath, and not according to that he hath not." 2 Cor. 8: 12.

Organization of Missionary Committee.

DANIEL VANIMAN, Foreman, - - Virden, Ill.
D. L. MILLER, Secretary and Treasurer, - Mt. Morris, Ill.
G. B. ROYER, Assistant Secretary, - - Mt. Morris, Ill.

Organization of Book and Tract Work.

S. W. HOOVER, Foreman, - - - Dayton, Ohio.
S. BOCK, Secretary and Treasurer - - Dayton, Ohio.

☞All donations intended for Missionary Work should be sent to D. L. MILLER, Mt. Morris, Ill.

☞All money for Tract Work should be sent to S. BOCK, Dayton, Ohio.

☞Money may be sent by Money Order, Registered Letter, or Drafts on New York or Chicago. Do not send personal checks, or drafts on interior towns, as it costs 25 cents to collect them.

☞Solicitors are requested to faithfully carry out the plan of Annual Meeting, that all our members be solicited to contribute at least twice a year for the Mission and Tract Work of the Church.

☞Notes for the Endowment Fund can be had by writing to the Secretary of either Work.

WHY IS IT?

BY J. S. FLORY.

As intimated in a previous paper, we will present a few reasons, apparent to our mind, why it is that some of the children of our brethren and sisters are seduced into the church relationship of other denominations. We believe that the saying of Solomon usually holds good, that if a child is trained up in the way he should go he will not depart from it. The Mormons make it a rule to daily teach their children their Catechism, and the result is that it is a difficult thing to make anything else out of them but Mormons. Let us learn a lesson from this and other equally glaring facts, that early education is what tells in the formation of mind and character.

There was a world of meaning in the answer by a mother to another who asked the question how soon the parent should begin with the child in order to plant right principles in its heart. Said she, "Begin twenty years before the child is born." That is, the mother herself should have right principles, that the child might inherit a predisposition to do what is right.

It is a solemn fact that if parents themselves are worldly-minded, grasping for wealth, indifferent to their religious duties, neglectful of church privileges, or have a petulant spirit, finding fault with the church, secretly harboring improper thoughts concerning members of the church or of the church in general, neglecting prayer and religious meditations, the children will largely partake of the same spirit. It is quite natural they should.

There is another fault, which, if indulged in, may spoil even children who, in their youth, have had proper training, and that is the custom some parents have of talking favorably of the preaching of other denominations, and going so far as to say, in the hearing of their children, that there are good Christian people in all churches. It is all right to give all persons credit for their good motives, and commend them for their good qualities, but there should always follow in the line of such conversation a supplementary thought that good motives or good qualities, without entire obedience to God, will not be sufficient to ensure salvation.

Always impress the mind of the child with the thought that not every one who says, "Lord, Lord," shall enter into the kingdom of heaven, but he that doeth the will of our Father. If parents would, in this way, sway the mind of their children in the proper channel of true religion, there would be but few, if any, of their children led astray into the deceptive influences of popular religion. They should be taught that to be a good person with good graces and commendable traits of character, is no evidence of a truly regenerate mind.

It takes something more than earnestness and zeal to fill the true measure of saintship. Infidels, even, sometimes have many good qualities about them. If, when their children attend other churches, the parents would ever impress the mind of the child with the fact that there is such a thing as having a form of godliness without the power, such a thing as a profession without possession, and that there is no salvation outside of, or independent of, a faith that will produce entire obedience to God, there would be but few led astray.

This is a matter that every parent should seriously consider. Oh, the sadness of that thought, a child,—bone of our bone, flesh of our flesh,—our own blood, to live deceived, die deceived, and go to judgment deceived, and hear the dread sentence, "Depart from me; I never knew you"!

Another serious reason we may mention, and that is the imprudence of parents calling up, in conversation before children, church troubles, or speaking of the faults of members of the church. In no other way can the affections of a child be more successfully alienated from the church than in this way.

In order to gratify that inordinate and growing disposition to let the tongue wag, fearful risks are run, even the risk of souls being driven away from the church, to be shipwrecked on the breakers of skepticism.

Whatever may be the disposition of parents, for God's sake, for the sake of your children's eternal interests, do not disgust the young, tender mind of your offspring with the sores and disorders that may be festering or healing in the diseased members of the church!

EVIDENCES OF THE TRUE CHURCH.

BY J. S. MOHLER.

Chapter One. The Church Defined.

THE original term for "church" is ecclesia, and means "called out," "separate from." The Apostle Peter, in writing of those "called out," says, "But ye are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, an holy nation, a peculiar people." 1 Pet. 2: 9. Paul says of the church, It "is the church of the living God, the pillar and ground of the truth." 1 Tim. 3: 15.

The church is an organized body of people, having Christ for its head. "Even as Christ is the head of the church: and he is the Savior of the body." Eph. 5: 23.

Through the organization of the church, God designs to make known, and establish in the hearts of his people, the principles of an everlasting kingdom. "And in the days of these kings shall the God of heaven set up a kingdom, which shall never be destroyed." Dan. 2: 44.

In the midst of the onward march of nations, the wonderful inventions of men, great intellectual culture, a high civilization worldward, God, through the medium of the church, is preparing a people from among those in the humbler walks of life, and the poor, to be subjects of an everlasting kingdom.

The principles of the subjects of that kingdom must be begotten in this life. "Except a man be born of water, and of the Spirit, he can not enter the kingdom of heaven." John 3: 5.

Among the principles thus begotten are truth, honesty, obedience, humility, charity, patience, temperance, holiness, etc.

In the organized capacity of the church, those principles are fostered and developed within each member, thus constituting a matured and a beautiful Christian manhood.

In the church, all members, truly begotten, are mutual helps to each other; as the eye, the ear, the hands, the feet, are all mutual helps to the body. The term really means all truly,—spiritually,—begotten children. Without the church, the redeeming and saving of the human race would be an impossibility.

HEARING THE CHURCH.

BY P. SHOEMAKER.

WHEN we came to the church, we were all willing to hear the church, and, no doubt, we all meant to be obedient at the time. Our Annual Conference calls on every member to help defray the expense of spreading the Gospel more extensively. Calls have been made for several years. Some are hearing the church by giving, but thousands are not giving anything. Will such church members have oil in their lamps when the Bridegroom comes? I do not think so. We had better buy our oil now, or the hour will come when it will be too late.

We are commanded to be living stones in God's building, and that we must bear a part of the weight of the building, or we had better not been placed there. Neither does the church want drones. These do not work.

If all were do nothing members, the church would soon go down. Our ministers can not do the preaching and pay all their traveling expenses, thereby letting their families come to want. Supposing we turn this thing around, and ask ourselves whether we, if in their place, would want them to treat us so. I am glad to see that some responded to the ten-dollar call for the General Mission Fund. My proposition is that one thousand members send in $10 00 each, within one year. This can easily be done, if we can only get the consent of our own will. I know the time will come when we will wish that we had done so.

Notes from our Correspondents.

"As cold water to a thirsty soul, so is good news from a far country."

—Bro. G. M. Noah, of Nora Springs, Iowa, writes: "Our Sunday-school is progressing nicely. All seem to take an interest in the school. We read a chapter in the New Testament, and after singing a hymn and engaging in prayer, we proceed with our lesson, and do the best we can in asking and answering questions. We find the Brethren's Quarterly to be just the thing we want in our school."

—Bro. Daniel Ritchey, of the Hopewell church, Pa., writes: "Our quarterly council, which was held July 20, was one of much enjoyment. Not much business came before the meeting. Solicitors were chosen for the purpose of collecting funds for missionary purposes. Though our church is somewhat slow in this work, yet we appreciate, none the less, the great importance of the missionary cause. We appointed our love-feast for Oct. 5."

—Under date of Aug. 6, Bro. Samuel W. Mohler, of Octavia, Nebr., writes: "The Brethren of the Blue River Valley church, Nebr., held their quarterly council and found the church to be in peace and union. We decided to have our love-feast Sept. 7 and 8, at Bro. John B. Keller's, one mile west and one mile north of Octavia. Brethren coming by railroad will be met at all trains by notifying us in time."

—Under date of Aug. 6, Bro. David Bowman, of Glensted, Mo., writes: "Our quarterly church meeting in the Prairie View church passed off very pleasantly Aug. 3. We realized how pleasant it is when brethren all agree. Our series of meetings will commence Aug. 31. Our love-feast is appointed for Sept. 10. I am, at this writing, engaged in a series of meetings in the Walnut Creek church, Johnson County. So far the interest in the meetings is good."

—Bro. Lewis Workman, of Pierceton, Indiana, writes: "With sorrow I chronicle the death of Daton, a son of Bro. Isaac and Mary A. Connell, residing about four miles south of this place. Daton met his death in Rockford, Washington Territory, July 5. He was at work in his brother's store, at that place, until late in the evening of July 4, when he walked out to where some people were witnessing a display of fire-works. He had hardly been there five minutes, when a rocket, thrown by a careless hand, struck him, entering his neck behind the left ear, and coming out at the throat. He lived only about four hours after the accident. His brother Stanford brought the remains home to Indiana, where the funeral services took place July 13, conducted by Bro. A. H. Puterbaugh, assisted by Eld. J. Snell."

—Bro. T. B. Digman, of the Oakland church, Md., writes: "Our quarterly council at the Fair View meeting-house occurred July 19. There was considerable business, which was settled to the satisfaction of all present. This part of the congregation is in good working order. Bro. I. W. Abernathy is the Superintendent of a live Sunday-school. July 20 was our quarterly council at the Pine Grove meeting-house. This is in the lower end of our congregation. Considerable business was transacted here, but all satisfactorily disposed of. Taking all things into consideration, I think that our congregation is in good working order, and alive to the interest of the Master. At this place we also have Sunday-school and prayer-meeting. One was baptized on Sunday, so you see that we are, by the help of the Lord, pushing on the good work. Pray for us that we may be more devoted to the great Head of the church! Our love-feasts will be held Aug. 31 and Sept. 1 at the first-named place, and Sept. 14 and 15 at the last-named place."

CORRESPONDENCE.

"Write what thou seest, and send it unto the churches."

☞Church News solicited for this Department. If you have had a good meeting, send a report of it, so that others may rejoice with you. In writing give name of church, county and State. Be brief! Notes of Travel should be as short as possible. Land Advertisements are not solicited for this Department. We have an advertising page, and, if necessary, will issue supplements.

From River, Ind.

I JUST read sister Gertrude A. Flory's article in MESSENGER No. 30, page 470. It so stirred up my spirit that I can not be silent. I pray God to bless the sisters in the church that are yet loyal to the teachings of the apostles, and the order of the house of God,—the church. May God give them courage to continue to exhort and admonish those who are not so loyal to the order of God's house.

About fifty years ago, when I lived in Ohio, I had a near neighbor,—one who was no church member, but he and I often talked on the subject of Christianity. I often thought he was near the kingdom. In a conversation on Christianity he, at one time, said, "O, Samuel, I have often stood and looked at your sisters, seated around the Communion table, with their white caps on, and felt reminded of the angels in heaven." This he said with tears streaming down over his face.

I once asked a young lady what she thought of our meeting, as it was the first Communion she had ever attended. She said, "Oh, it was the prettiest sight I ever saw. I want mother to see it." I do not see why sisters should be ashamed to wear the cap when the world admires it. The apostle gives us the idea that there is power in it, and sisters should have it on their heads because of the angels.

I was present at an Annual Meeting where the covering question was left for the sisters to decide. Several thousand sisters rose to their feet and said that the covering should be a cap.

Those sisters who are a little careless about wearing the cap, should carefully read the article referred to. Those who are established in the order should send the article to those who do not take the GOSPEL MESSENGER. May we all be workers together, and work harmoniously for the welfare of the church! SAMUEL MURRAY.

A Call for Volunteers.

IN the great and glorious cause of our Master we want volunteers,—men that are willing to hazard their lives for the Gospel. We want men who "know no one after the flesh."

To the successful evangelist, integrity of character is a necessary qualification. Such men are wanted in the various mission fields. Jesus has said, "Go ye." The call comes from every-where, "Come and preach." There are four or five counties around us, where preaching by our Brethren is anxiously asked for. The houses of different denominations are freely opened to us. At one place I preached in a Methodist church to a large audience on the "Faith and Practice of the German Baptists." This sermon was thought to satisfy them, but they are very anxious to hear still more. I had a number of cards, called the "Brethren's Card," that I wished to distribute, and I inquired if any one in the congregation would distribute the cards. After reading the card, a local Methodist preacher offered his services to distribute the "little silent missionary."

A noted Baptist preacher passed me in the road a few days ago, introduced himself and invited me to come and preach in his church. This brought to my mind the great revolution that has taken place in the churches. The time has come when we can preach the Truth in most of the churches by their consent. I have calls from different denominations that would require my services during the whole season, in this and adjoining Counties. Four of these should have two preachers each.

In portions of the Brotherhood there are from three to eight preachers listening to a brother preaching, while the border churches have all their ministers at work. Bro. Connor is alone in an adjoining County, with more calls than he can fill. I have many calls which I can not fill. Many of you will say, "I wish I were with you, but my circumstances will not permit, as I have a farm here to work and a family to support." Another says, "I am not able, and have not the means." I might enumerate many other excuses, but will make some suggestions. I call your attention to Paul, who lived in a hired house two years. You can do likewise. If you have a farm where there are plenty of preachers, rent it out. "Oh," you say, "rent out my nice farm? Why, it will be ruined. I must take care of it." That is the trouble. We are so much inclined to take care of carnal things, while we had better make sure of an inheritance on the new earth. Here storms, fires, and floods may ruin the accumulation of years; hence, if you can not or do not want to sell your farm, run the risk, for Jesus' sake, to rent it. Come South; there are many farms to rent, and there is plenty of room to preach. If you have no farm, but have means, buy a farm and preach. If you have no means, come and oversee some man's farm, who wants a trusty man to look after his interest. There are plenty of such places, where one can make a good living for a family. If you are a merchant or mechanic, open a store or shop and preach. If you are no preacher, come and live Christ.

The time has come when the Gospel can be preached all over this land. Let us be faithful, so that we may be counted worthy of an inheritance in the age to come! JACOB HEDRICK.

Midland, Va.

Man Proposes but God Disposes.

FOR several years wife and I had come to the conclusion that whenever the Annual Meeting would be in Virginia we would take a trip back to the place of my nativity. Accordingly we commenced making arrangements to attend the Meeting, but about three weeks before the time of starting, my beloved companion was taken sick with dropsy of the chest, and jaundice, and our Heavenly Father took her to him June 5.

After she was laid away to rest, kind friends insisted that I had better take the trip under contemplation, as it would afford, to some degree, a relief from the sorrowful occasion.

Starting from Nevada I found that the members from the West were all gone. I got to St. Louis just fifteen minutes too late for the eastern train, so I had to lay over all day. I realized, to some extent, what it is to be late. Sinner, take warning that you do not put off taking the Gospel train until it is too late. No doubt thousands are lamenting at this hour, because they put off their return to the Father's house until it was just a little too late.

I arrived on the Meeting grounds Tuesday morning in time for the meeting, which I enjoyed as well as could be expected under the circumstances. After the Meeting I spent about three weeks, in company with my sister from Illinois, visiting our relations. Two of my brothers I had not seen for thirty-five years.

I tried to preach upon several occasions. My mind, however, was not in a proper condition; but, thinking that it would likely be the last time I would ever have the opportunity of preaching in that vicinity, I thought proper to say something.

July 2 I started for home. Then came the trying hour. The presence of dear friends and brethren had, to some extent, filled the vacuum in my affections, but, alas, I must now go to that place I call home, and see the vacant room! No voice there of that dear one who was always so ready to meet me at the gate on my return from a mission of love! But, thanks be to God, our loss is her eternal gain. I felt that if it were God's will, I would rather be absent from the body and present with the Lord and my dear companion. But we must submit and labor a little while longer until the Master says, "It is enough." Although I will have to travel the rest of the journey alone, I trust Jesus will be with me. I have no family, and if I can sell my place, I expect to devote all my time and most of my means to the study of the Scriptures and the ministry of the Word. I have a beautiful home here, within two miles of one of the most thriving cities in the West, and would like to have some loyal brother take my place,—an elder, if possible,—to build up the cause here. I do not want my property to go into the hands of the unconverted, as it is near the cemetery and church lot, where we expect to build a house sometime. Any one wishing further information in regard to the property will please address me as below. S. CLICK.

Nevada, Mo.

Toward Sunset. No. 1.

WITHIN the last decade there has been great progress in the sanitary world. In a study of the situation, one would reach the deliberate conclusion that Colorado was meant to be the great sanitarium of the United States. Everybody should visit Colorado at least once, and refresh himself in that land of sunshine, pure air and varied scenery.

Persons, in quest of health, visiting that country, must respect altitude, and climb, step by step, among the pines, on up the road to recovery. What is said of its altitude may also be said of its healing waters. They are not found in a single well or spring. A patient's condition must be considered before he drinks from these health-restoring fountains. For instance, Clarke's magnetic mineral waters, now being shipped to almost every State in the Union, and drank in Pueblo by hundreds every day, are unsurpassed for the cure of Bright's disease of the kidneys, dyspepsia, bronchitis, skin and blood diseases, etc.; while persons with organic heart trouble and advanced consumption are advised not to use them, and so on, ad infinitum. No one spring suits everybody, except the pure mountain water; but, wisely used, in drinking and bathing, the mineral waters of Colorado, aided by its bracing atmosphere, with its beautiful scenery to cheer the patient, bring about wonderful results.

Life is short at best, and when we find ourselves living too fast it is well to stop and rest, and think soberly. Once arrived at this conclusion, I took leave of my family May 27, and boarded the train at Polo, Mo., on the C. M. & St. P. Railroad, bound for Kansas City. While rushing toward the setting sun, I thought of how our lives point "toward sunset." The great, surging sea of humanity, bound for this world's sanitarium, might well reflect that we are surely and speedily hastening to our final destination. Oh, that we might have a care to be partakers at the fountain of Jesus' blood, and have eternal life within!

At Kansas City I was joined by my son, Dr. D. W. Bosserman. Together we left Kansas City, May 28, on the Santa Fe Railroad, for Granada, Colo., where we stopped to visit my only two daughters and a little grandson. After spending two days at this place, my son took his departure for Denver to join other physicians in consultations pertaining their chosen profession.

While at Granada I visited an artesian well, of which there are a number along the Arkansas River. I also saw some fair-looking crops and cattle.

June 11 I took leave of my daughters, and again my course pointed westward. Arriving at Lamar, I spent the night in this pleasant place. It has a population of five or six hundred inhabitants, is nicely laid out, and shaded with catalpas. The surrounding country is under irrigation, and crops look promising.

On the 12th I left Lamar. After passing through an arid country, I finally arrived at the enterprising city of Pueblo, second in size to none in the State save Denver. Here the smelting-works are located, and the city is frequently termed "The Pittsburg of the West." Mayor Grome,—the right man in the right place,—is looking after the interests of the city in every respect that tends towards its peace and prosperity. The parks are being neatly fenced, cultivated and set out in shrubbery and trees. These "lungs of the city" are demanded by every consideration of beauty, health and expediency.

I left Pueblo on the 13th, for Beulah Springs. Beulah is on the south side of the St. Charles River, overlooking the open prairie. It is twenty-eight miles from Pueblo, with which it is connected by a "tally-ho" line. Beulah has innumerable medicinal springs, some of which have been developed, and are known as the "Soda," "Iron" and "Arsenic." They possess remarkable curative qualities, and have been utilized by invalids for years. On the top of a knoll is a fine flowing fountain, known by the name of its owner as Elliot Fountain. I left Beulah on the 15th, and returned to Pueblo, and from there went to Colorado Springs and Manitou. I left Manitou for Denver on the 17th.

At Denver I had the good fortune to meet Bro. George W. Fesler, who invited me to accompany him to his home at Longmont. We had a pleasant ride. Bro. Fesler had been visiting the churches in the San Luis Valley. He is a very enthusiastic worker and a kind-hearted man. Longmont is a lovely town, situated in a beautiful country, dotted with artificial lakes. We fished in these lakes, and caught fish by the hundreds. We also had some enjoyable boat-rides. I formed the acquaintance of Bro. Samuel Fesler, a brother to George, who also lives in Longmont. He added to the pleasure of my trip. I visited the families of brethren Bashor and Ullery, of Berthoud, near Longmont. In this section of country I found a good system of irrigation, with practical and satisfactory results in the way of fruits, grains and grasses Bro. Ullery has a timber claim proved up,—the only one I saw on my trip.

Hygiene, five miles distant from Longmont, is the home of Bro. Hepner. In this delightful place I formed the acquaintance of Bro. Leedy, a live church worker. I attended Sunday-school and preaching at the Brethren's meeting-house near this place, Sunday-school at Bro. Turner's, and social meeting at Bro. Weaver's, at Longmont, all on the same day. This was the most enjoyable feature of my trip.

May the grace of God sustain these Brethren in their efforts to occupy till he come!

J. E. BOSSERMAN.

Polo, Mo.

Scraps.

I COMMENCED this bit of correspondence a week ago, but having very little time to write, I laid it aside, disgusted with my own efforts to write anything edifying for so many readers. Since then, a young sister, having moved from here to an isolated place, writing to my little girl, said, "Tell your mamma to write more frequently for the MESSENGER. I seldom hear from the church there in any other way." If only this one lamb of the flock is encouraged to press onward by news from the place of her spiritual birth, a little good is accomplished, so I take up my pen again.

* * *

To-day, July 28, we had meeting at our home church (Waterside). Bro. Levi Stuckey spoke on the subject of "Prayer." Appropriate remarks were made also by brethren George Myers and D. Detwiler. At our children's meeting in May, at New Enterprise, Bro. J. Mohler told the children that they should close their eyes when they would kneel to pray. I have thought since it would be good advice to older people. I think the advice was meant for more than the children but I fear many did not take it. While taking care of children at meeting, when I could not kneel, I have been surprised to see so many members looking around and some even talking during prayer. To kneel down before the great God, in his holy sanctuary, and then gaze around and talk is a terrible sin, and such praying God will not accept of.

* * *

Another strange brother at our love-feast said that one of the surest evidences of our going back in the divine life was our absence from the house of worship. If this be true, there are scores of cold and indifferent Christians when we see so many empty seats.

* * *

Two very aged sisters were at our meeting today from Clover Creek,—sister Holsinger, widow of Bro. D. M. Holsinger, and sister Brumbaugh. Both have been visiting among their friends here. For a number of years sister Holsinger and her husband made their annual visit to this end of the cove. Since he died, she comes alone.

* * *

Bro. T. F. Imler and wife, of Waynesborough, Pa., spent a week or more visiting friends and members in Morrison's Cove recently. Bro. Imler preached at New Enterprise, July 7th. He did not enter upon the work lightly but with the deepest feeling. He referred in a touching manner to this being the place where he received his first religious impressions. Said he, "Then I sat back yonder, — a boy; now, with my brethren, I am pushed to the front. Were it not for this position, I would enjoy the services much better. In coming to this place, almost everything looked natural. There was, seemingly, not much change, but the old church is gone, which detracts somewhat from the impressiveness of the occasion." They spent the night of the 14th with us. This is his native village, where he and my husband had spent their boyhood days together. They talked over the past, of their present labors and we all kneeled around the family altar, imploring the Father's blessing for the future. We enjoyed their visit very much.

* * *

Something was said in the MESSENGER about the good behavior at the late Annual Meeting. Well, it was good, considering everything, but it would have been more to the credit of many young members there, had they tried to listen more, and not promenaded around so much.

* * *

I have been interested in the many expressions of gratitude to our Heavenly Father from so many of our Brethren, through the MESSENGER, for their safe return from the Annual Meeting in Virginia. I thought, during the dangerous journey, if all our brethren and sisters reach their homes in safety, it will be miraculous. I had given up going on account of the danger in traveling. Then I thought if we were faithful, our Father would lead us safely through as he had in the past. Our safe return to our dear little ones at home was one of the greatest pleasures of our life.

* *

Considerable has been said in the MESSENGER recently about the schools in the Brotherhood, fears that we have too many, etc. There are many of our brethren's children attending other schools. I do not know all their reasons for not patronizing our own schools. Some are thrown upon their own responsibilities and will go where they can get through the cheapest. More Brethren would send their children to our schools, I think, if they knew that the principles of the church, both by precept and example, were taught their children.

* * *

I guess one had better sign his full name to his articles. In No. 22, Bro. Nofziger calls me Bro. Replogle. I thank the brother for his correction. I was so informed when my friends moved there, and I had been watching the MESSENGER closely for an organization nearer. I am glad members are more numerous, and hope good may result from the mistake and correction.

EMMA A. REPLOGLE.

From Matuta, Washington County, Tenn.

BUSINESS may be sometimes, and often is, very closely and intimately connected with efforts of a moral and religious character. I, therefore, though not a member of the church of the Brethren but a life-long friend of many of its honest, industrious members, desire to call the attention of the readers of the MESSENGER to the New South, as a field of labor in which, I sincerely believe, they could not only be of great moral benefit, but one in which they would find rich reward in material prosperity.

I have spoken to several of the Brethren here in Tennessee, among them one of your young ministers,—P. D. Reed,—who lives near Limestone, Tenn., and who gave me encouragement in my suggestions. I refer you to your Bro. Moore, of Florida, and to my kind friend, Mr. Fred Sherfy, —once of Tennessee, afterwards of Kansas,— as men who know much about the South, the friendliness of its people, their earnest desire to see its agriculture, its manufacturing interests, and its moral and religious life advanced, and made what the rich blessings and mercies of heaven so freely give and permit. These men will say whether it is not now indeed a harvest ready for the Brethren.

T. F. JEFFRIES.

Treasurer's Report.

THE following is a report of the receipts of the Tract Fund of the North-eastern District of Kansas for the quarter ending June 30:

Anna Poister, Abilene,	$2 00
A sister, Hope,	1 97
Sister Merchant, St. Mays,	1 00
I H Crist, Olathe,	1 00
Pleasant Grove church,	2 75
Louisa Quiett, Ozawkie,	15
Sarah Brunton, Ozawkie,	50
Lucinda Lake, Ozawkie,	25
Sister Harnish, Ozawkie,	25
Sister Gee, Ozawkie,	10
Winnie M. Root, Ozawkie,	1 00
Fannie Root, Ozawkie,	50
Sarah Brunton, Ozawkie,	1 50
Sarah Brammell, Ozawkie,	1 00
Fannie Root, Ozawkie,	35
Sister Fishel, Ozawkie,	25
Winnie M. Root, Ozawkie,	1 50
Louisa Quiett, Ozawkie,	1 00
Susan Priddy, Ozawkie,	50
Margaret Priddy, Ozawkie,	25
Fannie Root, Ozawkie,	50
Annie Poister, Abilene,	1 50

WINNIE M. ROOT, Treas.

McPherson Notes.

ON last Saturday we held our quarterly council. A committee had been appointed to report at this meeting on the best manner of raising funds for the church. After reading what Paul says on the subject of each one "laying by as the Lord has prospered him," 1 Cor. 16: 1, 2, it was unanimously agreed that each one should write on a slip of paper what he would give weekly, and pay quarterly to the treasurer of the church. The members present responded promptly, and the deacons were instructed to see all who were not present. We think this an admirable plan, hence mention it here.

The business was all transacted by 3 o'clock. It being quite early, and as the members seemed loth to part, an hour was spent in friendly talk as to the best manner of promoting the interests of the church, and place it in as good a working order as possible. A church that can get all its members to work in the same direction and in harmony with God's Word and spirit, becomes a power for good.

On Monday and Tuesday the Trustees of McPherson College met. A large amount of business of importance was before the Board, but it was all disposed of in a manner satisfactory far beyond our most sanguine expectation. One important act was the placing of the entire financial matters of the College into the hands of the Building Association, of which Daniel Vaniman is Chairman. This committee has also the entire control of the selling of lots, putting up the buildings, running the College farm, etc. This arrangement will leave the Trustees at liberty to travel in the interest of the school the coming year. If any one had any doubts of the financial solidity of the College, they may dismiss those doubts now.

S. Z SHARP.

From Beaver Creek Congregation, Va.

WE assembled to-day, in the Beaver Creek church, to give thanks to God for the bountiful harvest we have been permitted to gather. There was quite a number present, and, we believe, the time was spent pleasantly and profitably to all.

There was one present who expressed herself willing to subscribe to Christ's teaching. She was received by baptism in the afternoon. This makes five that were received in the past few weeks, with several more applicants to be received in the near future.

The weather continues rainy, interfering with haying and the storage of the wheat. The wheat shocks and ricks are somewhat green. We predict that there will be much damaged grain and hay, yet, what the Lord does, we should receive as for our good, and make such use of his rulings as to accomplish the most good.

Oct. 5 has been set apart for our Communion,—an occasion to which we look forward with a great deal of interest.

A number of the ministering brethren are now arranging for the mission field, to garner the ripening grain.

J. W. CLICK.

From Locke, Ind.

LAST Sunday, we, the brethren and sisters at South Union, enjoyed a very acceptable visit from brethren John Metzler, of Wakarusa, and J. C. Murray, of Nappanee. The latter entertained the congregation, using John 21: 21, 22, "Lord, and what shall this man do? If I will that he tarry till I come, what is that to thee? follow thou me." He showed the importance of each one looking well to himself. He impressed upon us that we must follow Jesus not only by profession but in reality. May the Lord bless these dear brethren abundantly, in their labor to advance his cause.

J. R. MILLER.

Home.

WHAT a pleasant place is a true home! How enchanting to the soul, and dear to the heart! Ask the lonely traveler, as he wanders over the earth, what home is, and he will tell you it is a green spot in memory,—an oasis in the great desert of life,—a grand center around which many fond recollections of his heart cling with tenacity!

Home! The word touches every chord of the heart! Nothing but death can sever our love for home. Our thoughts sometimes revert to the homes of our childhood. No other words fall on our ears with greater emotions than these. Ask that old brother or sister about the old home, and how their eyes will sparkle, and their hearts beat with joy!

"My own dear home,
The Eden of my heart."

Home is a place of refuge. Tossed upon the rough and stormy sea of life, we think of home.

Wife and I have moved to our new home, near Goshen, Ind. We moved from Bethel congregation, Kosciusko Co., to Elkhart congregation, Elkhart Co. The Brethren under Eld. Daniel Shively's charge have been kind to us. They know how to help the preacher in his arduous work. It has been three years since we left the farm, and then we had no place we could call our home. Now we are located near the Bethel church, and near the railroad. Other conveniences are as good as elsewhere. Brethren who address us should give the number of the box, "353," Goshen, Ind., as several other persons of my name get mail here.

These earthly homes are of short duration. Our homes here may be ever so good,—our houses well built and furnished,—we may have all that makes life pleasant and home attractive,—unless we have friends and neighbors, our home will be incomplete. The husband and wife can aid greatly in making home pleasant. The children, with their prattling little tongues, the mother, with her kind look and pleasant speech, and the father, with his sociable ways and winning influence, — all these combined make home pleasant and attractive.

Our earthly homes are places of rest. When tired and careworn, there is no place like home to rest our wearied bodies. Spiritually we also need a home. We unite with the church, become workers for Christ, and the church then becomes our spiritual home. The true and zealous Christian loves to be in the church—his home.

Home is the sweetest type of heaven,—that land of rest. Oh, how eager the child of God is to gain admittance there! Our earthly homes are sometimes made sad by death. Death will never knock at heaven's door,—he will not be allowed to enter that blessed place. In all that land not a single grave will be seen. No tears are shed in that better land. There is no moving from place to place, as is sometimes done here. All will be satisfied to remain in that heavenly home, where God will smile upon his children!

J. H. MILLER.

"ONE who is fully deserving of the genuine respect of mankind will not be offended by any real or supposed want of appreciation, or easily imagine that he is slighted or injured by others. Such sensitiveness is a sure sign of weakness of character, or the decay of mental or moral powers. Those who are easily suspicious of base motives in others, and willingly throw doubts upon the sincerity of their service for Christ, condemn themselves."

YOU have no right to reckon on God's help and protection and guidance, and all the other splendid privileges which he promises to "the children of God by faith in Jesus Christ," until you have this first blessing, the mercy of God in Jesus Christ; for it is "in" Jesus Christ that all the promises of God are Yea and Amen.—Harergal.

"IT is a noble species of revenge, to have the power of retaliation, and not to exercise it."

Echoes from the Highway.

Aug. 3rd, in company with Bro. S. W. Hoover, we left Dayton early in the morning to attend the harvest meeting with the Brethren at Hickory Grove church, near Brandt, Miami County, some fourteen miles north of Dayton. We had a good meeting; there was also meeting at night. Next morning I was taken by Bro. David Filbrum, one of the ministers in the Grove church, to New Carlisle, where we had a pleasant meeting with the members of the Donnel's Creek church. Here is where Bro. Henry Frantz lives. In the afternoon we returned to another appointment at the Grove, where Bro. Hoover had administered the Word in his usual earnestness in the forenoon. After meeting we came as far as Bro. Wayne Pfoutz's, near Charleston, from which point we had an early start to the place, in the bounds of the Stillwater district, where the funeral and burial of Joseph Filbrum were to occur. The services were held at the "Old Order" church house, six miles north of Dayton. This is the same Joseph Filbrum who formerly lived at Auburn, Ill., on whose farm the Annual Meeting was held some fifteen years ago. On last Thursday evening, while he was crossing the railroad, in a private conveyance, his vehicle was struck by the engine of a passing train, and he was almost instantly killed. The funeral was said to be one of the largest. The day before, at the upper house of the Brethren (Stillwater District), the funeral and burial of Mary Nead took place. She was the daughter of Eld. Peter Nead.

* * *

Quite a number of the Brethren from this locality, interested in educational enterprises, attended the meeting last week at Pitsburgh, Ohio, held for the purpose of considering the propriety of a Brethren's school in this Valley, or Southern Ohio. Much talk characterized the meeting,—all in a kind spirit, but so far as we have learned, nothing in reference to the school has as yet materialized. We hear much concerning the matter, both pro and con. As to what will be the ultimate results, time will tell. J. S. Flory.

Notice to the Members in the Southern District of Illinois.

Notice is hereby given to the members of the Southern District of Illinois, that our District Meeting will be held in the Panther Creek church on Tuesday, Oct. 1, to commence at 8 A. M. We hope all the churches will be represented.

Those coming on the Illinois Central railroad will run to Minonk; thence down to Roanoke on the Santa Fe, the day before. Those coming on the Chicago, St. Louis, etc., will change at Chenoa and run to Secor, where they will be met by the Brethren. Those from the West will stop off at Eureka and run to Roanoke on the Santa Fe Railroad. Any further information wanted may be had by notifying G. W. Gish or P. A. Moore, Roanoke, Woodford Co., Ill.

Literary Notes.

A Manual of Introduction to the New Testament. By Dr. Bernard Weiss, Professor of Theology in Berlin, Germany. In two volumes, 12 mo, 868 pp., cloth, $2.00 per volume. New York: Funk & Wagnalls.

This work forms a valuable part of the "Foreign Biblical Library," edited by Rev. W. Robertson Nicoll, A. M. It is designed especially for ministers, theological students, teachers, and thinkers in any station of life who desire a profounder knowledge of the New Testament Scriptures, and are willing to do some critical reading to attain that end. Those who are disposed to go below the surface and dig for hidden treasures will find themselves guided to richer veins, and rewarded with larger nuggets of gold, by accepting the services of this well informed companion. In the first volume, Dr. Weiss wields the pen of a master in discussing what he calls the "Science of Introduction," from Patristic times to the present. He then devotes over a hundred pages to a critical and detailed "History of the Origin of the New Testament Canon." This is followed by a still more elaborate "History of the Pauline Epistles."

The second volume, just issued, is now before us. It opens with a careful analysis of the Epistle to the Hebrews, and treats at some length the question of its authorship. This Epistle has been variously ascribed to Paul, Apollos, Luke, Philo, Clement, and Barnabas. Dr. Weiss thinks that Paul was not its author, as is commonly supposed. In his judgment the strongest reasons point to Barnabas, as the writer of this remarkable book. Next follows a suggestive examination of the Revelation of John, the Brethren of Jesus, and the General Epistles of James, Jude, Peter and John. Two hundred pages are then devoted to the Historical Books of the New Testament, taking them up separately and interweaving many facts of decided interest. The volume closes with an Appendix giving a "History of the New Testament Text," involving its original language, its early manuscripts, its various versions, and its marvelous preservation. On the whole, we are compelled to admit that this is a work of vast research on the part of the writer, and, rightly studied, must be one of vast instruction to the reader.

MATRIMONIAL.

"What therefore God hath joined together, let not man put asunder."

HOOVER—WARSTLER.—At the residence of the officiating clergyman, Bro. Peter Stuckman, July 21, Bro. Ulyster Hoover and sister Candace Warstler, both from Elkhart County, Indiana.

J. S. Hoover.

FALLEN ASLEEP

"Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord."

WICKS.—At his residence in the Falls City church, Nebr., July 2, Bro. Jacob F. Wicks, aged 70 years, 9 months and 14 days.

Deceased was a deacon and proved faithful to his calling,—always ready and willing to do all he could for the purity and welfare of the church. Truly we have lost a friend, a brother and a good citizen. His place can not well be filled. He leaves a kind wife and an adopted son; besides a whole community to mourn their loss. He was of a mild and loving disposition, and was loved by everybody.

Bro. Wicks was very much afflicted for some time with cancer on his hand. Much time for the last year he spent in Kansas under the care of various doctors. He became much enfeebled, and in less than a week after his arrival home he passed away, fully resigned to the Lord. He bore his sickness with patience and was ready and willing to go whenever the Lord would call him to receive his crown. He was fully sensible to the last, and we believe one more star is added to the glory world above. Funeral services were improved by the writer to a large and sympathizing congregation.

R. P. Berkeybile.

FLEMING.—At her home in York County, Pa., near Dillsburg, Mary Ann Fleming, aged 55 years, 4 months and 20 days. Interment at Bockling church, in Cumberland County. Services by Henry Beelman and the writer.

BENDER.—Charles Harrison Bender, aged 6 weeks and 5 days. Buried at the Stone church, eight miles north of Mechanicsburgh. Services by the writer.

McCLURE.—At the home of Bro. David Neisley, in Churchtown, Pa., July 17, John McClure, aged 78 years, 10 months and 2 days.

This friend had his home in the family of Bro. Neisley for a number of years. Two companions and two children preceded him to the spirit world. Services by the Brethren. Daniel Landis.

RIEMAN.—In the Brothers' Valley congregation, Somerset Co, Pa., June 20, sister Elizabeth, wife of Bro. Jacob Rieman, aged 71 years, 6 months and 27 days.

Deceased leaves a kind husband, four children, and many friends to mourn their loss. The family has lost a kind mother, the church an exemplary sister and the neighborhood a loving friend, but we trust all to her eternal gain.

Funeral services by Bro. W. G. Schrock, assisted by home ministers and Peter Forney, from Garrison, Iowa, from Ps. 116: 15. "Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his saints." M. S. Rieman.

BEECHLY.—In the Brothers' Valley congregation, Pa., July 23, sister Annie Beechly, wife of Bro. John Beechly, aged 37 years, 1 month and 22 days. She leaves a sorrowing husband and four children to mourn their loss. Funeral services by the writer and Michael Weyandt.

D. H. Walker.

BRIGHT.—In Montgomery County, Ohio, July 26, of heart trouble, Eld. Isaac Bright, aged 69 years, 7 months and 9 days.

Deceased was born in Augusta County, Va., Dec. 17, 1819 He was united in holy matrimony to Sarah Rife, March 25, 1841. One son and two daughters, with their mother, preceded him to the spirit world. Five sons survive him. He was married the second time to Anna Denlinger, Sept. 12, 1878, who also survives him.

He was called to the ministry in February, 1849 and ordained to the eldership May 30, 1866. Funeral services by elders Jacob Garber and J. J. Bowman. J. C. Bright.

VANCE.—In the Upper Cumberland church, Pa, April 16, sister Jane Ann Vance, aged 54 years, 11 months, and 10 days.

The deceased was a member of the Brethren church for many years, and died with a bright hope of a glorious resurrection. Funeral services by a brother.

SOWERS.—In the same church, July 5, Miss Rebecca Sowers, aged 62 years, 10 months and 13 days.

GUTSHALL.—In the same church, July 22, Mrs. Maria Gutshall, aged 67 years, 4 months and 13 days. Services by a brother, from Luke 10: 42.

MILLER.—In the Upper Cumberland congregation, Pa., July 24, Bro. Samuel Miller, aged 83 years, 3 months and 26 days.

The subject of this notice was a deacon in the church for many years, and he served the church faithfully. Considering his age, he was very active and was seldom absent from church services. He truly was an example to the younger brethren. The funeral services were conducted by the brethren, from Rom. 8: 18. Jacob Hollinger.

HOOVER.—In Ritchie County, West Virginia, Nov. 22, 1888, Bro. Jacob J. Hoover, aged 82 years, 6 months and 7 days.

Bro. Hoover was born in Pendleton County, Va., May 15, 1806; joined the church, August, 1888. He leaves eight children to mourn their loss, which we hope is his eternal gain. By a mistake he took a dose of croton-oil, which caused his death within a few hours. Only one of his children belongs to the Brethren church. Funeral services by the writer, from Luke 23: 28, assisted by Bro. John Friedly. Z. Annon.

KITTINGER.—In the Marsh Creek church, Adams Co., Pa., July 16, Bro. Jacob L. Kittinger, aged 46 years and 16 days.

The disease with which our brother was afflicted was malignant cancer of the stomach. He was confined to his bed for five months and his sufferings were intense during this time.

Having united with the church quite early in life, his faith in Christ did not waver during his illness, in the early stage of which he sent for the elders and was anointed.

Deceased was a successful teacher in the schools of Adams County, but music was his specialty, in which he excelled as a teacher. He was possessed with a voice of much tenderness and sweetness and inspired his pupils with a love for that divine art.

During the latter part of his illness when his sufferings became so great, his desire was, "to be absent from the body and present with the Lord."

He leaves a devoted and affectionate wife and five small children,—the youngest but an infant.

Truly our sister deserves the sympathy of the Brethren and friends in this her sad bereavement. May she turn to the Lord who has promised to be a husband to the widow and a father to the fatherless!

His remains were interred in the Marsh Creek grave-yard beside his father and mother, whom he loved and cared for so tenderly in their declining years. The large concourse of sympathetic friends and neighbors fully attested to the respect with which he was held in the community. Services by the home brethren. J. D. W. Deardorff.

KNAVEL.—In the Shade congregation, Somerset Co., Pa., July 10, Bro. Jacob Knavel, aged 65 years, 2 months and 12 days. Funeral services by the writer and others from Matt. 24: 44.

KNAVEL.—In the same congregation, July 16, sister Susan Knavel, aged 34 years, 1 month and 26 days.

She leaves an affectionate husband and 6 children to mourn their loss, but they need not mourn as those who have no hope. Funeral services by the writer and Jacob Holsopple, from Philpp. 1: 21-24.

BERKEY.—In the same congregation, July 26, Bro. Jacob Berkey, aged 77 years, 10 months and 17 days.

Funeral services on Sunday, July 28, from 1 Pet. 1: 3 9, by the writer, Jacob Holsopple and others, in the presence of a large concourse of friends.

Hiram Musselman.

RITCHEY.—In the Hopewell church, Pa., July 27, Oscar and ——— Ritchey, twin sons of Bro. Isaac and sister Hannah Ritchey, aged 1 month and 10 days.

Their bodies were interred in the Providence grave-yard. The funeral services were conducted by Bro. John S. Rush, from Job 1: 21. This makes five little sons of the same parents who are sleeping side by side, waiting till the trump shall sound. Then, as God has transplanted their tender buds into his own lovely garden, we have the blessed assurance that he will again bring them forth to meet their heart-stricken parents.

Daniel Ritchey.

COLEMAN.—Near Berlin, Pa., in the Berlin congregation, sister Sally Coleman, aged 70 years, 7 months and 26 days.

Peace to her ashes until the resurrection morning! Funeral services by the writer, from 1 Pet. 1: 3, 4. W. G. Schrock.

A Book for Every Member!

Classified Minutes

—OF—

ANNUAL MEETING.

☞ A full supply of this excellent work still on hand. Every member should have a copy of this work, in order to have a thorough understanding of the deliberations of the Annual Meeting in reference to church government, etc. Price, English Cloth, $1.50, post-paid; leather, $2.00.

☞ A responsible agent wanted in each congregation, to whom terms will be furnished upon application. Address,

BRETHREN'S PUBLISHING CO.,
Or, Huntingdon, Pa. Mount Morris, Ill.

Tract Work.

List of Publications for Sale,—Sent Postage Prepaid.

CLASS A.

No. 1. Golden Gleams or Family Chart, ...85 cts.

CLASS B.

No. 1. Trine Immersion, Quinter, per copy ...$ 1 25
No. 2. Europe and Bible Lands, Miller, per copy.. ..... 1 50
No. 3. Doctrine of the Brethren Defended, per copy,..... 1 50
No. 4. Classified Minutes—A. M 1 50
No. 5 Two Sticks, Eshelman, ... 1 00
No 6 Close Communion, Wash, per copy..... 40

CLASS C.

No. 1. Annual Report, per copy.....$ 05
No. 2. Path of Life, per 100, $5.00; per copy, 06
No. 3. How to Become a Child of God, per 100, $4 00; per copy, ... 05
No. 4 Conversion, per 100, $2 50; per copy.... 03
No 5. Water Baptism, per 100, $1.50, per copy 02
No. 6. Single Immersion, per 100, $1 50; per copy,..... 02
No. 7. Sabbatism, per 100, $2.50; per copy. 03
No. 8. Discussion on Trine Immersion, per copy,..... 15
No. 9. Sermon on Baptism, per copy..... 03
No. 10. Glad Tidings of Salvation, per copy... 03
No. 11. Life of Eld. S. Weir (Colored), per copy,..... 03
No. 12 Ten Reasons for Trine Immersion, per 100, $1.50, per copy,..... 02

CLASS D.

No. 1 House We Live In, per 100, ...$ 60
No. 2 Plan of Salvation, per 100,..... 60
No. 3 Come, Let Us Reason Together, per 100 60
No. 4. How Shall I Know that my Sins are Pardoned? per 100,..... 60
No. 5 Intemperance, per 100,..... 60
No. 6. Plain Dressing, per 100,..... 60
No. 7. Which Is the Right Church? per 100... 60
No. 8. House We Live In (Swedish), per 100,.. 60
No. 9. House We Live In (Danish), per 100,.. 60
No. 10. Paul Wetzel's Reasons, Etc., (German), per 100, ... 60
No. 11. Sinner, Stop! per 100, ... 60
No. 12. Faith, per 100,..... 60
No. 13. The Light-House, per 100,..... 60
No. 14 Close Communion, per 100, ... 60
No. 15. The Truth Shall Make You Free, per 100, ... 60
No. 16. Modern Skepticism, per 100, ... 60
No. 17. Infant Baptism Weighed in the Balances and Found Wanting, per 100,.... 60

CLASS E.

No. 1 Pause and Think, per 100,..... 30
No. 2. What Do We Need? per 100,..... 30
No. 3 Right or Wrong Way, per 100,..... 30
No. 4. Why Am I Not a Christian? per 100,... 30
No. 5. Saving Words, per 100,..... 30
No. 6. Christ and War, per 100,..... 30
No. 7. The Bond of Peace, per 100,..... 30
No. 8. The Kiss of Charity, per 100,..... 30
No. 9. The Evils of Intemperance, per 100... 30
No. 10. The Lost Opportunity, per 100,..... 30
No. 11. Are You a Christian? per 100,..... 30
No. 12. Arise, Get Thee Down, per 100,..... 30
No. 13. A Personal Appeal, per 100,..... 30
No. 14. Lying Among the Pots, per 100, ... 30
No. 15. Gold and Costly Array, per 100,..... 30
No. 16. The Brethren's Card, per 100,..... 30

Bibles, Testaments, Hymn Books of all styles, at publishers' lowest retail prices, which will be furnished on application.

Address

Brethren's Book and Tract Work,
DAYTON, OHIO.

Church Register.

—:o:—

To those who would wish to collect and to preserve a complete history of their congregation and biography of each of their members, with names, dates of baptism or letter, dates of death or letter, and also dates of election, ordination of all the official members, and all events of importance occurring in each congregation, we would say, buy a copy of the Church Register. Price, containing sample pages and instructions, well bound, and sent by mail, $1.00 per copy. Address this office.

PUBLICATIONS

☞ The following books, Sunday-school supplies, etc., are for sale by the Brethren's Publishing Co., Mt. Morris, Ill., or Huntingdon, Pa., to whom all orders should be addressed.

The Brethren's Quarterly.

For Sunday-school teachers and scholars this publication is of the greatest benefit. Look at our prices:

Single subscription, one year ....35 cents.
Single subscription, per quarter.....10 cents.
Three copies, per quarter..... 25 cents.
Eight copies, per quarter..... .....40 cents.
Fifty copies and over..... .....4 cents each.

• • • Hymn Books • • •

New Tune and Hymn Books.

Half leather, single copy, post-paid .....$ 1 00
Per dozen, by express 10 00
Morocco, single copy, post-paid..... 1 25
Per dozen, by express 12 00
Morocco, gilt edge, per copy 1 50

Hymn Books, English.

Morocco, single copy, post-paid.... .....$ 50
Per dozen, post-paid..... 9 50
Per dozen, by express 9 00
Morocco, gilt edge, post-paid 1 10
Per dozen, post-paid 11 75
Per dozen, by express 11 25
Arabesque, single copy, post-paid..... 55
Per dozen, post-paid 5 80
Per dozen, by express 5 30
Sheep, single copy, post-paid ....
Per dozen, post-paid... .....
Per dozen, by express 5 30
Tuck, single copy, post-paid..... 1 00
Per dozen, post-paid..... 10 00
Per dozen, by express 9 50
Fine Limp, post-paid..... 1 00
Per dozen, post-paid 10 00
Fine Limp, single copy, gilt edge, post-paid 1 20
Fine Limp, gilt edge, per dozen..... 13 00
German and English, per copy, ... 90
" " " per dozen; mail, $9.50; express 9 00

The Young Disciple.

THE YOUNG DISCIPLE is a neatly printed weekly, published especially for the moral benefit and religious instruction of our young folks.

Single copy, one year.....$ 50
Six copies (the sixth to the agent)..... 2 50
Ten copies..... 4 00

For Three Months or Thirteen Weeks.

20 copies to one address.....$1 70
30 " " " " 2 50
40 " " " " 3 35
50 " " " " 3 80
75 " " " " 5 20
100 " " " " 7 00

For Six Months or Twenty-Six Weeks.

20 copies to one address.....$ 3 35
30 " " " " 5 00
40 " " " " 6 60
50 " " " " 7 50
75 " " " " 10 20
100 " " " " 13 75

Our paper is designed for the Sunday-school and the home circle. We desire the name of every Sunday-school Superintendent in the Brotherhood, and want an agent in every church. Send for sample copies.

Sunday-School Requisites.

The following list of things is needed in all Sunday-schools:

Testaments, Flexible, red edge, per doz.....$1 00
Minute Books, each..... 50
Class Books, per doz 75
Union Primers, with fine engravings, per doz..... 70

New and Beautiful Sunday-School Cards.

"The Gem," 50 picture cards, each with Bible Text, verse of hymn..... 35
250 Reward Tickets—verse of Scripture—red or blue, 20

Gospel Chimes!

BY WM. BEERY.

THIS little book has been selling more rapidly than the publishers anticipated. The first edition was almost exhausted in the first two months. A second edition is now printed.

Following are a few of the good words received from brethren and other competent judges:

"An Excellent Book for Sunday-schools."

"After having carefully examined "Gospel Chimes" I can pronounce it an excellent book for Sunday-schools, and hope all the schools of the Brethren will adopt the same. Our church is conceded to have the best congregational singing of any denomination, and if it is improved, as it can be, by the use of 'Gospel Chimes,' the power for good will be surprising." GEO B. HOLSINGER, Teacher of Music, Bridgewater College, Va.

"Fresh and Pleasing Melodies; Thoughtful, Spiritual, and Poetical Words."

"It gives me pleasure to speak in terms of praise of your new book, 'Gospel Chimes.' It contains many fresh and pleasing melodies to which are wedded thoughtful, spiritual and poetical words. I trust it will hold its own in competition with the numerous books now in the market and find a large sale."—T. M. TOWNE, Chicago, Ill., one of America's best writers of Sunday school music.

"Better than Many Similar Publications."

"Copy of your new book received. It contains some very pleasing and useful music, while it is to be commended especially for the selection of hymns. Good Sunday school hymns are in great demand in Sunday-school work, and in this particular 'Gospel Chimes' is better than many similar publications."—A. J SHOWALTER, the leading writer and publisher of Sunday-school and church music in the South.

"An Excellent Collection."

"I have carefully examined your late Sunday-school singing book, 'Gospel Chimes' and find it to be an excellent collection for the purpose designed, both in words and music." S. W. STRAUB, Chicago, Ill., the popular Western writer and publisher of Sunday-school music.

Bro. Beery has had a large experience in Sunday-school work, and the book which we offer to the brethren, and the public in general, evinces the exercise of talent as well as good judgment. The religious purity of the hymns contributed by sister Beery adds much to the excellence of the book.

Price per single copy, 30 cts.; per dozen by mail, $3 00; by express, $2 60. Lots of more than a dozen must be sent by express.

BRETHREN'S PUBLISHING CO,
Or, Huntingdon, Pa. Mt. Morris, Ill.

Announcements.

LOVE-FEASTS.

Aug. 24 and 25, at 10 A. M., at Washington church at the residence of Jacob Mercy, north-east of Washington, Washington Co., Kans.

Aug. 24 and 25, at 1 P. M., Oak Grove congregation at Stone meeting-house ten miles south of Iowa City. Persons coming by rail stop at Iowa Junction on B. C. R. & N Railroad.

Aug. 31, at 3 o'clock P M, Turkey Creek church, Pawnee Co., Nebraska, at H. G. Martin's 2½ miles north-west of DuBois station on Rock Island Railroad at which place persons will be met and conveyed to place of meeting on the 31st, or if coming sooner, notify H. C. Martin, DuBois, Neb. Those coming to Table Rock on B. & M. R. R. notify B. F. Flory.

Aug. 31, at 3 P. M., Fairview church, Garrett Co., Md.

Aug. 31 and Sept. 1, at 2 P. M., Van Wert church, O., 7 miles north-east of Van Wert. Conveyance will be at Van Wert up to 11 A. M. on day of meeting.

Aug. 31 and Sept. 1, at 3 P. M., Iowa River church, Quarry, Marshall Co., Iowa.

Sept. 3, at 10 A M., Sugar Ridge church, Hancock Co., Ohio.

Sept. 5 and 6, at 10 A. M., Lower Fall Creek church, Ind.

Sept. 5, at 10 A. M., 2 miles north east of Loudonville, O.

Sept. 6, Franklin church, 4½ miles north-east of Loon, Decatur Co., Iowa

Sept. 6, at 10 A. M., Olatha church, Kans., at the residence of Wm. Brunks, 1 mile north of Olathe.

Sept. 7, at 3 P. M., Berrien church, Berrien County, Michigan.

Sept. 7 and 8, Long Branch church, Harrison Co., Mo., at C. Fansler's, 7 miles west of Ridgeway, Mo. A protracted meeting will commence Aug. 31 and continue over the love-feast. Those coming by rail will stop off at New Hampton and Ridgeway, on the C., B. & Q. R. R., running from St. Joe to Des Moines, and notify William Echard, Martinsville, Missouri, giving date.

Sept 7, at 1 P. M., Urbana church 4 miles east of Urbana, Champaign Co., Ill.

Sept. 7 and 8, at 2 P. M., Berkey church, Vanclevesville Station, W. Va., on the B. & O. R. R.

Sept 7, at 3 P. M., Mt. Joy church, Jacob's Creek congregation, 1½ miles east of Mt. Pleasant, Westmoreland Co., Pa

Sept. 7 and 8, Coal Creek church, Fulton Co., Ill. Those from a distance will be met at Norris, on the Buda Branch of C. B. & Q. R. R.

Sept. 7, at 2 P. M., Abilene church, Kans., at new house at Navarre, on the Santa Fe R. R., 5 miles south and 4 miles east of Abilene. Dickenson Co., Kans

Sept 7, Wapsan Valley church, at White school-house 1½ miles south of East Elkport, Clayton Co., Iowa

Sept 7, at Bro J. J. Wassam's, 3 miles west of Reece, Greenwood Co., Kansas

Sept 7 and 8, in Crooked congregation, Washington Co., Iowa

Sept. 7 and 8, at 3 P. M., Frederic, Monroe Co., Ia.

Sept 7 and 8, at 10 A. M., Anglaize Chapel, ¼ mile from Dupont, Ohio, on the Clover Leaf Railroad; 2½ miles from Hartsburg, on the Nickle Plate Railroad.

Sept. 7 and 8, at 2 P. M., Juniata congregation, 1 mile south and 1 mile east of Roseland, Adams Co., Neb.

Sept. 7 and 8, at 10 A. M., Pine Creek church, Ogle Co., Ill.

Sept. 7, at 10 A. M., Somerset church, Vernon, Wabash Co., Ind

Sept. 7, at 10 A. M., Summit church, ½ mile north and 2 miles east of Summitville, Madison Co., Ind.

Sept 7 at 2 P. M., at A. B. Lichtenwalter's, half a mile east of Neutral, Kans., on the K. C. Ft. Scott & G. R. R. Meetings one week previous

Sept. 7, at 1:30 P. M., Sam's Creek church, 4 miles south of New Windsor, Carroll Co., Md.

Sept 7 and 8 at 3 P. M., Kansas Center church, at the residence of J. M. Dresher, 2 miles directly east of Lyons, Rice Co., Kans.

Sept 7 and 8, at 10 A. M., Vermillion church, Marshall Co., Kansas, at Simon Studebaker's, 7 miles north of Beattie, Kansas

Sept. 7, Summit church, Wabash Co., Ind

Sept 7 and 8, State Centre church, Marshall Co., Iowa.

Sept. 7 and 8, at 2 P. M., Martins Creek church, Wayne Co., Ill., at Bro James Mauck, ¾ mile west of depot, Jeffersonville.

Sept 7 and 8, at Filley church, at the house of Bro. H. Miller, 2½ miles south-west of Filley. Those coming on the Rock Island Railway stop off at Virginia. Those on the B. & M. stop at Filley, Nebraska.

Sept. 7, at 3 P. M., Rock Creek church, Kansas, six miles north of Silver Lake, Shawnee Co., Kans. Those coming by railroad will please notify E. Cobor one week beforehand, and they will be conveyed to place of meeting.

Sept 7 and 8, at 11 A. M., Brooklyn church, Iowa.

Sept 11 and 12, Scott Valley church, Kansas, at Bro. Peter Bowers, nine miles south of Waverly, and ten and one-half miles north-east of Burlington. Brethren will be met at Burlington, Waverly and Westphalia, by notifying E. J. Miller, or Charles Pearcat, Westphalia, Kansas.

Sept. 12, at 2 A. M. Wakenda congregation at the Rockingham meeting-house, Ray Co., Mo.

Sept. 12, at 5 P. M., South Bend church, Ind.

Sept. 13, at 10 A. M., Sugar Creek church, Whitley Co., Ind

Sept 13 at 1 P. M., Wade's Branch church, in Forest Park, Ottawa, Kans. Assembly Hall and the cots of the Chautauqua Association have been secured for the accommodation of all who wish to lodge on the ground

Sept. 14, at 11 A. M., Deep River church, Iowa.

Sept. 14 and 15, at 10 A. M., Sabetha, Kans.

Sept. 21, at 11 A. M., Kilbuck church, Ind., 9 miles west of Muncie, on the Jackson St. Pike. Those coming by rail will be met at Reed Station, by notifying Job Mahoney, Reed, Delaware Co., Ind., or Walter Bowers, Gilman, Madison Co., Ind.

Sept. 28, at 10 A. M., Maumee church, Defiance Co., Ohio. Brethren coming by railroad will stop off at Sherwood

Sept 28 and 29, at 11 A. M., English River congregation, Keokuk Co., Iowa

Sept. 28 and 29, at 2 P. M., Verdigris church, 12 miles north-west of Madison, Kans., at J. Ira Ivy's.

Oct. 2, at 10 A. M., Lick Creek church, Owen Co., Ind.

Oct. 3, at 2 P. M., Cerro Gordo church, Ill

Oct. 3, at 2 P. M., Arcadia church, Ind.

Oct. 4, at 10 A. M., Nettle Creek church, near Hagerstown, Wayne Co., Ind.

Oct 4, at 1 P. M., Union church, Marshall Co., Ind., 8 miles west of Plymouth and 3½ miles north of Bare Oak. Brethren will be met at the above places either day before or on day of the meeting

Oct 4, at 4 P. M., Tippecanoe church, Kosciusko Co., Ind

Oct 4, at 1 P. M., Macoupin Creek church, Montgomery Co., Ill

Oct. 5 and 6 at 4 P. M., at the Hopewell church, Bedford Co., Pa.

Oct 2 and 3 at 4 P. M., Appanoose church, Franklin Co., Kans.

Oct. 5 at 2 P. M., Vermilion church, Cornell, Ill., on the Streator Branch of the Wabash railroad

Oct 5 at 2 P. M., Durrance church, Kans

Oct 5, Lick Creek congregation, near Bryan, Williams Co., O

Oct 5 at 2 P. M., Sugar Creek church, Allen Co., Ohio.

Oct. 5, at 10 A. M., Wenger Water church, Clay Co. Nebr. On M. P. R. R. trains will be met at Eagle; on B. & M. R. R., at Greenwood

Oct. 5, at 1 P. M., Hopewell church Pa

Oct. 5, at 4 P. M., Elkhart Valley church, Elkhart Co., Ind.

Oct. 5, at 2 P. M., Cherokee church, Cherokee Co., Kans., at N. S. Grove's, 4 miles south-east of McCune and 6 miles south-west of Mound City.

Oct. 5, at 2 P. M., Salina Valley church, Kans., at L. W. Fitzwater's, 3 miles south-east of Lincoln Center, Lincoln Co., Kans

Oct 5, at 10 A. M., South Beatrice church, Nebr. On Friday conveyance will be at Holmesville, on U. P. R. R., Beatrice, on B. & M. R. R., Rockford, on Rock Island R. R.

Oct. 5, at 10:30 A. M., Maple Grove church, 4 miles north of Ashland, Ohio.

Sept 6 at 10 A M Blue Creek church, Adams Co , Ind , at Daniel Yana's, 3 miles north of New Coradon

Sept 7, Maple Valley church at Centre schoolhouse, 3 miles south of Marcus, Iowa

Sept. 7 and 8, at 3 P. M., Good Hope church, Phillips Co., Colo., at sister Sarah Farrey's, 7 miles north-east of Holyoke, and 4 miles south-west of Amherst, on B. & M R R. Those who come will address John S. Snowberger, Holyoke, Col.

Sept. 7, Lincoln church, Lancaster Co., Nebr , 7 miles south of Lincoln, 2½ miles north-west of Jamaica at Adam R. Smith's.

Sept. 27 and 28, District of Tennessee, in Flat Rock church, Ashe Co., N. C.

Sept. 28, Pine Creek church, 8 miles south-west of Newport, Rock Co., Nebr.

Sept. 28 and 29, at 10 A M., Garrison Iowa.

Oct 2, at 1 P. M., Appanoose church, Kans

Oct. 2, at 4:30 P. M., Bethel church, 3 miles east of Milford Ind.

Oct. 5, Novelty church, Shelby Co., Mo.

Oct 5 and 6, at 10 A. M., Portage church, Wood Co., O.

Oct. 5, at 3 P. M., Milmine church, Ill.

Oct. 5, at 10 A. M , in the Vernon meeting-house Somerset congregation, Wabash Co., Ind.

Oct. 5, at 2 P. M., Lower Deer Creek church, Carroll Co , Ind.

Oct. 5 and 6, at 1 P. M., Arnold's Grove church, Ill.

Oct. 5 and 6, at 10 A M., South Morrill church, Kans.

Oct. 5, Grand Prairie church, near Sidney, Nebr.

Oct 5 and 6, North Beatrice church, Gage Co., Nebr , 7 miles north-east of Beatrice.

Oct. 5, at 2 P M , Clear Creek church Huntington Co , Ind.

Oct. 5 and 6, at Middle Creek church, Iowa.

Oct 5 and 6, at 2 P. M., Grundy church. Grundy Co., Iowa.

Oct 5 and 6, at 1 P M , Independence church, Montgomery Co , Kans

Oct 5, at 1:30 P M , Marsh Creek church, Adams Co , Pa Those coming by rail will notify B F Kittinger, Gettysburg, Pa , who will procure conveyance to place of meeting

Oct. 5, at 1:30 P. M., Pleasant View church, Reno Co., Kans., 10 miles south-west of Hutchinson.

Oct. 8 and 9, at 3 P. M., Shannon church, Carroll County, Ill.

Oct. 8, at 3 P. M., Exeter church, at Bro S. H. Caylor's, 4 miles south-east of McCool Junction, Nebr.

Oct. 9 at 1 P. M , Pine Creek church. Indiana, at the east meeting-house.

Oct. 10, at 2 P M., Pigeon River church, Ind.

Oct 10, at 10 A. M., Landessville church, Grant Co., Ind

Oct. 10, at 2 P. M., Upper Fall Creek church, 2 miles east of Middletown, Henry Co , Ind

Oct. 10, at 10 A. M., Logan church, Logan Co., O.

Oct. 11, at 4 P M., Camp Creek church, Kosciusko Co , In I. The meeting will be held 1½ miles north of Etna Green.

Oct. 11, Montgomery church, Indiana Co., Pa. A series of meetings will begin Oct. 5, by Bro. Brice Sell.

Oct. 14, Longmont, Colo One week's meeting before feast.

Oct 12, at 10 A M , Green Spring church, at Sugar Grove meeting-house, O

Oct 12, at 4 P. M., Big Creek church, Richland Co , Illinois Conveyance will be furnished any time by notifying J. M. Forney, Parkersburg, Illinois.

Oct. 12, at 4 P M., Yellow Creek church, Bedford Co., Pa.

Oct. 12 and 13, at 1 P. M , Walnut Valley church, Barton Co., Kans.

Oct. 15, at 2 P. M., Antioch church, Ind.

Oct. 20, Lamotte church, Crawford Co., Ill

Nov. 2 and 3, Broadfording church, Washington Co , Md. Continued meetings to commence Oct. 26

Nov. 9, at 1 P. M , Monticello church, Ind.

DISTRICT MEETINGS.

Oct. 1, at 5 A. M , Southern District of Illinois, in the Panther Creek church, Woodford Co , Ill

HARVEST EXCURSIONS

To the Pan Handle of Texas. Many of the brethren having asked me by letter before and since the Annual Meeting, and personally, while at the Annual Meeting, whether there would be cheap excursions to the Pan Handle of Texas, and as I invariably told them I would answer through the "GOSPEL MESSENGER," I take pleasure now in announcing that the Western States Passenger Association and the Trans-Missouri Association, in session at Chicago June 26th, agreed to run Harvest Excursions from Eastern points to all points in Kansas, Colorado, and the Pan Handle of Texas, at the rate of one fare for the round trip, tickets good for thirty days from date of sale, and stop-overs will be allowed within the limits at all points west of the Missouri river. The days of sale are August 6 and 20, September 10 and 24, and October 8.

I will be pleased to answer all further enquiries by mail, by sending maps, routes, etc.

GEO L. MCDONAUGH,
Trav. Agt. Santa Fe Route.
St. Louis, Mo.

J. B. COLCLESSER,

ROANOKE, HUNTINGTON CO., IND , Breeder of Purely-bred Poland China Swine. My herd is made up of the most fashionable strains known to the breed Stock recorded in C. R and O. R. Pigs and aged animals for sale. Gelts bred and for sale January and February 1890. Breeding a specialty. Correspondence or personal inspection solicited. 22t25

HARVEST EXCURSIONS VIA THE UNION PACIFIC RAILWAY.

The Union Pacific Railway takes pleasure in announcing that it will run Harvest Excursions to all points in Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, Idaho and Montana on the following dates:—August 6th and 20th, September 10th and 24th, and October 8th For these occasions the low rate of one fare for the round trip has been made. Tickets good thirty days, and stop over privileges will be allowed in both directions for those who may desire to see the country. Do not miss the opportunity to visit the great and growing West at this low rate. It affords the business men, stock raiser, mining prospector, and farmer an unequalled chance to see the unlimited resources of the western country.

For tickets, rates, pamphlets, etc., apply to your nearest ticket agent, or W. H. Knight, Gen'l. Agt., 191 South Clark St., Chicago, Ill.

ADVERTISEMENTS.

Rates per Inch each Insertion.

One time or more	$1 50
One month (4 times)	1 30
Three months (12 times)	1 20
Six months (25 times)	1 00
One year (50 times)	70
No advertisement accepted for less than	1 00

☞ No Cuts inserted unless on metal base. No double-column or objectionable advertisements admitted.

The Monon Route.

THIS road is running a fine line of Pullman Buffet Sleepers between Chicago and Indianapolis, Cincinnati and Louisville, in connection with the fast Florida express trains.

For full information, address, E. O. McCORMICK, Gen'l Pass. Agt., Adams Express Building, Chicago. (City Ticket Office ,73 Clark St.)

EUROPE
AND BIBLE LANDS!

BY D. L. MILLER.

THE large sale of this work gives abundant proof of its popularity. The eighth edition is almost exhausted, and a new edition will be necessary to supply the demand. The following partial list will give an idea of the contents of the work:

Life in Germany. — Berlin. — The King's Palace. — Dresden. — The Crown Jewels. — Women in Germany. — The City of Prague. — The Martyrdom of John Huss. — The Habits and Customs of the People. — Bro. Hope's Work in Denmark. — Old Castles and Prisons of the Middle Ages. — Paul's Preaching at Mars' Hill. — Old Temples at Athens. — The Seven Churches of Asia. — Ephesus, and the Temple of Diana. — Jaffa. — The House of Simon, the Tanner. — Plain of Sharon. — Lepers and Leprosy. — Mountains of Judea. — Jerusalem. — Place of Crucifixion. — Mount Moriah. — Solomon's Temple. — Mount Zion. — David's Tomb. — Bethlehem. — The Fields Where the Shepherds Watched their Flocks by Night. — Rachel's Tomb. — Mount of Olives, — The Garden of Gethsemane. — Jericho. — The Dead Sea. — River of Jordan. — Bethel. — The Mountains of Blessing and Cursing. — Nazareth. — Cana of Galilee. — The Sea of Galilee. — Capernaum. — Damascus Ruins of Baalbec. — Customs. Manners, Habits and Home Life of the Arabs.

Bro. Miller visited the places he describes and tells about them in an easy, pleasant manner, which makes the book exceedingly interesting. It contains 439 pages, and 40 engravings, among which are a number of full-page illustrations of Palestine scenery. It is printed on heavy, tinted paper, in clear-faced type, bound in a good, substantial manner, and will be sold at the very low price of $1.50 per copy, cloth binding, postage prepaid.

SPECIAL RATES TO MINISTERS.—In order to have a copy of the book placed in the hands of all our ministers, we make them the following liberal offer: Send one dollar for the book, and sixteen cents to pay postage, and you will receive a copy by return mail.

Agents wanted, to whom liberal terms will be given. Address all orders to

BRETHREN'S PUBLISHING CO.,
MT. MORRIS, ILL.

ROYAL

BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and can not be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. SOLD ONLY IN CANS

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO.,
106 Wall St., N. Y.

Wanted!

We want brethren in every district to sell our Fertilizers. We manufacture a number of different grades, so as to suit all buyers, viz.,

Blood and Bone Dissolved, Raw Bone and Potash, High Grade Super Phosphate of Bone, Soluble Ammoniated Bone Phosphate and Chemicals!

All the above brands have stood the test for years, and in field contests have proved to be second to none on the market.

We guarantee to keep up the present high standard of these different brands, and feel assured you can save money by buying from us. Write for terms, circulars, etc. Address,

D. BLOCHER & CO.,
12m6 Gettysburg, Pa.

The Original Trans-Continental Line.

The Union Pacific Railway, "The Overland Route" runs daily trains from Council Bluffs, Omaha and Kansas City to Denver, Salt Lake City, Sacramento, San Francisco, Los Angeles and Portland.

Quick time across the continent.

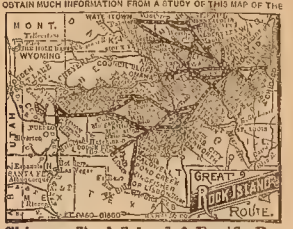
Elegant equipment, consisting of latest Pullman Palace Cars and Day Coaches.

This company has also for sale in Kansas and Colorado, 3,000,000 acres of choice farming lands; only one-tenth cash down and balance on ten years' time at seven per cent interest. Fare paid over the Union Pacific by persons who go to see the land, is refunded if land is purchased.

The Union Pacific Railway company has also 3,000,000 acres of land in Wyoming and Utah for sale at very low prices. Best ranch land in the world on liberal terms.

For full information in regard to rates, timetables, maps, price of lands, etc., address,

THOS. L. KIMBALL,
ALBERT WOODCOCK, Gen'l Manager.
Gen'l Land Com.
E. L. LOMAX, Gen'l Pass. Ag't.
50 OMAHA, NEB.



SALESMEN Wanted; local and traveling Positions permanent. Salary from start Experience unnecessary. Brown Bros., Nurserymen Chicago, Ill

Victor Remedies!

These Remedies consist of Victor Liver Syrup, Victor Pain Balm, Victor Infant's Relief, Victor Lung Syrup, Victor Pills, Victor Liniment, Victor Poultry, Horse and Cattle Powders. These Remedies are all sold under a guarantee. If you cannot get them from your merchant, send his name to us, and we will arrange so he has them in stock if he is reliable. Send for circulars. Address:

VICTOR REMEDIES CO.,
5tf Frederick, Md.

A MAN
UNACQUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THE COUNTRY WILL OBTAIN MUCH INFORMATION FROM A STUDY OF THIS MAP OF THE Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Ry.

Including Lines East and West of the Missouri River. The Direct Route to and from CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND, DAVENPORT, DES MOINES, COUNCIL BLUFFS, WATERTOWN, SIOUX FALLS, MINNEAPOLIS, ST. PAUL, ST. JOSEPH, ATCHISON, LEAVENWORTH, KANSAS CITY, TOPEKA, DENVER, COLORADO SPNGS and PUEBLO. Free Reclining Chair Cars to and from CHICAGO, CALDWELL, HUTCHINSON and DODGE CITY, and Palace Sleeping Cars between CHICAGO, WICHITA and HUTCHINSON.

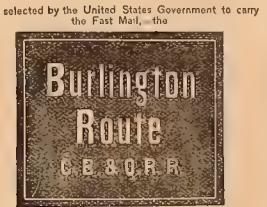
SOLID VESTIBULE EXPRESS TRAINS

of Through Coaches, Sleepers, Free Reclining Chair Cars and (East of Mo. River) Dining Cars daily between CHICAGO, DES MOINES, COUNCIL BLUFFS and OMAHA, with FREE Reclining Chair Car to NORTH PLATTE (Neb.), and between CHICAGO and DENVER, COLORADO SPRINGS and PUEBLO, via St. Joseph, or Kansas City and Topeka. Splendid Dining Hotels west of St. Joseph and Kansas City. Excursions daily, with Choice of Routes to and from Salt Lake, Portland, Los Angeles and San Francisco. The Direct Line to and from Pike's Peak, Manitou, Garden of the Gods, the Sanitariums, and Scenic Grandeurs of Colorado,

Via The Albert Lea Route.

Solid Express Trains daily between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, with THROUGH Reclining Chair Cars (FREE) to and from those points and Kansas City. Through Chair Car and Sleeper between Peoria, Spirit Lake and Sioux Falls via Rock Island. The Favorite Line to Watertown, Sioux Falls, the Summer Resorts and Hunting and Fishing Grounds of the Northwest.

The Short Line via Seneca and Kankakee offers facilities to travel to and from Indianapolis, Cincinnati and other Southern points.



For Tickets, Maps, Folders, or desired information, apply at any Coupon Ticket Office, or address

E. ST. JOHN, JOHN SEBASTIAN,
Gen'l Manager. Gen'l Tkt. & Pass. Agt.
CHICAGO, ILL.

CINCINNATI BELL FOUNDRY CO
SUCCESSORS TO BLYMYER BELLS TO THE
BLYMYER MANUFACTURING CO
CATALOGUE WITH 1800 TESTIMONIALS.
BELLS, CHURCH, SCHOOL, FIRE ALARM

McSHANE BELL FOUNDRY
Finest Grade of Bells.
CHIMES AND PEALS FOR CHURCHES, &c.,
Send for Price and Catalogue. Address
H. McSHANE & CO.,
Mention this paper, Baltimore, Md.

WHEN YOU TRAVEL
Take the
Line selected by the United States Government to carry the Fast Mail, the

As it is the Line running Through Trains to and from the following cities and towns on its own Lines:

CHICAGO,
AURORA, OTTAWA,
STREATOR, ROCKFORD, DUBUQUE,
LA CROSSE, ST. PAUL, MINNEAPOLIS,
MENDOTA, PEORIA, GALESBURG, ST. LOUIS,
QUINCY, KEOKUK, BURLINGTON, WASHINGTON,
OSKALOOSA, DES MOINES, CHARITON,
CRESTON, ST. JOSEPH, ATCHISON,
KANSAS CITY, NEBRASKA CITY,
OMAHA, COUNCIL BLUFFS,
LINCOLN & DENVER,

Making Direct Connections
TO AND FROM
NEW YORK,
BALTIMORE, WASHINGTON,
CINCINNATI, PHILADELPHIA, BOSTON,
NEW ORLEANS, LOUISVILLE, SAN FRANCISCO,
LOS ANGELES, SALT LAKE CITY, COLORADO AND
PACIFIC COAST RESORTS, CITY OF MEXICO,
PORTLAND, OREGON, MANITOBA,
VICTORIA AND PUGET SOUND
POINTS.

Good Equipment,
Good Service,
Good Connection.

For information concerning the Burlington Route, apply to the nearest Ticket Agent of the C., B. & Q. or connecting railroads.

HENRY B. STONE, PAUL MORTON,
General Manager, Gen'l Pass. & Ticket Agt.,
CHICAGO, ILL.

THE GOSPEL MESSENGER.

"Set for the Defense of the Gospel."

Vol. 27. Old Series. Mt. Morris, Ill., and Huntingdon, Pa., August 27, 1889. No. 34.

The Gospel Messenger.

H. B. BRUMBAUGH, Editor,
And Business Manager of the Eastern House, Box 50 Huntingdon, Pa.

ELD. P. S. MYERS preached the "Harvest Home" sermon for the James Creek, Pennsylvania brethren, J. M. Mohler for the Aughwick, and we were with the Duncansville church.

OUR brethren will please remember that we have nothing to do with the sale or sending out of the Minutes of Annual Meeting. Those wishing to get information about them should write to the Secretary of the last meeting, Eld. J. G. Royer, Mt. Morris, Ill.

BRO. A. C. WIEAND, of Ohio, writes us that he will return to Huntingdon for the coming school year and will bring with him, his sister. This is right, and more brothers should do the same thing. In education, what is good for the boy is also good for the girl.

THE brethren of the Antietam church, Pennsylvania, have decided to hold their Love-feast in the Welty church-house on the 5th and 6th of October, preaching services to be continued over Sunday. Those wishing to attend by railroad, will stop off at Edgemont, Maryland.

SOME of our churches are needing a revival, whether of the fittest or unfittest, we don't know, perhaps both. Whatever we need in this direction must have its origin in our own hearts and experiences. When we look outside of ourselves for spiritual life, we look in the wrong direction, and will be disappointed. God's spirit addresses the individual—the soul.

THE Advance, a sixteen page monthly, devoted to education, literature and the interests of the "Normal College," Huntingdon, Pennsylvania, which has been under the ban of suspension since 1885, has again come forth in all its youthful vigor and freshness. It has not been dead, but sleeping, and is now wide awake, and number ten now goes forth on its mission, filled with useful and interesting matter for all such as are interested in the educational work of our church. Free copies will be sent to all who ask for them. Address this office, Huntingdon, Pennsylvania.

THE attention of our brethren and friends in business is directed to our Almanac as an advertising medium. The cover pages are devoted to this purpose. And as it circulates and remains in the homes of a first-class people, as buyers, during the whole year, it forms an excellent medium for advertisers of salable goods, such as are bought by good farmers, mechanics, and housekeepers. The edition is 12,000, and distributed through the Southern, Middle, and Western States. The terms are very low, considering the circulation. One page, $50.00; one column, $28.00; one-half column, $14.00; one-quarter column, $8.00; one-eighth column, $5. Application for space should be made soon.

ELD. P. S. MYERS and wife, after enjoying a long and pleasant visit in the East, are now on their way homeward to his western home. Eld. Myers should be located where his services are most needed. There is too much work to be done to leave any ministerial talent unutilized.

DURING our absence from home, brother Holsopple, who is now with us, was called to preach the funeral of sister Hannah, wife of brother Horatio Harshberger, of Manor Hill. For the last six months she was a great sufferer, but is now released, and has gone to her reward. She was a faithful and devoted Christian, and her loss will be felt in her home and community. They had no children. The family and friends have our sympathies in their bereavement.

WE have been asked to harmonize the terms, Sunday, Lord's Day, and Sabbath, as used in our editorial, headed, "The Sabbath" on first page of number 30. We used the terms as being interchangeable and synonymous in meaning, and had no reference to the difference of opinion held by some as to whether the seventh or first day of the week should be recognized as the Christian Sabbath. When we feel it our duty to discuss the Sabbath question in that light, we shall use our terms accordingly. At present we are not impressed with such necessity.

WHILE on our way to the Duncansville church, last week, we made a pleasant call at the home of Eld. J. W. Wilt in Altoona, Pennsylvania. He informs us that the cause there is moving along fairly, and that they are trying to do the best they can under existing circumstances. But here we have the old story. Bro. Wilt is running a grocery store, which takes his time from Monday morning to Saturday evening, with a large number of annoyances, that belong to the business, thrown in. This makes six days' business labor of about fifteen hours, for each week, and how much to attend to the affairs of the church and prepare one or two new sermons each week? Who can tell? And who can run a church successfully in a city after this order? If Bro. Wilt, or any other minister can run a business of this kind successfully, and at the same time attend to the needful work of a minister in a city, he ought to be set up as a sample of the extraordinary.

CAUSES FOR THANKSGIVING.

THE Psalmist has said, "It is a good thing to give thanks unto the Lord," and during our late harvest sermons much has been said on the subject of thanksgiving, and yet, we suppose, that, after all that has been said, there are many who failed to see cause for special thanksgiving. The season, as a whole, has been a favorable one for growing crops, and the harvest of the different grains promised especially good. But in connection with the copious showers of rain we had our storms and floods, which proved very destructive to the crops in certain localities, and while some enjoyed abundant crops, others sustained great losses. While it is easy to see why the former should be very thankful, it is not so readily seen on what grounds the latter,—those who have sustained heavy losses,—should rejoice and give thanks.

Looking at these things from a human standpoint, men are often made to weep instead of rejoice. When David and his men came to Ziklag, and found it burned with fire, and their wives and sons and daughters taken captive, they lifted up their voices and wept, until they had no more power to weep. David looked upon the destruction of his city and the taking captive of his wives and children as a great calamity. But it was then that he sought the Lord, and the Lord heard him, and everything that was taken was restored again, and his faith in the Lord was greatly increased, which was worth many times more to him than all his losses.

If we could see it, the same results always grow out of the calamities that befall us if we do as David did. Our causes for thanksgiving do not always consist in our abundance, our successes and our large crops. An implicit faith and trust in the Lord is the great essential. Having this, we are enabled to lay hold upon the promises which are full and precious above all worldly prosperity that can be ours to enjoy. Of all the many glorious promises made to us there is none so exceedingly precious as this one: "All things work together for good to them that love the Lord." Being the subjects of this promise, let come what may, we can rejoice because, whatever it may be, will be for our good, and this is what we want.

If it be success in business or the reaping and gathering of large crops, and we love the Lord, our good will be enhanced. Of course, if we love the Lord, we will use that which he gives us, to his work and glory. If, instead of success, failures meet us, the storms and the floods destroy our crops and the fires consume our property, it is still for our good, if we can believe and have patience for the Lord, to fulfill his promises.

We know of those who have always the expression of praise on their lips. If their crops are poor they always see those who have worse. If afflictions come, they recall to mind those whose afflictions have been deeper than their own, and when calamities befall, they thank God that they were not greater. And when clouds, so dark that they can not see through them, hang over, they, child-like, fall into the arms of their Heavenly Father and trust,—simply trust. Such a faith and trust is better than houses and lands and all the crops that the earth can yield, and whatever is necessary to give it to us should be our cause for thanksgiving.

While we feel that God has most abundantly blessed us in all of our relations in life, our experience in an abiding faith and trust has been most blessed and precious when overshadowed by the darkest clouds. Then it was that we encouraged ourself in the Lord,—we sought him and he heard us. Blessed be his name!

Allen Boyer 1890

ESSAYS.

"Study to show thyself approved unto God; a workman that needeth not be ashamed, rightly dividing the Word of Truth."

MEET ME THERE.

On the happy golden shore,
Where the faithful part no more,
When the storms of life are o'er,
Meet me there!
Where the night dissolves away,
Into pure and perfect day,
I am going home to stay—
Meet me there!

Chorus:—Meet me there! Meet me there!
Where the tree of life is blooming,
Meet me there!
When the storms of life are o'er,
On that happy, golden shore,
Where the faithful part no more,
Meet me there!

Here our fondest hopes are vain,
Dearest ties are rent in twain,
But in heaven no throb of pain!
Meet me there!
By the river sparkling bright,
In the City of Delight,
Where our faith is lost in sight!
Meet me there!

There the harps of angels ring,
And the blest forever sing,
In the palace of our King!
Meet me there!
Where in sweet communion blend,
Heart with heart and friend with friend,
In a world that ne'er shall end!
Meet me there!

Selected by D. B. Gibson.

FAMILY WORSHIP.

BY SAMUEL T. HARNES.

So much has been said and written upon this subject, that it may seem strange that we should still further consider it. It seems needful, however, to press upon the reader the duty of prayer. It seems to be a sign of the present reviving state of the church, that more attention is given to a spirit of devotion; but yet it is to be feared that too many are tempted to make a profession of religion, and talk about important duties, while devout prayer, meditation, self-examination and reading the Scriptures are neglected in their families. Without prayer, indeed, no man can possess spiritual life; yet we are not saved by our prayers, but rather through the spirit in which they are offered. By the spirit of our prayers it is manifest whether we have or have not a full and ardent love for God.

In considering the importance of family worship, let us look at the example of Abraham, the father of the faithful. We notice his family piety,—that for which he was blessed, and his household after him, by Jehovah himself. Abraham prayed with, and instructed, his family. Wherever he fixed his tent, there he built an altar to the Lord. This he did on the Plain of Moriah, and when he removed to a mountain on the east of Bethel, he built an altar unto the Lord, and called upon the name of the Lord. Gen. 12: 7, 8.

If we neglect this solemn duty of family worship, it tends to show that we do not really belong to Christ. Think of Joshua, who said to all Israel, "Choose you this day whom ye will serve: * * * * as for me and my house we will serve the Lord." Josh. 24: 15. His various oppressive, public labors did not prevent his attention to family worship, and should we, as real Christians, let our labor prevent our attention to family worship? When David had brought the ark of God into the temple, with gladness and thanksgiving, after blessing and dismissing the people in the name of the Lord of hosts, he returned to bless his household. 2 Sam. 6: 10. In addition to these, might be added the examples found in Job 1: 5; Daniel 6: 10, and others.

If we, as Christians, would obtain the blessing of God in our households, let us assemble our families daily for prayer and praise. Observe the praise given to Cornelius,—"he was a devout man, and one that feared God with all his house, which gave much alms to the people, and prayed to God alway." Acts 10: 2. The early Christians were earnest in their devotions, and why should not the Christians of the present time be so?

Think of our Savior! His disciples were faithfully instructed in religious knowledge (Matt. 13: 51; 16: 13), and he often prayed with them. Luke 9: 18; 11: 1. We call ourselves Christians; then let us remember, "He that saith he abideth in him ought himself also to walk, even as he walked." 1 John 2: 6.

We see, also, that those who neglect the worship of God in their families, are under the displeasure of the Almighty! Awful thought,—under the frown of the Most High! Observe what is said, "Pour out thy fury upon the heathen that know thee not, and upon the families that call not on thy name." Jer. 10: 25. We, as Christians, should earnestly seek for pardon through the blood of Christ, and henceforth walk in newness of life—yes, begin to-day! If the heathen and their families are to be thus punished, judge ye what will become of those families in a Christian land, living without regard to God and his worship!

In attending to our duty, we are followers of those who, through faith and patience, inherit the promise. Family prayer gains for the Christian the presence and blessing of our Lord, in whom we have redemption through his blood, and the forgiveness of sin, according to the riches of his grace. Eph. 1: 7. We have the promise of his presence, for we read, "I say unto you, That if two of you shall agree on earth as touching any thing that they shall ask, it shall be done for them of my Father which is in heaven." Matt. 18: 19.

Family prayer has also this advantage: It helps us to give a public testimony of our religion. We thereby show whose we are and whom we serve. I have heard Christians called on to lead in public prayer, who refused, because they had never exercised their talent at home. It is well to let prayer be the first employment of the early morning, and the last in the evening, for Holy Writ tells us, "Men ought always to pray, and not to faint." The devil is not indolent or negligent around us. Our flesh is ever liable to sin, and averse to the spirit of prayer, but if we have obeyed that form of doctrine from the heart, found in the New Testament, then are we able to withstand the fiery darts of the wicked one. "What things soever ye desire, when ye pray, believe that ye receive them, and ye shall have them." Mark 11: 24.

Dear reader, consider well this subject, and also the precious Word of Jesus, which is able to save us, and may both reader and writer be accounted worthy to obtain an inheritance in the world beyond!

Nat. Sol. Home, Dayton, Ohio.

THE PERFECT LAW.

BY LIZZIE MILLER.

"But whoso looketh into the perfect law of liberty, and continueth therein, he being not a forgetful hearer, but a doer of the work, this man shall be blessed in his deed."—James 1: 25.

AMEN! do I respond to the lines penned by sister Gertrude Flory, in No. 30. While you think, dear sister, that there has been sufficient said on this subject,—the prayer covering,—nearly all has been said by the brethren. We appreciate their words of instruction, but we feel there is no part of the Perfect Law, that is so entirely a woman's work, as the prayer covering. And I believe there could be much good done and encouragement given, "pure minds stirred up by way of remembrance," if the sisters would write and talk together more on this subject.

With this view I take up my pen. Dear sisters, do we not all believe the Gospel is a perfect law? And are we not to be doers of that law? Dare we lay aside any part of it? "If any man shall take away from the words of the book of this prophecy, God shall take away his part out of the book of life." Rev. 22: 19. Why did Paul speak of the prayer covering in such a sacred book as the Bible, if it was not intended to be worn in time of prayer? He tells us, "Judge in yourselves: is it comely that a woman pray unto God uncovered?" "Every woman that prayeth or prophesieth with her head uncovered," etc. Do we want any plainer command that our heads should be covered in time of prayer?

This does not mean only during the communion service, or when we go to the house of worship, but it means in time of prayer, wherever it may be,—in the church, in the closet, at the family altar, and at the table,—and sad I am to say that the latter is so much neglected. Sisters, do we not pray at the table? Do not our thoughts go up to God in silent prayer the same as when on our knees? Ought we not to have the prayer covering on? Some say it is too much trouble to wear it every time they go to the table. Try it, sisters, and see how easy it is when we once have the willing mind, and can say, "Thy will be done, not mine!" By every duty we perform we grow stronger. Every neglected duty causes us to become weaker. There is no standing still in this spiritual work.

Again, the prayer covering is worn at the table in our schools, by the sisters, and what must the students think when they come to our tables, and see us without the covering? Daughters go home and find mother not wearing it at the table. Will the daughter lay it aside because mother does not wear it? Yes!

Can we not, by our example at home, help our daughters in this work, help our schools along, and help those who have charge of the schools, who have so much with which to contend? Let us remember that the Gospel is to be our judge, and that the prayer covering will meet us in judgment as part of the Perfect Law!

Nickerson, Kans.

COMMANDMENTS.

BY J. H. BEER.

THE authority of the Lord extends over the whole earth. In Psalms 33: 8, 9 we read: "Let all the earth fear the Lord: let all the inhabitants of the world stand in awe of him. For he spake, and it was done; he commanded, and it stood fast." This shows his authority and power over his creatures, and that due obedience is required to his laws. Deut. 11: 22; 1 John 2: 4, 5. To appoint and establish firmly this Word, also includes instruction and exhortation. Jer. 1: 7–17; Ex. 7: 2. Thus saith the Lord, "Speak all that I command thee!"

Not unfrequently do we hear persons say they can be saved without obeying all the commandments. What a fallacious theory, when examined in the light of the Gospel! We ask all such to turn with us to Gal. 1: 6–9, where Paul says, "I marvel that you are so soon removed from him that called you into the grace of Christ unto another gospel: which is not another; but there be some that trouble you, and would pervert the gospel of Christ." Turning to Rev. 22: 18, 19, we read, "For I testify unto every man that heareth the words of the prophecy of this book, If any man shall add unto these things, God shall add unto him the plagues that are written in this book: and if any man shall take away from the words of the book of this prophecy, God shall take away his part out of the book of life, and out of the holy city, and from the things which are written in this book."

Paul says that Jesus is the Author and Finisher of our faith. Here we learn that Jesus is the Author of our faith. He has not left it for man to finish to suit his own opinion,—he is also the Finisher of it.

We often hear it said, If we are only honest in what we believe, it is all that is required as a means of justification. At first thought this may have a shade of reason, but, like the first, it is deceptive, for the Scripture teaches that whosoever transgresseth and abideth not in the doctrine of Christ, hath not God. 2 John 1: 9. Philosophy says, "If you are only honest in your belief," while the Word says, "The time cometh that whosoever killeth you will think that he doeth God service." Reader, which will you accept? Christ, as the divine Son of God, learned by experience what it is to obey God in the midst of manifold temptations and sufferings. Thus he was qualified to succor those who are in like circumstances, and being made perfect, "he became the author of eternal life unto all them that OBEY HIM." Heb. 5: 9.

It was said to the rich young man who inquired what to do to inherit eternal life, "Thou knowest the commandments; keep them all." "These," he said, "have I kept from my youth up." "Yet," it was said, "one thing thou lackest, sell that thou hast and give to the poor, and follow me, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven." He went away sorrowing, like many to-day, who are unwilling to make any sacrifice, but go on trying to believe, if they are only honest in their belief, they will finally be numbered with those who have come up through great trials and tribulations, and made their robes white in the blood of the Lamb.

The evidence of our assurance is given by the Apostle John. "Hereby we do know that we know him, if we keep his commandments." Every true child of God has this evidence, and "this is the evidence that God's love is shed abroad in our hearts: if we love God we keep his words." 1 John 2: 5. He that saith, I know him, and keepeth not his commandments, is a liar, and the truth is not in him." 1 John 2: 4. Without obeying God's Word, we have not that assurance that speaketh on this wise, for if this, our earthly house, were dissolved, we have a building not made with hands, eternal in the heavens. With Solomon of old, let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter, "Of making many books there is no end." "Fear God, and keep his commandments."

Rockton, Pa.

"MAKING THE WORD OF GOD OF NONE EFFECT THROUGH YOUR TRADITION."—Mark 7: 13.

BY JOHN FORNEY.

"But ye say, Whosoever shall say to his father or his mother, It is a gift, by whatsoever thou mightest be profited by me; and honor not his father or his mother, he shall be free. Thus have ye made the commandment of God of none effect by your tradition."—Matt. 15: 5, 6.

FROM the above Scripture it is evident that the scribes and Pharisees had more respect for their traditions in the time of Christ than for the commandments of God, so much so that their worship, which they did offer to God, was all in vain, because they taught for doctrine the commandments of men. This is not the only charge the Lord Jesus Christ found against them. He disapproved their seeking honor of men, their love of the "uppermost rooms at feasts, and the chief seats in the synagogues, and greetings in the markets, and to be called of men, Rabbi, Rabbi." May this be a warning to us not to be like unto them, neither in teaching nor in practice, for we hear Christ say to his disciples, "Except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees, ye shall in no case enter into the kingdom of heaven."

How careful, then, we must be in our teaching that we do not make the Word of God of none effect, and substitute something of our own! It is very dangerous "to break one of the least commandments and to teach men so, or to take away from the words of the book of this prophecy." If we do, "God shall take away our part out of the book of life, and out of the holy city, and from the things which are written in this book."

We are not safe to add any of our own to the Word, for God is not a respecter of persons. Christ reproved the scribes and the Pharisees for their hypocrisy, because they taught the children in their day contrary to the law of Moses, even in the bringing of their offerings to God.

God made special provision for both, the child under the father's care, and the wife of a husband, that if either of them vowed a vow to bring an offering to the Lord, or bound her soul, she was to keep it only by the sanction of her husband, or, if single, by the consent of the father. If he had anything against it, she was released from the vow. Num. 30. But the scribes and Pharisees, after they made merchandise of these gifts that were brought to the house of God for an offering to God, sold the gifts and treasured up the money, and therefore taught the children contrary to the law of God. Mark 7: 11, 12.

In the above example we can see what authority the scribes and Pharisees used over the Word of the Lord, in making the Word of God of none effect. No wonder that "the zeal of his house hath eaten him up," and that the Lord Jesus said unto them that sold doves, "Take these things hence; make not my father's house a house of merchandise." John 2: 14–17. Luke 19: 46 says: "It is written, My house is the house of prayer: but ye have made it a den of thieves."

Let us look at the case of king Saul, how he fared when he made the command of God of none effect. By the request of the people, and with the best motive, he brought sacrifice unto the Lord. Hear him boast of himself to Samuel, the prophet of God, "Yea, I have obeyed the voice of the Lord, and have gone the way which the Lord sent me." Now comes the answer of the Lord through Samuel: "Hath the Lord as great delight in burnt offerings and sacrifices as in obeying the voice of the Lord? Behold, to obey is better than sacrifice, and to hearken than the fat of rams. For rebellion is as the sin of witchcraft, and stubbornness is as iniquity and idolatry. Because thou hast rejected the word of the Lord, he hath also rejected thee from being king." 1 Sam. 15: 19–23.

I will give one more example of Scripture as a warning to all. "And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying, Speak unto the children of Israel, and bid them that they make them fringes in the borders of their garments throughout their generations, and that they put upon the fringe of the borders a ribband of blue." Num. 15: 37–40. When we read Num. 16: 1–33, we learn the dreadful fall it brought upon all those who rebelled, and counted the Word of God of none effect. They said, "We will not do it. The people are holy and the Lord is amongst us." They said to Moses, "You make the things too many." Read for yourselves the full narrative, and see how the Lord rewarded them for their disobedience to his command, how the earth opened her mouth and swallowed them up.

Let us take heed lest any of us have an evil heart of unbelief in departing from the Living God! "Our God is not a respecter of persons." If his people could not escape the penalty of his law under former dispensations, let us not flatter ourselves that we can escape if we refuse to do his commandments, even those things that might seem as small to us as the ribbon and the fringe looked to the Israelites, and they said they were holy without that and they could not see that it would make them any better! So you and I may reason within ourselves, when we read the commands of God, given to us by our Lord and Master Jesus Christ. We are not to swear at all, not to avenge ourselves upon our enemies, but do them good, bless them when they curse us. We are to overcome evil with good, and be a light to the world. We must obey all that the Lord has placed into his church, for we know that we are to live by every word that Christ has given us.

Let no one say, "It is enough for me when I have repented of my old sins, when I have been converted, and become a changed man! I am now a praying man. I feel that God is satisfied with me even if I do not all that the Lord and the apostles taught,—such as baptism for the remission of sins, or feet-washing, or the salutation of the holy kiss, or the Lord's Supper, in connection with the communion."

Oh, let me entreat of thee, my dear brother, whoever you are, never say like king Saul did, unless you "have obeyed the voice of the Lord and have gone the way which the Lord sent you." King Saul said he did the will when he knew that he had not done as the Lord told him. When he was called to an account for his iniquity, he frankly confessed that he did the will of man, and that he had sinned; but it was now too late; for the Lord had rejected him and had pronounced judgment upon him. Out of the kingdom he had to go, and at last came to a bad end.

My dear reader, if we reject the Word of God, and do rather the commandments of men than obey the commandments of God, the Lord will justly reject us. In the day of judgment it matters not how much we may boast of having done the will of the Lord; the Lord will know us as he also knew him, and if we have rejected any part of God's will, he surely will reject us from his kingdom, for he saith, "Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven." Matt. 7: 21.

Abilene, Kans.

KNOWN BY ITS FRUITS.

BY GEORGE L. JENNINGS.

"Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful. But his delight is in the law of the Lord; and in his law doth he meditate day and night. And he shall be like a tree planted by the rivers of water, that bringeth forth his fruit in his season; his leaf also shall not wither; and whatsoever he doeth shall prosper."—Ps. 1–3.

IT is a very important remark of our Savior and one frequently quoted, and universally applicable to all, whether in or out of the Christian church, that a tree is known by its fruits. When, therefore, a particular kind of tree is described to us and we find a tree whose fruit answers, in every particular, to the given description, we find no difficulty in deciding as to the particular character of that tree.

God, in his holy Word, has laid down, in minute details, the fruits and works of righteousness, which the true follower of the Lord Jesus Christ brings forth, so that we may be enabled to judge as to who does and who does not belong to that class of persons.

We are commanded in the Word of God to love God with our whole heart and with all the powers of our mind. Now the faithful observance of this command will naturally lead us to observe what Paul inculcates in another place,—that we shall not conform to the foolish, sinful fashions of this world.

Any one who has tasted the love of God in Christ Jesus, and who knows that God requires of him a holy and pious life, and also believes that without such he can not be saved, will most assuredly suffer his mind to be frequently and deeply engaged on those objects which most concern the salvation of his soul.

We are informed that God wants his people to be a separate people from the world; that there shall be a line drawn between them that the sheep may be known from the goats. Yes, there ought to be a marked difference in the conduct and conversation between the people of God and the people of the world. Ought not every lover of Truth pause and consider well his own condition, and see if he is separate from the world? Has not Christ said, "Ye cannot serve God and mammon"? Has not the Lord also said that the children of this world are wiser in their generation than the children of light?

If we look around upon the nations of the earth and observe their dealings with each other, their anxiety to get gain, to accumulate wealth, to clothe themselves with honor, to enrich themselves with the spoils of their fellow-men, we are led to conclude that they are trying to build to themselves everlasting habitations on earth. We need not, however, go to other nations for examples of this kind; but let us investigate the condition of communities in our midst. Is it not to be regretted that we are too worldly-minded? Is it not too true that all our actions are not based upon the humble requisitions of the Gospel of Christ? Do we show that we seek a city unseen by mortal eyes?

It is true, we have a right to use the things of this world, but we should be exceedingly careful that we do not forgetfully abuse them. But how few of us are contented with a respectable share of this world's goods! If we use time and substance in promulgating the cause of Christ, have we not the promise of treasures in heaven, incorruptible, and a house in the city not made with hands, eternal in the heavens?

"Blessed is the man that standeth not in the way of sinners." But what will be the condition of those who, by their unchristian conduct, keep many out of the church? "But," say they, "we are all right; we have been baptized and have a good standing in the church and our names are in the church book." Dear fellow-traveler to eternity, are you as sure that your name is enrolled in the Lamb's Book of Life, and that you will be permitted to enter in and partake of the marriage supper of the Lamb beyond the confines of this life? Those are things we ought to meditate upon, and see how we stand in that direction.

Some are standing outside the gate, waiting for the stumbling-block to be removed before they can enter. No doubt some are not very far from the kingdom, but are not in it. Step over the stumbling-block and come in and labor in the Master's cause. Remember, that while you linger outside the gate you are being borne rapidly down the stream by the current of time, and your privileges are lessening.

Holy Writ says, "To day, if ye will hear his voice, harden not your hearts." You say, "After a while." Why is it that so many people prefer living outside the church and away from the tender Shepherd's care, when within there are so many pleasures to be realized? The cold and cheerless world offers nothing that can be compared to the rich pastures and the "still waters" of the life of the Christian, nor are they enduring and satisfying in their nature. True, you may enjoy a few trifling pleasures in the giddy rounds of fashion, but there are times when those transitory things are not appreciated and you long for something higher and nobler,—a want that can only be filled by accepting Christ and yielding obedience to his requirements.

We often see people resort to paint and jewels and other extras, to attract attention. They should remember that it is better to cultivate their mind and exhibit a lovely disposition. Turn your eye from beholding vanity now, in the days of your youth, and do not wait until you get old. David, when he was near the confines of the grave, prayed the Lord to turn his eyes from beholding vanity. If all would depart from vanity and spend their precious time working in the Master's vineyard, what a number of Priscillas, Phebes and Marys we would have!

How can we keep our eyes from beholding vanity? Have we forgotten, or don't we believe that Jesus has promised to be with us if only two or three are gathered together in his name?

Middletown, Ind.

"I WILL; BE THOU CLEAN." Mark 1: 41.

BY H. W. STRICKLER.

On the Sabbath after his arrival in the city, the Messiah went into the synagogue and taught. People were astonished at his doctrine, for his word was with power. In the synagogue was a demoniac whom he healed. Afterwards, in the house of Peter, he restored to health, also by his word, Peter's mother-in-law, sick of a fever. Thus the early part of the Sabbath was passed in Capernaum,—a time full of wonder and of strange surmisings among the people. Twice had this teacher declared himself to be the Messiah whom the nation had expected. Though he came not with earthly pomp, yet there was a strange mightiness in him. The spirits obeyed him; disease left the wan and haggard frame at his command, and health flushed over the system. His very presence had a power in it.

Such was this teacher as he had appeared that day in divine instructions in the synagogue, and afterwards among the people,—filling them with many contradictory and perplexing thoughts. There was a hurrying to and fro,—not only in the city, but in all the country round about. People were carrying to the bedside of the afflicted the cheering news that a healer was among them whose power was sufficient for every disease. How eagerly they listened to him! It is touching to notice how the poor and miserable come to him for help for the body, and how they go away from him with the first tidings of Christ that ever met their ears.

Evening came on in Capernaum, after the preaching in the synagogue. The shadows of the Galilean hills were cast over the beautiful lake. A fair, quiet, Sabbath evening was seen without, but within the city all was excitement and bustle. "All of the city was gathered together at the door" of the house where the Messiah was sitting. The whole region was stirred up, for the fame of Christ as a person, wonderful in healing as well as in teaching, had been rapidly spread abroad. As people heard the certainty of cure, they hurried joyfully to communicate the intelligence to the sick.

What intelligence it was! The wan form was inspired with hope, the wasted found sudden energy and came to the Great Healer, the despairing had new words of comfort whispered in their ears and took courage. Volunteer aid was ready for those who needed it, and speedily, among the crowds of the curious, blocking up the street, those of all forms and stages of diseases were trying to force their way. The chronic cases of many years were healed,—the plaintive voice, so long sharpened by pain and almost unused to any other than outbursts of anguish, was changed to sounds of joy and praise. O make way, let them see that Jesus! Let them reach this Deliverer! Let them come before him that he may see the distorted or wasted form and be moved to pity! As the sick were borne along, the healed met them with shouts of joy and praises to God, while the wondering crowds could scarcely believe their own senses as they saw them return as if brought alive from the dead. All who came were healed.

Thus the night settled down over Capernaum,—an agitated city, full of wonder, full of joy!

The Messiah, however, did not continue here long, for much work remained to be done in other parts of Galilee. Rising in the morning, long before day, he resorted to a retired place for communion with heaven, but the disciples came to him with the message that "all men are seeking thee." The multitude followed immediately after, with the entreaty that he would stay with them, but he replied, "I must preach the kingdom of God to other cities also, for thereto am I sent."

He proceeded now to traverse Galilee once more, preaching as he went. The multitude joining and following him had become very great, for his fame had extended throughout Syria and Decapolis, east of the Jordan, and people from all those regions and from Jerusalem and Judea generally, as well as from all parts of Galilee, were hurrying to him. The sick were brought: "All sick people that were taken with divers diseases and torments, and those which were possessed with devils, and those which were lunatic, and those that had the palsy; and he healed them." Matt. 4: 23-25. What strange sensations there must have been among those multitudes in Galilee, watching the sick coming up, and beholding them immediately depart, well and sound. They could not doubt the miracles; yet they were not satisfied; they walked in a maze of thought.

There was wonderful power, as well as beauty, in these truths which their hearts acknowledged. There was a strange presence in him around whom they were crowding, a glow seemingly from heaven itself, shining out through his countenance. His miracles had the stamp of divinity upon them. But when he spoke to the people of a kingdom in men's hearts and souls, embracing alike Jew and Gentile, Greek and Roman, making a brotherhood of all men, making it a duty to love even their enemy, whose iron heel was pressing heavily upon their necks, their feelings revolted, and the glorious truths of the new kingdom fell idly on their ears.

One day they all recoiled in horror and dismay from the presence of Christ, for there was suddenly before him, and at his feet, a form that scarcely seemed human, disfigured with leprosy, the worst disease known in that land. It was considered contagious. Persons afflicted with it were excluded, by the law, from society, and were compelled to prevent any accidental approach to them, by giving a warning cry, "Unclean, unclean!" It is impossible to say how this man came to break this law. The crowd had given way before him in horror and alarm, and there he was at the feet of Christ, with a plaintive and broken cry: "Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me clean."

A competent writer says of this disease: "It can not be cured; the common marks by which leprosy may be discerned are these: The voice becomes hoarse like that of a dog which has been barking long, and comes through the nose, rather than through the mouth; the pulse is small and heavy, slow and disordered; the blood abounds with white corpuscles; the eyes are red and inflamed, and project out of the head, but cannot be moved either to the right or left; the ears are swollen and red, corroded with ulcers about the roots of them, and encompassed with small kernels; the nose sinks, because the cartilage rots: the nostrils are opened, and the passage stopped with ulcers at the bottom; the tongue is dry, black, swelled, ulcerated, shortened, divided into ridges, and beset with little white pimples; the skin is uneven, hard, and insensible; even if a hole be made in it, or it be cut, a putrefied sanies issues from it instead of blood."

An American author of thirty years' observation in Palestine, describes its progress as follows: "The hair falls from the head and eyebrows; the nails loosen, decay and drop off; joint after joint of the fingers and toes shrinks up and falls away; the nose, the eyes, tongue and palate are slowly consumed, and finally the wretched victim sinks into the earth and disappears, while medicines have no power to stay the ravages of this fell disease, or even to mitigate, sensibly, its tortures."

Such was the nature of the diseases of this man, who, full of it, Luke 5: 12, had now prostrated himself at the Messiah's feet, with the cry, "Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me clean." Abject and loathsome in person, but glorious in faith! The body a horror, but the soul resplendent through his faith! His tongue scarcely uttering intelligible sounds, but pronouncing words of faith that brought salvation! The crowd gazed and watched for the result. It came immediately: "I will, be thou clean;" and Christ touched him."

Who alone of all that vast multitude but Christ would dare to touch one so foul as this man? At his word a transformation took place. The hideous disease was gone, all the foul signs were swept away from his person, and he rose to his feet clean and sound, a well man. Mark 1: 42 With a thrill of joy, such as we can not experience, he looked down upon himself, found that he could use all his limbs, felt the soundness all through his system, saw the people no longer shrinking from him in abhorrence, but gazing in admiration and kindness, and approaching him, lately so shunned, to satisfy themselves of this amazing change! His plaintive cry, "Unclean, unclean!" was exchanged for thanksgiving and rejoicing amid the congratulations which soon poured upon him from the multitudes around. When the man's burst of joy was over, the Messiah charged him to "say nothing to any man." But the man's wild joy could not be restrained, and he published and blazed it abroad.

Soon afterwards, when it was rumored that Christ had returned to Capernaum, the multitude began to gather about him as before, in such crowds "that there was no room to receive them, no, not so much as about the door: and he preached the word unto them." Suddenly there was an interruption. A strange cause it was! On a couch a paralytic, who was unable to help himself, was let down directly in front of the Savior, at his feet. The crowd below, as they saw the couch descending with such tenderness and care, and saw the anxious, earnest faces of the friends above, were deeply moved with sympathy, and gazed at him and at Christ, horror-stricken at the words they heard from the Messiah: "Son, thy sins be forgiven thee." The man rose, well and sound. Wonder of wonders, to see the fullness of strength through all that body, formerly so worn and helpless! Among the spectators there was a tumult. —amazement, awe, fear, held their tongues for a moment. Then came a rush of joy, over all other feeling, and of glorifying God. As they went to their homes they repeated to each other, as well indeed they might, "We never saw it on this fashion. We have seen strange things today." Among them was one carrying homeward his bed, shouting out, along the streets of Capernaum, his glorying to God.

In the words of the Great Teacher, in his doctrine, and in his face there shone out what might well be called, "Divinity enthroned for a while on earth." Let us not make shipwreck of our faith, for by his word he can make us clean.

Loraine, Ill.

THE PAST, PRESENT AND FUTURE.

BY A. A. THRONE.

THERE are three divisions of time,—past, present and future. In looking over our past lives, we can see and behold the many missteps that we have made. By the mercies of God we are the spared monuments of his amazing mercy. We can look back to the Mosaic dispensation and see how God worked with the children of men. By the transgression of our forepareuts we must all die, but as in Adam all die, so in Christ shall all be made alive again.

We find, in reading the Word of God, that there was great wickedness and that abomination abounded on the face of the earth, so God saw fit to destroy the inhabitants from the face of the earth, excepting Noah and his family. What is the world doing to day, but going on in sin and idolatry?

We also find that God had a chosen people upon the earth which are called the Jews. God had promised them a land that should flow with milk and honey. When Moses led them forth from under the bondage of Pharaoh, they wandered through the wilderness forty years, and out of that vast multitude only two entered that goodly land. Why? Because of unbelief. Oh, may we take warning and take God at his word, for his ways are not our ways, and his thoughts are not our thoughts!

As they were journeying through the wilderness, a plague of fiery serpents was sent unto them. The Lord told Moses to lift up a brazen serpent, and whosoever would look upon that, should live. We read in the Bible that as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, so also shall the Son of Man be lifted up. Whosoever looketh on him, shall not perish but have everlasting life. Oh, how many are to day bit by that fiery serpent,—the intoxicating cup! I would to God they would look to Christ and live.

Christ says: "To day, if ye will hear his voice, harden not your hearts, as in the provocation." Yes, to-day is the only accepted time; to-morrow will never come. You may look into the future, but when the future comes, it is always the present; therefore don't delay, for procrastination is a thief of time. Rev. 22: 17: "The Spirit and the bride say, Come. And let him that heareth say, Come. And let him that is athirst come. And whosoever will, let him take the water of life freely."

Brethren and sisters, may we give God the preeminence, and put on the whole armor of God, and manfully battle for the Lord; for the prize is not in the beginning, nor in the middle, but at the end of the race. May we work while it is called to-day, for the night of death will soon come wherein no man can work. The time will come when the "Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first: then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air: and so shall we ever be with the Lord."

Pioneer, Ohio.

DECEPTION.

BY RILEY T. BRUBAKER.

CHRIST said, "Take heed that no man deceive you." By this he gave warning that there shall arise false Christs and false prophets, and, if it were possible, they would deceive the very elect. Thanks to God that it is not possible! "The gates of hell" shall not prevail against his church! There have been many bold attempts to overthrow or bring to naught the principles upon which Christ's church is founded. The deceiver has been trying to eradicate from the divine plan many of the principles. The salutation of the holy kiss, feet-washing, the Lord's Supper, nonconformity and many more of the ordinances of God's house are omitted or disregarded.

Think as you please, there is no man, or set of men, that can set up the plea that only part of the plan of redemption is necessary unto salvation, but what will finally be deceived. "Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven, but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven." The entire will is to be observed, for that is the only safe side. "Be not deceived; God is not mocked, for whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap, for he that soweth to the flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption, but he that soweth to the spirit shall of the spirit reap life everlasting."

There is no possible way of deceiving God. We may pretend to love the Lord with all our being, but continue in the works of the flesh. Thereby we shall reap corruption. We shall reap what we sow, no matter what we think about it.

Pretensions will all fail on the judgment day. The real and genuine only will stand the test. All imitations will fail. Only the true and genuine shall receive the reward. The faithful, though they be few, will not be deceived.

To illustrate, we will take two apple-trees, loaded with apples. The one is a large tree with fine, red apples, very nice to behold, but upon examination the apples are found to be worthless, sour, and ill-flavored. The other is a very small tree, with small, rusty-looking apples which seem to be of no value whatever, but, upon investigation, they prove to be of the best quality. Though small, they have all the essentials to make them the best of apples. Now for the moral! The large tree, with large, well-developed apples represents Christians who make a loud profession but who live as near the world as possible, so as to gain popularity. There are numbers of them, too, but, though many, they will all be deceived. The small tree fairly represents the true and tried, —few in number,—those who follow in the footsteps of Jesus upon the narrow way which leads to joys on high. Such are willing to endorse the entire plan of redemption. There is no inclination to worldlyism, but the reverse,—to become more and more Christ-like. Paul to Timothy said, "But evil men and seducers shall wax worse and worse, deceiving and being deceived." Let us, as children of the Heavenly King, be on the watch tower, looking out for the deceiver!

Virden, Ill.

"KING DAVID said: 'I will keep my mouth with a bridle.' Ps. 39: 1. That was a good resolution. If one does not bridle his tongue, he will say a great many things that he ought not to say, especially when his passions are excited."

LIVES OF THE CÆSARS.

BY W. H. ROOSE.

Number Fourteen.—Tiberius.

TIBERIUS, the third emperor of Rome, who reigned from A. D. 15 to A. D. 38, came to the throne with an excellent genius for business, and an unequaled knowledge of mankind. Notwithstanding these abilities he became perhaps the most gloomy as well as the bloodiest tyrant the world has ever seen. When we become acquainted with him and know with what talents he was endowed, and the way he used them, we can fully realize the degree of depravity to which men may descend when those talents are led by bad hearts.

No one entertained the least idea, when Tiberius took the throne, that he would prove himself so black and fierce a tyrant. He was over fifty years of age when he became emperor, and until that time he did not appear to be worse than other men. It shows under what power of restraint many are placed by surrounding circumstances. Give a man unlimited wealth, power and greatness, and you can see the disposition hitherto smothered in his bosom.

His first acts were those of kindness and good will. No one could see the secret malignity of the heart. His tutor knew something of the cruel disposition with which he was possessed. At one time he said, "He was a lump of earth moistened with blood." When we see his future acts we can see the true cause of his pretended mildness. Though he was first in power and wealth, he was second in personal favor and esteem with the Romans. Germanicus, his nephew, was brave, handsome and amiable; he was the idol of the people, the object of admiration among the soldiers, and they all wished to have him elected emperor of Rome. Envy and jealousy are the prolific sources of many troubles and crimes. These to-be-dreaded weaknesses of mankind are often seen in the common schools, the Sunday-school classes, in aspirants for office and, occasionally, it gets control of members of churches. Its work, when not molested, works ruin wherever found.

Tiberius was determined to rid himself of all superiors by having Germanicus poisoned and his two sons starved to death. One of these youths, called Drusus, suffered terribly for nine days. His hunger was so acute that he chewed the weeds out of which his bed was made.

Now Tiberius' character was unmasked. He was an enemy to the life of every man of eminence and worth. He was not satisfied with all he could have, and determined to make everybody else as miserable as himself. Sometimes he became so furious that he made sudden destruction of men, though his natural turn of mind was to prolong their agonies. His instruments of death were so fearful that Nero, a son of Germanicus, on being shown them and being informed they were to be used in executing him, became so terrified that he committed suicide.

Agrippina mourned so deeply for her husband, Germanicus, that she sought to end her life by starvation, but Tiberius had her mouth forced open and food put down her throat. Having seen her recover from the shock sufficiently to enable her to enjoy life in a small degree, he had her put to death by torture. She was one of Rome's noblest and most esteemed women. Had she then heard of the immortality of the soul, as brought to light through Jesus Christ, and the final separation of the good from the bad to the places where they will be justly compensated for the deeds and thoughts of life, and had she had a just and proper conception of her duties toward herself and her fellow-men, she could not have endured the thoughts of suicide.

If all mankind were to receive the same judgment and enjoy the same future state of happiness, there would be no value to life. We would be wasting our time in making men and women lead better lives, thereby securing the salvation of their souls. To be sure there are many sunbeams that light up the most melancholy life, yet, were we all to enjoy eternal bliss without regard to whether we were good or bad, it would be to our interest to end the sorrows of his life and secure the blessedness of the joys that lie awaiting us. But this is not the true situation in which we are; then let those who are among us who are not laboring on the side of light and immortality, go into the vineyard at once and place a proper value upon a well-spent life, and with those who are laboring so patiently, await the end which is brought about in God's own good time.

Tiberius put a woman to death because she wept for the murder of her own son. It caused him much anguish of mind when he was foiled in torturing a victim, by the victim causing his own death. A prisoner begged that his death might be hastened, but Tiberius replied, "Know that I am not sufficiently your friend to shorten your torments."

One day the emperor expected a friend to visit him and also a criminal who was to be executed on the rack. By mistake the visitor was seized instead of the criminal, placed upon the wheel and broken. When Tiberius was informed of the blunder, he composedly said, "Since you have begun, you may finish your work, and put the man out of his pain."

Another day when a funeral passed, a person jestingly said, "Go and inform Augustus that his legacies to the common people have not yet been paid." The emperor immediately ordered the wit to be seized, and after the share due him was paid, ordered him to be executed, Tiberius calling after him, as he was being dragged away, "Go and tell Augustus that you have received your legacy."

THE VALUE OF TIME.

BY S. O. LARKINS.

"And the angel which I saw stand upon the sea and upon the earth lifted up his hand to heaven, and sware by him that liveth for ever and ever, who created heaven, and the things that therein are, and the earth, and the things that therein are, and the sea, and the things which are therein, that there should be time no longer."—Rev. 10: 5, 6.

WHEN the earth was without form, and void, and no light illuminated the shapeless mass, there was no calculation of time, but when God called forth the light and saw that it was good, he divided the light from the darkness, and the evening and the morning were the first day. The greater light was to give heat, and rule the day,—the lesser light to rule the night. All this was to be a sign for seasons, for days, for months and for years.

God looked down through the ages and saw the necessity for division in time, and, no doubt, decreed that after while it should cease. John says he saw the angel as he stood in his majesty, with one foot on the sea and the other on the land, with his hand uplifted toward heaven, as a token of authority, when he declared by the name of the Great God of heaven and earth, who made the seas and all that in them is, "that time should be no longer." We must believe that John was fully able to understand the situation, and comprehend the full force of the angel's declaration. The words brought no sting to the Revelator's heart, for he was an exile for the Word of God and testimony of Jesus, and was among those who had come up out of great tribulation,—those who had washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb.

Ah, how it would grieve many of us to think that the work of our life-time was for naught, and would all be destroyed! The apostle declares that the earth and the works therein shall be burned up, and that the heavens shall be rolled together as a mighty scroll, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat. No doubt the lamentable cry will be heard echoing and reverberating throughout the length and breadth of the earth, Woe, woe to the inhabitants thereof, for the great day of the wrath of Almighty God has come, and who is able to stand? The sorrowful, pitiful cry will go up from the great men, the mighty men, for the rocks and the mountains to fall on them, and hide them from the face of him that sitteth upon the throne, and from the wrath of the Lamb.

The sight of the Son of Man coming in the clouds of heaven with power and great glory, will make us cry and want to be happy in eternity. The sound of the last trumpet shall awake the nations of the dead, and the dead in Christ shall rise first. "Blessed and holy are they that have part in the first resurrection, for upon such the second death hath no power."

These things are declared unto us in language unmistakably plain, that man should discern the purpose and intent of his being. It is said that the chief end of man is to glorify God and enjoy him forever. But to look at man as he appears to be, it seems that the chief end of man is to go to and fro in the earth, buy and sell and get gain. If, by erecting a house of worship, we gain influence and advantage, and increase in wealth and power among the people, it is done in the name of Christianity and for the salvation of lost souls.

We often sing,

"Salvation, oh the joyful sound,
'Tis music in my ear."

O, how it animates the weary ones, and directs the mind to Calvary! How glad the prisoner is when the day of his freedom dawns! How glad the son or daughter is, when the hour arrives to start homeward to visit father and mother, and see once more the scenes of childhood! With quick steps and throbbing heart the journey is begun, with only one object in view,—to enjoy the full realization of years of longing expectation.

Why should we not be glad when the day of our departure dawns? We have more friends on the other shore than we have here, and they await our coming.

The glorious resurrection morn is awaiting us. Angels are waiting to carry us home. Do we not want to go?

To everything that we have to deal with, there is a value affixed, whether much or little. The value of that which we use is in proportion to the scarcity of the article. Perhaps this is why the great love of God is valued so little and why such a low estimate is placed upon it. It is seen everywhere; it is felt every-where, and its benefits are enjoyed every-where.

The command is to watch, for in such an hour as ye think not the Son of Man doth come. The mind of man is always at work when awake, and he is apt to be absorbed in thoughts, good or bad. The rich man's mind was entirely absorbed in the care of his riches. There is doubt as to whether he ever thought of eternity or the future. That there was plenty of time for the enjoyment of his massive wealth is clearly his thought, from his own language, "This will I do; I will pull down my barns and build greater ones in their stead. I will increase my storage capacity. This house I live in is not one becoming my dignity. I will raze it to the ground and erect one in its stead which will be a monument to my taste and wealth, and one that will be a pleasure to my declining years. I will say to my soul, 'Soul, take thine ease! Look, these great possessions are mine,— these fields of golden grain. These flocks and herds are all mine, with servants in abundance. What more can I want?'" But in the dark and silent watches of the midnight hour, that still, small voice utters, "Thou fool, this night thy soul shall be required of thee. Then whose shall those things be that that thou hast provided? Who shall enjoy the fruit of your anxieties and carefulness, who will rest upon the downy pillows of your luxurious chamber?" Methinks I hear a voice, "A man that has not labored for it, and the doctors of the law who will help divide the inheritance."

The bright new morning with the rising of the glorious sun was never seen by him, for ere it dawned his spirit had fled, his eyelids were closed, and his voice hushed in the stillness of death; his proud heart had ceased to beat and he was numbered among the pale nations of the dead. Death came in an hour when he was not looking for it, and in a moment when he was not aware.

So the Reaper of Death, with his sharp sickle, may lay us low, when our prospects seem brightest, and our fondest hopes seem realized. Then, how important, how very necessary to be always ready, looking, waiting for our Lord to come!

Belshazzar felt secure within the gilded walls of his splendid palace, surrounded by his thousand lords, nobles and princes, drinking from the golden vessels which had been made for the "holy service" at the temple, to the full satisfaction of their rapacious appetites. They looked upon the wine when it was red, and drank it. They praised the gods of gold, of silver, of iron, of stone, of brass and wood which neither see, hear, nor feel, —which were the work of man's hands.

Although they were surrounded by their mighty men of war, the gates and doors carefully guarded,—that same hour there came the fingers of a man's hand and wrote over against the candlestick upon the plaster of the wall of the king's palace. The music ceases, the instruments drop from the musicians' hands, the dancers halt, the wild shouts of drunken hilarity are stilled, the stillness of death reigns throughout the hall of revelry. The king's countenance is changed, his thoughts trouble him, his knees tremble, and are unable to support the weight of his body, his spirit sinks within him, and as he falls backward into the arms of his attendants, he calls loudly to bring the astrologers, the soothsayers, the wise men, hoping thereby to obtain relief from his present distress. All eyes are riveted upon the mysterious hand upon the wall. Where it came from, and how it got there, no one knew, yet it seemed a premonition of coming evil. The bloated and flushed faces of the reveling guests became deathly pale, and no wonder,—the finger of God was writing upon the wall Belshazzar's death warrant, "Mene, mene, tekel, upharsin," — "Thou art weighed in the balances, and art found wanting. God hath numbered thy kingdom, and finished it." The wise men, the astrologers, the soothsayers came in haste at the king's command. In wonder and amazement they gaze upon the hand that has written upon the wall, but they are unable to read or make known the interpretation thereof, notwithstanding the promises of the king. No doubt the stillness of death that reigned about them caused them to be dumb when on other occasions they could easily have devised some mysterious sentence and satisfied the king. The queen coming in, said, "Why is the king sad or his countenance changed? There is a man in thy kingdom in whom is the spirit of the holy gods; and in the days of thy father light and understanding and wisdom, was found in him; whom Nebuchadnezzar thy father, made master of the Chaldeans, magicians, astrologers and soothsayers; forasmuch as an excellent spirit of wisdom and dissolving of doubts and interpreting of dreams was found in him, that is, Daniel, let him be called, and he will shew the interpretation." So Daniel was brought in before the king, and he asked him, "Art thou that Daniel, which art of the children of the captivity of Judah, whom the king my father brought out of Jewry? I have heard of thee, that thou canst make interpretations, and dissolve doubts: now if thou canst read the writing, and make known to me the interpretation thereof, thou shalt be clothed with scarlet, and have a chain of gold about thy neck, and shalt be the third ruler in the kingdom."

Daniel neither coveted gifts nor position, but answered, "Let thy gifts be to thyself, and give thy rewards to another; yet I will read the writing unto the king, and make known to him the interpretation. O thou king, the most high God of heaven and earth gave thy father a kingdom and glory and honor and majesty, and for the majesty that he gave him, all nations, tongues and languages feared before him. Whom he would he slew. Whom he would he kept alive, but when his heart was lifted up in pride, he was deposed from his kingly throne, and his glory was taken from him. He was driven from among men, the heart of a beast was given him, his dwelling was with the wild asses, and they fed him grass like the oxen, and thou his son hast not humbled thine heart though thou knowest all this. But thou hast lifted up thyself against the Lord of heaven, and they have brought in the vessels of his holy sanctuary, and thou, thy wives, lords and concubines have drunk wine in them, and have praised the gods of gold, silver, brass, wood and stone, which neither feel, see, hear or know, and the God in whose hands thy breath is, and whose are all thy ways, thou hast not glorified. Therefore God hath numbered thy kingdom and finished it. In that night was Belshazzar the king of the Chaldeans slain."

Brave Daniel, to stand before a great king and sharply rebuke him! O that we had more men to-day that could say, "Let your gifts be to yourself, and your rewards give to another; we would have fewer fingers of scorn and derision pointed at our holy religion! Shame on that man who will take a bribe, and doubly shame on that man who takes religion for a cloak and allows his judgment to be perverted with bribes.

Like the sons of Samuel, God will take away his inheritance, and he will perhaps come to an untimely end like Hophni and Phinehas, sons of Eli. We can pass this way only once, and the footprints that we are leaving upon the sands of time will be seen by others, and those that follow them may they be led upward, even to the throne on high!

At the close of each day the humble follower of Jesus feels to sing:

"Another closing day! Another setting sun!
What progress have I made, what duty have I done?
Behold thy record, Lord, and see,
If I have tried to follow thee,
And where I've failed, O pardon me,
O pardon me."

Herington, Kans.

THE FULL FRUITION.

What is heaven but supreme goodness unveiled, but every imitable perfection in the character of God impressed on a sanctified mind? Besides, who can tell what floods of ecstasy and delight break in upon the soul of the righteous on mingling with a society made up of the greatest and wisest and best that were, or shall be in the world? How delightful and astonishing the change from a place where virtue is a perfect wonder, to a land where she reigns without control, and shines out in open, undiminished and everlasting splendor! Their intellectual powers feel no fatigue, their taste is not disgusted with deformity, nor their judgment debased by prejudice; their minds are without a cloud; their wills without a sinful bias, and all their affections without a stain; all their wants are supplied, all their toils compensated, all their virtues perfected, and all their wishes full; their faith is turned into sight and their hope into fruition.—Sel.

THE REASONABLENESS OF FAITH.

Skeptics and infidels sneer at the blind faith, so-called, of Christians. The question is timely whether the majority of these wise(?) men have themselves made original investigation on subjects concerning which they boast so much knowledge. If the Christian's faith be blind and unreasoning, then the faith of the average infidel is even more so, for the Christian believes in the Lord Jesus Christ, while the infidel believes in Ingersoll, Hume, Paine, Strauss, Renan, and that class of men. After all, belief or unbelief, contradictory as the statement may seem, is a matter of faith. Any sensible man will find it easier to believe in Christianity than to walk by the uncertain light of perverted human reason as given forth by the leading infidels of this and other ages.—Sel.

NO DEATH.

Stars die mayhaps; it is said that conflagrations have been seen afar off in the ether, and astronomers have marked the funerals of other worlds—the decay of those mighty orbs that we have imagined set forever in sockets of silver, to glisten as the lamps of eternity. Blessed be God, there is one place where death is not life's brother, where life reigns alone, and "to live" is not the first syllable which is to be followed by the next, "to die." There is a land where the deathknells are never tolled, where winding-sheets are never woven, where graves are never dug. Blest land beyond the skies.—Sel.

We hear much about "broad views" and "honest doubts." Dr. Dale well says of all such: "It is the duty of the man who would be a minister to master the mysteries of God (1 Cor. 4: 1), in order that he may communicate them to others. Without these he is powerless to distribute the treasures of which he ought to be steward—for he has no treasures to distribute. This conception cuts away at the roots of a conception that began to be entertained some twenty years ago—the conception that a man with 'honest doubts' might yet be a good minister. I differ from those who think such persons ought to be ministers of Christ. They should remain among the learners. A minister must be a servant of Christ, not a critic of Christ. He must have sure knowledge of what Christ teaches, and must have absolute, unreserved, exulting devotion to Christ."—Sel.

"Your maturest thought, your warmest Christian feeling, are demanded when you stand up to lead the thought and devotion of your fellow-believers. The leading of a prayer-meeting is a Christian task which calls for thorough preparation, and which should be entered upon with a deep sense of its importance."

"This is an age of rush and hurry, and there is great danger of getting too much of the business idea in our work to save souls. The Spirit must make men willing before they will turn and cry, 'What must I do?'"

The Gospel Messenger,

A Weekly at $1.50 per Annum,

PUBLISHED BY

The Brethren's Publishing Co.

D. L. MILLER, - - - - - - Office Editor.

J. B. BRUMBAUGH, } - - - - Associate Editors.
J. G. ROYER, }

JOS. AMICK, - - - - - - Business Manager.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE.
R. H. Miller, S. S. Mohler, Daniel Hays

☞Communications for publication should be legibly written with BLACK ink on ONE side of the paper only. Do not attempt to interline, or to put on one page what ought to occupy two.

☞Anonymous communications will not be published.

☞Do not mix business with articles for publication. Keep your communications on separate sheets from all business.

☞Time is precious. We always have time to attend to business and to answer questions of importance, but please do not subject us to needless answering of letters.

☞The MESSENGER is mailed each week to all subscribers. If the address is correctly entered on our list, the paper must reach the person to whom it is addressed. If you do not get your paper, write us, giving particulars.

☞When changing your address, please give your FORMER as well as your FUTURE address in full, so as to avoid delay and misunderstanding.

☞Remittances should be made by Post-office Money Order, Drafts on New York or Chicago, or Registered Letters, made payable and addressed to "Brethren's Publishing Co., Mount Morris, Ill.," or "Brethren's Publishing Co., Huntingdon, Pa."

☞Always remit to the office from which you order your goods, no matter from where you receive them.

☞Do not send personal checks or drafts on interior banks, unless you send with them 25 cents each, to pay for collection.

☞Entered at the Post-office at Mount Morris, Ill., as second-class matter.

Mount Morris, Ill., - - - - - Aug. 27, 1889.

50 cts. pays for the GOSPEL MESSENGER from Aug. 1 to the end of 1889. Show this to your neighbors and ask them to subscribe.

BRO. W. C. TEETER is now at his home in Sidney, Nebr.

ONE was received by baptism in the Bethel church, Nebraska, recently.

BRO. J. B. BRUMBAUGH has been visiting at Newton and McPherson, Kansas.

BRO. M. M. ESHELMAN is traveling in Kansas in the interest of McPherson College.

LAST week Bro. D. E. Price was called to Astoria, Ill., to assist in Committee work in the church near that place.

BRO. HENRY FRANTZ, of Ohio, we understand, thinks of going to California in October, at the same time that Bro. Amick goes.

THE meetings in Chicago are interesting, and the Brethren there are anxious to have our ministers stop with and preach for them as they pass through the City.

SISTER MAGGIE MASON, of the Wakendah church, Ray Co., Mo., reports a good meeting held there recently. She says: "We have very much enjoyed a week's meetings, conducted by Bro. Lemuel Hillery, of Hutchinson, Kans. Eight precious souls came out on the Lord's side and were buried with Christ by baptism. May the Lord bless us all, that we may so live that others may see our good works and glorify our Father in heaven! May God's richest blessings rest on our dear brother who so faithfully labored for us, is our prayer!"

HAVE you a copy of the "Miller and Sommer Debate"? If not, order a copy at once. The first edition will soon be exhausted. Price, $1.50 per copy, postage prepaid.

IN a short time our schools will open, and we are glad to say that the prospects so far as we can learn are good for all of them. We are glad to note this and trust that good will result.

BRO. JOHN W. METZGER, now of Gormley, Canada, informs us that his health is improving, and that he hopes soon to be able to go to work in the Master's cause. A love-feast will be held some time in September.

BRO. J. G. ROYER is at Rockingham, Mo., holding meetings in the house in which the Miller and Sommer debate was held. The Brethren there seem to be much encouraged and feel that the cause did not suffer in Bro. Miller's hands.

BRO. FETTER HALL, of the Iowa River church, Marshall Co., Iowa, says: "Bro. T. T. Myers came to us July 5. He held forth the Word with power for two weeks. Five precious souls came out on the Lord's side and were baptized, and one reclaimed. Thus the ark of the Lord moves on. One noticeable feature is that they were all heads of families. May God bless them for good!"

BRO. J. A. ROOT, under date of Aug. 15, sends us the following good news: "Still they are gathering home. Last Sunday, the 11th, three more precious souls were added to the church by baptism. One came out at our social meeting last week. Surely the Lord is blessing us greatly and to his glory. We are now beginning work to build a new meeting-house at Ozawkie. We need a larger house."

"IF there ever was a time in the experience of our own country when the Scriptural injunction to pray for our rulers, should be remembered and carried out, that time is now. The bonds of the evil one seem to be broken, and the powers of sin let loose. Drunkenness, licentiousness, and debauchery is growing alarmingly prevalent, while the most daring robberies are being committed in the streets and homes of our cities in the midday light. Murdering and lynching are becoming an every-day occurrence. Brethren and sisters, these things call us to prayer, and to act as we pray. If the salt once loses its savor, wherewith shall it be salted? If the church ceases to be a power for good—from whence shall good come?"

IN our remarks in a preceding issue of the MESSENGER, concerning the action taken by the Seventh-Day Adventists in their petition against keeping the Lord's Day, we are not to be understood as referring in any way to the large body of Adventists who keep the first day of the week, and who are entirely separate and distinct from the Seventh-Day Adventists. We refer to this because some may think that we refer to all Adventists. We think we made the statement clear. The petition was circulated and has been largely signed by the Seventh-Day Adventists, and whilst we did not write the name in full, it was presumed that all who read the article would understand that reference was made only to those who opposed the Christian Sunday and who are doing all they can to set the observance of it aside. We had no intention of including those who stand with us in maintaining the sanctity of the Lord's Day, and we make this explanation so that they who may have received that impression may be set right in the matter.

THE Office Editor expects, the Lord willing, to spend a short time in Missouri about the middle of September. Warrensburg, the place selected for our next Annual Meeting, will be the first objective point. Cornelia and Centre View are also in the line of our prospective route.

A SHORT VISIT TO THE CHURCH AT LA PORTE, IND.

WE spent a few days last week very pleasantly, and we trust profitably, with the church at La Porte, Ind. Aug. 17 the Brethren had appointed their harvest meeting at the Ross meeting-house, six miles north of La Porte, and we had the pleasure of meeting with them and enjoying a season of social intercourse and of worship together. We felt as we have often felt before that it is a good thing thus to come together after the harvest has been gathered and thank the Lord for his goodness to the children of men. A bountiful harvest has been gathered and, surely, we should not forget him who has so abundantly blessed us. We remained with the Brethren at La Porte until Aug. 20, when we turned our face homeward.

The church at La Porte is under the care of Bro. Thurston Miller, who is known to our readers as one of the correspondents of the MESSENGER. He recently located in the La Porte church and is assisted in the ministry by Bro. Richard Shreve who is in the second degree, and by an efficient corps of deacons. The membership numbers about forty and they seem to be earnest and zealous in the work of the Master. They are scattered over considerable territory and some of them have a long distance to go in order to attend meetings, but we found the attendance very good and can commend them for their zeal. It is too often the case that these small churches are neglected by our ministers who go out in the field to labor. The larger churches usually get the most help, and the weaker ones, that need it most, are often passed by.

The church at La Porte suffered a severe loss several years ago. A number of the members perhaps forty, withdrew from the body and organized themselves into a Progressive church. About the same time, or perhaps a little prior, a meeting-house had been built at a place called Mud Creek, and this the new organization claimed. For some time meetings were held regularly, but troubles came, and now the organization has practically ceased to exist. No meetings are held in the house, and the yard is overgrown with weeds. Several of those who left the church came back again. Some found homes among other organizations, and others seem to have given up the service of the Lord and gone worldward. We refer to this with no feeling of exultation, but rather of sorrow and sadness. We always feel sorry, indeed, when those who have accepted Christ fall away from the faith and go back to the beggarly elements of the world, and especially so when such a result is brought about by church troubles. The movement in the first place was uncalled for, but it seems that men will not learn wisdom from the experience of others. Success is not obtained by leaving a principle to follow an idea, and if this truth had been recognized we would be spared the sad reflections that are called forth from time to time when we are brought into contact with instances of the kind here referred to.

The discouragements were felt by the church at the time she passed through the trials, but it seems to us that the future of the La Porte church looks hopeful. The members are zealous and faithful workers, and a firm reliance on the Lord will again bring prosperity to this branch of the body of Christ.

During our stay with the Brethren we had our home, for the most part of the time, with Bro. Thurston Miller. We spent some time at Bro. Isaac Flory's. Sister Gertrude A. Flory is well known to our many readers, by her articles in the MESSENGER, and as the writer of some very good poetry. Their home is nestled among the beautiful clear lakes that abound in this part of Indiana. It is a delightfully pleasant place, and is well calculated to inspire poetic thoughts. We also visited at the home of brother and sister Merchant, where we met a number of Brethren and friends. Sister Merchant is the agent for the MESSENGER in the La Porte church.

Looking back over our short visit, seated at our office desk, where we write these lines, we feel glad that we had the opportunity to visit with the Brethren at La Porte. We go to work to rid our desk of the accumulated correspondence, the result of a few days' absence, with the feeling that it was good for us to have met with this little band of faithful believers. May the Lord prosper them and keep them faithful unto the end!

SHALL THE CHURCH OWN THE MESSENGER?

ONE among the most important questions to come before our next Annual Meeting is that of the church purchasing and controlling the publishing interests of the Brotherhood. At Ottawa, Kansas, in 1887, our Conference appointed a committee of five brethren with instructions to take all the papers relating to the subject of the church owning the publishing interests, formulate a plan, and report at the next Annual Meeting. The Committee held two meetings and, after considerable labor, perfected a plan which was submitted to the Conference of 1888, held at North Manchester, Ind. The report of the Committee was discussed at some length by the Meeting and was then deferred for two years, so that it will be among the first questions to be considered next year, in Missouri. Owing to the great importance of the question and its far-reaching influence upon the future of our Brotherhood, it should receive the careful and prayerful consideration of all our members and especially of those who will attend and take part in the deliberations of our next Annual Meeting. That all may have an opportunity of giving the proposed plan careful thought and study, we give it in full to our readers:

1. The Brotherhood shall purchase the entire outfit and interest of the Brethren's Publishing Company, and merge this and the Brethren's Book and Tract Work into one corporation, the corporate name of which shall be the ——— Publishing Work.

2. The object of this corporation shall be to disseminate the principles of the Gospel of Christ, as understood by the Brotherhood, by publishing such papers, books, tracts, etc., as may be directed, for sale and for free distribution in this and in foreign countries, in reading rooms, railroad depots, on cars, on board of outgoing and in ports of incoming vessels—in short, every-where, as means for publication and judicious distribution can be secured.

3. The Standing Committee shall, by approval of Annual Meeting, appoint and perpetuate a board of five trustees, to serve for a term of five years, except four of those first appointed, who shall serve respectively, one, two, three, and four years, the Standing Committee to name the term of each. These trustees shall meet as soon as practicable after their election, and after being organized and incorporated according to law, they shall purchase, at a reasonable price, the entire outfit and interest of the Brethren's Publishing Company, and shall merge this and the Brethren's Book and Tract Work into one corporation, to be held in trust, and controlled by them for the General Brotherhood, under such regulations as Annual Meeting may provide. All the property and interests of the Brethren's Book and Tract Work shall be turned over to these trustees, to be continued by them as directed by Annual Meeting.

4. The Standing Committee, shall, by approval of Annual Meeting, appoint a committee, consisting of three members from the territory west of the Mississippi River: four between the Mississippi and Ohio; and three east of the Ohio River, to locate the Publishing House; and they shall as soon as possible proceed to select a place and report to the trustees.

5. The trustees may establish Branch Houses when and where they deem them necessary.

6. The trustees shall select an executive committee of three Brethren, two of whom may be of their own number, living sufficiently near each other for frequent consultation, and also as near the Publishing House as suitable brethren can be obtained. They may serve as long as desired by the trustees. They shall counsel with, and direct the business manager, who shall be directly responsible to them for all the business intrusted to him.

7. The trustees shall appoint a thorough and reliable business manager, who shall take direct charge of and manage all the business intrusted to him, as directed by the executive committee. He shall, by virtue of his office, be Corresponding Secretary, and may hold his position as long as desired by the trustees. His books, as well as the entire office, and all the business connected therewith, shall, at all times, be open for the inspection of the executive committee; and, whenever desired, he shall render to said committee a full and correct report of all or any part of the business.

8. The trustees shall, at their first meeting, appoint an agent in each State District, who may appoint others to assist in soliciting donations, bequests, and interest-bearing endowment notes to pay for, and forward the Publishing Interests. These agents shall work under the instructions of the trustees, who shall allow them a reasonable compensation for their services out of the funds collected; and if, by Jan. 1, 1889, sufficient funds are not available, the trustees may then issue interest-bearing bonds to meet the deficiency; said bonds to be redeemed as soon as practicable, with profits, donations and bequests.

9. The trustees shall meet as often as necessary, and a majority of the board shall, at any legally-called meeting, constitute a quorum. They shall have power to fill any vacancy occurring in the board for the unexpired term; and they shall annually make a report of their work to Annual Meeting after having first submitted it to Standing Committee for inspection and approval; and shall, through Standing Committee, suggest to Annual Meeting for adoption anything necessary to forward their work; and they may also recommend to the Standing Committee persons for trustees.

10. The Book and Tract Work shall be merged into this corporation, by making it the duty of the board of trustees to appoint the tract committee, and to oversee and govern it through its executive committee.

11. The Standing Committee shall nominate a number of suitable brethren to be voted for as editors; and, after a careful consideration of their Christian character and qualifications, shall, by a majority vote, recommend to Annual Meeting for approval, one editor-in-chief and one office-editor, to serve for a term of four years, provided they give general satisfaction; otherwise either one or both of them may be removed sooner by the advisory committee and the board of trustees, who shall fill the vacancy caused in this or any other way until next Annual Meeting.

12. The trustees shall arrange the salary of the editors and business manager; employ all other help; procure suitable buildings, and all else needful to carry on the work successfully. All expenses incidental to locating, transferring, and carrying on the publishing work, to be paid out of the funds of the corporation.

13. Twenty-five per cent of the profits arising from publications shall be turned over to the Book and Tract Department, and seventy-five per cent to the General Church Erection and Missionary Committee. Signed by S. S. Mohler, R. H. Miller, Daniel Vaniman, Enoch Eby, M. M. Eshelman.

A number of reasons might be given why the church should own and control the paper. We referred to this subject editorially nearly a year ago, and as we are still of the opinion that it will be for the best interests of the church to own and control her publishing interests, we repeat what we then said.

One of the most frequent objections we hear urged against the church taking our paper is the following: "The present owners of the MESSENGER have succeeded in placing it on a sound financial basis, having labored hard, and spent much time and money in the work, and now, that it is a paying investment, it is not right to deprive them of it." The feeling that urges this objection is prompted by a spirit of fairness, and, were it not for the fact that the present owners are willing to turn the paper over to the church, it would have force. But, prompted by a desire to subserve the best interests of our Fraternity, as we firmly believe, the present owners waive their claims, and are willing to have the paper owned and controlled entirely by the church, so that the income derived from its publication may be used in furthering the cause of the Master.

That this is for the best, will be apparent from the following considerations: Life is uncertain and the present owners may be called away suddenly. We had a painful illustration of this truth at our Annual Meeting at North Manchester, Indiana, when our dear Bro. Quinter, one of the principal owners of the MESSENGER, was so suddenly called to his long home. Others may meet the summons of death just as suddenly and unexpectedly. The property would then change hands, and there is always a possibility that it will fall into hands that will not manage it for the best interest of the church. This we say without a desire to take undue credit to ourselves or to disparage others. We simply state a truth that must be apparent to all who are acquainted with the history of journalism in our church.

Again, the editors of our church paper have a mighty power in their hands. They can and do mould sentiment, and this moulding can be done in favor of our faith and practice, as a church, or against it. Of the truth of this statement, the church has had abundant and lamentable proof in the past. In the choice of her ministry, the church uses great care; every possible safeguard is thrown around it, and the entire congregation is not only invited, but admonished that it is their duty to take part in the work. But an editor, who preaches every week, not only to a congregation of a few hundred, but to many thousands all over the Brotherhood, may be selected by a few individuals, without even consulting a single congregation. This weakness in our church work—for that it is a weak point must be apparent to the mind of every thoughtful reader—would be remedied by the plan proposed by the Committee.

These, and other considerations which might be named, have led those directly interested in the publishing interests of the church to give their assent to the plan as proposed by the Committee, and we believe that, after carefully and prayerfully considering the question, when the time comes for the church to act upon it, at the Annual Meeting, to be held in 1890, our Brethren will be willing to more fully take charge of the publishing interests of the church. They will, at least, by that time, have had ample time to look at the matter from different stand-points, and decide, in the fear of God, a question that is of such great importance to the prosperity of the entire Brotherhood.

It was understood at the Annual Meeting at North Manchester that no general discussion of the question was to be carried on in the paper. Further explanations will be given those who do not fully understand the plan, and those who desire further information, should not hesitate to ask questions. The desire is to place the matter fairly and understandingly before the Brotherhood, and then let the result rest in the hands of the delegates who will be sent to the Annual Meeting in 1890.

Missionary and Tract Work Department.

"Upon the first day of the week, let every one of you lay by him in store as God hath prospered him, that there be no gatherings when I come" 1 Cor. 16: 2.

"Every man as he purposeth in his heart, so let him give. Not grudgingly or of necessity, for the Lord loveth a cheerful giver" 2 Cor 9: 7.

HOW MUCH SHALL WE GIVE?

"Every man according to his ability." "Every one as God hath prospered him." "Every man, according as he purposeth in his heart, so let him give." "For if there be first a willing mind, it is accepted according to that a man hath, and not according to that he hath not" 2 Cor 8: 12.

Organization of Missionary Committee.

DANIEL VANIMAN, Foreman, - - - Virden, Ill.
D. L. MILLER, Secretary and Treasurer, - Mt. Morris, Ill.
G. B. ROYER, Assistant Secretary, - - Mt. Morris, Ill.

Organization of Book and Tract Work.

S. W. HOOVER, Foreman, - - - Dayton, Ohio.
S. BOCK, Secretary and Treasurer, - - Dayton, Ohio.

☞ All donations intended for Missionary Work should be sent to D. L. MILLER, Mt. Morris, Ill.

☞ All money for Tract Work should be sent to S. BOCK, Dayton, Ohio.

☞ Money may be sent by Money Order, Registered Letter, or Drafts on New York or Chicago. Do not send personal checks, or drafts on interior towns, as it costs 25 cents to collect them.

☞ Solicitors are requested to faithfully carry out the plan of Annual Meeting, that all our members be solicited to contribute at least twice a year for the Mission and Tract Work of the Church.

☞ Notes for the Endowment Fund can be had by writing to the Secretary of either Work

EVIDENCES OF THE TRUE CHURCH.

BY J. S. MOHLER.

Chapter Two. The Churches in General.

"And I say also unto thee, That thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church; and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it"—Matt. 16: 18.

CHRIST, in the above passage, refers to the church as one, not as many, by saying church, not churches.

Doubtless all church members entertain the idea that the church of which they are members is built upon the rock above alluded to. We will not assume the grave responsibility of pointing out, by name, the church referred to by Christ, but we desire, in the first place, to point out the dangerous position so many occupy, as an evidence of their acceptance with God.

After pointing out the danger, we shall try to point out what the Gospel tells us to be the true test, whether we are building on the rock or on the sand, and if the true test will point us to any special organized church,—to that church we ought to go, and not sit down at ease in Zion, and conclude that it makes no difference—that God is merciful and will save us, no matter what church we may happen to belong to.

Christ taught the following very important truth, "Many will say to me in that day, Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in thy name? and in thy name have cast out devils? and in thy name done many wonderful works? And then will I profess unto them, I never knew you: depart from me, ye that work iniquity." Matt. 7: 22, 23.

Here a class of persons is referred to who had made a profession, and counted sure on entering heaven, but, when they came before the Judge, they were rejected. This fact alone ought to prompt a diligent inquiry into our own relationship with God, and the religious ground we occupy.

Upon what ground their rejection was based, we are not clearly informed, but we are fully informed upon what ground we may be accepted,—namely, by doing the will of our Father in heaven. See Matt. 7: 21. The entire will is meant. Doubtless, those who were rejected observed part of that will, but not enough to establish their right to the Tree of Life, that they might enter in through the gates into the city, hence they were left outside.

WORK WHILE IT IS DAY!

BY SAMUEL MOHLER.

"The wind bloweth where it listeth, and thou hearest the sound thereof, but canst not tell whence it cometh, and whither it goeth: so is every one that is born of the Spirit."—John 3: 8.

WE can not see the Spirit, but we can see the effects thereof. We can tell whence it cometh, for "by their fruits ye shall know them." If we are controlled by the good Spirit, we produce that kind of fruit; we are willing to hear the Spirit of Truth, and try to have our spirit agree with his spirit. Then we can claim to be the children of God, and joint-heirs with Christ. Let us not forfeit our relationship, but be willing to obey God in all things whatsoever he has said unto us. Of course we may think we try to obey him in all things, and fail in part.

One of the "all things" is to lay up for ourselves treasures in heaven. Do we do this? I hope that we do. Another is giving to the poor, by which we lend to the Lord. The poorest of all the poor are those who are living in sin. Do we give of our dollars and cents to have the Gospel preached to those poor ones? If we do, one dollar may be the means of saving one soul from death. Then we have laid up treasures in heaven to the amount of one soul. O, how vast! It will be more than all the gold and silver, and the cattle upon ten thousand hills!

Dear brethren and sisters, what a great work we could do, if each member of the Brotherhood would "give as the Lord has prospered." Life is short; let us be up and doing while it is day; for the night will soon come, when the scenes of earth will close with us!

Cambria, Ind.

ESSAYS.

"Study to show thyself approved unto God; a workman that needeth not be ashamed, rightly dividing the Word of Truth"

THE CHILD AND PARENT.

BY HENRY ROYER.

CHILDREN are imitative beings. It is curious to observe the first efforts of a child to extend his powers and enlarge his experience. He begins to show his desire to do something, and to make himself acquainted with everything around him by prattling and grasping at every object within his view. His tiny fingers are always busy. He rolls and tumbles and tries for hours, and, after a hundred falls, learns to stand. The strong desire to imitate everything he hears and sees, stimulates him to persevere in what he has undertaken.

When the first three years of his life are past, if a proper example has been set before him, he has made himself master of the principles of a difficult language; he has become acquainted with all the common objects of nature; he can readily distinguish between the primary principles of right and wrong, and, if properly taught, will have a well-defined knowledge of God, and thus, in three years of his infancy, and that, too, when the mind is in the bud of tenderness, he has accomplished more in the same time, and understands it better than the strong and vigorous student who has just issued from the walls of the college. A child will certainly imitate whatever he hears or sees, not only in the nursery, but when he is old enough to enter society.

The parent is the first and most important instructor of the child, and the maximum of this instruction is given by example. It devolves upon every parent to use his utmost endeavors to impress indelibly upon the mind of his child those intellectual, moral and religious principles, — those great truths of God and his Word, which will kindle in his soul a heaven-inspiring confidence and assist him to override in safety the dashing billows of the angry sea of life. Every child can be controlled by his parents, if the proper time and means are made use of. It is certainly wrong for parents to permit their children to do what the God of heaven has taught them is inconsistent with his holy will. When the sculptor makes a failure on a block of marble, he can go to the quarry and procure another, without sustaining any considerable loss, but the parent, shaping and moulding the character of his child, whose immortal soul shall live through endless ages, may never be permitted to eradicate the evil which, by his neglect, has been planted in the bosom of that once tender and loving child.

The duty of the parent is a weighty and important one. He is held accountable to God for a proper discharge of duty, so that when he is called to stand before that great white throne, and him that shall sit on it, his children may not rise up as witnesses against him, but that all may go up as one happy family, fearing no danger, but rejoicing to dwell with Jesus forever.

Louisville, Ohio.

TOO MUCH GOSPEL.

BY A. FLORY.

THERE is much liberality granted by the popular churches. As far as I know, they all believe that a man can become a Christian in any one of them. If this be true, then Christ has given us too much Gospel. In order to prove the absurdity of this theory, I will refer you to the history of the past. If we examine the law given by God to Moses, we find that every command, found written in that law, had to be obeyed. All who failed to do this, were not permitted to enter the Promised Land. Moses himself failed. When the Lord commanded him to speak to the rock, he smote it. Num. 22. God accepted his substitute. The water came, but the Lord was displeased, and for this cause Moses failed to enter the Promised Land.

How many are offering to the Lord substitutes in this day and age of the world! How many, instead of the Lord's Supper, have substituted the Communion! How many, instead of burying or immersing in baptism, have substituted sprinkling! How many reject feet-washing entirely!

Paul says, "The law was our schoolmaster to bring us to Christ" Gal. 3: 24 How do schoolmasters teach in our public or private schools? Do they teach every letter in the alphabet, or do they omit some? Christ told his disciples to teach the nations, and to teach them to observe all things whatsoever he commanded them. Matt. 28: 20. What warrant have you, in the Gospel of Christ, that you can be a Christian if you obey only part of his commands? If you can, then Christ has given us too much Gospel.

The Apostle James is very positive about this matter. He says, "For whosoever shall keep the whole law, and yet offend in one point, he is guilty of all." James 2: 10. This is as plain as language can make it. It is impossible for a man to be a Christian, and, at the same time, refuse to obey Christ in all things.

Korah, Dathan and Abiram tried this method, when they refused to make fringes in the borders of their garments, Num. 16 Those rebellious

Jews went alive down into the pit. This should convince every one that it will not do to violate any of Christ's commands. No matter how simple, they must all be strictly observed. To refuse to obey one of them, means eternal death. Is it reasonable that God would send his Son into the world to bring us his will, and then save us whether we obey it all or not? Where, in God's Holy Word, do we find it written that less obedience will save people now than in former ages? If one man can be saved by believing and obeying only part of the Gospel of Christ, all can be saved in the same way.

God is no respecter of persons. If it requires the whole Gospel to save one, it requires the same for all. Not one entered the land of Canaan except those that obeyed the whole law. Dear reader, if you are seeking after Truth, you can find it, if you will keep this line of thought permanently before your mind.

Meyerhaffer's Store, Pa.

HEAVEN.

BY SARAH M. SAUNDERS.

Our preachers and writers discuss a great many subjects of more or less importance to the human family, and especially to the Christians, or professed followers of Jesus,—matters of discipline, doctrine, and many other things, mostly pertaining to this life, but also those pertaining to the great and glorious hereafter, which should engage our highest thoughts, and animate our most ardent desires and affections. The inspired writer of old says, "Where your treasure is, there will your heart be also." Luke 12: 34. If our treasures are on earth, our affections and desires will also be here.

Where is heaven? It is where Christ has gone to prepare a place for us, if we shall be found worthy to inhabit a place among the many mansions.

What is heaven? It is the consummation of happiness, the new Jerusalem, the city whose maker and builder is GOD, whose streets are paved with pure gold, whose inhabitants know no night, no sickness, no sorrow, no pain, no tears, no death, where all the joys and sorrows and ties of earthly existence are buried in oblivion. When we contemplate for a moment the celestial glories of heaven, we are lost in wonder and amazement. Our poor, finite minds can not grasp the magnitude of God's goodness to man.

The Scriptures tell us that "eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither hath it entered into the heart of man to conceive of the things which he hath prepared for those that love and serve him."

I sometimes wonder why it is that we try to combine heaven and earth by preaching what is termed "heavenly recognition." To my mind it seems a strange absurdity to talk about the recognition in heaven of earthly ties. "They shall neither marry nor be given in marriage," and if it should be true that we shall recognize our friends who may be there, it is absolutely certain we shall miss those who were as near and dear to us here who are not there. What a conglomeration of happiness and woe such a knowledge would be!

I have heard it asserted that we shall be permitted to talk over old times and circumstances as friends do here, after being separated for many years. I can not believe that heaven, with its celestial music,—saints and angels joined in concert shouting hallelujahs to God and basking in the glorious light of his countenance, can ever be enjoyed while we cherish a single earthly tie,—no matter how dear to us here.

If we shall be permitted to remember our joys on earth, why not our sorrows? If we recognize our friends, why not our foes? If our earthly existence is (as it is with some of us) one continued round of sorrow, disappointment, tears and great tribulations, what would heaven be to us, if we must carry the memory of them all throughout an endless eternity? To some of us this life would be unendurable were it not for the blessedness of forgetfulness, of losing ourselves in the hope of eternal felicity at the right hand of God in HEAVEN.

ENCOURAGING WORDS.

BY FLORIDA J. E. ETTER.

"It is the hope, the blissful hope
Which Jesus' grace has given,
The hope when days and years are past,
We all shall meet in heaven."

How inspiring is the word hope! It bears the Christian up on his journey through this wilderness. If it were not for hope, we would sink in deep despair, but when all is done with, we shall rest in heaven.

"A home in heaven. As the sufferer lies
On his bed of pain and uplifts his eyes
To that bright world, what a joy is given,
With the blessed thought of his home in heaven."

Another blessed thought for the sufferer who lies on his bed of affliction racked with pain. If he knows it shall not always be so, it helps him to bear his afflictions more patiently. To change a world of pain for a home of health and pleasure, is joy to him.

"There is a place where the angels dwell,
A pure and a peaceful abode;
The joys of that place no tongue can tell
For there is the palace of God."

That lovely place! Who is it that does not want to live there and be with the angels where there is no end to the pleasures. There we can join them in singing the everlasting song and shout hallelujah to the Lamb.

"What, if our bark, o'er life's rough wave
By adverse winds be driven,
And howling tempests round us rave? -
There are no tears in heaven."

Another word of cheer to those who are visited by adversities, who are bowed down by sorrows. Cheer up! Be faithful! You shed tears here, but no troubles shall visit you in heaven. All shall be peace, joy, and love. Happiness will be your lot. God is with you here and will be there.

"To the work, to the work, we are servants of God,
Let us follow the path that our Master has trod."

If we follow in his blessed footsteps we shall not be led astray.

"To the work, to the work, in the strength of the Lord,
And a robe and a crown shall our labor reward;
When the home of the faithful our dwelling shall be
And we shout with the ransomed, Salvation is free!"

What encouragement this should give the Christian! He should set out with a more determined resolution that he will obtain that crown. Let us toil on and labor till the Master comes to take us home!

Cartersville, Va.

God, kind words dropped in conversation may be little thought of, but they are seeds of flowers or beautiful trees falling by the wayside, borne by some birds afar, happily thereafter to fringe with beauty some barren mountain side, or to make glad some lonely wilderness.

God can no more admit one sin in the presence of his glory than ten thousand sins. The hope of moralists, therefore, is vain; for there is not one who would dare say, I never committed one sin.

CORRESPONDENCE.

"Write what thou seest, and send it unto the churches."

☞Church News solicited for this Department. If you have had a good meeting, send a report of it, so that others may rejoice with you. In writing give name of church, county and State. Be brief! Notes of Travel should be as short as possible. Land Advertisements are not solicited for this Department. We have an advertising page, and, if necessary, will issue supplements.

From Everest, Kans.

The Wolf River church is the oldest organized church in the West. It held its first love-feast in September, 1859. Bro. Abraham Rothrock, of Douglas County, Kans., and Bro. John Bowers, of Montgomery County, Ohio, were the elders present at our feast. They also presided at our organization and election. Bro. Jacob H. Root and the writer were elected to the office of deacon.

Bro. Rothrock had the oversight until the war broke out. He received injuries during the Quantrill raid on the city of Lawrence, Kans., and these injuries finally caused his death. He resided, at the time, about four miles south of Lawrence, near the Wakarusa River, on the Fort Scott road.

After the raiders had wreaked their vengeance on the city and its inhabitants, they took the Fort Scott road, and left a scene of perfect desolation in their rear. When they came to Bro. R.'s, he trusted his gray hairs and his generous kind-heartedness to protect him from the enemy's bullets, but they disregarded all, and shot him four times, leaving him for dead.

After the death of Bro. Rothrock, the church passed under the care of Bro. William Gish. Before the war we numbered about twenty members, but when the war broke out, some of the Brethren became involved in difficulty with the Rebel element, and moved away. The few who remained were without a church until 1867, when we revived our organization.

At that time we received an addition from Indiana, and your humble servant was promoted to the ministerial office. We then prospered until the Progressive wave struck our little church of about thirty-five members. At that time we had three ministers, with the writer in charge, and four deacons. One minister and two deacons, with their wives, became Progressives. One minister and two deacons moved away, and a majority of the members moved away also. We were so badly crippled that we almost despaired of recovery, but the Lord overruled it all to his own glory.

The Progressives organized a church with four members,—one family having moved away in the meantime. They chose for their elder, W. J. H. Bowman, who was at that time expelled from the Brethren church. They soon convinced the people of the weakness of their cause, and there was a reaction in favor of the few loyal members who were here.

Last winter we held a series of meetings with none but home help, and received four by baptism, as the immediate result.

We have, at different times, met with some opposition in getting the use of school-houses for holding meetings. On one or two occasions we were locked out. We then concluded that, if we expected to build up a church, we must have a house of our own. We took courage from our former successes, and started a subscription paper. We received good encouragement from our neighbors and business men, and we proceeded to build a good house, 28x42 feet in size. We dedicated our house on July 7. Bro. J. S. Mohler, of Morrill, Brown Co., Kans., preached the dedicatory sermon to a large audience.

On the third Sunday in July Bro. A. Hutchison, of Missouri, came to us, and commenced a series of meetings, which extended over two Sundays. These meetings gave great joy to the church, and we believe, caused rejoicing in heaven. Eight souls put on Christ in baptism.

The Wolf River church is situated south of the stream from which it derives its name, and near the Grand Island Railroad, Chicago, Kansas & Nebraska Railroad and Missouri Pacific Railroad.

The meeting house is thirty miles west of St. Joseph, Mo, and 3 miles north-west of Parcell, a station on the Chicago, Kansas & Nebraska Railroad. It is also five miles north of Huron, on the Missouri Pacific Railroad. Any one coming this way can find the writer's home on the road from either one of these places to the meeting-house.

Land is good here, and can be bought at from $30 to $50 per acre, according to location and improvements. Water is good, and not hard to get. Wells range at from twenty-five to sixty feet deep. There are good orchards here, and, in fact, we have all the good things to be found in the older portions of our country, in this latitude, and some good things not found elsewhere.

We invite those Brethren who are looking for homes in the West to stop here, and look around, and see what there is here. By consulting the map, you will discover that we are in the Great Corn Belt of the United States. We are in the Great Horse-shoe Bend of the Missouri River, and have been highly favored with rains. I have lived here since 1858, and have seen only two total failures in that time. W. H. H. SAWYER.

Toward Sunset.—No. 2.

UNLIKE the life that tends onward, ever onward, I retrace my steps homeward. June 25 I left fair Longmont for Boulder, the county-seat of Boulder County, and Caribou. The latter is a little mining town, located twenty-eight miles west of Boulder, surrounded by native groves of pine and spruce. Here I visited Boulder Canyon, Boulder Falls and Boulder Lake. At the head of this lake stand three almost perpendicular mountains. Mountain trout are abundant in the lake, which is the private property of a ranchman. There had been a cloud-burst recently, and large stones were brought down by the water, and lodged in the canyon.

July 1 I left Caribou, by way of Denver, for Colorado Springs, and spent the night in Colorado City. It may not be known to the traveling public that there are no mineral springs of any description at Colorado Springs, which is five and one-half miles from Manitou, at which place the far-famed mineral springs are located.

Manitou nestles in a quiet, level vale, at the base of Pike's Peak, protected on all sides by the mountains. The mellow sunlight, streaming down, tempers the Northern climate, and gives all the delights of a Southern clime, without any depressing effects. The scenic surroundings, the vitalizing atmosphere, and the tinctured, effervescent waters (iron, sulphur and iron), prepared in nature's great laboratory, make a magic tonic which imparts energy to all who partake. These conditions render this the peerless resort of the Rockies. God seems to have created these natural attractions. He sends wave after wave of the cool mountain breeze from the snow-capped summit of the Rockies, to refresh the tired tourist.

The minister of Manitou censured tourists for leaving their religion at home. How unfortunate! Milton beautifully says,

> "God attributes to place
> No sanctity, if none be thither brought
> By men who there frequent."

Among other points of interest, within easy distance of Manitou, are Green Mountain Falls, and the lake of like name. The Falls, the gem of the Rockies, are fifteen miles west of Colorado Springs, on the Midland Railway. Here nature and art are so combined as to make it a place of ideal beauty,—a place to recruit your wearied body, and rest your tired brain in the exhilarating atmosphere of the grand old Rockies. The lake, ten miles from Manitou, with its many sail and row boats, in charge of competent men, presents a bright and unusual picture of water-life in the Rockies. Mountain trout inhabit the lake.

The several canyons through which the mountain streams flow, afford restful shade by the rich growth of conifers, and allure the tourist by the music of waterfalls, and the sweet odors of wild flowers. The broad porches of the hotel command a fine panoramic view of the valley and Ute Pass, and, owing to the mountain breezes, the atmosphere is ever cool and invigorating. Religious exercises are held in school-houses and churches in most mountain resorts. J. E. BOSSERMAN.

Polo, Mo.

From Claysburg, Blair Co., Pa.

THE members of the Claar church held their quarterly council, Aug. 3, and decided to hold a series of meetings commencing Oct. 1, to continue for at least two weeks. In connection with the meetings there will be a love-feast, Oct. 11. May God bless our efforts!

As we have had solicitations from brethren to hold meetings, we hope that those who desire our labors will please notify us as soon as possible, so we can arrange matters in such a way that there may be no conflict in our appointments.

MICHAEL CLAAR.

From Lower Stillwater Church, Ohio.

ACCORDING to appointment the Brethren of the Lower Miami church had a harvest meeting on Saturday, Aug. 10. They expressed their thanks for the abundant harvest, which the Lord gave them. We were addressed by Bro. S. W. Hoover, of Dayton, Ohio, who did not shun to declare the whole Truth, as to our duty to God and man, both in temporal and spiritual blessings.

Our Sunday-school, which was organized in the spring, is still in good working order, with about sixty members in regular attendance.

SAMUEL T. HARNES.

From Cerro Gordo, Ill.

ELD. DAVID TROXEL and I took the train at Cerro Gordo, Ill., July 10, for Litchfield, Ill., to hold some meetings in the newly-organized church at that place. We had a church meeting the same evening. All passed off very pleasantly. Love and union prevailed among the members. We had preaching on Sunday at 11 A. M., and were favored with good attendance. At the Sunday-school, at 3 P. M., there was an attendance of about seventy scholars. Bro. John Studebaker is their Superintendent. They have a good school, considering that this is a new place. Old and young take part in the school. We had preaching again in the evening, when the house was nearly filled. The interest throughout was very good. The Brethren here have a good meeting-house and about twelve members. The prospects are good for more. JOHN METZGER.

From Cedar Grove Church, Hawkins Co., Tenn.

THE Brethren of the above-named church met in annual council Aug. 10. Our visiting brethren reported all to be in love and peace, with one exception.

We will have our Communion meeting Sept. 7, commencing at 10 o'clock. We extend a general invitation to the brethren and sisters to be with us on that occasion. SAMUEL MOLSBEE.

From Martinsburg, West Va.

A FEW years ago I had a request to come and hold a meeting a short distance from Leetown, Jefferson Co., West Va., about thirteen miles from here. The Brethren had never preached here except Bro. S. H. Myers, who had held one night meeting a few months before I went there. I held meetings there every four weeks until last winter, when Bro. S. H. Myers held a few meetings there, and since that time we are holding meetings every other Sunday. The meetings have been increasing. Most of the time I had no member to go with me, so I went, through heat and cold. A few weeks ago I wrote for brethren D. F. Stouffer and David Ausherman They both came on Saturday, Aug. 10. We had meeting in the afternoon and evening, and on Sunday forenoon and afternoon we held our meeting in the grove. On that day we baptized one precious soul.

On Sunday, while I was looking over the large congregation and noticed the attention the people paid to the preaching, I wished that all our Brethren could have seen what I saw. They would surely help the missionary cause. We have the promise of several additions to the church soon. We have a large field of labor and are not able to hold half the meetings that ought to be held.

JOHN BRINDLE.

From Scipio Church, Downington, Ohio.

THIS church has had two additions this summer and others are expected in the near future. We have no meeting-house in which to have preaching, but we have our regular social meeting every Sunday at 3 P. M., in which we read Scripture, sing hymns, pray and speak,—each member engaging in the service. The advantages of such meetings are that all have an opportunity to exercise in Christian work. Those who attend, seem to partake of the disposition to worship the great Creator of all good. Notwithstanding the smallness of our number, and the disadvantages under which we labor, we feel that our prospects are brighter than they have been for years. One of our needs at this place is a suitable house of worship. With a little help we would be able to build one. J. H. GRAHAM.

Chips from the Work-house.

AUG. 8, Eld. Zaccheus Henricks, of Conductor, Grant Co., Kans., and I, met the little band of workers in Scott County, Kans., in council, where all the business presented was disposed of and arrangements perfected for their Communion, to be held in their new school-house near Bro. Finkenbinder's, on the following day. After the 2 o'clock services one applicant was baptized; and as the little flock was without a deacon, a choice was held, and Bro. Elmer Ullom was elected and, with his companion, installed into office, after which the little company, thirteen in number, surrounded the Lord's table and had a very quiet and enjoyable meeting. The next day being the Lord's Day, we met with them in their lively Sunday-school, superintended by Bro. Ullom, and also in three preaching services. These brethren and sisters, though out on the frontier, with less comfort than those living in older settled countries, seem to enjoy life and work for the Master with fully as much zeal as do those who are surrounded with many more comforts.

On Monday morning I accompanied Eld. Henricks, in his spring-wagon, to Garden City,—a distance of twenty-five miles, where I boarded the train for McPherson, leaving Bro. Henricks to continue his journey alone,—a distance of thirty-five miles more to his home in Grant County, where they expect, in the near future, to organize another church. Brethren, living in the old churches East, who have never traveled in the West, have but little idea of the vast field of labor for the ministers in the West. DANIEL VANIMAN.

From Loraine, Ill.

THE members of the Loraine church are moving along as usual. We have had no accessions to the church this year, but there seem to be some earnest inquirers who are still looking into the church. We hope they will soon change their position, and, after having united with God's children, encourage others to come in out of the cold world of sin.

I am now ready to enter into the fall campaign of the cause of our blessed Master and the salvation of souls. Any churches, desiring my services, can address me at Loraine, Ill., box 56.

I expect to go to the Camp Creek church, McDonough Co., Ill., to assist in their quarterly council, Aug. 31. We will conduct a series of meetings until after Sept. 7. Meetings will begin Aug. 29. H. W. STRICKLER.

From Sidney, Ind.

THE Spring Creek church is still making some little effort to advance the cause of the kingdom, and come a little closer to Jesus, and the cross. We are still holding up the banner of King Emmanuel. We are having meetings regularly with fair congregations and fair interest.

A few weeks ago the Brethren concluded to have a harvest meeting. Although our harvest is not quite as bountifully as some former harvests, yet we have abundant reason to be thankful, not only for the good harvest, but for the many blessings which we are receiving from God, all along life's journey. The meeting occurred on Saturday last, when quite a number of our brethren and sisters came together, not only from our congregation, but from adjoining congregations, besides a goodly number of those who have not yet united with the people of God. We were kindly admonished as to our several duties toward our God and towards each other by Bro. Samuel Leckrone, assisted by our home ministers. We all left to thank God and take courage.

Our Sunday-school, too, is progressing finely. We organized early in the season, with Bro. Lewis Workman as Superintendent. He is assisted by Bro. Is. O'Connell and a full corps of helpers,—all members of the Brethren church. The school is being well attended, both by our members and those not members. We hope and pray that much good may be accomplished by our humble efforts.

Our church meeting occurred some time ago. Everything passed off much better than we anticipated. We thought that a "lion" was right in our pathway, but we found that he could do us no harm, much to the joy of all concerned. Thanks be to God, that now all is joy and peace, so far as we know.

At our next business meeting we expect to set a time for our love-feast. May God help us to so live that when we fail on earth, we may all meet around God's throne, to sing praises to his great name, throughout the ceaseless ages of eternity!

E. MILLER.

Harvest Meeting.

THE Lord gave to ancient Israel two seasons in which they should meet each year for special giving of thanks. The members of the Raccoon Creek church concluded to have a meeting for that purpose this year, and appointed Aug. 17, at Mt. Pleasant, as the time and place. A fair congregation assembled, and was addressed in the forenoon by Bro. L. T. Holsinger, from the first part of the sixteenth chapter of Luke. He dwelt on the workings and tangible expressions of a grateful heart.

I sometimes fear we do not realize our responsibilities as stewards of a portion of earth's fulness, which is the Lord's. Sometimes those entrusted with an ordinary share, satisfy conscience by giving the merest mite. Those possessing less believe that where little is given, little or nothing is expected.

Poor, short-sighted creatures that we are! Such excuses for an empty treasury in the Lord's house may answer now, but before the judgment-seat they will be as unavailing as were King Saul's attempts to shift responsibility and condemnation before the Lord's messenger.

At the noon intermission an offering of twenty-five dollars was collected. In the afternoon Bro. W. R. Harshbarger spoke from Ps. 116, emphasizing the spiritual blessings of which we have been the recipients.

The meeting was an experiment and a success. No one, I think, can have attended, and entered into the spirit of the meeting, without feeling that it was good to be there; and we hope that so long as seed-time and harvest are given, meetings of thanksgiving will follow. SALOME A. STONER.

Ladoga, Ind., Aug. 19.

A Query Answered.

JOHN FORNEY,

Esteemed Brother:—

Where was Daniel when king Nebuchadnezzar made the golden image? On this point the Scriptures seem to be silent. The other three did not worship and were cast into the fiery furnace. Daniel must not have been there, or worshiped the image too. A. W. ZUG.

Hutchinson, Kans.

REPLY.

Dear Brother:—

IT is not presumable that Daniel worshiped that golden image, although he was there in the kingdom of Nebuchadnezzar at the time, as the Scripture plainly indicates. Dan. 2: 46-49; 3: 8.

I do not understand that Daniel was at all included in the number called upon to fall down and worship the golden image, as little as the king was himself. If we read carefully, we learn he was elevated to great honor, by the king, before this time. He was made chief of the governors over all the wise men of Babylon. If you read carefully the above-named verses, and then read Dan. 3: 2-4, the subject of your query will be plain, that the chief of the governors is not of the number, under command, to worship the golden image. It is plain that Daniel was chief over the governors, and next to the king.

JOHN FORNEY.

From Wabash, Ind.

THE Ogan's Creek church is moving along in love and union, and there seems to be a desire among us to grow better, and to improve our little stock of grace. Our Communion, now in the past, was indeed a feast of love. I believe all who communed felt the Spirit in its power and might. It was well attended by the neighboring churches, and an able corps of ministers was present.

The church, feeling the need of two deacons, an election was held, which resulted in the calling of our worthy and beloved brethren, William Kesler, and Hessey Grosnickle. May God, from his bountiful supply of love and wisdom, guide and uphold them in the work set apart to them. While our prayers are directed heavenward for them, we remember ourselves, and how much we need him who said, "I will be with you in every time of need."

I think I can safely say that the Ogan's Creek congregation will continue to battle with the enemy till the last foe is conquered and the armor laid by, and then be ready to enter into the great feast of the Lord. W. H. GNOW.

From Cherry Grove Church, Maryland.

ACCORDING to previous arrangements I attended the love-feast, August 10 in the above-named church. Bro. John Myers was also there. He had labored there several days previous. The meetings were well attended, and marked attention was given to the Word preached. On the 11th brethren Coleman and Ross were elected to the deacon's office, and Bro. David Merrill was promoted to the eldership. May the Lord abundantly bless them in their official capacities! May the primary object of all their efforts be the glory of God and the advancement of his cause! One was added to the church by baptism. I shall ever remember the members of the Cherry Grove church for their kindness. If so much love and affection twines around our hearts here, oh, what must it be to be there! SILAS HOOVER.

Boynton, Pa.

From the Ludlow Church, Ohio.

THIS congregation is still endeavoring to move forward in the good work, but it does not seem to be "harvest time," with us all the time. Occasionally, however, a wanderer comes home, for which we try to thank the Lord.

Bro. Beam, of Bridgewater, Virginia, spent several weeks in the Miami Valley recently. He visited quite a number of congregations during his short stay, and labored in Word and doctrine wherever appointments were made for him. His stay, however, was too short. His external appearance, and the logical manner in which he defended the Gospel, has made for him many friends in the Valley. The Lord speed the day when the faculties of the several "Brethren's schools" will try to excel each other in contending for the non-conformity principles of the Gospel, as understood by the Brethren, and be proportionally rewarded by a liberal patronage!

JESSE STUTSMAN.

PRAYER is a blessed privilege, and the importunate prayer is a right exercise: but prayer should be made according to the will of God, and in the Spirit, and not in the flesh, and we should be careful about our insistence, unless we are sure that the petition is not one that we wish to consume upon our lusts. Many a Christian has had cause to bitterly repent the things God has given him in anger.—Pentecost.

"IT is a very gratifying fact that the Bible has a far greater sale to-day than any other one book. Not only so, but the demand for it is increasing every year. During the past twelve months the Bible Society has sent out more than 1,325,000 copies; and since its founding, seventy-two years ago, it has printed nearly 50,000,000 Bibles. Its presses are now turning out an average of 4,000 copies per diem. This is but one of many agencies engaged in the good work. Truly, the Word of God is beginning to have free course. It will not return unto him void."

"THE best things are nearest; light in your eyes, flowers at your feet, duties at your hand, the path of God just before you. Then do not grasp at the stars, but do life's common work as it comes; it is certain that daily duties and daily bread are the sweetest things of life."

Notice to the Elders of the Northeastern District of Ohio.

PLEASE inform your members that the Home Mission treasury is empty and needs replenishing soon. If the Home Mission work shall be carried on in accordance with decision of last District Meeting, we must have funds to do it. Please send all contributions to Bro. D. J. Youtzey, Canton, Stark County, Ohio,—the Home Mission Treasurer.

JACOB MISHLER, Sec'y.
Mogadore, Ohio.

Echoes from the Highway.

LAST Wednesday, Aug. 7, we attended the Harvest Meeting of the Brethren in the Stillwater district. We also had meeting at night. Bro. Beam, of the Bridgewater school, was present and did some good preaching. On Thursday we attended the Harvest Meeting of the Brethren in the Bear Creek district. At night we had meeting again at the lower house in the Stillwater district. These Harvest Meetings are, in our judgment, very important to the interests of the church. Unless we cultivate a spirit of thankfulness to God, out of a pure heart for the many blessings received from him, we become forgetful of our duty. We hope a more free disposition will be manifested in giving to every worthy work of the church as well as in every other right disposition of the means God has given to his people.

* * *

On Wednesday at this place, Dayton, Ohio, we had the pleasure of meeting with the Book and Tract Committee at their regular quarterly meeting. The work is in a prosperous condition but not what it ought to be and would be if every one of us would do what we ought to do and could do for it. The men that now have it in charge mean business and are the men to push it to a grand success if only the friends of this important work will furnish the means to bring it up to the prominence it ought to have in our Fraternity. Touching this matter, more anon.

* * *

"California on Wheels," so-called, is an exhibition of the fruits and products of California now here,—two car loads. It is attracting considerable attention and caused quite a talk about California. By the way, we learn quite an enterprise is on foot to bring about another settlement of Brethren in Los Angeles County, Cal., south of Covina and near the Quaker settlement (good neighbors to have). The matter is developing in an encouraging manner. Eld. Nair, formerly of Kansas, now in the Pan Handle of Texas, contemplates settling at the place named. Land is cheaper there than here in Ohio. It is near the coast, where the climate is delightful. Flowing wells are easily obtained. Looking at this movement from the standpoint of the mission question, it is a laudable one. Brethren should go in and possess the land now, while the opportunity is offered, so as to have an influence to drive out the agencies of sin, and plant the standard of the Gospel where it may be seen and felt, to the building up of Christ's kingdom. Being only eighteen or twenty miles from the Brethren's settlement and church house,—a church home will be readily obtained until one nearer is established. Brethren who are such in deed and truth will be heartily welcomed. We have no ax to grind in this matter but simply refer to it in answer to the many inquiries about California and with an eye to the building up of the church in Southern California. Whatever we do let us do it for Jesus' sake and from a motive of pure devotion to the Master's cause. We will soon leave here and wend our way westward,—homeward bound. The way of our going, so far, is dotted all along with kind and loving associations with the dear people of God, whom he will bless.

J. S. FLORY.

From the Highways and Hedges.

IN my last report I wrote from Oronoco, Amherst Co., Va., where we held fourteen meetings. We then went a distance of some sixteen miles to the home of Bro. Edwin Powell,—the minister in charge,—where we were kindly received. This country is very hilly and mountainous, but I never met a kinder or more hospitable people anywhere, which makes me fondly hope, that when the last great trumpet shall sound, it will call many of the sleeping dead from these rough hills and mountains to the beautiful plains of the kingdom of glory.

Here, at the Tower Hill schoolhouse, we had eleven meetings. Six precious souls made the good confession and were buried with Christ in baptism, we hope, to walk in newness of life. We also had one council-meeting with them, at which Bro. Powell was forwarded to the second degree of the ministry, and Bro. Charles Wood was elected to the first degree. We hope these brethren may ever prove faithful to their high and holy calling in the good work of the Lord. May God keep them humble that they fall not into the snare of the devil! Here, in this part of Eastern Virginia, the Brethren were not known before the war. Now there is quite a number of members through this country, with but two resident ministers. There are many calls that can not be filled. The great lack here as in many other places is in ministers to fill the calls. Brethren, think of the poor and destitute that are starving for the Bread of Life. When six or eight of you are sitting behind the table next Sunday, doing nothing, while one is doing the work, consider seriously if this can not be bettered. You say, How? Call a council of the official members, consult and decide what, in your judgment, is the best course to pursue, to get the best and most work done with the force you have. Elders, see to this, and if you have good workers, get them out; get them to work. Do as you do in the field,—on the farm,—get all the hands you can and then keep all hands busy. Give the children something to do, lest they grow up weak and sickly. "Work while it is day,"—don't say, "I can not." Do what you can, and God will bless you.

After a tour of some five weeks, I am again back to Fishersville, Augusta Co., Va. Address me here until Sept. 1, then at Roanoke, Woodford Co., Ill., until further notice. Thanks to our many friends for their kindness! To all we send love and best wishes. JAS. R. GISH.

FALLEN ASLEEP

"Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord."

CRIST.—Near Broadway, Va., Aug. 5, Cora, daughter of Samuel and Rebecca Crist, aged 10 years and 4 months.

She had been complaining for some time, but nothing serious was anticipated until one-half hour before her spirit took its homeward journey. She was a bud, as it were, just about to open into a beautiful flower. But as the gardener gathers the nicest flowers, so heaven gathered one of her brightest buds. She was interred in Linville Creek cemetery. Services by Rev. J. P. Zigler from "Suffer little children and forbid them not to come unto me, for of such is the kingdom of heaven." J. S. K.

HINES.—In Kosciusko County, Ind., May 17, Lavina Hines, widow of Francis Hines, aged 69 years, 11 months and 25 days.

Her maiden name was Culler. She was born in Stark County, Ohio, May 22, 1819, and was married to Francis Hines, Sept. 3, 1835. She moved to Kosciusko Co., Ind., in 1844, where she made her home till she died. She died while on a visit to her sons near Auburn. She was taken home and her funeral was preached by the writer. Sister Hines once belonged to the Methodists, but became convinced that it was her duty to obey the commands of the Gospel more fully than she could do in that church. She came to the Brethren in 1881, and lived a faithful and consistent life till her death. She was sick about three months, with great suffering, which she bore with Christian fortitude and patience. She was anointed near the beginning of her sickness.

Sister Hines leaves two sons and one daughter. Although they give her up with sorrow, it is not as those who have no hope. R. H. MILLER.

MILLER.—In the Appanoose church, Franklin Co., Kans., July 30, Frances E., wife of friend David B. Miller, aged 35 years, 2 months and 24 days.

She leaves a sorrow-stricken husband, four small children, an aged mother, two brothers, two sisters, and many friends to mourn their loss.

Friend Frances was loved and respected by all who knew her. Funeral services by the Brethren at the Brethren's meeting-house. Funeral sermon by Bro. C. Heckman to a large and sympathizing congregation from the words: "It is appointed unto man once to die, but after this the judgment." Heb. 9: 27.

MILLER.—In the same church, Aug. 6, infant son of the above-named parents, aged 13 days. Funeral services by the Brethren. CATHARINE MICHAEL.

ESHELMAN.—At McPherson, Kansas, at the home of his brother, M. M. Eshelman, Aug. 8, of consumption, Bro. David Eshelman, of Lanark, Ill., aged 37 years, 11 months and 10 days.

He united with the church in 1874 and was ever a consistent member. In 1877 he was united in marriage with sister Callie Miller, of Lanark, who survives him. He went to Kansas several months ago, in the hope that a milder climate might prolong his days. His body was brought to his sister's home near Lanark, Ill., and interred in the Cherry Grove cemetery. The large concourse of people who attended the funeral services bore testimony that our departed brother was highly esteemed by all who knew him. Funeral services by the Brethren from John 11: 25, 26 and 2 Tim. 4: 7, 8.

D. L. M.

COLYER.—In the Nevada church, July 9, Jonathan Colyer, aged 78 years, 11 months and 18 days.

For several years he had been failing but was still able to attend to his business, until last Spring when he was partially paralyzed, since when he gradually lost his vitality.

Thus another ripe sheaf has been gathered into the heavenly garner. He was beloved and esteemed by all. He had been twice married. His first wife, Lydia, was a daughter of Daniel Miller, of Montgomery County, Ohio. Their union was blessed by seven children,—five daughters and two sons. All are married and still living, except one. His second wife was Esther Griffith. May his children walk in the steps of their dear Christian parents and thus quietly, like them, pass over into the heavenly Canaan, and there be an unbroken family around our Father's throne in the home of the blessed. Bro. Colyer was laid to rest in the Deepwood cemetery in the city of Nevada, to await the great resurrection morn, when Christ will come to gather his jewels. Peace be to his ashes! May the Lord be a husband to his companion who is left to battle a little while longer with the troubles and sorrows of earth!

Funeral services by Bro. Hiram Wolf and the writer. S. CLICK.

BINKLEY.—In Hardin County, Ohio, April 3, sister Maria Binkley, aged 56 years, 4 months and 2 days.

She united with the Brethren church thirty one years ago, and lived a consistent life until God called her to the home beyond. A short time before her death she called for the elders of the church and was anointed, after which she expressed a willingness and desire to be with Christ. Three children preceded her to the spirit world. She leaves a husband and six children to mourn their loss, and, we know, their loss is her great gain. She seemed to have a great concern for her children who are out of the church. The husband and one of the daughters are members of the church, while five of them are yet out in the cold world. Children, take mother's advice and prepare to meet her in heaven. Funeral discourse by Bro. A. J. Baughman from 1 Cor. 5: 22. J. P. KRABILL.

THOMPSON.—Near Warrensburg, Mo., sister Mary A. Thompson, daughter of Eld. S. S. and sister Mary Ann Mohler, aged 26 years, 11 months and 17 days.

Sister Thompson united with the church in the spring of 1882. Since that time, so far as known, she lived as a consistent member of the church, up to the time of her death. She leaves a kind husband and three small children to mourn their loss, but we fondly hope their loss is her eternal gain. On the 8th inst., sister Mary's remains were taken to the Mineral Creek church, where the funeral services were conducted by the writer, assisted by Bro. F. Culp, to a very large congregation from the words: "Her sun is gone down while it was yet day."

JACOB WITMORE.

WEAVER.—In the Sugar Creek church, Allen County, Ohio, July 16, Laura May, daughter of Bro. Jacob and sister Barbara Weaver, aged 8 years, 9 months and 7 days. Her disease was spinal fever, from which she suffered ten weeks and two days.

A Book for Every Member!

Classified Minutes

— OF —

ANNUAL MEETING.

☞ A full supply of this excellent work still on hand. Every member should have a copy of this work, in order to have a thorough understanding of the deliberations of the Annual Meeting in reference to church government, etc. Price, English Cloth, $1.50, post paid; leather, $2.00.

☞ A responsible agent wanted in each congregation, to whom terms will be furnished upon application. Address,

BRETHREN'S PUBLISHING CO.,
Or, Huntingdon, Pa. Mount Morris, Ill.

Tract Work.

List of Publications for Sale,—Sent Postage Prepaid.

CLASS A.

No. 1. Golden Gleams or Family Chart, ... 85 cts.

CLASS B.

No 1. Trine Immersion, Quinter, per copy ..	$ 1 25
No 2. Europe and Bible Lands, Miller, per copy.	1 50
No. 3 Doctrine of the Brethren Defended, per copy,	1 50
No 4. Classified Minutes—A. M	1 50
No. 5 Two Sticks, Eshelman,	1 00
No 6 Close Communion, Wesh, per copy	40

CLASS C.

No 1. Annual Report, per copy,	$ 05
No. 2. Path of Life, per 100, $5.00; per copy,	06
No. 3. How to Become a Child of God, per 100, $4 00; per copy,	05
No. 4 Conversion, per 100, $2 50; per copy	03
No 5. Water Baptism, per 100, $1.50; per copy	02
No. 6. Single Immersion, per 100, $1 50; per copy,	02
No. 7. Sabbatism, per 100, $2.50, per copy, ...	03
No. 8 Discussion on Trine Immersion, per copy,	15
No. 9. Sermon on Baptism, per copy,	03
No. 10. Glad Tidings of Salvation, per copy...	03
No. 11 Life of Eld. S. Weir (Colored), per copy,	03
No. 12. Ten Reasons for Trine Immersion, per 100, $1.50, per copy,	02

CLASS D.

No 1 Homes We Live In, per 100, ...	$ 60
No 2 Plan of Salvation, per 100,	60
No 3 Come, Let Us Reason Together, per 100	60
No 4. How Shall I Know that my Sins are Pardoned? per 100,	60
No 5 Intemperance, per 100,	60
No 6. Plain Dressing, per 100,	60
No 7 Which Is the Right Church? per 100...	60
No. 8. House We Live In (Swedish), per 100,..	60
No 9 House We Live In (Danish), per 100...	60
No 10 Paul Wetzel's Reasons, Etc., (German), per 100,	60
No. 11 Sinner, Stop! per 100,	60
No 12 Faith, per 100,	60
No 13. The Light-House, per 100,	60
No. 14 Close Communion, per 100,	60
No. 15 The Truth Shall Make You Free, per 100,	60
No. 16 Modern Skepticism, per 100,	60
No 17 Infant Baptism Weighed in the Balances and Found Wanting, per 100,	60

CLASS E

No. 1 Pause and Think, per 100,	30
No. 2. What Do We Need? per 100,	30
No. 3 Right or Wrong Way, per 100,	30
No. 4. Why Am I Not a Christian? per 100,	30
No. 5. Saving Words, per 100,	30
No. 6. Christ and War, per 100,	30
No. 7. The Bond of Peace, per 100,	30
No. 8 The Kiss of Charity, per 100,	30
No. 9. The Evils of Intemperance, per 100,..	30
No. 10. The Lost Opportunity, per 100,	30
No. 11. Are You a Christian? per 100,	30
No. 12. Arise, Get Thee Down, per 100,	30
No. 13. A Personal Appeal, per 100,	30
No. 14. Lying Among the Pots, per 100,	30
No. 15. Gold and Costly Array, per 100,	30
No. 16. The Brethren's Card, per 100,	30

Bibles, Testaments, Hymn Books of all styles, at publishers' lowest retail prices, which will be furnished on application.

Address

Brethren's Book and Tract Work,
DAYTON, OHIO

Church Register.

—:o:—

To those who would wish to collect and to preserve a complete history of their congregation and biography of each of their members, with names, dates of baptism or letter, dates of death or letter, and also dates of election, ordination of all the official members, and all events of importance occurring in each congregation, we would say, buy a copy of the Church Register. Price, containing sample pages and instructions, well bound, and sent by mail, $1.00 per copy. Address this office

PUBLICATIONS

☞ The following books, Sunday-school supplies, etc., are for sale by the Brethren's Publishing Co., Mt. Morris, Ill., or Huntingdon, Pa, to whom all orders should be addressed.

The Brethren's Quarterly.

For Sunday-school teachers and scholars this publication is of the greatest benefit. Look at our prices:

Single subscription, one year	35 cents.
Single subscription, per quarter.....	10 cents.
Three copies, per quarter.....	25 cents.
Eight copies, per quarter.....	40 cents.
Fifty copies and over.	4 cents each.

• • • Hymn Books • • •

New Tune and Hymn Books.

Half leather, single copy, post-paid	$ 1 00
Per dozen, by express	10 00
Morocco, single copy, post-paid.....	1 25
Per dozen, by express	12 00
Morocco, gilt edge, per copy.	1 50

Hymn Books, English.

Morocco, single copy, post-paid	$ 50
Per dozen, post-paid	9 50
Per dozen, by express	9 00
Morocco, gilt edge, post-paid	1 10
Per dozen, post-paid	11 75
Per dozen, by express	11 25
Arabesque, single copy, post-paid	55
Per dozen, post-paid	5 50
Per dozen, by express	5 30
Sheep, single copy, post-paid.
Per dozen, post paid
Per dozen, by express	5 30
Tuck, single copy, post-paid	1 00
Per dozen, post-paid.....	10 00
Per dozen, by express	9 50
Fine Limp, post-paid.	1 00
Per dozen, post-paid	10 00
Fine Limp, single copy, gilt edge, post-paid ..	1 20
Fine Limp, gilt edge, per dozen	13 00
German and English, per copy, ...	90
" " " per dozen, mail, $9.50; express	9 00

The Young Disciple.

The Young Disciple is a neatly printed weekly, published especially for the moral benefit and religious instruction of our young folks.

Single copy, one year..	$ 50
Six copies (the sixth to the agent).....	2 50
Ten copies.	4 00

For Three Months or Thirteen Weeks.

20 copies to one address	$1 70
30 " " " "	2 40
40 " " " "	3 35
50 " " " "	3 85
75 " " " "	5 80
100 " " " "	7 60

For Six Months or Twenty-Six Weeks.

20 copies to one address...	$ 3 35
30 " " " "	5 00
40 " " " "	6 60
50 " " " "	7 80
75 " " " "	10 20
100 " " " "	13 75

Our paper is designed for the Sunday-school and the home circle. We desire the name of every Sunday-school Superintendent in the Brotherhood, and want an agent in every church. Send for sample copies.

Sunday-School Requisites.

The following list of things is needed in all Sunday-schools:

Testaments, Flexible, red edge, per doz.....	$1 00
Minute Books, each.....	50
Class Books, per doz	75
Union Primers, with fine engravings, per doz...	70

New and Beautiful Sunday-School Cards.

"The Gem," 50 picture cards, each with Bible Text, verse of hymn.....	35
250 Reward Tickets—verse of Scripture—red or blue,	90

Gospel Chimes!

BY WM. BEERY.

This little book has been selling more rapidly than the publishers anticipated. The first edition was almost exhausted in the first two months. A second edition is now printed.

Following are a few of the good words received from brethren and other competent judges:

"An Excellent Book for Sunday-schools."

"After having carefully examined "Gospel Chimes" I can pronounce it an excellent book for Sunday-schools, and hope all the schools of the Brethren will adopt the same. Our church is conceded to have the best congregational singing of any denomination, and if it is improved, as it can be, by the use of 'Gospel Chimes,' the power for good will be surprising."—GEO. B. HOLSINGER, Teacher of Music, Bridgewater College, Va.

"Fresh and Pleasing Melodies; Thoughtful, Spiritual, and Poetical Words."

"It gives me pleasure to speak in terms of praise of your new book, 'Gospel Chimes.' It contains many fresh and pleasing melodies to which are wedded thoughtful, spiritual and poetical words. I trust it will hold its own in competition with the numerous books now in the market and find a large sale." T. M. TOWNE, Chicago, Ill one of America's best writers of Sunday school music

"Better than Many Similar Publications."

"Copy of your new book received. It contains some very pleasing and useful music, while it is to be commended especially for the selection of hymns. Good Sunday school hymns are in great demand in Sunday school work, and in this particular 'Gospel Chimes' is better than many similar publications."—A. J. SHOWALTER, the leading writer and publisher of Sunday-school and church music in the South.

"An Excellent Collection."

"I have carefully examined your late Sunday-school singing book, 'Gospel Chimes' and find it to be an excellent collection for the purpose designed, both in words and music."—S. W. STRAUB, Chicago, Ill., the popular Western writer and publisher of Sunday-school music

Bro. Beery has had a large experience in Sunday-school work, and the book which we offer to the brethren, and the public in general, evinces the exercise of talent as well as good judgment. The religious purity of the hymns contributed by sister Beery adds much to the excellence of the book.

Price per single copy, 30 cts; per dozen by mail, $3 00; by express, $2 60. Lots of more than a dozen must be sent by express.

BRETHREN'S PUBLISHING CO,
Or, Huntingdon, Pa. Mt. Morris, Ill.

Announcements.

LOVE-FEASTS.

Aug. 31, at 3 o'clock P. M., Turkey Creek church, Pawnee Co., Nebraska, at H. C. Martin's 2½ miles north-west of DuBois station on Rock Island Railroad at which place persons will be met and conveyed to place of meeting on the 31st, or if coming sooner, notify H. C. Martin, DuBois, Neb. Those coming to Table Rock on B. & M. R. R. notify B. F. Flory

Aug. 31, at 3 P. M., Fairview church, Garrett Co., Md.

Aug. 31 and Sept. 1, at 2 P. M., Van Wert church, O., 7 miles north-east of Van Wert. Conveyance will be at Van Wert up to 11 A. M. on day of meeting.

Aug. 31 and Sept. 1 at 3 P. M., Iowa River church, Quarry, Marshall Co., Iowa.

Sept. 3, at 10 A. M., Sugar Ridge church, Hancock Co., Ohio.

Sept 5 and 6, at 10 A. M., Lower Fall Creek church, Ind.

Sept. 5, at 10 A. M., 2 miles north east of Londonville, O.

Sept. 6, at 10 A. M., Blue Creek church, Adams Co., Ind., at Daniel Yann's, 3 miles north of New Coradon

Sept. 6, Franklin church, 4½ miles north-east of Leon, Decatur Co., Iowa

Sept 6, at 10 A. M., Olathe church, Kans., at the residence of Wm. Branke, 1 mile north of Olathe.

Sept. 7, at 5 P. M., Berrien church, Berrien County, Michigan.

Sept. 7 and 8, Long Branch church, Harrison Co., Mo., at C. Fansler's, 7 miles west of Ridgeway, Mo., at which meeting will commence Aug. 31 and continue over the love-feast. Those coming by rail will stop off at New Hampton and Ridgeway, on the C., R. & Q. R. R., running from St. Joe to Des Moines, and notify William Echard, Martinsville, Missouri, giving date

Sept. 7 and 8, at 3 P. M., Good Hope church, Phillips Co., Colo., at sister Sarah Furrey's, 7 miles north-east of Holyoke, and 4 miles south-west of Amherst, on B. & M. R. R. Those who come will address John S. Snowberger, Holyoke, Col.

Sept. 7, at 4 P. M., Urbana church 4 miles east of Urbana, Champaign Co., Ill.

Sept. 7 and 8, at 2 P. M., Berkey church, Vanclevesville Station, W. Va., on the B. & O. R. R.

Sept. 7, at 3 P. M., Mt. Joy church, Jacob's Creek congregation 1½ miles east of Mt. Pleasant, Westmoreland Co., Pa

Sept. 7 and 8, Coal Creek church, Fulton Co., Ill. Those from a distance will be met at Norris, on the Buda Branch of C. B. & Q. R. R.

Sept. 7, at 8 P. M., Abilene church, Kans., at new house at Navarre, on the Santa Fe R. R., 3 miles south and 1 miles east of Abilene. Dickenson Co., Kans

Sept 7, Wayman Valley church, at White schoolhouse, 1½ miles south of East Elkport, Clayton Co., Iowa

Sept. 7, at Bro. J. J. Wissman's, 3 miles west of Reece, Greenwood Co., Kansas

Sept 7 and 8, in Crooked congregation, Washington Co., Iowa

Sept. 7 and 8, at 3 P. M., Frederic, Monroe Co., Ia.

Sept 7 and 8, at 10 A. M., Angiuzo Chapel, ¾ mile from Dupont, Ohio on the Clover Leaf Railroad; 2½ miles from Harsburg, on the Nickle Plate Railroad

Sept. 7 and 8, at 2 P. M., Juniata congregation, 1 mile south and ½ mile east of Roseland, Adams Co., Neb.

Sept. 7 and 8, at 10 A. M., Pine Creek church, Ogle Co., Ill.

Sept. 7, at 10 A. M., Somerset church, Vernon, Wabash Co., Ind

Sept. 7, at 10 A. M., Summit church, ½ mile north and 2 miles east of Summitville, Madison Co., Ind.

Sept. 7, at 2 P. M., at A. B. Lichtenwalter's, half a mile east of Montrai, Kans., on the K. C., Ft. Scott & G. R. R. Meetings one week previous

Sept. 7, at 1, 30 P. M., Sam's Creek church, 4 miles south of New Windsor, Carroll Co., Md.

Sept 7 and 8 at 8 P. M., Kansas Center church, at the residence of J. M. Bresher, 3 miles directly east of Lyons, Rice Co., Kans.

Sept 7 and 8, at 10 A. M., Vermilion church, Marshall Co., Kansas at Simon Studebaker's, 7 miles north of Beattie, Kansas

Sept 7, Summit church, Wabash Co., Ind

Sept 7 and 8, State Centre church, Marshall Co., Iowa.

Sept. 7 and 8, at 2 P. M., Martins Creek church, Wayne Co., Ill., at Bro. James Mauck, ¼ mile west of depot, Jeffersonville.

Sept 7 and 8, at Filley church, at the house of Bro H. Miller, 2½ miles south-west of Filley. Those coming on the Rock Island Railway stop off at Virginia. Those on the B. & M. stop at Filley, Nebraska.

Sept. 7, at 3 P. M., Rock Creek church, Kansas, six miles north of Sabetha, Nemaha Co., Kans. Those coming by railroad will please notify E. Culler one week beforehand, and they will be conveyed to place of meeting.

Sept 7 and 8, at 11 A. M., Brooklyn church, Iowa.

Sept 11 and 12, Scott Valley church, Kansas, at Bro Peter Howe's, nine miles south of Waverly, and ten and one-half miles northeast of Burlington Brethren will meet at Burlington Waverly and Westphalia by notifying L. J. Miller, or Charles Yearout, Westphalia, Kansas

Sept. 12, at 2 A. M., Wakendah congregation at the Rockingham meeting-house, Ray Co., Mo.

Sept. 12, at 5 P. M., South Bend church, Ind.

Sept. 13, at 10 A. M., Sugar Creek church, Whitley Co., Ind

Sept 13 at 4 P. M., Wade's Branch church, in Forest Park, Ottawa, Kans. Assembly Hall and the cots of the Chautauqua Association have been secured for the accommodation of all who wish to lodge on the ground

Sept. 14, at 11 A. M., Deep River church, Iowa.

Sept. 14 and 15, at 10 A. M., Sabetha, Kans.

Sept 21, at 11 A. M., Killbuck church, Ind., 9 miles west of Shanele, on the Jackson St. Pike Those coming by rail will be met at Reed Station, by notifying Job Mahoney, Reed, Delaware Co., Ind., or Walter Bowers, Gilman, Madison Co., Ind

Sept. 28, at 10 A. M., Maumee church, Defiance Co., Ohio Brethren coming by railroad will stop off at Sherwood

Sept 28 and 29, at 11 A. M., English River congregation, Keokuk Co., Iowa.

Sept. 28 and 29, at 2 P. M., Verdigris church, 31 miles north west of Madison, Kans. at John Ivy's.

Oct 2, at 10 A. M., Lick Creek church, Owen Co., Ind.

Oct. 3, at 2 P. M., Corro Gordo church, Ill

Oct 3, at 2 P. M., Arcadia church, Ind.

Oct 4, at 10 A. M., Nettle Creek church, near Hagerstown, Wayne Co., Ind.

Oct 4, at 4 P. M., Union church, Marshall Co., Ind., 5 miles west of Plymouth and 5½ mls north of Burr Oak Brethren will be met at the above places either day before or on day of meeting

Oct 4, at 4 P. M., Tippecanoe church, Kosciusko Co., Ind

Oct. 4, at 4 P. M., Macoupin Creek church, Montgomery Co., Ill

Oct. 5 and 6 at 4 P. M., at the Hopewell church, Bedford Co., Pa.

Oct 2 and 3 at 4 P. M., Appanoose church, Franklin Co., Kans.

Oct. 5 at 2 P. M., Vermilion church, Cornell, Ill., on the Streator Branch of the Wabash railroad

Oct 5 at 2 P. M., Dorcas church, Kans

Oct 5, Lick Creek congregation, near Bryan, Williams Co., O

Oct 5, at 2 P. M., Sugar Creek church, Allen Co., Ohio.

Oct. 5, at 10 A. M., Weeping Water church, Cass Co., Nebr. On M. P. R. R. trains will be met at Eagle, on B. & M. R. R. at Greenwood

Oct. 5, at 4 P. M., Hopewell church, Pa

Oct. 5, at 4 P. M., Elkhart Valley church, Elkhart Co., Ind

Oct. 5, at 2 P. M., Cherokee church, Cherokee Co., Kans., at N. S. Gripe's, 6 miles south-east of McCune and 6 miles south-west of Mound city.

Oct. 5, at 2 P. M., Salina Valley church, Kans., at L. W. Fitzwater's, 5 miles south-east of Lincoln Center, Lincoln Co., Kans

Oct 5, at 10 A. M., South Beatrice church, Nebr On Friday conveyance will be at Holmesville, on U. P. R. R., Beatrice, on B. & M. R. R., Rockford, on Rock Island R. R.

Oct. 5, at 10:30 A. M., Maple Grove church, 4 miles north of Ashland, Ohio.

Sept 7, ... Mt. Vernon meeting-house, Scioto ... Ohio, Wabash Co., Ind.

Sept 7, Middle Valley church, at Centre school-house, ... Marcus, Iowa.

Sept ... Mt. Pleasant church, Kingsley church, 5 miles ... east of Kingsley, Iowa, at Shirem's school-house.

Sept 7, Lower Cedar Creek church, Lancaster Co., Neb., 7 ... west of Lincoln, 2½ miles north-west of ... Will B. Smith's.

Sept ... Carmen Southern at, Maple Spring church, W. Va.

Sept 7, ... at 10 A. M., Greene, Iowa.

Sept 7, Hickory Grove church.

Sept 7, Manchester church, 6 miles east of Mt. ... Conveyance from Cabool to ... Mason, L. P. Greenwood, or W. ... From Mountain Grove by ... Conrad Greenwood or S. M. Stevens, Mountain Grove.

Sept ... at 10 A. M., Sipesville, Pa.

Sept 7, Maple Grove church, Wayne Co., Ohio, 5 miles ... and of Wooster.

Sept 7, at 2 P. M., Flat Creek church, Miami Co., Ohio.

Sept. ... at 10 A. M., Black Swamp church, at Grove ... Wood Co., O.

Sept ... at 1 P. M., Grenola church, 8 miles north-... Grenola, Elk Co., Kans.

Sept 21, ... at 1 P. M., on O. C. Slifer's farm, ... miles south-east of Burr City, Kans. Parties coming by rail will be met at Burr City by notice ... O. C. Slifer.

Sept. ... at ... District of Tennessee, in Flat Rock ... Rutherford Co., N. C.

Sept ... and 29, Greenland church, Grant Co., West Va.

Sept. 28, Lime Creek church, 5 miles south-west of ... on, Rock Co., Nebr.

Sept ... at 10 A. M., Garrison, Iowa.

Oct. 2, at 1 P. M., Spanoose church, Kans.

Oct. ... at 10 A. M., Bethel church, 3 miles east of ... Ind.

Oct. 5, Novelty church, Shelby Co., Mo.

Oct. ... at 11 A. M., Portage church, Wood Co., O.

Oct. 5 and 6, at 2 P. M., McMinnville church, Ill.

Oct. 5 and 6, at 2 P. M., Lower Deer Creek church, Carroll Co., Ind.

Oct. 5 and 6, at 2 P. M., Arnold's Grove church, Ill.

Oct. 5 and 6, at 10 A. M., South Morrill church, Kans.

Oct. 5, Grand Prairie church, near Sidney, Nebr.

Oct. 5 and 6, North Beatrice church, Gage Co., Nebr., ... miles north-east of Beatrice.

Oct. ... at 2 P. M., Deer Creek church, Huntington Co., Ind.

Oct. 7, at 1 P. M., Locust Grove church, Bush ... Co., Virginia, ... from Frederick Co., Md.

Oct. ... at 11 A. M., Maple Glen church, at Savage, 9 ... west of Lake, Somerset Co., Pa.

Oct. 7 at 10 A. M., Rockhold church, Summit Co., O.

Oct. ... at 2 P. M., Salem church, Marion Co., Ill.

Oct. ... at 10 A. M., Middle Creek church, Iowa.

Oct. 12, ... at 2 P. M., Grundy church, Grundy Co., Iowa.

Oct. 12 and 13, at 2 P. M., Independence church, ... Co., Kans.

Oct. ... at 2 P. M., Pleasant View church, Reno Co., Kans., ... miles west of Hutchinson.

Oct. ... at 2 P. M., Liberty meeting-house, Scalp Level, Pa.

Oct. ... at 2 P. M., Upper Stillwater, O.

Oct. ... and 13, at 11 A. M., Salamon church, Carroll Co., Ind.

Oct. ... at 11 A. M., Exeter church, at Bro. S. H. Cayton's, ... west of Mechanicstown Junction, Pa.

Oct. ... at 2 P. M., Pipe Creek church, Indiana, at ...

Oct. ... at 11 A. M., Logan Grove church, Ind.

Oct. ... at 10 A. M., Lanark ville church, Grant Co., Ind.

Oct. ... Oct. 1, Upper Fall Creek church, 2 miles ... Bethel, Miami Co., Ohio.

Oct. 12 and 13, at 2 P. M., Lower Cedar church, Logan Co., O.

Oct. ... and 13, at 2 P. M., Rock Creek church, Kosciusko ... Ind., ... will be held 12 miles ...

Oct. ... at 2 P. M., Indiana church, Indiana Co., Pa. A ... Bloom Oct. 5, by Bro. ...

Oct. ... at 2 P. M., Locust Grove church, Oak Grove ... Ill.

Oct. 12, Lanark ... One week's meeting be ...

Oct. 12 and 13, at 2 P. M., Spring Creek church, at Sugar ... O.

Oct. ... at 2 P. M., Big Creek church, Richland ... Conveyance will be furnished ... by calling J. M. Forney, Parkersburg, ...

DISTRICT MEETINGS.

Oct. ... at 2 P. M., Southern District of Illinois, in ... Creek church, Woodford Co., Ill.

HARVEST EXCURSIONS VIA THE UNION PACIFIC RAILWAY.

The Union Pacific Railway takes pleasure in announcing ... Harvest Excursions to ... Kansas, Colorado, Wyoming, ... Montana on the following dates—viz: August 20th, September 10th and 24th, and October 8th. For these occasions the low rate of ... for the round trip has been ... good thirty days, and stop-over ... allowed in both directions for those ... desire to see the country. Do not ... to visit the great and growing ... at low rates. It affords the business ... a rare opportunity to examine ... and farmer ... unlimited resources of ... country.

For ... rates, pamphlets, etc., apply to your ... ticket agent, or W. H. Knight, Gen'l Agt., 209 South Clark St., Chicago Ill.

HARVEST EXCURSIONS

To the Pan Handle of Texas. Many of the brethren having asked me by letter before and since the Annual Meeting, and personally, while at the Annual Meeting, whether there would be cheap excursions to the Pan Handle of Texas, and as I invariably told them I would answer through the "GOSPEL MESSENGER," I take pleasure now in announcing that the Western States Passenger Association and the Trans-Missouri Association, in session at Chicago June 24th, agreed to run Harvest Excursions from Eastern points to all points in Kansas, Colorado, and the Pan Handle of Texas, at the rate of one fare for the round trip, tickets good for thirty days from date of sale, and stop-overs will be allowed within the limits at all points west of the Missouri river. The days of sale are August 6 and 20, September 10 and 24, and October 8.

I will be pleased to answer all further enquiries by mail, by sending me ... routes, etc.

GEO. L. McDONAUGH,
Trav. Agt. Santa Fe Route,
St. Louis, Mo.

ADVERTISEMENTS.

Rates per Inch each Insertion.

One time or more	$1 50
One month (4 times)	3 50
Three months (13 times)	9 00
Six months (26 times)	15 00
One year (52 times)	25 00
No advertisement accepted for less than	1 00

☞ No Cuts inserted, unless on metal base. No double column or objectionable advertisements admitted.

J. B. COLCLESSER,

ROANOKE, HUNTINGTON CO., IND., Breeder of Purely-bred Poland China Swine. My herd is made up of the most fashionable strains known to the breed. Stock recorded in C. R. and O. R. Pigs and aged animals for sale. Gelts bred and for sale January and February 1890. Breeding a specialty. Correspondence or personal inspection solicited. 22t25

EUROPE
AND BIBLE LANDS!

BY D. L. MILLER.

THE large sale of this work gives abundant proof of its popularity. The eighth edition is almost exhausted, and a new edition will be necessary to supply the demand. The following partial list will give an idea of the contents of the work:

Life in Germany.—Berlin.—The King's Palace.—Dresden.—The Crown Jewels.—Women in Germany.—The City of Prague.—The Martyrdom of John Huss.—The Habits and Customs of the People.—Bro. Hope's Work in Denmark.—Old Castles and Prisons of the Middle Ages.—Paul's Preaching at Mars' Hill.—Gold Temples at Athens.—The Seven Churches of Asia.—Ephesus, and the Temple of Diana.—Joppa.—The House of Simon the Tanner.—Plain of Sharon.—Leprosy and Leprosy.—Mountains of Judea.—Jerusalem.—Place of Crucifixion.—Mount Moriah.—Solomon's Temple.—Mount Zion.—David's Tomb.—Bethlehem.—The Fields Where the Shepherds Watched their Flocks by Night.—Rachel's Tomb.—Mount of Olives.—The Garden of Gethsemane.—Jericho.—The Dead Sea.—River of Jordan.—Bethel.—The Mountains of Blessing and Cursing.—Nazareth.—Cana of Galilee.—The Sea of Galilee.—Capernaum.—Damascus.—Ruins of Baalbec.—Customs, Manners, Habits and Home Life of the Arabs.

Bro. Miller visited the places he describes and tell about them in an easy, pleasant manner, which makes the book exceedingly interesting. It contains 439 pages, and 40 engravings, among which are a number of full-page illustrations of Palestine scenery. It is printed on heavy, tinted paper, in clear-faced type, bound in a good, substantial manner, and will be sold at the very low price of $1 50 per copy, cloth binding, postage prepaid.

SPECIAL RATES TO MINISTERS. In order to have a copy of the book placed in the hands of all our ministers, we make them the following liberal offer: Send one dollar for the book, and sixteen cents to pay postage, and you will receive a copy by return mail.

Agents wanted, to whom liberal terms will be given. Address all orders to

BRETHREN'S PUBLISHING CO.,
MT. MORRIS, ILL.

ROYAL

BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and can not be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. SOLD ONLY IN CANS

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO.,
106 Wall St., N. Y.

Wanted!

We want brethren in every district to sell our Fertilizers. We manufacture a number of different grades, so as to suit all buyers, viz:

Blood and Bone Dissolved, Raw Bone and Potash, High Grade Super Phosphate of Bone, Soluble Ammoniated Bone Phosphate and Chemicals!

All the above brands have stood the test for years, and in field contests have proved to be second to none on the market.

We guarantee to keep up the present high standard of these different brands, and feel assured you can save money by buying from us. Write for terms, circulars, etc. Address,

D. BLOCHER & CO.,
12m6 Gettysburg, Pa.

The Original Trans-Continental Line.

The Union Pacific Railway. "The Overland Route" runs daily trains from Council Bluffs, Omaha and Kansas City to Denver, Salt Lake City, Sacramento, San Francisco, Los Angeles and Portland.

Quick time across the continent.

Elegant equipment, consisting of latest Pullman Palace Cars and Day Coaches.

This company has also for sale in Kansas and Colorado, 3,000,000 acres of choice farming lands; only one-tenth cash down, and balance on ten years' time at seven per cent interest. Fare paid over the Union Pacific by persons who go to see the land, as refunded if land is purchased.

The Union Pacific Railway company has also 3,000,000 acres of land in Wyoming and Utah for sale at very low prices. Best ranch land in the world on liberal terms.

For full information in regard to rates, time-tables, maps, price of lands, etc., address,

THOS. L. KIMBALL,
Gen'l Manager.
ALBERT WOODCOCK,
Gen'l Land Com.
E. L. LOMAX, Gen'l Pass. Ag't.
50 OMAHA, NEB.

SALESMEN Wanted, local and traveling. Positions permanent. Salary from start. Experience unnecessary. Stone Bros., Nurserymen, Chicago. 10

Victor Remedies!

These Remedies consist of Victor Liver Syrup, Victor Pain Balm, Victor Infant's Relief, Victor Lung Syrup, Victor Pills, Victor Liniment, Victor Poultry, Horse and Cattle Powders. These Remedies are all sold under a guarantee. If you cannot get them from your merchant, send his name to us, and we will arrange so he has them in stock if he is reliable. Send for circulars. Address:

VICTOR REMEDIES CO.,
5tf Frederick, Md.

A MAN
UNACQUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THE COUNTRY, WILL OBTAIN MUCH INFORMATION FROM A STUDY OF THE MAP OF THE

Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Ry.

Including Lines East and West of the Missouri River. The Direct Route to and from CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND, DAVENPORT, DES MOINES, COUNCIL BLUFFS, WATERTOWN, SIOUX FALLS, MINNEAPOLIS, ST. PAUL, ST. JOSEPH, ATCHISON, LEAVENWORTH, KANSAS CITY, TOPEKA, DENVER, COLORADO SPRINGS and PUEBLO. Free Reclining Chair Cars to and from CHICAGO, CALDWELL, HUTCHINSON and DODGE CITY, and Palace Sleeping Cars between CHICAGO, WICHITA and HUTCHINSON.

SOLID VESTIBULE EXPRESS TRAINS

of Through Coaches, Sleepers, Free Reclining Chair Cars and Seat or No. 10 Pool Dining Cars daily between CHICAGO, DES MOINES, COUNCIL BLUFFS and OMAHA, with FREE Reclining Chair Car to NORTH PLATTE (Neb.), and between CHICAGO and DENVER, COLORADO SPRINGS and PUEBLO, via St. Joseph, or Kansas City and Topeka. Splendid Dining Hotels west of St. Joseph and Kansas City. Excursions daily, with choice of Routes to and from Salt Lake, Portland, Los Angeles and San Francisco. The Direct Line to and from Pike's Peak, Manitou, Garden of the Gods, the Sanitariums, and Scenic Grandeurs of Colorado.

Via The Albert Lea Route.

Solid Express Trains daily between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, with THROUGH Reclining Chair Cars (FREE) to and from those points and Kansas City. Through Chair Car and Sleeper between Peoria, Spirit Lake and Sioux Falls via Rock Island. The Favorite Line to Watertown, Sioux Falls, the Summer Resorts and Hunting and Fishing Grounds of the Northwest.

The Short Line via Seneca and Kankakee offers facilities to travel to and from Indianapolis, Cincinnati and other Southern points.

For Tickets, Maps, Folders, or desired information, apply at any Coupon Ticket Office, or address

E. ST. JOHN, General Manager. JOHN SEBASTIAN, Gen'l Tkt. & Pass. Agt.
CHICAGO, ILL.

CINCINNATI BELL FOUNDRY CO
MANUFACTURERS OF BLYMYER BELLS TO THE BLYMYER MANUFACTURING CO
CATALOGUE WITH 1800 TESTIMONIALS.
BELLS, CHURCH, SCHOOL, FIRE ALARM

McSHANE BELL FOUNDRY
Finest Grade of Bells.
CHIMES AND PEALS FOR CHURCHES, &c.
Send for Price and Catalogue. Address
H. McSHANE & CO.,
Mention this paper. Baltimore, Md.

WHEN YOU TRAVEL

Take the

Line selected by the United States Government to carry the Fast Mail,—the

As it is the Line running Through Trains to and from the following cities and towns on its own Lines:

CHICAGO,
AURORA, OTTAWA,
STREATOR, ROCKFORD, DUBUQUE,
LA CROSSE, ST. PAUL, MINNEAPOLIS,
MENDOTA, PEORIA, GALESBURG, ST. LOUIS,
QUINCY, KEOKUK, BURLINGTON, WASHINGTON,
OSKALOOSA, DES MOINES, CHARITON,
CRESTON, ST. JOSEPH, ATCHISON,
KANSAS CITY, NEBRASKA CITY,
OMAHA, COUNCIL BLUFFS,
LINCOLN & DENVER,

Making Direct Connections

TO AND FROM

NEW YORK,
BALTIMORE, WASHINGTON,
CINCINNATI, PHILADELPHIA, BOSTON,
NEW ORLEANS, LOUISVILLE, SAN FRANCISCO,
LOS ANGELES, SALT LAKE CITY, COLORADO AND
PACIFIC COAST RESORTS, CITY OF MEXICO,
PORTLAND, OREGON, MANITOBA,
VICTORIA AND PUGET SOUND
POINTS.

Good Equipment,
Good Service,
Good Connection.

For information concerning the Burlington Route, apply to the nearest Ticket Agent of the C., B. & Q. or connecting railroads.

HENRY B. STONE, General Manager. PAUL MORTON, Gen'l Pass. & Ticket Agt., CHICAGO, ILL.

THE GOSPEL MESSENGER.

"Set for the Defense of the Gospel."

Vol. 27. Old Series. Mt. Morris, Ill., and Huntingdon, Pa., Sept. 3, 1889. No. 35.

The Gospel Messenger.

H. B. BRUMBAUGH, Editor,
And Business Manager of the Eastern House, Box 50, Huntingdon, Pa.

BRO. SWIGART has returned from the Northfield Bible School, and on his way called with the New Jersey Brethren and also at Philadelphia and Green Tree. He reports a very pleasant time, but is glad to be home again.

DON'T forget that the time for publishing the Brethren's Almanac is here, and any who have suggestions to make, copy for its pages or corrections for the "Ministerial List," should report now, or as soon as possible. Those wishing advertisements on the cover pages should also let us hear from them. We want to do the best we can for the church, and if we are informed of her wants we will gladly satisfy them.

THE number of Sunday-schools in the Brotherhood is growing encouragingly, and if the present ratio is continued, our church will certainly make a very respectable showing in the Sunday-school statistics. This is commendable, as in every good work we should not be found wanting. Keep the children in the doctrine of the truth and they will always be there. This is surely better and safer than to depend on getting them there, when the inducement to be in the world is very much greater.

FOR our last prayer-meeting subject we had, "For Jonathan's sake," as found in the ninth chapter of Second Samuel, and from it were presented some very suggestive ideas. Mephibosheth was truly a proper subject for sympathy, yet he belonged to the household of David's enemy, King Saul. However, in this king's son David had a true friend, and for his sake this cripple received the kindness of David. Christ is a better friend to us than Jonathan could be to David. For his sake we ought to be willing to forsake all and follow him.

THE attention of our brethren and friends in business is directed to our Almanac as an advertising medium. The cover pages are devoted to this purpose. And as it circulates and remains in the homes of a first-class people, as buyers, during the whole year, it forms an excellent medium for advertisers of salable goods, such as are bought by good farmers, mechanics, and housekeepers. The edition is 12,000, and distributed through the Southern, Middle, and Western States. The terms are very low, considering the circulation. One page, $50.00; one column, $28.00; one-half column, $14.00; one-quarter column, $8.00; one-eighth column, $5.00. Application for space should be made soon.

THE EDITORIAL GARDEN.

THERE has been much said about the editorial, the editorial chair, and the editor's table, but we don't remember of anybody writing about an editorial garden. So we have concluded to make a new departure, and tell you something about our editorial garden. We emphasize "our" because the honor of its keeping belongs to several. Just what part of the work is done by each of the several we shall not now take the time to consider.

We have learned that physical and mental labor form an essential element to human happiness, and that too much of either may be detrimental to good health.

What the size of an editorial garden should be, to yield the best results financially, physically, mentally, and religiously, we are not prepared to say, as our experience has not varied enough to determine by actual count or experience. The only one of which we have any practical experience is fifty feet in width and one hundred and fifty feet deep. This, to some, may seem quite small, but we can assure you that for our use it is quite large enough.

Our annual crop consists of strawberries, raspberries, potatoes, salads, cabbage, beans, tomatoes, squashes (several varieties), pumpkins, celery, etc., with a sprinkling of turnips as an after-crop. To this we might add apples, pears, grapes, etc., cultivated in an adjoining lot. Strawberries are our favorite. This is, we suppose, because the fruit ripens early in the season, and the stocks require attention all summer to keep in order for the next year's fruiting. Our memory is too treacherous just now to name the varieties we are growing. Indeed, the patch has grown so mixed that it would be hard to determine what we now have. Some are very large in size and luscious in flavor. The danger of failure in its cultivation is, in letting the runners grow—and weeds, too—until the bed gets too thickly set to bear. They should be kept in hills, and several feet apart. Beds kept in this way will give more than if allowed to become a mat of plant all over the patch. Beds, to get the best results, should be replanted every three or four years, and plants set in the spring make good bearers for the next year if the runners are clipped.

The raspberries are also a very fine fruit, and require considerable attention to get the best of results. The new canes for the next summer's bearing should be trimmed and shaped during the spring growing, and the old ones can be removed as soon as done bearing.

Ours have been faithful bearers, and rewarded us richly for the labor given to them. A large saucer of berries in connection with plenty of sugar and rich cream, is very comforting to an empty stomach, and there is no reason why even an editor should not be thus gratified when he is willing to shed a little sweat to get them.

The different varieties of sweet corn pay well for careful cultivation. We have been planting ours several weeks apart, as to time, we mean, beginning early in May, and continuing to the middle of August. By so doing we have roasting ears during the whole of the summer and into fall, or until frost comes. Of course this adds greatly to the economy of the editor's table and affords a luxury at a very little cost.

In speaking of an editorial garden, it was not our intention to give a general lecture on this branch of industry, only to name it as one of the possibilities that may come within the editorial range, and therefore we shall close the description to take a glance at the figurative. Horace Greeley, when telling "what he knew about farming," looked at it only from the financial stand-point. But there is a deal of religion in gardening,—we mean religious figures. Well, yes, there is more than figurative religion in it. "In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread." In gardening, this is real. But then, there is much about it that makes beautiful figures for Christian economics. So the wise men thought. The New Testament doctrine of a man reaping as he sows is practically illustrated.

In the weeding and hoeing are also some instructive lessons. And they teach us the importance of keeping our hearts clean and free from the destructive seeds of sin. These, like all weeds, are of rampant growth and require constant cutting down and hoeing out if we would have our hearts filled with fruitful plants that will yield precious fruits.

Then, too, to keep the garden clean, it takes a great deal of work,—especially this season of the year, when all kinds of weeds are determined to take advantage of vacation,—when the useful vegetables and fruits are resting or off on a pleasure trip. So it seems to be with the weeds of sin and the devil. They are most rampant at this season of the year when many of the churches are closed and the members and ministers are off to the seashore or to other resorts for rest and pleasure. We opine that some of the spiritual gardens will be astonishingly full of weeds when they are again opened for service. The whirl of fashion, the dance and the regular rounds of pleasure, are not good things to grow in the Lord's garden, and, if left to grow there, will soon sap the life out of every good thing.

As we look out over our garden, just now, as we are writing, this lesson enforces itself upon us with peculiar force,—as the weeds seem to have taken the mastery, and are having their own way. The only remedy will be the hoe and the rake. These, well used, will soon put things in good shape for the closing of the season of active labor, and leaving it in good shape for rest and the coming year. On the whole, our garden has been a success, and it is surprising how much can be raised on a small plot of ground, if well managed, and work, with a proper succession, be kept up.

Now we have given our bit of experience in gardening, and we are not sure that it will be either interesting or valuable to others, but we are sure that the practical part of it has been to our advantage in ways more than one.

ESSAYS.

"Study to show thyself approved unto God; a workman that needeth not be ashamed, rightly dividing the Word of Truth."

A VISION.

Back to my castle's glowing hearth
I from the temple trod,
Where I had knelt to mortal man,
And made that dust my God.
'Twas evening; and my wearied frame
Sank into sleep's repose,
When suddenly before my mind
A wondrous vision rose.

The blessed Lord approached my side,
And gently touched my hand.
His countenance beamed forth with love,
Ineffable and grand.
A ray of glory, dazzling bright,
Crowned his majestic head;
His tender eyes were filled with tears
In pleading tones He said:

"O, I have journeyed far and wide
O'er seas, from shore to shore;
I've searched the earth's expanse, to find
My faithless love once more!
For thy dear sake, unceasingly,
Though footsore I did roam
That I might clasp thee in my arms,
And bear thee to my home.

"Lo! I have brought the wedding garb
For my most precious spouse;
The marriage supper is prepared
Up in my Father's house.
My Father yearns to greet His child,
And bless her with His voice;
Ten million royal angels wait
To welcome home my choice.

"My country is a land of bliss
Exempt from storms and death;
Its hills and vales are greener far,
Than any field of earth.
My kingdom 's vast; and thou the queen
Of jasper courts shalt be.
No longer bow at mortal's shrine,—
Thy love belongs to me!

"Nay, tarry yet, beloved, nor cast
The nuptial robe aside;
I long to clasp thee to my heart,
And claim thee as my bride!
O, I have died to gain thy love,—
Thy spirit to entwine!
Now, wilt thou let one idol loom
Between thy heart and mine?"

The vision faded from my sight,
And I awoke to grace;
Long dwelt my mind upon the scene,
Which time cannot efface.
Prostrate upon my knees I fell
With contrite heart and sore;
And with a vow I pledged my love
To Him forever more.

And now I toil from day to day
With light and happy song;
But ever and anon I cry:
"How long, dear Lord, how long?"
Oh! when I reach that blessed home
My rapture this shall be,
To lie against the loving heart
That shed its blood for me!

Sadie C. Brallier.

THE GLORY OF THE FATHER, SON AND HOLY SPIRIT.

BY H. W. STRICKLER.

"Howbeit when he, the Spirit of truth is come, he will guide you into all truth: for he shall not speak of himself; but whatsoever he shall hear, that shall he speak: and he will show you things to come. He shall glorify me: for he shall receive of mine and shall show it unto you. All things that the Father hath are mine: therefore said I, that he shall take of mine, and shall show it unto you."—John 16: 13-15.

The above are some of the encouraging remarks of the Savior shortly after his solemn feast with his disciples in Jerusalem, and just before he reverently bowed in earnest prayer to the father in our behalf. See John 17. How wonderfully sublime and touching must have been his earnest pleadings with the Father for our sakes!

Now hear his instructions: "I tell you the truth; It is expedient for you that I go away: for if I go not away the Comforter will not come unto you; but if I depart, I will send him unto you." The mission of the Holy Spirit must have been very near to the heart of our Blessed Master. He spoke several times to his disciples on the subject, and repeatedly assured them that he would not leave them comfortless.

There were a great many links in the chain which raised the Israelites out of the house of bondage: They had to be taken to Egypt in a famine; they had to multiply and be oppressed; their cries had to be heard in heaven, and God descend from heaven to the bush; Moses was called and the rod put into his hand; miracles were wrought; Pharaoh's heart was hardened, the first-born were slain; the paschal lamb was slain; the pillar of fire led the people; the sea was divided, and they were led to the land of Canaan. If one of these links had been broken, the whole chain of deliverance would have been as the broken arch of a bridge. So it is in the salvation of sinners by Jesus Christ. All blessings are inseparably connected with conditions. If the advent of Christ had not taken place, there would have been no redemption for us; and had it not been for his ascension to heaven, the Holy Spirit would not have come from heaven to guide us into all truth.

The equality of the Father, and the Son, and the mutual glory of the Father, Son and Holy Spirit in the scheme of redemption, are co-equal, and co-existent, possessing joint interests in the great work of salvation. Jesus said: "All things that the Father hath are mine," for I and the Father are one. I am the eternal, infinite and immutable God. "My Father worketh hitherto, and I work." "For as the Father raiseth up the dead and quickeneth them, even so the Son quickeneth whom he will."

Christ has an undisputed right to the adoration and praise of men and angels. He should be honored in the same degree that the Father is honored, for he is the very life of creation, providence and redemption. He is over all. "All things that the Father hath are mine." The attributes of God belong to him. Though, as a Mediator, he is less than the Father, and the Father is greater than he, as a Mediator he holds the "keys of the house of David."

As a vessel laden with valuable treasures from different kingdoms arrives within our ports, so was the glorious message brought from one world to another, from heaven to earth, from eternity to time, in the person of the God-man, Christ. The vessel of life is full of glory to God, and the vessel of mercy is full of good-will and peace to man. Christ is the Captain of this vessel, which is laden with the richest treasures of heaven. The sea over which it sails is full of hidden rocks,—temptations. Over it we must ride, and through the gulf of death to the fair haven of glory. Oh, how beautifully and charmingly this vessel glides, with King Jesus for our captain, when laden with the "all things of my Father,"—the whole Gospel, and nothing but the Gospel! The good ship Zion bears the glad tidings to the children of men. This was that vessel of which Paul spoke as "the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth." This was the vessel of which Paul was not ashamed, and upon which he sailed in the full assurance of hope that he should see Jesus as he is.

Upon this vessel was the register—the Lamb's Book of Life. The papers belonging to the vessel were carried to us, and sealed upon Calvary with the blood of the Captain, whose banner read, in bold letters, "I am the resurrection and the life." It floated to the wide world and still waves in t air. "He that cometh to me I will in no w cast out." O, glorious banner, long may it wa

Again we see the unbroken chain in the glo existing between the Father and the Son. T Son, as a Mediator, glorifies the Father by raisi the fallen from the pit of death, and by magnif ing and making them honorable. He also rai the image of the Father, which had fallen in Ed and reproduces it in human nature. He has giv a full description of it in the Gospel. Here again, we see the mutual love between the Fath and Son. Hear him! I have manifested un them whom thou gavest unto me out of the wo that the love wherewith thou lovedst me, may b in them and I in them." Christ opened a w by his sacrificing blood to the Holy of holies.

Again, the Father glorifies the Son. "And no O Father, glorify thou me with thine own s with the glory which I had with thee before world was." The Father claims him as his o for in him "he was well pleased." All this sho that there is an unbroken chain in the great pl of redemption. As all the vessels of the tem had to be purified before being used, so all m must be purified in Christ's reconciling blood fore they can be admitted to the services of temple of eternal life.

Precious things were committed to the charg the Son to bring into the world,—not deep th concerning Pleiades, Orion, and Job's behem but the words of endless life. After Christ the world, he sent the Holy Spirit. The H Spirit came not as a new power, but as an aux ary of that, already in motion. The Spirit tinues in the field, to bring up the rear of the ar while the Captain is in advance, leading them The candle that is in his hand shall never be tinguished.

Let us, therefore, my brethren, pray that lamp of the Holy Spirit may more brilliat burn in the church, so that the members m see more of the harmony of divine things, that may also glorify the Son, and see the glor God! Let us be more holy in all manner of versation, and more spiritual in all our relig performances,—more heavenly in our minds affections,—more zealous for the glory of God the welfare of immortal souls, more warm an fectionate in our love to God and each othe that many may be constrained to say, "We gladly go with you."

Brethren, if you would have a revival in church, you must not only pray, but you must that your light may so shine that others may your good works and glorify the name of your ther who is in heaven." Now is the time, b ren, for us to bestir ourselves! The pr peaceful state of the world is paving the way the reception of the Truth. The way is opened for the "white horse" to travel America to Europe, from Europe to Asia from Asia to Africa. The angel of the Gos can fly to China and meet the devotees on road to the uttermost parts of earth, and th men to the glorious Gospel,—the unbroken which is the power of God unto salvation.

How could you be easy if your neighbor's were on fire, and the inmates likely to per the devouring flames? You live in an enlighte age. You know the dangers of sin, and are quainted with the miserable state of decept through antichrist. The venerable William W —one of the first Baptist ministers to India while on a visit in this country, in one of his mons, said, "We need the help of your money, we need more the help of your prayers, that may crown our feeble efforts with his blessing the salvation of souls."

My brethren in the ministry, let us not be ward in this important duty! All our comforts and the success of our labors depends entirely upon it! It is possible that we do not at all times feel our dependence on God as we ought. We should, therefore, make it our particular business to implore God's presence in all our works.

Brethren and sisters, we hope that all of you will pray for the ministers of the Gospel! Never forget the promise of the Father "whose eyes are over the righteous, and whose ears are opened to their prayers," and who will never leave us nor forsake us. Help us, by your pecuniary aid, to go forth into the world to preach the everlasting Gospel to them that dwell upon the earth. Rev. 14: 6.

The Head of the church is in heaven,—our Advocate, pleading with the Father, whose "spirit beareth witness with our spirit that we are the children of God."

The glorious chain,—the Gospel of grace,—reaches from the top of the eternal mountain of foreknowledge before the foundation of the world, to the top of the beautiful mountain of glorification, when this world shall be no more, over the rivers of sin, the hills of time, and the sea of death. It shall continue until Christ shall come, and take to himself his own,—until time shall be consumed by eternity, and we shall go home to enjoy the full fruitions of eternal felicity with God and the angels. Oh, let us not sever the chain!

Loraine, Ill.

THE LORD'S EXAMPLE IN THE FIRST COMMUNION.

BY JOHN FORNEY.

We will, in a brief way, set before the readers of the Gospel Messenger, and vindicate, God's own order and example of a Communion meeting, as set forth in the Holy Scripture.

1. The Lord had two of his disciples go and make ready a feast for them. See Matt. 26: 19: Mark 14: 15; Luke 22: 7–13. And they went and made it ready in the place and manner the Master bade them.

It is not the object of this article to show what kind of food this supper, or passover, was composed of or what its most appropriate name would be. Matthew, Mark and Luke call it a passover. Luke 22: 20, also calls it a supper. John 13: 2–4 calls it a supper. Paul calls it the Lord's Supper, 1 Cor. 11: 20–25. He also calls it a feast, 1 Cor. 5: 8. But, as it is the order and not the name we are vindicating at this time, I will only say here that the four evangelists refer to the same meal, and so does Paul. Now let us examine the order of this meal, and see where the Savior of the world has placed it.

2. We learn from John 13: 4–14 that the Lord rose from this supper before they ate it and washed his disciples' feet and wiped them with the towel wherewith he was girded. And when he had taken his garments and was set down again he gave them some instruction on the subject of feet-washing. We have in John's record, "When Jesus had thus said, he was troubled in spirit, and testified, and said, Verily, verily, I say unto you, that one of you shall betray me. Then the disciples looked one on another, doubting of whom he spake. Now there was leaning on Jesus' bosom one of his disciples, whom Jesus loved."

At this time the feet were washed, and they were eating the supper. To prove this let us remember, first, that there is no evidence anywhere in the Scriptures that one of the disciples leaned on Jesus' breast before or at the time of the feet-washing, but at supper. See John 21: 20. Second, still plainer proof is, that they were eating when Jesus said, "Verily I say unto you, that one of you shall betray me." See Matt. 26: 20 22. "And as they sat and did eat, Jesus said, Verily I say unto you, One of you which eateth with me shall betray me." Mark 14: 18.

Our third witness is a positive proof that Jesus washed the disciples' feet before he ate the supper with them, and not after, as some would have it. See Matt. 26: 26: "And as they were eating, Jesus took bread, and blessed it, and brake it, and gave it to the disciples, and said, Take, eat; this is my body." See also Mark 14: 22: "And as they did eat, Jesus took bread, and blessed, and brake it, and gave to them, and said, Take, eat; this is my body. And he took the cup, and when he had given thanks, he gave it to them: and they all drank of it."

With these clear Scriptural evidences before us we can not be mistaken when we say that feet-washing was first, the supper second, and the Communion third, and the last of the three ordinances as given in the example of Jesus Christ the night of his betrayal. Any one that can read the Scripture can see that there is no room for the ordinance of feet-washing between the Supper and the Communion of the bread and cup, of which Jesus said, "This is my body and blood; this do in remembrance of me."

Some of the readers of this article may ask, Was not that meal the passover (supper) of the law, and did not Christ eat it to fulfill the law? If he did, he did not tell us so. What does he say about it? "For I say unto you, I will not any more eat thereof, until it be fulfilled in the kingdom of God." Luke 22: 16.

John 13 gives us the example of feet-washing and the Supper. Christ gives us not one word in his record about the Communion of the broken bread and the cup of blessing. Jesus does say, however, in verse 15, "For I have given you an example that ye should do as I have done to you." Verse 17. "If ye know these things, happy are ye if ye do them." Here Jesus admonishes us to do as he has done. What does John say he did? "Jesus rose from supper." Verse 4. He washed the disciples' feet, and sat down again to the supper table and did eat with them. The other evangelists show clearly that Christ put the supper between the other two ordinances, and said, "If ye know these things, happy are ye if ye do them."

My dear reader, it will not excuse you and me to say that it is the Jewish Passover. It always will be the meal that God the Father had ordained to be eaten in the last night of his Son's mission on earth, before his crucifixion, and it shall have its fulfillment in the kingdom of God. I care not what names men may give it,—let it be love-feast, or passover, or supper, or feast of charity, or Lord's Supper, as Paul called it in his day, only so you keep the feast with the unleavened bread of sincerity and truth." 1 Cor. 5: 8. We must observe the feast in the order that Christ did and as the apostle Paul gave it to the church at Corinth. 1 Cor. 11: 33–34.

By no means we should allow ourselves to be led astray from the example of Christ, by disregarding feet-washing, or by putting the Supper away, as some do, or eating the Supper some hours before the Communion, as some do, or to invite those who are not in the faith with us. Peter said of such: "Spots they are and blemishes while they feast with you." Jude saith, "These are spots in your feasts of charity, when they feast with you."

Here the apostle alludes to the believers' common meals. As the children of God, it is their bounden duty to feed their enemies when they hunger. Our Lord ate with publicans and sinners, and upon several occasions with Pharisees, but in this sacred supper, called also "passover," he gave us no such example. Here were none present but his chosen ones, and they all had to wait until it was made ready and feet were washed. Then they ate all together. Thus the great Head of the church gave the pattern, and said, that happiness would be ours if we know and do as he has done.

This brings us to the fourth part of Christ's example in this feast, namely that he instituted it and ate it in the night. The apostles so observed it. They taught it in that way, and never did they hold a Communion meeting in the day-time, but always in the night. See Acts 20: 7–11; 1 Cor. 11: 23–25.

Dr. Smith, in his Bible Dictionary, page 488, says: "Thirty years after the death of Christ, when St. Luke wrote the Acts of the Apostles, they continued the chief actual meal in connection with the Eucharist." He calls it "Agape, or feast of love." He also says, on the same page, "At some point in the feast, those who were present, men and women sitting apart, would rise to salute each other with the holy kiss.

Abilene, Kans.

"EVERY-DAY CHRISTIANS AND SUNDAY CHRISTIANS."

BY F. J. E. ETTER.

To be true Christians we must be such every day, and in order to be good ones even on Sunday it requires great practice during the week. We can become accustomed to doing anything so that it will become natural. We often engage in doing things that are not becoming for a child of God. If we continue to persist in it, it will become a habit. Bad habits are dangerous, and if not nipped in the bud they become tenacious.

How can a true Christian go to church, prayer meeting and Sunday-school, and exhort others to follow in the footsteps of Jesus, when he [illegible] do so himself? What influence would it have to good? None whatever. We form the resolution in the presence of others, perhaps, to do better in the future and want them to do the same, and probably, after we reach home, or maybe before we get there, the good resolutions are forgotten and we engage in something that is not becoming such as foolish jesting, or talking about our worldly affairs, or something else that is not profitable at all. We may form resolutions until we die, and if we do not carry them out, they will avail nothing.

We are inclined to think we can do as we please during the week, just so we are right on Sunday, but we are sure to make some mistake on Sunday we continue to think so. Another thing. We think we can do as we please at home, just so we do well away from home. Home is the place to practice that which is good, so that we will not make a mistake away from home. We are inclined to sin as the sparks are to fly upward. If we engage in talking idle talk during the week our minds will be in no frame on Sunday for good. We lose all spiritual influence for good. We say we mean no harm. That which is of no good, surely is not pleasing in the sight of God. "Out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh."

We can become so addicted to this evil, that we go too far before we think. For every idle word we speak we shall have to render an account in that great day. We are taught to avoid foolish and unbecoming talk. Let our speech be seasoned with salt. If we can not entertain each other with something that is profitable and that will have a tendency for good, we had better say nothing. If we are not true Christians during the week, we are none at all.

Cartersville, Va.

THE SECOND BEAST.

BY W. F. GILLETT.

Number Three.

"And he had power to give life unto the image of the beast, that the image of the beast should both speak, and cause that as many as would not worship the image of the beast should be killed." Rev. 13: 15.

It may not be that this new secret society of which we spoke so particularly, will be one horn of the beast, but we do believe it will be a combination of secret societies. All secret societies of which we know anything, have the mark in their right hand, and nearly all the officers in the United States belong to some secret order. If they would so desire, they could run this government to suit themselves at any time. Then the United States would be one horn of the beast, and the Kingdom of England the other horn. The consolidation of the two governments will finally form the one beast. Some think this consolidation will be a fulfillment of prophecy, and that it will be one step toward bringing about the peaceable reign of Christ.

We do not doubt that it will be according to prophecy, but, instead of the peaceable reign of Christ, we believe it will bring one of the greatest calamities and persecutions that ever was brought upon mankind. See Dan. 12: 1.

It is clear that there will be a great persecution of Jews and Christians. The Lord's two witnesses, after they had prophesied 1260 days (years), clothed in sackcloth, Rev. 11: 3, or during the 1260 years' reign of the Roman Catholic power, will only rest a short time, until the beast that ascendeth out of the bottomless pit, or the second beast, will make war with them and overcome them. Rev. 11: 7.

The prophet Zechariah, in the fourteenth chapter of that book, gives an account of the calamity that would befall the Jews, while Jeremiah gives an account of the Christian. When the fifth seal was opened, John saw the souls of them that were slain for the Word of God and the testimony which they held, and they cried aloud, saying, "How long, O Lord, holy and true, dost thou not judge and avenge our blood on them that dwell on the earth? And white robes were given unto every one of them; and it was said unto them, that they should rest yet for a little season, until their fellow servants also and their brethren, that should be killed as they were, should be fulfilled." Rev. 6: 10, 11.

Understand, these that John saw were killed in the time of the fifth seal, and can not mean those that die in like manner. The fifth seal ended with the persecution, for, notice, when he had opened the sixth seal, or the seal in which we are living,—the sun became black as sackcloth of hair and the moon became as blood. Rev. 6: 12. This happened about the year 1780, or about the time the persecution ended, hence we come to the conclusion that those that will be killed in like manner are they that will be killed by the second beast. Since the year 1780 the Catholics have had a dislike to the United States Government and why so? Because since that time it has been a home for all Protestant churches in the world.

About thirty years ago the Catholics made a flag with the picture of the President of the United States and the Pope of Rome on it. The Pope's foot was resting on the President's neck. They were going to raise this flag at North Buffalo, New York, but did not dare to do so for fear of the people. This indicates their anger with the Protestant nation. Some years ago they also sent men into some of the principal cities of the United States to make correct maps of the cities. All this was for a particular purpose of which we will speak more hereafter.

In a former article we said that this second beast, or image of the first beast, will have a great deal of authority, and after a while he will think himself a God and will want people to worship him, and if they do not, he will kill them. No sooner will this happen, than the Pope of Rome will think an evil thought, Ezekiel 38: 10, and he will come against the land of unwalled villages,—to them that are at rest, that dwell safely, "all of them dwelling without walls and having neither bars nor gates, and thou shalt come up against my people of Israel." Ez. 38: 11–17.

Where is the Israel of God, if it is not in the United States? It will be the Pope's object to rob people of gold and silver as well as to kill them. The gold and silver belong to the Lord and he will have it.

The Pope of Rome and the second beast will work in harmony together. It does not seem to make any difference to the image of the beast whether people worship him or the Pope. The probability is that about this time the second beast or image of the beast and the first beast will emerge into one beast, for we read of but one beast being cast into the lake of fire and brimstone.

With much sadness we read Jer. 25, which says, "Howl, ye shepherds, and cry; and wallow yourselves in the ashes, ye principal of the flock: for the days of your slaughter and of your dispersions are accomplished; and ye shall fall like a pleasant vessel. And the shepherds shall have no way to flee, nor the principal of the flock to escape. A voice of the cry of the shepherds, and a howling of the principal of the flock, shall be heard: for the Lord hath spoiled their pasture." Jer. 25: 34–36.

The shepherd having no way to flee, nor the principal of the flock a way of escape, indicates that they will be attacked very suddenly and no doubt it will be in the night when all are asleep. It must be something of this kind, or there would be some way of escape. In proof of this we refer the reader to Jer. 6: 26, "O daughter of my people, gird thee with sackcloth, and wallow thyself in ashes: make thee mourning, as for an only son, most bitter lamentation: for the spoiler shall suddenly come upon us."

It is thought by some, and probably upon good authority, that the Catholic nunneries are full of weapons. If such is the case, it is for some particular purpose. Their mapping out the cities, referred to above, is for the purpose of knowing where the Protestants live.

The Catholics are opposed to the Brethren church because the Brethren always speak against the Pope of Rome. I remember of hearing our aged elder in Eastern Kansas, on Communion occasions, say that the Pope of Rome had no more right to change the order and manner of holding the Communion than to change from a triune immersion to a triune sprinkling. They did this, for their own books say so. Such shepherds as this they will want to kill. They may not kill all the Protestants, but will kill enough so the remainder will recant.

Waynesville, Mo.

(To be continued.)

DID CHRIST IN HIS LAST SUPPER WITH HIS DISCIPLES EAT THE PASCHAL SUPPER?

BY I. J. ROSENBERGER.

The fact that Matthew, Mark, and Luke call that meal "passover," leads many to take the affirmative side of the question. But it should be remembered that Luke likewise calls that meal "supper," while John calls it supper only. We shall, in this essay, take the negative side of this question. Our reasons for our position are as follows:

1. The testimony of John 13. "Now before the feast of the Passover; * * * He riseth from supper," etc. Hence, as seen, Christ ate his supper before the legal paschal supper. Again, John records in 18: 28, "Then led they Jesus from Caiaphas unto the hall of judgment: and it was early; and they themselves went not into the judgment hall, lest they should be defiled; but that they might eat the passover." This text clearly shows that while Christ had eaten his supper, the passover of the Jews was yet in the future.

2. If Christ ate the legal paschal supper, he violated the law in the following particulars:

(a) The Jews were to eat the passover standing. See Ex. 12: 11. Christ, "when the eve was come, sat down, and the twelve apostles with him." Luke 22: 14.

(b) No one was to go out of the door of his house until morning. Ex. 12:, 22. Christ, with his disciples, after their supper in Jerusalem, went out, crossed the brook Cedron and entered into the garden. John 15: 1.

(c) The lamb was to be eaten, not boiled or sodden but roast with fire. At the supper that Christ ate there must have been "broth," or there could not have been any "sop." John 13: 26. Hence if Christ ate the paschal supper, he was a transgressor, and there was no need of trumping up of false witnesses with which to condemn him in the Roman court.

3. Christ taught, "No man putteth a new piece of cloth to an old garment." If Christ ate the legal paschal supper that night, we then have the order of the service thus:

(a) Feet-washing, which was under the Gospel.

(b) The supper which was under the law.

(c) The bread and wine as symbols of his body which was under the Gospel. Here Christ clearly violated his teaching above, by putting a new piece of cloth (the Gospel) to an old garment (an institution of the Law).

4. It is said that Christ ate the passover that night in fulfillment of the law. That is strange reasoning. How could Christ fulfill that lamb, that passover, by eating? Why did not his eating in former years fulfill the law of the passover? I would rather conclude that he fulfilled the passover law by being slain; hence, "Christ our passover is sacrificed for us." 1 Cor. 5: 7.

5. If Christ ate the legal passover that year, it was the Jews' passover. As seen above, he was slain as our passover that same year; hence either the Jews' passover that year was slain on illegal time; or our passover, Christ, was. The law provided that the lamb was to be slain on specified time; and as Christ ate his meal one evening, and was crucified the next afternoon or evening, therefore they could not both occur at the legal time specified for killing the lamb.

Covington, Ohio.

WE TRUST IN THE LIVING GOD.

BY J. H. BEER.

Trust signifies confidence, reliance, to believe, to confide in, to credit. The Psalmist says that none of them that trust in the Lord shall be desolate. Ps. 34: 22. Trust or confidence is an essential element of our human nature and begins at a very early stage of our lives. It moulds and develops itself in our human nature as we advance in years. Though often deceived and betrayed, we must anchor our trust somewhere. How natural for us to choose some trusted friend in whom to confide!

How far short we fall of realizing the temporal and social blessings of life, without reliance in our associations! Although our trust is often betrayed by friends, no one that trusts in the Lord shall be left desolate. Blessed is he that maketh the Lord his trust. Ps. 40: 4. Paul says, "We both labor and suffer reproach because we trust in the Living God. The Lord has promised to save them that trust in him. When we trust in the merits of Christ, we are strengthened with that hope which enables us to rejoice that we are accounted worthy to suffer reproach for his name. Jesus has said, "Blessed are ye when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and say all manner of evil against you falsely for my sake. Rejoice, and be exceeding glad: for great is your reward in heaven; for so persecuted they the prophets which were before you." It was these gracious promises that enabled Paul to both labor and suffer reproach because he trusted in the Living God. 1 Tim. 4: 10.

How beautiful and sublime are the lines of the poet:

"Trusting only in thy merits,
Would I seek thy face.
Heal my wounded, broken spirit,
Save me by thy grace."

It is only when we have made an entire resignation to God's holy will that we can rejoice in evil as well as good report, and say, "I am crucified with Christ: nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me: and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God."

Rockton, Pa.

SPIRITUAL BONDAGE.

BY WM. M. LYON.

Number One.

"If the Son therefore shall make you free, ye shall be free indeed."—John 8: 36.

FEW people enjoy the perfect freedom referred to in our text. The divine plan is a perfect one, no matter to what we apply it. God's plan alone produces perfection of character. Do we want a love, a faith, a practice, a system that is perfect? Let us consult the sacred oracles, otherwise we must fail. Just so with regard to the freedom to which we now refer. There are thousands, yea, millions, who to-day claim to be enjoying the full liberty and perfect freedom vouchsafed to the child of God and contained in the Bible, who do not, by any means, enjoy these divine blessings, but are still wearing the shackles of servitude. They may boast of deliverance from the power of Satan, but their liberty is only in name, — not a reality. They imagine themselves to be free, while they are simply a race of slaves.

But some one now asks, "Why all these assertions?" We reply that the text sets forth a perfect liberty to which the Christian is entitled if he seek to obtain and hold it legally, but the language also implies the idea of what we might term a supposed freedom,—liberty in name only.

Before proceeding further, we wish to say that to consider this Scripture in its primary sense, would be to apply it only to those Pharisees to whom it was directed by Christ and who claimed to be the children of Abraham,—"We be Abraham's seed and were never in bondage to any man." Christ taught them that to pass from under the law to the Gospel was to come out of slavery into freedom. "If ye do this, ye shall then be free indeed." To accept Christ was to be made free; so it is to-day.

Christ is the GREAT LIBERATOR. Not to accept him is to remain in spiritual bondage,—a servant of the enemy of souls. To accept him we must put off the "old man" and "put on the new." Eph. 4: 22-24; Col. 3: 9, 10. Those Pharisees claimed to be under bondage to no man, yet they were servants of the evil one. Just so it may be with us. The trouble now is not, that we can not let go of the old law, but we want to hold on to some of the things that pertain to the world and belong to the kingdom of Satan, and while we do this, we are not free,—we are his property. Many would like to hold on to Christ with one hand, while with the other they have a tight grip on some of the claims of the devil. There is no freedom in this. Christ would say to all such, "Forsake all else and hold only to me." Ours is a jealous God. He wants the whole heart.

We want now mainly to direct our remarks toward that great class of slaves who have their names in the church-book,—who are in bondage and do not seem to know it,—who live in name only. Rev. 3: 1.

But before we shall undertake to locate and describe the situation of that class now referred to in the church, we wish to say that their counterpart may be found throughout the political world. Look along the party lines and you will be surprised at the wonderful number who are not their own,—who have no mind of their own,—no opinion, no voice, no sentiment, that they can claim as their own upon a legal basis, but they are merely the property, the tool, of another; they forsake principle to stand by "party" because they belong to a certain party that advocates certain doctrines,—not from the stand-point of right, of equity and of justice, but too often because they are popular and said party must look to the masses for its power and perpetuation. The leaders in such parties are not free, because they are dependent upon others for support, and, of course, must try to please them and court their favor, and, on the other hand, the constituents,—the voting and electing power,—neither are they free. They must bow with uncovered head before their legal representatives to whom they must look for office and promotion in the event of their election.

Do not all these things exist, and are they not all manifested to a greater or less degree, when we take a glance at the machinery of the political world? When we see all this, can we call it by any other name than that of slavery?- If you have another name for it, let us have it. Go into the social circles and you will also find the same condition of things to exist. And now we ask the question, "Was man created thus to be moved and actuated by such slavish fears?" Can aught but evil result from such a state of affairs, whether in church or State? And if such a course of action is wrong and deserves to be condemned in the political world, surely it is a much greater evil when found within the borders of the spiritual kingdom.

In our next we shall try briefly to notice a few of the many forms in which this spiritual bondage may, and, doubtless, does exist.

Union Bridge, Md.

A COMMON ERROR.

BY H. A. STAHL.

THERE prevails among men an error concerning the respective rights and privileges of Christians, as contrasted with those accorded to people of the world, who make no profession of religion, and who do not pretend to enjoy its benefits. It is taken for granted that a mere worldling may consistently and innocently enjoy and indulge in what would be sinful for the Christian. Not only is this opinion cherished among worldly people, but is quite generally conceded to be a fact by church people.

There is certainly no Scriptural warrant for such a theory. It is very unjust in principle and hurtful and destructive in effect. A worldly man can not innocently enjoy anything that a Christian can not enjoy with equal innocence. Whatever is sinful for a Christian is none the less sinful for one not a Christian. If there were any latitude or freedom allowed to any one, that is not to be enjoyed by all, it would surely be given to a Christian.

The simple truth is,—neither the worldling nor the Christian has any freedom to do that which is wrong. What any respectable man or woman on earth may do with propriety, that any Christian man or woman may do, with equal propriety.

All the varied and conflicting opinions concerning what is right and what is wrong, arise from the fact that people go outside of what is written, and set up mere notions in the place of the law of God and the rules and regulations of the kingdom of heaven, and so become involved in a multitude of conflicting opinions as to what is wrong and what is right. There must be a sure rule by which to be governed, nor will it answer to adopt a standard which has not, by long trial, been settled as infallibly correct.

The law of God is not new in the earth, and it has not resulted from human experiment. It has not been gradually evolved by the wisdom of poor man. It came to us perfect and has never been amended. It has stood the test of all time, and all the wrongs that exist have come about by departure from the standard. Any transgression of that law by the Christian, or by the man who belongs to the world, is sin, for which he must answer at the last day before the bar of God. Hence let us consider these things honestly, and cling to the law and not try to change any part of it to suit man's devices, for it is a perfect law and unchangeable. It is the same yesterday, to-day, and forever. The moment we transgress that perfect law, whether we be a Christian or worldling, we err, and miss our calling, for we never were placed here to serve sin, but the Lord, our Maker, so that eternal life will be ours!

Glade, Pa.

THE TIME HAS COME.

BY I. N. CROSSWAIT.

GOD'S Word tells us, "The time is fully come, that judgment must begin at the house of God." We are told to judge ourselves that we be not judged. Are we doing so? If so, do we find that we are living in accord with the Word by which men are to be judged in the last day? If not, we stand condemned.

What would be our condition if we were condemned on a grave charge of violating the laws of the land? It would be a source of great trouble and remorse to any but a hardened criminal, but, alas, the people of God (by repute) often claim his mercy without complying with his terms. When they do so, they claim that to which they have no right. It is madness thus to claim his mercy when the terms of it are so easy and plain. None would dare to do so in violation of the laws of man and expect mercy. It is a great mistake thus to trifle with God. We are assured in his Word that we must give an account for every idle word. Then, O how careful we should live! Our lives must be hid with Christ in God, if we would judge ourselves aright and not be judged. Then we will be rewarded all along the way to heaven with a happiness which the world can not give. No, never! I defy the world to produce a person who enjoys this life to the full extent without entire confidence in the promises of God.

Tuhunga, Cal.

"MAN doubles all the evils of his fate by meditating upon them."

LIVES OF THE CÆSARS.

BY W. H. ROOSE.

Number Fifteen.—Tiberius.

TIBERIUS often consulted fortune-tellers. When he was so engaged, he was with them in a secluded mansion which was reached by a precipitous path. On his return he would often order them to be thrown down upon the merciless crags below. Tiberius, like many other people, was pleased when all the predictions of the astrologers promised good luck and a fortune. At one of these communications an astrologer, named Thrasyllus, assured Tiberius of a prosperous life. Whether Tiberius was a little skeptical as to whether Thrasyllus really knew anything about his future or not, we can not say; but it seems he had set his determination on killing the fortune-teller. He asked Thrasyllus if he could tell what would happen to himself on that day. Thrasyllus, fearful as to his fate, answered him thus, "I perceive the crisis of my fate! This very moment may be my last." Tiberius, thinking Thrasyllus really knew his situation, threw his arms around the astrologer, and from that time on he had confidence in all his predictions.

The emperors of Rome, it appears, were destined to show how wicked the heart of man is, naturally, and certainly this is one of the darkest periods in the world's history. Tiberius was surrounded by all the wealth, power and grandeur the world could give, yet his natural passions and appetites were not superior to those of beasts. His desires and commands were law to the Roman people, and were fully and faithfully executed, yet he was not happy.

There is an aching void in the heart of every man and woman which the comforts of this world can not fill, and yet we are easier satisfied with the things that are really necessary than with luxuries. One luxury will create an appetite for another, thus making our lives one continuous chain of unsatisfied desires. No man is rich who is continually wanting; no one's appetite is satisfied who is still ravenous, though he can hold no more. Then we rightly conclude, as long as he is contented, he is rich, has a satiated appetite and is well clothed. There is a legitimate way of producing this contentment or filling this vacuum. They that seek first the kingdom of God and his righteousness shall have all these things added unto them. If we hunger, and hunger after righteousness, we shall be filled. There is a River of Life, and if we drink of its waters, we shall never thirst.

At about this time the One who uttered those precious promises died to save sinners. He utterly despised the honor and luxuries of the world. He did not have riches nor titles of nobility, yet the titles applied to him were the noblest. He was truly great, not only in the sense that he was divine, but in that his character was holy, virtuous.

You all, no doubt, remember that Pilate wished to release Christ, when on trial, but he really dared not do so lest his administration be found fault with, reported to Cæsar and he be removed from office. His fear was fully realized, for he was sent in exile. Pilate made a noble defense before Tiberius, giving a truthful description of the birth and nativity of Christ with his miracles, life, death, burial and resurrection. It so impressed Tiberius that he related it all to the Senate and desired that the Romans considered Christ as a "god." Though the Senate seldom disputed orders given by Tiberius, they went so far as to issue an edict compelling all Christians to leave Rome. Tiberius was determined to have his way, however, and during his reign Christians were left undisturbed.

Tiberius lived periodically on the beautiful island of Capreæ, where he would indulge himself in scenes of vicious pleasure. He did not wish to divest himself of power, but remained as crafty and cruel as ever. His deeds flitted across his memory as phantoms before the sailors on the bosom of the troubled sea. They haunted him wherever he went, and vivid recollections of cruel tortures caused him to feel that he could not ask for a death less terrible. In a letter, written by him, he said, "May I perish under evils, still worse than those I endure, if I know what to write, or what I should not write."

Twenty years of a cruel life had passed away and Tiberius was taken ill of fainting fits, and he supposed he was about to die. He did not repent of his evil deeds, but seemed to devote both energies of mind and body in finding a man worse than himself to govern the Roman people. His search for such a man was by no means unfruitful, as he found his counterpart in one named Caligula.

